ACKNOWLEDGMENT

This booklet could not have been prepared without the extensive research and assistance of Minnie (Mrs. Howard) Bulls of P. 0. Box 542, Reedley, California. Minnie is a descendant of Captain Lewis Rose, and during the past several years whenever we received a lead on this family we passed it to her. She always, without fail, would follow the leads and soon our file was bulging with wills, marriages and other records regarding this family.

After presenting to Minnie our idea of correlating the known information on this family, so that others might use it for research, Minnie got busy again. She noticed a small item we had included on Martin Rose's land grant in Jefferson County, Kentucky - she managed through hours and hours of research and reading of microfilm to unearth a wealth of information in that area of Kentucky not only on this family, but other Roses as well. She then employed the services of a researcher, Charles D. Waggoner of Louisville, Kentucky, to add details, especially deeds, and now a fairly complete history emerges. Minnie's constant help and encouragement was the deciding factor in our decision to publish this research booklet.

We have no doubt that Gotlieb/Godlove Rose is the father of the brothers Capt. Lewis, Matthias and Martin Rose - see his section for particulars. It appears that this family was originally from Germany, then Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky. Lewis remained in Kentucky while Martin and Matthias removed to Indiana (perhaps after the death of their father), and still later Matthias moved to Missouri.

It is our hope, both Minnie's and mine, that you who read this will be inspired to further the research of this family. There are many Roses in the Kentucky area - Fayette, Franklin, Woodford - whose names are similar to this family. Were there still other brothers whose names we don't yet know? Did Gotlieb/Godlove Rose bring HIS brothers with him? Any information, no matter how slight, not included herein on this family is solicited.

Of course, as with any family history, there will be errors and omissions in this booklet. Will you let us know if you find them? If all those descended or interested in this family would research a branch, someday this could result in a published book, complete with biographies, to properly portray the lives of these Roses. It is the details of their lives - their work, religion, personalities - that make family history so fascinating. Can you help?!

March 1972
On Saturday evening, March 25th, I received a telephone call from Minnie Bulls. She asked if we had completed the booklet yet - I explained that Seymour had printed the first run just that day, and would finish it on the following day. "I think you will want to add an addenda" said Minnie, and proceeded to tell me of her exciting find.

For three months Minnie had been searching for some papers known to be in the Lyman Draper Collection - she finally located them at University of Wisconsin, and had just that day received a copy. It turned out to be a letter written in 1849 from Robt. B. McAfee to Lyman Draper, concerning Lewis Rose! Though the letter is written by McAfee twenty years after Lewis Rose's death, he states "I have now before me a sketch of Mr. Rose's life written by myself from his own mouth a few weeks before his death..."

The letter confirms some important points. First - that the parents of Lewis Rose were indeed "Godlove" and Barbary Rose, and that they were from a small village near the city of "Bingen" on the River Rhine, in Germany. It also confirms that the wife of Lewis Rose was Miss Barbary Trair, and their marriage did occur in Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

Some new information is contained - perhaps most importantly is the inference that perhaps the grandfather of Lewis Rose also came to Alexandria - see context of letter. It further gives us a new location, stating that after their arrival in Alexandria they lived in Frederick County, Maryland before removing to Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

As to Lewis Rose, there is reference to several tours in the Revolutionary War in 1777/8 from Pennsylvania - we knew only of his later Kentucky tour. Details of his later capture at battle of Blue Licks and details of the tradition regarding his second wife are corrected in this account.

In reading this booklet, please keep in mind that it was written BEFORE receiving this sketch from the Draper Collection, and use this addenda as a cross reference. Index to this addenda is on page 55.

