INTRODUCTION

The aim of this book is to preserve to posterity facts of interest pertaining to the Lyle family. That the book has errors is more than probable, since much of the information received in correspondence was variable in dates and in the spelling of proper names. For such errors as appear, the explanation lies in my "telling the tale as told to me." It has taken years to gather what the book contains. But a few years of delay would have made almost impossible of discovery many of the facts that are presented. In successful effort, in obliging posterity, and in the appreciation of the existing family, lie my only reward.

OSCAR K. LYLE.

LYLE FAMILY

This history of the Lyle family treats of the ancestors and posterity of four immigrant pioneers from Ireland who became settlers in the Valley of Virginia between the years 1740 and 1750. Their homes in Ireland were near Larne, on the Irish coast, in the County of Antrim; in Virginia, on Timber Ridge, in what is now Rockbridge County. These four settlers of the colonial period were Matthew, John, Daniel and Samuel Lyle. The first three of mention were brothers and paternal uncles of Samuel, who was a son of a Robert Lyle.

Samuel Lyle, who was a farmer in Ireland, married, about 1680, Janet Knox, of Knoxtown. The names of his parents have not been ascertained. Janet Knox was a daughter of John Knox, the second husband of Sally Locke. Her first husband was Ephraim Knox, of no kindred to her second. Sally Locke was a daughter of David Locke, whose wife was Mary Wylie, and granddaughter of William Wylie, whose wife was Janet Black. From Samuel Lyle came six children: Mary, Isabella, Janet, James, Robert and one that died young.

James Lyle, son of Samuel Lyle of mention, married, about 1700, Margaret Snoddy, of Ballyrickard-beg, a daughter of William Snoddy, whose wife was Jane Adams, of Ballysodd. The Snoddsys were a family from Scotland to Ireland about 1652. James Lyle had seven children: Elizabeth, Jenny, Matthew, John, Robert, Daniel and William.

The surname Lyle, varied in orthography, is a territorial one. In its earliest form the ancestors of those now bearing it were denominated “de Insula,” which means “of the island.” So far back as the eleventh century this “de Insula” attached to families living in the Isle of Wight and Isle of Ely in England and the Isle of Bute in Scotland. That any connection existed between the several families is question-able.

In the train of William the Conqueror, and among those enrolled on the famous Roll of Battle Abbey, appear names from which the Lyle surname could be derived. In point of fact this is positively as-serted. The Normans introduced surnames into England. Their conquest dates from 1066. The term “de Insula” antedates the Nor-man period so far as borne by the family in the Western Isles of Scot-land. A change in the language employed in the records from Latin to Norman-French is explanation of how the name “de Insula” became “de l’Isle.” With Norman rule ended, the “de” was dropped, and from the remainder easily came the surname as it now appears. The differ-ing ways of spelling the name have little significance against a com-mon origin so long as the sound is preserved. Education was limited among the people even so late as two hundred years ago.
The time of the passage of the Lyles into Ireland from Scotland is in doubt, but it is probable some of the first of the name were of those colonists who were obliged to leave their settlements in Cantire, on the west coast of Scotland, about 1606, and accepted the generous proffer of Sir Randal MacDonnell, Earl of Antrim, to make homes on his large estates in County Antrim. These estates exceeded 300,000 acres. The distance across the channel is short. On clear days opposite shores are visible.

Sir Randal MacDonnell was a Roman Catholic, but none the less extended a generous welcome to the Scotch Presbyterians that went to Ireland. Investigation locates the earliest of the Lyles in Ireland on Lord Antrim’s estates. From that area the family spread and became numerous in other parts of the county. At one time there were many of the name in Dervock, Ballymena and Coleraine.

The family in Ireland was generally in the farmer class. Some engaged in the linen industry. About the time of their early movement to America there was a scarcity in Ireland from several crop failures, and much trouble with landlords over leases. In the case of Matthew Lyle, the latter was the main cause of his emigrating to Virginia. Lands in Antrim were inadequate for the population and rentals dear. In preference to going into parts of Ireland where were none of their countrymen, the Scotch-Irish elected to come to America where lands were plentiful and cheap, and a religious liberty existed. In Ireland their religion was tolerated rather than encouraged by the government.

Samuel Lyle was a landholder in Ireland and possessed a farm in an eligible location about two and one-half miles from Larne in a southwesterly direction. It was in the townland of Browndodd, one of the four townlands of the parish of Larne. His residence was to the right of the road in going from Larne to Raloo, near Raloo. A lane leads to the house, which is still standing and occupied by one of his descendants. It is of stone, two stories in height and has now a slate roof. In earlier days the roof was thatched, as was the method of the Scotch. After the death of Samuel Lyle his son James became the occupant of the family home. In it his children were born. It is the old home in Ireland of the Lyle family of this book and is among the illustrations presented in it.

The proximity of Raloo Presbyterian church and the family burials in its church-yard suggest their place of worship. The church of their time was destroyed by fire. Another was built and is now in use. No records of the early church have been found. Of the illustrations in this book is one of the cradle that was made for James Lyle. In this cradle all of his children, and many since, were rocked to sleep. To its substantiality is due its long existence.

When Matthew Lyle married Esther Blair in 1731, his father, James Lyle, was the lessee of some lands near by. On these leased lands Matthew Lyle made his home and lived some years. On expiration of the lease the lands passed to a John Patton as the highest bidder. Thus deprived of a home Matthew Lyle decided to join in the movement to America. The site of the early home of Matthew Lyle must have been highly favorable to be chosen at a later date by the Chichester family as a residential spot. It is related that this new home stands on the exact site where Matthew Lyle lived and that some of the old foundations were utilized in its construction. Matthew Lyle married, in 1731, Esther Blair, whose lineage is elsewhere given. The record of the proclamation of the banns of this marriage was found in the church at Larne. Elizabeth, the oldest daughter of Matthew Lyle, was left in Ireland when her parents came to America. She was the life renewable in a lease of lands to an uncle, Daniel Blair. Evidently it was intended she should come later to America, but she married in, or near, 1750, and this kept her in Ireland. Her first husband was William Thompson, by whom she had three daughters. Her second husband was Matthew Donald, a cousin of her first husband. By Donald she had issue born in Ireland and America. One of her children was born at sea, which establishes the date of her coming in 1775. Matthew Lyle died in Virginia in 1774. By his will, 110 acres of land on Timber Ridge was given to his daughter Elizabeth "on condition she come in from Ireland within the term of three years." She brought with her the three daughters by Thompson. It will strike the readers of this book how many are the descendants of these three Thompson girls who married in this country and had homes in Tennessee.

John Lyle, who came to America, likewise left a daughter in Ireland. Her name was Martha. She married in Ireland Robert Russell and came to Virginia following her marriage. All of her children were born in Virginia. After some years in this country the father of Russell died in Ireland, leaving him a fair estate. Because of this, Russell decided on going back with his family. For some reason connected with our Revolutionary war Russell was killed in Philadelphia when about to depart for Ireland. His widow with her remaining children, one having died in Virginia, went on to Ireland, became possessed of the estate left her husband, and for services Russell had rendered the British government, was the recipient of a pension. What information has been learned of this Russell family is given in the accompanying tables.

What pertains to John Lyle is given in one of the chapters of this book.

Daniel Lyle was younger than his brothers Matthew and John. He acquired lands in Virginia on Timber Ridge and married a Miss Paxton. Just who she was remains in doubt, but she was probably a daughter of "South River Tom" Paxton. For treatment of Daniel Lyle, see chapter devoted to him.

In preference to a long recital there is given in this book many interesting items as Notes, etc., and some brief treatment of other families of Lyle in this country. There is probable connection between some of them, as the Lyle family in the north of Ireland was once very large and emigrated freely to America. As a class they were Scotch-Irish Presbyterians. Some errors may appear in this work. It is a compilation of much correspondence that gave variable statements and often differed in the spelling of proper names. What is given is the result of much application extending over many years, to preserve to the family its history and discharge a debt due its posterity.

