Preface

My work in tracing the Morrow family history began about 46 years ago in 1961. It started as a Sunday school teaching and soon became a lifetime hobby (some might say an obsession).

I’ve always enjoyed talking to people and this sure gave me an opportunity for that. In the beginning I recorded the names and dates of my own family and that of my parents and grandparents. I visited with aunts and uncles and started to branch out with my many cousins. In doing this I learned that most people are very curious to learn of the extended family, even though most do not want to go to the drudgery of talking to so many relatives. There were very few who were not willing to help me in my search. I’ve talked to other researchers who tell me that probably up to ten percent of those they talk to refuse to help them. My findings were that probably less than one percent was not willing to help. Those few who didn’t want to help I would call another close relative, so that they too, would be represented in the history.

One day my mother was sitting behind me when I was making some of my phone calls. She said, “I don’t see how anyone answers your questions. You ask them so fast.” I suppose, out of habit, maybe I have sounded somewhat rude at times, although not intentionally.

At one time I was discussing with someone the problems everyone has with the identity theft and the scam artists who use the telephone. They said “Well you do have the voice for it” (I hope that was a compliment). At any rate it has been great visiting with so many of you.

Especially in the early years I made many visits to courthouses, searching for birth, marriage and death dates, to newspaper offices for old obituaries, which gave a fair account of the lives of many that died years ago and also to cemeteries for birth and death dates.

Many years ago I did a lot of traveling and when I could arrange it, I made it a point to travel through the areas where relatives lived. I remember spending many hours in phone booths and made lots of phone calls from motels. I used to write many letters, but the returns were so poor that I resolved mostly to phone calls in later years. Actually during the year 2006 I think I found over a thousand new cousins from making phone calls.

I stopped making the phone calls sometime early in February 2007. It had to have a cut off at some point. If I kept going maybe I could have found a few more cousins, but then there would have been a few more deaths, etc.

I made every effort to make this work as complete as possible. Although, for a good part of this book, I relied on correspondence and your personal knowledge for its accuracy. When I relied on personal knowledge I tried to either contact you or a close relative who would have the correct dates. If you have ever read a family history book with nothing but names and dates it about bores you to death. With this in mind I did ask for your occupations and the church or place you were married. Please keep in mind that this book extended over forty years in gathering data so some of the occupations may be outdated.

I published the first edition of this book in 1978 and 1108 descendants of Thomas Morrow were found. Now almost 29 years later we have more than doubled the size of the book. He was my third great grandfather. He may have been a fourth, fifth or other great grandfather to you, but he was a grandfather to all of us. He was born 28 Feb. 1806 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia. From an obituary and a family bible he was thought to have been born in Jackson Co., Ohio, but since his parents were found to have migrated to Ohio in 1810 he would have been born in Greenbrier County, West Virginia.

If this book hadn’t been so large it may have been fun to add a chapter or two on some of my experiences over the many years of doing research, on several different family lines.

Although, for the most part, I enjoyed every minute of it! There were a few times I couldn’t help but laugh with the people I was visiting. Other times it made me sad to learn of the family problems that many of us seem to have. Of course I didn’t record anything that I thought would embarrass anyone. Actually, there was a time or two that I think I kind of feared for my safety before I could leave.

Rather than devoting a chapter to it I will briefly touch on maybe three or four incidences I thought was noteworthy.

Several years ago, while visiting with a father, he told me of an incident when one of his boys had brought his girl friend to the home and for some reason they brought out a family history book. While looking through it the boy found out his girl friend was a cousin that had not been known. To quote the father, “The boy took the girl friend home, dumped her and that was the end of that”.

Another time while visiting a mother over the phone, I was asking marriage dates, birth dates, etc. Rarely do I ever question a discrepancy, especially over a marriage and birth date. But here the dates were not close. Upon further questions she told me the two teenage children had been adopted but they didn’t know it. I was amazed she would tell me and not the children.

One time returning home from a several day road trip, I knew I was in the vicinity of a family that I was having trouble gathering data on, so I stopped at their home. The father, mother and me were sitting around the kitchen table and a daughter was sitting to the right along the wall. I was asking the parents questions on the family and when the time came for the daughter, I turned to her and asked how she spelled her last name. The guy I suspected was her husband was in the living room, directly behind me. She looked puzzled and when she got up I followed her, turning my head. I could see the guy’s feet from where I was sitting and he had his right leg crossed over his left knee. She walked up to him and while kicking his right leg off his left, she said “Hey dummy, how do you spell your name?” I eventually got it all straightened out but it was a little messy.

Another road trip I enquired where a certain widower lived and stopped at his farm home. It was a wet rainy night and I found it to be a very old and large farmhouse. Upon entering the house I found it to be very dark inside and the man was mainly living in the kitchen to conserve energy. The room was very dark with two sets of very large double doors which were drawn shut and the only light in the room was a 40-watt light bulb hanging from a long wire in the center of the room. We sat down at the kitchen table and the man pulled out a fifth of whisky and while placing it on the table said, “Do you indulge?” It turned out to be a very good meeting and I learned a lot, but in the beginning I was a little nervous. It would have made a good Halloween setting!

