A Personal Word...

Now I send this book forth with warm personal greetings to all the Elliott Clan, to all who are related by marriage, and to those who have been interested in Captain George Elliott and his descendants.

The story of Capt. George Elliott, the Scotchman from Ireland, has never before been gathered together in book form. He lived in strategic times in both Colonial Virginia and in Kentucky. So I am happy to present this volume, my generation's tribute to him and his descendants who have spread across our beloved land.

The basic idea of civilization has rested on "family". It warms the heart to feel one belongs somewhere, that he is of account. Consequently he strives to give a good account of himself, and so we go forth in our time.

This book was born in my early years. Reared in Johnson Co., Mo., amid many kinspeople who had come west from Kentucky, the conversation often revealed a fascinating saga. It not only touched the generations in Ky. but reached back into Virginia and Revolutionary days. Much of it seemed so well worth recording and I set myself to the task. To me it seemed "knowledge that dies with us is forever lost."

Maturity brought a historical appreciation and a desire to verify family legend with recorded facts. Accumulated material aroused much family interest. My marriage to a minister, with his pastoral service in some of the larger cities, gave me access to excellent historical libraries. Research was a pleasant avocation.

Years passed but my volume continued to take definite form. In various trips through Kentucky and Virginia I was able to check court records personally. Opportunity opened up a number of unpublished manuscripts and in Canada the Parliament Library at Ottawa provided much British material.

Family records were sought out in the old family Bibles and from tombstones. Census records filled in many missing gaps. The many branches of the Elliott family were most cordial and responsive in supplying their immediate data. So it has been a pleasant inspiration and task to assemble the facts on an American family now in this country 200 years, and having residence east-west, north-south, still sturdy and constructive in so many fields.

Regrets to all:

That lines for two of the daughters of Capt. George Elliott are not included. There seemed to be no available records to trace them, though both the Montgomeries and the Proctors were families of influence. This volume will contain many errors, I am sure. There are many omissions of family data - this is not due to intention but to lack of contact. Even so the correspondence has been a huge task in addition to the historical research.

As you read of Capt. George Elliott of the Virginia Navy with all the allied families, may your days be enriched. As Compiler I feel I know you intimately. God’s blessings upon you.

Kinsmanly yours,

Anne Elliott Odell

ROBERT de ALUIET, the English Founder

The above Ancestor came from Normandy with Wm. the Conqueror in 1066. A traditional story is that warrior Aluiet exclaimed, when the Conqueror fell as he disembarked, that the fall was a happy omen for William had embraced the land of which he was about to become monarch. He also declared he would, with drawn sword, maintain the right of his Lord to the territory he had so embraced. Be that true or not, the family had land in the King's personal holdings, and for several generations were close and faithful emissaries for the Norman rulers.

The Domesday Book of 1086 included Robert Aluiet in its roll and there he is shown with a milling business. This census was taken twenty years after the Norman Conquest to secure a statistical account of the state of England for the new ruler William. The following record is of interest:

"Sussex - In Isewerit Hundred Aluiet holds of William land for 1 plough; of William's demesne without the number of hides. There is 1 plough and 1 mill of three shillings. It lay in Storgetune in pasture. It has lately been brought under cultivation. Worth 10 S.

SPELLING OF THE NAME

The original French Aluiet was soon Anglicized. By the year 1375, when the records became more available, the A had become an E, and in some localities a Welsh influence is shown in Ellyot. There developed most unpredictable forms for so simple a name—Eliot, Ellyet, Elyot, Ellyot, Ellyote, Ellyott, Elliott, Elliot, and Eliot.

A slight change in spelling was resorted to in order to differentiate the increasing family groups in Sussex and Surry, England, and later in Scotland and then in Ireland. The River Way family used both Eliot and Ellyot, while the Cornwall group, as well as the Devonshire families, were Eliot. In Scotland the family appears to have been Elliot, though the Stobs connection were Eliott. The Edinburgh Elliots used the one T and even Capt. George Elliott, in several instances in legal documents, used the one T.

The Scotch-Irish settlers coming into Pennsylvania almost entirely used the double L and double T. Many of the New England family used one L and one T, for they had emigrated from southeast England. The Scotch-Irish, into northern Mass. and New Hampshire, retained their two L’s and two T’s.

ELLIOTT COAT OF ARMS

The Elliot family has registered Arms very similar, and now modifications of this are used by most of the Scottish family and by some of their English connection. It was in Co. Roxburgh they became most influential and won royal recognition with the knighting of Sir Gilbert Elliot of Stobs in 1651 and later of Lord Minto in 1693. The Arms and Crest follow:

ARMS: “Gules on a bend engraved or, a baton azure.”
CREST: “A dexter arm holding a cutlass proper.”
MOTTO: “Per Saxa, per Inges, Fortiter et recte.”
("Over rocks, through fire, Bravely and Honorably")
(Burke: Encycl. of Heraldry, 1851)

TARTAN: The Elliott clan had its tartan, a rich blue ground, plaided every 1-1/2 inch by a 1/2 inch black line and by a narrower orange line.

ENGLAND

SUSSEX and SURRY

The Elliott family was first located in Sussex and there and in adjoining Surry they continued to dwell for six centuries. Historical documents show them loyal to their kings and rulers, carrying out their behests and maintaining the religious faith of the land — Catholic at that time — often with much distinction. We find them at Mayfield in Sussex, in Canterbury, and in Wonersch, Godalming and Dunsfold in Surry along the River Way.

The Shires of Sussex and Surry in the southeast corner of the British Isles were a real part of the old England. The land was studded with churches, for in 1086 there were 64 churches in 59 places in Surry, among them being the Cathedrals of Canterbury and Salisbury, with Winchester across the river in Hampshire where all kings must come to be crowned. These bishops had power and influence second only to the Norman kings themselves. The Elliots appear to have had a personal relationship with the Abbey of Waverly, he being the See of the Bishop of Canterbury.

In these southeastern shires of England was the earliest manufacturing in the Kingdon — cloth and woolengoods as well as paper mills and fulling mills. With this early beginning, some of the Elliots acquired a knowledge and skill in the industry, and in Ireland and later in Virginia, Capt. George Elliott himself was listed as a “weaver” in addition to the general mill he operated.

Elliott sons in Sussex and Surry bore the names of Robert, William, John, Alexander, Thomas, George and Richard—the same as the Scotch-Irish have continued in their time. There were the less used Saxon ones of Stephen, Roger, Anthony and Lawrence, some of whose descendents were early into North Carolina and Virginia.
EARLIEST ELLIOTT RECORDS

Among the early Sussex and Surry records, the following items are of interest:

1323—Robertum Eliot on a Panel of Jurors from Southwart—to carry out Repairs after the Great Inundation. (Surry, Arch. 31)
1384—John Eliot, a Messenger sent with a writ of the King’s great Seal directed to the Abbott of Waverly to send a horse to London to carry the King to Scotland. (Surry, Arch. 8, 190) (Richard II, Files)
1467—Thomas Elyot, Filacer for the King in Surry and Sussex, also clerk of the Peace—Green Place, Wonersh.
Gr. Gr. Son John Eliot in 1541 held the Manor of Ashurt at Godalming, Surry.
Gr. Son John—George Eliot—in 1548 held much land in Hertfordshire.
1490—Robert Elliot of Redheugh living in Scotland.
1506—Alexander Elliott, Parish Priest of “Our Lady of Bredman” under Bishop of Canterbury in Canterbury. (Archdeacon of Canterbury, 10, fol. 4)
1562—Alexander Elliott of Mayfield, Sussex, with wife Ann, dau. of Wm. Fermor. (Visit. of Sussex, 1562, fol. 89)
1582—Sir Lawrence Elliott knighted—d. 1619; 1577 he circumnavigated the globe with Sir Francis Drake; his family lived at “Busridge Park”, Godalming, Surry.
1644—Lt. Col. Anthony Ellyott, Gent. from Surry, came to Va. and lived in Elizabeth City and Gloucester Co.
1718—Lawrence Elliott, gr. son of above Sir Lawrence, of “Busridge”, m. Lady Baltimore, 4th wife of Lord Baltimore, Proprietor of Maryland. He willed her 10,000 A. just north of Baltimore.
17—Maj. Gen. Roger Elliott from Surry, was 1st Gov. of Gibraltar; his half bro., Alexander Spottswood, was a successful Gov. of Va. and led the Horseshoe Expedition from Culpeper to the Blue Ridge Mts.

EARLY ELLIOTT RESIDENCES

Mayfield in Sussex

Through the use of the names Alexander, George and William, the line of descent for Capt. George Elliott has not been too difficult to trace. The first Elliott families appear to have been located on the River Way at Mayfield, in the area noted for its cloth manufacturing. The trade, once prosperous, consisted in making blue cloth for the Canary Islands. Later there was the making of silk and worsted for stockings.

Mayfield, the early Elliott center, was on the eastern border of Sussex and there was a palace for the Archbishops of Canterbury. That See was the ranking one, and while at this present time the prelate resides in London, his prestige and power are second only to the King of England. In 1332 and again in 1362, Councils relating to church holidays were held at Mayfield.
Both John Eliot and Thomas Elyot are shown around 1400 as officers enjoying the confidence of both King and the ecclesiastical See of Canterbury in their activities. In 1500, one Alexander Eliott was a parish priest at Canterbury and in 1563 another Alexander Elliott was married to Ann, dau. of Wm. Fermor.

However, by 1565, one of their number had removed to Edinburgh — William Elliott — and established himself in trade. Here the name Alexander continued to be a favorite.

“Greene Place”, Wonersh, Surry

Thomas Elyot (d. 1467) whose family continued to live on along the River Way, rose to high favor with the King in judicial circles. He was Filacer (Officer for filing writs in various courts) for Surry and Sussex in the Court of the King’s Bench and Clk. of the Peace for Surry. He married Alice, dau. of Wm. Calverton and established “Greene Place” in lower Surry as his home. Both are buried in the nearby Wonersh Church and the residence passed to their eldest son, Henry Elyot, whose heirs occupied it for several generations. The other sons were Walter, Roger, Geoffry and Richard. By 1700, the mansion was sold to Lord Grantley who made additions to it, and laid some adjoining land in the park.

Wonersh Church still contains very lovely effigies of Thomas Elyot and his wife, Alice, as well as of their son Henry Elyot, Gent. with wife, Joan, and their family of twelve sons and eleven daus., all resting on the floor of the chancel. The figure of Thomas Elyot stands about 18 in. high near his wife. He is in civil dress, is clean shaven, with short hair and wears a close fitting garment below a fur trimmed gown with plain collar and plain girdle around the waist. His Arms are shown as “‘Or, two bars gules”.

(Visitation of Surry, Beauties of Eng., XIV)

“Busridge Park”, Godalming, Surry

Godalming Hundred was north of Wonersh on the River Way, 34 mi. south of London. It had an ancient history and was mentioned in the Domesday Book as having Wm. the Conqueror as its special Proprietor. Fine weaving was an industry here — silk and woolen for stockings and gloves.
In 1593 the Lay Subsidy Assessment for Godalming included the following Elliott names, a numerous group:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Anthony Elliott</th>
<th>Joan Elliott, wid.</th>
<th>James Elliott</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>

<td>Robert Elliott</td>
<td>Richard Elliott</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Elliott</td>
<td>Roger Elliott</td>
<td>Lawrence Elliott</td>
</tr>
<tr>

</tr>

"Busridge Park" was acquired by Sir Lawrence Elliott (d. 1619) who in 1577 circumnavigated the globe with Sir Francis Drake and was knighted in 1582. The mansion was purchased from the family of Busridge during the reign of King Henry VIII. It continued in the family — the owners a son Lawrence, and a gr. son Sir Wm. Elliott (d. 1650) — until 1710 when it was purchased by John Walter. Esq. of the Barbadoes, whither some of the Elliotts had migrated. Busridge Hall contained in 1813 many first-rate pictures, among them a Madonna and a St. John by Raphael, and others by both Van Dyck and Raphael.

As various members of this Godalming Elliott group removed to new worlds, two of them became influential factors in the Virginia Colony between 1650 and 1750: Lt. Col. Anthony Elyott from Surry came to Elizabeth City and Gloucester Co., Va.—had sons Wm., Thos., Robert; Maj. Gen. Roger Elliott was gov. of Gibraltar with the half bro. Gov. Gen. of Va., Alexander Spotswood, who had a home in Germanna, Culpeper Co., Va., and was highly successful in the development of the colony; Lawrence Elliott m. 1718 (2) the widow of Lord Baltimore (4) the Proprietor of Maryland (d. 1718).

SCOTLAND

The Elliots from Sussex and Surry began to remove to Scotland around 1400. Two of their number, close to Eng. Court circles — John Eliot in 1334 and Robert Elliot of Redheugh in 1490 — are shown Scotland-bound. By the 1600’s they were a considerable clan, having been the recipient of south Scotland lands bestowed upon favored English settlers by the successful warring English rulers. It was a long process of wars after the Norman Conquest before Scotland was Anglicized and swept into the United Kingdom, and the Elliots on the border were long an integral part of that warfare. Location and proclivities were factors in the case. Also antagonism between Catholic and Protestant long prevailed.

THE BORDER CLAN OF ELLIOT

Robert Elliot of Redheugh was the first to settle at Liddesdale in Co. Roxburgh in the 1400’s. He was probably the “Master Elliott” who was killed at the Battle of Flodden in 1513 along with Douglas who had married a sister of Henry VIII. The Elliots were long under the influence of the Douglas, an ancient and powerful clan of the Border, as in turn they resisted the English or espoused their cause.

This area in Co. Roxburgh is a very beautiful one as well as a historic one. This is the Scotland Sir Walter Scott knew so well and has recorded for all time in his writings. On the banks of the Tweed his house of Abbotsford still stands, now a museum. There you can see the keys of Lochleven, “thrown into the loch by young Willie Duglas when he helped Mary, Queen of Scots, to escape.” Nearby are the old castles of Jedburgh, Melrose and Kelso, a part of Scotland that was just above the Border and the Cheviot Hills.

Within a few miles was a Royal Palace, "The Hermitage", where Mary, Queen of Scots, came for recreation. It was near there where "Little Jack Elliot", in resisting Catholic Mary's marriages, first to Lord Darnley and later to Bothwell, met his death. And it was there she nursed the wounded Bothwell back to health.

As close neighbors these Elliots were associated with the small clans of Scott, Armstrong, Stevenson, Kerr, Douglas, Oliver and Henderson, with interlocking marriages. In Va., Capt. George Elliott still had many of the same families as friends 200 years later—Stevenson, Kerr, Henderson.

BORDER WARFARE

The Elliots were most closely identified with the struggle as the English sought to subjugate Scotland after the Norman Conquest. Anglicization of this Celtic-Pict land was a long process. The Scotch bitterly resented the English interference in their national life and were continuously resisting the changes gradually wrought in their land tenure, language, judicial processes, commerce, and in their Celtic church. Much of the resistance took on a form of guerrilla warfare, and much of it centered on the Border of the two countries.

By 1328 the English ruler Edward III recognized Scotland as an independent part of the kingdom. But much friction prevailed between the two countries and to add to the complex situation of the centuries, the Protestant Reformation emerged. Highland Scotland remained Catholic, Lowland Scotland embraced the new Protestant faith and a three-way war ensued. By 1565, Catholic Mary, Queen of Scots, was the self-willed ruler while the Presbyterian John Knox thundered his disapproval of her "doings" with Lord Darnley and Bothwell. With her death by execution her throne passed to her son, James VI, who later became James I, of England, and the great struggle ceased.

For over 200 years the Clan of Elliot was caught in these Border frays, sometimes supporting the English, more often the Scotch. As survivals of the fittest, they learned to be ruthless and aggressive, as were their neighbors. All warfare was not battle and they learned well the art of plundering back and forth across the Border. But with a pacified Scotland under James (VI)
I, their abounding abilities were utilized for their peaceful country, and several of them were knighted by the King and became of great value to the government — the Stobs and Minto families.

Some of these Border frays are shown in the following records:

1564-A Scott was slain by some of the Elliot clans and for many days the Scotts and Elliots were at each other's throats.

1565-A foray by some of the Elliots.
   The Elliots and the Scotts—their services to be procured for England if required.

1593-Outrage committed by Elliots, Armstrongs and others. Redress demanded of the King.

1596-Will Elliot of Lariston, the young laird of Whithaugh, and 60 men rode to Cumberland (Eng.) and brought back 300 kye and oxen, 20 horses and mares, spoil of two houses.

(SCOTTISH ELLIOTS OF RENOWN)

John Elliot, Chief of the Clan, 1566

He was Capt. of "Hermitage" and in opposition to Mary, Queen of Scots. On the day she rode out from Edinburgh with a large escort, Bothwell, who was Warden of the Marches, came and took "Little Jock" Elliot. As they rode toward the "Hermitage", Jock inquired of his captor if his life would be spared. When informed he would be passed to the Queen's grace, Elliot slipped from his horse and fled. Bothwell chased and fired but stumbled, whereupon Elliot turned back and stabbed him three times. Bothwell drew his whinger and stabbed twice. Jock, sorely wounded, staggered to a hill-top where they found him dead, the death he would have craved, a man's death, not a felon's, a free man. Mary visited Bothwell at "Hermitage", then removed him to Jedburgh, and what the Border town could not supply was sent from Edinburgh, to further his recovery.

In the district once spoiled by him, "Little Jock" Elliot is still a hero. Still sung is the rousing air that has led many a Border lad into the fray — words he himself used:

1. "My castle is aye my ain,
   An' harried it never shall be
   For I maun fa' ere its taen
   An wha daur meddle wi' me?
   Wi' my kuit in the rib of my naig,
   My sword hingin' doun by my knee,
   For man I am never afraid,
   And wha daur meddle wi' me?"
Chorus:
Wha daur meddle wi’ me?
Wha daur meddle wi’ me?
Oh, my name is Little Jock Elliot,
And wha daur meddle wi’ me?

2. I munt my gude naig wi’ a will
   When the fray’s in the wind; an’ he Cocks his lugs as he tugs for the hill
   That enters the South Countrie,
   Where pricking and spurring are rife,
   And the bluid boils up like the sea,
   But Southrons gang doon i’ the strife,
   An’ wha dour muddle wi’ me?

Eliotts of “Stobs”, Co. Roxburgh

By the 1600’s when England and Scotland were united in government, the Border Elliots, with their abilities and initiative, began to be recognized by the rulers and rewarded with knighthood for their able services. A distinguished group has come out of the “Stobs” Elliots as follows, through twelve generations. These families were Presbyterian and used one L.

EDINBURGH RECORDS FOR THE ELLIOTS

William Elliot, Cordiner, was the Scottish forebear of Capt. George Elliot. The family were leather merchants in Edinburgh by 1565 in the time of Queen Mary of Scotland. When “Little-Jock” was stirring the Border thrity miles away, the City Elliots were finding Court circles offered a lucrative business in trade. Queen Mary had just married her cousin, Lord Darnley, and Edinburgh took on renewed activity in Holyrood Castle.

The term “cordiner” is Scotch and is derived from Cordovan leather. It implies the process of obtaining a rich, golden brown hue from the leathers of horse, cow and sheep — usually split — and manufacturing them into boots, saddles and usable articles.

This business of William Elliot’s continued in his family for over 100 yrs. and so influential was it that legal representation as a Burgess was one of its attributes. It concerned the government of Edinburgh and the Burgess was also responsible for weapons of defense. The rights of a Burgess were passed from father to son by inheritance and even unto a daughter.

However, after 1600, when James VI of Scotland became also James I of Gr. Britain, London was the populous court center. The Elliots of Edinburgh appear to have transferred the main branch of their leather industry to London. In Edinburgh the business was still carried on by a son-in-law, James Elliot, who had married a dau. of John Elliot and was a Burgess by right of his wife. It was from this marriage that the Wm. Elliots of Augusta Co., Va., descended, making them distant kinsmen of Capt. George Elliott. No research has been done on the church affiliations of the Edinburgh Elliots but a long history of Presbyterianism has prevailed for them.

In London, George Elliot, the second son of William Elliot, the Burgess and Cordiner of 1565, was a Vestryman of St. Martins in the Fields. This has been a noted and influential church and its Register carries the records for the Elliot family. How long they resided there is not known but industry was as uncertain as Gr. Britain was turbulent in the days of James I, Chas. I and Oliver Cromwell. Records are found in prosperous Glasgow for some of them before their removal to Ireland.

The family lines run as follows in Edinburgh and London:

IRELAND

ULSTER

George Elliot of the London-family came to Ulster in northern Ireland before 1686 with a grown family. There they tarried for apparently four generations. It had offered an economic lure but political changes continuously made the flax and linen milling a hazardous means for a livelihood.

Ulster constitutes the northern part of Ireland—nine counties. These “Plantations of Ulster” were established by James I, 1611. All previous attempts to bring the Catholic Irish into political and religious conformity with England had failed, so the “Plantations of Ulster” came into being. The grantees were known as “Undertakers” with a provision that no one should obtain grants of land unless he were able to plant it with men. Long leases were made to the English and mostly Scotch settlers who were “invited to settle the land”.

By the time of 1625, Charles I, order and prosperity reigned in Ireland.

At the beginning, the “Plantations of Ulster” were a brilliant success materially; farms, homesteads, churches and mills gave it a prosperous atmosphere. Even under Cromwell, Ulster was able to maintain its peaceful life.

However, with the death of Cromwell, the Presbyterians of Ulster began to suffer the persecutions of a minority group. These mainly Scotch Protestants had come across “the narrow strait” in overflowing numbers. In each Scotch family were many of the name. They were never able to merge with the Irish, and religious intolerance was chronic. Under the new kings, Charles II and James, a real persecution was on. Many fled to the new America from Ireland as well as from Scotland by 1700.

With the coming of James II (1633-1701) in 1688 an English Revolution was in progress. The Ulster population of Protestants threw themselves into the struggle by espousing the leadership of William of Orange. When King James II landed at Dublin, a Catholic Irish Army was ready to assist him. The Protestant settlers were driven from their homes; they gathered in Londonderry and closed the gates behind them. James attempted to take the city. The Siege of Londonderry lasted 105 days, from April, 1689, to August, and it ended by arrival of forces by sea. It is one of the most celebrated events in all Irish annals and the descendants of these Scotch — Irish cherish the inheritance of being "Orange" men.

This victory was short lived for the Presbyterians. Soon a royal edict was issued that the Church of England was the only one to be tolerated in all the Kingdom. They were shut out by law from all civil, military and municipal offices. Increased rentals were required and tenants must subscribe to the doctrinal articles of the Church of England.

In 1718 the land leases in many cases were to expire.

Then it was that the Presbyterians turned their faces toward the New World colonies. By 1730 the migrations had attained to a large scale. Counties Down, Antrim, Armagh and Derry were almost emptied of their Protestant inhabitants. In Sept., 1736, alone, 1,000 families sailed from Belfast for America.

Hugh Walpole said to the sobered English Parliament, "There is no use crying over it. Cousin America has run off with a Presbyterian parson, and that is the end of it."

COUNTY DOWN — MAGHERALLY PARISH

County Down is just south of Belfast and the George Elliots located here in the town of Banbridge. Subsequent evidence indicates they were engaged in the flax, linen and woolen industry — both the hackling and weaving connected with it.

Ireland records are meagre for the great majority were destroyed by fire in the Four Courts Building in Dublin in 1922. A few were salvaged — the Londonderry Siege ones and notations of wills. No county records were kept.

Families in the County
The two "Undertakers" of Co. Down in 1611 under James I were Sir John Hamilton, the polished teacher, and Sir Hugh Montgomery, a soldier, who had served in Holland. Here associated with the Elliots were not only the Hamiltons and the Montgomerys, but the Gilmers, Carlisles, Hendersons, Dunlaps, Pauls, Andersons, Crawfords, McDowells and Stuarts.

These families began their emigration to America soon after 1700. By 1730 many of them found their first homes near Philadelphia in Chester Co., Pa., and later in Drumore Twp., Lancaster Co. Others settled on the Beverly and Patton Grants in Augusta Co., Va., and still others farther south in S. Carolina. The Elliot family for Capt. George Elliot had members in each of the Centers.

WEAVING IN COUNTY DOWN
From the time of the Huguenot immigration, Co. Down took an important part in the cultivation of flax and the manufacturing of linen.

In 1711 a Board of Development of Linen and Hemp Manufacturing was constituted. Flax and hemp seed were brought from Holland. A number of traveling teachers or inspectors were appointed to assist farmers by giving them information on best ways and times of watering, weeding and dressing hemp or flax. Also they gave instruction in spinning, reeling and making the thread into hanks.

Other men were employed to teach the "mysteries" of weaving damask linen, and the manufacture of tapes, candle wicks, canvas and cordage. Men were sent to England to learn of sail cloth.
In addition, the Board provided spinning wheels, and occupied itself with details of bleaching. The climate did not prove suitable for hemp.

At first there was a prejudice against linen making as being a low occupation, with which persons of education or wealth did not care to be associated, but gradually this was overcome. The great majority of livelihoods came to be obtained by their wool and linen cloth making, and very successful at times were they.

