JACQUIL SUMMERS
IN THE 70TH YEAR OF HIS AGE
IN THE YEAR 1820.

This is the home of the mother of James Summers, R. J. Salem, and his father and mother were both Summers, supposedly as him. Information from Mr. James Summers (Jas. More), given to Alice Davis,
Salem, Orad, on June 25, 1967.

INDEX - - - - 26
William Summers was born in Germany about the year 1700 and remained there during his natural life. All the history obtainable at this writing fails to prove that he ever at any time came to America. About all that can be learned of him is traditional. And that is rather meager. The only positive information we have concerning him is that his name was William Summers and was an ancestor of the present generation of the Summers family now living in this country and from him I will endeavor to trace the genealogy of the Summers family as near correct as is possible. However many dates will have to be omitted from the fact that they are unobtainable.

John Summers son of William Summers was born in Germany about the year 1720 (dates cannot be had) and came to this country about 1761 landing at Philadelphia with his brother George at the time of the Revolutionary war and later settled in Augusta County Virginia. He was married in Germany and had one daughter who died in America soon after he came over. Her name was never learned by the writer, but she is buried in Augusta County Virginia. William Summers was born in Augusta County Virginia about the year 1720 and moved to Georgetown Floyd Co., Indiana in the year 1813. He crossed the Ohio river where New Albany now stands. At that time New Albany stood on a heavy beach forest with a small cluster of log cabins in a swampy marsh. He in company with the small colony who came with them traveled the old government trail laid out from New Albany to Jasper in Dubois County. They wound their way over the Knobs by way of Edwardsville west to Georgetown where they settled and lived the remainder of his life. He was a Blacksmith and Gunsmith and followed his trade there for many years. Tradition has it the old government trail spoken of was laid out and opened up about the year 1813.

David Summers, son of Jacob, son of John, son of William, was born in Augusta County Virginia in the year Nov. 11, 1830 and came with father Jacob Summers to Georgetown, Ind. in 1816 and was married to Sarah Engleman, daughter of Abraham and Barbara Engleman on March 24, 1830. David's age when married was 22 years old and Sarah's age 14 years. In 1830 they came to Crawford's County and settled 2 miles north of Lilltown on Blue River at what afterward was known as the Clark Funk Farm.
During the Mexican War he recruited a Company of Volunteers and entered the U.S. Service in the Mexican War. A few days later peace was declared and his company was mustered out of service without seeing any actual service. On his return home was thereafter called Captain Summers. During the gold excitement in California in 1849 he joined a company equipped with ox teams, blankets, flint lock rifles and such other necessities as required. They took up their line of march and started for the gold fields in California. This adventure proved a failure with many that made the long and tedious journey. Their findings being very limited. They sold their belongings and prepared to return to Indiana as best they could. David Summers had saved his findings sufficient to take passage on an old sail vessel and sailed from San Francisco to New Orleans. This proved a tedious journey as the old ship would lay in a calm for days at a time scarcely moving a ship's length in 24 hours. During the time their fresh water supply became almost exhausted and the passengers were limited to one pint of water in 24 hours. And that had been stored in casks in the hull for four years. When finally they landed at the Jamaica Islands and took on a supply of fresh water. In about six weeks they landed safely at New Orleans. He then took passage up the Mississippi, thence up the Ohio River to Leavenworth, and walked from there to his farm two miles north of Milltown on Blue River. In 1852 he and William Gibbs leased from Dudley Woodford the old Milltown Mills for a term of two years. At the expiration of this lease they released for five years more. During this last lease Woodford sold the mill property to Pollock and Mauck. After Summers and Gibbs last lease they continued to operate the mills for about two years more under the ownership of Pollock and Mauck. Until they sold the mill to the Hostetter Bros. Then he moved to his farm two miles below Milltown in Harrison County where he engaged in farming as long as he was physically able to work. He then moved back to Milltown. He and his daughter Catherine Gibbs built a residence on Main Street and lived together until death.

Captain Summers always took an active part in politics. He being an uncompromising Democrat was elected to the state Legislature in 1854 and again in 1858, from Crawford County.

After his removal to Harrison County he was elected County Assessor at atime when the County Assessor had to assess the entire county by aid of deputies. While living in Harrison County he took an active part in organizing a class of U. B. church at the Summers school house, where he was an active member while he lived on his farm.
When he moved to Millitown there being no branch of the U. B. Church at or near Millitown, he wanted a home in the church and united with the regular Baptist Church at Millitown and died a member of that church. David Summers had two brothers, Jacob and Joseph, and four sisters, Susan Wolfe, Sarah Ross, Charity Yenowine and Mary Yenowine who all lived near or at Georgetown except Sarah Ross who lived and died one mile of Millitown and was the wife of Joseph Ross. Susan was the wife of Henry Wolfe, Charity was the wife of Shelby Yenowine. Mary was the wife of Lafayette Yenowine.

