Dedication

This book is lovingly dedicated to the memory of my grandfather, Alfred Floyd Childs and my grandmother, Grace Agnes Chapman Childs, who were inspirational in my growth and development as a young child.

Please see page 117 for my remembrances of them.
Benjamin Warden Childs was a descendant of Henry Childs, Sr. who was born in 1652 in Whielden, Amersham, England. Henry married Ann Ball in 1671 in Amersham, Hertford County, England. They had 10 children all born in England: Benjamin, Sarah, Mary, Ann, Henry Jr. (Ben's great-great-grandfather), Ruth, Rachel, Cephas, John and William. Sometime after his wife's death in 1696 in England, Henry immigrated to the United States with his 10 children and purchased land in Anne Arundel County, MD on October 5, 1702. As of this writing I have been unable to determine exactly when and where they landed in the US. It should be noted that Henry Childs, Sr. owned land in Plumstead, Bucks County, PA about 1681, but returned to England where he and his family lived until sometime between 1696 and 1702. On April 7, 1715, he conveyed his Pennsylvania land to his son Cephas who was living in Philadelphia at the time.

William Childs (Bef. 1750 - 1818), the great-grandson of Henry Childs, Sr. was a patriot of the American Revolution, having signed the Oath of Fidelity in Maryland 1777-1778. I applied to the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) under the name Barbara Elizabeth Prato Kratz and was approved for membership on April 13, 2002. My national membership number is 810756. Anyone in the family interested in membership in this society or in the Sons of the American Revolution (S.A.R.) may refer to this number and the information I have proven to the D.A.R.

Most of the twentieth and twenty-first century data in this book was obtained from the actual descendants of Benjamin Warden Childs. Some of the older information was obtained from various birth certificates, death certificates, marriage certificates, bible records, census records, wills, books, letters, notes, other family researchers, etc. as collected by me over the last five years. The information is as accurate as possible. Some family secrets have been omitted to protect living family members or per family request.

I wish to thank all the people who have shared information with me, especially Ann Scrivener Agee of Fairfax, VA, for the early data on the Child/Childs family. Without her help, this book would have been delayed many years or would be missing much of the older information.

Copies of this book will be furnished to various libraries throughout the country (primarily Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia) including the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) and the Congressional Library in Washington, D.C.

The Childs family has an annual reunion. As of this writing, it is held in Berryville, Virginia on the Saturday of the Columbus Day weekend in October.

Index .............................................................................. 120
It is September 17, 1861, Harpers Ferry, VA (WV) and Benjamin Warden Childs, simple farmer and Virginian has enlisted in the service of the Confederacy. Three months later he will be mustered into Co.D. (Capt. Abraham Miller's Company) of the 14th Regiment (Hardy County) Virginia Militia, 18th Brigade, Third Division. The term of enlistment was six months.

The Virginia Militia System was based on the Federal Militia Act of 1792. All men within the state between the ages of 18 - 45 years could be called for military duty. The Virginia Convention of November 29, 1861 reorganized the militia into two classes. Men between the ages of 21 - 31 years constituted the active class. The remainder were reserves. Ben was 28 years of age.

History is handed down through the generations by both written and oral accounts. Ben's history during the civil war is limited in both accounts. My examination of real estate records located in the Clarke County, Virginia courthouse reveal that Ben may have been unable to write. Documents which required the signatures of himself and his wife, Catharine, reveal that Ben signed his name with an "X". If this is factual, then Ben's personal experiences would never have been recorded under his own hand.

The facts above are supported by evidence recorded in "A Guide to Virginia Military Organization 1861", by Lee A. Wallace, Jr., and compiled in the Virginia State Library's Confederate records.

Roger U. DeLauter, Jr.'s "McNeill's Rangers" and Rev. J. W. Duffey's "McNeill's Last Charge, An Account of a Daring Confederate in the Civil War", both document Ben as a member of McNeill's Partisan Rangers. The "Rangers" were one of the most daring cavalry units on either side.

Roger U. DeLauter's account of the "Rangers" daring February 1864 raid into Union Cumberland, Maryland, which entailed the capturing of both Union generals Crook and Kelley surpasses that of Confederate John Mosby's "Fairfax" raid. Only about one third of the Rangers' numbers effectively served at any one time. We can only wonder if Ben was on that raid.

