FOREWORD

The present form and completeness of this volume is due largely to the co-operation of Hon. J. C. Mohler, of Topeka, Kansas, whose generosity in the loan of invaluable records opened the way to making the research of the Pennsylvania Archives and securing the assistance of the several family genealogists.

My work was begun with the idea of establishing the line of John Mohler of Augusta County, Virginia, substantiated by the record of J. L. Mohler of Ephrata, Pennsylvania, back to Ludwig Mohler.

The rest of the Mohler history was a sealed book until the winter of 1920-21. The data recently secured only verified the accuracy of the records found in 1899 in Augusta County, Virginia.

I wish to thank Mr. C. M. Mohler, of Indiana, and Rev. Aaron Gibbel and Rev. Geo. Bucher of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, who have become jointly interested in this compilation of the Ludwig Mohler records; also Judge M. C. Garber, B. A. Garber and others for their co-operation in the collaboration of this work which was begun simply to preserve the records of the Mohler-Garbers of the State of Nebraska.

I am greatly indebted to my University of Nebraska classmate of the Class of ’02—and long time friend—Hon. Addison E. Sheldon, Ph. D., Superintendent of the Nebraska State Historical Society, for advice and assistance in my final research and compilation of records begun in 1897.

INTRODUCTION

Silas Garber was governor of Nebraska from 1875 until 1879. Joseph Garber was a member of the Nebraska Constitutional Convention of 1875. These brothers were pioneers in the first settlement of the Republican Valley region. They were representatives of their section and leaders in the western Nebraska movement which shifted the political and social control of Nebraska from the border counties along the Missouri river westward. Their family history is, therefore, an interesting and important part of Nebraska history. The work of Cora Garber Dunning, daughter of Joseph Garber and niece of Governor Silas Garber, in compiling this pamphlet has been a labor of love and family pride. It has involved a large amount of research and correspondence. The Nebraska State Historical Society has been glad to encourage her and is glad to commend the results of her labor in the form of this monograph.

ADDISON E. SHELDON,

June 20, 1921. Superintendent.

LUDWIG MOHLER AND HIS DESCENDANTS

Covering a period from

April 4, 1696 to May 1, 1921

While searching records in Chicago in 1897, the reading of a sketch of the once famous Weyer's Cave in Augusta County, Virginia, led to the name of J. L. Mohler of Grottoes P. O., Virginia, and resulted in the receipt of the following interesting letter in regard to the family connection.

"Grottoes P. O., Augusta County, Va., August 15, 1898.

"Miss Cora A. Garber,
Red Cloud, Nebraska.

Dear Cousin:

"Your letter received a few days ago and I hasten to reply but fear I cannot give you the desired information. Some five or six years ago one J. L. Mohler, I think from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, visited the Cave (then in my charge but since sold to a company) who gave it the name of Grattoes, though I retained the farm around it. This Mohler having my same initials led me to enquire of him as you have of me, the family connections. When he returned home he sent me his family tree drawn on paper, which I loaned to your grandmother's sister, my aunt, Mrs. Gennie Raynes, then living but now dead, which paper must be with her effects as it was not returned to me. She lived with her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, who lives about twenty miles from here. If I can find this paper I will send it to you, as it gives the family connections from Ludwig Mohler, who first came to this country, naming the vessel he sailed in which I think was the "Thesis" (memory tricked him.) in 1730, who landed in Pennsylvania and from this head came the Mohler family in America, which is quite numerous. I can only give you now in this line what I know personally. My father, who died a few years ago, was Abraham Mohler and was born near where I now live, at Weyer's Cave. He and his brother, Jacob Mohler, were full brothers to your grandmother, Magdaline Mohler Garber, and their father, who died before I was born, was John Mohler, who came to this place from Pennsylvania. When his estate was settled up my Uncle Jacob got the Weyer's Cave and my father, Abraham Mohler, got the farm adjoining it. I knew of Magdaline Garber, Hettie Weade, Sallie Showalter, Ann Fitch, the youngest of all, were my father's sisters. Martin Garber and John Garber, if I am not mistaken, were sons of Magdaline Mohler Garber. Martin was to see us sometime before the war. I don't remember the year, and stayed with us several months. He was not married then, but am not sure—and I suppose you are his or John Garber's daughter. (I am the brother Joseph's daughter).

"As to the Garber family I can't give you any information about them except there are a good many in this County but I am not personally acquainted with any of them, I will try and look up the Mohler family tree and if I find it will send it to you.

"I was born in 1840 and the oldest son of Abraham Mohler, who was born in 1812. I take it that we are cousins and would like to hear from you again. You had best come in to see us and will do all I can to show you around to all our relations and no doubt you will have a pleasant time and learn more about our family connection and perhaps have your name changed also. You have quite a number of relations living in this county on both sides, descendants of Mohlers and Garbers.

"Until I hear from you again I will make inquiry about the paper I spoke of.

"With best wishes, I am, very truly,

Your cousin,

J. L. MOHLER (living yet in 1921).

"P. S. Where did you get my name from?" (Ans. An article on Weyer's Cave found in the Chicago library.)

The above letter paved the way for the visit to Virginia in 1898 that resulted in this manuscript.

This part of the manuscript was secured by Cora A. Garber, nee Dunning, in a visit to Augusta County, Virginia, in 1898 to 1900. It was copied from original records and verified by personal investigation as to accuracy.

The tree mentioned above was found and the following is an exact copy as furnished by J. L. Mohler of Ephrata, Pa., to J. L. Mohler of Grottoes, Va.:

"Ludwig Mohler from the Swiss came with his family to America on the ship Thistle from Glasgow, Aug. 29, 1730. He was born April 4, 1696, and died Jan. 6, 1754—aged 57 yrs., 9 mo., 2 da.

1—Ludwig Mohler
2—Jacob Mohler
3—John Mohler

4—John Mohler (your grandfather—to J. L.—)
4—Daniel Mohler
4—Jacob Mohler (oldest child)
4—Henry Mohler has one daughter living.

3—Martin Mohler moved to Virginia when young.

step brothers to Jacob and sister.

3—Jacob Mohler, 1 sister.

2—Henry Mohler
3—Christian Mohler
3—Henry Mohler
3—John Mohler
3—Jacob Mohler
3—4 sisters.

2—George Mohler
3—3 daughters.

This record was not known to the Virginia line of John Mohler, until the visit to Weyer's cave disclosed the identity of names leading to the family discussion, and the union of the family links from the personal knowledge of the two men of the John Mohler of Pa., who married and settled at Weyer’s Cave, about 1800, connecting the John Mohler, Jr., of 1794-5, of the Pennsylvania Muster Role, and the Conestoga Dunker Church Baptismal record of John Mohler and wife, 1794, with John Mohler at Weyer’s Cave in 1800.

This also corroborated the family legend that John Mohler married in Pennsylvania and moved to Virginia.

The Martin and John, adjoining neighbors, must have been brothers, as this shows two “Johns” living in Cocalico township.

“Ephrata, Pa., April 11, 1921.

“Mrs. M. V. Dunning—In reply to your letter March 3rd, 1921, about tax payers, 1751,—first taxation. Before that time Province collected Quit rent. (Rupp’s history says, page 470): ‘Quit rent, a reserved rent in the grant of land by the Proprietary by payment of which the landholder was freed from other taxes.’

“All I know about Jacob, he was a land joiner to Henry Mohler; about George Mohler—who died at age of 72, Brumbaugh’s History.”

“The baptismal record of the Conestoga district shows: Ludwig Mohler and wife, 1738; Henry Mohler and wife, 1739; George Mohler and wife, 1739; Jacob Mohler and wife, 1742; Henry Mohler and wife, 1751; Jacob Mohler, 1765; Henry Mohler and wife, 1784; Henry Mohler and wife, 1794; John Mohler and wife, 1794.” (Dunker records were never, in early days, accurately kept, so their value is relative.—Commentation.)

“The tax records of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, show:
1751—George Mohler, Henry Mohler, and Jacob Mohler, taxpayers.
1759—Henry Mohler, Sr., Henry Mohler, Jr., and Jacob Mohler.

