Genealogical Record of the Hufffield Family This, is intended for a rough sketch of the Duffield family, to be filled around by such members, as shall desire to place any facts therein, after it is completed, return to Thomas J. Duffield who resides at 1506 Palmer st. 18th flour

When a clean Copy will be made by the original compiler, from which the other members of the family, can take Copies for their own use.

Should any spaces now filled, or left apart to be filled, not be sufficiently large, note the numbers, and make the entries under a corresponding number in the back, where such note will be inserted in its proper place.

The plan adopted of numbering the different branches, and members thereof, Explains itself, as it is very easy to trace back to the Source.

It is particularly desirable that member of the different branches of the family still living, will bring down their genealogical record to the present time.

Viz. - Henry at one time was a member of family of Duffield.

Viz. From statistics furnished by Dr. Ruffel, resident of Chicago, who repsents the celebrated Assail, I find that Benjamin Ruffel tho the founder of the family in the U. States, and his wife Susanna had children in all 15 his Rf, will only designate 5 it would follow that at least 1 number left out would occasion great difficulties in tracing the family connection as I firmly believe the name of Ruffell are descendants of Benjamin below is their Names

Viz. Susanna - Born Jan. 22, 1688

The Duffield Family

Coat of Arms: Shown Or between three Clover (or Marshals) on a field Sable.

1. Benjamin Duffield, the founder of this family in the United States, was the son of Robert and Bridget Duffield of England, was born in 1661, married early a daughter of Arthur Watts of England, named Elizabeth. He was by occupation a farmer, and soon after his marriage he emigrated to the United States, then the colonies of America, and landed at Burlington, in the now state of New Jersey, in the year 1679. (History of Burlington and Mooreland.) He became the possessor of a fine property in Philadelphia, to which city he moved from Burlington, and a fine estate near Philadelphia, consisting of tracts of land in Lower Dublin, Mooreland, Burlington, — over 1000 acres in extent, which was called Newfields, or rather the Mooreland property was so styled, he died in 1741, and was buried at Christ Church Churchyard, corner of Fifth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, where his tombstone can be seen at this time, 1867.

His children, as living at his death, were Prof. Hinmanley of the College of Philadelphia.

Edward—Edward was born in 1720, married Mrs. Catherine Perry, the Miss Perry, a daughter of Judge Smith of South Carolina. He was a member of the American Philosophical Society, also a Commissioner to issue colonial paper currency, a specimen of which, is on exhibition in his signature, at Independence Hall, Philadelphia. He was one of those charged with the erection of the Walnut Street Prison, (now torn down), which stood at the South east corner of depth and Walnut Streets, running down depth to Locust. He was imprisoned in this building by the British, when they took possession of Philadelphia. He was a man of much talent, and was noted for his scientific and literary pursuits. He is said to have made the first watch, from the raw materials ever made in Pennsylvania, and some of his clocks, among which is the one in Lower Dublin Academy, are yet (in 1867) to be seen in the vicinity. He associated with such men as Kennedy, Rittenhouse, and Franklin, the latter of whom, was most intimate with him, and made him one of the executors of his will. He died in 1803, aged 73, and was buried at All Saints Church yard, near the Moreland Homestead. It is traditionally asserted that the first consultation by Jefferson and others, respecting the Declaration of Independent was held at Edward Cowllers house. He decided for a long time at the North & West Corner of 2nd and Market Stret, where he carried on the business of clock and watch making, and placed the first double faced clock ever used in Philada. upon this house. He had seven children

11 Benjamin of 9
Benjamin was born in 1763, and rebecca Potter was educated at the College of Philadelphia, where in 1771 he received the degree of master of arts. He studied medicine with Dr. John Redman, and in 1775 went to Edinburgh and completed his education. On his return he married Rebecca Potter, daughter of John Potter of Pottsgrove. In 1793 while the yellow fever was raging Philada, he had charge of the Hospital on Rush Hill. He was the author of diverse poems, and was a member of the American Philosophical Society. He was a warm friend of Judge Iredell, one of the first Associate judges of the Supreme Court of the United States. He was also the first Professor of Obstetrics in this country. He lived in Front Street below Schmidt on the east side, the 3rd floor from...
Squire, the house is still standing in 1869. He died in 1799, leaving five children.