The coming of the Lyles to Ireland from Scotland is not definitely ascertained. Much correspondence, including Rev. George Hill, who wrote "The MacDonnell of Antrim" and "The Plantation of Ulster," and much search in libraries, inclines to acceptance the following from Mr. Hill:

"The seventh Earl of Argyle and several of his kinsmen, the Campbells, had encouraged, if not originated, for their own purposes, an insurrection among the Highland clans in 1599. Angus MacDonnell headed this movement and being defeated, one of the conditions imposed upon him by the government was the entire removal of his clansmen and adherents from Cantire. When the district was thus swept clean of its native inhabitants Argyle offered that if it were granted to him he would pay the crown a higher rent than ever the MacDonnells had done and would also forthwith plant it with respectable farmers from the Lowlands. These offers were eagerly accepted by the Crown, and without delay a number of settlers from the shires of Renfrew, Dumbarton and Ayr, who were Presbyterians, took possession of the lands that had been occupied from time immemorial by the leal and gallant men of Cantire. In 1607, Sir James MacDonnell, the son and heir of the old chieftain Angus, escaped from prison, and his appearance among the clans was the signal for another attempt on the part of the MacDonnells to wrest their extensive lands from the Campbells. The new insurrection was initiated by Angus seizing his hereditary district of Cantire and expelling the settlers who indeed did not wait to be expelled. Fortunately for them, better lands awaited them on the Antrim coast, and many of them made their way with their cattle and goods across the channel. Sir Randal MacDonnell received them, Presbyterians though they were, and these people were the more welcome, no doubt, because of their bringing with them the means of stocking their farms. In this way came many Lowland settlers to the Antrim estates who were literally driven thither by the circumstances mentioned, and who, otherwise, might never have dreamed of leaving the opposite shore."
The Lyle home in Ireland is nearly three hundred years old. It is a two-story dwelling, built of stone and plastered on the outside. At one end is the barn or stable. It was the custom in the days of extensive marauding to have their stock in security. The house was thatched, as was the practice of the Scots, until it came into the possession of William Lyle about 1750. He put a slate roof on it; the roof that is upon it now. On the ground floor is a hall dividing the house. On one side of the hall are two rooms, used as a kitchen and storeroom. On the other side is the parlor and a sitting-room. Upstairs are four bed rooms. In early days the window panes were in lead frames that have long been removed. In front is a yard devoted to flowers, and therein is a sun-dial on which appears the names of M. Lyle and W. Finlay. When the dial was placed there, is not known, but William Lyle had a son Matthew that was in ownership of the place about 1800. The property has never been entirely out of the family. A descendant is in possession in 1912.

10. SAMUEL LYLE, ex 1, was a farmer, m ab't 1680, JANET KNOX, of Knoxstown, in a church the ruins of which are yet seen in the centre of the graveyard at Raloo, nearly four miles westward of Larne on the Irish coast. Janet Knox was a daughter of John Knox, m Sally Locke; her second husband. Her first husband was an Ephraim Knox, who left his widow a fair estate and without issue. In the management of this estate, John Knox, of no known kin to Ephraim Knox, married the widow Knox. Sally Locke was a daughter of David Locke, m Mary Wylie, and a granddaughter of William Wylie, m Janet Black.

The home of Samuel Lyle is the nest in Ireland of the Lyle family treated in this book. In it is the cradle in which were rocked three of the four Lyle pioneers to Virginia and the father of the fourth one.
This cradle was in service for seven generations. The pre-American home of the Lyles is in the townland of Browndodd, one of the four towns of the parish of Larne. It stands on the north side of the road from Larne to Raloo, and near Raloo. A lane runs from the road to the house. John Snoddy, see 29, was living in it in 1911. About a quarter mile east of the Lyle home is the townland of Ballyvallagh, wherein was the home of the Blairs of mention in this book, and near by is the home in Ireland of the Houstons that came to the Colony of Virginia about 1740 and settled on Timber Ridge, in what is now Rockbridge County. The Houston home was on high ground. On clear days there is a view of the North Channel and the coast of Scotland. Thomas Houston, who was 95 in 1894, gave the place to his son. This son sold it and it passed out of the family.

Janet Knox had three brothers that married in Ireland and have many descendants there and in America. Samuel Lyle had six children: Mary, see 11; Isabella, see 12; Janet, see 13; one d, y; Robert, probably d, y; and James, see 14.

Sisters of Jane Adams were: Grace, m James Snoddy, and Sarah, m William Irvine. The Snoddy family came to Ireland from Scotland about 1652. A sister of Margaret Snoddy was Elizabeth, who married Hugh Manford, of Ballyclare, and died August 12, 1726. Has many descendants.

James Lyle lived and died in the old Lyle home. In that home all of his children were born. They were: Elizabeth, see 15; Jenny, see 16; Matthew, see 17; John, see 18; Robert, see 19; Daniel, see 23; William, see 24; and probably James, see Notes.

packed up. He lived on a farm his wife owned in Toreagh. For a time he lived at a place called "Pullendoes," owned by his wife's father and situated about a mile from the home of the Blairs in Ballyvallagh. Fannie Locke, a sister of Ann Jane Locke, lived with them. The Locke's have a Scotch ancestry. The name is an abbreviation of Lockhart.

MATTHEW LYLE,
FROM IRELAND TO VIRGINIA.
HIS POSTERITY.

No. 1. MATTHEW LYLE was born about 1711 in the townland of Browndodd, one of the four towns of the parish of Larne, in County Antrim, Ireland. The house wherein he was born stands to the right of the road going from Larne to Raloo, near Raloo, and about two and one-half miles west and south of Larne. It is of stone with a slate roof and in good condition in 1911 after an occupancy of over two hundred years. Matthew Lyle was a son of James Lyle, whose wife was a Margaret Snoddy, and a grandson of a Samuel Lyle, whose wife was a Janet Knox. According to records preserved in a church in Larne, Matthew Lyle and Esther Blair were proclaimed to marry September 18th, 1731. It is tradition he was under age at that time. Marrying in 1731, he went to live on a farm, then under lease to his father, and situated near a small stream called Kilwaughter, and not far from his father’s home. The location of this farm must have been highly eligible for a Chichester Mansion, since built, and now standing, is on the site of the house where Matthew Lyle lived for about six years. A site chosen for a home by a family of such distinction and large estates as the Chichesters, must have had much in its commendation in a land of high fertility and fairly picturesque. On expiration of lease, and about 1737, the land passed to a John Patton; a relative of the Chichesters owning the land. This necessitated Matthew Lyle’s removal and decided him to join the extensive emigration to America. Inducements extended by Benjamin Borden to settle on lands granted to him and others in the Valley of Virginia attracted many Scotch-Irish immigrants, and Matthew Lyle was of them. The McDowells had settled on Timber Ridge, in what is now Rockbridge County, Va. Coming from the vicinity of the Lyles in Ireland, they were a probable influence in the Lyles selection of a home in America. Just when Matthew Lyle left Ireland is not definitely known, but he had been on Timber Ridge some time before July 30th, 1742. On that date his name appears of those to a petition to Colonial Governor Gooch. He was, in all probability, the earliest of the several Lyles who were pioneer settlers in Rockbridge County. On leaving Ireland, a daughter of Matthew Lyle, Elizabeth by name, was left there with relatives. She was the life renewable in a lease of lands to an uncle, Daniel Blair. Matthew Lyle was a farmer. He died in 1774. His wife predeceased him. Four children survived him, and have mention in his will—James, John, Elizabeth and Martha. Other children than the four mentioned were William, baptized in Larne, March 15th, 1738, and Robert, baptized there in 1740. These two died young.
The will of Matthew Lyle reads as follows:

