Dust to Dust.

"Dearest Nosey," were the words that brought sorrow to the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Nichols, passed from earthly to eternal bliss, on March 1st, in Stanton, Va., aged 18 years. She had been absent from home for more than two years, pursuing her studies at a finishing school in Pennsylvania, and her early return was joyful to those who mourned her untimely death. Many were struck with grief at the news of her death, and the warm Southern breeze that once kissed her cheek will grow cold ere it visits a region over her last resting place. She stood, just where the book she loved one is placed, and the sun shone bright in the silence of the tomb, as her cheerful voice is heard no more, that her cheerful voice is heard no more, that the earth now rests in peace, and the spirit eternal.

Leaves here at the north wind's breath, and who death all those we have consol'd in life. The silence, the tomb, and the earth now rests in peace, and the spirit eternal.

And stars to set, but all those we have consol'd in life. The silence, the tomb, and the earth now rests in peace, and the spirit eternal.
Dust to Dust.

"DIED THIS MORNING," were the words that flashed across the wires on Friday last, bringing sorrow to the hearts of a family circle in Bastrop.

JESSIE, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nichols, passed from earth to a home of eternal bliss, on March 1st, in Staunton, Va., aged 18 years.

She had been absent from home more than two years, pursuing her studies at "Staunton Female Seminary," and her early return was joyfully anticipated by those who now mourn her untimely death. Many weeks of intense suffering were allotted unto her, but, she was tenderly cared for by kind friends who, in vain, to woo her back to life—she sleeps peacefully, far from the home of her childhood—yet, among the graves of her kindred, and the warm, Southern breeze that once kissed her cheek, will grow cold, ere it wails a requiem o'er her last resting-place.

She stood, "just where the brook and river meet" with life all before her, and we can scarcely realize, that her familiar face will be seen among us no more, that her cheerful voice is hushed in the silence of the tomb; yet, we have the consoling thought that she has consecrated her young life to Him, who has ordered this dispensation, and who doeth all things well.

Weeping brothers and sisters, stricken parents, thy loved one is "safe in the arms of Jesus," and will await your coming, in the beautiful land where no sorrow can blight, and no parting is known.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set: but all,

Died.

On the 22d June, of Dysentery, after an illness of five days and nights, little JESSIE, only child of William H. and Betty Rout, of Stanardsville, Greene County, Va.

We saw little Jessie, when, like the tender rosebud, she began to bloom with attractiveness, beauty and loveliness. But, like the tender bud, nippt by the untimely frost of autumn, we saw her when disease was pressing upon her lovely form—when death had fastened his ruthless fangs in her tender vitals—when breaking her last, while the smiles of the Saviour beam'd on her glassy eyes, and playd upon her pallid cheeks—a time when those eyes were closed in death, and the spirit released from earth, and borne by angel couriers, was escorted to the bosom of the Saviour, there to bloom in immortality and live forever. And we paused and asked the question, Is it well with the child? Inspiration answered, It is well! 2 Kings, 4, 20; Mark 10, 14.

"The fairest flowers bear the soonest fade." How often are we impressed with this sentiment by the early death of the loveliest of the domestic circle. Perhaps it is because they are gone from us forever, but as it is, the bereaved parents always think and feel that the most precious—yes, the very firstling of the flock has been taken in sacrifice. Well, be it so. Is not the Great Shepherd entitled to the best offerings from his own fold? Is it not especially his prerogative to gather the precious lambs, and to carry them in his own bosom? Then let not the grieving parents murmur against Providence, or disconsolately repeat, "Why, O why?" but as in the spirit of grateful resignation, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." For "it is well with the child," very well, exceedingly well, and eternally well with the child. May the bereaved parents be consol'd with this assurance, and make all the more preparation to meet their lovely, angel girl in the better world, where she waits to welcome them into everlasting life.

On the 16th inst., at Stanardsville, JESSIE LEWIS, daughter of Wm. and Elizabeth L. Rout, aged 7 months and 24 days.

Died—In Bastrop, on Sunday morning, 3d instant, of congestion of the brain, Garland, son of J. R. and Josephine F. Nichols, aged 8 years.

Jesse L. Garth.

Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend the funeral from his residence to meet at the evening at four o'clock.

Bryan, Texas, March 15, 1888.

Mrs. Lorrie M. Garth, nee Yancey, died on the 19th of April, 1888, at the residence of her son, Junius B. Garth, Greene county, Va., in her seventy-fifth year.

For nearly fifty years she was the devoted and honored wife of Thomas G. Garth, Esq., who died the 25th of July, 1874. She leaves nine children, with many relatives and friends, to mourn their loss. But they sorrow not as those without hope. During her last brief and severe illness, she was enabled, by faith in the Saviour of sinners, to triumph over the fear of death and resign herself to the will of a covenant-keeping God, to whose service she was dedicated by baptism in early infancy. She exhibited her children so to live as to meet her in heaven.

FAMILY RECORD.

Mrs. Richard Yancey

Mrs. Lucy Garth Yancey departed this life Wednesday, Feb. 23, 1878, at her home in Barbourville, where she had been living the day that she married. Mrs. Yancey was the widow of the late Richard Yancey, who preceded her to the grave about 20 years ago.

Mrs. Yancey was about five years old. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Durrett of Barbourville and one brother, Mr. J. B. Garth of Geer. She was for years a member of the Barbourville Methodist church. To know this lovely woman was to love and admire her. She made friends wherever she went; and her long life was spent in usefulness and serving others.

The body was tenderly conveyed to the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. George Thursdays, March 1. Burial was Friday afternoon. She was laid to rest beside her deceased parents in the cemetery at Geer. The services were conducted by Rev. J. R. Askew, and the undertaking was arranged by Mr. W. H. Hannon.

OBITUARY.

From the 6th August, 1878, at the residence of his father, Henry Garth, in the city of Geer, where he lived and died. He was a member of the Methodist church of Geer, and was active in community affairs. He was a kind and generous man, and his death was mourned by many.

The family and friends of the late Richard Yancey are deeply grieved at his sudden death. He was a kind and generous man, and his death was mourned by many.

OBITUARY

Deaths on the 6th August, 1861, at the residence of his parents, in Green County, the only known relatives of the late Lewis L. and Louisa M. Garth, in the 19th year of age.

He was a young man, possessing many valuable qualities, as a son, brother and friend, and his death is a great loss to the community where he lived and died. He has performed a noble work in the church, which will be hard to fill. He was true to his motto, "pride and duty," and was a fine, sturdy and intelligent youth, loved by all who knew him. He was a true friend, and has left a widow and orphaned parents, and will be missed in the community and felt as a loss in the family of his country. He was a good soldier and a fine boy, and is mourned by all who knew him. His death was sudden, but his life was spent in usefulness. His parents and friends have a right to feel proud of him, and to feel that his life was well spent. He was a good and true man, and his death is a loss to the community. He was a good man, and his death is a loss to the community. He was a good and true man, and his death is a loss to the community.
OBITUARY

Jesse Leighton Garth.

In an all-wise Providence, Brazos Union Lodge, No. 129, Free and Accepted Masons, his last, in the death of J. L. Garth, one of its best and trusted members. No one of our number was more regularly at his post, or performed more faithfully his fraternal vows than he. Our brother was a native of Greene County, Virginia. Came to Texas before the war, was among the first to enroll in the Confederate service, as a member of the "Terry Rangers." He taught school some years in Bastrop county before coming to Bryan, in the year 1868. He immediately became identified with the interests of the town, as a lumber dealer.

In our brother's death, which occurred at his home in Bryan, March 15th, 1888, in his fiftieth year of his age, our town has lost one of its best citizens.

Jesse Leighton Garth was a true Mason, a good man, a faithful citizen and an affectionate husband and father.

Mr. Garth was married September 4th, 1879, to Miss Fannie J. Rogers. This estimable lady survives him, with two children, to mourn his loss.

As such we mourn his loss, and extend our sincerest sympathies to the bereaved family of our deceased brother, to whom:

Resolved, That a copy of this expression be sent.

2. Resolved, That a copy be furnished the Brazos Pilot for publication, and

3. Resolved, That a page of our record book be dedicated to the memory of our brother, with this report thereon.

ESTIMABLE LADY DIES IN TEXAS

Mrs. Josephine Nichols was a native of Greene—Went to Texas in 1846.