Very truly yours,
REV. AARON GIBBEL.”

Ludwig Mohler came to America with his three sons.

Ludwig’s family being the only one of the name in Lancaster County, Pa., it follows that George, Henry, and Jacob were the three sons brought to America with him.

Vol. 2, Page 356, Penn. Archives, relative to naturalization of foreigners of Dunker faith in a special list gives "Ludwick Mohler, Henry Mohler, Jacob Mohler admitted to full citizenship Apr. 1, 1761."

This, with the above tax record, goes to show that George Mohler had moved to another locality between 1751 and 1759, as his name never again occurs in records of Lancaster County, Pa.

In searching the Pennsylvania archives at the library at the Capitol building, Lincoln, Nebr., for the muster roll of the organized forces of Lancaster County, Pa., during the period of the Revolutionary War, I find the Mohler men entered the service in 1778, in Captain Smuller's Company (Arch., Series 3, Vol. XXIII, P. 443, "Militia in service in 1779"), in the 3rd Battalion, comprising men between the ages of 18 and 53 years. In the Captain's report, on page 887, of Sixth Series, Vol. V, is recorded:

"Lieutenant John Mohler
Jacob Mohler, 1st Class
Henry Mohler, 3rd Class
John Mohler, 3rd Class
Martin Mohler, 6th Class
John Mohler, 7th Class"

Pages 225, 256, 277, 279, 314, 317, 611, 886, 883, and 887, repeat the names with little variation, except that Andrew Reams (Riehm) became captain of the company and some other slight variation in organization, due to a period of years, took place.

Captain Smuller's Report for 1778, on page 883 Series VI., Vol V., gives:

"Lieutenant John Mohler
Jacob Mohler, 1st Class
Henry Mohler, 3rd Class
John Mohler, 3rd Class
Martin Mohler, 6th Class"

One report, page 314, for 1782 shows:

"Sargent Martin Mohler
Jacob Mohler, 1st Class
Henry Mohler, 3rd Class
John Mohler, 3rd Class
John Mohler, Jr., 3rd Class"

The report for 1789 adds the name of Christian Mohler. The report for 1795, Henry Ream, Cap't, gives:
Christian Mohler
Henry Mohler
John Mohler
Jacob Mohler, Jr.
John Mohler
John Mohler, Jr. (between 18-21).

On page 889, occurs the name of Matheis Mohler, spelled "Mahler" previously in but one report. The report for 1779 shows two Johns.

The sons of Henry were known to be: Christian, Henry, John and Jacob. The sons of Jacob were known to be: John, Martin, and Jacob, by a second marriage, born Oct. 24, 1751. But it is evident from checking the above lists, that John, Henry, and later, Christian, sons of Henry, were on the rolls; and that John and Martin, sons of Jacob, were on the rolls. As there was but one Jacob on the rolls for a series of years, and he a man grown, which Jacob was he?

Rev. Aaron Gibbel, found on the original muster roles, at Lancaster, Pa., for the years 1779-80—1779-80, John Mohler; 1780-81, Henry Mohler; 1780-81, Jacob Mohler; 1779-80, Martin Mohler, 1780, John Mohler; and 1780, John Jr., who must have been a mere boy, for he appears in each report until in that of 1795 occurs "John Mohler, Jr., (between 18-21 yrs.)." Rev. Gibbel also finds: "Matthias Mohler, 1779;"

Now, from all the different sources is found in regard to the "Johns": No trace of a John in Lancaster County, as descended from George, but a Hanes Mohler, 1779, and a Mathies, or Matthias, Mohler, Moller or Mahler, whose names probably were Mahler. There were two known "Johns" and a "John Jr. (between 18-21)".

Who was "John, Jr."? Jacob's son John had a son John, born April 5, 1772; Henry had a son John, whose son John was born Oct. 17, 1786; Jacob's son Jacob had a son John born May 6, 1779. The two last named are debarred from the series 1779 to 1795. Jacob's son John, Henry's son John, and Jacob's grandson John are the only John Mohlers, Jr., who could have been on the role of 1779, reciting the three Johns. The John, Jr., in 1795 described "(between 18-21)"—accuracy makes Jacob's grandson John 23 years old, April 5, 1795; and the baptismal record gives "John Mohler and wife" in "1794";—could have been no other "John" than the one who dropped out from Ephrata, and settled at Weyer's Cave, Va., about 1800.

Who was "Jacob"? All tradition says that Jacob Mohler became an officer in the army and after the war, was completely lost sight of. As to who was Jacob of the service from 1779-95, the letter of J. M. Mohler to his nephew, J. C. Mohler, recites:

“Our grandfather or your great grandfather was Jacob Mohler, born in Lancaster Co., Pa., A. D. 1771, June 30.”

This and J. C.’s tree checks with the tree of J. L. Mohler, used as a basis for checking up Henry’s lineage. The date eliminates this boy from the long service, as Jacob was, at the time of enlistment a man grown. But Ludwig—Jacob’s son Jacob, born in 1751, Oct. 26, was 28 years old at that time, so it could be no other than he.

Now who was “Jacob, Jr. (between 18-21)” of the rolls of 1791-95? Again: Ludwig-Jacob-Jacob’s son John was born May 6, 1779, and his son George, July 12, 1788, the son Jacob (C. M. Mohler’s tree), younger than George, was not of the service of 1791. The only Jacob who could fill the description was the Jacob of the letter quoted, son of Henry.

Thus all the sons of Henry and all the sons of Jacob and Jacob’s grandson John, served the government during the troublous times of the Revolution, though by nature and by religious belief (Dunkard) they were all strictly men of peace. This analysis accounts for every Mohler on the roles of Lancaster County, Pa., from 1779 to 1795.

Analyzing the baptismal record furnished by Rev. Gibbel again:

Ludwig’s son Henry, born 1728, was too young to have been married 1739 (copies of Baptismal record vary and this record may have been replaced or reproduced from memory), but he could have been married according to the record 1751, as he was then 23 years old, and his son Henry was born Oct. 12, 1754. It is likely that Henry was baptized in 1739 and that the good old Elder who made the record simply wrote “and wife” after the name from force of habit. (Yet history shows that boys were married then at fourteen and girls at twelve.) Jacob Mohler, baptized 1765, was very likely the Jacob born in 1751.

Henry Mohler, son of Henry, born Oct. 21, 1754, could have been the Henry Mohler the record shows married in 1784, as his son Henry was born Jan. 14, 1786.

As Ludwig—Henry’s son John Mohler had three sons and nine daughters, the son John, being born Oct. 17, 1786,—the son Henry could have been the one married in 1794.
This analysis of the various members of the Mohler family found on the records of Lancaster County, Pa., and always in the same locality, proves conclusively that the sons of Ludwig Mohler who were with him when he settled there were: Jacob, Henry and George. The record eliminates the son George between 1751-59. It shows further, that all of Henry's sons and all of Jacob's sons and his grandson John, Jr., served in the Revolution in the 3rd Battalion, Lancaster Co. Active Militia.

FAMILY TREE OF JOHN MOHLER OF WEYER'S CAVE, VA.

The love of freedom of speech brought Ludwig Mohler to America. The family throughout its history has always been engaged, through public speaking or private effort, in community and social uplift. The Mohlers were a sturdy race, deeply imbued with the advanced religious ideals of the Swiss. With their tireless energy was united a modesty that forbade them leaving records of their personal achievements and as they lived before the days of much printed matter, tradition and family recital largely preserved their triumphs until they passed into the oblivion of forgetfulness,—as homes melted into passing generations,—leaving but a written skeleton record of the male descendants until the fourth generation beyond the grandsire Ludwig. But the Mohlers in every generation in America have been part and parcel of the brains and brawn that have gone into the development of the locality in which their lots were cast. When the British held Philadelphia the capital was at Lancaster, and the Mohlers lived in the center of Revolutionary activities; and the following quotation also shows them in politics. Harris, "History of Lancaster Co., Pa.," gives: "John Mohler was a member of legislature in year 1801-2." "Samuel Mohler was a member of legislature in year 1827."