"In the name of God, Amen, the 15th of June, 1773, I, Matthew Lyle, of Augusta County, being sick and weak of body, but of perfect mind and memory, and calling to mind my mortality, knowing 'tis appointed for all men to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament; that is to say, principally and first of all, I commend my soul to God that gave it, and my body to be decently buried at the discretion of my executors, and, for any worldly estate it hath pleased God to bless me, I give and bequeathe, and dispose of, in the following manner and form following:

"First, I order that all my just debts and funeral charges be paid by my executors: Imprimis; I give and bequeathe to my son James the tract of land I live on at present, containing 300 acres, to him, his heirs and assigns forever. Item, I give and bequeathe to my daughter Elizabeth my other tract of land containing 110 acres, to her, her heirs and assigns forever. Item, I also order that in case my daughter Elizabeth do not come in from Ireland within the term of three years, I bequeathe said tract of land containing 110 acres to my son James, his heirs and assigns forever, and I also order that in lieu of said land my son James do pay to her 15 pounds current money. Item, I likewise order that, with the above proviso, 16 pounds current money be levied out of my movable estate for my said daughter Elizabeth to be paid at the expiration of three years after my decease in lieu of said movable. Item, I bequeathe to my daughter Martha, one bay mare, two years old, and 30 shillings in cash, and one white heifer two years old; also my bed and furniture. Item, I bequeathe to my son John Lyle, one white heifer, two years old. Item, I bequeathe to my son James Lyle all the rest of my movable estate excepting my hat, great-coat, and saddle and bridle, which I leave to my daughter Martha to dispose of at pleasure. Likewise I bequeathe 4 sheep to my daughter Elizabeth. Lastly, I constitute and appoint my son James executor of this my last will and testament and do hereby revoke and disannul all other wills and executors by me heretofore made, confirming and approving of this my last will and testament.

MATTHEW LYLE (Seal).

Admitted to record May 17th, 1774.

On April 1st, 1763, Matthew Lyle, for five shillings, conveyed to his son John a tract of 451 acres. This explains why this son received so little in his father's will. This 451 acres was acquired by Matthew Lyle from the executors of Benjamin Borden on March 19th, 1746, on payment of thirteen pounds and ten shillings.

In 1755 Matthew Lyle's lands were processioned as 751 acres. It is of record that Matthew Lyle was one of the primary movers for the establishment of the Presbyterian church in the Valley of Virginia.
The first Timber Ridge church was of logs and stood on land given for it by Matthew Lyle. It stood where is now the road, and near the old burial ground, on the farm where he lived. There are no gravestones at this time to indicate the burial places of Matthew Lyle and wife. Matthew Lyle married ESTHER BLAIR, a daughter of Samuel Blair, who married about 1690, Martha Campbell Lyle, a daughter of a James Lyle of Toreagh, whose wife was a Martha Campbell, and granddaughter of John Lyle, whose wife was a Florence Montgomery. Esther Blair was a descendant of Brice Blair, who married Esther Peden in Ayrshire, Scotland, and went to Ireland in 1625. Brice Blair was of high lineage. Esther Peden was a farmer's daughter and related to the Rev. Alexander Peden, a religious celebrity of much persecution.

Esther Blair was born about 1713 on her father's farm in Ballyvallagh, County Antrim, Ireland, and about a mile from Raloo of previous mention. The house wherein she was born was abandoned when another was built near by on the main road to Carrickfergus. The first house is only a ruin, but the other one, and the one in which she lived when married to Matthew Lyle, is in good preservation and occupied in 1911. The issue of Matthew Lyle and wife were: James, see 2; John, see 171; Elizabeth, see 330; Martha, see 1578, and William and Robert, who died in childhood.

2. JAMES LYLE, ex 1, was born in Ireland about 1732; died in Virginia in 1791. His will reads:

In the name of God, Amen, I, James Lyle, of Rockbridge County, and State of Virginia, being in a very weak and frail state of body, but of perfect mind and memory, calling to mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that 'tis appointed for all men to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, disposing of my worldly estate in the following form: First, I give and bequeath to Hannah, my dearly beloved wife, a horse and saddle, bed and furniture; also my negro woman, Doll, during her natural life, and to be disposed of at her death as she may think proper. Also her third of my movable estate and the privilege of my dwelling house during her natural life, provided she remain unmarried. Item, I give to my son Joseph that part of the tract of land I now live upon, joining to Alexander Campbell; beginning opposite said Campbell's barn, and running east to my cleared land, thence such a south course as shall run to the foot of an old field by my meadow ground, thence cross said meadow by a small broken white oak and some bushes, thence on a s'e course unto the opposite line of my plantation; the said land to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

I give to my two sons, Archibald and James, the remainder of said tract, they sharing equally in all buildings, improvements, &c., that are on said land, provided notwithstanding I order that said land be valued when my son John arrives at the age of twenty-one years, at ready money, and the one-third of said land's value shall be paid by my two sons, Archibald and James, to my son John, all reasonable charges being allowed by my executors for education, clothing, &c., and for a liberal education provided he chooses to take one.

Item, I give and bequeathe to my son Matthew a tract of land in the State of North Carolina, lying on a branch of Lick Creek, containing 400 acres, to be disposed of by him, and provided the said land can be sold by him for more than one hundred pounds, counting trouble and expense that may arise from obtaining a clear title for said land, he shall pay the surplus to my two sons, Archibald and James.

Item, I give and bequeathe to my daughter Elizabeth, my negro girl named Jinny, also a horse and saddle, bed and furniture. Item, I give and bequeathe to my daughter Peggy, my negro boy named Jesse, also a horse and saddle, bed and furniture. Item, I give and bequeathe to my daughter Esther my mulatto boy named Mike, also a horse and saddle, bed and furniture. Item, I further bequeathe to my sons, Joseph and John, a tract of land lying in Kentucky on the waters of Licking, containing 500 acres and located by one Simon Kinty, the said land to them and their assigns forever.

I also bequeathe to my three above-named daughters, a tract of land in Kentucky containing one thousand acres. which, in partnership with Col. S. McDowell, to be equally divided amongst said daughters.

I do likewise order that after my debts are paid the remainder of my movable estate not mentioned be kept by my two sons, Archibald and James, for the maintenance of my family. Lastly, I appoint my trusty friend, Andrew Alexander, of Lexington, and my son, Matthew, executors of this my last will and testament and confirming this and no other to be my last will.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 31st day of March, 1791.

JAMES LYLE (Seal).

Witnesses, John Lyle, Jr., Matthew Donald, Jr., John Evans.

Filed for record, September 6th, 1791.

James Lyle married, about 1764, HANNAH ALEXANDER, born near Nottingham, Pa., April 21st, 1745. She died about 1835. She was a daughter of Archibald Alexander, who married, in Ireland, Margaret Parks. Archibald Alexander was son of William Alexander, a very corpulent man, of the manor of Cunningham, in Ireland, and grandson of an Archibald Alexander, who went from Scotland to Ireland in the early part of the 17th century. James Lyle had 8 issue: Joseph, see 3; Matthew, see 106; Elizabeth, see 135; Esther, b1779, never married; Margaret, see 137; John, see 169: Archibald, see 170.

3. JOSEPH LYLE, ex 2, b1765, d1810; buried Lexington, Va. Was a small, black-eyed man, farmer. Elder of Presbyterian church in Lexington. His farm, three miles from Lexington, was known as "Eagle Hills." House standing and occupied in 1911. He married in 1791.

The marriage bond, given to comply with legal requirements, is of the papers filed in Rockbridge County Court House and reads as follows: "Know all men by these presents, that we, Joseph Lyle and Samuel Ramsey, are held and firmly bound to the Commonwealth of Virginia in the sum of fifty pounds, current money, to the payment whereof we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents. Sealed with our seals, and dated, 12th day of July, 1791.