However, adverse conditions came upon their industry as well as upon their religious freedom. Great Britain, in her efforts to protect her own industry, severed the Scotch-Irish from the British markets and later from all foreign markets. It was an unbearable situation. Then it was that the American Colonies loomed up as an opportunity that, with probable hardships, should be taken advantage of. Its land was described as more fertile than barren Ulster offered. There would be a freedom to worship God. and the Act of 1713 quickened the movement.

In 1755, Capt. George Elliott listed himself as a “weaver” as did another brother after arrival in America. By 1767, Capt. George himself was the owner of a milling establishment which included a hemp hackler (comber for flax and hemp) as well as a fulling machine (moistening and pressing homespun), in addition to his grist and saw mill.

MAGHERALLY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Historical Sketch of Magherally Presbyterian Church Magherally, Banbridge, Co. Down by the pastor
John W. Orr - 1939

Presbyterians from Scotland had been filtering over to Ireland for some time before the standard of Presbyterianism was officially raised on Irish soil by the founding of the first Irish Presbytery, that of Carrickfergus (Co. Antrim) in the year 1642. This marked the first step toward the organization and consolidation of Ireland’s scattered Presbyterians.

Some 14 years later, in the year 1686, a little hand of Scotch settlers was meeting Sabbath by Sabbath in the old Meeting House of Magherally. This old and original church stood in the townland of Durmneath, convenient to the site of the present building. Here it stood on a rough, whin-grown piece of rocky ground; and here the sturdy settlers worshipped together under the direction of a Mr. Andrew McCormack, their first pastor.

This little colony of Scottish emigrants, having the old Magherally Meeting House as its nucleus, seems to have grown with the years. Its people were mostly farmers who tilled the pleasant hills and vales around the church. Later generations became weavers and bleachers. Not a few attained to fame and greatness throughout the world.

Mr. Andrew McCormack would seem to have labored in these parts until he was ejected in 1660. He fled to Scotland and there identified himself with the struggle to defend Presbyterianism against the efforts of England to force Anglicanism on her Scottish neighbors. He is reported to have fought in the Pentland rising, and was killed, with other Covenanters at the Battle of Rullion Green, 28th November, 1666.

Mr. John Hunter, his successor, was at Magherally in 1672. But he fled to Scotland during the Rebellion of 1688 and never returned.

The next minister of Magherally was a Mr. James Herron, ordained in the Presbytery of Armagh on 16th, February, 1693. He died in 1699. Mr. Samuel Young was then ordained in 1704.

It is of interest to note at this period the Presbyterians of Banbridge (now the market town for the district, with two strong Presbyterian churches and one Non-Subscribing Presbyterian) belonged to Magherally congregation and walked the three miles out to the old Meeting House every Sabbath. But owing to the increased numbers a church was eventually built in Banbridge on the banks of the River Bann. This building was erected about 1716. Mr. Young divided his official services between Magherally and Banbridge until he resigned and went to America in 1718.

Banbridge became a separate congregation in 1720 and received a minister of its own.

The line of ministers who succeeded Mr. Young in Magherally is as follows:

- Mr. John Menoghe installed 1722
- Mr. James Moody 1734
- Mr. Wm. Thompson 1742
- Mr. Isaac Patrick 1758
- Mr. Alexander Patterson ?
Mr. Samuel Marcus Dill installed 1835-later Prof. of Div., Londonderry.

Dr. James Boyd " 1839
Mr. James Thompson " 1840
Rev. John W. Orr " 1937

The present Meeting House dates back to the late 18th Century. It nestles among tall trees in a quiet valley between two hills. The shape of the building itself is indicative of its early date—it is T shaped.

Prior to the ordination of the present minister in Dec., 1937, the church, which had fallen into a state of deplorable decay and unrepair, was extensively renovated at a cost of over L1600. The walls are the only parts of the original structure that now remain. A new roof, new floor and a complete suite of new and modern pews were all added. The old and smoky oil lamps have also been replaced with a new color gas lighting system. Three old coke burning stoves, one placed in each aisle, have also been discarded and a modern high-pressure heating plant installed.

Conditions in the country districts of Northern Ireland have altered greatly in the last twenty years. Many of the younger people have forsaken the hard life of the country for the easier life of the towns. In consequence, Magherally Congregation, like most other country churches, has suffered in membership due to this migration to the towns. But we still claim the allegiance of some 150 families, representing about 600 members. This is considered a fairly strong country church in these parts.

As for the linen weaving industry, which was once a feature of the Magherally district—it, too, has passed with the changing times and conditions. There was a time when almost every cottage and farm-house about here had from 1 to 6 looms working busily the whole year round. But the centralization of the weaving industry in big town factories sounded the death knell of the cottage weaving. This change, too, has led to a diminishing of our congregation's membership. Personally, I am not aware of a single handloom in any house connected with our congregation now. Indeed the entire linen industry has fallen on evil times in Ulster—trade is exceedingly poor. But whatever demand there is for linen goods is met more efficiently by the output of the big factories. Cottage weaving could never hope to compete with it. Wherever the primitive country industry does persist today, it does so more as a curiosity than as a sound economic proposition.

LETTER FROM BANBRIDGE (to the Compiler, A.E.O.)

Magherally Manse
Banbridge

14:III:'39

Dear Mrs. Odell,

I received your letter of the 8th January and have been patiently waiting, ever since, for a vacant hour or two in which to gather the material for a reply. I sincerely apologize for the long delay in replying but must plead a period of extremely pressing parochial duties.

I enclose a hastily prepared sketch of Magherally Church which may be of interest to you.

In regard to your ancestor, Alexander Elliott, who died in 1762, you know all our very old records were destroyed in the fire of the Four Courts in Dublin during the troubles in 1922.

The Magherally graveyard, which is connected with the Episcopal Church, is in a most desolate state. I have not been able to get into it because of horrible weather conditions and the condition of the ground. However I shall pay the graveyard a visit to see if I can locate this grave.

I will be only too glad to do anything I can to help you collect information about the native heath of your fore-fathers.

With greetings and best wishes,
Yours sincerely,
J. W. Orr

ALEXANDER ELLIOT OF BANBRIDGE

From the fire damaged Ireland records in Dublin enough has been salvaged to decipher the background of Capt. George Elliot in Co. Down.

Alexander Elliot, his father, is recorded as having left a Will (destroyed), and the date of his death, his age and his burial place are stated. One can assume his father and grandfather were William and George Elliot as they were living in Banbridge in 1789 at the time of the Siege of Londonderry. These names were over and over handed down from father to son.

The family evidently was a prosperous one and operated one of the hackling and weaving mills at Banbridge, for two of the sons in America listed themselves as “weavers”. In Augusta, Co., Va., Capt. George Elliot operated a combined milling establishment such as he would have been familiar with in Co. Down. The children of Alexander Elliot were a part of the great exodus from Ulster to America. Evidence is they came rather in pairs, and it would seem the youngest daughter came after the father’s death in 1762.

AMERICA

THE COLONIES AND THE SCOTCH-IRISH

The haven-seeking Scotch-Irish began to filter into the American Colonies after 1700. They found these Colonists, too, were feeling irksome the heavy yoke of the British. By 1740 and '50 these N. Ireland people were arriving in great waves of immigration. They were a sterling group of a remarkable character for they were a versatile lot; they were industrious, skillful, religious and also with a high degree of intellectuality and leadership. The Scotch-Irish were a strong factor in the success of the American Revolution.

CENTER OF SETTLEMENT

Pennsylvania, Maryland, South Carolina and Virginia vied with each other in inducements for these prospective settlers. They would give stability to any Colony.

Philadelphia was the port of entry for many of them. Chester Co., just a few miles south of the growing city, became a natural center for the Co. Down arrivals. A number of their marriages were solemnized in the old Gloria Dei Church of Philadelphia. Desiring to acquire land, they moved westward to York and Lancaster Co. and both sides of the Susquehanna River were lined with Co. Down folk. Two of them were the Elliot sons and the names of the families read the same as the group in Augusta Co. Many of them were sea-faring and this location was on the upper waters of the Chesapeake Bay.

Maryland so desired a part of this new contingent of settlers, and though she was Catholic, the powers that be set aside Charles Co. for the Scotch-Irish. This was a strategic location on the Potomac and the population soon overflowed into St. Mary’s Co. Capt. George Elliot enlisted many of his men for the “Safeguard” during the Rev. War from Charles Co. The Compiler (A.E.O.) is indebted to this Maryland group for a second Elliot ancestor on her maternal side. A William and Robert Elliot were early settlers in Charles Co., probably sons of John. Active for a time in the annals of the county the sons removed to Southside Virginia along the James Riv. and there Robert Elliot was living in Chesterfield Co. during the Revolution.

South Carolina, too, had its settlement of Co. Down families near Ft. 96 along the Savannah River. Two of the Elliot children were a part of this group — Alex. Elliott and Mary Clark, perhaps the oldest of the sons and daughters. Capt. George Elliott served as wit. to the will of a Clark nephew in Fayette Co., Ky., and Geo. Campbell Elliott cal850 visited these S. Car. Elliots.

Virginia was perhaps the most attractive colony to the N. Ireland settlers. Its Scotch Governor Dinwiddie was much interested in them by ties of family association, and, too, he was desirous of development of western Virginia beyond the Blue Ridge. Another inducement for this area was the influence of one of their own number, Capt. James Patton from Co. Derry, Ulster. He was a mariner, sailing his own vessel from 1735-42, and having a lucrative business bringing in the new settlers to Virginia. His port of destination was Hobbs Hole on the Rappahannock. In 1742 he, with the rich Wm. Beverly of Essex Co., took out a patent for what is now a part of Augusta and Rockbridge Cos., Va.-Beverly Tract. This was in addition to Borden’s Patent (a Pennsylvanian). The Scotch-Irish bought land in great numbers and Capt. Patton himself became a resident being both Col. of Militia and Burgess for Augusta Co. Leadership in the county was strong and aggressive and it is small wonder that from these early families came many descendants of distinction: Cyrus McCormick, Dr. Ephraim McDowell, Pres. Abraham Lincoln, Pres. Woodrow Wilson, Gen. Stonewall Jackson, Gen. “Jeb” Stuart. To Lexington after the War came Gen. Robert E. Lee to find rest and quiet after the struggle — as Pres. of the College, and there he is buried.

FAMILY OF ALEXANDER ELLIOTT

Alexander Elliot of Banbridge, Co. Down, Ireland, b. 1686, d. Dec. 21, 1762 - bur. at Banbridge Grave Yard.

The children of Alexander, all grown and some married, came to America in the great Scotch-Irish migration just before the Fr. and Ind. War, around 1755. The continuous use of the names Alexander, George, William, Robert, John and Barbara establishes them as separate Elliots from other families in Pa., Va. and S. Car., though all were dwelling side by side. The use of the double T seemed to became prevalent among the Scotch-Irish Elliots though in some legal documents Capt. George Elliott reverted to one T. Evidence is there were strong family ties for in choosing places of settlement brother and brother, or brother and sister are found together in three of the colonies.

7. Barbara Elliott, m. May 10, 1765 Matthew Henderson in Gloria Dei (Swede’s) Church in Philadelphia. She probably came to America after her father’s death.
   Matthew Henderson was no doubt related to the Augusta Co., Va., Hendersons. He lived 1766-1771 in Chester Co., Pa., E. Nottingham Par., with Co. Down families, but by 1790 the family appears to have been living in Philadelphia, Southwark Town, Second St. Westside: “Matt Henderson, gent., 5 m. (ov.16) 1 m. (u.16) 3 fem.", along with Wm. Henderson, Storekeeper.

His son John Elliott (1787-1827) m. Mary Glasgow and moved to Howard Co., Mo. Terr. His sons, Col. Newton Glasgow Elliott (1812-1817) and Andrew Jackson Elliott (1820-1893), lived at Booneville, prominent in railroad and banking circles there. (The Compiler's grandfather, Cary Elliott, used to say, "The Booneville Elliotts are distantly related to us."

Thomas Elliott of Lancaster Co., Dumfries, Va., was evidently a cousin, for a close association with his family is shown. He himself was probably a part of the ship building center and port at Dumfries and he had sons: Alexander, Judithan and John. Midshipman Alexander Elliott met his future wife in that county, Nancy Campbell. It was here that Capt. George Elliott enlisted many of his men and officers for his ship "Safeguard". Here were many Scotch and Scotch-Irish and nearly all the vessels on the Potomac were owned by these men.

DIDDLE EXCURSUS
Charity Jane Diddle was a daughter of William Audiddell who died with Will, prob. 1768, of a Scotch-Irish family that came to Pennsylvania around 1740, living c9 m. southeast of Philadelphia. They were closely associated with the John Anderson family in Pa. which first settled in Lancaster Co.,
Pa., and later removed to the Beverly Patent in Augusta Co., Va.
John Anderson, an elder in Old Stone Church and a 1st Justice of Augusta Co., had bros. Wm., James and George. Charity Diddle’s brother, Dr. James Diddle, m. a dau. of George Anderson and her youngest daughter, Charity, m. twice into this same Anderson family. Charity Diddle Elliott evidently
d. during the War up in Pa. in Lancaster Co. or York Co. near her bro. Thomas Diddle. (SEE DIDDLE FAMILY)

HENDERSON-BELL EXCURSUS

The Hendersons and Elliotts had evidently known each other in N. Ireland for there had been two previous marriages for these two families in America: A bro. of Capt. Wm. Henderson, Samuel Henderson, had married Jane Elliott, an older sister of Capt. Geo. Elliott and lived in the Tinkling Springs Church community; then a younger sister, Barbara Elliott, m. Matthew Henderson in Philadelphia. Capt. Wm. Henderson (1693-1770) and w. Susannah had issue: Wm., David, John, Martha, James, Florence (m. (1) Capt. David Bell), Elizabeth (m. 1765 Joseph Bell); the family lived north of Staunton in the Old Stone Church community.

Captain David Bell (son of Wm. Bell), w. 1757, came from Ireland; had:
1. Mary m. a Baird
2. Joseph m. 1765 Elizabeth Henderson (b. 1746), dau. of Capt. Wm. Henderson.
3. William Bell
4. Samuel Bell
   1. William Bell (1756-1826) m. Susan Vance.
   2. John Bell, b. 1758; 1810 was in Fayette Co., Ky., appr. Est. Capt. Geo. Elliott; 10 Fam. – 3 Sl.
   3. Susannah Bell, b. 1759, m. Capt. Wm. Allen; 1810 – 17 Fam. – 12Sl.
4. James Bell, b. 1760.
5. Elizabeth Bell, b. 1768, m. Wm. Allen, Jr.; 1810 – 9Fam. – 6Sl. She and her husb. in 1814 were Wit. for W. Capt. Geo. Elliott.
6. Florence Bell, b. 1766.
7. David Bell (1772-1848) m. Mrs. Mary Holmes Tatham; 1810 in Fayette Co. – 8Fam. – 5Sl.

Judge Samuel Wilson of the law firm, Wilson and McClarty of Lexington, Ky., was a descendant of Florence Henderson Bell Elliott; was a very fine historian and helpful to the Compiler, who met him personally.
When George Elliott came into Augusta Co., 1755, a young man of 27 yrs., he found a Scotch-Irish settlement established 15 yrs. before. Two different men had secured Land Grants in this area from the Virginia Council — William Beverley (with Capt. James Patton) of Essex Co., Va., for 18,201 A. called Beverley Manor, and Benjamin Borden of New Jersey for 10,000 A. called Borden's Land. Both men cultivated the Scotch-Irish to settle on their tracts, Beverly's land in the present Augusta Co. and Borden's in the to-be Rockbridge Co. Dealings with Beverley were satisfactory but deeds were difficult to secure from Borden and much litigation ensued. George Elliott's first recorded land holding was in Borden's Land and a lifetime friendship was established with the family of John McDowell, whose widow, Magdalena, married Benj. Borden, Jr., who came to Va. to live.

George Elliott found an Elliott kinsman in Beverly Manor — Wm. Elliott. He had land on Little Calf pasture near Elliott Knob and had sons James, John, Archibald and was a part of the maltmen Elliotts of Edinburgh. These Elliotts suffered from Indian raids and some of them removed West to Pisgah, Woodford Co., Va., where they were devout Presbyterians, taking a Va. pastor with them.

County Down families were here in Beverley Manor and Borden's Land to give welcome to George Elliott — Montgomery (the family had been Proprietors in Ireland and Capt. George's dau. Jane m. into that family), Gilmer, Carlisle, Stuart, Stevenson, Hindman, Hamilton. Capt. James Patton and John Preston were from Co. Derry, and the Kerrs and the Armstronsg had long been associated with the Elliotts on the Scottish Border.

LEADERS IN THE VIRGINIA VALLEY
Captain James Patton

He dealt directly with Wm. Beverley. Born in N. Ireland in Newton Limaddy, Co. Derry, he was bred to the sea and served in the British Royal Navy as an officer. Later he became a passenger shipowner and master of a merchant vessel, trading to Hobb's Hole in Essex Co., Va., on the Rappahannock. Here he met Wm. Beverley in the many voyages he made to Va.
bringing in immigrants. (Brock's Dinwiddie Papers). A letter is on record of Aug. 8, 1737, to him at Karenbright, Scotland, from Beverley. Five years later he became a resident of Beverley Manor and there was Col. of Militia, and also Burgess from Augusta Co. in 1754.

Patton's families were of sterling quality and of such remarkable character the area took on a distinction that has continued on down to the present day. From these first settlers have descended many of America's outstanding statesmen, preachers, educators, leaders and even Presidents. At Staunton is the Virginia Military Institute and at Lexington is the Washington and Lee University.

Col. Patton, seeking the gain of a Land Patent of his own, secured 120,000 A. farther south in the headwaters of the Roanoke Riv., in what is now Montgomery Co. He called his place "Smithfield" and here he was killed in 1755 in one of the prevalent Indian massacres. The Pattons had lived in Augusta Co., at "Springhill" on South Riv., N. of Staunton and belonged later to the Tinkling Springs Church.

John Lewis

Another leader from Ireland was John Lewis, the founder of Staunton. His four sons all became prominent. One, Col. Andrew Lewis, being a commander in Lord Dunmore's War against the Shawnees, fought at Pt. Pleasant on the Ohio where the Indians were repulsed. John Lewis received a Land Grant in what is now Greenbrier Co.

John Preston

He married a sister of Col. James Patton and was a shipmaster and carpenter in Dublin (Foote, Brock). His father and uncles had served under King Wm. as Orangemen in the Siege of Londonderry in 1689. John Preston came to Augusta Co. in 1740 and first lived at Springfield Farm n. of Staunton, but 1743 purchased a tract farther south where he kept an Ordinary. He d. 1747 and was bur. at Tinkling Springs Graveyard. His children were influential in both this Va. Valley and in the settlement of Ky.

1. Letitia Preston, b. 1728, m. Col. Robert Breckenridge—Botecourt Co.
2. Margaret Preston, b. 1730, m. Rev. John Brown, who was pastor of Timber Ridge and Providence from 1753 to 1798; they removed to Ky., Pisgah, Woodford Co.; he taught in the old Timber Ridge Log Academy.

3. Col. William Preston (1732-1783) became Surveyor, Capt. and Col. in the Indian Wars; Commander of Frontier Forts and writer of many letters and documents; his was the first commission issued after Braddock's Defeat when new troops were to be secured. George Elliott was his first enlistee along with John Walker and Robert Elliott, being made a Sergeant. Later George Elliott served as a Surveyor under him and John Poage. He m. Susannah Smith of Hanover Co., dau. of Francis Smith, and d. in Montgomery Co.

4. Anne Preston, m. Francis Smith and removed to Ky. When George Elliott rec’d 200 A. for his Indian War services, he assigned it to Francis Smith who assigned it to Francis Preston and John Smith.

2. Frances Smith, m. 1794 in Ky., George Elliott Jr., son of Capt. George Elliott.

5. Mary Preston, m. John Howard.

THE CHURCHES IN THE SETTLEMENT

Four religious centers were established in the Scotch-Irish Valley by 1755 — two in Beverley Manor and two in Borden's Land — Old Stone Church, Tinkling Springs, Timber Ridge and Providence, all Presbyterian, and all with pastors of such power their names are still well known.

Old Stone Church

The Compiler visited this church in 1937. It is a most beautiful country church, with its sloping green sward and shady trees, built in 1740. Still well built and well cared for, it suggests its original use as both fortress and church. The old edifice is nine mi. n. of Staunton on the main highway to Harrisonburg. Rev. John Craig, b. 1709, in Co. Antrim and educated in Edinburgh, came over to Pa. in 1737 and was sent down to Va. to supply both Old Stone and Tinkling Springs Churches. Uniting the duties of preacher, teacher and pastor, he served 35 yrs. Families attending Old Stone originally were the David Bells, the Hendersons, Col. Patton, John Preston and the Andersons and the Lewises. Rev. Wm. Wilson succeeded Rev. Craig and served both Old Stone and Tinkling Springs and it was he who married both Capt. Geo. Elliott (2) to Mrs. Florence Henderson Bell (2), and the son Alex. Elliott to Ann Conway Campbell in 1787.

Tinkling Springs Church

This congregation appears to have been the first founded and the most active from Indian War days until after the Revolution. It was always grouped with Old Stone Church and shared the long pastorates of first, Rev. John Craig and then Rev. Wm. Wilson. Rev. John Brown of Providence and Timber Ridge found his bride here — Margaret, dau. of John Preston, the early inn-keeper. Another pastor for a part of seven years was "the blind preacher", the Rev. James Waddell (m. Mary Gordon) who came from the east shore of Va. — Lancaster Co. — to escape the ravages of war. Ann Conway Campbell (m. Alex. Elliott), with the James Brent family, accompanied the Waddells and lived on Back Cr. no great distance from Tinkling Springs. Her half-sister, Sarsh Brent Wold, lived on in Augusta Co. and was buried in the Old Tinkling Springs Cemetery.

Rev. Waddell, a very scholarly man, wrote "The Annals of Augusta Co." He was paid L40 in cash for 1/2 his time at Tinkling Springs — 14 men contributing in 1783 — the other 1/2 time to be given to the Staunton group. 1785 the Waddells moved to Albemarle Co. to be near the Gordons (her mother was Millicent Conway) while in 1787 the Brents moved to Amherst Co. Here Dr. Waddell d. after a distinguished life work as a Presbyterian minister in Va., for he came to Lancaster Co., 1759 to 1760, much to the delight of the Scotch merchant, Col. James Gordon, whose daughter he married. The Waddell's daughter Janetta m. Rev. Archibald Alexander of the Timber Ridge Church and a noted descendant is Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. (Eleanor B. Alexander).

Other attendants at Tinkling Springs were the families: Benjamin Stuart, Dr. James Diddle, Samuel Henderson, all with an Elliott connection.
Timber Ridge Church

The histories of Timber Ridge Church just n. of Lexington, and Providence, farther west, are closely interwined. Rev. John Brown in 1753 was called to serve the two churches by 114 communicants and he remained 45 yr., when he removed to Woodford Co., Ky., with some of the Scotch-Irish families. His wife Margaret was from the Tinkling Springs Church, the dau. of John Preston. He taught in the adjacent Log Academy for 21 yr.; it had been opened in 1749 by Rev. Robert Alexander, a graduate of Edinburgh.

This Log Academy was the embryo of Washington and Lee College at Lexington, Va. The School was originally an adjunct of Providence Church and was a part of the home of Rev. John Brown. In May, 1776, Log Academy was transferred to a school house near Timber Ridge. 50 A. were donated by Alex. Stuart and Samuel Houston and it was accepted by Hanover Presbytery. The new school was renamed “Liberty Hall”. Subsequently it was moved into Lexington, the county seat of Rockbridge Co. and is now the “Washington & Lee” College. Gen. Robert E. Lee served as its president after the War. He and his family are buried in crypts here and his horse, “Traveller”, mounted, stands in the museum.

Timber Ridge Church in 1937 was undergoing repairs. The Compiler was much impressed by the beauty of its site on a small stream resting there across the bridge. In 1753 Archibald Alexander of a well-to-do family was its first noted elder. He had sons Wm. and Archibald who lived on South Riv. Capt. Geo. Elliott, in 1781, when he returned to the Valley, bought his farm adjoining Archibald Alexander who was both a Justice and Sheriff. There he had close association with the Timber Ridge members: the Alexanders, Samuel Wallace, Samuel and John McDowell, Montgomerys, John Bowyer, Capt. John and Capt. James Gilmer (of Providence Church). Some of Capt. Elliott’s descendants in the West have journeyed back to Washington and Lee for their college work — Albert Boyce of Amarillo, Tex., and Clarence Hinkle of Roswell, N. Mex.

Providence Church

This congregation was in n.w. Rockbridge Co. and with a strong religious influence. Rev. John Brown was their pastor by 1753 and he served them 45 yr. This western group suffered the vicissitudes of Indian massacres. The Gilmer family from Co. Down knew many sorrows on Kerr’s Creek. They were elders of Providence Church and both Capt. John and Capt. James Gilmer settled in Ky., the latter in Adair Co.

SERVICE IN FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR—1755

George Elliott came to Augusta Co. and gave service in the French and Indian War as a Sergeant under Capt. Wm. Preston. With him was his brother, Robert Elliott—the year, July, 1755.