1001—Ludwig Mohler, through line of John of Va.

2001—Jacob Mohler, the eldest son of Ludwig, married (1742, baptismal record,) and had issue, two sons, John, and Martin who visited Virginia when young. The mother of these sons died, and by a second marriage there was a son Jacob, b Oct. 24, 1751; d May 26, 1833, buried in Lancaster County, Pa.

3001—John Mohler was probably the oldest son of Jacob. He was in Captain Smuller's Co., 3rd Battalion, Lancaster County, Pa., Active Militia, (Pa. archives, Series VI, Vol. 7, page 887, in 1779,—page 883, in 1778). His issue was four sons: Jacob, John, Daniel, and Henry Mohler, who left one daughter. Only the John line has been followed.

4001—John Mohler, Jr., of Weyer's Cave, Va., was also a member of Captain Ream's company, 3rd battalion, Lancaster county, active militia. He was born near Ephrata, Pa.,

April 5, 1772, served in the Penn. Militia during the war until 1795, was married about 1794, and moved to Virginia, settling in Augusta County, about 1800. He died April 17, 1835, at "Rose Hill", Rockbridge county, Va., while on a visit to his son Jacob's wife. He was buried in Falling Springs churchyard, Rockbridge County, Va.

John Mohler was a man of a cheerful disposition, possessing merry blue eyes, rather light hair, large features, and the air of a man accustomed to prosperity. He always wore drab clothes and rode a gray horse, which he sat with military dignity. He was not a church man, in a strict sense.

He married Magdaline Rinehart in Pa., a woman of great piety, noted for her industry and integrity, and for her beautiful black eyes, delicate features, and charming good nature. For many years she was a consistent member of the Dunker church. She was buried in the Middle River German Baptist or Dunkard Churchyard, in Augusta County, Virginia, in 1853, at the age of 75 years, 10 mo. and 16 das. Her grand-daughter, Martha Barnhart, many years later, erected a marble monument to her memory.

In a hill, on John Mohler's estate, was discovered in 1804, a limestone cavern, named from its finder, Weyer's cave.

Peyton's History of Augusta County, Va., published in 1882, p. 278, thus speaks of "Weyer's cave": "No language can describe the vastness and sublimity of some of the caverns, the exquisite beauty and grandeur of its innumerable apartments with their snowy white concretions of a thousand various forms. It is ranked among the great natural wonders of the world."

Naturally, soon after its discovery, Weyer's cave became one of the wonder spots of young America that attracted travel from both continents. Both scientists and "globe trotters" took their turn at "Weyer's" and the old Mohler mansion was turned into a country inn that was rivalled by none in Virginia in the cosmopolitan character of its guests, and the reputation of its cuisine. These Mohlers were slave holders; the cave and the inn produced abundant revenue and the Mohler family grew famous for the quality of their hospitality.

John Mohler's original home was a large structure of logs, which was abandoned for a commodious brick mansion of twenty-one rooms, as time passed, and the fame of Weyer's cave grew. The misty, dreamy Blue Ridge mountains full of game, the great house with its crackling open fireplaces, and its groaning tables, was indeed a retreat to fly to upon any pretext, for many years after the Civil War. It was the romance of the spot that drew the two J. L. Mohlers together to unite the family about 1895.

Perhaps it would be well at this point to explain the meaning of the numbers used in designating lines of descent. Starting with 1001—for Ludwig Mohler of the first generation—the succeeding thousand numeral indicates the number of the generation, while the final figure gives the order of succession in enumerating the members of each particular family, but does not necessarily denote order of succession in family by birth. It has not been possible to either ascertain or follow the order of birth succession in instances where there has been no actual Bible chronology.
Cora Garber Dunning herself copied the record of the family of John Mohler and Magdaline Rinehart Mohler from the old German family Bible then in possession of his grandson, Dr. Henry Mohler, of Grattoes, Virginia.

“John Mohler and Magdaline Rinehart, had issue as follows:

“Hannah, b Dec. 11, 1800, married Beddows,” (moved to Elkport, Iowa).

5005—“Magdaline, b Dec. 23, 1801, married Martin Garber,” (moved to Bellefontaine, Ohio, then to Elkport, Iowa).

5002—“Jacob, b Jan. 13, 1804, married Jane Grigsby.”

5004—“(Hetty) Hester, b Aug. 4, 1805, married Henry Weade.”

“Elizabeth, b July 3, 1807.”

“Lydia, b July 3, 1809.

5001—“Abram, b Mch. 10, 1812, married Betsy Null.

“John, b Mch. 21, 1814. Died young.

“(Sally) Salome, b April 27, 1816, married Benjamin Showalter.

“Ann, b Sept. 12, 1818, married Erasmus Fitch,” (moved to Elkport, Iowa).

All the women of the John Mohler, the second, line, even down to the year 1921, have been famous for the quality of their cooking. Not only the good old dames Mohler, of the Shenandoah Valley, but also their descendants have ever been famous for their poise of bearing, their charm and innate kindliness, their constructive community interest, and the largeness of their hospitality. Magdaline, as were her sisters, was cared for by her colored “mammy” in her tender years.

The strain of Dunkard religion has left a marked effect upon the character and lives of all the individuals of all generations of this family, whether they adhered to its tenents or not.

So far as is known, no member of either the Mohler or Mohler-Garber families has ever been convicted of crime or confined in an insane asylum. Divorce was unknown for generations, with only a rare case in the present days of marital discontent. This seems to have been the family ideal: “Better endure the ills you have than fly to those you know not of.”
RECORD OF FOUR DESCENDANTS OF JOHN MOHLER, JR.

5001—Abram Mohler was married to Betsy Null, b Sept. 20, 1811.

Upon the death of John Mohler, Abram inherited half of the estate of his father. The brother Jacob inherited the other half, containing the famous Weyer's Cave. Abram, later, acquired the part of the estate with the cave and maintained the family hospitality at the old mansion-house. During his lifetime the cave attained its greatest renown and the old brick mansion rang with merry laughter. But during the Civil War, Stonewall Jackson fought a number of famous battles near the old house and it, with the lawn, was turned into a field hospital where the wounded of both armies were cared for. It was on the line of Sheridan's march and was held by first one army and then the other.

As a hospital camp this was supposed to be a neutral spot, but, be it recorded, that Yankee soldiers entered the cave and did untold damage to that sacred landmark, and partly burned the old house and destroyed much of historic value to the old place. However, Abram Mohler, after the troublous days had passed, rebuilt the mansion with red brick, and it stands today (1900), preserved by J. L. Mohler as one of the beauty spots of the Shenandoah Valley, nesting at the foot of Cave Hill containing Weyer's Cave, soothed in its stately loneliness by the ceaseless babbling of the south fork of the Shenandoah River that frets past its windows, and lulled to peaceful slumber by the mournful call of the melancholy "whip-poor-will" when evening shadows fall.

This family freed their slaves just before the Civil War, sending those who wanted to go, to Ohio, but part of the number remained faithful to their "family" until death claimed them.

The issue of this union was:

6001—John Leonard Mohler, b July 19, 1840.
6002—Margaret Belinda Ann Mohler, b May 23, 1836.
6003—Henry Null Mohler, b July 15, 1844.
6004—Jacob Rinehart Mohler, b Sept. 20, 1847.
Edward Kemper Mohler, b Aug. 20, 1854, d 1881.

Betsy Mohler died Dec. 1, 1891, and her husband, Abram, died July 22, 1892, at Grottoes, Va.

6001—John Leonard Mohler, known as "Len," oldest son of Abram Mohler, never married. He was a man of brilliant parts, a student of the University of Virginia. His life was bound up in the life of Weyer's Cave, through which he acted as guide from his earliest childhood. During the Civil War he was in the Commissary Department of Stonewall Jackson's Army and was not far from the General when he fell. "Len's" colored valet attended "Mars Len" everywhere, even into the army and was shot by a Union bullet about the time Jackson fell.

6002—Margaret Mohler married William Kemper in 1856 and had a daughter, Fannie Kemper, born 1858. William Kemper was killed in battle in the Civil War.

