Jacob Stover arrived in America as early as 1763. (Orange County DB 1-189)
Two or three years later he was settling immigrants among the Indians in eastern Pennsylvania.
In 1772 he bought 360 acres in the Oley Valley Valley in
In 1710, on March 19, he was married to Sarah Boone, daughter of George Boone III of Exeter, England, as shown in the records of Christ's Church, Philadelphia.
Their two children were born at their Oley home. They were named Jacob and Abraham. The wife, Sarah seems to have died soon after the birth of the son of Abraham about 170. The children's grandparents, the Boones who had come from England and settled near by, no doubt helped in caring for the children.

On June 17, 1760, the Council of Virginia, issued to Jacob Stover a grant of ten thousand acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. There is no longer any doubt that this is the Jacob Stover of Oley. (Pa. Department of Internal Affairs, Monthly Bulletin, April, 1854. Letter of J. S. Sprugell, Sr., a near neighbor of the Stovers.)
It was the first legal title to land in the Shenandoah Valley. Final Patent was granted Dec. 19, 1763.

In a deed of March 28, 1717 (Orange Co. DB 3-103) a second wife, Margaret, released her dower. Nothing more is known about her, and there is no evidence that she had any children.

Jacob Stover, Jr. died in the winter of 1740-41. Jacob Jr., heir under the last, was appointed Administrator by the Orange County Court, which then included everything east of the Blue Ridge. A plan was appointed for Abraham, a minor. No guardian was appointed for any other child, indicating that there were none.

Jacob Stover, Jr. gives the name of his wife, Ruth, in a deed of Oct. 28, 1741. (Orange Co. DB 6, p. 301)
Some Orange County records are missing. Many of the records of Augusta County for the first fifty years are no longer extant. Very few of the records of Rockingham County were lost or burned during the Civil War. As a result, careful examination of the official records revealed nothing whatever regarding the children of Jacob Jr., or Abraham. All Church records so far have nothing either.

Information derived from different loose branches these records are complete to about 1820. We believe they themselves Jacob Stover, Sr. indicate that his grandchildren were probably Christopher, Jeremiah, Daniel, Jacob.

An act of 14th of Sept. 1738 for the defense of the frontiers (ending at tutes of Va. vol. 7, 177) on page long list of Augusta Co. Militia inducted and in the service in 1762-1765 was Christopher Stover, 3rd account due him.
Christopher Stover Lineage

In 1801, Christopher owned lands on the bank of the South Branch of the Shenandoah River. (Kepard Statutes of Va., Vol. 2, 1807) as the Augusta records show. These lands probably came to him by inheritance.

That Matthias and Michael were children of Christopher is shown in Mill's History of Coshocton County of Ohio. Sketch of A. J. Stover, p. 639. Also in Centennial History of Coshocton County article on Archibald Stover.

Matthias gave convincing evidence of his descent from Jacob and Sarah Shenandoah Byrd by naming two of his sons for their children, Jacob and Abram, and three more for Sarah's brothers; George (also the names of her father, grandfather and great-grandfather), Samuel and Jesse. The last would hardly be given to anyone except to honor a relative. Naming five sons for them would not be chance.

The Descendants of Christopher Stover, probable Grandson of Jacob Stauber, the Swiss.

Our Stover line, believes to descend from Jacob Stauber, the Swiss, is definitely traced back to Christopher Stover and his wife, Catherine. They were the parents of Jacob and Michael, both born in Northumberland County, Virginia.

It seems the record has not yet been found, it seems probable that Christopher was the son of Jacob Jr., rather than Abraham. As an act of the legislature authorizes a survey by the south branch of the men named Stover to the lands of Christopher Stover on the opposite side, it seems likely that he was the eldest son and probably inherited the land as family's abstract of Augusta sales no deed to him.

In denning's statutes v. 7, 1830, Christopher Stover appears making a list of officers in 1716 defending the frontiers.

According to the account of Fred Stover transcribed in his Rev. A. J. Stover-Stover Family History p. 7-12. Also in the History of the John Stovers by Rev. A. J. Stover, Frederic of Hunen was the founder of the town of Hunenstetten, the son of Franco-French ancestry. In the 1560s, Henry IV of France, recorded for the great services of Frederic, bestowed upon him his only daughter, Agnes as wife and the county of Hunen in her son. Also Frederic established his kingdom on the town of Rumstetten, a built and palace. Through the years the town of Stover and enlarged the kingdom and served in the Crusades.