The following is quoted from a photocopy of the letter:

(N--1) Capt. Lewis Rose
Harrodsburg (Ky) Jany 10th 1849

My dear Sir

Yours of the 31st of October came to hand in due time and as soon as I could, I commenced my inquiry, I also gave Dr. Graham your note, and your letter would have long since been answered, but a tumor on my right thumb has prevented my writing for the last month; But now I will attempt to redeem my lost time, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas is yet alive and I hope you will notice her kindly in your Book she was born in Virginia the 6th day of Sept. 1764 and is now in her 85th year. I will answer your inquiry as made 1st as to Lewis Rose and John McMurtry. I have now before me a sketch of Mr. Rose's life written by myself from his own mouth a few weeks before his death. He was born the 11th day of October 1749, in a small village near the city of "Bingen" on the River Rhine in one of the Palatanites of Germany, his father Cudluff or "Godlove" and Barbary Rose were members of the Lutheran Church and were respectable & industrious citizens & his father and grandfather were Iron Founderers, and in consequence of the peace of 1763, Their business having declined They Removed to this country in 1764 and landed at Alexandria (Va) near where Washington City now is & in 1765 his father removed to Guents? Iron works in Frederic County Maryland, and in 1770 removed into Bedford County Pennsylvania where he bought a tract of land & commenced farming here on the 31st March 1772 Lewis Rose married Miss Barbary Trair a German lady and in 1777 & 8 served several tours with the Pennsylvania Militia in the Revolutionary war and in 1779 in the spring he came to Kentucky and aided in raising a crop of corn in the Town of Harrodsburg partly where the courthouse now stands & north of it. In the month of May 1782 he assisted in relieving McAfee's Station Then attacked by the Indians and in August 1782 he was Taken at the Battle of Blue Licks with Jhon (sic) McMurtry and James Ledgerwood prisoners. Lewis Rose was taken by the Ottawas and was taken to Detroit and sold to the British commandand & returned home by the way of Montreal & got back the last of August 28th 1783, he was so altered that his wife did not know him for some time. McMurtry was taken to the Miami village near Fort Wayne where he ran the gauntlett & was then taken to Detroit & got home some weeks after Rose. James Ledgerwood was taken to Mackinaw and did not get back until the fall of 1784. He was my uncle having married my mother's sister (Elizabeth McCown) his return was despaired of and his wife had several offers of marriage but rejected or postponed them until her husband got back to her great joy. Lewis Rose lost his first wife in 1792 and in 1793 he married Mrs. McMurtry the widow of John McMurtry who was killed in Harmer's defeat, but it was not positive that he was killed for a long time and Mr. Rose was at first rejected but perservering he finally married her & even Then it was Reported that McMurtry was alive to their great annoyance, but Gen' Rob' Caldwell having last seen him surrounded by the Indians put the matter to rest. Lewis Rose became an elder in the Presbyterian church at Cane Run and Harrodsburg in the place of McMurtry and continued until his death the 20th of Feb. 1829. It was on McMurtry's return after the Battle of Blue licks, that Mrs. McMurtry exclaimed as Judge Robertson relates, "That's John's Gun." ... (here the letter continues with information on other pioneers - this concludes the portion relating to the Rose family) ...

- iv. -
We have seen it written that the father of the brothers Lewis, Martin and Matthias Rose was a George Rose (see Appendix "K"). We have also seen it written on various charts as George/Godchuff Rose.

The only documentary evidence of his name that has been thus far located are records of Jefferson County, Kentucky, on tax records and deeds. The name is consistently shown as Godlove/Goodlove Rose on these records.

Minnie Bulls has ascertained from German friends that the German name is probably GOTLIEB ROSE, the English version being Godlove. The name CUTLIP ROSE is probably an attempt to spell the name Gotlieb Rose phonetically. One tax record of Bedford County, Pennsylvania lists Godfrey Rose (in a published version of the list) — the name was perhaps intended for Gotlieb/Godlove, or perhaps was mis-read from the original tax list.

It would appear from this that the first Rose of this family in America, father of Lewis, Martin and Matthias Rose, was variously known as Gotlieb/Cutlip/Godlove/Godfrey, and perhaps also Godchuff and George.

"A History of the Pioneer Families of Missouri" (see Appendix "K") gives the name as George Rose. Perhaps he assumed the name of George, and could even be the same George Rose who appears on records of Bullitt Co., Kentucky (see Appendix "J") after the name Godlove Rose disappears from the records, though this doesn't seem too probable.