7001—Fannie Kemper married Johnson, a Lieutenant Governor of West Virginia, in 1893, and had no issue.

6003—Dr. Henry Mohler was a college educated man who practiced medicine many years in the community about Weyer's Cave. In 1884 he married Elizabeth Percivale of Lynchburg, who was an accomplished musician. They had no issue.

6004—Jacob Mohler, son of Abram Mohler, was a farmer.
He married Gertrude Hester of Washington, D.C., in 1881. They live in a fine country mansion on a property adjoining the estate of the two brothers named above.

The issue of this line was:

7001—James William Mohler; 7002—Francis Kemper Mohler; 7003—Jacob R. Mohler.

These sons were in the World War in France and are now located in business in Washington, D.C., 1921.

7006—Gertrude Mohler; 7007—Maud Wheat Mohler.

This completes my record of the line of John Mohler of Grottoes or Weyer's Cave, Virginia, except that of the descendants of (5005) Magdaline Mohler Garber, his daughter, who are enumerated under the line of Bishop Levi Garber, whose son Martin she married.
DISCUSSION OF PENNSYLVANIA FAMILY RECORDS

In my research during the winter of 1920-21, I found several Mohlers working on a family record and some confusion in regard to the immediate descendants of Jacob Mohler, who, except his son Jacob, buried in Mohler's Cemetery, had, after the Revolutionary War, dropped out of the Dunkard community in Lancaster Co., Pa. So then I began an exhaustive research in order to secure accurate history of all the early Mohlers, with results previously stated.

The following letter shows the interest taken in this subject by other members of the Mohler family who live in Lancaster Co., Pa. The Pennsylvania Mohlers are all very conservative Dunkards, who live by tradition rather than by public records. The Mohler meeting-house and the Mohler cemetery date back to the days of Ludwig Mohler, and their tenacity of clanship is not broken even through the female lines, and long separation, as this collaborated record of widely separated lines bears witness.

"Lititz, Pa., March 21, 1921.

"Mrs. M. V. Dunning,

"Dear Madam:—In answer to your letter of December 9th, 1920, I went to work to find out what I could, as I have been anxious myself to know of Ludwig Mohler.

"Among all the records I found pertaining to Ludwig Mohler's sons, I found three different family trees. Some give their names as George, Henry and Jacob, others, John, Henry and Jacob. All the baptismal records state that George, Henry and Jacob Mohler were baptized before 1742. The Church record does not state whose sons they were, but we cannot find record of any other Mohlers who were here before that date.

"I remember John L. Mohler well. I visited him often in Ephrata. He was a Deacon of the Church, and I too, so we often came together.

to labor with each other. He had a family tree, and claimed his tree was the best. He died a good many years ago, but was still living in 1898.

"My brother, Cyrus R. Gibbel, of Brunnersville, was present when John L. Mohler of Ephrata met John L. Mohler of Grottos, Virginia. I was in the Weyer Cave (formerly known as Mohler's Cave) three years ago, and brother Cyrus was there later when he visited the old gentleman.

"John L. Mohler, of Ephrata, was married and had two daughters. One was married to S. L. Weaver and has two sons and one daughter; the other remained single. Both are dead. John Weaver, son of S. L. Weaver, took the family tree to the Ohio reunion some years ago, and the Ohio folks got up that blue print, largely from it.

"I saw a book of ship's records lately, of immigrants who landed in Philadelphia, containing upwards of 30,000 names. Under date of October 7th, 1749, I found that Heinrich (Henry) Mohler came to America and landed at Philadelphia. Palatines from Mannheim and Zweibruecken, ship Lesbie, J. Balledium, captain, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, with 450 passengers. August 29, 1730, Palatines with their families, 260 persons, came in ship "Thistle" of Glasgow, Colin Dunlop, Master, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes. Only Ludwig Mohler, the head of the family, registered. Where Henry Mohler, who came to America in 1749, settled I do not know.

"You asked about Ludwig Mohler's estate. We have looked over the records in Lancaster City, but found none. On making a deeper search we could find no record that Ludwig Mohler ever owned any real estate. His son, Henry, however, got his first Land Patent or Deed from the Penns in 1735. That was five years after they came to America. In 1745, he took his second Land Patent or Deed. In hunting up records, we find that a good many of the immigrants did not take up land, but their sons did. Looking back we often imagine that they were well fixed financially, but we find in many cases that the reverse is true.

"Who has Ludwig Mohler's old family Bible I do not know. I have made search as far as I could, but have not found any trace of it. Only by tradition I learn that John Mohler, of Ephrata, is living in this house where the original Ludwig Mohler is said to have lived.

"As to the Conestoga Church District about which you inquired, it was at first one-half of eastern part of Lancaster County. Now it is divided into smaller districts. The Elders, or Bishops, keep the baptismal records.

"I asked one of the County Commissioners, and he said they have records of the first taxpayers in Lancaster County. I will find out from these the names of the Mohlers and their dates.

"Very truly yours,

"REV. AARON GIBBEL."

At this point the record returns to the tree furnished by J. L. Mohler of Ephrata, Pa. (he of the letter), about 1895:
"1—Ludwig Mohler

  3003—half brother Jacob.
  3004—Half sister.
  3003—Jacob No. 2, had issue one son, (4001) Jacob,
    and one daughter,” (end of this record).

The Blue Print furnished by Hon. J. C. Mohler of Kansas shows:

"1—Ludwig Mohler
  2—Jacob Mohler
    3—Jacob, b Oct. 26, 1751; d Mch. 26, 1833—age

          1866—age 78 yrs., 5 mo., 10 da., (ends record).

The tree furnished by Rev. Geo. Bucher of Quarrysville,

—27—
The tree furnished by Rev. Aaron Gibbel states:

"1—Ludwig Mohler
2—Jacob Mohler
3—John Mohler.
3—George Mohler."

The first three trees coincide and check up with the Revolutionary rolls, for the sons of the Jacob line, viz: the succession given in the beginning on the tree secured from Virginia in 1898.

The C. M. Mohler tree checks very accurately in the line of Henry, but needs correcting in the line of Jacob.

The following letter gives the history of the sources used in the formation of the C. M. Mohler blue print, showing that the subject of the "Jacob" line was very superficially worked out:

"Detroit, Mich., Feb'y 9, 1921.

"Mrs. M. V. Dunning—I enclose a copy of my family tree and think it nearly correct. The early portion of my tree was given me by my uncle, Rev. S. S. Mohler, and by Rev. Christian Bucher. Christian Bucher lived until three years ago and I corresponded much with him via his daughter, he being totally blind at the time. * * *

"Very truly,
"C. M. MOHLER."

Mr. Mohler makes no claim for his work that he searched public records by which to check up his findings in regard to the first Mohlers in order to prove the truth of various traditions. He says also in his letters that he read Brumbaugh's "History of the Brethren Church" superficially, and it was thus he arrived at relationships in the Jacob line of succession. He regards George casually as the brother of Ludwig and by the elimination of Jacob No. 1, substitutes his son John for George, son of Ludwig.

C. M. Mohler's branch as to daughters of Henry Mohler.

1001—Ludwig Mohler
2002—Henry Mohler, b Apr. 20, 1728; d Jan. 20, 1774.
3001—Christian Mohler;
3002—Henry Mohler;
3003—John Mohler;
3004—Jacob Mohler;
3005—Mrs. Dr. Benedict Bucher (Susan);
3006—Mrs. Martin Keller (Salome);
3007—Mrs. Zug or Zook (Jacob);
3008—Mrs. Herr;
3009—Mrs. Mary Phouts.

—28—
The J. C. Mohler tree has a limb called "Gage" and no "Zug or Zook," and one called "Spany." Rev. Bucher's "Mrs. Pfantz."

Rev. Gibbel's tree notes: Henry Mohler had four daughters and gives no "Mrs. Herr", but gives Mary Mohler Pfantz.

