SECOND SERIES
Vol. I.

Compiled by

Clarksburg, W. Va.
INTRODUCTION

Obituaries, when properly written, always contain considerable information of a genealogical and historical nature. Usually the dates of birth, marriage and death of the deceased is to be found in his or her obituary, and in addition to that the names, addresses and relationship of most of the surviving relatives is given. Taken all in all such information is distinctly worthwhile and should be preserved for the future.

In the past only a part of the genealogical and local historical data that has been printed has been preserved by the people in the various communities covered by this work; thus the information in this and succeeding volumes should materially add to what has already been made available to the general public, and in addition will preserve for the friends and relatives of those deceased ones the obituary notices appearing in the press at the time such deaths occurred.

This will be known as the "SECOND SERIES" of this work, although it will be published prior to the "FIRST SERIES." The necessity for this manner of handling the work was brought about from the fact that the idea for the publication of such a series of books, originated with the compiler some time during the month of November, 1931. Immediately the type used in the obituary columns of The Clarksburg Exponent and The Clarksburg Telegram was ordered held each day to be used in this work. Such type matter could not be held indefinitely but as it accumulated it had to be made up into pages and printed, and thus it had to be designated as the "SECOND SERIES" because the compiler plans to secure and publish in the same form all the obituary matter that may be had, beginning with the earliest obituaries that were printed in the newspapers of this region and continuing it along to the date the "SECOND SERIES" of this work begins. Naturally it should be known and designated as the "FIRST SERIES."

The two daily newspapers above mentioned endeavor to secure and publish an obituary notice for every individual whose death occurs in the territory which their circulation covers; and in many instances obituaries are published of individuals who resided in other sections of the state or nation, because of such individuals having relatives residing in the territory covered by these two newspapers. However, in more remote sections of such territory, news is not so readily secured and if obtained may not always be as accurate and complete as it should be; or in some instances may not be secured until the time has expired in which a daily paper could consistently publish such material. In order to overcome this the obituaries appearing in the weekly papers published in the territory covered herein, are clipped and compared with those appearing in the two dailies above mentioned. If it was found that they contained information not covered in the others or had not been published at all, they were re-set in type and used in this work, giving proper credit to the newspaper from which taken, although to do this required no little additional expense.

That errors will appear in these obituaries the compiler will freely admit, because the time allowed to gather the material and write an obituary notice to be published in a daily newspaper is so limited that it does not admit of being re-checked. For such reasons errors will naturally creep in, but wherever they have been found during the printing of the work they have been corrected. In the main the information will be found correct.
It will be noticed that over some of these obituaries the name of a newspaper and a date will appear, while others do not carry such additional matter. The name of the newspaper denotes that the obituary came from that particular newspaper, and the date indicated the date of the newspaper in which it was published. All obituary notices following such designation and up to the next like designation indicates that all these particular obituaries were published in the same newspaper and on the same date.

The material herein covers the counties of Barbour, Braxton, Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Harrison, Lewis, Nicholas, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Ritchie, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, Webster and parts of Marion, Wetzel and Wirt.

The compiler having had occasion to examine many family Bibles noticed that almost invariably obituary notices of their friends and relatives that had been published in newspapers had been clipped and placed or pasted in the family Bible along with the family records. This originated the idea that if people in general placed such great value on these obituary notices that there should be a demand for a book that would not only contain such notices about their friends and relatives, but of all the people in this whole section of the country. Besides a book of this kind would make a most interesting and valuable addition to any home or public library.

These volumes will be printed in a uniform size of approximately six hundred pages, the size of which will be six by nine inches, fully indexed, and each volume will be complete in itself. The continuation of the publication of such books will depend entirely upon whether or not the friends and relatives of those whose obituaries are contained herein will support the undertaking by purchasing the books. If cost cannot be had from the sale of each edition, then the effort will have to cease.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Findlay home, with the Rev. J. T. Carter, Episcopal minister, in charge. Interment will be made in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Mr. Link was a member of old-line families in Harrison county, but was a native of Missouri, having been born at Jacksonville, that state, December 16, 1813. His father was Edward Jackson Link, a native of Bridgeport, and his mother, Anna Maria Adams Link, was born in Clarksburg. His parents were married here in 1836. He was named for his grandfather, Josiah Hanson Adams, who was identified with the early history of Adamston, a thriving suburban section of Clarksburg, which was named in his honor. Mr. Link was the last of a family of five children.

One of his sisters, Miss Emma L. Link, married Lewis Haymond, a son of the late Col. Luther Haymond. They were the parents of Mrs. Flora Findlay, wife of Charles O. Findlay, at whose home he had lived many years.

Enters Dental Office

When Mr. Link was about 5 years old, the family moved back to West Virginia and he had lived here ever since. The Links lived at various points in the city until 1859 when they moved to property on Main street, which the head of the family had acquired. They resided there until the property was purchased a number of years ago and made a part of the Watts-Sartor-Lear department store site. He attended school here, and when the Civil war began he entered the dental offices of a Dr. Bartlett in Parkersburg, where he remained some time. Returning to Clarksburg, he associated himself with the office of Dr. John M. Leasure, of Morgantown, a widely known dentist of that period.

After the war had gone on a while, Mr. Link entered the Union army as a wagon master and was all through the valley of Virginia with Gen. Franz Sigel. At another time in the war, he had charge of a corps of men who took care of army horses at the old corral east of Elk creek here. He also rode as courier on the lines between the seat of army supplies here and army forces in the interior of the state. He used two mounts either way between Weston and Jacksonville.