The condition of the above obligation is such that, whereas there's a marriage intended to be solemnized between the above bound Joseph Lyle and Sarah Butt (orphan of William Butt), of this County. If, therefore, there shall be no lawful cause to obstruct the said marriage, then the above obligation to be void, or else to remain in full force.

Teste, A. Reid, Clerk.

JOSEPH LYLE (Seal),

SARAH BUTT was born 1765 and died near Jonesboro, Tenn., in 1840. William Butt, her father, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. 330. ELIZABETH LYLE, ex 1, b in Ireland ab't 1734. When her parents emigrated to Virginia, ab't 1740, Elizabeth was left with her maternal grandparents. Was life in a lease of land to an uncle, Daniel Blair. Her father's will, made in 1774, mentions her as then in Ireland. Her marrying in Ireland explains why she remained there when her parents were in America. She emigrated in 1775, the date being fixed by one of her children being born at sea. She married twice in Ireland. Her first marriage was about 1750 to WILLIAM THOMPSON, who died February 16, 1759. He was son of Thomas Thompson, who died May 1, 1779, aged 82, and his wife, Mary Black, who died November 12, 1788, aged 76. Mary Black was dau’ of Samuel Black, who died February 14, 1740, aged 84, and his wife Alice Murdock, who died August 28, 1743, aged 68. Issue by Thompson, 3: Esther, see 331; Jane, see 714; Mary, see 1020.

About 1765, she married secondly MATTHEW DONALD, a cousin of her first husband, and son of John Donald, who died September 17, 1800, aged 95, and his wife Margaret Black, who died May 28, 1761, aged 62. The parents of John Donald were Samuel Donald, from Kilmuir, in the Isle of Skye, Scotland, and his wife, Annie Ford. The name Donald is an abbreviation of MacDonald. The home of the Donalds in Ireland, called “Braefoot,” is near Glynn, in the neighborhood of Larne, and said to be “a beautiful place.” Samuel Donald, in going to Ireland, intended going to friends in County Down. The sloop bound for Belfast was wrecked on the Antrim coast, and only Donald and a man named Glasgow escaped. Glasgow lived in the vicinity of Larne. Donald accompanied him to his home, got work thereabouts, and, in time, made a home near Glynn, after marrying Annie Ford. Matthew Donald was a farmer. His home in America was on lands given his wife in her father’s will, and situate on Timber Ridge, Rockbridge Co., Va. He died March 13, 1812. His wife died February 17, 1802. Were members of Timber Ridge church. Issue 7: Matthew Lyle, see 1403; John, see 1496; Samuel, b 1777, d 1830, was Soldier U. S. Army, unm’; Margaret, see 1508; William Blair, see 1529; James, see 1533; Mark, see 1577.

JOHN LYLE.
FROM IRELAND TO VIRGINIA.
HIS POSTERITY.

1. JOHN LYLE was son of James Lyle, whose wife was Margaret Snoddy. He was born about 1720, in Ireland, in the townland of Browndodd, near Raloo, and about two and a half miles from Larne, in County Antrim. He married, in Ireland, JEAN OWENS, of Welsh ancestry, and emigrated to Virginia about 1743. Jean Owens was dau’ of William Owens and his wife, Matilda Knox, and was born in the townland of Ballysnoodd, one of the four towns of Inver, or Larne Parish, and about a half-mile from Larne. William Owens was of Owenstown, near Larne, and of a family that came from Wales to Ireland in 1609. Matilda Knox was of the same family as Janet Knox, grandmother of Samuel Lyle, who came to Virginia about 1750.

Earliest record of John Lyle’s presence in Virginia is a conveyance to him by the executors of Benjamin Borden, on March 19, 1746, of 734 acres of land for a consideration of 22 pounds and 5 shillings, current money. This land was on the headwaters of Mill Creek, on Timber Ridge, in Rockbridge County, Va., and adjoining lands of John McDowell, and lands of his brother, Matthew Lyle, who had preceded him to Virginia, and was one of the pioneer settlers on Borden’s Grant. On the lands obtained from Borden, John Lyle made his home, and died a comparatively young man in 1758. His will was proven in Court August 16, 1758. His wife outlived him 49 years, and died August 29, 1807. The will of John Lyle reads as follows:

“In the name of God, Amen. This 14th day of February, Anno Domini 1758, I, John Lyle, of Augusta County, and Colony of Virginia, Yeoman, being sick and weak of body, but of a perfect mind and memory, thanks Almighty God therefor, calling to mind my mortality, knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last Will and Testament. That is to say, principally and first of all, I recommend my soul to God who gave it, and my body to the dust, to be decently interred, not doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and, for such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me, I leave, bequeathe and dispose of the same in manner and form following:

“FIRST, I order that all my just debts and funeral expenses be paid by my Executors. Imprimis, I give and bequeathe unto my beloved wife, Jean, one-third of all my movable estate, and her maintenance, or living, on my plantation during her life. I give and bequeath unto my two sons, John and William, my plantation containing 524 acres, to be divided betwixt them as a line shall be drawn by my direction; that is to say, that my son John shall have all my improvements, except a small draught of meadow, which shall be in my son William’s part, and that side of the plantation more or less from said line, and that my son William shall have the other end of the plantation from said line Westward, more or less, where no improvement is made, except said meadow. I order also that my son John shall bear one-half the cost of building a convenient dwelling house for my son William, and also one-half the cost of clearing and fencing a field of ten acres, for my said son William. I also order that my above sons, John and William, pay ten pounds currency, each of them, out of their estate, to be equally divided amongst my four daughters, viz: Martha, Elizabeth, Sarah and Esther, that each have an equal share thereof. Lastly, I constitute and appoint my beloved wife, Jean, with Daniel Lyle and Archibald Alexander, as executors of this my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and disannulling all other Wills heretofore made by me, and hereby confirming this as my last Will and Testament.

JOHN LYLE (Seal).

FROM IRELAND TO VIRGINIA.

HIS POSTERITY.

1. DANIEL LYLE was born near Larne, in County Antrim, Ireland. His parents were a James Lyle who married a Margaret Snoddy and lived near Raloo in the townland of Browndodd. His paternal grandparents were a Samuel Lyle, who married a Janet Knox, and his maternal grandparents, a William Snoddy, who married a Jane Adams. It was about 1745 when Daniel Lyle came to the Colony of Virginia and made his home on Timber Ridge, in Rockbridge County, in the vicinity of his brothers, Matthew and John, who had preceded him to America. He was a farmer and stone-mason and the builder of Timber Ridge church in 1756. Was one of the Elders of that church. His will reads as follows: "In the name of God, Amen, the 22 day of August in the year 1781, I, Daniel Lyle, of Rockbridge county, and Commonwealth of Virginia, being sick and weak in body but of perfect sense and memory, thanks be given to God therefor, calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing 'tis appointed for all men once to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally and first, I recommend my soul to God, that gave it, and my body to the earth to be buried in a Christian and decent manner at the discretion of my executors, and, touching my worldly estate, I devise and dispose of it in manner following: Imprimis, it is my will that all my just debts be paid. Item, I will and bequeath to my son James the tract of land I now live on, with all appurtenances thereto belonging, to him, and his heirs and assigns forever. It is my will that my son James pay to my sons David, Robert and John, to each of them, the sum of ten pounds in specia, or other property to that value, as it would have sold for in the year 1774, which payments are to be made in three years from my decease, whether specia or other property to be at the option of the payer. Item, I give and bequeath to my son Samuel, ten pounds of the present currency. I give and bequeath to my daughter Esther, my bay horse, my two best cows, two sheep, two beds, bedsteads and furniture, one-half of my pewter, and my large chest. Item, the remainder of my personal estate I give and bequeath to my son James, and I do hereby constitute and appoint my son James to be my sole executor of this my last will and testament, and I do hereby revoke and disannul all former wills and testaments by me heretofore made and do ratify and confirm this to be my last will and testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day and year first above written.