THE MOHLERS OF KANSAS

Hon. Jacob Christian Mohler, Secretary
Kansas State Board of Agriculture
July 1, 1914 to 5002—"Hon. Martin Mohler, former secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, was born in Cumberland Co., Pa., Mch. 20, 1830; died at Topeka, Ks., Mch. 20, 1903; graduated from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., located in Osborne County, Kas., in 1871, secured a half section of land, which he improved so that the passers-by in those early days were attracted to it; held several positions of trust in the county; was elected Secretary of State Board of Agriculture in 1888 and twice re-elected. During his regime as secretary he realized that methods in Kansas farming required many changes, so he untiringly applied himself to the study of soils, seeds, and seasons, suggesting many improved methods that have helped to make Kansas one of the best agricultural states in the Union. The sixth biennial report issued under his direction, was awarded a medal and diploma at the Paris Exposition in 1889, as the best of its kind in the world. A man entitled to this recognition has not lived in vain.—R. R. Hays." Condensed from fourteenth Bien. Report, Kas. St. Bd. of Agr.

"Lexistown, Pa., August 3, 1905.

"J. C. Mohler,

"My Dear Nephew,—This has been a good while coming. On my way home from Bristol, Tenn., I called to see some of the Mohlers in Lancaster County. Also visited the cemetery where Ludwig Mohler was buried about 175 years ago. The epitaph on the sandstone of that day is as follows:

"Ludwig Mohler came from Switzerland in ship Thistle from Glasgow, to America A. D. 1730, Aug. 29. Was born April 4, 1696, died Jan. 6, 1754, aged 57 years 9 mo. 2 da. Wife of Ludwig Mohler born May 22, 1698; died Dec. 23, 1772, aged 74 years 4 mo. 17 da.

"When Ludwig Mohler came to America he took up 1600 acres of land. (Records do not verify this legend, but do show that at Henry's death he left a large land holding which is mapped in a volume of the Pa. archives covering forfeitures and estates in about 1775. Series 3, Vol. 24, p. 482, shows that Henry Mohler received a land patent to 70 acres, June 12, 1751.) "And the old homestead has never been out of the Mohler name. He settled in Lancaster county. His old native home is about one mile from the town of Ephrata. It is an amazingly wealthy country." (Says C. M. Mohler, writing about this land, "the present house on the farm, which was built in 1764, * * * and the spring which is quite a remarkable spring * * *") (Resumes the previous writer): "Pretty generally they are known as farmers. As a rule they were religious inclined, noted for generosity, nobleness of mind. There are quite a number of them ministers. S. S. Mohler, son of Uncle Samuel Mohler, was a very deep thinker. Some in the mercantile business. There is a J. K. Mohler in Ephrata, Lancaster Co., Pa., manufacturing a radiator, an invention of his own, which is said to be fine.

"Our grandfather, or your great grandfather, was Jacob Mohler, born in Lancaster County, Pa., A. D. 1771, June 30, died in 1833, Jan. 29, 61 years 6—29—and “Our grandmother Mohler (wife of the above) was born A. D. 1782, May 2 (aged 64 yrs., 8 mo., 21 d), died 1847, Jan. 23.

Notice this is your great grandfather and great grandmother. Her maiden name was Mary Bollinger. Her father’s name was Rudolph Bollinger, born Sept. 12, 1748—lived in Juniata Co., Pa., about 8 or 10 miles rather west from Mifflintown.

“Our father, or your grandfather, Jacob Mohler, was born in Juniata Co., Pa., rather west from Mifflintown about 8 or 10 miles, on the 25th of Aug., 1802. Died in Mifflin Co., at Uncle William Howe’s, about one mile from his native home, on the 7th of March, 1889, age 86 yrs. 6 months 12 days.

“Our mother (your grandmother Mohler) was born on the 16th of March, 1807. Died April 9, 1845, aged 38 yrs. and 24 d. Her maiden name was Sarah Rothrock.

“Now, My Dear Nephew, I know not how near I have met your desire, but if any further information is desired I will gladly be at your service.

“I certainly congratulate Frank for his masterly success. I do hope and trust that it ever will have a tendency to humiliate him rather than inflate his mind and heart in the spirit of exaltation. Tell Frank to write to me. Best wishes to your Mother, Laura, Will & Family, Frank & all of you. Remember me to John McClintic Mohler.

“UNCLE J. M. MOHLER.”

Hon. J. C. Mohler, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture of the State of Kansas, has earned for himself the distinction of being one of the greatest agricultural experts in America, and was discussed for appointment as the Nation’s chief farmer in the Cabinet of President Harding in 1921. Born on the Kansas farm, entering the department at the age of 17, his whole life has been bound up with the agricultural development of the State of Kansas, where he is now so ably enlarging on the work begun by his illustrious father.
J. C. Mohler is a modest man of broad culture and untiring energy, as seen from a letter to a friend, of July 25, 1917:

"Your philosophy that there will be work to do when I am dead, and men to do it, too, is sound, and I am not at all backward about breaking away from the daily grind. At this time, however, we not only have the Board's work to conduct as usual, but in addition a large share of the work of the State Council of Defense (time of World War) is on our shoulders, and as this institution has no funds of any sort, we are practically carrying a double load; so the present time is not opportune for such excursions, so far as we are concerned."

4004—Jacob Bucher had issue: 5001—Christian Bucher; 5002—George Bucher, who is still living.

Rev. Geo. Bucher, under date of Jan 30, 1921, writes in brief: "I am of the fifth generation of Ludwig. I am 77 years old. There are 17 preachers in Dunker churches named Mohler. * * * I had correspondence with J. L. Mohler of Grottoes, Va. * * * You will notice the 'lost John' ('John, Jr.' of Ephrata) was only lost to the Ephrata Mohlers."

Rev. Bucher has been a power in his generation—known best by his published "Discussion of the Pennsylvania 'Garb Law' in Relation to Teachers," published, 1908.

This ends my data on the line of Henry Mohler, whose descendants largely clung to the old Dunker faith and spent their lives around Ephrata, in Lancaster County, Pa.

DESCENDANTS OF GEORGE MOHLER

1—Ludwig Mohler

2—George Mohler, son of Ludwig, according to the J. L. Mohler tree, left three daughters.

The tree of Rev. Aaron Gibbel gives—3001—Mrs. Mellingler, his daughter. There is no further data available on the line of George, which I have found. But I have not delved for it. It is likely that a study of the archives of Ohio and of Maryland would reveal the whereabouts of many of the Mohlers who have not been traced.

DESCENDANTS OF JACOB MOHLER

Adam L. Mohler worked his way up to the Presidency of the U. P. R. R., 1911-1914, and is a man of great executive ability, a citizen of Omaha, Nebr.

Hon. Martin Garber
Iowa State Legislature from Clayton County, Senate 1880, House 1882
REV. LEVI GARBER, BISHOP OF MIDDLE RIVER
DUNKER CHURCH,

Of Augusta County, Va., and his descendants in the line of his son Martin

Covering a Period before 1793 to 1915. Research begun, 1897.

This history of the Garber family was ascertained from investigation and Bible records in Augusta County, Va. The Garber family in America is very numerous and may have sprung from one head but I have never been able to secure records identifying the Levi Garber line with any Garber who may have come to America earlier.

"The great majority of the Germans in Augusta County drifted down from York and Lancaster Counties, Pa., and occupied the lands in the Lower Shenandoah Valley in Virginia."—Hannah O. V. G., P. 38.

The family is either German or German Swiss, but probably Swiss. "The Germans had found that there was a land of peace on the other side of the Atlantic; and they knew by sad experience that their own country was a land of war."— Hannah, O. V. G., P. 38. All the early Garbers were preachers and teachers in Tunker or German Baptist Churches, and the history of the Middle River Congregation in Augusta County, Va., is but the silent monument to the Levi Garber family, who furnished its preachers, teachers and many of its members down to the present time (1900).

The early Garbers were farmers during the week and preachers on Sunday. Almost every descendant of Levi Garber has been more or less endowed with the gift of oratory, and invariably they have been interested in the religious and political issues of their day and generation.