Lila Farrington has told me the story of how Ben met his future wife, Catharine. While Ben was on campaign in Shenandoah County, Virginia, he was wounded during an engagement. I believe that he was probably serving with McNeill's Rangers at that time, since they were extensively engaged in the area. Allegedly, he suffered unconsciousness from his wound and upon recovering was able to locate a horse and ride to the nearest farm. This was the farm of Samuel and Rebecca Tusing. The owners' daughter, Catharine Tusing, nursed Ben back to health and upon leaving the farm he remarked to the very young Catharine (who was eleven years his junior), that when the war was over he would return and marry her. On July 28, 1869, he fulfilled his apparent promise.
CHILDS COAT OF ARMS

First and fourth quarters - three eagles on a gules (red) background with an argent (white) chevron.

Second and third quarters - three argent (white) escallops on an azure (blue) diagonal stripe.

CHILDS CREST

An argent (white) eagle with wings expanded and a snake wrapped around it.

CHILDS NAME HISTORY

The name "Childs" is of English origin. There are several possible sources for the name. It could have been from the term "cild" meaning "child". It could have been given to someone who was the youngest child or a minor at the time of his/her parents' death. It could also have indicated a young noble who was awaiting knighthood or a page. Lastly, it could have been of a local origin in which case the original bearer resided near a natural well, the name coming from the Old English word "celde" meaning "spring". The name has been found as early as 975.

CHILDS MOTTO

Imitari quam invidere - to imitate rather than to envy

Notes for ELIZABETH SIMMONS:
I don't have any definite evidence that Elizabeth Simmons was the first wife of Francis Scrivener. I'm basing this on circumstantial evidence, particularly the name of George Scrivener. This is the first instance of George in this line and I'm assuming that he was named for his maternal grandfather. George Simmons was a neighbor of Francis Scrivener and his daughter Elizabeth was of the right age to be married to Francis. Elizabeth Simmons was not married when her father wrote his will in 1764. Francis and his first wife married about 1770 and had their first child, Mary abt 1770. Francis and his first wife named a daughter Elizabeth. Also their daughter Ann named a daughter Elizabeth S. Dowell.

Children of FRANCIS SCRIVENER and ELIZABETH SIMMONS are:
  i. MARY⁸ SCRIVENER, b. Abt. 1770, Anne Arundel Co., MD; d. 1852, Anne Arundel Co., MD; m. JOHN WOOD, August 03, 1809, Anne Arundel Co., MD; b. Bef. 1769, Anne Arundel Co., MD; d. 1819, Anne Arundel Co., MD.

Remembrances of Catharine Tusing Childs
by
Lila Murphy Farrington, Granddaughter
October 10, 1999

Grandma was born in September 1847. During the war between the states, Grandma lived in Shenandoah county on a farm with her mother, father, brothers and sisters. One evening when she was about 16 years old a wounded soldier came riding in. He asked if he might stay a few days until he could gain his strength and then ride on to his home in Hardy County, W. Va. He was welcomed. When he was able to travel and bidding the family good bye, he said, "When I am strong again I would like to return and ask Catharine to be my wife." They fell in love, and according to the marriage certificate, they married 4 years later. She was then 20 and Benjamin Warden Childs was 34. He took her to his home in Hardy County. They raised 8 children, 5 boys and 3 girls.

Benjamin wanted to move to Clarke County where he had heard land was more fertile and he needed space for his boys. They bought a place on the Shenandoah River (Chilly Hollow). This was being sold by my father's family who were moving to Loudoun County. There wasn't enough land at "Chilly Hollow" so they found another place near Summit Point, the "Willis Place." They resided there until 1903. My grandfather, Benjamin died there of small pox (1904). By then some of the family was married, leaving the twin boys, Uncle Jake and Uncle Sam, and Uncle Floyd.

The family then found a place called "Weehaw" where the owner lived in Winchester leaving a nice house for the farmer. The owner was reluctant to rent it to the boys because he felt they were too young. With my grandmother signing the agreement and being responsible, he agreed. I have a copy of this agreement. A couple of years went by and Uncle Jake and Uncle Floyd got married leaving grandma, Uncle Sam and the boss man (I never knew exactly who he was, but he apparently was a big help to the boys).