   He was a cultivated gentleman of the Old School, and devoted his time to study and agriculture.
   He died in 1837, and to the lasting disgrace of the grown members of this branch of the family of that time, this fine old homestead was allowed to pass from them, into the hands of Mr. John Murray, a wealthy divinity stable keeper, who still resides upon it. Many of the family relics disappeared at the time of his death, among them a portrait of Benj. Franklin, painted from life by Benj. West. This portrait was afterwards sold among the effects.

The above named Thomas the father of these was doing a flourishing state on the estate he inherited from his father Jacob Duffield at the breaking out of the Revolutionary War he left his lucrative business to join in the struggle for independence losing in many important battles on land and on board the Savannah the Sally during an engagement from which recall he was taken prisoner and put on board the British Prison Ship then lying in New York Harbor to add further misery to his position as he was prior and prime of one of the guns of the Big Sally and carrying about him a large horn of powder during this engagement was blown up by the carbograph or corrodium of one on board, stepping behind him and firing off his musket a flash from the slant of which entered the underneath horn of powder recovering from this and regaining his freedom at the close of the war he returned home to find his well filled estate that he had lost at the breaking out of the war, almost totally obliterated his the business of farming.

Abraham Truett, of No 3.  [See page 146]  Born Sept 26th 1753.  Died Jan 3rd 1836 aged 83 years.

He married Hannah Wilmoreton who was born May 28th 1716 and died April 25th 1825, both buried at West Oxford.  They had but one child Thomas T. Truett.

The above Abraham Truett took an active part in the defense of the Revolution and was one of those who stood forth in the defense of his country in his gloomiest days, encountering many severe privations and suffering much loss in the destruction of the greater part of his property.  At the time the British occupied Philadelphia, he was eminently useful to the American cause.  At this time he was a Lieutenant of Cavalry, which with his accurate knowledge of the country enabled him to render efficient service in harassing the enemy parties of supplies.
which made him particularly obnoxious to the Tories and Refugees, among whose party some of his neighbors. On one occasion a party came out on the night for the purpose of capturing him at his dwelling, which was happily frustrated by a friend who heard their approach, and knowing their object gave him sufficient notice to escape with his clothes in his hands. Being foil'd in their principal intention, his remaining property became the object of their vengeance and plunder. They invaded the privacy of his wife's chamber and jab'd their bayonets through the bed in which she lay, while others slaughtered the cow and calves in the stable. Subsequently he was promoted to a Major.

The relations of life were beloved and esteemed by all who knew him. During the second war with Great Britain, due to those patriotic impulses which so eminently distinguished his Revolutionary Side, he raised and commanded a company of Artillery. Subsequently he was chosen to the command of a Regiment which he held with honor during the war. He was solicited to accept a Generalship but which he refused. Colonel Rufffield held several distinguished civil and political offices during his life all of which he filled to the satisfaction of the public and with honor to himself.

Old Rufffield had the honor to receive and entertain at his private residence in Frankfort General Lafayette who, in the summer of 1824, at the invitation of Congress, again visited the United States.

He was everywhere received with the utmost delight and in passing through Frankfort Triumphal arches were erected and fine ladies strewed his path with flowers.

He was a Physician as good, practical.

In the summer of 1863, when the fears of Martial excitement were great and universal, I was at the intelligence that the fields were again invaded by the soil. Pennsylvania, Henry Clay Comly, impelled by that patriotic spirit which grated almost every one, old and young, joined the 2nd Regiment of Blue Reserves which was then forming and marched under the call of the Governor of the State (Gen. Curtin) for troops to repel the invaders. This Regiment was under the command of Col. Bowyer and was mustered into the service of the United States for the Department of the Susquehanna to serve during the emergency, and was immediately thrown to the front to reinforce the weary troops of General Meade and to support the pickets on the right wing of the force assembled to protect the Capital.

Through the privations and exposures incident to camp life and a Soldier's duty, Harry, who was a delicate constitution, contracted a cold which was the cause of his death.