SAMUEL LYLE.
FROM IRELAND TO VIRGINIA.
HIS POSTERITY.

1. SAMUEL LYLE was born about 1725, near Larne, County Antrim, Ireland, and came to the Colony of Virginia about 1750. Was one of the pioneer settlers on Timber Ridge in Rockbridge County. His father was a Robert Lyle whose wife was Annie Locke, and his paternal grandparents, James Lyle, whose wife was Margaret Snoddy. Matthew, John and Daniel Lyle, uncles of Samuel Lyle, brothers of Robert Lyle, and sons of James Lyle, of mention, were settled in Virginia on "Borden's Grant," when Samuel Lyle came to America and made his home in their vicinity. For a time he lived with his uncle, Daniel Lyle.

In 1755 he received from the executors of the estate of Benjamin Borden 235 acres of land for a consideration of ten pounds. In April, 1764, he received from the heirs of Benjamin Borden 100 acres for eleven pounds, and in August, 1764, he bought of Samuel and Mary Davis 200 acres for fifty pounds.

His first house stood a mile north of the present town of Fairfield, Va. Later he moved to his farm, 4½ miles N. E. of Lexington, occupied by a family of Sterrett's in 1900. On this farm he lived to the time of his death, in 1796. Samuel Lyle was a Farmer, Carpenter and Merchant; Justice of the County Court of Rockbridge Co., from the foundation of the county in 1777 to 1781, or later; Vestryman of Rockbridge Parish; Commissioner of the Provision Law in 1781, purchasing and forwarding supplies to the Revolutionary army; appointed by the Presbytery in 1775 to collect subscriptions in the forks of the James River for Liberty Hall Academy; Trustee of the Academy from 1776 until his death; Treasurer 1778-1783, and Elder of Timber Ridge Church.

His marriage to SARAH McLUNG, a daughter of William McClung, was near 1751. She died in 1785. His six children were: William, see 2; James, see 52; Mary, see 61; Jane, see 233; Elizabeth, see 272; and Sarah, see 341.

2. WILLIAM LYLE, ex 1, b1752, d1837. Was in the Revolutionary army, holding the office of Commissary. Was in the battle of Guilford, N. C., March 15th, 1781, and much exposed as one of the staff officers. Was a merchant in Lexington, Va., until burned out in 1794, when he retired to his farm, "Oakley," about four miles N. E. of Lexington, where he lived until his death. Was sheriff of Rockbridge County in 1814; Elder of Timber Ridge Church; Trustee of Washington College in 1796-1835. He was twice married. His first wife was JULIA ANN STUART, the eighth child of Thomas Stuart and his wife Elizabeth Moore, and a niece of Major Alexander Stuart, who commanded Rockbridge and Augusta troops at the battle of Guilford. The Stuarts were of Scotch origin. It is related that during the reign of James I the Stuart family moved from Scotland to Ireland, where one Archibald Stuart married Janet Brown, a sister to Rev. John Brown, ancestor of the Browns in Rockbridge County and many of the name in Louisiana. In 1727 this Archibald Stuart emigrated from Ireland to Pennsylvania with two children, Thomas and Eleanor. In 1738 he settled on Pratt's Farm, near Waynesboro, Va., where he died in 1761, leaving four children: Thomas, Eleanor, Alexander and Benjamin. All of them married and had large families. William Lyle's first marriage was on July 29th, 1784; wife died about 1794.

LYLES OF TOREAGH

Of several Lyle families in County Antrim, Ireland, was one having residence at Toreagh. Tradition relates this family traces to Ayrshire in Scotland and came to Ireland about 1606. The location and date are suggestive it was one of those Scotch families settling on lands of Sir Randal Macdonnell in the vicinity of Larne. It is noticeable the spelling of the name was Lyll to about 1725. About that time a change was made to Lyle. Through marriages the Lyles of Toreagh became connected with the Lyles of Browndodd and the Blairs of Ballyvallagh.

1. JOHN LYLLE was a son of the Scotch progenitor of the Toreagh family. He was b ab't 1615 and near 1640 m FLORENCE MONTGOMERY. Asc' issue 4, probably others: Thomas, see 2; James, see 3; Jane, n, m; David, see 12.

These sons came to America in 1741 and were progenitors of large families in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. See Note. 7. JOHN LYLE, “Jack,” ex 6, m JENNY LYLE, of Browndodd. It is asserted that Jenny Lyle was a daughter of James Lyle and that she had a brother John who lived Ballynure. James Lyle is said to have been a son of the James Lyle who m Margaret Snoddy. If true, he was a brother of Matthew, John and Daniel Lyle, and an uncle of Samuel Lyle, the four Lyles that went to Virginia. BLAIR

LINEAGE OF ESTHER BLAIR, WIFE OF MATTHEW LYLE

1. BRICE BLAIR was of high lineage. He was born in Scotland, probably in Ayrshire, about 1600. He married in 1624 ESTHER PEDEN, a farmer’s daughter. She was an aunt of the celebrated and much persecuted Alexander Peden, the Covenant preacher, in whose memory a monument was recently erected in his native town of Old Cumnock, in Ayrshire, after his being dead over two hundred years. In 1625 Brice Blair, with his wife and infant daughter, “escaped” from Scotland in a coal sloop and reached Larne on the Irish coast. The distance is but thirty miles. Arrived in Ireland, Brice Blair made his way to influential kinsmen in Lord Edmonstone, at Red Hall, near Carrickfergus, and Rev. Edward Brice, at Ballycarry. Lord Edmonstone had gone to Ireland in 1609, and Rev. Edward Brice in 1613. Rev. Brice was born in 1569 and died 1636. Was one of the pioneer clergymen of the Presbyterian church in Ireland. The opportunities for getting lands in Ireland, and having kinsmen there, is a fair explanation of Brice Blair’s leaving Scotland. From Lord Edmonstone he obtained four hundred acres of land in Ballyvallagh, whereon he built a home and spent the remainder of his life. This land is situated a few miles westward of Larne and not far from the village of Raloo. A part of it was in the possession of a descendant in 1900. Near his home Brice Blair built a flax mill, one of the first, if not the first, in Ireland. The ruins of the home and mill are yet distinguishable. In the troublous period of 1641 Brice Blair and family escaped massacre through a timely warning given by a faithful servant. It is related that a brother of Brice Blair, named Donald Blair, settled in Ireland at Bella Hill.

The children of Brice Blair were: Nannie, see 2; Abram, see 17; Brice, see 18; Daniel, see 30; John, see 134; Randal, see 142.

2. NANNIE BLAIR, ex 1, was born in Scotland in 1624 and married in Ireland, PATRICK CRAWFORD. Her early life was eventful in many escapes during a period of much disturbance. On a tombstone in the churchyard at Raloo appears:

“In memory of Nannie Blair, ye wifie of Patrick Crawford, who died 21st February 1691.”

Of issue: John, see 3; probably others.

Petition of the frontier inhabitants for appointment of proper officers, etc., for their defense, July 30, 1742.

To the Honorable William Gooch, Esq., His Majesty’s Lieutenant-Governor, etc.

Sir,

We, your petitioners, humbly showeth, that we, your Honor’s loyal and dutiful subjects, have ventured our lives and all that we have in settling the back parts of Virginia, which was a very great hazard, and dangerous, for it is the Heathen’s road to war, which has proved hurtful to several of us that were the first settlers of these back woods, and we, your honorable petitioners, some time ago petitioned your Honor for to have commissioned men amongst us, which we, your Honor’s most dutiful subjects, thought properest men, and men that had heart and courage, to head us in time of peril and to defend your country, and your poor subjects’ interest from the violence of the Heathen. But yet again we humbly presume to put your Honor in mind of our great want of them in hopes that your Honor will grant a Captain’s commission to John McDowell, with following officers, and your Honor’s compliance in this will be great satisfaction
PETITION OF COLONIAL SETTLERS—JULY 30, 1742.