Uncle Sam decides to get married. After a while grandma decides to move into town. She bought a small house, but Aunt Mary offered her a 3-room cottage on their farm about 50 yards from the main house. This was ideal. She had her looms in the living room and seemed very happy there. Whenever she needed someone to stay with her I was called. I didn't mind this because I was very fond of her.

When Aunt Mary came into town grandma would make her rounds at the stores, then come to our house for lunch. Soon she wanted her own horse and buggy so she could go when she wanted to. She bought a horse, Roxie, and a buggy. Now she could visit her children when she wanted. She always had a white poodle who sat by her and growled at anyone coming near.

One Christmas Eve when were still in the country we had been popping corn and made popcorn balls. A knock came at the door. Daddy opened it and there stood Santa Claus, brushing snow from his shoulders. There was a blizzard going on outside. Santa said, "Rudolph went around that curve so fast he almost threw me out." Daddy asked him in and he sat down by the fire to dry off. He took each of us on his lap and asked if we had been good and what we wanted for Christmas. Soon he said he must be going because he had many calls to make, but go to sleep and he would be back before morning and leave presents. We gave him some popcorn balls and he was off. In the spring we were playing upstairs on the porch and found that red flannel suit in a closet. That was a mystery for years. But, we always figured Santa was grandma.

The Red Cross lady (this was WW I) would bring yarn for grandma to knit socks. She would pick up the finished ones and leave a bunch of yarn. She told grandma she was the only one of her knitters who could turn a heel without making a seam.

Grandma loved to make dandelion wine and brandy peaches. She would send me out in the yard in the spring to cut dandelions before they bloomed. The leaves were used for salad, the other part for greens or wine. In the summer Uncle Floyd shared peaches from his orchard. We used to go on the train to Shenandoah Junction to join in. Grandma brandied the smaller peaches and made brandy wine from the skin. Each of her children got a jar of brandied peaches for Christmas. I never saw grandma drink a glass of wine, but by spring the jugs were always empty! It was good for her rheumatism. She didn't like drug store medicines.

When we were smaller daddy used to say, "Whenever Ma Childs comes, the children get a cold." She had a hot toddy she mixed for us. Lemon, whiskey, sugar and hot water. We got one tablespoon of this at night and got up just fine in the morning. He didn't approve of this, but we loved it!

When I was 7 or 8, grandma wanted to go, I think it was, to Mt. Jackson to visit her brother and family. We went by train and he met us. The next morning we had blackberry pie for breakfast. I blurted out, "Who ever heard of blackberry pie for breakfast? That's a desert. We have it for dinner." I got a big kick under the table from grandma, so I guess that was the wrong thing to say. We only stayed a short time whenever we went after that.

Uncle Elijah and his son, who kept the post office at Timberville (in a store), were frequent summer visitors.

Grandma had a sister Aunt Becky who came from Indiana. She was a beautiful little lady. She had a pale gray traveling suit etched in black and white. Grandma had a black suit etched in white. They made a beautiful sight in grandma's buggy with her white poodle when they went visiting.

When grandma lived in town I went after supper to spend the night. We had been having tremendous thunder and lightening storms. One evening at supper my mother said, "Lila, you better hurry up and get over to grandma's before the rain." I started crying. Daddy said, "What's wrong?" I said, "I'm afraid! Grandma reads these stories about the end of the world and how it's going to be destroyed by Hell, fire and brimstone and the time is now!" Daddy said no one knows when the end is coming, and...where does she get these books? I told him book peddlers come around in the daytime and she buys them. Daddy asked, "What do you do when we have a storm at night?" I said, "I cover up my head and finally go to sleep. When I awake the next morning and look out and grandma is still in her bed and I'm in mine, so I decide, well, it didn't happen last night."

Aunt Mary and mama decided it was time for grandma to move back to her little stone cottage. She was perfectly willing to move but came frequently into town and spent the day with us. One day at the cottage someone left a ladder up against the tree. Grandma climbed up it, fell and broke her hip.

She developed pneumonia. The men moved her up into Aunt Mary's big house and they took care of her until she passed away in 1927.

She was put to rest beside Benjamin Warden Childs in Green Hill Cemetery in Berryville, Va.
Remembrances of Alfred Floyd Childs and Grace Agnes Chapman Childs
by
Barbara Elizabeth Prato Kratz, Granddaughter
January 25, 2002

My grandfather, Alfred Floyd Childs, the youngest child of Benjamin Warden Childs and Catharine Tusing Childs, was born in Bakers Run, Hardy County, West Virginia on April 8, 1888. The family moved to Clarke county, Virginia when he was a young child. They lived on farms in "Chilly Hollow" on the Shenandoah River and at the "Willis Place" near Summit Point.