Assuming the above spellings are intended for Gotlieb/Godlove Rose, the first record of him would be 1772 in Brothers Valley ("History of Bedford, Somerset & Fulton Cos., Pa."). He is listed in 1776 in Bedford County tax list as Godfrey Rose, and in 1779 list as Cutliph Rose.

At least some members of this family had made the move to Kentucky by 1782. Two of the sons, Lewis and Matthias, enlisted in Revolutionary War about that time from Kentucky, and another son Martin had land grant in Jefferson County in 1782. We assume this also marks the removal of Gotlieb/Godlove Rose from Bedford County, Pennsylvania to the Jefferson County, Kentucky area.

His first Kentucky record is 1789 when Godlove Rose is listed in Tax List — Mathias Rose, a male over the age of 21, is also living in his home. This would be his son Matthias.

In 1790 Godlove Rose purchased 600 acres of land, and continues to appear on tax lists for a time. In 1795 he conveyed the 600 acres to Matthias Rose "in consideration of the natural love and affection which he bears to the said Matthias..." though no relationship is specified. There can be no doubt that it is a father-son relationship, based on an examination of all the records and on the fact that Matthias was living with Godlove in 1789, but researchers in the absence of positive proof should keep the possibility open that the kinship is not that of father and son.

This land - 600 acres on Floyd's Fork - fell into Bullitt County when it was formed in 1796. In 1797 Goodlove Rose is listed in the latter county (see Appendix "J") when he is taxed on 1 black; 7 horses and 13 cattle. This is the last known record of Goodlove Rose. Did he die soon after? Estate proceedings have not been located in either Bullitt County or Jefferson County, Kentucky.

From biographies of Capt. Lewis Rose, son of Gotlieb/Godlove Rose, it is stated that this family lived at Bingen, Germany and arrived in Alexandria, Virginia in 1764. They are supposed to have removed to Bedford County, Pennsylvania about 1770-72, and to Kentucky between 1779-1782.

According to some charts, Barbara was the name of the wife of Gotlieb/Godlove/Godchuff Rose, but we have no confirmation.

The following list of children of Gotlieb/Godlove Rose is assumptive only. We know that Lewis, Matthias and Martin Rose were brothers, but are only guessing that Jemima who married Jesse Drake and Deniza who married William McMurtry were their sisters. Another possibility as a sister is Barbara who married Jacob Froman/Frowman.

Children: OF GOTLIEB/GODLOVE ROSE. List uncertain - perhaps others.

This is the last known record of Godlove Rose.
(Capt.) LEWIS 2 ROSE (Gotlieb/Godlove 1) was born 11 October 1749 at Bingen, Germany, per tradition. He died 20 February 1829 in Mercer County, Kentucky, burial on the old Rose farm about three miles east of Harrodsburg. Memorial on tombstone of son Charles Rose at Harrodsburg Cemetery.

Lewis Rose married first BARBARA----. Her maiden name is unknown. We have seen it written as Trayer, Frazier and Frier, but since Jacob Froman was granted administration with Barbara Rose of the Lewis Rose estate (when they erroneously thought he had been killed in 1783), it is even possible she was a Froman. The marriage took place 31 March 1772 in Bedford County, Pennsylvania per DAR papers of Mary E. Smith, but we have no confirmation.

Lewis Rose married second, November 4, 1793 in Mercer County, Kentucky, MRS. MARY (TODD) McMURTRY, widow of John McMurtry who died 22 October 1790. According to tombstone of son Charles Rose, Mary McMurtry Rose was born Feb. 4, 1779 and died Nov. 24, 1854. This is in error - census records indicate she was born ante 1765, and could not have been born in 1779 for she had several children by her first marriage at the time she married Lewis Rose in 1793. It would appear that someone has mixed the dates of Mary (Lewis) Rose, wife of Charles Rose, with that of Mary (McMurtry) Rose, his step-mother. According to bible records, Mary Rose was born 19 March 1752 (see source references).

Lewis Rose first appears in records of Bedford County, Pennsylvania in 1774. The last record there of him is 1779. Sometime between this date and 1782 he moved to Kentucky, and enlisted about 1782 in the Revolutionary War from that state. He and his brother Matthias Rose were taken prisoner at the battle of Blue Licks in 1782 and released in the fall of 1783. Their families not only thought them dead, but estate proceedings had been started on the Lewis Rose estate in Lincoln County, Kentucky.