I could go on and on, probably boring you to death. Hopefully you can get the idea that I enjoyed ninety nine percent of my experiences. Although on rare occasions it could get a little hairy.

I would like to have had pictures in this book, however other than my own family the only pictures I had was recorded in the first edition of the book. Two people did send me a few Xerox copies of pictures, but by the time they were recopied for the book they would be hard to see. So if you can look up the original book there are a few pictures in it.

Just a couple of months before this book was printed I did find the father and grandfather of our Thomas Morrow while searching on the Internet.

This book is in two parts. Part 1 is the father and grandfather of our Thomas Morrow and is not included in the index. Part 2 is the life of Thomas Morrow and his descendants.

Starting with page 240 there is an appendix (notes) section of the book. The numbers to the left margin will correspond to each name in the body of the book. You should be able to locate anyone in the book using the index. The index lists only maiden names of the women. The S after the number in the appendix and index sections indicates the spouse.

THE FATHER AND GRANDFATHER OF THOMAS MORROW
JAMES MORROW, SR. AND JAMES MORROW, JR.

1. James Morrow, Sr. was born about 1729 to 1732 possibly in County Down, Ireland. His birth may have been in Virginia (now West Virginia). He died 1797/98 in Greenbrier County, Virginia (now West Virginia). In his Last Will and Testament, dated Nov. 6, 1797, James identifies his wife as Mary and named the following children:

4. Jane Morrow, born about 1756. She married about 1775 Frederick Wymore. She died about 1828 in Montgomery, Daviess Co., Indiana.
5. James Morrow, Jr., born about 1761 in Greenbrier County, Virginia (now West Virginia). He died 10 Nov 1821 in Jackson County, Ohio.
6. Mary Morrow, born after 1762. She probably married Thomas Spencer. She died before 1797.

James Morrow, Sr., with brothers Francis and William received Land Grants from a Lord Fairfax in Greenbrier County, West Virginia.

James Morrow 133 acres Spring Creek in 1787 book 1 page 305
Deed book 5 page 342 Greenbrier Co., West Virginia

Greenbrier County, Virginia was formed in 1777 from the western parts of Botetourt and Montgomery counties. It ran west to the Ohio River. In 1788 Kanawha County was cut off on the western edge, in 1790 a portion of Bath County was taken from Greenbrier and in 1799 Monroe County was formed entirely from Greenbrier territory. The portion of Virginia that contained Greenbrier County became West Virginia at the beginning of the Civil War.

Sims Index to Land Records in West Virginia: James Morrow is listed in Book 1, page 305 as receiving 133 acres on Spring Lick Creek in 1787. The land grants listed in this Index were made by Lord Fairfax prior to the creation of the Virginia Land Office by the Commonwealth of Virginia.

James Morrow appears several times in the Tithable Tax Lists for Botetourt County, Virginia for the years 1770 to 1777.

1783-1786 - Greenbrier County, First Census (First Census, indicating Heads of Families – names taken from tax lists). Names included: James Morrow, Sr., James Morrow, Jr., Samuel Morrow, and James Hanna.

5. James Morrow, Jr. (James Morrow, Sr.), born about 1761 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia. He was first married 8 Mar 1779 in Botetourt County Virginia to Margurite Mahan daughter of Patrick Mahan. She died before 1791 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia.

They had the following children:

7. James Morrow, born about 1780. He married 8 Apr 1800 Polly Ludington. He was married a second time to Mary Hollingshead.

James Morrow, Jr. was married a second time 10 July 1791 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia to Jane Luddington daughter of Esau Ludington. She was born in 1771 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia. James died 10 Nov 1821 in Jackson County, Ohio. Jane died 16 May 1839 in Jackson County, Ohio.

They had the following children:

8. Mary Morrow, born in 1796. She married 29 Dec 1811 in Gallia County, Ohio to William Reed son of Downey Reed and Elsey DeHart. He was born 31 Aug 1787. He died 26 Oct 1838 in Jackson County, Ohio. Mary died 30 Oct 1861 in Jackson County, Ohio.

12. Samuel Morrow, born 10 May 1801 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia. He married 23 July 1826 to Affie Mirack. He was married a second time on 24 Aug 1838 to Delilah Davis. He died 19 Nov 1874.

14. Thomas Morrow, born 28 Feb 1806 in Greenbrier County, West Virginia. He married about 1828 to Matilda Snook daughter of John Snook and Nancy Brion. She was born 17 May 1807 in Maryland. Thomas died 20 June 1855 at Barnes City, Mahaska County, Iowa. Matilda died after 1885 at Barnes City, Mahaska County, Iowa. This is our Thomas Morrow who is the subject of this book. In the first edition of this book it was stated that Thomas Morrow was born in Jackson County, Ohio. However, the obituary of his brother, Andrew Morrow, states that his parents moved to Jackson County, Ohio in 1810. Therefore, his birth would have been in Greenbrier County, West Virginia, where they were living at that time. Also the 1850 Census of Jackson Twp., Fountain Co., IN states his birth was in Virginia.