Wherever found they were engaged in some line of community work that reached out for public uplift. As a family they had sacred regard for honor in their dealings with their fellow men, always holding business honor above business gain.
One of the characteristics of the family is its regard for individuality in business life. Many members of this family have held civil and political offices and they have exerted a marked influence on the development of the States of Virginia, Iowa, Nebraska, and Oklahoma.

Peyton's History of Augusta Co., Va., published 1882. Page 89 says: "The Tunkers organized the Middle River Church in 1790, under the leadership of Bishop Miller. In 1800 it was found necessary to district the county and a Bishop or Elder, was appointed for each district. Levi Garber was appointed Bishop of Middle River church."
This clipping shows that Bishop Garber probably was one of the founders of the church. His wife was a Miller. He settled in Augusta County, Va., time not known, secured a tract of land near the church, and there reared a family of fifteen children. He undoubtedly was buried in the Middle River Churchyard, but as the wooden crosses at the graves have crumbled beyond reading the names painted on them, this cannot be verified. It could have been ascertained through the records of the Church had there been any, but the Dunkard Church never kept accurate records nor paid its preachers.

Levi Garber’s old German Bible in the possession of his grandson, Christian Coffman, containing a page that was partly torn away, held intact the date of birth of the son that was the founder of this Garber line in Iowa, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. There is a tradition that the founder of this family sailed from Hamburg to America from a certain canton in Switzerland where live many Garbers.

Every Garber in Virginia was a property owner. But it has remained for the Oklahoma Garbers to secure vast fortunes through the development of oil fields. The Garbers in these Western States have been business men, professional men, mostly lawyers and merchants of some line, with a few bankers. They have lost their identity with the Dunkard Church and transferred their community activities to some line of politics in connection with their private business.

The Garbers of Virginia were never slave owners. They were plain folk dominated by sterling principles of justice, honesty, and the brotherhood of man. Their church tenets forbade their fighting in the army with guns but their voices rang with no uncertain sound in unison with Abraham Lincoln through all the dark days of the Civil War, in a part of Virginia where it was almost suicidal to proclaim the Union cause. For the most part the very fierceness of their denunciation of the principles of slavery from their pulpits and from public platforms proved their immunity from persecution, but occasionally some of them would be compelled to hide in the mountains or travel to West Virginia, Kentucky, or to the mountain regions of the Carolinas where they preached the gospel of freedom as they rode on horseback from congregation to congregation and helped direct the work of the “Underground Railroad” as it was called in that region.

One known as “Cousin Sam” was a powerful Dunkard preacher and “Union” organizer who held many notable debates throughout these States, and even in the State of Iowa. He has been credited with the discovering to the country of Andrew Johnson, second Vice-President with President Lincoln, and it was the grief of “Cousin Sam’s” last years that Johnson turned out to be a “politician” instead of the “sterling Unionist” he was supposed to be. Sheridan’s Raid of the Shenandoah Valley was one of the outcomes of their tireless efforts to “win the war for freedom” and the Middle River Dunkard Church community was not far from the line of Sheridan’s Raid when he crossed the Middle Fork of the Shenandoah on his way to Staunton, and swept all the organized forces of the Confederate Army from the Valley.
Levi Garber not only preached to the Middle River Congregation but made horseback trips into Kentucky and Tennessee where he organized and carried on the church work. Levi Garber's wife's maiden name was Miller. The torn leaf in the ancient Bible contained the following record:

"Betsy Garber married Joseph Miller, had issue Barbara, married Bagoon.

"Lizzie Garber married Pence.

"Catharine Garber, second wife to Christian Coffman, Sr., b Oct., 1784, d Feb. 21, 1842.

"Anna Garber, wife of Christian Coffman, Jr., b Apr. 10, 1795, d Feb. 1, 1888, age 92 yrs., 9 mo., 21 da."

The torn page showed:

"Michael Garber,

"John Garber,

"Abraham Garber,

"Solomon Garber,

"Martin Garber, b Apr. 24, 1793."

Members of the family living in the locality supplied the names of Daniel Garber, who moved to Ohio; Barbara Garber, who married Leedy; Susan Garber; who married Lair or Lehr; Matty Garber, who married Arnold. And two could not be recalled.

The following is an accurate copy of the record kept in the original family Bible of Martin Garber, son of Levi Garber. This letter accompanied the copy of the record:

COPY OF ORIGINAL FAMILY RECORD OF MARTIN GARBER

"Ponca, Nebr., May 8, 1897.

"Cora Garber at school,

"Lincoln, Nebraska.

"My dear Niece:—

"Yours of no date is at hand. We are indeed glad to hear of your untiring efforts in securing a liberal education—this is commendable and right.

"I am aware it is not hardly in my place to answer this, but I will do so, at the request of your Aunt Polly, in a brief manner.

"J. S. Mohr has of late years taken some pains in collecting or rather commencing a family record both of the Garber and also of the Mohr families.

"Inclosed you will find a copy of the Garber side of the house as copied from his record. This is as far back as he has been able to truthfully trace the genealogy. This of course does not run very far back, but in a hundred years from now it may be of more interest than at the present time. It is indeed passing strange that someone has not taken up this subject years ago.

"This leaves us in reasonably good health for persons of our age, having now lived together over 51 years. The children here are all well.

—39—
"Our regards to your parents, and especially to Daniel, my namesake. May the Lord bless you and keep you even unto eternal life in a world to come.

"Your Aunt and Uncle,
"MARY GARBER MOHR and DANIEL MOHR.

"P.S. If you think this letter worthy, let it remain with your record."

This letter is of interest to both the Garber and Mohr families in Nebraska, and the Mohler family in America for the three families merged at this juncture.

Martin Garber, born April 28, 1793, according to this record, but according to the record left in the old Coffman German Bible which substantiates the origin of the family by so slight variation, April 24, 1793, in Augusta County, Old Virginia. His mother's maiden name was Miller, his father, Levi Garber, was a preacher in Kentucky. He was one of a family of 15 children and next to the youngest.

5005—Magdaline Mohler, his wife, was born January 23, 1801 (original Mohler Bible record in possession of Dr. Henry Mohler at Grottoes, Virginia, states December 23, 1801, which is the correct date, it being made by her parents).

Martin Garber moved with his wife, Magdaline Mohler Garber, from Virginia to Ohio, where most of their family were born. Both were active in the Dunkard Church. Magdaline Mohler Garber became a member of the National Council of the Dunkard Church, in that manner attaining a most extensive acquaintance through the church in America. Martin Garber's six brothers were all preachers or elders in the Dunkard Church while he remained a layman.

After his death in 1851, Magdaline Mohler Garber, together with all her children and their families, set out for a pioneer life in Iowa and located about the town of Elkport, Clayton County, Iowa, whither had gone two sisters, Hannah Mohler Beddows and Ann Mohler Fitch.

(5005)—Magdaline Mohler Garber lived to see her sons prosperous and honored. In 1875, Catharine Garber, wife of her son Joseph, made a trip to Iowa to visit Mother Garber and accompany her to Nebraska to visit her sons Joseph, Abram, Samuel, and Gov. Silas Garber, all located in Webster County, Nebr., except Joseph, at Nelson, Nuckolls County Clerk, '75-6. One of the happiest experiences of her life was when she stopped in Lincoln to visit her son, Silas Garber, who was then Governor of the State of Nebraska.

Upon her return to Iowa she made a portion of the journey in a stage coach driven by a drunken driver who managed to overturn the coach, breaking several of her ribs and causing other injuries from which she never recovered. Martin Garber died in Shelby County, Ohio, on August 31, 1851. Magdaline Mohler Garber died in Delaware County, Iowa, on December 8, 1876. They had issue as follows:

He, together with his brother Burton, who are jointly identified in all business enterprises, secured the first block of oil leases around Garber and sunk the first test well which proved the Garber Oil Field which poured millions of dollars into the laps of those who owned the lands and made these Garbers wealthy beyond their wildest dreams.

The credit extended to the farmers in that section by him and his father.
during the hard times of the early settlement is appreciated by all, even to this day. He is a quiet man of great tact, business ability, discernment, and generosity.

