My interest in genealogy first began in the summer of 1961 when Audrey, Dana and I went on a three-week vacation trip to the east coast in my VW bug. Goldie wrote and asked if I could go to Harrisonburg, Virginia to see if I could get any information on Nicholas Trout, our great-great-grandfather, who had lived in Rockingham County, Virginia. We entered Virginia from Kentucky and stopped at Roanoke to see if anyone had lived in that area with the Trout surname, and found that many had. There were the Trout and Miller families who were friends, even though one was Tory and the other Whig. They both donated to build the University of Roanoke, which has a Trout Hall and a Miller Hall named after them. There are intermarriages recorded between the two families. I previously thought that the name Trout was English, but found that it was of German origin. After leaving Roanoke, we went through the little town of Troutville, where I inquired how it got its name. We were told that there was no fishing within ten miles, so it must have been named after someone by the name of Trout. On leaving town we saw a small cemetery where we stopped and found many Trout names on gravestones.

At Staunton, Virginia, we visited the historic home of Woodrow Wilson. When we signed the register the receptionist asked if we were related to Dr. Edgar Trout, and we said, not to our knowledge. She told us that her daughter had attended his chemistry class at the college in Staunton, but he now taught at the University of Virginia at Richmond.

We learned at Harrisonburg courthouse that many of the county records had been destroyed by the Yankees during the Civil War, and we were unable to find any information on our Nicholas Trout. Richmond State Library had a mass of genealogy information, and we spent five days there, all three of us reading and taking notes on anything relating to the Trout surname. Here we found the book, “Some Early Virginia Families,” by McIlhaney, from which we had several pages of the Trout Family photo-copied.

We called Dr. Edgar Trout and he invited us to his home to discuss the Trout genealogy. He was two years older than I, very hospitable and friendly. We found there was no close relationship between us, but there might have been prior to the Revolutionary War. He encouraged me to go back to Roanoke, Virginia and talk to his uncle, who was over 90 years old, to try to go farther back on the family history. We wanted very much to do this, but could not spare the time. We had already spent five days in Richmond, where we had planned to spend only one day. We wanted to see New Hampshire, Vermont, and Maine before returning to my job in California.

I have been collecting data about my family tree for the past 27 years. In my effort to trace my kinfolks I gathered much information not related to me. My son Dana encouraged me to make all this data available to others in a concise and indexed form in case it might be of use to others.
This volume contains a complete copy of all the records I have regarding the Trout family and their relatives. It is cross-indexed and in alphabetical order of surnames and given names. Volume I contains all of my relatives either through blood or by marriages. Volume 2 contains persons not proven to be related to me, but that might be helpful to other genealogists.

My sister Goldie encouraged me to start on this project and has been a valuable source of information about our family. My wife Audrey and my daughters Joan and Betty helped with the proof-reading and editing. My son Dana furnished me with a computer to write this book, helped in making many corrections, and printed the master copy to be used in printing several copies for members of our family, the Library of Congress, the LDS Library in Salt Lake City and other genealogy libraries.

It would be wishful thinking to believe that a cross-index book of this kind, written from notes taken over the past 27 years, could be compiled without any "mistrakes".

Mistakes could have been made in the source of information, or while copying and typing the information. Example 1: My father and mother visited his relatives in Licking County, Ohio soon after they were married in 1892. My mother told me of Pendleton "Brick" Trout meeting them at the depot, and riding to his house in his horse-drawn carriage, where they met his wife Laura and baby son Simon. In 1924 Derilus Trout came to visit us in Burbank, CA. He told me he was the son of my father's brother Pendleton Trout. In 1981 I saw several grave markers in a cemetery near Lock, Ohio and I noticed "Penleton" Trout on one instead of Pendleton. I checked the Probate Court Record and found it had misspelled Pendleton also. I have spelled his name like the court record, though I know it is incorrect. As for genealogy, in this case it makes little difference. Pendleton's son Simon died at the age of three. Pendleton died soon after his son Derilus was born, and his wife died three years later. Derilus died unmarried in the Veterans Hospital in Sawtelle, CA in 1925. They had no descendants. It's a sad story, they all died of TB.

Example 2: N. Hill, in his "History of Licking County, Ohio" states that my Great-Great Grandfather, Nicholas Trout, was born in 1769. The 1850 Census of Licking County, Ohio gives the age of Nicholas Trout as 75, which would mean that he was born in 1775. The census also showed that he was a blacksmith. I believe it is more likely that Nicholas could be working at the blacksmith trade at age 75 than at age 81. Therefore, I chose the birthdate of 1775. Even though there may be some "mistrakes" in this book, I hope some persons can be helped in solving their genealogy problems.