LORD LYLE

The surname of L'isle, or Lyle, was first assumed by the proprietors of some of the Western Isles in the reign of Malcolm Canmore. They had also possessions in the County of Renfrew, where Duchal Castle was their principal seat.

1. WILLIAM de LYLE witnessed the foundation charter of the Monastery of Paisley by Walter, son of Alan, High Steward of Scotland, in 1164; was one of the prisoners taken along with King William I, at Alnwick, 1174; and died before 1200, leaving a son and successor.

2. WILLIAM de LYLE, who witnessed a charter of donation by Walter, son of Alan, High Steward of Scotland, along with William, Bishop of St. Andrews, and Walter, Bishop of Glasgow, before 1232. He had two sons. 1, Radulphus; 2, Sir Alan, who witnessed several donations to the Monastery of Paisley in the reign of Alexander II, being designed Dominus Alanus de Insula, Miles.
3. RADULPHUS de LYLE, the eldest son, witnessed a charter of donation to the Monastery of Paisley, along with Walter, Earl of Menteith, early in the reign of Alexander III, being designated Radulphus de Insula, Dominus de Duchal, and he also, under the same designation, witnessed the vendition of the lands of Aldiston to the Abbott of Paisley. His son,

4. SIR WALTER LYLE, was one of the nominees on the part of Robert Bruce in his competition with John Baliol for the crown of Scotland, 1292. He had a son,

5. SIR ALAN LYLE, who, joining Edward Baliol, was constituted Sheriff of Bute and Cowal, 1334; but the people of that land, rising in arms, slew him, and presented his head to the Steward of Scotland. His son,

6. SIR JOHN LYLE, of Duchal, had a grant from King David II, of the lands of Latharne, in the constabulary of Haddington, but resigning them into the King’s hands, that monarch granted them to Malcolm de Fauside, by charter dated 25th November, 1365. Sir John Lyle was one of the Ambassadors to England, 1366. Had charters from the same monarch of tenements in Aberdeen, and obtained from his Majesty a grant, dated 15th March, 1367, 1368, to John del Yle, and Margaret de Vaus, his wife, of the King’s lands of Buchane, in Stirlingshire, to be held by them and the heirs legitimately to be procreated betwixt them, which failing, to return to the King and his heirs. John de Lyle, Dominus de Duchal, Miles, occurs in a charter of confirmation by Sir Alan Erskine, of Barrochan, to Sir Robert Erskine of the lands of Dunnerbok and Auchintwerle. He had a son,

7. SIR JOHN LYLE, who, in several charters of King Robert II, is designed John de Lyle, of Duchal. He married one of the daughters and co-heirs of the family of Marr, in whose right he laid claim to a part of the estate and added the coat of Marr to his paternal arms. They had three sons, 1, Sir Robert; 2, Alexander, and William, both mentioned on the charterlary of Paisley.

8. SIR ROBERT LYLE, the eldest son, obtained a safe conduct to go up to King James I, while a prisoner in England, 1422, and was one of the hostages for his Majesty's ransom, 1424, when his annual revenue was estimated at 300 marks. Upon the death of Alexander Stewart, Earl of Marr, in 1435, he put in his claim as one of the heirs of that earldom, to which he and the Lord Erskine should have succeeded by right and proximity of blood, as Fordun's continuator remarks, but the King possessed himself of that earldom, and, it is probable, compromised with Sir Robert Lyle about his right thereto, as in all disputes betwixt his Majesty and Lord Erskine, there is no mention made of Sir Robert's title. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir John Stewart of Castlemilk, by whom he had a son.

9. SIR ROBERT LYLE, who was created a peer by James II, about 1446. Robert, Lord Lyle, granted a precept to William Semple, son and heir of the Lord of Eliotstoun, witnessed by Alexander and William Lyle, his father's brothers, 1452. A charter was granted to Robert, Lord Lyle (then follows Latin), with remainders to Robert, his natural son, remainder to the natural sons of Robert, Lord Lyle, and the heirs male of their bodies; remainder to Andrew de Galbraith, and the heirs male of his body, taking the name and arms of Lyle; remainder to Alexander Lyle, eldest son of Alan Lyle of Craigbate, and the heirs male betwixt him and Elizabeth Lyle, sister of the said Lord, George Lyle, of Stonypeth, and John Lyle, of Ardarden, and their heirs male; remainder to the nearest heirs of Lord Lyle, of the capital, messuage and manor of Lyle, Dunnerbok and Auchintwere in the barony of Lyle and County Renfrew. Robert, Lord Lyle, had a charter of the King's lands of Castlehill and the King's orchard and meadow of Renfrew, to him and the legitimate heirs male, which failing, to Robert, his natural son, 22 July, 1468, and he died about 1470. He married first, Margaret, eldest daughter of Lord Gray, to a charter of whom to his son Patrick, dated 1445, one of the witnesses is Robert Lyle, Lord of Duchal, my son. By her he had a daughter married to Alexander, son and heir of Alan Lyle, of Craigbate. He married secondly, Margaret Wallace, by whom he had a son, Robert, 2nd Lord Lyle, and a daughter Elizabeth, married to John Stewart, of Blackhall.

10. ROBERT, 2nd Lord LYLE, the only son, was a privy councillor to James III, and an ambassador to England in March, 1472, when he concluded a truce with that nation. He was accused of sending letters into England to the traitor James of Douglas and to other Englishmen, in reasonable manner, and receiving letters from them, and in furthering the King's enemies of England, and prejudice and skaithe of the King, his realm and lieges. He was tried in Parliament March 1481-2, before an assize, the King sitting as Judge, and declared free and innocent of the accusation. He was afterwards employed, for several times, to treat with the English in 1484-5. Had a charter of Langbank, in Renfrewshire, 20th January, 1484-85, and another of Bordland, in Forfarshire, 19th May, 1485. He joined the party formed against James III, and went with some of his associates to England in May, 1483, under a safe conduct from Henry VII. He was in England when James was murdered at Bannockburn, 11th June, 1488, and returned home before 24th July that year when a letter under the great seal was given to Robert, Lord Lyle (Latin). Robert, Lord Lyle, Great Justiciary of Scotland, was one of the Commissioners for opening the Parliament, 8th October, 1488. He, however, joined the Earl of Lennox and others who took up arms to avenge the death of James III. They were defeated and Lord Lyle was forfeited in June, 1489, but the act of forfeiture is not now to be found on the records; for it was rescinded and annulled by the King and Parliament, 5th February, 1489-90, and in consequence thereof, his Majesty issued a precept to the clerk-register, ordering him to take further of the books of Parliament the process of forfeiture and deliver the same to Lord
Lyle, and to destroy the said process, so that it be never seen in time to come. He was restored to his office of Justiciary; had charters of Dowald, etc., in Renfrewshire; of Newark, in the same county, 8th November, 1491, and of Salsarhill, 8th October, 1496. Having made a settlement of his estate, a charter was granted, 6th May, 1495, to Robert Lyle, son of Lord Lyle, George, Nicholas and John, his brothers, John Stewart of Ardgowan, and their heirs male, remainder to Peter Houstoun, and the heirs male betwixt Mariot Lyle, his wife, daughter of Lord Lyle, remainder to James Galbraith, etc., of the barony of Lyle, Duchal, Buchan, Lundie, Dunnerbok and Auchin- werle, in the counties of Renfrew and Dunbarton, Shiels, in Lanark- shire, and part of Kinpunt, in Linlithgow, reserving her terce to Marg- aret Houstoun, wife of Lord Lyle. He married first a daughter of John, Master of Seton, without issue. Secondly, Lady ELIZABETH DOUGLAS, second daughter of Archibald, 5th Earl of Angus, by whom he had issue: Robert (3rd Lord), George, Nicholas, who had a charter of the lands of Langbank from his father, John, Margaret, who had a charter from Matthew Stewart, son and heir of John, Earl of Lennox, of the land of Inchinnan, 15th April, 1494. She married James Stewart, of Blackhall; Mariot, married to Peter Houstoun, of Houstoun; Agnes, who had a charter of the lands of Newark. She married John Maxwell, of Stainly.