Having grown up on a farm, it was only natural that he become a farmer. Floyd and his twin brothers, Jake and Sam, farmed together for a few years at "Weehaw" in Berryville, Clarke County, Virginia, after the death of their father, Benjamin Warden Childs from Small Pox in 1904. Jake was the first to get married in 1908. Floyd married Grace Agnes Chapman of Berryville on December 13, 1909 at "Mansfield" in Clarke County.

The first few years of their marriage they lived in a house in Clarke County, Virginia. They then moved to Kernstown, Frederick County, Virginia and in 1918 finally realized their dream of owning their own home when they bought a farm in Shepherdstown, Jefferson County, West Virginia. They were blessed with seven children: Esther V., Grace Virginia, twins David Allen and Catherine Love, Ruth Elizabeth (my mother), Martha Frances and Edna Leah. The oldest five are now deceased.

I remember my mom saying they had to walk "miles" to school. When I visited Shepherdstown in 1999 and saw the old farm and school, I realized it was only about three blocks from the farm to the school! During the depression in 1926, Floyd lost the farm. The family then moved to a farm in Anne Arundel County, Maryland on Gibson Island, where Floyd served as a caretaker for the owner in exchange for lodging for his family and a small salary. Sometime in the late 1930's or early 1940's the family was given a house at 204 W. 27th Street in Baltimore, Maryland in exchange for taking care of the elderly owner there for several years until her death.

My first remembrances of my grandparents are when I was a little girl. Since I was born only eleven months after my parents married and my father was serving in World War II, the first five or six years of my life we lived with my grandparents in their "row" home on 27th Street in Baltimore. I was the only child in my family for eight years as my mother had several miscarriages.

I remember waking up many mornings to the smell of freshly baked rolls that grandma and my Aunt Grace would spend hours "kneading". They also churned homemade apple butter when apples were in season. You could smell that delicious aroma all around that city block. It was rumored that Aunt Grace had been "ditched" by a boyfriend, and that is why she remained an old maid. Aunt Grace lived in that same house until she died in 1994.

Grandma Childs was an excellent seamstress. She made all my dresses until I was a teenager and then thought I was too old for "puffed" sleeves. She also would make clothes for other family members when they visited her and granddad and spent the night there. Grandma embroidered pillow cases, table cloths and other items for herself, her family and her friends.

My grandparents were a loving couple. They were always together and I never heard them say a cross word to each other. My grandfather didn't like the cold winters in Maryland. So, every winter for several years they went to Florida to escape the cold. I would miss them terribly until they returned.
My grandfather Floyd would rock in his rocking chair in the evenings with me on his lap. We would sing and he would tell me stories. I remember that whenever I had a "skeeter" bite, only he could make the hurting go away. It was years later before I realized that he was putting "Yagers" liniment on them! I guess I didn't notice the smell!

I remember that granddaddy had a parrot named "Poly". He had taught her to talk and sing and she had quite a vocabulary. I also remember going to Virginia and West Virginia with my grandparents to visit relatives. Sometimes we would spend the night, but it was always a lot of fun.

When I was about six or seven, my parents rented a house two doors down from my grandparents and when I was about twelve, they bought a house around the corner on Howard Street where I spent the rest of my childhood until I married. By then my sister and brother had arrived. My sister, Linda, is eight years my junior and my brother, Joe is two years younger than Linda.

So, as you can see, my grandparents were an integral part of my growing up years. When my grandfather died on April 13, 1959, it was the only day in his life that he and my grandmother didn't come downstairs together in the morning. He said he was not feeling well and would be down a little later. When he hadn't come down within a few hours, grandma went up to check on him. He had died of a heart attack in his bed. Grandma found out that he had a history of heart problems which he had kept from her. Granddad Floyd was buried in Lorraine Park Cemetery, Woodlawn, Maryland, a suburb of Baltimore.

Grandma was never the same after Grandfather's death. She lived alone with Aunt Grace for about ten years until her death on February 11, 1969 of a heart attack. She was buried next to granddad Childs so they could be together forever in death as they were in life.