In addition to the mercantile business he was elected president of the Farmers' State Bank in which position he has ever since continued. Under his administration the bank has grown from a capital of $10,000.00 to $75,000.00, the deposits reaching over a million dollars. During the World War B. A. Garber built a room especially for Red Cross work and Land Office at Lincoln, 1873-1874; was a farmer, merchant and banker at Red Cloud. On Mech. 25, 1857, he married Roselle Dana, niece of Chas. Dana, journalist, and a son, William S., was born in 1863, the mother dying. He married Lyra C. Wheeler on July 1, 1875, and they, together with Governor Garber's official staff, represented Nebraska at the Centennial of 1876 at Philadelphia, Pa., where they received many special honors.

1—William Seward Garber, son of Gov. Silas Garber and Roselle Dana Garber, came to Guide Rock, Nebr., with his father's party May 20, 1870. He served the state a number of years as Secretary of the Nebraska State Board of Transportation; was a banker and business man at Red Cloud. He had three daughters—Gladys, Frances and Charlotte.
Nebraska State Journal, June 14, 1921, states: “Miss Gladys Dana Garber, of Los Angeles, was married to Hon. David E. Thompson, Los Angeles, former well known Nebraskan. Mrs. Thompson was born in Lincoln, and lived in Nebraska until some years ago, at Red Cloud. Her grandfather, Silas Garber, was the third Governor of Nebraska. Mr. Thompson was formerly ambassador to Mexico and Minister to Brazil, S. A.”

3—Joseph Garber—b near Bellefontaine, Ohio; d at Red Cloud, Nebr., where he was buried; married Catharine Adeline Schaffer. They located at Guide Rock, Nebr., May 20, 1870.

They were the first white family to locate in Webster County, and Mrs. Garber (quoted from the Webster County Argus, dated April 30, 1909,) “preferred to share all the dangers and hardships from the beginning with her husband and brothers-in-law. She had drawn a carbine from the State with the men, and she became the best shot of the party with the exception of Silas Garber. Mrs. Garber made her home in the emigrant wagon while the men erected the first stockade of the Republican Valley, and then united in building her a house on the homestead. Mrs. Catherine Garber was the first white woman to cross the county line; the first to engage in housekeeping and homemaking in the entire Republican Valley in the State of Nebraska; and perhaps the first homemaker in that part of the State west of Thayer County and south of the Platte Valley, except the few who had located themselves near the stations of the old overland route between the Missouri River and the mountains. To Mrs. Garber naturally fell the duty of welcoming the homeless and of ministering to the rest in their sickness and needs."

"In 1873 her husband proved up on his claim and took another across the line in Nuckolls County, where he was elected the first County Clerk, 1875; elected to represent the counties of Thayer and Nuckolls in the Constitutional Convention of 1875."

Mrs. Garber died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. E. Tait, at Red Cloud on April 26, 1909, and was buried there.

With every phase of the development of Webster County, Nebr., Joseph and Catharine Garber, known to all old-timers alike as "Aunt Addie", were identified. They removed to Red Cloud in 1876 and from 1877 until 1905 lived on the farm one mile out, when they moved to town.

At the stockade Mrs. Garber gathered the children together and taught them, and throughout her whole life she ministered to the sick and needy, cooked for public "feeds" and was active in the W. R. C.

The two so impressed their personality upon the community that during their last years seats of honor were always reserved for them at all kinds of public gatherings, and they were ceremoniously escorted to the place of honor. No other woman in Webster County grew as close to the hearts and lives of the old-timers of the whole county as Mrs. Garber and no other man was so missed from G. A. R. Circles as Joseph Garber, who up to the day of his death helped the committee of the Interstate Reunion make that affair a success, a few days later.

Joseph Garber was appointed by William H. James, Secretary of State, May 1, 1871, the first Justice of the Peace of Webster County; was delegate to the Constitutional Convention in 1875, where he and Silas worked together for a greater Nebraska: County Commissioner of Webster County; member of the Red Cloud school board; one of the directors of the early Webster County Fair Association; a G. A.
R.; the local community speaker, and writer of the obituaries of the old-timers. His geniality and fairness developed with age and made him in demand in all public functions, whether Old Settlers' Reunion, Fourth of July picnic, Memorial Service, or whatnot. He was a member of Company "D," 27th Iowa Infantry in the Civil War.

To Joseph and Catherine Garber were born six children:
1—Cora, b Dec. 18, 1871, at Guide Rock, Nebr.
2—Daniel Martin, b Apr. 3, 1875, at Nelson, Nebr.
3—E. Grace, b July 11, 1877, at Red Cloud, Nebr.
4—Lucy A., b Dec. 14, 1879, at Red Cloud, Nebr.
5—Joseph S., b Mch. 10, 1881, at Red Cloud, Nebr.
6—Lawrence A., b Apr. 4, 1885, at Red Cloud, Nebr.

1—Cora A. Garber was the second living white girl born in Webster County, Nebr. She was graduated from Red Cloud High School and from the University of Nebraska in 1902 with a B. A. and Professional Educational Degrees.
She taught; held the position of Assignment Clerk in the office of Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, capitol building, Lincoln, Nebraska, for seven years from January 3, 1901, to January 1, 1908. She wrote and helped to carry the bill establishing the State Orthopedic Hospital and was active in carrying many legislative measures of constructive social benefit. She was a member of the Nebraska State Press Association and did much work through her pen in Nebraska during the years of 1901 to 1908. On April 29, 1909, she married Martin Vine Dunning at Santa Fe, N. Mex., and settled on a ranch near Santa Fe, where her pen did much through the New Mexican to aid constructive Woman's Club and educational system development during the early days of New Mexico Statehood. In 1918-1919 she was President of Fairview Auxiliary Red Cross, and chairman of Fairview Bond Drives and assisted in the success of the Mother-Daughter Congress of the Food Administration at Albuquerque the last week in June, 1918, as her "hit" for humanity during the World War.

2—Daniel M. Garber finished Red Cloud high School '93, and attended the Nebraska State University.

Was Secretary of Congressman Norris's Congressional Committee during its existence; was elected alternate delegate to and attended the Progressive National Convention at Chicago where "Teddy" did not win; was a four-minute speaker during the World War; is active in the Farmers' Union, having been a delegate to their state convention in 1921; is a public speaker.

He married Ruth Inez McCracken, Dec. 12, 1915, and now lives on the home farm near Red Cloud; their children are:

2-1—Catherine Frances Garber, b Jan. 31, 1917.
2-2—Ruth Inez Garber, b July 7, 1918.

Mrs. Garber is the daughter of Joseph McCracken, an old settler of Nebraska, living near Riverton. She is a member of, and active worker in, the Congregational Church and of Delphian Literary Society, at Red Cloud.

3—Ethel Grace Garber finished Red Cloud High School, was kindergarten teacher; on Oct. 12, 1901, married Laroy E. Tait of Red Cloud. The Taits owned and edited the Webster County Argus about twelve years, thru which medium they exerted a remarkably strong influence upon the business, social and educational development of Webster county.
Chapter "Y," P. E. O., was organized at her home at Red Cloud in 1910, with Mrs. Tait, President; later she helped organize Chapter "BR," P. E. O., at Lincoln; was elected its second president, being always very active in P. E. O.

They moved to Lincoln, Nebr., to give their children the broadest education possible. Here the family is identified with Plymouth Congregational church, where Mrs. Tait is very active, being in 1920-21, president of "The Women of Plymouth".

L. E. Tait, oldest son of Joseph Tait, who came from Scotland, died and was buried at Anderson, Indiana, Aug. 7, 1912, is a man of business ability as a state automobile distributor. Their children are:

3-1—Kathryn Tait, b Nov. 22, 1902, at Red Cloud, Nebr.

She finished the Lincoln High School, 1919, where she was the first student given a certificate for penmanship; completed the sophomore year in the Nebraska State University and received her Professional Certificate in kindergarten work, 1921; is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and Camp Fire Girl counselor. Has made a trip in an airplane and "looped-the-loop" in the air.

3-2—Pauline Tait, b Sept. 22, 1904, in High School excels in committee work. She and her sister, Cora Frances, are in the 11th grade. All four are musical.