In the year 1606, Conrad then the ruler was defeated in the battle of Ahasco, taken prisoner, beheaded and his line exterminated, except for those who fled to Baden, Bavaria or Switzerland.

After an interval of five centuries, the Staufers (Stovers) are seen again as the victims of the religious persecutions fleeing from the persecutions, canvas and Sjubbia to Holland, Switzerland and later to America. The first Germans from Switzerland settled in Vermont (now New Jersey) in 1703.

Jacob Stauber.

It seems that our immigrant ancestor was Jacob Stauber, a native of Switzerland.

The earliest mention of him in America yet found is in a Sussex County deed book No. 1, p. 135. Here it is stated he received a land grant from the Governor and Council of Virginia on the 19 of February, 1708/09. (O.S.) Apparently he did not complete the patent on this.

16 years later he was in Pennsylvania, settling Germans in western Pennsylvania among the Indians. In 1714 Jacob settled on 516 acres he purchased on the tract in Philadelphia county.

The marriage of Jacob to Sarah Boone is recorded in Christ Church, Burlington, March 15, 1715. Sarah Boone was the daughter of George Boone I of England, and came to Pennsylvania with her brothers George II and Andrew, sake her father George III and the rest of the family came in 1717 and settled near the stockade. Of their two children, Jacob Jr. was born about 1717 and Abraham about six years later. Sarah died early, perhaps soon after the birth of Abraham.

Since the publication in the April 1910 issue of the Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Genealogical Society, the names of Abrahams in their old files of J. M. Proctor, there can no longer any doubt that the Jacob Stauffer of Boyle is the same person as the Jacob Stover and obtained the patents in the Shenandoah Valley.

The Delaware grant was patented on June 17, 1708. This was the first legal step to find out the patents the town of Shenandoah Valley.

In the town of Virginia, Vol. 1, 171 begins an act of Sept. 1759 concerning the defence of the frontiers, providing for the induction of ordered that the pay of officers and militiamen from each county is procured at the county (tavern) on the amount due. The same provision was made in 1807.

It is almost impossible to realize the hardships, dangers and misfortunes of these early.

Our traditions about the Ricords and where they came from are vague. Laura Ricord, who says that their records say that the original Thomas Ricord was born in that part of the Netherlands that is now Belgium, says that three Ricord brothers came to New York before the Revolution. That they acquired much land on Long Island, that Thomas finally settled at Cape Henlopen, Del. That at the beginning of the Revolution, his home, furniture and implements were burned and his stock driven off and he was taken prisoner and confined on a British prison ship, off Cape Henlopen. When he finally escaped he served under Washington at Valley Forge and Yorktown. That he was mustered out at Terrytown with the rank of lieutenant.

The New York State Library seems to have nothing about the brothers or their Long Island holdings.

The National Archives says they have no file on Thomas. This is not surprising as the records are very incomplete on the Revolution and seem to be limited mainly to those who lived until the Act of 1852 was passed and they received a pension. The Revolutionary volumes of the Delaware Archives do not have him either. There may have been an earlier Thomas who came to America.

The Maryland Hall of Records considers the name was probably originally Ricéud and thinks the original settler in Maryland was Benjamin Ricoud who lived in Kent Co. in 1698 and was a vestryman in St. Paul's Parish there.

Mother said her father told her that Phillipe Ricord and John Ricord were relatives but probably not in our direct line. The first was born in Baltimore in 1800, became a Physician and Surgeon in Paris and was an author of numerous medical books and became surgeon to Napoleon. John Ricord became attorney to the King of the Sandwich Islands (Hawaiian Islands) and about 1845 revised the government and drew up a new code of laws.

The will of Thomas Ricords I. (401) of Sussex Co. Del. filed Nov. 6, 1805 (Del. Probate Records A 95, p. 185-7), names his widow, Elizabeth (Darby), and sons Samuel, Elisha, Reece, Thomas, Caleb, Edward and daughters Naomi, Polly and granddaughter Betsy Hutchens and son-in-law Elisha Hutchens. Mother remembered that Naomi lived in Philadelphia and about Thomas Jr. and Reece but was hazy about the others.

