PRELIMINARY

Family tradition indicates that our ancestor held the position of Hofmeister, (which in English is Court-master), under Charlemagne (786 to 814 A. D.). The title followed him afterwards as a surname.

Up to the late war the courts of Germany and Austria had their official Hofmeister, a position of dignity and importance.

The gathering of the family records found in the present work has been a task of many years. It is to be regretted that many names are wanting, but the hope is indulged in that all the descendants will at least be enabled to trace their early ancestry by means of this small volume.

The names are numbered in serial order. As head of a family each one's number is placed to the right of the name. The numbers in the index refer to the corresponding numbers in the serial order.

Up to recently, when all business slacked a little, few young men would have cared to follow him through one of his busy days. Despite his busy life, Mr. Campbell was an active churchman and found time to look after much church work. He was an elder in the Presbyterian Church and liked to attend, not only the services of the church, but upon the Presbyteries and General Assemblies. The death of Mr. Campbell is a distinct loss to Humboldt. He was interested in the town and its institutions and did much for both." He was popular with all classes, with white and black alike.