PROLOGUE

William Penn held views far in advance of his day, and these found expression in the constitution and laws which he proposed for his province. Pennsylvania's first constitution was drafted in April, 1682.

Waves of immigration flowed into the colony. Twenty-three vessels had arrived in Philadelphia before Dec. 29, 1682. A number of Germans under the leadership of Francis Daniel Pastorius, agent for the Frankfort Land Company which had obtained a grant of 6000 acres, arrived in America and founded Germantown near Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The Rhenish Palatinate area of Germany, which lies between the Rhine River and the French and Luxembourg borders in south-central western Germany, was being devastated during the French and Spanish wars, and reduced the peasantry to beggary. The medieval social stratification reduced them to virtual servitude, from which America offered emancipation. Queen Anne of England invited the peasants of this region to come to England, where they could be transferred to America. Over 30,000 took advantage of the opportunity in the years 1708-09. Some of them found occupation in England and Ireland, but the majority migrated to America where some settled in the Mohawk valley, others in the Carolinas, but far more settled in Pennsylvania.

After 1717 multitudes of German peasants were lured to America by unscrupulous agents called "new-landers" or "soul-stealers," who for a commission paid by the ship-master, lured the peasant to sell his belongings, scrape together or borrow what he could, and migrate to America. The agents and captains then saw to it that few arrived in Philadelphia out of debt. As a result the immigrants were sold to "soul-drivers," who took them to the interior and indentured them to farmers, usually of their own race. These redemptioners, as they were called, served three to five years, and generally received 50 acres of land at the expiration of their service.

HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF THE TRAUT, TRAUDT, TRAUTH, TROUT AND TROUTT FAMILY

ORIGIN

The distinguished name of Trout, with its variant forms, according to Harrison, the famous authority on etymology of surnames, means beloved or dear friend, from the middle high German and the old high German Trut. We can perhaps trace our English word “true” to the same root.

Shiploads of German people left for America during the years of 1709-1712. As most of these people came from Rhenish or Palatine areas, the name “Palatine” was applied indiscriminately to all these immigrants, although some came from neighboring territories as well. Walter Knittle in his book, “Early Palatine Emigration,” lists the following bearing the Traut, Trout, etc. surname, who came to this country and landed in New York: John Traut and two sons.

At the courthouse in Philadelphia on Aug. 27, 1733, there was recorded a list of Palatines who with their families were imported on the ship “Elizabeth”, Edward Lee, master. These Palatines on that day and year above-mentioned take the usual oaths and qualifications to the government. In said list appears the name Johan Debalt Trautt. From 1733 until the end of the American Revolution, there are records of colonial pioneers bearing the Traut, Trout, etc. surname. There are records of Anna, Carolina, Cuglick, Hans Martin, Jacob, Johann Garlack, Mary, Peter and Wintell. For a more detailed list see “Pennsylvania German Pioneers,” by Strassburger and Hinke.

Families bearing the name of Traut, Trout etc. are found at early dates in our colonial and Revolutionary War history. The following is a partial list of Traut, Trout etc. progenitors taken from the records of early American history, some of whom served in our Continental Army. For a more complete list see such works as “Pennsylvania Archives,” etc. The names are as follows: Balser and Wendle Traut; Baltus, George, Jacob, James, John, Nolts, Paul and Wendel Trout.

The progeny of the various branches of the family in America have removed to many parts of the United States and have contributed substantially to the furtherance of American civilization. The record of the Traut, Trout etc. family in America is that of a sturdy, energetic, and industrious line. Members of the family have attained a particular distinction in the fields of science, scholarship, law, and literature.

Rev. Joshua Kocherthal was a pastor of the Palatines in West Camp and Schoharie Counties, New York. He accompanied the Palatines from England in 1709 and was their first pastor in America. His records, beginning in 1708, contain important early Palatine historical data. In these records Elizabeth Traut is mentioned as a sponsor at the baptism of Elizabeth Margaretha Michel, on May 21, 1715.
What may unquestionably be regarded as the mother church of the Lutheran denomination in Maryland was the little log church erected at the village of Monocacy. It is unfortunate that nothing is preserved showing the organization of this church. From the records of the famous John Stover we get the names of a number of early members of the congregation, among them some by the name of Traut.

On June 21, 1776, the Maryland Convention passed a resolution that "this province will furnish 3,405 militia to form a flying camp and to act with the militia of the Pennsylvania and Delaware Government in the middle department." The organization of the companies for the flying camp was promptly undertaken, and no class of citizens were more prompt in enlisting than the German residents of Maryland. Some of the companies were made up entirely of Germans, while in all of them there was a generous proportion of that nationality. In the lower district of what is now Montgomery County, under Capt. Edward Brigess, was Edward Trout. Henry Traut served under Capt. Keepers in the German Regiment, which was formed by resolution of the Continental Congress in 1877, from the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Henry Trout was one of the early Maryland Germans who took part in border troubles between the provinces of Maryland and Pennsylvania about 1748.