One of the accounts of this family states that widower Lewis Rose wanted to marry his second wife, but that on the day they were to be married her husband arrived home from the war. It should be noted here that Lewis Rose's first wife Barbara was living as late as 1789, so this tradition cannot be correct.

Lewis Rose was commissioned Ensign of the Militia in 1787, Lieutenant in 1790, and Captain in 1792, in Mercer County.

See Appendix "B" for full will of Lewis Rose, and Appendix "E" for biographical account by his great-great-granddaughter Carrie W. Van Arsdel.

We find the will of particular interest in that he provided for the freedom of his slaves. As early as 1796 he had acknowledged letter of emancipation of two of his slaves.

WAR RECORD - A soldier of the Revolutionary War, 4th
Virginia 1777. In Indian Wars. Famous Battle Blue Lick Springs. Taken Prisoner August 9th 1782. Ran gauntlets.
Exchanged and returned July 1783. Fought Shawnees 1786.
Fought Wea Indians on the Wabash.

The above data sent by Minnie Bulls who received it from Mrs. T. W. Latta in 1966.

From Charles N. Edmonston of San Francisco, California we have the above, together with the following. We assume from this that the son Charles Rose was buried in the same cemetery. As to the inscription of Mary McMurtry Rose, we feel certain that someone has mixed her data with that of Mary Lewis Rose, wife of Charles Rose. As explained previously, Mary McMurtry Rose, wife of Lewis Rose, was born before 1765 according to census records, and had grown children by her first marriage when she married
Lewis Rose in 1793.

CHARLIE S. ROSE, son of Lewis Rose, born Oct. 6, 1778, died Feb. 28, 1845. He was prominent in civic work and an elder in the Presbyterian Church.

MARY McMURTRY ROSE b. Feb. 4, 1779, Mercer County, Ky.
d. Nov. 24, 1854. A true pioneer woman. Lived where Shakertown, Kentucky now is. Defended herself and her children against Indians while her husband was being held a war captive. (See notes above - these dates are probably for Mary Lewis Rose, wife of Charles Rose. The tombstone erected at a later date apparently mixed the two Marys.)

--- From: Dept. of Military Affairs, Office of Adj. Gen.,
Frankfort, Ky. 40601. LEWIS ROSE - CORN STALK MILITIA
Commissioned August 9, 1782 as Captain, assigned to 5th Reg., 2nd Brigade, 1st Division, Mercer County, formed by act of June 24, 1792. (See: "The Corn Stalk Militia" by G. Glenn Clift).
MATTHIAS 2 ROSE (Gotlieb/Godlove) was born ca 1765, place unknown. This family by tradition came from Germany to Alexandria, Virginia in 1764 - it is thus possible that Matthias Rose was born in Virginia. Sometime around 1770-73 they moved to Bedford County, Pennsylvania. After their removal to Kentucky, Matthias enlisted and served in the Revolutionary War, and was captured at the Battle of Blue Licks with his brother Lewis Rose. They were released in the fall of 1783. See Appendix "F" for details.

By 1789 Matthias Rose was in Jefferson County, Kentucky, and at that was living with Godlove Rose (see Appendix "I").

Matthias married 12 January 1792 in Jefferson County, Kentucky, to NANCY "ANN" HICKMAN. She was born 1770-1780, and was daughter of Francis Hickman of Loudoun County, Virginia.

Matthias Rose and wife are shown in records of Knox County, Indiana in 1815-1817 period. He is supposed to have removed to St. Louis County, Missouri in 1818. He died in St. Louis County between 23 June 1834 (date of his will) and 7 August 1834 (his will proved).

MARTIN 2 ROSE (Gotlieb/Godlove) was born before 1761 (he had to be at least 21 when he had land grant in 1782). He died between January 13, 1826 (date of will) and December 6, 1828 (will proved) in Knox County, Indiana.