11. ROBERT, 3rd Lord LYLE, the eldest son, had charter to “Robert, son and heir to Robert, Lord Lyle,” and Mariot Lindsay, his wife, of the lands of Shiels of Kilbride, in Lanarkshire, and of Buchan, in Stirlingshire. He died 1511, leaving by the said Mariot Lindsay, a daughter of the house of Dunrod, a son John, 4th Lord Lyle, and two daughters; Helen, married to Alan, Master of Cathcart; they had a charter 1507; Catherine, married Archibald McLachlan, of Mc- Lachlan.

12. JOHN, 4th Lord LYLE, the only son, being under age at his father’s death, the King assigned his wardship and marriage to James Betoun, Archbishop of Glasgow, and he married a niece of the Arch- bishop, Grissel, daughter of David Betoun, of Creich. A charter was granted, 9th May, 1513, of the barony of Lundie, to her in life-rent, and afterwards to John, Lord Lyle, and his heirs (Latin). He was served heir of Robert, Lord Lyle, his father, in the lands of Mylinhill and Burnflat, in Perthshire, part of the barony of Duchal, 16th Octo- ber, 1545. By the said Grissel he had a son John, who had a charter to John Lyle, son and heir of John, Lord Lyle, of the manor and mes- suage of Lyle, in Renfrewshire (Latin). He died without male issue, and a daughter, Jean, married to Sir Niel Montgomery, of Lainshaw, son of Sir Niel Montgomery, of Lainshaw, third son of Hugh, first Earl of Eglintoun. Her descendant, James Montgomery, of Lain- shaw, tendered his vote, as Lord Lyle, at the elections of representa- tive peers, 1721 and 1722, but it was not received. Sir Walter Mont- gomery tendered his vote as Lord Lyle at the general election, 1784, and at subsequent elections, but it was not received.

APPENDIX TO LORD LYLE.

Sir ROBERT LYLE, hostage, was released 16th July, 1425, when George, his eldest son, was sent a hostage in his stead. Foedera X, 348. George appears to have predeceased his father.

"To the Right Honourable, the Lords spiritual and temporal, in Parliament assembled, the humble petition of Walter, Lord Lyle, presented and read on the 22nd December, 1790, sheweth, that at the late election of sixteen peers of Scotland in the present Parliament, your petitioner attended and required the deputies of the Lord clerk-register, acting as returning officers, to administer to him the oaths required to be taken by law, and did then and there tender his vote for the following noble Lords, to represent the peerage of Scotland in the present Parliament, namely, the Marquis of Tweedale, the Earls of Glencairn, Strathmore, Lauderdale, Dumfries, Selkirk, Breadalbane, Aberdeen and Hopetoun, the Lord Viscount Stormont, the Lords Sutt-on, Gray, Sempill, Cranstoun, Elibank and Kinnaird.

"That the returning officer on certain frivolous pretences refused to administer the oaths to your petitioner, or to receive his votes, so tendered, whereas, your petitioner apprehends, and is advised, that, as a peer of Scotland, he was well entitled to vote; and that in determining the merits of said election his votes ought to be reckoned and the benefits thereof allowed to the said noble Lords for whom the said votes were given or tendered.

"Your petitioner therefore prays this most Honourable House to take the premises into consideration and to allow him to be heard by his counsel, and to grant to him, and the peers affected by the said refusal of the returning officers, such relief as your Lordships in your great wisdom, shall seem proper."

From a letter written by William Robertson, the author of "Historical Tales and Legends of Ayrshire," the following extract is taken:

"The Lyles are a very old family. Old enough to have a wraith. That is, a duplicate of the head of the house who came to warn some relative that the master, or lord, was about to die. The ballad "Lord Lyle" is founded on Ayrshire traditions. As it is very old, and may interest you, I have copied it to send you."

LORD LYLE

Young Lord Lyle's a hunting gone
In dark Macharnoch moor,
And lo: his mother lonely sits
Beside the castle door.
And long she waiteth his return
And looks with wistful eye,
Along the lea, adown the vale,
And on the uplands high.

The sun has crimsoned all the west
Behind Caerwinning hill,
And thick the gloom of twilight falls
On the dewy landscape still.

And yet he comes not o'er the lea,
And night is coming nigh,
The little stars are shooting out
Far in the eastern sky.

His mother at the castle door
Has watched from noon in vain,
And longs, with weary tenderness,
Till he return again.

The bee has left the closing flower,
The sun has left the sky,
The bird sits mute within the bower,
And yet he comes not nigh.

O, quickly run, my little page,
With fleet steps o'er the lea,
And when thou meetest young Lord Lyle,
O, give him this from me.

She took a rich ring from her hand,
All wrought with golden thread,
And gave it to the little page
And bade him run with speed.

And when thou meetest young Lord Lyle,
Amid his hunting train,
Tell him, his mother's heart is sad,
Till he return again.

And thou shalt run along the lea,
And climb the warlock hill,
And cross the ford in Aunick stream;
Stop not for break or rill.

The little page has ta'en the ring,
And crossed the mossy rill,
As the young moon, with silver ray,
Rose o'er the eastern hill.
And he has met the hunting train,
Returning in great glee,
And young Lord Lyle rides in the van,
A joyous man is he.

He roused the deer at dawn of day,
From his green forest lair,
And many a trophy of the chase
His hardy followers bear.

They roused the red deer in the wood,
The dun deer in the brake,
And swiftly urged the noble chase,
By mountain, moor and lake.

The little page has bended low
On the green, grassy wold,
And he has given to Lord Lyle
The ring of woven gold.

O haste, O haste, my noble lord,
Haste with thy hunting train;
My lady fair is sorrowing,
Till you return again.

She sat beside the castle gate,
From morning's earliest light,
In sadness waiting thy return,
Till fell the gloomy night.

O, troubled is her weeping eyes,
And sorrowful her air;
Haste, and return, my noble lord,
And cheer thy lady fair.

He turned upon his weary steed,
And summoned all his train;
O haste, O haste, my merry men,
We must return again.

They sped along the dewy lea,
Beneath the moonbeams bright,
And reached the castle's walls
Ere the black noon of night.

And young Lord Lyle has sought and found
His mother's chamber fair,
All hail, dear mother, why art thou
Oppressed with grief and care?
Oh, sit thee down, my only son,
And listen unto me,
O, I am sick and sad at heart,
And all my grief's for thee.

O, why is all thy grief for me?
My dearest mother, speak.
What have I ever done, that e'er
Tears should bedew thy cheek?

O, have I ever vexed thy heart?
My mother tell to me,
I ever have obedient been,
And dutiful to thee.

If I have vexed your tender heart,
O, let these tears atone,
And O, forgive thine erring son,
Whose love is thine alone.

Thou hast not vexed me, my dear son,
With any fault of thine;
I grieve that thou, so dutiful,
Soon, soon, shalt not be mine.

In the grey morning I arose,
Long after thou hadst gone,
I sought the glen beside the stream,
Far down the rocky glen.

Up, from the craggy hazel brake,
A deer came bounding by,
And hounds were following in full chase,
And foaming steeds drew nigh.