David and Sarah were the parents of thirteen chilren, their names are given, the oldest first.

ANDREW J. SUMMERS 5TH GENERATION.

Andrew J. Summers worked on his father's farm until he married. About one year after his marriage the Civil War broke out. He left his wife with his father and mother and volunteered in the 53rd regiment Indiana Volunteers under Walter Q. Gresham and served his time which was three years. Then he reenlisted and served to the close of the war. About the time of the reenlistment he was promoted to a First Lieutenant and served four years without being confined in a hospital. He was always in the front ranks of the 53rd regiment and shared in all of its battles and all of its hardships. He returned home at the close of the war without a wound. He then resumed his trade as a carpenter which he had acquired and worked as long as he was able to perform manual labor. But the hardships of the army life had made inroads on his general health and he was never himself anymore. He died and is buried in the Milltown Cemetery beside his wife who followed him in death a short time afterward. He married Rhoda Miles daughter of Joseph Miles of Fairdale Harrison County, Indiana. To this union were born four children.

SARAH ENGLEMAN daughter of Jacob, John, Abraham Engleman was born in Augusta County Virginia on the 12th day of March 1816. Married David Summers March 24, 1830 at the age of fourteen years. Her parents Abraham and Barbara Engleman came to Georgetown, Floyd County Ind in 1815 in company of a small colony of emigrants some of which were the Summers, Hanger, Wolfe and Burkharts besides several others. They crossed the Ohio River at what is now the foot of State Street in New Albany. At that time only a heavy beech forest with a small group of log cabins located in the soft marshy Ohio River bottoms. They wound their way crossing Falling Run where the old stone bridge now crosses. Finding their way following the old stone bridge which had been previously laid out from New Albany to Jasper up and over the Knobs by way of where Edwardsville is now located on to Georgetown Floyd County Indiana where they settled. She had two sisters and one brother, Mary Berger (Engleman) Nancy Engleman (Harmon) Lewis Engleman who died at the age of 95 years.
Sarah Engleman's grandfather John Engleman came from Germany in the time of the Revolutionary War and fought in the Revolutionary under General Lafayette. He and the general became warm friends and in time Lafayette's sister came over from France and in course of time she and John Engleman were married. In an early day Germany had her large National Parks that abounded with wild game and it was a custom to set apart a certain day to hunt in these parks. Nobody was allowed to carry fire arms except the Noblemen and Lords. The peasantry were drafted to drive game but not kill any. John was a peasant and on one of these occasions concealed an old pistol which he had in his possession and during the drive came in close range of a deer and killed it. Realizing the atrocity of his crime he drug the deer beside a log covered it with rubbish and sought his passage into America. This little circumstance was the cause of John Engleman becoming an American citizen. He was so well pleased with his new freedom that after their independence was gained he had no desire to ever return to Germany. After his marriage to Miss Lafayette he settled in Augusta County Virginia and ever after made his home in the beautiful Shenadoah Valley of Virginia. His father Jacob Engleman never came to this country but remained in Germany while his son Abraham and Barbara his wife came to Indiana and settled in Georgetown where he engaged in clearing the forest and tilling the soil. Of Jacob Engleman of Germany little can be learned more than his name. He is buried in Germany. John is buried in Augusta County Virginia (name of place unknown). Abraham and Barbara are buried near Georgetown in Floyd County Indiana. Sarah is buried in the old cemetery at Milltown Crawford County Indiana. Tradition has it that Engleman were worthy unassuming people. Probably Barbara Engleman's maiden name was Hanger, however this can not be vouched for. At the age of fourteen she married David Summers of which mention has been made and lived a peaceful and quiet life, and as far as ever known she died without a single enemy. Her brother Lewis Engleman who was exactly two years her senior died at the age of ninety-five years. Since the death of his wife Mary Ann Richards Engleman at Georgetown Floyd County Indiana with he made his home with his son James and Susan Tyler Engleman at Georgetown Floyd County Indiana until his death. He died ( ) was buried in Georgetown Cemetery. His son James preceeded him in death he died ( ) and is also buried in Georgetown Cemetery. Susan Tyler Engleman lived to care for and comfort him in his old age. On the ( ) she died leaving one son Edward Engleman. Albert a brother of Edward some years before was killed on the Southern Railroad between Georgetown and New Albany. Sarah's two sisters Mary ( ) who married Lemuel Berger, and lived in the west died there many years ago, the date cannot be obtained. Nancy married Harmon of Georgetown and died many years ago. Of their life and death I have no records. The family all died and records can not be had. Dr. Harmon grandson (?) of Louis lives in Florida.