Thomas Ricord Jr. was born 1790 (1788) at Lewestown, now Lewes, (Cape Henlopen) Delaware. He married Ann Conwell. My aunt Laura (Laura Ricord Stover) said, that Ann's maternal grandmother was the sister of General James Wolfe of Quebec fame. Have not yet established the relationship. A letter from Miss Dymple Johnson, Ft. Smith, Ark. now deceased, may help. may prove a help. Her Revolutionary ancestor, Lt. Col. William Conwell's daughter Lydia, married at Seaford, Del. Samuel Ricord, seemingly Thomas' brother. Of Samuel's ch: Nancy married Edward Johnson: Lydia m. W. Thompson. Miss Dymple's relative, Mrs. Fred D. Betward, 5647 Dale St. San Diego 4, Calif, wrote me a year ago that she would send me data on Ricord and Conwell. Not yet received. Might help clear up the Wolfe angle.

Thomas Ricord Jr. was a Captain in the war of 1812, taking part in the defense of Lewes, Del. He was Capt. of the 5th Co., ninth degt. (Del. Archives, v. 4, p. 479.) For his services he received warrant 15777 for 160 acres of bounty land.
The Ricords

Thomas and Ann moved to Philadelphia in 1815, then shortly to the Cincinnati area. They lost their property in the great canal swindle and in 1840 moved to Iowa City. The U. S. Census of 1850 shows a daughter Jane, 25, living there with them. Ch: of Thomas Jr and Ann: Edward, (mGGF born Feb. 17, 1814 at Cape Henlopen, Del (Leestown, Lewes). Elijah, Hanna. Jacob m. Emily Evans who survived him for years. The Census of 1850 gives his age then as 33 and his wife as El. The had a daughter Emma who lived in Iowa City. Jacob was postmaster of Iowa City.

Edward Reece Ricord married on Jan. 25, 1839 in Fayette Co. Ind. (as shown by the Co.'s Certificate) Jane Gillam (daughter of Jonathan Gillam, a Revolutionary soldier and his second wife Mary). Edward had lived in Fayette Co. Ind for seven years.

Edward and Jane decided to go west and settled in Iowa Co. As shown by the History of Iowa County by the Union Historical Co., 1881 says: "The history of Iowa County properly begins with the history of Greene Township, and the history of Greene township properly begins with Edward R. Ricord." - Edward R. Ricord settled a little south of Old Mans Creek, within the present limits of Greene township, March 1840. This was the first settlement in Iowa County. "Mr. Wykoff a neighbor (across the county line in Johnson Co.) and Ricord took a surveyor's chain and measured west from the county line to a point which they supposed would be the northwest quarter of Sec. 3. Here in Sec. 3, township 73, range 9, west of the 11th principal meridian, Mr. Ricord laid out his claim. He employed Mr. Wykoff and his brother Samuel, with their two yoke of oxen, to help build a log house. In one week's time they had completed the first house built for or by a settler in Iowa County."

"Mr. Ricord then returned to Iowa City, purchased five yoke of oxen for breaking, a Virginia wagon and went to Muscatine. - - - - Here he purchased some provisions and bedding, took aboard his precious freight and returned to his cabin, he commenced breaking prairie about the first of May, 1840; this he did with his team of 5 yoke of oxen. This was the farthest west of any house in the territory of Iowa. Mr. Ricord reared a large and highly respected family, educating the children at the University at Iowa City. - - - - Mr. Ricord now lives only a short distance from the Iowa County line in Washington County. His postoffice is Amish, Johnson County. Mr. Ricord was for more than twenty-five years one of Iowa County's most prominent and enterprising citizens. Many of the first elections were in Iowa County were held at his home. He took an active part in the organization of the county and township."

The following is from the History of Johnson County, Iowa, 1885. Mr. Ricord "was the veteran pioneer of Iowa County, being the first settler he made the first claim, built the first cabin, and broke the first prairie. The first election held in Iowa county was at his cabin, and he was elected one of the first county commissioners and he helped organize the county."

In Progressive Men of Iowa, p. 50C Here it is also said that his daughter Laura was the first white child born in Iowa county.

Edward Reece Ricord and Jane Gillam Ricord: Mary Iola d. Mar. 16, 1877. Ann, died small. Laura b. Nov. 19, 1814, Married (married Mathia Walter Stover), Addie, (m. George W. Stover, br. of Mwalter her sis. hubb.) Jennie, (m. libert L. Humphrey), Reece Lee (Said to have d. Walla Walla)

Edward Reece Ricord was able to send his daughters Laura, Addie and Jennie to school at the University of Iowa as the records of the University show.