I saw thee on thy coal black steed,
The first of all the train,
Come like an April shadow o'er
The rugged, moonlight plain.

Nor scaur, nor rock, nor brake, nor stream,
Arrested thy career.
My sight grew dim, my bosom swelled,
My limbs were faint with fear.

Thou passed the craggy hazel brake,
And crossed the foggy green,
And scaled the lofty, beetling rocks,
Where man has never been.
Alas! it was thy wraith I saw;
My son, prepare to die;
Such warnings may not come in vain,
To greet a mortal's eye.

The morning came, the sun arose,
His beams kissed off the dew
From starry flowers of loveliest dyes,
Of orange, pink and blue.

Where is Lord Lyle, who used to greet
The rising sun's first rays,
To wander mid the dewy flowers,
Among the glens and braes?

They seek him in the greenwood bower,
And on the dewy lea,
And in the glen, beside the stream,
Lo! there a corpse lies he.

In a description of County Antrim by Richard Dobbs, in 1683, appears the following: "The parish of Kilroot is small. The inhabitants, except my family and some half dozen that live under me, all Presbyterians and Scotch, not one natural Irish in the Parish, etc."

"Next adjacent to Kilroot is Broadisland, or Parish of Templecorran. Inhabitants all Scotch, not one Irishman, and all Presbyterians except the parson and clerk who I think is his son."

Island Magee, "All inhabitants are Scotch Presbyterians. Not one Irish or English except a custom house waiter." "Larne, anciently called Envar or Inver, is a market town, yet no market kept in it, only two fairs yearly. It is only one street of building. All thatched houses, as it is where the inhabitants are Scotch. The inhabitants, except two or three belonging to the custom house, and one family of one William McKay, who are of the Church of England, are all Scotch and Presbyterians."

"In the parish of Carncastle, all are Presbyterians." "Glenarm—the inhabitants for the most part Scotch and Presbyterians."

These extracts are given to show that the part of County Antrim, where lived the Lyles, was a Scotch settlement.

DUCHAL CASTLE

A few miles to the southwest of the city of Glasgow, in Scotland, lies the old barony of Lyle, or Duchal. In this barony stood Duchal Castle, the home for several centuries of the Lords Lyle. When the castle was built is not known, but in 1170, in a grant to the monks of Paisley, appears the signature of "Radulphus de Insula, Dominus de Duchal." A date so early as 1057 has had mention. From a book "Much about Kilmalcolm" is taken an extract as follows: "The great barony of Duchal, which for many ages was the chief property and place of residence of the ancient family of Lyle, was of great extent, situated in the heart of the Parish on both sides of the Gryffe, but chiefly inland from it. The first mention of the family of Lyle (who are said to have been originally a West Highland family, and to derive their name from L'isle) occurs in the grant, etc." In the same book appears: "An eminent local antiquary holds that the castle (Duchal), surrounded on three sides by the stream, and the fourth by a fosse, which was crossed by a draw-bridge, is the Insula meant and that they took their name from the Island on which the fort was built."

In an old work in Edinburgh library appears: "The river Gryffe hath its rise in the moor and parish of Kilmalcolm, at the head of which stands the old castle and fort of Duchall, the ancient inheritance of the Barons Lyll of Douchale, made lords of Parliament by King James III, failed in the reign of Queen Mary in the person of James, last Lord Lyle, who was dead about 1550." The remains of Duchal Castle were described in 1792 "as very romantique in situation and strong in construction."

Says The Imperial Gazeteer of Scotland: "The remains of the strong and romantic Duchal castle stand upon the confluence of the Duchal with another rivulet. In 1710 a mansion was built about a mile east of this. The present (1848) mansion house was built in 1768. It stands on the right bank of the Gryffe and is well sheltered with wood." At one time the castle was besieged. At this time the ruins are little distinguishable. In the near-by towns of Kilmalcolm and Kilbarchan are many of the Lyle name at this time. A small settlement was called Lylesland. Duchal is pronounced Duck-all.

"HEARTS OF STEEL."

As allusion is made to this organization in the coming to America of some of those appearing in this history of the Lyle family, it is explanatory to say that the "Hearts of Steel" was a body of men in County Antrim that was excited into rebellion in 1763. Nine were executed in Carrickfergus, but numbers escaped to America where they became the most determined enemies of British rule.

Near Cairncastle, in County Antrim, Ireland, is an old graveyard, now a field. It is at the foot of some hills once called “Lyle Mountains.” Therein is a tombstone on which appears, “Erected to the memory of Matthew Lial, died 14th October, 1742, aged 91.” Also his son David.

BLAIR ARMS.

The arms of the Blair family, for many centuries settled in County Ayrshire, Scotland, are, in heraldic terms, “Ar, on a saltire sa. Nine mascles of the first.

Crest—a stag lodged ppr.
Motto—Amo probos.”

Robertson, in his “Scotland and her early Kings,” “questions the theory which assumes that the first holder of a charter was always a foreign settler and that every territorial name with a ‘de’ necessarily implies a foreign descent. De Ergadia, De Insulis, De Carrick and many others attest to the contrary."

From Anderson's genealogies: "Lyle, some say that the first ancestor of this family fled from the tyranny of Macbeth, and in 1066 got possession of the Isle of Bute and thence called 'le Isle.' William de Isle was taken prisoner at Alnwick July 13th, 1174. Was ancestor of Sir Walter Lyle who joined King Robert I, ancestor of Robert, made Lord Lyle by James II. From the said Sir Walter descended John, Lord Lyle, whose daughter, Jane, conveyed the right of the title to her husband, Neil Montgomery." (Jane Lyle married Neil Montgomery about 1600.)

Gregory, in his "History of the Western Highlands and Islands of Scotland," says, in the index, "De Insulis, or of the Isles, territorial surname of the descendants of Reginald, son of Somerled." In the book appears the following: "Having thus traced the origin of the inhabitants of the Western Highlands and Isles as we find them early in the twelfth century, it remains, in the second place, to trace the rise, progress and fall of the great family of de Insulis, or Macdonald, Lords of the Isles. The origin of Somerled, the undoubted founder of this noble race, is involved in considerable obscurity. Of his father, Gillebrede, and his grandfather, Gilladomnan, we know little but the names. Somerled (Samuel) became so distinguished in his successes in the Western Isles, that to secure his support, Olave, the Red, King of Man and the Isles, sought him in marriage for his daughter, Ragnhildis, in say 1140. By this marriage the issue was three sons, Dugall, Reginald and Angus." From Reginald came the de Insulis family, the ancestral name of the Lyle family.

Of great service in tracing the Lyle pedigree in Ireland was the following taken from wills on file in Dublin, 1717-1723. James Lyll, of Raloo, County of Antrim. His goods "to be equally divided between my grandchildren. My grandchild, John Knox, under twenty-one; my other grandchild, James Moor. Half my farm to Samuel Blair. King James, on his accession to the throne of England, granted, by letters patent on May 28th, 1603, to Sir Randal McDonnell, because of services rendered in Ireland, and perhaps of the relationship between the McDonnells and the house of Stewart, all the territories called the Route and Glynns. This grant included the country about Glenarm and Larne. In the body of 333,907 acres lies the lands where lived the early Lyles in Ireland.

Extract: "From the time of his marriage Sir Randal MacDonnell devoted himself to the improvement of his estates, etc. Soon after 1603 he began to let out to the natives of the coast. and also to the Scottish settlers, such arable portions of his lands as had been depopulated by the war, for terms varying from 21 to 301 years.” The early Lyles in Ireland were of the Scottish settlers on these lands.

There is a Lyle family in Ireland that does not well appear to have a Scotch ancestry. That it has any kinship to the Lyle family of this book remains unascertained. Some of this family came to America, and, for that reason, what has been learned regarding it, is here presented.