The French, on the St. Lawrence, desired to occupy the Ohio Basin and the Gr. Lakes region. They demanded the English to confine their settlements to the strip along the Atlantic Coast. The latter resisted and under the English Gen. Braddock, with an army of regulars, marched toward Ft. Duquesne (Pittsburgh) to resist the French. Braddock was defeated, A call went out for Va. volunteers to serve on the frontier for defense of the English settlements. The old leader, Col. James Patton, was in charge of military affairs in Augusta Co. and the first commission for a company was issued to his nephew, Capt. Wm. Preston, to raise 50 Rangers. George Elliott was the first to respond to the call.

“Rev. Hugh McAden preached in July 1755 when on his way from Pa. to N. Car. He had stopped at Staunton, preached at N. Mt. and at Timber Ridge and came to the old McDowell place in Borden’s Land—to Mr. John Bowyer’s—where he tarried until Sabbath morning. A very kind and discreet gentleman who used him exceedingly kindly and accompanied him to the Forks (James Riv.), where he preached to a considerable congregation. He rode home with Joseph Lapsly, 2 mi., where he stayed until Wed. morning. It was here he heard the news of Braddock’s Defeat.”

Capt. Wm. Preston’s Company was recruited under Col. James Patton; the latter was killed in an Indian massacre at his “Smithfield” home in Aug. 1755. Then Gov. Dinwiddie himself, the Scotchmen, took over and by August the Company had 30 volunteers. Later, Major Andrew Lewis of Staunton became the commanding officer. It was not until 1764 that the English had vanquished the ambitious French and could claim w. Pa., the Ohio and the states adjoining. Records show that George Elliott was paid for his services:

Capt. Wm. Preston—Lt. Audley Paul, Lt. David Robinson, July 16, 1755
The French enlisted the Indians as allies—the Shawnees, the Wyandottes. The Scotch-Irish settlements were on the western frontier of Va. From 1753 to 1759 the fury of the Indians was unleashed on the more remote settlements. The Wm. Elliott family personally suffered from their vengeance. At South Br., Apr. 24, 1758, Wm. Elliott was massacred and on Apr. 27, Mrs. Elliott was slain. In Oct., 1759, the older Gilmers on Carr's Cr. were killed, and later a dau.-in-law and their son Thomas met the same fate. In 1755 Capt. Patton had met his sad fate at his stockade in Montgomery Co., all these being just a few of the similar cases.

Dr. Thomas Lloyd, the close personal friend of George Elliott, attended these cases as later legal evidence concerning land reveals. His son, Morris Lloyd served under Capt. Elliott on the “Safeguard”, was a Wit. who signed the marriage papers for Alex. Elliott and Ann Conway Campbell, and had his Ky. land on Green Riv. adj. to the Elliotts.

LORD DUNMORE'S WAR—1774

George Elliott may have served in this war, along with his bro. Ensign Robert Elliott. It marked the conquest of the Indians along the upper Ohio. At Pt. Pleasant the Indian Chief Cornstalk was killed, treaties were agreed upon, and the Indians for the time being were no longer a menace. In this same company of Capt. John Lewis (son of the Col. Andrew Lewis) John Henderson was Lieut. The following poem contains many familiar names as it describes the Battle of Pt. Pleasant. The verses were found in the old Lewis Bible and sent to the Draper Collection of MSS at Madison, Wis., by Chas. S. Lewis in 1845 from Staunton (8ZZ18):
Ye daughters and sons of Virginia, incline
Your ears to a story of woe:
I sing of a time when your fathers and mine
Fought for us on the Ohio.

In seventeen hundred and seventy four
The month of October, we know
An army of Indians, two thousand or more Encamped on the Ohio.

The Shawnees, Wyandottes and Delawares, too,
As well as the tribes of Mingoe
Invaded our lands, and our citizens slew,
On the south of the Ohio.

Andrew Lewis the gallant, and Charley the brave
With Matthews and Fleming also Collected an army, our country to save,
On the banks of the Ohio.

With Christian and Shelby and Elliott and Paul,
And Stuart and Arbuckle and Crow,
And soldiers one thousand and ninety in all,
They marched to the Ohio.

These sons of the mountains renowned of old
All volunteered freely to go
And conquer their foeman like patriots bold,
Or fall by the Ohio.

They marched thru untrodden wilds of the west,
O'er mountains and rivers also,
And pitched at Pt. Pleasant, their bodies to rest,
On the banks of the Ohio.

The Army of Indians, in Battle array,
Under Cornstalk and Elmipsico,
Was met by the forces of Lewis that day
On the banks of the Ohio.

They brought on the battle at breaking of day,
Like heroes they slaughtered the foe
Till two hundred Indians or more, as they say,
Were slain by the Ohio.

The Army of Indians were routed, and fled;
Our heroes pursued the foe,
While seventy soldiers and Charley lay dead,
On the banks of the Ohio.

The brave Col. Fields and the gallant Buford, Capts. Wilson and Murray also,
And Allen, McClenahan, Goldsby and Ward,
Were slain by the Ohio.
Col. Fleming and Matthews and Shelby and Moore
And Elliott and Dillon, also,
And soldiers one hundred and thirty four
Were wounded by the Ohio.

Farewell, Col. Lewis, till pity's sweet fountains
Are dried in the hearts of the fair and the brave;
Virginia shall weep for her Chief of the mountains
And mourn for her heroes who sleep by her grave.

As Israel mourned for Moses of old,
In the valley of Moab by Nebo,
We'll mourn for Charles Lewis the hero so bold
Who fell by the Ohio.

As Israel did mourn and her daughters did weep,
For Saul and his host on Gilbow,
We'll mourn Col. Fields and the heroes who sleep
On the banks of the Ohio.

One other record for 1755 has been found for George Elliott. This indicates a skill in surveying acquired by master seaman in their use of navigation instruments. This skill was utilized by George Elliott throughout his life and was taught to his son Alexander and to the gr. son George Campbell Elliott of Ky.

MARRIAGE IN PHILADELPHIA — 1762

Family tradition is George Elliott spent 16 yr. at sea and that became one of his professions along with that of knowing the weaving and cloth industry. He left Augusta Co. after his Indian War service. There has been no research done on his sailing experiences, but he evidently learned to know the ports of call south from Philadelphia—in the Delaware, the Chesapeake Bay, the Potomac and the Rappahannock—and even on to the West Indies.

He found his bride—Charity Jane Diddle—s. of Philadelphia and they were married in Gloria Dei Church in that city. Gloria Dei Church was erected by the Swedes in 1677 on the bank of the Delaware Riv., though in 1700 a new building was built. Some paid in money, some in material and others in work. It still occupies its original site on Christian and S. Water St., built on a shady knoll sloping toward the River. The church is now in the Episcopal Communion of the Philadelphia Diocese, and its old records may still be perused. (See Diddle Family)

RETURN TO AUGUSTA CO., VA.—1767

In 1767 George Elliott retired from his sea-profession and returned to Augusta Co. with his wife, Charity, and three young children. For the first two years the records show him as a Surveyor on the upper branches of the Shenandoah. In 1769 he bought a farm of 250 A. on Falling Springs Br. in the n. w. corner of the present Rockbridge Co. Here he established a milling business reverting to the skills he had acquired in Ireland. It combined a saw mill, grist mill, fulling mill and a hemp hackler. The last separated the fibers in the hemp and made ready the threads for weaving, while the fulling mill stretched, evened up and sometimes colored the cloth woven in the homes. At this period the Scotch-Irish were growing hemp and they supplied much of the sail cloth needed for the vessels in the Rev. War. George Elliott’s mills were located on one stream and he had as a partner, his bro.-in-law, Dr. James A. Diddle. In 1774 or 1775, in the winter when the water was high and the mills were in operation, the tow from one of the hackles caught fire and burned down along with the fulling mill (From a report by son Geo. Elliott in 1844). Then Capt. George obtained a commission in the Va. Navy for the impending Rev. War.

SERVICES IN THE VIRGINIA NAVY – 1775-1781
   The Revolutionary War found George Elliott at a crucial period in his life. His milling establishment had burned on Falling Cr. in Augusta Co. and a new decision must be made as to the future. He was a man quick of action and strong in his convictions, so he chose to serve in the cause of the American Colonists. Thereupon he removed his young family to York Co., Pa., near the Elliott and Diddle kinsmen on the Susquehanna at the upper end of Chesapeake Bay, and then joined in the struggle for independence.

   The Va. coast was vulnerable to invasion by the British with its Chesapeake Bay, Potomac, Rappahannock, York and James Rivers and the several good harbors. So it became a part of over-all strategy that Virginia should set up a defense. A Naval Board was instituted with a plan to provide 16 small craft for a Va. Navy to cover these coastal waters and to secure experienced and competent officers to command them.
George Elliott, a former mariner, and now of Western Virginia beyond the Blue Ridge, was one of the commissioned officers. He was to continue in this service until the close of the war and was the captain through the first few years of the “Safeguard” and later of the “Northampton”. Col. George Muter of the “Hero” was the superior officer of this Va. Navy and this friendship with Capt. Elliott continued on throughout their days in Ky. The names of these galleys have an intriguing ring: The Henry, Tartar, Dragon, Tempest, Manly, Lewis, Page, Gloucester, Hero, Safeguard, and Northampton.

The “Safeguard” was built at Gloucester, Va., on the York Riv. These galleys were manned by oarsmen in addition to sails. They carried a gun for each man and ammunition as well as officers, crew and landsmen. A pay roll for Capt. Elliott shows the “Safeguard” with a complement of over 80 officers and men. Evidently he enlisted many of his men from Lancaster Co., Va., (where there were many Scotch-Irish and much ship building) and from Charles Co., Md. just across the Potomac River— territory with which he was familiar. His own son, Alexander, was his Midshipman.

The orders of the Navy Board show these galleys serving along the mouths of the Virginia rivers, carrying troops and having slight encounters with British ships. However, when the British fleet finally arrived in York Riv. they were too light to render effective service. It became a land campaign, with the final surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown on Va. soil.

ORDERS OF THE VA. NAVAL BOARD

In recent years Virginia historians have done much research on the Va. Navy. The following orders and records pertain to the part which concerned Capt. Elliott:

1776, July 20-Capt. Elliott was a Captain in the Va. State Navy in the service of the government to resist the British under Cornwallis. He was Capt. of a galley, “Safeguard”, one of 16 small craft adapted for service in the rivers of Va. and in Chesapeake Bay. (Burgess: Soldiers of 1776)

1776, Oct. 15-Order—“To Captains Elliott, Lieut. Harris, Conway, and Muter. You are immediately to proceed with your galley to Portsmouth and to assist in carrying and conveying the Troops up the Bay and as soon as you have discharged them to come to Queen’s Cr. (York Co.) and stay there until further orders,” (Letter Book, Navy Board, I, p. 137)
1777, Jan. - The Safeguard was near the Potomac mouth.

(Capt. Elliott was ordered to turn over all the men of the Safeguard except 6 to the Galley Hero, and with these six to bring the Safeguard to ...(indistinct) Creek.)

(Navy Journal, 45, p. 353)

1777, June 18 - Order: "To the Co. Lt. of Accomack and Northampton Counties (across east of the mouth of Chesapeake Bay from Gloucester)-Capt. Elliott is ordered by the Board to repair to your shore and be stationed at Cherrystone."

(Navy Book - Letter Book)

1778, Sept. - The brig Northampton-Capt. Francis Bright resigned his command in May and Capt. George Elliott was transferred to it. The Tartar, Dragon, Tempest and Northampton with two vessels from Philadelphia were included in larger plans. It was hoped to make an expedition to Bermuda and to carry the war into the enemy's territory. This initiative was of short duration for they encountered two large British vessels - the Roebuck and the Emerald - which gave chase. The Northampton was under fire and almost cut off but all reached their stations within the Capes. The Northampton evidently found its refuge in the Rappahannock River.

(Stewart: Va. Navy in the Rev.)

1832, - Declaration of Alex. Elliott the Midshipman, in Ky: "While lying at the mouth of the Rappahannock Riv. the British Roebuck came up, took a long boat and a few men who had gone out for water."

(U. S. A. Pension Records)

1778, Dec. 18 - Capt. George Elliott was commanding the Northampton.

(Journal, Navy Board)

1779, May 18 - Order: 35 men from the Tempest to transfer to the Safeguard.

(Navy Bd. Order Book)

1779, July 5 - Order: The Manley, Safeguard, Hero, Lewis, and Page Galleys and Ship Gloucester ordered to be dismantled and their men, stores, etc., to be transferred to other vessels of war.

(Navy Bd. Order Book)

1780, - It was resolved that the Executive should sell at public vendue for ready money the galleys Henry, Manley, Hero, Page, Lewis and Safeguard as they were regarded as unseaworthy in the open sea. Rescinded.

(Navy Board Journal)

1780, Oct. - The hidden ships came forth in the open... The Northampton, Safeguard, Page, Lewis, and Hero were pronounced in tolerable order.

(Journal)

1781, Aug. - The British Fleet came up in York River when the galleys could no longer render effective service.

RETURN TO AUGUSTA—ROCKBRIDGE CO.—1781

Rockbridge Co. was organized in 1778 during the War out of Augusta Co. Much of its area had been a part of Borden’s Land. The first Co. Court was held at the home of Samuel Wallace (the innkeeper), Apr. 7, with Justices Archibald Alexander (also Sheriff), Samuel McDowall, John Bowyer (Co. Lieut.), John Gilmer (Lt. Col.), Samuel Lyle and James McDowell (Surveyor). The Co. Seat was named Lexington and was not far from Timber Ridge Church on the heights above the N. Br. of the James Riv.—the upper end of the beautiful Shenandoah Valley. The old Log Academy with which the Arch. Alexanders were so closely connected was to be moved into Lexington. These first officers of the Co. formed a nucleus of outstanding, capable men who received Capt. Elliott into their group and with whom or with their children he was to be closely associated later in Ky. He was appointed Surveyor of Highways.

Capt. Elliott’s wife, Charity Jane, had died during the War, but upon the conclusion of his part in the struggle he brought his family back to Rockbridge. Near Lexington he purchased a farm of 340 A. for L. 125 in Aug., 1781, which was his home until the removal to Ky. In the eight years residence there he acquired 2 slaves, though there are indications he did not regard slavery with much favor. A highlight of these years was his marriage to the widow of Capt. David Bell—Mrs. Florence Henderson Bell. Also his son Alexander Elliott married Anne Conway Campbell (Nancy), stepdaughter of James Brent and closely connected with the Rev. Waddell family of Tinkling Springs Church. Another interesting marriage was that of (Rev.) Archibald Alexander of the Rockbridge group to Rev. Waddell’s dau. Janetta. The Elliott and Alexander farms adjoined. George Elliott’s bro. Robert Elliott appears to have lived also in Rockbridge Co. Some of the records
1781, Aug. 7-George Elliott rec'd D. from Samuel Paxton and wife Agnes to 340 A. for L.125, n. w. s. of South Riv., Rockbridge Co. (D.B."A", p. 319)

LAND BOUNTY FOR WAR SERVICES — 1788

Capt. Elliott and his son Alexander applied for Land Bounty in Ky. in the spring of 1788 and were promptly accepted as being entitled to it. In June both were issued Certificates for 3 yrs. of service. However, later the father was declared to be entitled to additional grants as he had served until the end of the War — over six years. The records follow:

1788, May 30-George Elliott is entitled to that portion of land allowed a Capt. of the State Navy for three yrs. service.
    (Va. Council: Thomas Meriwether, Edmund Randolph)

1788, May 30-Alexander Elliott is entitled to the proportion of land allowed a Midshipman of the State Navy for three years of service.

1788, June 1-Land Bounty Warrant
    (Sec.II (4) Doc. No. 30-List No.1)

Later date -George Elliott, Capt. Va. Navy (Rec'd 4000 A.)-Entitled to 5333 1/3 A., his original bounty. Capt. in the Navy before July, 1776 and continued in service to the end of the War and is entitled to an additional allowance of 1/3 of all former bounties, for every year over six yr. of service.

REMOVAL TO LINCOLN CO., KY.

George Elliott was a man of action. If he and his son were to benefit from their Land Warrants of 8000 A., they must be nearer the scene of Ky. land activities. The move was decided upon and Lincoln Co., not far from Danville, was selected as the most advantageous for the various ends to be served, as the new Elliott home.

Both his old war officers had a connection with Lincoln Co: (in official capacities — Col. Wm. Preston as the official Surveyor for the Co. of Kentucky,) and Col. Geo. Muter, first judge of the District Court of Ky. Col. Muter lived in Lincoln Co. He was a man of great ability and influence in the new State. He became Judge of the Court of Appeals, many land entries depending upon his decisions. In 1792, Judge Muter was chosen President of the Convention of Ky. which met at Danville to adopt a new Constitution for the State. He was one of a Company to develop Salt Works at the Bigg Boone Lick and was also interested in a project, "The Ky. Soc. for the Encouragement of Manufacturers," started in the fall after Capt. Elliott’s arrival. Thomas Todd, with whom Col. Muter lived, was Secretary. Payments were made and the money was remitted to Philadelphia to procure spinning and carding machines and stocking looms. However, it was too difficult a venture and naught came of it. Co. Muter’s financial resources waned with passing years, though his judicial offices extended on until 1804. So in old age the Ky. Leg. voted him a pension of $300 a yr.

Capt. Elliott never lived on his Military Grant but purchased land, 600 A., on Dicks Riv. on the east side at “The Clifts” where the main thoroughfare from Danville to Boonesborough crossed the stream. The land was ample to occupy his four grown sons — two of them married — and the two slaves, Dick and Essex. However, these brothers operated “Elliott’s Ferry” for crossing the Dick’s Riv. and Alexander lived just above on “The Clifts.” The events are recorded:

1791-Rates for Crossing at Elliott’s Ferry on Dick’s Riv.
6 d. for man and horse.
3 d. for man alone

(19 Ken. Reg. 189)

1793-Mar. 5-George Elliot and wife, Florence, of “Linkhoin Co., St. of Kentucke” D. 340 A. in Rockbridge Co., Va., to Henry Mackay of Rockbridge Co. for L.33.75.6d.

(Rockbridge D. B. 1788-1793, p.521)

For close associates the Elliotts had some of the old Rockbridge Co. friends. His land cornered that of Samuel Montgomery and near by were Robert, William and John of the same family. Their forebear had been one of the two Lord-Proprietors of Co. Down where the Elliotts lived. In Virginia the Montgomerys had a Land Grant which was named for them and it was in that area Col. James Patton was scalped by Indians. In 1790, Capt. Elliott in Ky., was an Appraiser for the Robert Montgomery Est.

The records show also an Elliott-Smith association, the Preston-Smith family. Then the Andersons were near by, the Augusta Co. family, into which Dr. James Diddle had married. Soon after the removal to Lincoln Co. three of the children of Capt. Elliott married—one to a Montgomery, one to a Smith, and Charity to an Anderson (twice). A bro., Robert Elliott and a Rockbridge friend, Samuel Wallace, settled farther east across Paint Lick Cr. in Madison Co. The family home on Dick’s Riv. was maintained for almost 20 yrs.

JUSTICE OF GARRARD CO.

Capt. Elliott is shown giving much time to public service:

1793, Oct. 16-George Elliott was on the Jury for the June Supreme Court of Lincoln. (30 Ky. Reg. 229)

1802, George Elliott and Wm. Smith sat as Justices in the celebrated Bourne Land Case. (28 Ky. Reg. 352)

Garrard Co. was organized, 1796, out of Lincoln, Madison and Mercer Co., so the Elliott plantation by its location was included in the new County. Capt. George Elliott was one of its Justices in setting up its organization.

On June 5, 1932, a tablet was dedicated at the Courthouse, by Judge Samuel M. Wilson of the law firm of Wilson and Harbeson of Lexington, commemorating the services of these first Justices of Garrard Co., along with the donor of the land, Capt. W. Early Buford. Judge Wilson was a Ky. descendant of Mrs. Florence Bell Elliott and Clinton Harbeson of Capt. Elliott. Samuel Wilson at the commemorative services gave an address, “Pioneer Times in Garrard Co.” It contained many facts concerning George Elliott and the Lancaster “Central Record” paper carried it in full. A copy of the latter was given the Compiler when in Lexington in 1937.

A bronze tablet was place on the front facade of the Court House at Lancaster by the John Malcom Miller Chapter of the D.A.R. It bears the names of Capt. Buford with his gift of the “Publick Square” with the note of the Deed to the Justices of the Co. Court as follows:
MILITARY LAND GRANTS — SALE

Virginia set aside land in Ky. for her Revolutionary War officers and soldiers. Ky. was not yet a state but had three counties organized under Va. — Lincoln, Fayette and Jefferson. Much of the more fertile part of the state had been pre-empted and the population had rapidly increased upon the close of the War. So. an area around Green Riv. was given over to the Military Grants.

Capt. Elliott and his son Alexander had Warrants for almost 8000 A. but they established the permanent home in Lincoln Co. on Dick's River. That was the base from which they operated for their selections and surveys on the branches of Green Riv. It was much to their own advantage that they were skilled surveyors. Through the 1790's they were able to manage their land interest from Garrard Co. but in 1800 Adair was created a county and settlers began to move in. By 1799, it seemed wise that someone be on the scene of action, so Alexander Elliott with wife, Nancy, removed to Adair, establishing a home on Big Cr. There is a long list of records for their land activities — entries, withdrawals, surveys and sales. Alexander Elliott acted for the two of them as his father had given him Powers of Attorney in 1802. Their military lands were not bartered away for "a song or a saddle" but realized for them substantial returns.

REMOVAL TO FAYETTE CO.

In 1797 Capt. Elliott began disposing of his Garrard Co. interest. His children had married and had gone, for the most part, to settlements farther west — Adair Co., Shelby Co. and Nelson. That fall he sold the place at "The Clifts":

"1797, Oct. -George Elliott and Florence D. to Wm. Bourne of Fayette Co. 100 A. for L.200 in Garrard Co., Dick's Riv., East side — "George Elliott's old corner near The Clifts... and Elm and Honey Locust to Beech and Buckeye tree... to 2 Hickory Saplings... 70 poles to a black Ash and white Walnut, south 47 poles to a Sugar Tree and a Beech tree on the w. side of the road, including with all its appurtenances the improvements and plantation where Alexander Elliott now lives."

(Farrard D. B. "A")

Florence Bell Elliott's children lived in Fayette Co. north of Lexington. This was a well developed and prosperous com¬ munity by 1800. Factories for making cloth had come into being in Ky. and in Fayette Co. were 1000 looms. These were turning out 207,000 yds. of hemp, flax and cotton cloth. Prodigious amounts of European goods were being displayed and retailed in Lexington though it was for a short time for soon Cincinnati on the Ohio River with its steamboats became the ascending star.

It seems not strange for Capt. Elliott to long for this en¬ vironment akin to his early days in Ireland. Also there is a Bell family tradition that Florence's health was waning and she longed to be near her children. Consequently Capt. Elliott began to dispose of not only his acquired land in Adair Co.
but also that in Garrard Co. He purchased a small place, 1803, in Fayette Co. from his old friend John McDowell (of Rockbridge Co.) near the stepsons John and David Bell and daus. Elizabeth Allen and Susannah Allen.

1803, Apr. 14-George Elliott bought 85 A. from John McDowell giving a lien on the land for L200, the deferred portion of the purchase price.
1805-The Deed of Release was signed by John McDowell and Wm. Allen (son-in-law)

(Fayette D. B. "A", p. 33)
By 1805 the Capt. Elliotts had settled on their farm in Fayette Co. with their six slaves. However, it was not until 1809 their Garrard Co. home was completely disposed of, the year that Florence Elliott died. For these years the records show:

1803-George Elliott Sr. and w. Florence D. to Samuel Montgomery 4403 A. Butler's Fk., Russell Cr. (Adair Co. Bk “A”, p. 50)
1804-Oct. 11-in the Jacob Caplin’s Preemption of 1000 A. situated in Garrard Co. on the waters of Boone’s Mill Cr. touching Samuel Montgomery corner. (Garrard D.B.)
1809-May 12-George Eliott and w. Florence of Fayette Co. D. to Thomas Herring 500 A. for L800-Survey of land made.

THIRD MARRIAGE

Her husband had been a Captain in the Rev. War and they were neighbors of the Capt. Elliott’s. She had a son James Marshall and friendly relations were evidently maintained with the Bell sons and daughters. Her son James Marshall enters into the records in the settlement of the estate and she probably removed from the farm soon after the death of her husband. She did not act as an Executor of his Will and she received not just her allotted L50, but L60 of the Estate though she had been bequeathed the farm for her lifetime.

DEATH — WILL — OCT., 1814

Capt. George Elliott, 86 yrs. old, wrote his Will in his own hand just before his death with his Bell stepdaughter, Elizabeth and husband, Wm. Allen, as Witnesses. The Scotch-Irish spoke an English of the Elizabethan era current in Ulster and this Will suggests his early up-bringing. The Will follows:
"In the name of God, Amen.

I, George Elliot of sound mind but weak in body doth appoint my beloved wife Nancy and John Proctor to be my sole heghrs (Executors)

To my wife Nancy I leave the Plantation and all farming utensils necess.
and Elick (Essex) the black man to assist her in working the farm her natural life, but if she moves and takes the hands with her, then she is to be cut off of all that is left her, the black man to be sold and his price divided among the legatees, and after death the plantation and all the rest of my Estate to be collected and sold and divided as above.