John Duffield enlisted himself as a private in Capt. C.B. Bulkeley's Company (E) attached to the 1st Regiment of Massachusetts Infantry, on the 25th day of May 1861 to serve three years. The Regiment was one that composed the first three years troops that were called and was attached to Gen. Wool's Brigade.

He did not accomplish this enrolment however without difficulty, being obliged with persistent importance to offer himself to three different organizations before he was accepted, owing to the long drawn accident of a siege of one house.

Although becoming partially disabled by a rupture received in carrying with others heavy logs to build a magazine found on duty at the siege of Yorktown and was one of those who composed the adovance guard on the attack of the Rebel fortification. He was on guard guard on the night of the Battle of Williamsburg and was in the front of Battle the following day being engaged from 8 A.M. until 3 P.M. when General Harney came to their relief with reinforce ment.

She was on guard duty at "Bulle's Ferry" on the Potomac opposite the Rebel batteries during the Winter of 1861 and his Regiment was the first to plant its colors on their fortifications, and was the only Regiment engaged with the Rebel at "Black Grass Point" the night before the Battle. of Bull Run No.1 and suffere severely from an AmbroSIDE and Massive bloody, and after the battle found a part of the rear guard and was the last to leave the Battleground as a Regiment.

From Exposure to wet and cold he became a Victim to Rheumatic, which with other disabilities, obliged him to leave the service and returned to the hospital at Ansbury for duty, and after being in hospitals at Williamstot, Newport, New and also in Henry, Baltimore he was finally honorably discharged for Disability.

Scanner & Transcriber's Notes

Up to this point, the pages in this PDF are presented in order of appearance in the hand-written original.

Page 31 has been scanned twice, as a paragraph contained on a strip of paper was inserted by gluing it to the page, thereby covering the writing beneath it. The writing on this strip of paper has been included on the first scan. This strip of paper has been folded up to reveal the writing beneath it on the second scan.

Between pages 50 and 51, an entire page of lined paper, with writing on both sides, has been inserted by taping it to Page 51. It is unnumbered.

The original ends on page 53, whereupon the booklet was turned over and six pages of writing were entered at the back of the booklet. These pages start on the back page and number backwards from 88 through 83. These six pages are presented in this PDF in the order they were written and supposed to be read. Therefore, on the next few pages, these numbers appear upside-down and at the bottom of the pages.

Pages 54 through 82 of the hand-written original are numbered, but are blank and therefore have not been included in this PDF. There are tape marks on pages 80 and 81, suggesting pages may have been inserted there at some point.

For the past six decades, the hand-written original has been in the safekeeping of Betty Cox Scott of Charlottesville, Virginia, and her brother, Harry Duffield Cox of Portsmouth, Virginia. I had the honor and pleasure of meeting these lovely individuals in July of this year. They gave the original to me for the purpose of scanning and transcribing it before delivering it to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. Anyone wishing to examine the hand-written original may do so at the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Le Duffield, Duffield or Duffield Of Ripon and Leicesale, co. York. This family is of great antiquity in the county of York. The name itself is local and derived from the township Duffield, about ten miles from the city of York. We trace the existence of this family as early as the reign of King Edward II, when Richard le Duffield was bailiff of York, having served that honorable office in the year 1315. One of the family was at this period an ecclesiast since we find that Nicholas le Duffield was instituted to the Rectory of Belton Percy, Yorkshire in 1327, having in that year succeeded Robert de Byngham who held that prebend for about four years. In 1348 Thomas le Duffield discharged the duties of Bailiff of York, and in 1372 Robert le Duffield held the same office. In the Church of St. Saviour's, York was the following inscription in black letters, Ocate pro anima Robert le Duffield et pro Anima Helenae vocat quis. It is easy to account for not being able now to discover the epitaph, when it is stated that some years ago several persons were erected in St. Saviour's Church, at which time the pulpit was carried back nearer to the altar rails.
A memorandum book kept by the Sexton has the following entry "Gentle Duffield, under the pulpit." In the 11th year of the reign of Henry IV 1410 Ralph Duffield or Duffield died seised of the Manor of Belton near York as parcel of the Manor of Kaskelf and of lands in Galtree Forest called Northurn and of other property in Yorkshire.
Richard Duffield died, 3 Henry V. Seized of an estate in York. Among the probate of estates 1415 is one of Thomas Duffield, son and heir of Richard Duffield. Thomas Duffield died 16 Henry VI. 1430 seized of Holton as parcel of the manor of Paskell. Elizabeth Duffield widow of Thomas Duffield died 17 Henry VI. Cardinal Kemp, Archbishop of York, seems to have patronized the family since William Duffield, who held Hall in the collegiate churches of Beverley and Southwell was on the 3rd of May 1433 collated to the Prebend of Eyestone in the churches of York and in 1434 was admitted to the Archdeaconry of Cleveland vacant at the time by the death of William Pelteson.