17. Andrew Morrow, born 8 Feb 1814 in Vinton County, Ohio. He married 27 Sept 1835 to Sarah Dill who survived him. He died 20 Jan 1895 at his home in Modale, Harrison County, Iowa. Andrew had 16 children, 14 boys and 2 girls. Shortly after his marriage Andrew Morrow and wife moved from Vinton County, Ohio to Jackson County, Ohio almost six miles west of the town of Jackson. After residing there several years they moved to Pike County, Ohio, residing there until 1857 when they moved to Iowa and settled in Page County. In 1860 they moved to Mills County, Iowa and in 1868 moved to Cass County, Nebraska. After a few years residence in Nebraska, they moved to Harrison County, Iowa and for the last 10 years of his live Andrew lived in Modale, Iowa.

The above is taken from a letter from Gene Chatfield, Eaton, Ohio (who is descended from Susannah Morrow, and a letter from Dorothy King, Matheson, Colorado (who is descended from Andrew Morrow). The obituary of Andrew Morrow. Also from data extracted from rootsweb.com and from ancestry.com on the Internet.

The following is taken from the Old Northwest Genealogical Quarterly Vol 9. This is part of a sketch of the life of Jeremiah Morrow, first representative to congress from Ohio, United States Senator and Governor.

NAME - RACE - FAMILY

The name Morrow is a modification of the Scotch surname Murray, an older form of which is Moray. In many Morrow families, both in Ireland and in America, there are traditions that the name was formerly Murray or Moray. In the family of the subject of this sketch, the name was changed from Murray to Morrow in this country not long before the Revolution. In other families the same change appears to have been made at an earlier date and in Ireland. It is therefore impossible to trace all the Morrow families to a common ancestor. Morrow may be said, however, to be a Scotch-Irish name — an Irish twist to Murray — most of the old Protestant families of this name having been at some period residents of Ulster in Ireland, to which province they passed over from Scotland. The absence of the name from old records and indexes indicates that it is not an ancient one. With its present orthography it is believed to be not more than two hundred and fifty years old.

Morrow is an uncommon surname both in England and Scotland, and in Ireland it is not found in the south and west but is frequently met with in the northern counties where there are many descendants of Scotch families. These facts strengthen the view that the name originated among the Scotch of the North of Ireland. In America it is found wherever the Scotch-Irish have penetrated. At the beginning of the twentieth century, among the large cities of the world, as appears from their directories, the largest number of Morrows were found in the twin cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny, where there were 211; next was Philadelphia with 125, while in London, England, there were but three. The name does not occur in the National Dictionary of British Biography, containing 27,195 names, and in Phillips's Great Index to Biographical References, containing over 100,000 names, there is but one Morrow, the subject of this sketch. In modern geography the name is given to nine localities, all in America. Morrow County in Ohio was named in 1848 in honor of Governor Morrow.

The Scotch-Irish began to immigrate to Pennsylvania in large numbers about 1719. They were the descendants of the Scotch settlers introduced into the North of Ireland by James I and Comwells. The Scotch-Irish in Ulster was Scotch-men living in Ireland. The name does not indicate a mingling of blood. So far as race is concerned there was nothing Irish about them. The Scotch-Irish became a strongly marked race because they lived in their new home in Ulster surrounded by dangers and engaged in a constant warfare with a people whose lands had been confiscated. They lived among a people alien in blood, religion and language.

They were men of grit, enterprise and energy. If they were sometimes harsh, reckless and headstrong, they were still a people of singular bravery, probity, piety and love of learning. Macaulay describes the colonists of Ulster at the time of the famous siege of Londonderry, as superior to their kindred in the mother country both as militiamen and jurymen and above the average level in knowledge, energy and perseverance. According to Bancroft the first voice publicly raised in America to dissolve all connection with Great Britain came from Scotch-Irish Presbyterians. "There is no better breed of men to be found anywhere in the world," says Prof. John Fiske. From this race in America came Andrew Jackson, John C. Calhoun and Horace Greeley.

Among the Scotch and Scotch-Irish emigrants who came to Pennsylvania were small clusters of families of a sect called Covenanters, because they asserted that the Solemn League and Covenant of their forefathers was binding upon them. Their presbytery in Scotland took the name of the Reformed Presbytery to indicate that they were Reformation Presbyterians and to emphasize their adjuration of popery and prelacy. They were sometimes styled Cameronians after Richard Cameron, one of their field preachers who was killed in 1680. They were known as Mountain people because in times of persecution they had fled to the Mountains to worship secret places. They were denominated Old Presbyterians because they held to the faith and practice of the most ancient form of Presbyterianism.

The above first, second, third and fourth generations for Roy Thurman was received too late to be included in the main body of the Thomas Morrow Genealogy. It was received by Diane Louise Willard (granddaughter of Roy Thurman). It corrects an error or two in the main body of the book and is continued here. This is not complete, but contains data not recorded earlier.

These four pages will not be found in the index.