To my wife Nancy I leave all she feched with her when I married her. To Caroline Cooper I leave her burding as long as she and my wife agree, and to have my wife saddle and horse kind.

If any of the slaves should grow too sacy and turbulent my wife has in her power to throw them out.

At my death I leave my negro Dick free, with the cabin and garden belonging to it.

My wife is to sell any of the stock she stands in need of for her self and she is entitled to fifty pounds when it can be made up from the plantation thereto.

All my lawful debts to be paid and to be buried in a decent manner at the descion......

My last Will and Testament: I do revoke all my former Wills and Testa¬

DIVISION OF ESTATE - FINAL SETTLEMENT
1815, May Court, Fayette Co.

When Mrs. Ann Marshall Elliott elected to remove from the plantation, the Elliott children made application to the Court that the real estate of Capt. George Elliott, dcd., be divided among the heirs, seven. The Court appointed four - Wm. Allen, James McDowell, John Bell and Matthew Elder - to make the division.

These four old family friends evidently considered each child's share as determined by transactions during the father's lifetime. To their Decision was annexed the following Certificate, all of which was approved by the Fayette Co. Court:

- No. 1 - To the heirs of Wm. Elliott - to receive $28.12
- No. 2 - To John Montgomery - to receive 15.00
- No. 3 - To Alexander Elliott - to pay the Est. 30.00
- No. 4 - To John Proctor - to pay 25.00
- No. 5 - To John Anderson - to receive 30.00
- No. 6 - To George Elliott - to pay 25.00
- No. 7 - To John Elliott - to pay 15.00

ALEXANDER ELLIOTT

(2) 1808 Mary (Polly) Stotts, b. 1777 in Lancaster Co., Va. near where Nancy Campbell grew up in Par. St. Mary’s White Chapel with bros. Thomas (m. 1806 Patsy Gilmer in Adair Co.) and James; dau. of Wm. Stotts in Adair Co.; She d. 9-5-1852, age 75, two wks. after the death of her husband.

Administration to Cager Creel, Inv. 9-14-1852.

Alexander Elliott was born in Philadelphia, near where his mother was reared and during the sea-service of his father. In 1767 the family returned to Augusta Co., Va., Borden’s Land—n.w. part of the present Rockbridge Co.—where they purchased land on Falling Sprgs. Run. Here in their milling establishment the young boy gained much valuable experience.
When Capt. Elliott was commissioned in June 1776 to serve in the Va. Navy, his 14 yr. old son was named a Midshipman under the father with rank next below a commissioned officer and rated as a Lt. from standpoint of service. He served until 1779 and was later awarded Land Bounty and Pension for his three years' time. At that date his youngest sister, Charity, was b., and he probably returned to the family, his mother dying soon thereafter.

Statement of Revolutionary Service (1832)

"Friday, August 10th, 1832.
Court met according to adjournment. Present:
Daniel Trabue, Milton P. Wheat, Daniel Suddarth, John Smith, Esquires.
STATE OF KENTUCKY, Adair Co.

On this 10th day of August, 1832, personally appeared in open Court before the worshipful Justices of the County Court of Adair, now sitting, ALEXANDER ELLIOTT, a resident of the County aforesaid, aged 69 years, who being first duly sworn according to law, doth on his oath make the following declaration, in order to obtain the benefits of the Act of Congress passed the 7th of June, 1832.

That he entered the naval service of the United States in the Va. Naval Line as Midshipman in the year 1776 or 7 under Capt. George Elliott, Commander of the "SAFEGUARD Galley" - David Larkin, first mate and ...Christian, second mate, his first name not recollected. He resided in the State of Virginia in what is now Rockbridge Co., at the time he entered the service. The vessel to which he belonged was attached to Commodore Muter's Squadron. The principal time he was in service he was stationed at or near the mouth of the York, Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers, but mostly at the latter. While lying at the latter the British Robuck came up and took a long boat and a few men who had gone out for water. Towards the end of his service in the summer of 1779, he was sent with Morris Loyd, Gunner's mate, to Fredericksburg for a boat belonging to the publick which they got, and they took her to Glouster and delivered her to the proper officer. Soon after that time he was discharged from the service having served three years. He states that about the year 1789 he came to the State of Kentucky and settled near Danville and remained there until 1799 when he came to the County of Adair where he has resided ever since. He further states that about the year 1805 his house was burnt, in which his trunk he had while at sea, containing his Commission, Log-book and all papers relating to services in his possession, was consumed. As a further evidence of his service he refers the Department to the publick record showing that a Land Warrant was issued from the Register of Virginia for 2666-2/3 A. for his services as above stated. He knows of no witness by whom he can prove his service or any part thereof, nor has he any documentary evidence for the reason above stated. He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the pension roll of the agency of any state.

The said Court do hereby declare their opinion that the above named applicant was a Revolutionary Officer and served as he states."
After Capt. Elliott's return to Rockbridge Co. with the end of Rev. War in 1781, the family acquired a new home in eastern Rockbridge— the Paxton Land, near the home of Archibald Alexander and Timber Ridge Church. Here no doubt Alexander Elliott needed to continue his responsibility for the family, for his father had been wounded in service. In 1786, the year following the second marriage of Capt. George Elliott to Mrs. Florence Henderson Bell, Alexander himself was married to Ann Conway (Nancy) Campbell, who lived over in Augusta Co., just north of the Elliott family near Tinkling Springs Church, and whom no doubt he came to know during his service along the shores of Lancaster Co.

CAMPBELL EXCURSUS

Ann Conway Cammell was reared in St. Mary's White Chapel Parish in Lancaster Co. where the Cammells had lived since 1650 when Alexander Campbell of Argyllshire, Scotland, sought haven in the American colony with the fall and death of Charles I. Her father was the 3rd "James Cammell", and he d. soon after her birth. In the Division of Est. of James Cammel, Sr., 1767, is recorded:

"Ann Cammell, orphan of James Cammell — her part delivered to Sarah Cammell, her guardian."

St. Mary's White Chapel was erected ca 1680 and was rebuilt in 1740. Reconstructed within the old church are the tablets containing the Lord's Prayer and the Creed which were given in 1717 by Capt. Wm. Fox. Many of the Balls are buried here, and in 1716 Nancy's grandfather and father—the James Campbells—were living near Maj. Wm. Ball, both with slaves. Their associates were James, John and Brian Stotts, James Atkins, Wm. and Benj. Doggett, George Wale, Thos. Merryman, John Taylor, Edwin Conway, Col. Carter, R. Chichester, Wm. Brent, and W., James and Richard Ball, Rawleigh Chinn. 1702 James Cammell with 3 in fam. lived near Capt. Joseph Ball, Mr. Edward Carter, Thomas Lee, Benj. Doggett, Wm., Jas, and Brian Stotts, and James Atkins.
Her mother, Sarah Doggett, was the dau. of Wm. Doggett and Joanna (Wale) and descended from Rev. Benj. Doggett, who came to Lancaster Co. ca 1670 from Ipswich, Eng., a grad. of St. John’s College, Cambridge and minister of Christ Church and St. Mary’s White Chapel. It was with the advent of the Presbyterian Col. James Gordon that Mrs. Doggett and daus. became interested in the Dissenter’s faith.

The Diary of Col. James Gordon, who came to America ca 1738, Newry, Co., Down, Ireland, a wealthy and influential merchant of Lancaster Co., supplies interesting and intimate details of Sarah Doggett, the “best friend” of Col. Gordon’s dau. Ann, who m. 1763 Richard Chichester. The Diary entries show a mixture of business acumen, Presbyterian zeal, family relationships, social customs, ailments and remedies of the times, and it must be said the Presbyterian Church was greatly indebted to him for it’s establishment in the “Northern Neck.” (See Campbell Family)

He m. (1) 1742 Millicent Conway, dau. of the noted Col. Edwin Conway and Ann (Ball) a half sister of Mary Ball Washington., and to them was b. the one dau. “Ann” who, in the Diary, is often called “Nancy”. He m. (2) Mary Harrison who was his wife during the years of the entries. It was a dau. Mary from this marriage who became the wife of the Pres. preacher, Rev. James Waddell. They went with the Sarah Doggett Campbell Brent family to Augusta Co. during the Rev. War, and there he was pastor of Tinkling Sprgs Church.

Sarah Doggett m. (1) ca 1763 James Cammell, Jr. (d. 1765-1767), (2) 10-4-1768 James Brent in Lancaster Co. (1736-1815), a son of Wm. Brent and a grandson of Hugh Brent of Christ Church Parish, and had by him: (Brent) Landon Haines, Kendall Caroll, Sarah, James Doggett, Hugh, Kitturn Huson, William Sidney, Allse Kirk.

The Brent family, with dau. Nancy Campbell, removed May 1777 to Augusta Co., Va. in company with the family of Rev. James Waddell (m. Mary Gordon) to escape the ravages of war along the sea coast. They purchased land on Christian’s Cr. and Back Cr. near Tinkling Sprgs. Church. Rev. Waddell became pastor of the church, and he purchased the old Col. Patton place, “Springhill,” on South Riv. James Bell was friend and neighbor of both families. But both families soon removed back over the mountain ridge—the Waddells in 1783 to Gordonsville in Louisa Co., and the Brents in 1787 to Amherst Co., finally establishing “Wellington” on Rockfish Cr. in Nelson Co.

An old Account Book brought up from Lancaster Co. by James Brent, as well as the Diary kept by both himself and his son, Landon Haines Brent, have supplied many interesting names and facts connected with the family. This record shows Nancy’s eldest son, George Campbell Elliott of Adair Co., Ky. spent the winter of 1813 with his grandmother Campbell—Brent’s family.

Ann Conway Campbell had her name “Ann” from Ann Ball Conway, the wife of Col. Edwin Conway and the half sister of Mary Ball Washington, the mother of the first President, George Washington, both daus. of Col. Joseph Ball of Lancaster. She was nicknamed “Nancy” and so the family has known her. So treasured has been her name it has been bestowed upon her daughter, nieces, granddaughters and great granddaughters, even unto this day. Her lovely old sugar tongs are treasured by the Tannehill children in Los Angeles, for they were passed to her granddaughter Nancy Elliott Baker. Family tradition has passed on accounts of the affluent life in which her early years were spent, and true accounts they were for in Lancaster Co. were the great cross roads—culturally, socially, economically—that connected Philadelphia and the James River settlements. Even the ships from all the European ports put in here at the mouth of the Rappahannock, and for some years here was Virginia at her best. It is said “Nancy Campbell” was heiress to a large landed estate, but it would seem the perspective of time and distance somewhat enlarged the size of her inheritance, though it was indicated.

At the marriage of Alexander Elliott and Nancy Campbell it appears he had considerate regard for the various relationships of life. His uncle John Diddle was his Surety;
Morris Lloyd and John Camel were friends who served as witnesses; the other, David Henderson, perhaps a cousin. The old friend and preacher, Rev. Waddell had removed from Augusta Co. in 1783, so the pastor of Old Stone Church of Augusta was called for the ceremony.

Morris Lloyd had been on the "Safeguard" as Gunner’s Mate, the son of Dr. Thomas Lloyd (b. in England) who was long the friend of Capt. George Elliott and Wm. Preston during the French and Indian War. This friendship continued on and on, for both Dr. Thomas and Morris Lloyd cast in their lot with the Elliotts and had their Military Grants for land in Green, Barren and Adair Cos. on the Green Riv., Crocus Cr., and Cumberland Riv., south of those of Capt. George Elliott and Alexander Elliott.

KENTUCKY — Lincoln Co.

By 1789, Alexander Elliott was in Lincoln Co., evidently removing there before his father’s family. He settled at the Bend on Dick's Riv., eastern side, which later was in Garrard Co., the land owned by his father. Here the Elliotts owned the Ferry across Dick’s Riv., operated where the bridge now spans the current connecting Garrard Co. with Danville. The view at this point is a very beautiful one.

1799-Alexander Elliott removed to Adair Co. to give personal supervision to the sale of the land in the Military Grants which he and his father had acquired, and which had required from 1791 to 1797 to locate and survey:

This latter tract was the one Alexander Elliott selected for his own home, and here, too, resided his sons as long as they remained in Ky., west of Columbia. Deeds from these Grants are recorded from 1798 to 1818, given by Alexander Elliott for himself and by Alexander Elliott, Atty for Capt. George Elliott and wife Florence. One deed is dated as late as 1838.

NEIGHBORING FAMILIES AND FRIENDS in Adair Co.

The move of Alexander Elliott to Adair Co., then a part of Green Co., was necessitated by the land they had acquired and it became a personal venture for him. However, a small related group with long associations did make the change with him:

Samuel Montgomery from Montgomery Co., Va.—Butler’s Fk.
Robert Montgomery
John Montgomery m. 1798 Jane Elliott
Robert Hindman from Rockbridge Co.—Petit’s Fk.
Capt. James Gilmer from Rockbridge Co. via Lincoln Co.
William Diddle from Augusta Co., a cousin, to Adair Co., May 1807.

Here on Big Creek settled a group that had removed from the counties along the Rappahannock, representing many of the old Virginia families that had made rich contributions to the life of the Old Dominion, seeking Ky. lands for their own children:

Joseph Nelson from Culpeper and Madison Cos., Va.—1799.
Lincefield Grady, a bro. in law (d. 1811) of Madison Co., Va.
Philip Lightfoot, from Madison Co. and wife.
Mrs. Margaret Fry Lightfoot, their mother in law, and the children.
Robert Jones (Son of Capt. Gabriel Jones and Martha Slaughter) with wife Dolly (Ashby) from Culpeper-Fauquier Cos.—1812
Cager Creel from Orange Co.—1798 on Big Cr.
Zachariah Taylor, Methodists, from Orange Co.—1802 on Big Cr.
James Dohoney and Rhodes Dohoney from Orange Co.
William Atkins and Joseph Atkins II, from Orange Co.—1799.
Blackmore Hughes from Bedford Co. through Georgia, 1800 on Big Cr.
Chas. Jones from Bedford Co. Va.

Another influential settler was Rev. Jeremiah Abell, who purchased land on Big Cr. in 1798—Russell Cr. With the aid of Rev. David Rice, he was largely responsible for the establishment of the Presbyterian churches south of Green Riv. He performed the marriage ceremonies for the Presbyterian families, Yates, Grady, Diddle, Gilmer, Hughes and Elliott through the years from 1803 to 1822.
This community on Russell Cr. made a great contribution to medical science, for it was Mrs. Jane Todd Crawford living 6 mi. south of Greensburg, who rode horse back to Danville in 1830 to undergo an operation without anesthetic—the first ovariotomy—one that made the old Rockbridge son, Dr. Ephraim McDowell famous. A monument has been erected to her memory at her old home.

In 1852 Alexander Elliott deeded to the Trustees of the Methodist Church 1 A. on Big Creek for church building services.

CLOSE OF HIS LIFE

Alexander Elliott's death preceded that of his wife two weeks. The census of 1850 showed living near him two daus.—Amanda Creel and Martitia Patterson—and two sons—George Campbell Elliott and Alexander Elliott, Jr. His appraisal indicates he was a man of mechanical turn of mind, for his farm implements included the latest in development: a “Hackney” plough, a “McCormack” plough, a “Carrington” plough, a “Diamond” plough, all newly introduced for the cultivation of virgin soil. He had given the land—1 A.—for a Methodist church, the deed for which was not made until after his death; His neighbors were—the Joseph Nelsons, the Lighfoots and the Taylors all being Methodists, the Rev. George Taylor serving as minister. One of his valued slaves, Tulla, an older woman, took charge of the household of Geo. Campbell Elliott upon the death of his wife, and it was this same “Tulla” who had the “enfair dinner” under her supervision at the marriage of Cary Elliott, the son, (the Compiler’s grandfather).

My grandmother Ann Dudley Hughes Baker knew him as a young girl in Adair Co. and was impressed by his extreme age and the fact that he had been in the Rev. War—“so old, looked like a wraith.”

His cherry sugar chest listed in the Appraisal was finally carried to Missouri by his grandson, Cary Elliott, and by him was given to his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott Atkins. She in turn bestowed it upon her son Charles Clayton Atkins, and now Charles Wesley Atkins is the proud custodian of it, still an attractive piece of furniture.

1852-Nov. 19 — DIVISION OF PROPERTY
(Letter written by son George Campbell Elliott to his son Cary Elliott in Johnson Co., Mo.)

"Your Uncle William (Elliott) (of Mo.) and Kiah Price (of Mo.) came in ... and left this morning by water (for home). We sold your grandfather’s place to Cager Creel for $1100 and divided the negroes peaceably among ourselves without a hard thought, as far as I know of, which was very gratifying to me. All parted satisfied and friendly. Your uncle Alex (Elliott) got Courtney, your Uncle William got Matt and Kiah Price got Nancy. I got Chain (Chiny) and child but had to pay $100. I had been fearful there would be some little contention but I never saw as peaceable, as satisfied a division with the same friendship in my life."

GEORGE CAMPBELL ELLIOTT of Adair County, Kentucky

GEORGE CAMPBELL ELLIOT
b. 1793 in Lincoln Co., Ky., near Danville on Dick's Riv., son of Alexander Elliott and w. Ann Conway (Campbell)
m.(1) Nov. 16, 1815 Martha (Patsy) Hughes (1790-1850), 5th child of Blackmore Hughes, Jr. (from Bedford Co., Va.) and Nancy (Rountree), by Rev. Jeremiah Abell in Adair Co., Ky. She descended from George Hughes to York Co., Va., 1646, later in New Kent Co., where the Hughes were building contractors, St. Peter's Parish.

(2) 1852 Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Thornton Grady-Hughes, b. c1798 in Va., d. 5-20-1868 (bur. Diddle Graveyard) (m. (1) George Hughes (1792-1845) in 1813), dau. of Lincefield Grady (d. 1811) and Mrs. Mildred (Lightfoot) Grady. Through her mother she descended from Col. Joshua Fry and his son Rev. Henry Fry; and was a granddaughter of Lt. Phillip Lightfoot (m. Margaret Mildred Fry). She had Hughes children:
1. Mary Ann m. Janes Pervines — Sangamon Co., Ill.
2. Elvira m. Vance.
3. Blackmore b. 7-26-1823, d. 11-16-1890, bur. Diddle Graveyard, m. Elizabeth Redman.
4. Wm. L. m. (1) Lucy Carrington, (2) Mrs. Eliza Sherrill Hughes with grandchildren Perdue in Sedalia, Mo.
5. Dudley Downey
6. Mildred (1827-1895) m. 1844 James Diddle (1820-1895) d. Mar. 22, 1862 with will, dated Mar. 14, 1862; bur. on his own farm at a spot of his selection, by his first wife, though he had given the land near by for Union Cem. In 1937 the graves had been levelled and only some trees marked the burial spot (E. H. Hughes). Final settlement came Jan. 19, 1864 when his son Cary could make the trip to Ky.; the war was in progress.

George Campbell Elliott is described by his grandson, George William Elliott of Johnson Co., Mo., in an article written in 1930:

"In 1855 as a small boy I visited my grandfather in Ky. with my father Cary Elliott. He was living on his plantation near Columbia and I was much impressed by the slaves about. I can quite clearly remember his putting me up on his saddle horse grazing in the yard and then putting a little darkey up behind me. Again in the fall of 1862 I visited there but it was after the death of Grandfather, and Father had to go back as Executor of the will.

His home was a great center for young people around Union Church (Cumb. Pres.), six mi. from Columbia. The house itself was made of logs and weatherboarded, the front facing with two rooms across and large hall between, both upstairs and down. The ell contained dining room and kitchen. There was the horse barn and the threshing barn, shedded on three sides for treading out the grain with horses. Corn, small grain and tobacco were grown on the plantation.

The slaves were about 14 in number, and were named Malvina and Jack with their children, Ab, Ash (given to Sally Taylor), John, Sue (to Cary Elliott), Tony (to Elizabeth Atkins), Martin, Phyllis, and some grandchildren. The best ones were valued at about $1000 down.

He was an austere man and demanded obedience from both family and slaves, but always had a kindly chuckle. He was a skilled Surveyor and a man of large affairs. His body blocky and well built, gave him good endurance and he rode the 75 mi. on horseback from his home to the capital Frankfort on his fox trotting mare in a day. He was public spirited, kindly to kinspeople, and to neighbors, a Whig in politics, aristocratic in bearing and a Union sympathizer in the War Between the States."

When George Campbell Elliott was 20 yr. old he visited his Grandmother Campbell-Brent in Nelson Co., Va., where he spent the winter:

"George C. Elliott of Kentucky was here Winter of 1813"
(Diary of James Brent of "Wellington", step grandfather)

He returned home and upon the death of his grandfather, Capt. George Elliott in 1814, in the settlement of that Est. he and his bro. Alexander Elliott, Jr. were deeded 253 A. of the Military Entry on Big Cr. in Adair Co. near Columbia. Here he lived throughout his life, increasing his land holdings to 1000 A. which were sold off in parcels of about 160 A. at his death, by Cary Elliott, Exec.

In 1834 he sold a part of his land to a bro.-in-law—double—John Hughes, who dwelt near him until his removal to Mo. John Hughes was the elder leader of a large group of nieces and nephews in 1849, who were lured westward by the reports of rich and abundant lands.

About 1835 G. C. Elliott donated the land for both Union Church and Cemetery, though the deed was never executed until 1894 — “I A. to Elders Union C. P. Church, Big Creek”, by Cary Elliott, Exec., when on a visit back to Ky.

His watch, a large silver one, now in the keeping of his great grandson, Dr. Cary Baker Elliott of Raton, N. M., still keeps good time with its chain drive and key winding. It was made in Liverpool in 1825.

George Campbell Elliott was the Representative of Adair Co. in the Ky. State Leg. in 1829 (an own cousin, Dr. William Elliott of Nelson Co., serving in the same capacity in 1839 from his county). He was an outstanding man of great influence in his county, and was concerned with many sorts of affairs, always with a pronounced enjoyment of the legal aspects of transactions. His business trips took him often on far journeys, and his leather cowhide Business Fold (now in the possession of the Compiler) would indicate he had an orderly, systematic mind. It was no doubt of his own designing, handstitched with flax thread, having “G.C.E.” on the outside amid the tooled design on the flap. Inside are five pockets, labelled in beautiful script in ink:

LETTERS WRITTEN TO HIS SON, CARY ELLIOTT, IN MISSOURI

_Adaire County, Ky.
Febry 14th 1852_

_Carey_

I have been looking for a letter for a long time. You certainly could write if you try. I heard you had moved up to Johnson (from Pettis) in that cold weather. If you do not take the right care you will ruin your health. There is as much in right management as there is in work. You ought to have rented a small place and after you had laid your crop by then built if you were going to stay in the Country. There is all and all in taking things regular and not exposing yourself in Cold Weather or in rainy weather. If you do not mind you lose more than you will gain and particular if you are not very Careful the first year or two. If you encourage the Chills a few times you get your Constitution impaired and you may look for little satisfaction or health. It is Just as easy to get along to work in the right time and right way and take care in the right way. It is the greatest folly to build and fix in the winter. There is plenty of good weather to work in and by taking it right anyone Can fix in two or three years but to go the wrong way in time you may loose all.

You never wrote whether you was going to stay or if we must SellYourCow, Sheep, Corn, etc. When I got back from Louisville the hogs had collected in and eaten up your field of corn. I made a pen and put up your hogs but it was so unhandy they were not attended to as they ought to have been. George (bro.) had his Tobacco to cut, Corn to gather, and he had no time. They did not fatten well in fact there were good many small ones and when went to weigh there were only 16 went over 200 - he took 20 and I killed the others and sold some in Barren at 4 on time. They all come to about 220 or 30. I have it set down. I was going to Georgia and I was afraid they (the slaves) would not take care of the cattle and I sold them. Your hogs and steers come to about $300. I got some of it and some on time. You must write what I must do. I just got done yesterday gathering your corn, I allowed them to finish mine and yours while I was gone and they only gathered one day - said the weather was too bad. I think there is about forty barrels of corn and your oats stack. All that was in the house was destroyed before I got back from Louisville. The hogs and cattle got in the old house and wasted every every bundle. If you need any money I could send you some by mail. It is too dangerous to risque but little at a time.

You must write and give me the prospects. The last time I heard from Mr. Bridgewater he was very low but on the mend. Elijah Beard has lost both of his children - was very much dissatisfied. I expect he will come back. Albert Mafsie does not like very well but intended to look about before he settled for good.

Write if you have entered land and if there is plenty to enter - how about Betsey and if there is any chance to rent about where you are and your postoffice.

Amanda, Carey has neglected writing, I ask you to try and give me the prospects and how you like and if moving is the thing that is said to be. All well - the neighborhood very healthy. Sol Baker (son-in-law) has been laid up for a month or so with a cold.

I have been entirely disappointed in getting your Waggon and Oxen off. I had made a very good, very strong and not too heavy - cost about $65. I had bought two yoke of Steers at $40 each and made arrangements for Miles Page to take them out. He got disappointed in some of his Company or some of his friends persuaded him they would travel too slow and he left without them - he was going to the South Side of Saline County. No one else I could rely on. I thought I would wait until your Uncle William and Kiah Price came in and it might be I could make some arrangements with them but they said it was too late in the Season and left this morning for Louisville to go by water with each of them a negro.