Martin Rose married, license 27 December 1786, in Jefferson County, Kentucky, to REBECCA THUKSTON/THICKSTON, daughter of Jno. Thukston/Thickston, married by Jno. Whitaker. The marriage record shows the spelling as Thukston, but the name is usually spelled Thickston in other records of the county.

Rebecca was living when her husband made his will - further information on her unknown.

The first record of Martin Rose appears in Jefferson County, Kentucky in 1782 when he had land grant. Previously this family lived in Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

Martin Rose is taxed on land in Jefferson County, and when Bullitt County was formed his land fell into the new county. Sometime before 1812 Martin Rose moved his family to Knox County, Indiana. His brother Matthias Rose also moved to this county, but later Matthias again moved to St. Louis Co., Missouri whereas Martin continued to reside in Indiana.

Tombstone erected in 1937 Harrodsburg, Ky. at site of Charles Rose burial states that Mary McMurtrey Rose was born Feb. 4, 1779 and died Nov. 24, 1854. This is apparently in error—we suspect the dates of Mary (Todd) McMurtrey Rose were mixed with those of Mary (Lewis) Rose, widow of Charles. These are probably the dates for Mary (Lewis) Rose.

NOTE: Some of the 1850 census records were sent by Lydia Scott and some by Linda Winzen. It is unclear whether the last two listed - Elizabeth Rose and Mary Rose, were listed by themselves or with other families. We have not examined this census personally. Lydia Scott states that most of the 1850 census of Mercer County was too faded to read on the microfilm. If you have any of the census records of this county, and can add to or correct any of the above, please send the information.

We are also in need of the 1820, 1830 and 1840 census listings of Mercer County.
The following article was originally published in THE REGISTER of the Kentucky State Historical Society,
Vol. 20 No. 58, 1922, and was republished in

While we have been erecting monuments to some of our illustrious dead many of our forefathers, the makers of history, who have fought, bled and died, have been "unwept, unhonored and unsung." Such a thought has occurred to me in delving through old family records. So many heroic deeds and incidents I have found recorded in my family history that I thought perhaps your readers might find them at least of passing interest.

I feel that I am not boasting for I am only one of many who have descended from pioneer stock who can trace their ancestry back to those sturdy men in whose veins have run the blood of alien nations--brave soldiers enduring hardship and suffering even death itself for home and loved ones. Their names may not be written in the temple of fame, but they should be written in the hearts and lives of their countrymen.

Prominent among the pioneer families are the names of Rose and McMurtry. Lewis Rose, being the founder of the family by that name, was born October 11, 1749, in a small village near the city of Bingen on the river Rhine, in one of the Palitines of Germany. His father and mother were respectable, industrious citizens, but on account of business depression and on account of the war which had continued for some years his parents removed to America in 1764 and landed in Alexandria in the State of Virginia, now the District of Columbia. The ground where Washington City now stands was then almost covered with timber. In 1776 he removed with his family to Bedford Co., Penn. In the spring of 1779 he came to Kentucky and raised a crop of corn at Harrodsburg and later removed there with his family. In the month of May, 1782, when the Indians attacked McAfee Station at Salt River, Capt. Rose was among those who repaired to their relief and aided in driving the Indians off. He was a soldier in the disastrous battle of the Blue Licks, where he was taken prisoner, after having killed two Indians. He was taken by the Ottawa Indians, who having tied him and packed him with the spoils of war sent him to Fort Meigs, after delivering him into the hands of the British, who sent him to Montreal, where he was imprisoned for four weeks in the most rigorous and cruel manner, then sent on to Mont De Luc Island until July, 1783, at which time he was exchanged and sent to Ticonderoga, from which latter place he returned to Ky., arriving at home on the 28th day of August, 1783, to the great joy of his family and friends.

Such in brief are some of the war experiences of Capt. Lewis Rose. It is singular that these two pioneers, Rose and McMurtry, who were destined to play such an important part in the annals of of Kentucky history should have their lives so strongly blended.

"All the world's a stage and the men and women merely players."