According to family tradition, long before the Revolution there were three brothers bearing the Trout surname, who came to this country to escape religious persecution. They came from near Frankfort-on-Main and settled in Germantown. Their names were said to be Nathaniel, who remained in Pennsylvania, Daniel who settled in Frederick Co., Virginia, and Jeremiah, who was a Lutheran minister, a chaplain in the Revolutionary forces, and never married. A family heirloom belonging to the last named was an almanac printed in German, dated 1699, and illustrated with woodcuts. The name was originally spelled Traut.

A search in the records of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, and Frederick County, Virginia, shows that John Balthazar (or Baltzer), George and Jeremiah Trout were among the earliest settlers in Germantown. George owned 28 acres and Baltzer 25 acres. There is a theory that these may have been the sons of "John Trout of Upper Dublin Township, Philadelphia County, Yeoman," whose will, dated April 3, 1728, mentions his wife Catherine and his oldest son John as executors, and makes mention of his youngest son Philip, but does not give the names of the other children. There is no evidence either for or against the theory that this "John Trout Yeoman" was John Baltzer.

John Baltzer died in 1750 and left no will except one made May 28, 1747, respecting some property evidently owned by him and his brother Jeremiah, the will being made jointly by them. This Jeremiah may well have been the one by that name who, according to family tradition, was a minister. The will mentions their "beloved sons and cousins, Jacob, Balthazar and Jeremiah Trout," the three sons of John Baltzer. His son Balthazar or Baltzer died in November 1762, and his will mentions his wife Barbara, daughter Mary, and brother-in-law, Nicholas Rittenhouse. Jeremiah died in 1789, and his will mentions his wife Hannah and five children, Margaret, Bottes (?), Hannah, William and John. (It will be noted that the Jeremiah of tradition who was supposed to have been a Revolutionary chaplain, was not believed to have married). All these early wills make special provisions for the education of the children.

Jacob, the son of John Baltzer, moved about 1760 from Germantown to Frederick County, Virginia, and settled at Newtown (called Stephensburg and since then, Stephens City). A Nicholas Trout lived in that county in 1752, but it is not known whether he was connected with this family. Jacob died shortly before April 5, 1774, and his wife Barbara (Klein) and his son, Jacob Jr., were named as executors of his will. His wife had come from Germany about 1750. She died after 1812. Their children were: Jacob, Baltzer, Daniel, Philip, Henry, and Catherine. One or two sons not included in this list were thought to have moved to Tennessee or Georgia. Jacob Jr. lived at Newtown, and died unmarried in 1790. Baltzer and his sons Henry, John, and William are said to have moved with his family to Kentucky in 1811. His children were: Anne, Mary, Jacob, Daniel, Rachel, Jeremiah, Sarah (married Jacob Overpeck), Isaac, and Catherine (married William Buchanan).

EPILOGUE

In 1961 I was in Harrisonburg, Virginia. I ran into the City Library to find who were the parents of my great-great grandfather Nicholas Trout. Now 27 years later I haven't solved that question.

McIlhaney in his book “Some Early Virginia Families” mentions that Baltzer Trout had at least three sons and, “It was said,” that he and his family moved to Sandusky County, Ohio between 1790-1810. The three sons were named Henry, John and William. I checked Sandusky County Records and found no Trouts living there in 1810. But I found a Henry, John, William, Abraham and Nicholas Trout living in Franklin twp., Licking County, Ohio. In fact Nicholas Trout sold some land there in 1811 that adjoined Henry Trout’s land. I found the grave of Abraham Trout, b. 07-13-1780, d. 01-04-1847 in the Lutheran Cemetery, Franklin twp., Licking County, Ohio. I believe it is quite possible that Nicholas Trout is the son of Baltzer Trout and the brother of Henry, John and Abraham Trout, but have been unable to prove it. More research should be done on this Baltzer Trout and Henry, John and Abraham. If it is found that Nicholas is related to any of these persons, then his kinfolks could be traced back to 1728.

Another Henry Trout, born about 1750, the son of Nicholas Trout “who was accidentally shot and killed in a friendly scuffle” in 1753, could also be the father of my great-great grandfather Nicholas Trout. More research could be done in this direction and also one should check Shenandoah County Records to see if there is more information on Nicholas Trout where it was found that he married Rebecca Hawkins in 1803.