I had gone out to Springfield, Illinois and came by St. Louis - was in St. Louis the 9th day of this month - it took me 5 days to get home - they had become very restless. We sold your grandfather's place to Cager Creel at $1100 and divided the negroes peaceable ourselves without a hard thought as far as I know of, which was very Gratifying to me - all parted satisfied and friendly. Your Uncle Alex got Courtney, your Uncle Wm. got Matt and Kiah Price got Nancy. I got Chain and child but had to pay $100. I had been fearfull there would be some contention but I never saw as peaceable and satisfied a division with the same friendship in my life.

Now you will need to buy a Waggon at last. I would have been glad for you to have got this as a new Waggon is worth double an old one that is pretty well rotted. Take all together waggon and Steers it would be better than you could do out there.
I sent you $100 by your Uncle William. I sent a 40 A. Land Warrant to Betsey. Your Uncle Wm. will be at home if nothing happens before you get this and you will have to go down after it. (Moniteau Co.) I would have sent you some more but I had no time to gather any more as time was short and I was pretty much laid up with a cold. When I got home and found your letter stating you did not intend buying because the prices were too high - you were right for the prices can not hold up. They are giving way here and it is not safe to risk when so high. If the land office is like to open I would like to hear and I want James (Atkins) to enter that. I wish you to try and make some way for him to get a few acres of timber - it won't take much. Times is getting tighter - we have very little crops. Corn can be bought here for $1.25 or $1.50 a barrel - pork will sell from $3 to $4. Cattle sell low - everything looking down. One cause was our light crop - we could feed no stock - had to send to other places - we will have to raise another crop to start again.

As soon as you go down to your Uncle Williams you must write, tell Betsey and James to write, tell your Uncle John (Hughes) he ought to have sent in his Certificate of location and got his Deeds. Something might happen. Tell Will Hughes (his step-son) to write - his mother wants to hear from him. Downey (Hughes) reports you all dissatisfied. This is the 3rd Page. I got my paper wrong and you will have to skip to read it right.

The friends and neighbours are well - generally the neighbourhood is healthy. Tell James and Betsey to write as soon as you get this and you write as soon as you come back from your Uncle Wm. He will be at home before you get this if nothing happens. Tell your Uncle John to write.

No bond is to be required of him for the performance of said duty.

In witness whereof I have herewith set my name and affixed my seal this

HINDMAN EXCURSUS

The HINDMAN FAMILY (spelled often in Ireland, Hyndman) was not a numerous one in the Scotch-Irish migration to the American Colonies after 1735, for research, though somewhat limited, reveals two early settlements for them, one in 1736 in Sussex Co., Delaware, and the other in Chester Co., Pa. before 1742. From these came many of the Hindman descendants.

Sussex Co., Del.
1736-Richard Hindman pat. 345 A. at Rehoboth, the oldest Presbyterian Church in a wide area, and in 1737 he deeded 10 A. to "Ye Minister and Presbiterians near Cold Spring for meeting house enclosure". His land was long regarded as "Hindman's Tract". By 1772 Dr. John Hindman was surgeon to his bro.'s Co. of Militia in Talbot Co., Md., just across the line from Sussex Co., and Rev. Jacob Hindman of Talbot Co. and St. Mary's Co. was inducted into St. Peter's Parish.

Chester Co., Pa.
1739-Rev. John Hindman, b. in Londonderry, Ireland, came to America and settled in Chester Co., Pa. In 1742 Rev. Hindman was sent by the new Donegal Presbytery in Pa. to the Shenandoah Valley, Va. as a Presbyterian evangelist, preaching at the Old Peaked Mountain Presbyterian Church in Rockingham

But in the fall of 1746 Rev. Hindman went to London and there was ordained a minister of the Church of England. On Apr. 6, 1747 he was inducted as Rector of Augusta Parish on the recommendation of the Gov. of the Colonies, and that year 2 Chapels of the Established Church were erected in Rockingham Co., below Augusta Co. along the Shenandoah Riv. Robert Hindman, 1765, also was living in Chester Co., Pa. with pat. for 100 A., in W. Nottingham Twp.; perhaps 15 mi. S. of Philadelphia. Listed with him as an inmate and not as a property owner is Alexander Hindman. Across Henderson's Run in E. Nottingham Twp. lived Matthew Henderson, who had m. Barbara Elliott that same year.

In this same Chester Co. were reared John Diddle (later of Augusta Co., Va.) and James (Au) Diddle, who m. an Anderson and had a mill on Falling Springs Co., Va. with Capt. Geo. Elliott between 1767 and 1775, and Charity Jane Diddle who m. 1762 Capt. Geo. Elliott in Philadelphia.

BAKER EXCURSUS

Martin Baker, the Emigrant Merchant from Plymouth, England, was in York Co., Va. by 1633. He owned 600 A., the estate now known as "Moore House" or "Temple Farm" near Yorktown where occurred the writing of the terms of surrender of Cornwallis to Washington. Removing to New Kent Co. he had in 1656 a land patent of 1750 A. and was High Sheriff; had probably—Christopher, Charles, Thomas, William, and John Baker.

John Baker in New Kent Co. had sons Martin of Hanover Co., Wm., Thomas.

Martin Baker in 1731 was in Hanover Co. and 1751 was in St. Paul’s Parish and had sons John, Thomas and Martin.

Thomas Baker probably remained in Hanover Co. and m. Sarah Overton. After 1751 he moved across the James Riv. to Falling Cr., Chesterfield Co. with the Clay and Hudson families, a long continuing association. He d. with w., Chesterfield Co., Sept. 10, 1774, with children names Martin, Thomas, Wm., John, James, Ann, Sarah, Joan, Barbara. Bequeathed 8 negroes and land.

Thomas Baker (1763-1835)m. (1) 1784 Ann Elliott in Va.; (2) a Robinson in Ky. He was a gunner in the Rev. War, just a lad. In Ky. he settled on Crocus Cr. in Cumb. Co. with his bro.-in-law Samuel Elliott (not related to the Capt. George Elliott) and Wilson Cary; had: Ann P. m. Peter Sublett of Richmond, Martha m. Ryan of Tenn., Phoebe m. Richardson Cheatham, Samuel m. Judith Radford Robertson (to Pike Co., Ill. with son Thomas Selden Baker, grandfather of the Compiler), Thomas (1801-1856, to Irving, Oreg.), James of Cumberland Co., Ky., Solomon (1803-1861) m. (2) Nancy Elliott, Matthew (1805-1887) m. Susan Baker and d. Johnson Co., Mo.

Nancy Elliott Baker as a girl spent much time on her grandfather Alexander Elliott’s home and thus could pass on down to her grandchildren much of Elliott and Campbell family history. She received her grandmother’s (Nancy Campbell) sugar tongs, still treasured in the Tannehill family. In 1855 she removed to Johnson-Henry Co., Mo. with her one daughter and her husband who died six years later. A widow in 1861, the war brought unsettled conditions even in Mo., and, with her son-in-law, John Quincy Tannehill, she spent several years in Moniteau Co. and Pettis Co., Mo. In March, 1884, they removed to Windsor, Mo., where she died. Possessed of a strong and vigorous intellect and having a forward conception of a woman’s mission, she was always able to enter into business activities and to meet the experiences of pioneering. She knew the vicissitudes of the Civil War in Mo. There came to her many duties: daughter, wife, mother, the care of stepchildren and of her husband’s stepmother, of step-grandchildren, and of her own grandchildren. Decisive in her conviction, amiable in disposition, gentle and winning in her ways, beautiful in personal appearance, blue eyed, fair of face, and erect, she commanded the respect and affection of all who knew her. Two beautiful pictures, semi-silhouetted, of her and her husband are in the Tannehill family.

"Cary Elliott, my father, was born on his father's farm near Columbia Ky. and there remained until after his marriage in Nov. 1850. In the fall of 1851 he and my mother came to Missouri overland through St. Louis; they wintered in Pettis Co. at Uncle John Hughes' (first wife Nancy Elliott and second wife Polly Diddle, a cousin) where I was born. Early in 1852 he rented a house in Henry Co., near where is now Blairstown. He began purchasing prairie land in Johnson Co., Chilhowie Twsp. The Land Office at that time was at Warsaw in Benton Co. on the Osage Riv.

He first built a log house of two rooms, living in that until he was able to secure native-dressed lumber for a frame, weather-boarded house, which he erected in 1857. This was planned similar to his father's house in Ky. - two rooms at the front with a wide hall in between and wide open fireplaces at each end. An ell contained dining room and kitchen with a large porch and cellar beneath. There was one bedroom below with the others in the second story.

During the War, Father did not take up arms in the cause of the South for the Elliotts had been Whigs, (allied with Zachary Taylor and Henry Clay as supporters of a broad interpretation of the Constitution) and tho, Southern born and a slave owner, he could not go against his U. S. government. In 1861 he took his wife and two children to his father-in-law's, Wm. Bridge-water, in Hancock Co., Ill. He returned home and remained alone until Feb. 1862, when he again made the trip. As we returned home we joined the John Townsend family, and I can remember crossing the Mississippi River, on the ice.

The family were taken across on foot with a guide to pilot them, the teams driven by those who stood apart the full length of the lines. The route followed was thru Louisiana, Bowling Green, Mexico, Booneville and Sedalia.

That summer, 1862, a crop was raised but grandfather's death in March (George Campbell Elliott) necessitated the trip back to Adair Co., Ky., to settle the estate. He found the plantation being run by the slaves as of old, and we remained there eighteen months, returning to Missouri in the Spring of 1864."

(Written by his son, Geo. Wm. Elliott, in 1928)

My dear beloved child:

...Nothing new has taken place since you left except Cary E. and Manda will marry next Thursday. The young people are all in a great flutter of excitement, fixing. Tala (the slave who had blonged to Alexander Elliott and was with Geo. Campbell Elliott) is going to give a big dinner. There are two Miss Flowers up from Logan. They are great toasts...Cat (Cath. Jones, a cousin) is going to wait on Amanda...Milam (Rev. W. E.) is married to that rich lady and Tucker has charge of the church here.

NOTE: See Chapter IX, letters written by George Campbell Elliott to his son Cary Elliott, in Missouri.

Cary Elliott was a large man—5 ft. 10 in. in height and weighing 208 lbs. — with clear blue eyes, light fluffy hair and a short cropped beard. He was a genial man with a wide range of friends; he was kind and unselfish, "leader of his clan," and given to an engaging drollery in conversation. Hospitality was a part of his being and his household was always seeming to include various kinsmen from far and near, nieces, nephews, sister, and cousins.

To my childish mind, my Grandfather's old home was a treasure house as I'd step in to the parlor with its red carpet, horsehair furniture, the piano and Currier and Ives pictures on the wall. Much more enjoyable was the sitting room with a burning fire of logs in the big fireplace.

His second house built in 1883 was by its location quite a landmark. With its ten rooms and two halls, it was built in the new architecture but seemed to miss the fancy gee-gaws for outside trim prevalent in that period. It embodied many new features — Venetian blinds, frosted window panes and hanging lamps, patented fireplaces that failed to heat.

Cary Elliott seemed to inherit the Elliott business acumen and it would seem that every scrap of paper connected with his business from 1852 to his death in 1900 had been saved, as well as those of his father, George Campbell Elliott, for whom he was Executor — land patents, deeds, receipts and checks.

The Elliott School was located on his land about 1873, given by him, and here taught a number of his young women kinsmen. It is now a part of Denton and across the road is the New Liberty Presbyterian Church, of which he was a charter member, tho my grandmother maintained her membership in the Christian Church thru out her life. From that New Liberty Church he was buried.

Cary Elliott's land totalled about 500 A., a farm each being provided for his two eldest children, Will and Frances. His land was acquired bit by bit at from $6.00 to $9.00 an acre, purchases being made in 1853, 1860, 1866, 1868, and 1873. At his death the land sold for $40.00 per acre. He acquired stock in the three banks, one at Blairstown and two at Holden.

His son, G. W. Elliott, served as Administrator of his estate and the Final Settlement included the interesting payments at his death:

BEAR CREEK CHURCH

The church privileges for the family of Cary Elliott as they grew to maturity, were in Bear Creek Union Church, built about 1860 on the west bank of Bear Creek. It was about four miles west of the Elliott home and drew its attendants from a wide area, a radius of five or six miles in all directions.

This church community included Southerners from both Kentucky and from North Carolina and included not only Cumberland Presbyterians but Baptists, Christians (then Campbellites) and Methodists. Each of these groups had charge of the worship one Sunday a month, with a preacher of its own faith. The North Carolinians had been led out by a physician, Dr. R. Z. R. Wall, and with him was a nephew, Dr. Richard Howerton, who in 1857 married Nancy Ann Hughes, an own cousin of Cary Elliott. Dr. Howerton was the attending physician for many years for a wide range of families, a highly regarded practitioner.

John Hughes, owner of many slaves and an extensive investor in land, was the leader for a large group of nephews, nieces and cousins from Ky. and Tenn. They acquired adjacent lands, pleasantly located, most of it in Chilhowee Township, and there they developed a community which was a highly influential one.

The Christian Church included: John Graves, Benj. Smith, the Andersons, John Umstadt, and had preachers Rev. Lord, Rev. A. F. Smith.

The Baptists included: Wm. Ousley and w. Sally, Frank Jackson, J. W. Logan.

The Methodists had: Aiken Doak, Archibald Beard, the Strange family, and the Woolridge family.

BAKER EXCURSUS (See Baker Family)

Bettie Baker had the first fifteen years of her life in Milton, Pike Co., Ill., among Baker-Roberts kinsmen, to whom she remained devoted throughout her life. She seemed to gather much from them that was formative. Here she learned her tat¬ ting, her crocheting and her knitting. She could "scrape her gathers", could "roll and whip" a ruffle, and before she was fourteen had made a dress by hand with yards and yards of ruffling upon it. The Christian Church at Milton gave her early training in matters spiritual, and school days left happy memories. She was never too robust and the overland move to Johnson Co., Mo., in 1871, provided a family joke for, when enroute, Grandmother would say repeatedly, "Now you must let Bettie ride in the carry-all for she is weakly."

Upon the day of arrival in the new Mo. community of Ky.
kinspeople, she had the excitement of a wedding—the "hired girl" at Dr. Richard Howerton's where the Hughes and Elliott cousins were gathered. She also met that day her future hus¬ band, Will Elliott. He had been up to Holden for the new Fair and was on his sorrel riding horse with a red blanket. Holden was enjoying a boom.

The family stayed with Grandmother's sister, Martha Hughes Townsend (Mrs. John) until their goods were placed in the home on their newly purchased farm. The children's education con¬ tinued in a Select School, located on the Phipps farm with teachers in turn, Rev. Gordon Turner, Miss Humphreys and Miss Mary McCrabb. In 1874, the family purchased a new White Sewing Machine, a pride and joy, for all four daughters were expert needle women.

Bettie Baker had the year 1873—74 at the new Missouri State Normal School, located at Warrensburg, the county seat. It was an unsettled year with the one building in process of erection and school sessions were held at first in Empire Hall and later in the Ming Hotel. Prof. Jahonnet of New York (an agnostic) was president and on the faculty were Prof. Campbell, Mr. Straight (father of the noted Willard Straight) and Mrs. Neet. She boarded with Mrs. Stevenson, next door to the future U. S. Senator, Francis Marion Cockrill, then a lawyer. Warrensburg, with its social refinement and distinguished leadership, took on a national note for here also as lawyers were the future Sen. George Vest and Gov. Thomas T. Crittenden. The three of them were destined leaders of the Democratic Party. Bettie Baker graduated in 1874 and then came two terms of teaching at the “Elliott School”, newly located on the main highway of the Cary Elliott farm. She always claimed she was not a successful teacher, the discipline her problem.

Her marriage came in the fall of 1875, “Grasshopper Year.” The young couple established their home near by on land given by the father and he also built their house of eight rooms. Will Elliott, then twenty-four, had had a wheat crop which netted him $1600, thus enabling him to purchase an adjoining 80 A. By much work and planning an attractive home was established and here their children were born. It was a happy childhood amid the many Kentucky cousins, located in a beautiful section of prairie country. But in 1888 the family removed to Holden, where a new home was developed just south of town.

The house here had six rooms below and three above. The lawn was especially pleasing with its many varieties of trees—maple, elm, walnut, locust, pine and cedar—and flowers and shrubs to adorn it. Flowers were one of Bettie Elliott’s chief joys indoor and out. The first gloxinia, cineraria and cyclamen I ever knew were grown from seeds by my mother. She enjoyed begonias and iris, and May was her best loved month because of its blossoming.
Her life was full of accomplishment though her body was frail. Throughout, her life she embroidered and she quilted. In her dressmaking she had an artist’s feel for color and line. Soutache braiding was a specialty with her and with or without pencil she could cut out beautiful designs.

Throughout her years Bettie Elliott accumulated a rich fund of information. The Kansas City Star was apart of her day which also included many other sorts of reading. Strong in her religious convictions she approached it with a liberal viewpoint. She held to honesty and uprightness and numbered among her friends all ages. Her enjoyment of her three sisters made one of her greatest satisfactions.

Bettie Baker Elliott was a descendant of a number of worthy Virginia colonists and she had Revolutionary War lines on her father’s side to Gunner Thomas Baker and Lt. John Robertson of Chesterfield Co., Va., and on her mother’s side to Capt. John Ashby of Fauquier Co. and Capt. Gabriel Jones of Culpeper Co., Va.

George William Elliott’s life was summed up at his death by the following excerpt from his town paper:

“George William Elliott, one of the few remaining links between pioneer and present days in Johnson Co., died peacefully in his sleep early Friday morning. The funeral was from the home Sunday afternoon with the Rev. Dr. Armistead H. Stephens, his pastor, in charge. Burial was at the New Liberty Cemetery, the ground for which was given by Mr. Elliott and in which his daughter was the first person buried. In the passing of Mr. Elliott at the age of 82, Holden loses one of her best loved citizens. Although never active in community affairs, pursuing his own course, he numbered his friends by his acquaintances and his gentle, lovable manner endeared him to all he contacted. His great love outside his home was his church. For many years he was a ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church and his affection for his church was more than deep—it was a part of his life. In the councils of the session his spiritual fervor and his mature judgment were invaluable in the deliberations. His parents were Kentuckians, coming to Missouri a short time before his birth and on the land entered by his father near Denton he grew to manhood. He attended the Presbyterian school at College Mound, an educational center in an early day. His early church privileges centered around Bear Creek church, and some years later when New Liberty Church was organized at Denton, he and his wife were charter members. The New Liberty Cemetery, one of the most beautiful burial grounds in the county, is on land he gave and he contributed most generously to the endowment fund as well.”

Me GEE COLLEGE

In the fall of 1870 Will Elliott went to McGee College with a friend, Nat Holden, son of Mr. Josiah Holden. Already there was Frank Russell of Johnson Co., Rock Springs community.

The college was located in 1854 in Macon Co. at College Mound near Mexico, Mo., by the Cumberland Presbyterian Church with Rev. Dr. J. B. Mitchell, a native Virginian, its outstanding president throughout its life. The students came from Mo. and also from Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Arkansas, and at one time its enrollment surpassed that of the University of Mo.

The Civil War forced the college to close from 1861 to 1866 but a debt incurred 1861 of $43,000 when fire had destroyed the original buildings, made the opening of McGee College most difficult in 1866. With hands tied, President Mitchell closed the college permanently in 1874.

Dr. Mitchell gave his unlimited support toward securing a substantial endowment for the successor of McGee College — Missouri Valley College at Marshall Mo. — To the latter college Will Elliott sent two of his own children. And it was a great pleasure to have those two children closely associated in later years with the families of Rev. Billy Mitchell, Mr. Leon Mitchell of St. Louis, and “Miss Callie” Mitchell (Mrs. Baxter P. Fullerton) of St. Louis.

NEW LIBERTY CHURCH

The New Liberty Cumberland Presbyterian Church was organized Sept. 13, 1885, and a new church was built on the land donated by Mr. Phipps, just across the road from the Elliott School. This was the center of population for the large Presbyterian community. Also the Bear Creek stream often offered obstacles in crossing it to reach the Bear Creek Union Church.

The new church’s Charter Members included a large number of kinspeople as well as others:

ISSUE:
1. Jon Howard, b. Nov. 21, 1941, m. 1960 Patricia Anderson; 6 ft. 4 in.; nationally known skier — stars downhill, slalom, jump; 1961 stud. Univ. of Wyom.

Anne Elliott at 8 yrs. of age moved with the family to the nearby town of Holden. Its boom era was on with two railroads affording shipping facilities — the Mo. Pacific and the Mo., Kan., and Tex. Both prosperity and an aura of culture attracted a substantial group of citizens. Money was plentiful and every need was supplied.

The town itself was vibrant with life in the 1880’s and 90’s. The churches numbered eight — Presbyterian, Cumberland Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist (North), Christian (then Campbellite), Episcopal, Catholic and German Evangelical, with both Negro Baptist and Methodist congregations. Membership was sharply drawn and each winter brought the Revival season. There were three saloons and while the owners were respectable men, the profession always cast a stigma on their young families. An active W. C. T. U. with the annual Demarest Contest kept alive the evils of liquor. The Euglossian Hall provided a setting for the dance — minded and for the travelling stock shows which came to town. The cane, silk hat and the Prince Albert gave much distinction to the young men and some of the professional ones. My lady could choose her milliner or her dressmaker on Second Street and go forth in style.

The residents made a broad cross — section of life. The issues of the Civil War were not forgotten and the Holden Enterprise under R. H. Tatlow and the Holden Progress under the Republican Van Metre family kept the party issues clearly defined. After the War new citizens from the Union Army located in Holden and established profitable lines of business; Dr. M. V. Johnson and Capt. Clark from Ohio, Major Halsey and Capt. Starkey and Maj. Terrell; from Albemarle Co., Va., came Confederate Major Wood. St. Louis supplied a Jewish contingent, highly appreciated; A. Plessner and Sons and the brothers Abe and Jacob Morrison had high grade dry goods stocks.

Worthy Germans, too, from St. Louis, were an integral part in the town’s industrial life — Mr. Boxmeyer with his grocery and queensware stores, the Hagemeier families, Chas. H. Bluhm with his feed and corn business, and the Steuben family, talented in music. The German skill provided an excellent greenhouse, and in Fred Hagemeier the town had a pianist as well as a piano tuner. There was one Frenchman — the polite Mr. Louis A. Berthoud — the jeweller for many years. A Chinese had his hand laundry across from the Talmage House. A group of Canadians selected Holden for their business ventures — William Steele, president of the Farmers and Commercial Bank (became the wealthy man of the town), the Kennedy Bros. who owned a grocery store and the Wm. Mayhew family.

Holden early had a rural aspect for it was the railroad point for a large area of farming country. In the industrial life was a large flour mill under Henry Clay Connor, 2 corn and feed mills, 2 livery stables with smart horses and buggy for hire, 2 wagon shops, harness shop, 2 lumber yards, many buyers of cattle, hogs, and mules. M. L. Gray, from Virginia, was long the dependable agent for the Mo. Pacific R. R. Across the tracks from the station was the Talmage House with rooms for the travelling public and plenty of space for the drummer to display his stock.

The Negro added color to the life of the town with his cheer and his usefulness. Their homes were in three different areas. Many of the women were efficient as cooks and many of the men were invaluable in services. School children forever had a good friend in Dick Sims, the custodian. In this group were three of the former slaves of the Elliott family in Ky. — Susan Elliott (m. Harrison Jacobs), Tony Atkins and Ashford Taylor with his son Zachary. The bonds of affection were long active, even into the next generation.

Holden’s schools were a very vital part of Holden life. In addition to the graded school and the High School were the four-year negro school, the Catholic School and Holden College, a young ladies finishing school. Rev. A. F. Smith was its president under the Christian Church and it graduated many choice young ladies. Failing financially, the Cumberland Presbyterians bought the College and for several years operated it as Lester Seminary under Dixon C. Williams (later Mayor of Chicago). The Compiler and her brother Walter attended as day pupils, a formative and fine experience under Miss Lawrence and Miss Laura Rice, out from New York as teachers. The Catholics became subsequent owners, but a decreasing population doomed them to failure. They maintained an excellent music department.

The medical needs of early Holden were met by Dr. James, Dr. Day, and Dr. Lee F. Murray. The latter had an extensive practice and was a very efficient surgeon.

The Holden Bank had a wide influence and patronage with very capable presidents: H. G. Cope, C. C. Tevis, Sam F. Jurden, Harry F. McCutcheon, and then his son Waldo McCutcheon.

The Elliott—Atkins—Baker kinsmen were affiliated with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church on S. Main St. Its membership included many of Southern background and a number who in earlier years had been a part of the Bear Creek Church—Wilson A. Campbell, Art. J. Whitsetts, R. L. Jacksons, and the Elliott—Atkins—Baker families. There were the pastors: Rev. C. B. Ward, Alonzo H. Kelso, E. B. Johnson, Frank Russell. Here the Compiler united with the church at twelve years of age and here she met her future husband, Arthur Lee Odell, who served as Summer Supply in 1904 after the death of the loved pastor, Rev. Frank Russell.