After the battle of Blue Lick the Indians took several prisoners; most of them had been killed and scalped. Captain John McMurtry, Lewis Rose and Jesse Yocum remained. Many times they were made to run the gauntlet. Rose made his way safely though Captain McMurtry was knocked senseless, while Yocum by skill, running close to the line of Indians, avoided the blows and came through almost unhurt; then he turned on a young Indian and by adroitness and great strength picked him up and hurled him to the ground. He then attacked another by quickly thrusting his head between the Indian's legs and throwing him with great violence on his head; then jumping up and cracking his heels together in a way novel to the Indians he crowed like a rooster and chided them with cowardice. This exhibition of dexterity and bravery delighted the Indians and an old chief claimed Yocum as his man. But the spirit of cruelty was not satisfied with the gauntlet so they proceeded to arrange to burn the prisoners at the stake. After they had been bound the fires were kindled. At this time Captain McMurtry, a very pious elder, prayed as one would pray to escape such a death. He was answered by a heavy storm of rain putting out the fire. The savages were awed, thinking the Great Spirit had taken the prisoners under his care. After that much consideration was shown the prisoners; they were delivered to the British and sent on to Ticonderoga. This historical fact comes from a biography of Captain Rose, written by General Scott McAfee in 1829.

Life was not all war to these brave old pioneers, for love shed a halo around them, brightening up the shadows of life. We talk and write of our pioneer fathers, but we hear precious little about our pioneer mothers who braved dangers at home, enduring suspense, caring for their families with a fortitude almost inconceivable. It is brave to fight in the arena of life, for home and for country, but braver still were the brave women in whose hearts were fought the battles of life—all honor to them.

In the exchange of prisoners Captain John McMurtry was not released when the others were. He had left his wife and family on the grant of land in Mercer County, now called Shakertown, he being the first man to own that land and settle there. She was in a distressing condition, not only being exposed to the ravages of the Indians, but even hard pressed at times for the necessities of life for herself and her little ones. She watched and waited for the return of Captain McMurtry, but in vain. She believed him dead. Captain Rose saw the brave struggle of this woman, the despairing look when hope failed day after day and her husband and his comrade did not return, and, like Enoch Arden of poetical fame, he fell in love with her, fully believing her husband dead. He paid assiduous court to her but she held off, true to her first love, believing, hoping and praying that he would come. Her friends urged her to accept Captain Rose's offer of marriage. Finally she could hold out no longer and yielded. The wedding day was set, the wedding feast prepared, the guests there, the minister present; everything waiting, everybody happy and light hearted, except the expectant bride, whose heart had not yielded submission. Just as the ceremony was beginning a gun shot was heard. Mrs. McMurtry bounded off with the fleetness of a deer, crying "that's John gun," and so it was, and John was received as one from the dead. This incident comes from Chief Justice Robertson in a speech at Camp Madison in 1840. (Note of Christine Rose: It should be noted that wife of Capt. Lewis Rose, Barbara Rose, was living in 1789, so it doesn't seem possible the foregoing can be wholly correct). Peace had been proclaimed between England and the United States at Ticonderoga. We are not told of the dejection of Captain Rose but we can well imagine his disappointment over the episode, not even manifesting much joy over the return of his comrade, but returned to his home and family, his wife having died several years previously (again, we know she was living in 1789. cr) perhaps repeating the sad words, "It might have been."

Captain McMurtry had only a short time to enjoy the happiness of domestic life. The Indians were troublesome and being a captain in the regular army he was again called into action to fight for his country. He was under General Harmon, who did not understand Indian warfare and he was defeated. Captain McMurtry was shot in the hip. He was laid on the side of the road where he could see the Indians coming to scalp him. Captain McMurtry's bones were left to bleach in the Miami valley. So fell a great pioneer of the McMurtry family, whose descendants are widely scattered throughout Kentucky and other states. Captain Rose, though grieved over his friend's death, could not erase from his heart and memory the sweet face of the Captain's wife and believing that "faint heart never won fair lady" again paid court to her, so the records say, and this time wooed and won her and not even the spirit of Captain John returned to disturb their peace and happiness. Captain Rose was elected captain in Captain McMurtry's place in the army; was also made elder in the Presbyterian church at Cane Run, later removed to Harrodsburg, taking his place in the church and by marrying his widow he did literally step into Captain McMurtry's shoes. Captain Rose lived to the 80th year of his life. He died on the 20th day of February, 1829, a man of strong character, and convictions, serving his family and his country well. He, too, like Captain McMurtry, left many descendants in Kentucky and elsewhere, who rise up and call his name blessed.
The following papers were obtained from the National Archives, File SI7053. One affidavit is quoted in its entirety for it establishes the heretofore unknown fact that Matthias Rose was captured at Blue Licks with his brother (unnamed in the papers, but known to be Lewis Rose).