Archdeacon Duffield is mentioned in the “White Book” in possession of the Chapter of Southwell, for the support of the fabric of which church he was a benefactor.

In 1438, the Archdeacon died and his will was proved 11th of March in that year. He gave his soul to God Almighty St Mary and all Saints and his body to be buried in the Cathedral Church of York before the altar where they celebrate the Mass of St. Mary. He bequeathed to John Duffield, Esquire, his brother £20 towards his sustenance, and to his Kinsman William and John Duffield £10 each. The Duffields enjoyed great privileges connected with the Forest of Caltree above-referred to since certain rights were confirmed to them by one of the English Sovereigns.

In speaking of the rights established to one of the family it is stated “et quae post in eadem foresta remanet capes, sulpes, lepores &c. cum aliis amplius liberavitibus quae sunt consuetudines Johni Larderard in unicu ministro duo de Lardario et Cadern pertinere tenendis de Nige in capite”. Anciently a toll was levied for which guides were supplied to conduct persons and their cattle through the forest of Caltree and defend them from wild beasts & robbers. Caltree Forest extended from York to Acllston about six miles from Ripon in the neighborhood of which city the Suffield family continued to possess property.

Entries relating to them are to be found in the oldest register books belonging to Ripon Cathedral. The name is spelt in various ways in the different register books: Suffold, Sufffield, Sufffield, Suffield, and Suffield. Members of the family are described as inhabitants of Granby Munston and de Wykeley within the parish of Ripon. One of the Suffields of Granby is registered in in the Heralds Visitations of the Co. of York made in 1666 as having married Mary daughter of James Kirby Everard. Mary Suffield's brother was steward to Algernon Percy Earl of Northumbella and Secretary to Oliver, Lord Grandison, and Mary Suffield's sister, Margaret, is stated to have been "wife of — Speare of — Hardinger to the Prince of Leign." In a record marked "Arms A page 57" non-remaining in the Ulster Office of Arms, the right to the ancient arms of the family was duly entered as belonging to Thomas Suffield of Ripon who was baptized 28th of November 1741. He was grandson of Francis Suffield of Ripon Park whose great grandfather Triestam Suffield was buried in the Parish Church of Kirkby Malgearde near Ripon. Thomas Suffield mentioned above married Mary one of the coheiraxes of Matthew Ormson of Avon, her sister Beatrice, having married on the 16th of May 1730 at Kirkby Malgearde. Richard Suffield brother of the said Thomas. This Thomas Suffield died the 22d of April 1752, and was buried at Ripon leaving issue an only son Richard Suffield who married Anne, only daughter of Matthew Darstow of Carlton in Cowerdale. Upon the death the death of her only brother Roger Darstow in 1775, without issue, Anne Suffield became representative of the Carlton branch. of the ancient family of Darston which according to a pedigree officially attested by one of the Herald's was during the reign of William the Conqueror seated at Greytoke in Cumberland. This official pedigree proves the Darstons to have intermarried with the Neville, Scarpes, Greys of Northumberland, Talboys Larsson, Barres, &c. and states that Bertram Darston the grandfather of Sir Roger Darston accompanied Edward the Black Prince to France. By Anne Darston who was married at Overham on the 15th of June 1715, Richard Buffields left two sons Richard Buffields and Matthew Darston Buffields of Carlton in the Parish of Overham Co. of York, the latter of which had issue, Roger Darston Buffields & a daughter.

By deed of Darston Buffields took the name of Darston in addition to and before that of Buffields now is Roger Darston Buffields.