Anne Elliott was educated at the Holden Public Schools, Lester Seminary and grad. from the High School (Valed. 1895); at Mo. Valley College, Mo. State Teachers College (Grad. 1898) and Univ. of Mo.; held a Mo. Life Certificate; taught school in Missouri, Illinois and Colorado Springs; served with her husband in his pastorates: Madison Square Church, San Antonio, (1907-1910); First Presbyterian Church, Frankfort, Ind. (1910-1911); Kings Highway Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Mo. (1911-1918); Pres. Henry Kendall College, Tulsa, Okla. (1918-1920); First Pres. Church, Phoenix, Ariz. (1920-1922); Westminster Pres. Church, Detroit, Mich. (1922-1926); Highland Park Pres. Church, Los Angeles, (1926-1928); Beverly Hills Pres. Church (1928-1934); House of Hope Pres. Church, St. Paul, Minn. (1934-1942); Retirement Residence, Pasadena, California, from 1942.
As the compiler of her four Biographical Family Histories — The William Odells, Capt. George Elliott of the Va. Navy, The Hancock Lee Family, and The Captain Gabriel Jones Family — Anne Elliott has spent many hours and trips in research. The work has been obtaining family records from individuals, Court Houses and Historical Libraries, and Census Bureau. There has been an attempt to record the impact of war, economic situations, political parties, religious beliefs and group migrations as well as family ties. Research was done in the Court Records of Johnson, Co., Saline Co., Ray Co., Clay Co., Howard Co., Missouri; in Adair Co., Cumberland Co., Bowling Green, Garrard Co., Madison Co., Fayette Co., Ky.; in Nashville, Knoxville and Newport, Tenn.; Lexington, Staunton, Winchester, Culpeper, Fredericksburg, Virginia (also Woodstock and Luray); Mo. Hist. Library, St. Louis, Draper MSS at Madison, Wis.; Minn. Hist. Library, St. Paul, Ky. Hist. Society at Frankfort, Va. Hist. Library and Va. Archives, Richmond, Va.; Genealogical Library at Los Angeles, Congressional Library at Wash. D. C., Parliament Library at Ottawa, Canada, and Huntington Library at San Marino, Calif. which contains many informative MSS for Lee material. These personal studies were made possible by a kind and interested husband in both vacation journeys and pastorates that afforded a pleasant avocation in library research.

EXCERPTS from The Daily Range-

"Doctor of the old school — always professional, quiet, unassuming, thinking of the person first.

This is how friends, patients and colleagues describe Dr. C. B. Elliott. The greatness and size of his contribution to Raton and this area will never be known...

His life has been liberally sprinkled with honors...

After a short stay in Cimarron, and then Dawson (Phelps Dodge Corp.) he moved to Raton in 1919, where he has since resided with only minor interludes for extensive travel and searches for information on the lore and history of this region. Travel, sports, camping photography and Southwestern history have all occupied the little spare time the doctor has.

A favorite story...when parents were awakened at night by someone in the ill daughter's room...the doctor bending over her bed...

Other stories...camping companions...never wanted medicine discussed...pleasure to be with him...absolutely unselfish...profound lover of nature — studying ways of helping. One friend said "You couldn't go on a trip for a week with the doctor without feeling you were a better man for being with him."

Much credit for the success and accreditation of Miner's Hospital is given Dr. Elliott...the community owes him a vote of thanks for its existence and success.

During the years Dr. Elliott has been associated with Dr. O. V. Whitcomb, Dr. M. J. Poppen, Dr. R. W. Hack, Dr. V. K. Adams and (1960) is currently associated with Dr. H. Garth Blakeley and Dr. John Joseph Smoker. Mrs. Edith Dietrich has been with the doctor for 30 years, the offices in the International State Bank building since 1920.

...a few of the facets of man the community loves, admires and respects.

Surely today, must come to Carey B. Elliott, in retrospect, a great surge of memories and satisfaction from the life he has lived. Memories of the thousands he has brought into this world, memories of the thousands he has returned to health and happiness from the depths of illness and despair, satisfaction from serving mankind for 50 yrs. to the best of his ability.
And from all of Northeastern New Mexico comes a great surge of sincere appreciation and well-wishing for the man who is celebrating his 50th anniversary as a doctor of medicine.”

MRS. ELIZABETH ELLIOTT ATKINS of Johnson Co., Missouri

ELIZABETH ELLIOTT

In the fall of 1850 James Atkins and his bride journeyed to the new State of Mo., desiring to take advantage of the new land there. For a short time they resided in Moniteau Co., where her uncle William Elliott had established a home the year before. In March, 1852, they proceeded farther west to the prairies of Johnson Co., where her brother Cary Elliott had arrived the previous year with the uncle John Hughes and family. The Atkins homestead was entered in the fall of 1853, and a double hewn house was erected in 1854. In 1860 a new home was built, afterwards enlarged, with its great stone chimney. This fine farm of 500 A., with its commanding view, was located in Rose Hill Twp. and adjoined various kinsmen. During the war, James Atkins did not enter actively into the struggle, though his sympathies were with the South. He is quoted as saying, “For three generations my family have been adherents of democracy.” His grandfather, Capt. James Gilmer, had fought in the Rev. War. James Atkins first ballot was cast for Franklin Pierce as President. He united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Ky. in 1848, and he served 45 years as an elder in the New Liberty Church, Denton, Mo. Always he could lift a beautiful and musical voice in song, one of his chief charms. He was very tall and slender in physique. His death resulted from injuries received when his horse became frightened and he was thrown from his buggy.

Elizabeth Elliott Atkins was a gentle and kindly woman, round and fair of face, with blue eyes and softly curling light hair. As a girl she cared for an invalid mother, and in turn she was loved by a number of her daughters-in-law who at various times were a part of her household. For a number of years she was custodian of her grandfather Alexander Elliott’s sugar chest, which she gave to her son Charles Atkins. It is now treasured by C. Wesley Atkins.

WILLIAM JACKSON ATKINS

d. Nov. 6, 1884, age 27 yrs., both bur. New Liberty Cem.

William J. Atkins, though claimed by death so early in life, was a young man of abounding energy, ability and ambition. In the seven years he had acquired his farm of 100 A. with its improvements and life offered promise. Handsome in physique, his genial and affable nature won him friends innumerable. The Compiler as a little five year old girl had her heart made glad by his gift of a gold ring. Her father served as Adm. of the Wm. Atkins Est. and another Atkins gift had great influence on the young lives of the Elliott children — that of a large walnut bookcase filled with well selected books of history, travel, fiction and poetry. His farm, though never their residence for long, has been retained by his family as a sacred possession throughout the 75 years.

Molly Baker Atkins at 24 yrs. of age was left a widow with three small children, the youngest not six mo. old. Her skills and mental abilities enabled her to meet life in a most remarkable way. She could not only manage her farm but she acquired some western Okla. land by homestead rights. Too, she was gifted with the needle, an art in her hands that produced most beautiful and intricately designed dresses. The Compiler, fascinated by the process, sought to learn a bit of the “how” of it all. The Delineator provided simpler fashions but “Art de la Mode” from Paris presented real elegance. Also the Compiler recalls with deep gratitude the books in her gift to Will Elliott — a basic foundation for so much in life and an inspiration — Webster’s large Dictionary, Bayard Taylor’s “Journey thru Europe”, “Queens of England”, “Life of the Empress Josephine”, “Holiday at Llandudno”, Mark Twain’s “Life on the Mississippi”,

“Voyage of the Jeanette”, “Autocrat of the Breakfast Table”, “Gulliver’s Travels”, Longfellow’s Poems, Carey’s Poems, the new novels by E.P. Roe, etc. Growing things always afforded her great pleasure — her purple clematis and the maderis vines were climbing beauties. In the latter years at the home in Lee’s Summit she was surrounded by much that gave her satisfaction — her garden, shrubs, vines, trees and plants. She lived in Holden, Mo., Enid, Okla., Amarillo, Tex., Liberal, Kan and Lee’s Summit.

1. Annie Elizabeth b. Jan. 29, 1879, was named for her two grandmothers; the first had a line of Ann thru the Va. Jones family — Ann Dudley Hughes, an aunt of Elizabeth Ashby Jones (Ann Jones Scott), Mrs. Ann Stanard Beverly, Ann Hazelwood; the second, Elizabeth, was a Hughes name bestowed upon daughters from the time Rev. George Hughes came into Va. 1646 with his sister Elizabeth, and Elizabeth Elliott Atkins’ mother was a Hughes with a sister Elizabeth and with numerous Elizabeths preceding her. Annie Atkins has been a very successful merchandising business woman — Enid, Liberal, Kan., Amarillo, Tex. with residence for many years in Lee’s Summit, Mo. She is a D.A.R. thru Capt. Gabriel Jones, Holden Chap. and has been a most devoted daughter, sister, aunt and niece.

2. Thomas Gilmer b. Aug. 1880, an electrical engineer; Mason; served in World War I.; enlisted 1918 in Calif., Engineer Corps; sent to Camp A.A. Humphrey, 5th Training Reg., then to France as Operator Trignac Pumping Station; present residence Lee’s Summit. Both he and his sister have been most generous in their gifts of money toward the publishing of this volume, in an effort to distribute it at a nominal price.

3. William Tobin b. 1884 in Johnson Co., Mo., d. Aug. 1940; served well in his span of life; he was energetic, capable, affable, handsome and prepossessing in appearance; his business career was an interesting one, starting as a paper carrier in Holden, and meeting the 5 A.M. train for his load; then followed the task of a driver — first for a grocery wagon, then for a milk route. Removal of his base to Kansas City he became a salesman for a wholesale firm. Next he secured some Okla.
land by exercising his homestead rights to some acreage south of Liberal, Kan. His marriage followed with residence in Liberal & business connections that involved him in the oil industry. Responsibilities took him to Independence, Kan. and Tulsa, Okla. and Kansas City. In 1931 he was named Vice Pres. and Director of the Skelly Oil Co., being in charge of its Marketing Division. He was a Mason, a Republican, a member of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Kansas City. Will Atkins was a loyal and kind kinsman; he evinced great interest in the early compilation of this history and contributed some of the colonial Virginia records as he secured them. He and his young bride were present at their wedding and they drove the Odells to the train. Dr. Odell performed the marriage ceremony for his second marriage and also had his funeral service in Kansas City which drew oil industry officials and leaders from many sections of the Mid-West. He was buried in the early family burial plot near his father and four grandparents.

The newspaper articles were numerous and the Kansas City Star in a summary said, "Mr. Atkins was a Rotarian, a Shriner, a Knight Templar, a member of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and of the Board of the American Automobile Association. Always active in civic affairs, he gave much time and money to charitable activities."

CHARLES CLAYTON ATKINS

b. Apr. 7, 1864, son of James Gilmer Atkins and w. Elizabeth Elliott.
d. Feb. 8, 1917 at his home; bur. New Liberty Cem.

"Charles Atkins with his wife set up their new home not a great distance from the old Atkins homestead and soon "Six Mile Farm" became well known as one of the progressive farms of the section. His entire life was spent in Rose Hill Twp. and to his community he gave his best. When the Co. Farm Bureau was organized he was on the first Executive Board and contributed much to the success of the organization which became the greatest farm achievement in Johnson Co. In 1914 he was elected Judge of the Co. Court, and again in 1916. When entering upon his second term he was stricken with pneumonia, his death ensuing. He was a man of great public spirit and did all in his power for the upbuilding of his community. In early boyhood he was converted in the old Bear Creek Cumberland Pres. Church and remained a loyal and faithful member until its dissolution about 1897. Judge Atkins' life and character were an eloquent testimonial to the influence of early religious training and the faithful and conscientious observance of true religious tenets. His tenderness for the feelings of others, his scrupulous honesty, his charitable toleration for the foibles of his friends and his indefatigable labors for their benefit, his energy and industry in the prosecution of his own and the public's business, his efforts as a peacemaker, his refusal to foment factional strife, his mindfulness of the scriptural injunction to minister to the sick, his lofty morality, always evidenced by his conversation, his just dealings with his neighbors, and his great love and devotion to his family will cause him to be held in loving remembrance. Almost 1,000 people braved the chilly north wind to pay their respects to the memory of Judge Atkins, the service conducted by Rev. S. U. Lienbach and Rev. George Talbott, with the cortege over a mile long.”

(The Warrensburg Star)

Jennie Baker was an outgoing, genial friend and an expressive, loving sister and aunt. As a young woman she taught school and the compiler can vividly recall her beautiful dresses, products of her own skill and artistry. Her sense of design and use of color throughout life were outstanding. Always her community activities and her devotion to the church were important to her. She lived at “Six mile Farm” until her husband’s death, with subsequent residences in Holden, Kansas City and Lee’s Summit, Mo. The companionship for many years of her dau. and gr. son afforded her deep enjoyment. She was a Southern Presbyterian.

b. Nov. 17, 1814, son of Alex. Elliott and (2) w. Mary Stotts on Russell Cr., Adair Co., Ky.

LIGHTFOOT-NELSON EXCURSUS-FRY

COL. JOSHUA FRY (1702-1754), teacher at Wm. & Mary College, Surveyor and Map Maker with Peter Jefferson, Burgess, one of the organizers of Albemarle Co. and large landowner, was appointed Commander of the English forces in the Fr. and Indian War, 1753, sickened and died on the march near Ft. Cumberland, Md. Geo. Washington, his successor and 2nd in command, cut the inscription: "Under this oak lies the body of the GOOD, the JUST and the NOBLE FRY". Peter Jefferson was Exec. of his will.
REV. HENRY FRY (1738-1823) m. Sukey Walker (1746-1808), lived on his 4,000 A. estate in Culpeper Co., Va.; became a Methodist after the Rev. War and preached in both Culpeper and Orange Co. The home was in that part of Culpeper which became Madison Co. His dau. Margaret Mildred Fry (b. 1768) m. Lt. Philip Lightfoot of the St. Marks Parish. The two of them, by 1783-1790, had entries for Ky. Land, whither they removed with residence first in Harrodsburg and later on Russell Cr. in Adair Co. Accompanying them were two sons-in-law, Lincefield Grady and Joseph Nelson, married to daus. Mildred and Susan (Sukey) Lightfoot. On Russell Cr. they had close associates—the families of Alexander Elliott, Robert Jones (from Culpeper Co.), and Blackmore Hughes—with resulting marriages. The records at Harrodsburg, Ky. show a document wherein Henry Fry made extra provision for his dau. (Margaret) Mildred Lightfoot, in Ky., when he sent out property to her by the husbands of her two daughters:

"Henry Fry, desiring to provide for his dau. Margaret, who had m. Philip Lightfoot, for 5 S., delivered to the husbands of her two daus., Lincefield Grady and Joseph Nelson: 1 featherbed and furniture, a negro woman named Emmy and her children, Easter and her children, Vinus, Deeny, a negro man named Caesar, and a thousand dollars...in trust for the use and benefit of Mrs. Margaret Lightfoot during her life...and after her decease to be equally divided among her children.

Teste: John Fry, Henry Fry, Wesley Fry.

Dated: May 29, 1804
Date Renewed: June 11, 1805, Harrodsburg, Mercer Co., Ky.

By 1810, the Lightfoot family was living on Russell-Big Cr. and had 6 slaves.

WILLIAM ELLIOTT, with w. Susan, was given land on Big Cr. near his father, a part of the Military Elliott Land Surveys. This he sold in 1849—two tracts—to Cager Creel, his bro.-in-law, when he removed to Moniteau Co., Mo. There he acquired land s.w. of California, the county seat, between Latham and High Point. The county bordered the Mo. River, where plied the busy boats, at this date, often the means of transportation to St. Louis and Kentucky.
On his Missouri land William Elliott began the process of a well kept farm by building a commodius house, barns, granaries, smithy, fruit houses and other improvements. He built the school house where his younger children had their first schooling, and it carried his name, “The Elliott School”, for many years after his passing. He lived to see at least two of his grandchildren preside there as teachers.

William Elliott was a very quiet man, austere and little given to any show of affection, but he was a man of the highest principle, having sound judgment and showing profound thought. He was a Methodist, having been early associated with the faith of his mother's kinsmen and of those of his wife. So, Wm. Elliott became a student of both sacred and profane history, possessing one of the few libraries in that rural section of Missouri, and he became a Class leader in his church. His wife was the quiet, motherly sort, deferring to her husband in all matters.

It is no mean testimonial to the character, righteousness and integrity of the father and mother that their twelve children, who grew to maturity, have contributed materially to the uplift and advancement of their various communities. In politics, William Elliott was a Democrat and he numbered among his friends Kit Carson, who lived across the river in Howard Co.

Will Elliott as a young man came up to Johnson Co. where he had the Elliott kinsmen. He was known as "Will Moniteau" to distinguish him from Will Elliott, the son of Cary Elliott. His wife was a cousin of Mrs. Cary Elliott, and there was a romantic phase of their wedding when Cary Elliott rode all night on a trip to Henry Co. to tell "the other man" that Will Elliott, his rival, had won out. In 1885, the couple moved to Texas where Will Elliott filed on land between Quanah and Chillicothe. He engaged in the cattle business, later living in Chillicothe with a grocery interest. In 1892 he transferred to Hartley Co., acquiring more land, and became Co. Treasurer at Channing, also operating the hotel there. In 1906 the family resolved to remove to Amarillo, the growing W. Texas center and enroute Will Elliott was accidentally killed by a train. He was a man of great ability, and was highly honored and respected both by kinsmen and friends. The family became established in Amarillo, and, at her death, Mrs. Elliott was the oldest living member of the church there, and a very active one.

Elizabeth Bailey. He attended the Elliott School on his father's farm, with his boon companion—an own cousin—Wm. Yates Elliott. That first school house served a much larger district as a place for early religious gatherings. It was at a Sunday service here that he first saw his future bride in her red dress, with the resolution he'd marry her someday. He engaged in farming and stockraising but in 1897, feeling he was not materially successful, he removed to Calif., Mo., where he entered a different phase of that business—stock buying and shipping. In 1900 he was elected Sheriff of Moniteau Co., then in 1914 he was elected to a position of public trust—Judge of Probate Court, succeeding himself five times (24 yrs.) Here his irreproachable character, sound judgment and inate honesty stood him in good stead, and his knowledge of probate law was second to none. Though of the Democratic political faith, he was never strongly partisan. As a man he was strong in his convictions, but with a mild, gentle and soft-spoken voice. Probably no man in the county was better known or more universally loved than Judge Elliott. However, among his friends were many men prominent in both state and national affairs. In 1931, Judge and Mrs. Elliott celebrated their golden wedding with hundreds of friends felicitating them. They were members of the Methodist Episcopal Church to which they both gave themselves literally of both self and substance. At his death, the City of California, "by proclamation declared as a token of respect and appreciation that all merchants and business houses should close their doors and cease all business activities as far as possible during Judge Elliott's funeral services."

along with the Grady and Lightfoots. Charles Creel, the pioneer, had 7 sons, the oldest, Micajah. He secured land on Green Riv.,

Elliott's land when they removed to Moniteau Co., Mo.; 1852 he bought the interest of the heirs to the farm of Alexander Elliott, his father-in-law. The 1850 Census listed him with four negroes; Samuel, Creed, a negro girl, and Solomon, an old man. His neighbors were at Gradyville: George Campbell Elliott, Dr. James Gwynn Taylor and the sons of Dudley Hughes. His Will, a well written document, named five infant children and two married daus.

JOHN ELLIOTT 1-5
of Shelby Co. and Hardin - La Rue Co., Kentucky

JOHN ELLIOTT
b. 1772, son of Capt. George Elliott and (1) w. Charity Jane Addidle in Augusta-Rockbridge Co., Va.
m. May 17, 1797 Rachel Dadisman in Garrard Co., Ky., of a Dutch family; she was b. 1781 in Md. and d. 1850-60 in Nelson Co. at the home of her son, John Elliott. d. 1848 in La Rue Co. on the Rolling Fk.

DADISMAN EXCURSUS
Rachel Dadisman is said to have been a part of the Dutch family of Frederick Co., Md. The family tradition is that the Elliott family were much opposed to the marriage of John to this lady of Dutch ancestry. However, soon after the couple set up house keeping in Garrard Co., all became much pleased with this “fine little Dutch woman” to quote the words of her gr. dau., Amanda Elliott Kaye. Her chest is said to have descended to the family of her son, Dr. William Elliott, and is now owned by a gr. dau., Amelia Blanton. This son, Dr. William, greatly enjoyed teasing his mother concerning his Holland blood. When he had a nose bleed, to which as a child and young man he was subject, his joke to her was that he was getting rid of his Dutch blood.
John Elliott was a farmer, a fuller and colorer of cloth, maintaining the age long skill of the Scotch-Irish, one he had learned in his father’s mill in Rockbridge Co., Va. Some time after his marriage he settled in Shelby Co., Ky., with his bro.-in-law, John Montgomery, where he was living in 1833. Soon thereafter he established a home in La Rue Co. on the Rolling Fork where his son William Elliott had preceded him to study medicine and where he had married. The other children, now grown, married in La Rue Co.

When the Act of Congress, July 5, 1832, was enacted which granted the heirs of Rev. War officers additional Land Bounty and Half Pay for services, Alexander Elliott of Adair Co., Ky., acted in behalf of the heirs regarding the Land Bounty and Enoch Hebb McKay, a lawyer and son-in-law of Charity Elliott Anderson of Bloomfield, Nelson Co., acted in their behalf in securing the back Pension or Pay of $8000. Both were granted in 1834 and some of the Affidavits concerning John Elliott’s eligibility follow:

James Logan, Shelbyville, Ky., age 77 (Aug. 28, 1833)

"On or about the time of Wayne’s Defeat of the Indians, he became acquainted with George Elliott who resided on Dick’s Riv. in Lincoln Co., Ky. He knew the said George Elliott from that time to the period of his death, which happened in La Fayette Co., Ky., the precise time the affiant does not know. The said George Elliott was always believed to have been a Capt. in the Navy during the Rev. War. The said George Elliott had several children: a son named John who now resides in Shelby Co., Ky., and farther the deponent saith not."

Robert Lawson of Shelby Co., Ky. (Aug. 28, 1833)

"He knew George Elliott well when he lived in Rockbridge Co., Va. He saw Elliott frequently until he removed to Dick’s Riv. in Ky. George Elliott was always thought to have been a Sea Captain, but whether in the service of the Government or Capt. of a private vessel, the deponent did not know. George Elliott had several children: Alexander, William, Jane, George and John, the latter of whom now lived in Shelby Co., Ky."

William Allen of Shelby Co., Ky. (Aug. 28, 1833)

"About the year 1791 he became acquainted with George Elliott who resided on Dick’s Riv., Lincoln Co., Ky. After several years Elliott removed to Fayette Co., Ky., where he remained until his death in the fall of 1814. He knew Elliott’s children: that Alexander Elliott lived in this state south of Green Riv.; George Elliott Jr. resided on Dick’s Riv.; Jane in Shelby Co., she m. John Montgomery; William Elliott d. many years ago, but deponent does not know whether he left children; John Elliott lives in Shelby Co.; Charity Elliott, who married Geo. Anderson first and second John Anderson, but whether she left any children, deponent does not know; Sarah Elliott married John Proctor and when deponent last heard of them they were living in Jessamine Co. These were all the children of George Elliott.

“Uncle Mathias Elliott was a small man with much hair—a rather good looking fellow. When you talked to him he would constantly shake his head and smile. He always smiled and the children all loved him. He was very religious, a Methodist and was considered by all a good man.”

(J. Fred Dorman III, from his gr. mother, Lucinda Page Elliott Miller)

“Uncle Mathias Elliott used to cross the Beeler farm instead of going the longer way by road. He was not as well educated as was his older bro. Dr. Elliott. He spoke somewhat as if he had a brogue. When the weather was bad or something had happened, and Mrs. Beeler complained, he would always say, “It is never so bad, but it could be worse.” He might be likened to a Dickens character. His house was frame, and only one story. You entered into an entry which was fairly large. The back door also entered into this hall. On one side of the house was a bedroom, dining room and kitchen, and on the other a parlor and other rooms.”

DR. WILLIAM ELLIOTT 1-5-1
of New Haven, Nelson Co., Kentucky

DR. WILLIAM ELLIOTT
d. Dec. 11, 1897 in New Haven, Ky., with burial in the Methodist Cemetery beside his wife.

THOMAS—BEALL—SLAUGHTER EXCURSUS

Edward Slaughter Thomas' mother was Ann Slaughter, a dau. of Col. Francis Slaughter and w. Ann Lightfoot of Essex and Culpeper Co., Va. He came to Louisville, Jefferson Co., Ky., with Culpeper kinsmen, George Slaughter and Benj. Johnston. In 1785 he was Dep. Sheriff of Jefferson Co. and in 1793 Member of the Ky. House of Rep. He held the rank of Major for services in the Ky. wilderness against the Indians. He later removed to Bardstown where he resided on his farm of 200 A. on Cedar Cr.