"State of Missouri, St. Louis County ss

"On this fifteenth day of February in the year 1833, personally appeared in open court, before the county court now sitting, Matthias Rose, a resident of said county & State, aged about sixty eight years, who being first duly sworn according to law, doth on his oath make the following declaration, in order to obtain the benefit of the act of congress, passed June 7th 1832, that he entered the Service of the United States Under Capt. Gordon, in a regiment or battalion commanded by Col. Trigg in Kentucky in the neighborhood of Lexington in the month of August in the year 1782, and went against the Indians which had been besieging Bryan's Station, and was in the battle of the Blue Licks, where he was taken prisoner, and conducted by the Indians to Detroit, where, in company with his brother, and one Jesse Yocum, he escaped from the Indians, and surrendered themselves to the British officer commanding at Detroit, by whom they were received as prisoners of war, and treated as such, and sent to an island called Prisoners Island, above Montreal, and afterward was sent into Montreal, & drew rations as a prisoner until after the treaty of peace, when he was conducted, with several hundred prisoners, by Major Skeene, a British officer, across the lake to Skeenesborough, and delivered up to a United States officer and then drew rations from the U.S.? till he got home to Kentucky, and was paid by the U.S. his pay for the whole time from the day he entered the service in Kentucky till he got back, being a period of about two years & three months. And further declares that he has no papers, or documentary evidence, to prove his service, and knows of no person, whose testimony he can procure, except Francis Hickman, whose knowledge is only circumstantial? and from general report, and belief, & that he has no pension present. Sworn to & subscribed the day & year aforesaid.

Matthias (his x mark) Rose"

Francis Hickman and Frederick Hyatt testify to the veracity of Matthias Rose. Henry Chouteau, Clerk.

On August 7, 1833 Matthias Rose signs amended declaration that the period of two years and three months stated in his original declaration is time absent from home, and not length of service, which would be about one year and a month, counting to the end of the war and his captivity.

Affidavit of Wm. Clark signed January 5, 1833 at St. Louis, Mo. that that "I was at the house of Mathias Rose, in Kentucky in the year 1790, and since that period he has resided more than twenty years within fifteen miles of my residence in Kentucky and this State...."

The following is copied from "A History of the Pioneer Families of Missouri etc." by Wm. S. Bryan and Robert Rose, 1876.

ROSE. - George Rose and his wife, of Germany had three children - Louis, Martin and Matthias. Louis was Colonel of a regiment in the battle of Blue Licks, Ky., and was captured and taken to Detroit, where he was exchanged, and returned home in August, 1783. Matthias married Nancy Hickman, of Loudon county, Va., and settled in St. Louis Co., Mo., in 1818. His children were - Louis, Elga H., Rolley F., Elizabeth, Sarah and Angeline. Louis married Elizabeth Massey, and they had one son, Frank E., who lives in St. Louis county. Elga H., better known as Judge Rose, lives in Mexico, Mo. He married Ellen B. Sullivan, and they had Matthias D., Lucy E., Rose. Rolley F. was married first to Mary Clark, by whom he had -- Louis, William, Franklin and Nancy. He was married the second time to Adeline DeHare, a French lady. Elizabeth married James McClure. Sarah married Nicholas S. Burkhart. Angeline married Benjamin D. Ray.

Note: The above is incorrect in stating that Louis Rose was a Colonel in battle of Blue Licks.
When Rose marriages are shown, wives are indexed under both their maiden name and married name. In all other instances women are indexed only as their name appears.

Names may appear more than once on a page.