At 11:15 Saturday night, Jan. 15, Mrs. Josephine Frances Nichols passed away peacefully at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie B. Hudgens, in Greenville, Texas. The funeral services at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon were largely attended and the floral offerings were beautiful.

Mrs. Nichols was born June 4, 1829, in Greene county, and was the eldest daughter of the late Thomas G. Garth, one of the leading citizens of Albermarle county. She was married to James R. Nichols and they went to Texas in 1849 and settled in Bastrop. Nine children were born to this union and all were reared in Texas and of whom five still survive: Mrs. B. F. Hudgens and E. L. Nichols, of Smithville, Tex.; Mrs. Fannie B. Hudgens and Col. Joseph F. Nichols, of Greenville, Tex.; and Dr. John R. Nichols, of Austin, Tex. Several of these children were here a few years ago visiting their numerous relatives. Three sisters and two brothers—Misses Portia B. and Texas Garth of near Geer, this county; Mrs. Lucy Yancey, near Barboursville, Messrs. J. B. and Yancey, Garth, of Geer.

The Greenville (Texas) Banner of Monday, January 19, pays this high tribute to this most estimable lady:

"Mrs. Nichols mental faculties were remarkably strong and unimpaired and her eyesight splendid despite her advanced age and weakened physical condition. She kept abreast with the times up to last December when her last illness began, and she had a rich store of knowledge from experience and from reading. She was highly educated and during her young ladyhood attended the Presbyterian church. ""During the last ten years of her life she began to study the Scriptures to solve certain doubts she always had... She read many valuable works, and reread them, and was thoroughly convinced and when she was convinced she was ready to go. She said 'that there is more on one page of the Bible than in all the literature of the ages.'"

MRS. JOSEPHINE F. NICHOLS DEAD

A PROMINENT LADY AND PIONEER PASSED AWAY LAST SATURDAY.

At 11:15 Saturday night, Jan. 17, Mrs. Josephine Frances Nichols passed away peacefully, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie B. Hudgins, on Henry Street.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, conducted by Dr. E. W. Addison and burial in East Mount cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, and the floral offerings were beautiful. The pall bearers were: C. A. Jones, George Leavy, Ellis Hurd, Tom Hunt and C. J. M. Smith.

Mrs. Nichols was born June 4, 1839, in Green County, Va., and was the eldest daughter of Thomas G. Garth, one of the leading citizens of Albemarle County.

She married her husband, James R. Nichols and they came to Texas in 1848 and settled in Bastrop. Nine children were born to this union all born and reared in Texas and six of five still survive: Mrs. B. F. Hudgins and L. R. Nichols of Smithville, Tex.; Mrs. Fannie B. Hudgins and Col. Joseph E. Nichols and Mrs. J. R. Nichols of Austin. Three sisters and two brothers live in Virginia.

Mrs. Nichols' mental faculties were remarkably keen and untarnished, and her eyesight splendid despite her advanced age and weakened physical condition. She kept alive until the last December when her last illness began, and she had a rich store of knowledge from experience, and from reading. She was highly educated and during her young days had attended the Presbyterian church.

During the last ten years of her life she began to study the Scriptures and solve certain doubts she always had. She read many valuable works, and revered them and was thoroughly convinced, and when she was convinced, she was ready to go. She said that there is "no part of the Bible than in all the literature of the age."

Mrs. Nichols had been confined to her room, or to the house for a number of years. Her last illness began last November and at varied periods she would rally and then become ill again, until she peacefully passed away. She comes from the Lewis and Vance families in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, and possessed that fortitude and strength of character for which they are noted. When Texas was seeking for admission to the Union there was great political turmoil and people much excited, and on an important occasion, at a great public demonstration, the states being represented by young ladies Mrs. Nichols, a young lady of sixteen years, represented the Republic of Texas, and was costumed for the "Blue Star" seeking admittance and companionship with the others. She was identified with the growth of Texas during most of her long life. She was always interested in her local affairs, and in the city, and the family have a sincere sympathy of the entire city in the loss of this noble Christian woman.