Susannah Beall was the daughter of Walter Beall, a prominent merchant and landowner of Jefferson and Nelson Co. He was a Member of the 1st Constitutional Convent. of Ky. His Will—Nelson Co., 1802... Aug., 1810, bequeathed to w. Rebecca, to sons Samuel, Walter and to dau. Susannah Thomas, wife of Edward Thomas, and to the heirs of dau. Susannah, Fanny Thomas, Walter Thomas, Matilda Thomas, (Lucinda not yet born), and to gr. son Walter Beall, son of Walter. Execs: wife Rebecca Beall, Cuthbert Harrison, Chas. Dorsey, Senira and Walter Harris. Edward Slaughter Thomas rec'd 10 slaves by the Will.

The Thomas and Beall houses were still standing in Bardstown in 1932.

William Elliott as a young child removed with his parents from Garrard Co. to Shelby Co. When 19 yrs. old—1817—he went to Bloomfield, Nelson Co., to enter the mercantile business of his uncle John Anderson who had m. his aunt Charity Elliott. He lived in their home for six years, the family very fond of him. During the last three yrs. of this time he studied medicine under Dr. John Pleasant and Dr. Samuel B. Merrifield of Bloomfield. In 1823 he located at New Haven on the Rolling Fk. as a practicing physician where he resided for the rest of his life.

His homestead, a large two story brick house with an ell and erected about 1824, was still standing in good repair in 1932. In 1836, on account of failing health, he retired from active practice and gave himself to his farming, always successful at it. Public service and public enterprises commanded always a part of his time and energy. In 1839-40 and again in 1863-64 he served as Rep. in the Ky. Leg. from Nelson Co. Dr. William Elliott was for many years a Just. of the Peace and he had an active part in the location and building of the Bardstown and Green River Turnpike Road, and the Knoxville Branch of the Louisville and Nashville R. R.

In politics, Dr. Elliott was a Henry Clay Whig, and after the dissolution of that party, he generally voted with the Republicans in national and state elections. During the War (1861-65) he remained loyal to the cause of the Union.

William Elliott was of a philosophical turn of mind and was noted for his maxims, some of which were: “An avocation for every man,” “Keep on you winter underwear until May 10,” and “Nobody should drink coffee until after 40.”

At the age of 90, he is mentioned in a letter in the Draper
Collections of Manuscripts assembled by Dr. Lyman C. Draper at the Univ. of Wis. in his historical research on Revolutionary Soldiers of Va. Dr. Draper had written Mr. Yoder Poignand, Taylorville, Spencer Co., Ky., who on Apr. 14, 1891, responded: "Dr. William, Elliott is over 90 yr. old, well preserved and very bright and active for his years, a man of intelligence and well posted as to early affairs in Ky. He is on the wide awake order and lives 35 mi. from me. His residence is just across the river which divides Nelson and La Rue Co."

When 96, Dr. Elliott made affidavit for a granddaughter of Mrs. Charity Elliott Anderson — Mrs. Ophelia McKay Robinson — when she desired admission into the Society of Daughters of the American Revolution through the services of Capt. George Elliott in the Va. Navy.

In his older years at his New Haven farm, Dr. Elliott’s characteristics were displayed. A bull had wandered from the old Gethsemane monastery situated about two miles from the Elliott home. When he reached the front of the Elliott place, one of the latter’s bulls saw the wanderer, broke through the fence and a fight was on. Dr. Elliott rushed out and began beating the two animals with his only weapon at hand — his cane. The family called frantically to him to return to the house, but he responded only when he had separated the two and driven each back to its own home.

Dr. Elliott’s death resulted from a dream he had on the night McKinley was elected President — Nov. 4, 1896. He had been at the polls through the day and that evening had celebrated by playing his violin and staying up longer with the young people. He dreamed the curtains at his bedroom window were on fire. Before fully awakening he jumped from his bed to put out the fire, fell over a chair and broke a ligament in his thigh, dying shortly thereafter.

DEATH - (New Haven Newspaper Article)

DEATH COMES
To Dr. William Elliott and Carries Away
Our Oldest and Best Citizen

Dr. William Elliott died at his home near here Friday, Dec. 11, 1896, of general debility, age 98 yr. 8 mo. 11 da. old. He had led a remarkably active life, and was going about until the night of the 4th of November, when he dreamed that the house was on fire and jumped from his bed. In doing so he fell over a chair and broke a ligament in his thigh which confined him to his bed. After that he began to fail rapidly, and when the time came, passed to eternity as quietly and peacefully as a child going to sleep. It was my privilege to know this man well, and that's why I loved him. I had every opportunity to study him and I never found a single trait in his character but something to admire. His strength of character, his deep learning and the charms of manner and conversation were such that attracted people to him.

He was an exceedingly just man and lived a follower of the Golden Rule. He loved charity, did many noble deeds, and the churches of all denominations here owe much to his generosity. Talking as a man, I can not frame a sentence strong enough to do him justice. But the extremely large concourse of friends who assembled here Sunday to attend his funeral service bore witness of the high esteem in which he was held by all. The funeral took place Sunday morning from the Methodist church and was conducted by Bro. Lyons and Trolley. The pall-bearers were six of his grandsons: Messrs. Clinton C. McClarty, W. E. and Charles A. Kaye, Charles M. Elliott of Louisville, Sam Carpenter and John Elliott of this place. As the remains entered the church the choir sang "Gathering Home". The floral decorations were beautiful. No finer were ever seen here. His remains were tenderly laid by those of his wife in the cemetery.

He was born in Garrard Co., Ky., Apr. 27, 1798 and removed with his father to Shelby Co., and there procured a common school education in conjunction with tilling the soil. In 1820 he began the study of medicine under Dr. Merrifield at Bloomfield, Nelson Co. and in 1823 located at New Haven as a physician where he has since resided.

Dr. Elliott gave much of his time and energies to public office and enterprise. In 1839-40 and again in 1863-64 he served as a Rep. in the State Legislature. As a Justice of the Peace he transacted all the business of this part of the county. He took an active part in the locating and building of the Knoxville Br. of the Louisville and Nashville R. R.

On the 11th of May 1824 he married Lucinda Beall Thomas. Since the death of his wife he has had some of his family with him to keep up the old time customs and habits of social life. Dr. Elliott lived under every administration from that of John Adams down to the present time. While he was not born until 1798, he nevertheless has lived under every Governor Kentucky has had.

He knew of only one survivor out of all the men and women who were his associates and neighbors in early life, and that one exception is his wife’s sister, Mrs. Amanda Barnett, now in her 89th year. She has lived in his family for the last 50 yr. and she deeply laments his death.

He leaves five children: the Hon. J. D. Elliott of this place, Mr. H. Clay Elliott of Henderson, Mrs. Charles D. Pennebaker of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Amanda E. Kaye and Mrs. Clinton McClarty of Louisville. Besides these there are a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren who greatly feel his loss."

WILL OF DR. WILLIAM ELLIOTT, Nelson Co., Ky.

Dated May 26, 1886-Probated Jan. 11, 1897

"In the name of God, Amen:

I, Wm. Elliott of Nelson Co., State of Ky., being of sound mind, and disposing mind and memory, and in good state of bodily health, but realizing and knowing the uncertainty of life, do hereby make and publish this my last Will and Testament, hereby cancelling and revoking all wills heretofore made by me.

First:

I desire that my funeral expenses and all my just debts shall first be paid out of my estate.

Second:

I desire that all I have, being my real, personal and mixed estate shall be so divided as to make the shares of my children, John D. Elliott, Henry C.
Elliott, Mrs. Chas. D. Pennebaker, Mrs. John Kaye, and Mrs. Clinton Mc-Clarty equal, after each shall have been charged with the advancements heretofore made by me to each of them. The advances so made and which I now direct shall be charged to my sd. Children respectively, arriving at the balance to which each is now entitled, are as follows:

To my son John D. Elliott, I have given and advanced at various times sums amounting to the sum of $4265.

To my son, Henry C. Elliott, I have from time to time advanced and given at various and diverse time amounts and sums amounting in all to $6083. This includes the notes I hold on him.

To my dau., Mrs. Chas. D. Pennebaker, I have in like manner advanced $3700.

To my dau., Mrs. John Kaye, in like manner I have advanced the sum of $3020.

To my dau., Mrs. Clinton McClarty, I have in like manner advanced the sum of $3800.

These being the amts. I desire and direct to be charged to my said children, respectively, as herein before mentioned. This is to be taken into account and consideration in dividing my estate and equalizing the share of each child.

Third:

I hereby nominate and appoint as Executor of this my last Will and Testament, my son, John D. Elliott, and in the settlement of my estate, my said Executor is hereby given full power and authority to do any and all acts necessary in reaching that end.

In testimony of which witness my hand this 22nd day of May, 1886.

Signed: WILLIAM ELLIOTT

CODICIL

I, William Elliott, hereby make the following codicil to my foregoing last Will and Testament:

Fourth:

I have heretofore given to some of my grandsons One hundred dollars, and to some two of them less sums, but I wish to equalize all of them, therefore I give to the remaining ones as follows, viz.: To William Elliott, Jr., my gold watch, and to Ben H. Elliott, James T. Elliott, Clinton McClarty Elliott, each
One hundred dollars, and to J. Speed Pennebaker, Sam Boone Pennebaker, Elliott K. Pennebaker, each One hundred dollars, and to Charley M. Elliott
Eighty dollars and to John Elliott Fifty dollars.

These bequests to my grandsons are to be paid out of my personal estate.
My granddaughters have heretofore received amounts about equal.

Fifth:

I do not believe the real estate can be equally divided among my five children without greatly impairing the value of the whole. Therefore, I will and direct that my Executor shall divide or sell said real estate as they may think best for all concerned, using their discretion as to time and manner of sale, and if they think it will be best to delay the sale, they may rent the same privately until such sale is made, hereby authorizing them to make deeds of partition in case of division, or in case of sale to make deed or deeds to purchaser.

Sixth:

The interest in my estate, heretofore devised to my son Henry Clay Elliott, I now hereby give and devise to his wife, Bettie P. Elliott and her children, free from any liability for debts against said H. Clay Elliott.
Seventh:
I have been very liberal with my children in the way of advancements and other advantages and my aim has been to do full justice to each in this final disposition of my estate, consequently I feel justified in requiring of each to abide by this will. But if any party interest shall fail to accept its provisions and attempts in any way to disregard it, then it is my will and I so direct that such party shall thereby forfeit all further part of my estate, the share and shares of such shall go and vest in such other devisees as do in good faith accept this my last Will and Testament.

Eighth:
It is further my will and desire and I do hereby nominate and appoint my dau. Amanda B. Kaye Executrix, jointly with my said son, John D. Elliott, of this my last Will and Testament, and I request the Court to allow them to qualify as such without requiring security on their bond, and in the settlement of my estate they, or the survivors of them is hereby given full power and authority to do any and all acts necessary in reaching that end.

Witness my hand this 27th day of September, 1886.

Signed: WILLIAM ELLIOTT

CODICIL NO. 2
Codicil No. 2 to the last Will and Testament of William Elliott.

Clause 1:
I, William Elliott, (in view of the fact that my son, H. Clay Elliott was greatly embarrassed by debt) did on the 27th day of September, 1886, by a Codicil to my last Will and Testament provide that my said son’s portion in my estate should go to his wife, Bettie P. Elliott and her children, but now believing said son can himself take and enjoy the full portion of my estate that will under my last Will and Testament and Codicil be coming to him, and desirous that this shall be done, do hereby cancel and annul said provision in said former Codicil, and now direct my Executors to hold my said son, H. C. Elliott, interest or portion in my estate until a settlement and distribution of same can be had according to my said Will and Codicils thereto, and then pay and deliver to said son, or in the event of his death before such settlement, then to his children in equal shares, the part or payment portions of my estate he or they may be entitled to receive.

Clause 2:
Since writing my last Will and Testament and former Codicil thereunto, my said son, H. C. Elliott, has, or I believe, unjustly caused me to expend large sums of money in Attorney’s fees, costs, etc., defending a suit brought by him against me in the Nelson Co. Circuit Court, and has by his further prosecution of said action made me liable to other large fees and expenses. Therefore, it is my will and desire that said son alone shall bear the loss of these amounts and in the settlement and distribution of my estate, he shall be charged with the aggregate amount of said expenditures as so much received by him.

CARPENTER—SLAUGHTER EXCURSUS

Judge Samuel Carpenter was a son of Michael Carpenter and w. Rebecca Delph who with 9 child, removed from Madison Co. (Culpeper) to Bullitt Co., Ky., near Louisville with other Culpeper families. He was a descendant of one of the founders of "German" in Spotsylvania — Culpeper in 1714, a colony of 12 German families on the banks of the Rapidan. They came from the principality of Nassau, Siegense in Germany, and were destined for Penn. A disastrous voyage took them off their course and with provisions consumed and death stalking their days, they anchored in Chesapeake Bay. With captain and passengers in conflict over the passage money, Gov. Spottswood of Va. eventually offered to pay the bill if these Germans would people his Colony.

They were skilled ironworkers, so they built for Gov. Spottswood a blast furnace about 10 mi. n. w. of Fredericksburg, which he claimed was the first in America. They were not Church of England so were allowed to have their own minister and were to be exempt from taxation for 10 yr. They were known as the Colony of the Germans Palatine.

Tradition is the settlers became disgusted with the poorness of the soil and the harsh treatment of the overseers and moved to higher ground on the Rappahannock between the Forks in now Madison Co., Va.

Christopher Zimmerman, one of the group, was the progenitor of the Carpenter family of Madison Co. and of Ky., for soon after arrival, two of his family adopted the name "Carpenter", the English equivalent of the German "Zimmerman".

Judge Samuel Carpenter was an eminent lawyer and jurist of Bardstown, Ky., a member of the Ky. Leg., and a Judge of the 13th Judicial Dist. 1847-1851. Deeply religious, he became a friend of Alexander Campbell and in 1833 he espoused the tenets of the Reformed Baptist Church, which later became known as the Christian Church or Disciples of Christ. A zealous member of that church he remained until his death. His town house in Bardstown is owned (1932) by the Knights of Columbus.

SUMMARY—LIFE OF JOHN D. ELLIOTT
A Newspaper, “Nelson Record”—Friday, Sept. 24, 1897.

Death of Hon. John D. Elliott

Hon John Darwin Elliott, one of the best known citizens of Nelson Co., died at his home in New Haven Tuesday afternoon at 2’00 o’clock, of typhoid fever. Mr. Elliott’s death will be a great loss to the State, but especially to Nelson Co., where he was honored and respected by all who knew him.

Mr. Elliott was b. Aug. 28, 1826, at New Haven, Ky. He was the son of Dr. Wm. Elliott and w. Lucinda Thomas Elliott. His father d. only last Dec. at the advanced age 98 yr. The son was educated principally at home, although he attended the common schools for awhile. While still very young he went to Bardstown and studied law under his kinsman, the Hon. Ben. Hardin. He began practicing law in 1850, and the following year was elected Clerk of Nelson Co. over the Hon. Nat Wickliffe, one of the most popular men in the county. In 1860 he formed a law partnership with Hon. E.E. McKay (Enoch Edwin McKay, a gr. son of Charity Elliott Anderson, thus his cousin-A.E.O.) under the firm name of Elliott and McKay. He retired from active practice in 1867 and entered the mercantile business. In 1871 he was reelected County Clerk, serving two terms of four years each. He renewed the practice of law in 1879 and was elected State Senator from Nelson, Shelby and Spencer Cos., in the session of 1883-84. In 1890 he returned to the home of his childhood, New Haven, where he resided up to the time of his death.

Few men reared in Nelson Co. stood higher for honor and integrity than Mr. Elliott. His loss will be greatly mourned by all who were fortunate to know him. His sickness was of short duration, he having been confined to bed only since Sept. 11.

The funeral services occurred at the Methodist Church here yesterday and were conducted by Elder W. F. Rogers. The Masonic services at the grave were beautiful and impressive, and were conducted by Mr. Isaac A. Kelly, of Louisville, a leading member of the fraternity. Louisville, Boston, New Haven, Fairfield and Bardstown lodges were represented.

The following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Chas. Gipe, Chas. Dupin, Barrett Murray, George Fulton, Joseph Brown and J. W. Sisco. The honorary pall bearers were J. W. Muir, J. C. Wickliffe, A. B. Baldwin, Sylvester Rapier, Davis and Wm. Wilson.

Excerpt from another newspaper:

"Mr. Elliott resided at Bardstown from 1848 to 1889, a period of 41 yrs. During this time he filled more positions of trust from the public that any other person ever did in the county. When he went out of office it was always with the gratifying plaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Mr. Elliott was a Dep. U. S. Marshal, and assisted in taking the Census in 1850. He was four times elected Clk. of the Nelson Co. Court, was a Maj. in the State Militia, a Notary Public, a Just. of the Peace, Public Administrator and Guard. for Nelson Co., Master Commissioner and Receiver of the Nelson Circuit Court for the term of eight yr., also Spec. Commissioner in several of the most complicated and important estates every settled therein. He served as Sen. in the Ky. Legislature during the session of 1883-84. In the whole of his official career, extending over a period of 35 yr., his record was one that any one might be proud of...

In politics Mr. Elliott was a sound money Democrat. In Nov. 1889, he removed from Bardstown to New Haven, where he engaged in farming until his death."

LETTER — to his wife.

Bardstown, Ky., 2nd Feb., 1861

My Dear Wife,

I will try to keep my promise with you so far as to write daily though I don't say much in what I may write. The bare sight of a letter from you does me much good before I read it. But to the matter.

I rec'd a letter last night from C. D. P. (Chas. Darwin Pennebaker, who m. his sister Anna Eliza Elliott and lived in Louisville-A.E.O.) and he again requests me to let him know when you will be in Louisville. You must write me in time to enable me to comply with Charley's request for you know how much he delights to serve his friends.

Well, all are well at our house. Sammy is in the finest glee and seems to be entirely satisfied. Does not speak of Ma and Sis as often as he did some days ago. He says he "wants to go to Louisville with Pa." All well at the Humphreys.

No news here to give you except that I have a very interesting night of it last night. About one o'clock at night I was roused from my sleep by a noise and knocking at the back door, with many grunts and groans. I got up and went to the door with a lighted candle and found that "Dan Walls", drunk and nearly frozen, had found (he said lost) his way in there and had somehow gotten upon the waterbench which broke with him and let him down, with his head under him and his heels up, so that he could hardly speak, and would probably have died before morning. I got him upon his feet and found that he seemed not very drunk. He begged me so hard that I should let him warm that I let him in my room, made the fire to burn brightly and in a few minutes he was warmed.
so as to give the liquor in him full effect, and down he tumbled upon the floor and laid there till daylight, groaning and grunting and praying all night. He says I am the "best man in the world sure", and that he intends soon to come in and clean the well and do a day's work for you in the garden "sure", and it shan't cost me a cent "sure", and it shan't. I told him he must not come back again, that I would forgive him this time, but he must not repeat it.

I am kept very busy now preparing our cases for the coming term of Court - 4th Mon. in next month. Very little new business, very little suing to this term. The people seem to be bearing and forbearing with each other very properly, and though I am glad to get business and need it greatly as a means of constant support, yet I have not the heart at such a time as the present is, to make money by the ruin of my neighbors.

I got no letter from you last night. Have you written every day?

If you start home this week I shall not be able to write you more than this time to reach you at Memphis. But if I get a letter from you and find I can do so, I will continue to write.

My Darling, I want to see you - oh, that I could be with you this day. I hope it will not be long tho' - May God bless and protect you always.

Truly your Husband,

JOHN D. ELLIOTT

PENNEBAKER EXCURSUS

JOHN FRIEDRICH PENNEBAKER, the American forebear, cia 1730, was living in upper Hanover twp. (old Philadelphia), now Montgomery Co., Pa., where he was a member of the German Reformed Church, known as the New Goshenhoppen Charge. His name is not mentioned in the list of church members after 1739.
A son:

WEIANT PENNEBAKER (1717—1795) became the family representative. He was quite prosperous, leaving an estate valued at L746-45-11d, having mar. Eleanora Holten of Dutch Mennonite stock which had founded this church in Germantown, Pa., before 1700. Among their child. was a son:

FREDERICK PENNEBAKER (b. c1751—53—d. in Ky.) m. Nov. 20,
1774, Elizabeth Newcomer of Lower Hanover twp., Northampton Co., Pa. In Upper Hanover Twp. He was a farmer but also skilled with leather, being a shoemaker or cordwainer. During the Rev. War in 1778 he served in the Militia under Capt. John Schooler. In 1791 he sold his farm to bro. Henry and removed to Nelson Co., Ky., with wife and the then 10 Child. A route open to them led down along the trail into the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia and over the Wilderness Road to Boonesborough, Ky. Perhaps they may have loaded their belongings on a flat boat at Redstone Old Fort and made their way by the waters of the Monongahela and the Ohio to Louisville. By 1792 when Ky. became a state the family was settled on a farm of 400 A. in Nelson Co., which had first been acquired by the bro. Wyant Pennebaker for military services. Among the 11 children were son:

PETER PENNEBAKER (b. c1782—d. May 12, 1849) m. (1) Oct. 31, 1815 in Bardstown, Ann Lanzley, dau. of Thomas Lanzley, the neighboring miller. Later Peter himself operated the mill. Ann d. July 3 during the cholera scourge of 1833. (Charity Elliott Anderson d. July 7 at nearby Bloomfield during the same epidemic). Peter m. (2) Dec. 31, 1833 Ann’s sister Jane Lanzley. Their farm was in the Cedar Cr. area on the road which became the Boston-Bardstown Turnpike. Among the 7 child, by Ann was the son Charles David Pennebaker who m. Anna Eliza Elliott.

——Contributed by Wm. Boone Pennebaker

Anna Eliza Elliott grew up in the New Haven home of her father, Dr. William Elliott. The year before her (Census 1850) marriage the 17 yr old Anna Eliza, with her 15 yr. old sister, Amanda, was residing in Bardstown at school in the home of Dr. Wm. A. Hickman. At this time she probably met Chas. David Pennebaker, the promising young, 25 yr. old, Lt. of the late Mexican War who was reading law under the celebrated Ben Hardin at Bardstown. The next year Charles removed to Louisville, began practice of law and in November his marriage to Anna Eliza followed along with activity in civic affairs.

With the outbreak of the Mexican War Chas. David Pennebaker had enlisted as a private in the 1st Reg. of Ky. Volunteers under Col. Humphrey Marshall. In 1847 Charles returned to Ky. and raised a company for John S. Williams' old Cerro Gordo Reg. As a Lt. he took part in many of the battles.

When the Civil War came on Charles had been successively elected in Louisville to the Board of Aldermen, School Board, Ky. Legislature and State Senate. With the approaching war he was one of a group of loyal Unionists that defied every attempt of the State Legislature and the Governor at Frankfort to pass an Act of Secession.

Later in the year 1861 he resigned his seat in the Senate and began to organize a regiment of volunteers at Grayson Sprgs. He served as Colonel of 27th Ky. Inf. from Oct. 5, 1861, to Apr. 24, 1864, when he resigned disabled for service.

Immediately C. D. P. was sent to Wash. D. C. by the Gov. as the Military Agent for the State. After the war, with his family he took up permanent residence there and practiced his law profession before the Court of Claims and the Supreme Court. He was a 33rd degree Mason and his bro.-in-law said of him, “How much he delights to serve his friends.”

ABLE—CARPENTER—SLAUGHTER

Lucinda Wiles Harris, on her maternal side—the Ables—was related to the wives of both Dr. William Elliott and his son John Darwin Elliott—Lucinda Beall Thomas and Susan Duncan Carpenter. Her grandfather Ludwell Linthicum Able (1823-1896) in a romantic marriage aboard the steamer “Duke of New Orleans” near Shawneetown on the Ohio Riv, m. Nov. 10, 1845 Lucinda Landers Carpenter (1825-1896). She was the dau. of Judge Samuel Carpenter and w. Margaret Bowie Slaughter, and thus a part of the Germanna Carpenters and the St. Mark’s Parish Slaughters of early Culpeper-Orange Co., Va.; also a descendant of Col. Laurence Smith and his son Augustine with their vast Va. patents.

As a small boy, Chas. Darwin Pennebaker visited his father several times at his Union camps during the Civil War. At one time the soldiers tied a drum to his shoulders and saluted him as their mascot drummer boy. He was a lad 11 yrs. old when with his mother he removed from Louisville to join his father in Wash. There he grew to manhood and attended Columbia Law College (now Geo. Wash. Univ.) In his practice of law in Wash. he specialized in claims against the U.S. and appeared almost exclusively before the Court of Claims, retiring in 1921. The family resided at first in Wash. proper, later settling in the Georgetown section.

MRS. CHARITY ELLIOTT ANDERSON 1-7 of Bloomfield, Nelson Co., Kentucky

CHARITY ELLIOTT
m. Apr. 3, 1797 (1) George Anderson in Lincoln Co., Ky. (Garrard Co.) who d. 1803-4.
Jan. 29, 1805 (2) John Anderson (b. May 11, 1777 in Aug. Co., Va., d. Jan., 1839 Bloomfield Ky.) son of Dr. William Anderson and prob. a brother or cousin of her 1st husband; m. in Garrard Co.—Lincoln Co., Ky.
d. July 7, 1833 of cholera at Bloomfield, Ky., when that scourge swept across Ky.—Her monument of hard granite in the old cemetery at Bloomfield records her birth and death.