3-3—Cora Frances Tait, b Nov. 6, 1905; excels in athletics.
3—4—Lyra Grace Tait, b April 6, 1907; completed 8th grade, 1921, and was one of eight in a class of fifty-six to be placed on the efficiency roll; was elected class president.

4—Lucy Ann Garber finished the Red Cloud H. S.; taught; married Dr. Thaddeus B. Myers, May 20, 1901, to whom was born in 1903 a son, Harry Garber Myers. Lucy Garber Myers died September 23, 1918, and was buried at Red Cloud, Nebr.

5—Joseph Schaeffer Garber completed the Red Cloud High School and settled at Kellogg, Idaho, where he married, 1912, and is in business. He has no issue.

6—Lawrence Abe Garber, youngest child of Joseph Garber, is a cattle ranchman near Wheatland, Wyo. He is unmarried, is fond of reading, and is very popular because of his thoughtfulness for others.

The following sketch throws a vivid sidelight upon the reason why America received so many immigrants of the better class from Germany from the days of Wm. Penn on down. This recital but represents the lives of the Palatinates, known to history as ten generations of sturdy old world farmers, driven to abandon lands and homes and flee to America for their lives during the days of the Reformation. That was the only way they could escape from the militarism, tyranny and bloodshed of unlimited monarchy.

The terrible crimes of the Hohenzollerns during the recent World War were the same kind of crimes that have torn German civilization since the 10th century. They were the crimes that devastated whole provinces during the days of the Reformation. They are but the foreshadowing of the crimes the crafty deposed—though still unconquered—German rulers are planning to again project upon a helpless world. World dominance and Hohenzollern madness are one; and the form it took in 1854 was the struggle for supremacy of aggressive Prussia over the Kingdom of Bavaria.

Mrs. Joseph Garber was Catherine Schaeffer, born in the village of Ferbach, New Bavaria, Germany. Her parents were Joseph Schaeffer born, Rhein Bayer in 1801, died February 11, 1854, and was buried there. He owned a landed estate of 57 acres, dwelt in his three-story stone mansion and was a money lender. His wife was Anna Maria Meyer, born Aug. 5, 1805, Rhein Bayer and died April, 1879. Their children were: Joseph Schaeffer, b Aug. 26, 1831; almost completed university course of Piermecenz, Bavaria; was organist at Cathedral during student days: had his own piano and music room in his father's home. Joseph quarreled with the university authorities on the question of state authority just before his graduation, then emigrated to America, the ideal home of freedom. When war broke out that would have swallowed all his brothers, he returned to his mother, in Bavaria, bribed the French authorities to help him across the border, loaded the family into two covered wagons in the night and slipped away from the officer and seven German private soldiers quartered upon their household, arrived safely in France, with French assistance, and sailed from port of Havre de Grace after a wait of two weeks for the sailing boat that was to bear them to "freedom from military service," and they all landed at Castle Garden, 1854, after a trip of 30 days on water.

Their land and property was confiscated by the German government. The family settled in Minnesota.

Mary Ann Schaeffer, b Jan. 18, 1833;
Frank Schaeffer, b Aug. 7, 1834;
Andrew Schaeffer, b Oct. 30, 1838.

Catherine Adeline Schaeffer, b May 8, 1842, educated in Aunt Catherine's Private Knitting School for Girls, at Piermecenz, New Bavaria, and later at Upper Iowa University, Fayette, Iowa.

Caroline Schaeffer, b June 28, 1843;
Hermann Schaeffer, b Nov. 30, 1845.

3—Martha Catherine Garber—6009—b Dec. 4, 1861, was married to Marvin Vine Dunning at Elkport, Iowa, at the home of her mother, by her Uncle John Garber, J. P.

Martha Dunning was always an expert cook and her family dinners were famous.

Marvin Dunning was born near Sandusky, Ohio, on February 10, 1837, died near Manchester, Iowa, February 22, 1919, and was buried at Masonville, near where he and his family lived on a farm for forty years.

The Manchester, Iowa, Press says:

"Delaware County has lost another of the pioneer men who came here when it was in its infancy and helped mould its affairs. He was long a resident of Coffin Grove township, a substantial citizen, lending assistance to every worthy cause and his neighbors always found him a friend in time of sickness or trouble."

Their children are:

1—Emma Dunning, b Oct. 15, 1862, near Hardin, Iowa; married George Seeley at her home near Masonville, Iowa, Mch. 8, 1882.

All his life George Seeley has been connected with public institutional work and the past many years has been an indispensable employee at the Penitentiary at Animosa, Iowa, being head farmer. Their daughter Roselle Fern Seeley, born January 2, 1889, completed High School at Belle Plains, 1a.; taught three years in the Enid, Okla., school; completed the course of study at the Michael-Reece Hospital, Chicago, Illinois, June 7, 1917, then was employed there as Night Supervisor of the Maternity ward until January 1, 1921. She has traveled much, being in Cuba at present.

Emma Seeley also is a famous cook and serves "big dinners."

2—Lyra Roselle Dunning, b near Manchester, Iowa, Nov. 26, 1869, did her life work in Oklahoma. She graduated from the nurse's training school at Dubuque, Iowa, Jan. 13, 1901.

Rose Dunning moved with her parents to Garber, Oklahoma, in 1901, where she did private duty nursing with marked success for seven years. In 1908 she was elected Superintendent of the El Reno Hospital and Training School for Nurses, which position she filled with so much tact and executive ability that she became generally known as one of the foremost executive nurses in Oklahoma. Always of very frail health, she was compelled to rest for a period, renewing her vitality in the balmy air and vitalizing sunshine of the Estancia Valley of New Mexico, where she lived fourteen months on a homestead.

In 1910, so insistent became the calls of the doctors of Enid to her to come there and start a general practice hospital for them that, with many misgivings, she accepted the call, went from New Mexico to Enid, and began the work. With only the good will of the general practitioner doctors, her two hands, and a small rented house, she set to work. In the spring of 1913 this hospital moved into a new 20-room house, and in 1916 decided to build its own house to grow in, so Miss Dunning supervised the building of a fine, fireproof, modern brick hospital building with a capacity of twenty-five beds, complete in every detail; and again, in 1919, built an addition with a capacity equal to the original, thus making the General Hospital at Enid, Okla., one of the finest equipped and most modern and efficient institutions of its kind in the Southwest. Few women have ever accomplished so stupendous a task and grown into the hearts of as many people as has Rose Dunning. From bare hands and good will to this magnificent realization of dreams not even dreamed in 1910, the institution represented by this cut of the Enid General Hospital is a marvelous accomplishment for one very frail, slender, little woman.
3—Martin Vine Dunning, b Feb. 19, 1872, near Masonville, Iowa; married Cora Garber on Apr. 26, 1909, and lives on a ranch near Stanley, New Mexico, where he has been a successful business man and is an honored member of the community. He is noted for his business integrity, his broad sympathy, and his good judgment. There are no children.

4—Ernest George Dunning, b near Masonville, Iowa, Apr. 22, 1880; married Frances Black at Garber, Okla., Sept. 9, 1903; is now a prosperous farmer living near Manchester, Ia. Their son, Marvin Lucien Dunning, b near Garber, Okla., Sept. 2, 1904, is now in Manchester High School. He is an expert amateur machinist, and a promising lad. This family is noted for their fine hospitality.

* * *

E. G., Marvin Lucien, and Frances Black Dunning
Hannah Garber—6010—married Ernest Hall and lived her life at Correctionville, Ia.; had two children, Minnie and Bert Hall.

This brief history of the Mohler-Garber family is simply the record of a typical American family whose members, though intensely human, have ever been promoters of the best educational, social, business, community, and spiritual development of our great Nation through nine generations of representative American citizens, impelled by high ideals, a quick conscience, and a strong sense of personal responsibility.

And now, in conclusion, I wish to impress upon each individual of each succeeding generation, this obligation: “Live up to the best that is in you—for the glory of God—for the broadening of your own mental outlook on life—for the welfare of your fellow man—and for the preservation of our beloved United States of America.”