ANDERSON EXCURSUS
The Anderson Family was a part of the Scotch-Irish migration to America, settling first in Lancaster Co., Pa., and later removing to Augusta Co., Va., by 1738—four brothers of them.
John Anderson, the elder bro. (d.—Will, 1787) bought 740 A. from Wm. Beverly on Middle Riv.—Augusta Co.—7 mi. n. e. of Staunton. He was a member of the 1st Co. Court and an elder in the Old Stone Church.
George Anderson, a bro., with w. Elizabeth and four child. proved his importation 1740 “at his own expense” from Ireland through Philadelphia into Augusta Co., Va. He d. 1789 W. and had sons George and James withdrew. Sons William and John, 5 daus., one of whom had m. (Dr.) James Addiddle, a bro. of Mrs. Charity Jane Addiddle Elliott, 1st wife of Capt. George Elliott.

Dr. William Anderson, with family about grown, came to Lincoln Co. — Stanford — c1803 where they became influential. As well as medicine, merchandising engaged them. It is not known if the young George Anderson who had m. Charity Elliott in 1797 was a son or not, but his son John m. the young widow of George Anderson.

John Anderson (1777-1839) b. in Augusta Co., Va., came to Ky. and the records show him owning land near the Elliott's in Green Co. However he was a merchant and trader throughout his life. He and his w. Charity deeded their land in Green Co., in 1806, and removed evidently from Lincoln Co. to Nelson Co., Bloomfield, in 1818. However there are deed records in Adair Co. showing family transactions:

1807 Wm. Anderson (father) to John Anderson.
1808 John Anderson of Lincoln Co. to Wm. Diddle (a cousin).
1810 John Anderson to Jonathan Davis.

John Anderson was a prominent Mason and he instituted many of the first and most noted lodges in Ky. At Bloomfield he was a merchant and Dr. William Elliott under him had his merchandising experience, a nephew of Charity Elliott Anderson.

Charity Elliott was an outstanding personality. In 1833 when cholera struck Ky., it appeared in Lexington June 1. In less than 10 da. 1500 were prostrated, 50 died a da. and 3 physicians were laid low. Business houses closed and industry ceased but on the 4th of July it abated, though over in Bloomfield it claimed Charity Anderson as one of its victims on July 7. She was buried in the old Enoch Hebb McKay lot in the home cemetery. To her keeping was given Capt. George Elliott's Va. Navy Commission.

MCKAY EXCURSUS

The McKays were a Scotch, St. Mary’s Co., Md. family. Richard McKay (1743-1823) emigrant to Ky., settled with his wife, Nancy Hebb, on a large tract between Bloomfield and Bardstown along the Plum Run Road. The eldest son Wm. McKay m. 1796 Rachel McCarty and they, too, established their home on Plum Run and there reared 9 child., the first son being the above Enoch Hebb McKay.

Enoch Hebb McKay was a prosperous merchant succeeding his father-in-law, John Anderson (d. 1839) in the family business at Bloomfield. He also established stores in Nicholasville and Danville.

He acted in 1833 as Administrator in behalf of the heirs of Capt. George Elliott when by Act of Congress all seamen of the Rev. War became entitled to half-pay during their lives after the close of the War. Stephen F. J. Trabue of Frankfort, Ky., acted as Atty. and the amount of $8000 due Capt. Elliott from Apr. 22, 1783 (close of the War) to Oct. 17, 1814 (his death) was allowed and paid to the heirs.

In Adair Co., Capt. Elliott’s eldest son, Alexander Elliott, himself also a seaman in the Va. Navy, served, as Adm. for the additional Land Bounty granted by the same Congress in Act on July 5, 1832. The heirs were entitled to 1333 1/3 A.

After the death of her husband, Enoch Hebb McKay, Amanda Anderson McKay appears to have resided with her son Enoch E. McKay, a lawyer at Bardstown. In those years she presented pulpit furniture to the Presbyterian Church there, the faith the family adhered to.

Bardstown is the second oldest town in the state and was settled by a number of English families, who came West from Maryland and from Culpeper Co., Va. Here was the celebrated "Old Inn of the Seven Stars" where Stephen Collins Foster in 1852 wrote "My Old Kentucky Home." However, Bardstown's first claim to fame is itself. The lover of old Georgian and Colonial architecture will find many examples of them still standing along its streets. On every hand are reminders of the day when Bardstown was the cultural center of Ky. and held a position of national importance, politically and socially. Eight Presidents were entertained there, also Louis Philippe and the Marquis de la Fayette. From this Nelson Co. have gone the descendants from these early families—many with much distinction and with an interesting history—Beall, Slaughter, Elliott, Anderson, McKay, Carpenter, Harris, Thomas, Pennebaker, Kaye, Pendleton, McClarty.

In preparation for the profession of law, he studied under the distinguished George Robertson at Lexington. He began his practice at Bardstown which eventually included Louisville. The Nelson Co. Record in 1896 said of him: "He is a man of fine physical strength and strong personality; as a lawyer he is eloquent and witty. He has few equals and no superiors at the bar in the Fourth Congressional District and is a giant among pleaders at the bar in Ky." Enoch E. McKay was noted for his skill as an advocate in establishing or contesting wills, and in his career was identified with many celebrated cases. His country residence near Bardstown was called "Lucknow."

Ophelia McKay Robinson has D. A. R. membership #7588, dated Jan. 14, 1895, the first to be admitted as a descendant of Capt. George Elliott. Her application was accompanied by letters from her father and from Dr. William Elliott, the elderly cousin of her grandmother, both of which follow.

Affidavit: Enoch Edwin McKay

In the matter of The Application of Mrs. Ophelia McKay Robinson, wife of John Edwin Robinson of Zanesville, Ohio to become a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

I, Enoch Edwin McKay, resident of my country place of "Lucknow" near Bardstown, Co. of Nelson and State of Kentucky, being duly sworn, do aver and say:

That the applicant, Ophelia McKay Robinson, wife of John Edwin Robinson of Zanesville, Ohio, is one of my children, born and reared at "Lucknow".
am one of the children of Amanda Anderson McKay and Enoch Hebb McKay. My mother was one of the children of John Anderson and Charity Elliott Anderson, his wife. Charity Elliott Anderson was one of the children of George Elliott who was a Captain in the Virginia Navy in the War of the American Revolution. These facts are part of the family history and tradition as connected with the family, and learned and taught by my mother and other members of her family.

My mother, who, like her son, was always a believer in blood, delivered to me some years ago the Commission of her grandfather, George Elliott, as a Captain in the Virginia Branch of the Colonial Navy. I left same to be framed and with the firm of Lindsay and Bro. of the City of Louisville, and to be kept by me as an Heir Loom in the family, but in some way, to me unaccountable, they lost or mislaid the document and same has never been found. It was then and now quite a source of worry and vexation to me.

The Legislature of Virginia years after the Rev. War passed an Act allowing half pay during their lives to the seaman of the Revolution, and the Congress of the U. S. by Act dated July 5, 1832 assumed the payment of same. My father, Enoch H. McKay, as Administrator of George Elliott, then deceased, presented a claim against the U. S. for half pay to him as such administrator and same was allowed and paid to him for the benefit of the Heirs of George Elliott aforesaid, near the sum of $8000. The distribution of said fund is shown in the suit in the Nelson Circuit Court, State of Kentucky, in the name and style of Sarah Sutton and Jane Anderson, plaintiffs, against Enoch H. McKay, Adm. of George Elliott, dcd., and others, defendants, filed on the 12 da. of Apr., 1850.

My grandmother, Charity Elliott Anderson, received her share of the half pay - she a dau. of the Sea Captain, George Elliott.

This record I send herewith but after inspection same must be returned to me as it is part of the record of the Nelson Circuit Court, State of Kentucky.

My mother died in the year 1885, but I have often heard her speak with pride of the services rendered the Revolutionary cause by our noted ancestor, Geo. Elliott, the old Sea Captain, and his name as connected with my mother's branch of our family is well known to me.

He says he has known the applicant since her birth, and that he knows her family and ancestors well. She is a daughter of Enoch Edwin McKay of Bardstown, Nelson Co., Ky., who was a son of Amanda A. McKay, wife of Enoch Hebb McKay, that Amanda A. McKay was a daughter of John Anderson and Charity Elliott Anderson, and that Charity E. BAKER Solomon Baker (1803-1861) m. Nancy Elliott (1818-1890).

MARTIN BAKER, the forebear, came to York Co., Va., by 1633, a merchant from Plymouth, Eng., with a long line of Bakers in Kent. He owned the 600 A. Est. now known as “Moore House” or “Temple Farm” near Yorktown where occurred the writing of the terms for surrender of Cornwallis to Washington. He removed to New Kent by 1656 when he had a land patent of 1750 A.; became High Sheriff; had probably: Christopher, Charles, Thomas, William and John of New Kent Co.

JOHN BAKER in New Kent had sons: Martin, Wm., Thomas.

MARTIN BAKER in 1731 was in Hanover Co., St. Paul’s Par. in that part taken off from New Kent. 1751 had sons John, Thomas and Martin. John and Thomas removed across the James Riv. to Falling Cr., Chesterfield Co.

THOMAS BAKER probably m. Sarah Overton and d. with Will, Chesterfield Co., 1774 naming children: Martin (d. 1812 Nicholas Co., Ky.), Thomas (forebear of Sarah Baker), Wm., John, James, Ann, Sarah, Joan, Barbara. 1758 he acquired land on Falling Cr., near his younger bro. John Baker, Sr. Through his eldest son he was the forebear of the Rev. Dr. Harry M. Hyatt of N. Y. City, Compiler of an extensive history of the Martin Baker family of Virginia. His Baker family settled in Nicholas Co., Ky., many of them later in Missouri.

JOHN BAKER, SR., (c1728-1798) son of Martin Baker of Hanover Co., Va.; prob. m. Elizab. Hudson; bought in 1753 land in Dale Par. on Falling Cr., Chesterfield Co. He owned the old iron furnace and the mill; lived near his bro. Thomas, and was closely allied with Rev. Eleazar Clay and the Hudsons, also from Hanover Co. He left a Will—1000 A. and 13 negroes; furnished supplies for the Rev. War; sent four sons into the Army; became a Baptist along with Rev. Eleazar Clay. Six of his children removed to Cumberland Co., Ky., ca1800, a part of a large group of Chesterfield Co. families: Rev. Walthall Robertson, Wilson Cary, Maj. Josiah Brummell, Samuel Elliott, Turpin and Cheathan. In Ky. this group organized the "Salem Baptist Church" on Rennick's Cr. not far from where it flows into the Cumberland Riv. and the church building was still standing in 1937 when A.E.O. did Baker research there. Many of these families on Rennick's Cr. and Crocus Cr. were greatly influenced by Alexander Campbell's Revival in 1824. By 1827 local leaders emerged and the 24 churches in this area were no longer Baptist, but "Campbellites" for those believers were in the majority in the congregations. Many of the Bakers around Old Salem Church remained steadfast Baptist adherents but the Crocus Cr. Bakers, Elliotts (Samuel) and Cheathams and Robertsons embraced the new faith. Rev. Samuel S. Simpson, just over the border in Adair Co., became their leader and when a migration came ca1835, these families in the dispersion carried the Church of Christ or the Christian Church to Ill., Missouri and Texas. Two of the John Baker Sr. sons acquired skills in their Iron Furnace in Chesterfield Co. becoming expert gunsmiths—Thomas and Martin. Four of them fought in the Rev. War.

(1796-1837) and w. Judith Radford Robertson (1800-1854), m.

Gabriel Jones (c1740-1777) and w. Martha Slaughter. Thomas Baker was merchant, druggist, lumberman in Milton, Ill., and a farmer in Mo. He was a rare individual with sterling qualities, courtly and dignified, a brunette showing his Scotch Robertson inheritance; he was gifted with a mind that delved deep; he read much in history, science and literature, enjoying the current “Mark Twain” and Gibbon’s “Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire”. He was a great lover of nature—birds, trees, wild flowers, rivers and streams with their scenery and fish. His trips to St. Louis from Milton down the Illinois River always contributed many interesting gifts for the family—books, jewelry, silk shawl (white for grandmother), a cherry card table for euchre and seven-up, and brocaded velvet for dresses. Thru the Civil War he remained democratic in politics, but in time became bitterly opposed to Wm. Jennings Bryan's bimetallism and declared he'd not be read out of the Democratic Party, he'd walk out. In 1871 the move was made to Johnson Co., Mo.; the household goods were shipped via the new Mo. Pacific R.R., lately extended from Sedalia to Kansas City and the family journeyed by land in the cherished "carry-all" and wagon. They were to join the Adair Co., Ky. colony, many of them own cousins, and one a sister of Ann Dudley Hughes Baker.

Flora Selden Baker b. May 24, 1874 in Johnson Co., Mo., d. Oct. 7, 1952 in Lee’s Summit, Mo. in the home of her Atkins niece and nephew—Annie and Tom; m. May, 1908 Howard I. Clevenger (2) of Holden, Mo. and Champaign, Ill. She was the capable leader for nieces and nephews, being slightly older than the oldest.

She carried the Baker strain in her love of the out-of-doors and visits to the Baker farm included much tripping for entertainment—hunting wild strawberries, gooseberries, blackberries, hazel nuts, hickory nuts in their season. She was an avid fisherman on creek, river, lake or ocean and animals in some way became her friends—canaries, mocking birds, dogs, cats & horses.

In business she was capable, becoming head of departments for merchandising firms in both Holden and Enid, Okla., going as buyer to eastern markets. She entered some government land in Okla. and while acquiring title, she served as postmistress at Sampsel. After the death of her husband she took over the management of his 1000 A. farm south of Holden, a well-done task.

She had a deep regard for the past, was a D.A.R. thru Capt. Gabriel Jones, and perhaps no aunt ever had greater love from nieces and nephews, tho she never had children of her own; bur. New Liberty Cem. beside her parents, her bro. and her three sisters.
ANN CONWAY CAMPBELL was a fourth generation following Alexander Campbell of Argyllshire, Scotland, who sought haven in the American Colony with the fall and death of Charles I. Her father was the third “James Cammell” and he died soon after her birth in the parish of St. Mary’s White Chapel, Lancaster Co., Va. The Division of the estate, 1767, of James Cammel, Sr., is recorded:

Lancaster Co. had two churches—St. Mary’s White Chapel and Christ Church—before the Presbyterians came in to supply the needs of the Scotch who began to appear in numbers.

St. Mary’s White Chapel was erected ca1680 and rebuilt in 1740. Reconstructed within the old church are the tablets containing the Lord’s Prayer and the Creed which were given in 1717 by Capt. Wm. Fox. Many of George Washington’s mother’s family—the Balls—are buried here. In 1716 James Campbell, Nancy’s grandfather, was living near Maj. Wm. Ball, both with slaves. Nearby were associated families—James, John, Brian Stotts, Wm. and Benjamin Doggett, Geo. Wall, James Atkins, Edwin Conway, Col. Carter, R. Chichester, Wm. Brent, Wm., James and Richard Ball, Rawleigh Chinn.

The mother of Ann Conway Campbell, Sarah Doggett Campbell Brent, was a woman of both beauty and distinction. She was the dau. of Wm. Doggett and w. Joanna Wale and descended from Rev. Benj. Doggett, who came to Lancaster Co. ca1670 from Ipswich, Eng.—a graduate of St. John’s College, Cambridge—and he was made minister of Christ Church and St. Mary’s White Chapel. It was with the advent of the Scotch Presbyterian merchant, Col. James Gordon, that Mrs. Wm. Doggett and her dau., “Sally”, became interested in the Dissenters’ faith.
Col. James Gordon, too, was (b. 1738) a native of Co. Down, as were the Eliotts, and along with his bro. was a wealthy and successful importer of goods to Virginia. It must be said that the Presbyterian Church was greatly indebted to Col. Gordon for its establishment in the northern neck of Va. He kept a diary and its entries show a mixture of business acumen, Presbyterian zeal, family relationships, social customs, ailments and remedies of the times.

Sarah Doggett Campbell-Brent was closely associated with Col. Gordon’s family. His eldest daughter, Ann Conway, called Nancy often in the diary, was her best friend in Lancaster Co. and with the second dau., Mary (m. Rev. James Waddell), and and their families she removed to Augusta Co. during the Rev. War to be away from the coast. Col. Gordon m. (1) 1742 Millicent Conway, dau. of the noted and wealthy Edwin Conway and w. Ann Ball, a half sister of Mary Ball, mother of George Washington—thus Ann Conway Campbell derived her name. Col. Gordon m. (2) Mary Harrison whose dau. was long associated with the Brent family in the Tinkling Sprgs. Church in Augusta Co. Her husband, Rev. James Waddell was pastor there—a very learned man. He became blind but is still known for his historical records, “Annals of Augusta Co.”

COL. GORDON’S DIARY—1759

Jan. - Learns the Dissenters have now power to build a meeting house and enjoy their religion by Act of Toleration.

Feb. - Went to Meeting where Rev. Davies (of Hanover Co.) gave us an excellent sermon.
   Lord’s Supper administered - 44 Communicants - 8 or 900 people.

Apr. - Went to Christ Church with my wife and all my children.

June - My dau. Ann m. to Mr. Richard Chichester about 11:00 A.M. - had a very agreeable company - Col. Conway, Mrs. Conway and her children, Col. Tayloe, Dr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Chinn, Mr. Armistead, Mr. Dale Carter and his wife, Mrs. Doggett and Salley... The parson, Mr. Currie, went off first (Episcop.)

July - Rec’d a letter from Col. Conway and one to Nancy (Ann) upon religion, but in my opinion very little to the point.
   Sunday at home with wife and family where I have much more comfort than going to church to hear the ministers ridicule the Dissenters.

Sept. - Maj. Campbell and his wife came soon after breakfast. Rev. Mr. Todd... excellent sermon - large company.

Oct. - Went with my wife to White Chapel Church, heard Mr. Currie - much against Presbyterians - much disappointed - lament the want of a minister for our own church.

Dec. - Went with David Hening to see Wm. Doggett - found him sober. I discussed with him as well as I could about his preventing his wife and daus. (Sarah, Mildred, Joanna, Ann, Hannah) from coming to the Lord's Supper after they had rec'd tokens, and several other matters. He confessed his errors and promised amendment of life, which I pray God grant him grace to perform.

Mar. - Rev. Samuel Davies (a Pres.) of Hanover Co. - great regret.
July - Lord's Supper - 2 - new Communicants - 50 old ones.
Aug. - Wrote about Mr. Waddell for a new minister.
Sept. - Went with wife to White Chapel Church - misspent Lord's day to go to Church to hear such sermons as are preached there. Making out lottery scheme to raise L300 for our Meeting House.
Dec. - Hoped to hear Mr. Waddell - did not come.
Apr. - Mr. Waddell hopes to visit us Sunday after next. May the Lord be praised - Mr. Waddell performed to admiration - came home with us - excellent, delighted.
June - 103 Communicants.
Feb. - My wife (Milly Harrison) sent for Mrs. Doggett and Sally. Mr. Waddell and I examined them about reports in these parts of Sally and Robert Edmonds. But they seem to convince us that Sally is innocent and that Mrs. E. has reported lies without foundation. We advised Sally to get Mrs. E. to go before a Justice and declare the truth. Mr. Dale Carter came to let us know that Mrs. Edmonds had cleared up Sally Doggett's character by oath.
Apr. - This day Mr. Waddell spoke to me about Molly.
Sept. - Robert Edmonds ran away from his wife.
Dec. - Sacrament to 130 blacks and whites.

-Sarah Doggett, the young lady, evidently was not "Robert" minded for she m. (1) ca1763 James Campbell, Jr. (d. p.1767). He d. before his father's death in 1767 and his share of the Estate was bestowed upon the infant dau. Ann Conway Campbell. The young wid. m. (2) Oct. 11, 1768, James Brent (1736-1815) in Lancaster Co., a son of Wm. Brent and a grandson of Hugh Brent of Christ Church Parish, a family well connected. By him she had: Landon Haines, Kendall Carroll, Sarah, James Doggett, Hugh, Kittturn Huson, Wm. Sidney, Allse Kirk.

In 1777 the James Brent family removed to Augusta Co., Va., in company with the Rev. James Waddell family (m. Mary Gordon) to escape the ravages of the War on the east coast. The Brents purchased land near Tinkling Springs Church on Christian's Cr. and Back Cr., the latter subsequently becoming a part of Nancy Campbell's inheritance. Rev. Waddell purchased the old Col. Patton place, "Springhill," on South Riv. and he became pastor of Tinkling Sprgs. Church. But after the War both families founded homes back over the Blue Ridge—the Waddells in 1783 at Gordonsville, Louisa Co., and the Brents in 1787 in Amherst Co. and there Nancy Campbell's half-brothers—the Brent bros.—spent their lives.
An old Account Book kept by James Brent (c1736-1815) and brought up from Lancaster Co. has supplied many interesting names and facts connected with the family. He also kept a name-revealing Diary which was continued by his son, Landon Haines Brent. It records that George Campbell Elliott of Ky. (Nancy’s son) spent the winter of 1813 with them.

Ann Conway Campbell-Elliott derived much pleasure from the source of her name—the Ball family—and over and over and over her nickname “Nancy” has been bestowed upon her descendants. With considerable silver, her silver tongs are in possession of the Tannehill family of Los Angeles, through Nancy Elliott Baker, a granddaughter. The Compiler’s grandfather had some of her silver spoons. Nancy Campbell was about 12 yr. old when she left Lancaster Co. in 1777. She had lived an affluent life for Lancaster was a great crossroads—culturally, socially and economically—that connected Philadelphia with the James River settlements. Even the ships from all the European ports put in here at the mouth of the Rappahannock, and for some years here was Virginia at her best. Family tradition has said Nancy Campbell was heiress to a large landed estate but while it is indicated she did own some land in Lancaster Co. it was not of impressive size. With her approaching marriage, James Brent deeded her his land on Back Cr. Augusta Co. in exchange for her Lancaster Co. tract.

The marriage ceremony for Nancy Campbell and Alex. Elliott was not performed by Rev. Waddell who had removed to Louisa Co., but by Rev. Wm. Wilson of Old Stone Church. The young couple, m. in Dec. 1786, made a trip back to Lancaster in the fall of 1787, where Alex. Elliott acted as Surety at the Marriage of Nancy’s cousin George Campbell to Elizabeth Stotts. The next year Alex. received his Land Bounty Warrant and in 1789 they removed to Lincoln Co., Ky. In 1799 they transferred to Adair Co. where the various lands were located. Misfortune came in 1805 when their house burned and death claimed Nancy Elliott in 1807-8.

WILLIAM DIDDLE, evidently Scotch or Scotch-Irish, in 1744 was living near Philadelphia with his young family, and there his Will was probated, 1768. Three of these children settled in Augusta Co., Va., and there is shown a close association with prominent Scotch families—Christian, Anderson, Stuart and Elliott. The latter two were from Co. He had arrived in America and had spent some time in Augusta Co., Va., where he served in the Fr. and Indian War. Thereafter he returned to Philadelphia, was married and resumed his seaman’s profession. Tradition has it he served eight years here as a Captain in navigation. This provided him with a skill in surveying and the removal of his young family back in 1767 to Augusta Co. found him so employed until 1772. Then he was engaged in a milling center with Charity Jane’s bro. Dr. James Diddle on Falling Sprgs. Cr. With a disastrous fire at the mill and the beginning of the Rev. War George Elliott volunteered as a Capt. to man one of the boats in the Va. Navy—“The Safeguard”—its task to guard the Virginia shores. He settled his family up at the headwaters of Chesapeake Bay on the Susquehanna Riv. where a bro. Thomas Addiddle lived and the facts indicate that Charity Jane d. there during the War, the youngest child, a girl, named for her.

GEORGE ELLIOTT, JR.

m. May 5, 1794 Frances Smith, dau. of Reuben Smith and w. Judith
d. 1846 Garrard Co., Ky.

George Elliott, Jr. came with the family c1791 to Garrard Co. Ky. (then Lincoln Co.) as a young man. Capt. Elliott had his home plantation on the north side of Dix River where the thoroughfare from Lancaster to Danville crosses the river—now Route 52. The land here is rolling and the view from “The Cliffs” is breath-taking, so beautiful is it. The three young Ellioths operated Elliott’s Ferry at this point in the early 1790’s and now a bridge spans the stream to add to the overall beauty of the scene. Aug. 16, 1793 George Elliott served as a private under his bro. Alex. as the Captain in the Ky. 6th Reg. on the frontier, Green Co. He was the only one of the six Elliott children who remained in Garrard Co. and on this same Elliott land he and w. Frances spent their life and reared their children. Most of these moved westward before 1830 and established homes in Boone Co., Mo., n.s. of the Mo. River, just north of Booneville (Franklin and Rocheport)—Reuben, Smith, Eppa, Hiram, Henry. In 1844, two years before his death at 80, George Elliott signed an interesting affidavit (now on file in the Va. Archives at Richmond) which gives a number of additional facts concerning his father's milling establishment on Falling Cr. and his military services—all relating to the latter's pension for war service.