At the close of the war, Mr. Link engaged in oil development, first at Petroleum and then at Burning Springs. He also drilled wells at White, in the same section. Later he had charge of the cut-off saw mill of the late R. T. Lowndes on what is now Ferry street, this city, working there four or five years.

Wool Buyer

Later he rode a half dozen counties, buying wool from farmers and often carried considerable money to pay them in cash. He then became identified with the former firm of Smith, Brown and Company and accompanied the late Beeson H. Brown on wool-buying trips.

Although retiring twenty years ago from active pursuits, Mr. Link did some work about the home premises every day to keep fit, and was in perfect health until a few weeks ago. It was his custom to come up town every day.

Five feet eleven and one-half inches tall, Mr. Link was as straight as an arrow in appearance, and although he did not need it he carried a cane. He was as supple as a man of half his age. His personal appearance, with a long, white beard, was strikingly handsome. He was widely known and had a host of friends.

Besides the niece at whose home he died, surviving relatives include Mrs. Frank M. Attcholt, of New York city, a great-niece; Mrs. T. Moore Jackson, 528 West Pike street, a cousin; and more distant connections in Springfield, Ill.; and Keyser, this state.

Funeral services will be held from the Morrison chapel United Mary Virginia Barnhouse. He is Brethren church near Wilsonburg survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for Henry Core, 88, retired farm laborer of the Liberty addition who took his own life at his home yesterday morning at 9:40 o'clock. The Rev. S. R. Cutright, pastor of the United Brethren church at Salem, will officiate and interment will be made in the O'Neil cemetery.

The aged man had been despondent for several weeks according to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Johnson, with whom he made his home. However, members of the family did not think of him taking his life and the only intimation of the rash act came yesterday morning when he gave a large old time watch to his grandson, Burton Johnson, an employee of the Clarksburg Candy Company.

According to the younger Johnson the aged man handed him the watch and said, "I'm making you a present of this. Take care of it, for I won't be here when you return home this evening."

The grandson said that due to the fact that his grandfather had been childish for some time he thought but little of the incident at the time but after he had gone to work he considered calling his mother of the incident but about that time received the call that the aged man had committed suicide.

Core went to a vacant lot in the rear of the Johnson residence and sat down on an old well curb. Placing the muzzle of a 12-gauge shotgun to his chin he pulled the trigger with either his foot or finger. The charge tore away the left side of his face and head.

The lot is owned by W. H. Ashcraft, of the Liberty addition, who was working nearby. A number of persons nearby heard the shot and rushed to the scene. Sheriff W. B. Grimm was summoned and was later aided by Dr. Leroy C. Goff, county coroner, in the investigation. The coroner pronounced the case suicide. There will be no inquest.

Besides the daughter at whose home he lived, Mr. Core is survived by a son, Andrew L. Core, of Kentucky, and nine grandchildren.

The aged man was a native of Clarksburg, a son of the late John and Jane Core. He married Miss Jenny Henderson, a daughter of Andrew and Mahala Henderson, March 16, 1871, and until she died a number of years ago, they lived on West Pike street, near the mouth of Elk creek, and later on Milford street, near what is now the old water tank site in Stealey Heights. He was widely known in the county.

Core had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson for about twelve years.

MRS. CAROLINE MATILDA KIDD
Ill the last several weeks of ailments incident to advanced age, Mrs. Caroline Matilda Kidd, almost 89, died at 7:10 o'clock this morning at her residence, 1613 West Pike street, Adamston. She was critically ill, the last few days.

Mrs. Kidd was the widow of Jonathan Edward Kidd, a Union veteran of the Civil war, who died March 19, 1922, aged 77. They were married November 27, 1867.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd were the parents of four daughters, only one of whom is living, Mrs. Anna Hutchinson, wife of William Hutchinson, who is associated with his brother, K. D. Hutchinson, in the wholesale hardware business in Chicago. Mrs. Hutchinson lives next door to the Kidd residence and the last few years has looked after her mother's needs constantly. There are two grandsons, John Kirkpatrick, 25, whom the grandmother reared from the time he was 6 years old, and who is a school teacher, and William Gaylord Edward Henderson Hutchinson, at home. A grocery salesman.

Mrs. Kidd came from a rather noted ancestry. She was a great-granddaughter of the Rev. Isaac Morris, a Revolutionary soldier and native of Pennsylvania, who married Miss Ruth Hinton in 1766. They later settled in Harrison county where he was licensed in 1798 as a Baptist minister. He served as a chaplain in the American army in the Revolution.

Isaac Morris was the father of John Morris, one of whose sons, Samuel Hinton Morris, was the father of Levi Morris. The latter was the father of Mrs. Kidd. Her mother was the former Miss Charlotte Riblett, member of the first Daniel Riblett family. Mrs. Kidd was born on Tom's fork of Middle Island creek in Doddridge county, but reared near Worthington.

Her father died at the age of 22, when she was 2 years old. Her mother remarried, her second husband being Nehimah Cooper, and they lived a mile from Monongah, where several half-brothers and half-sisters were born, but now all are dead.

As a pedestrian, Mrs. Kidd in former days thought nothing of walking fifteen miles to town to shop. As a conversationalist, she was quite interesting, and her reminiscences were both entertaining and instructive. She delighted in describing the great flood of 1852, when as a girl of 12 she rowed a skiff across the raging river to save her stepfather and uncle, who were salvaging wreckage and lost their boat in the flood torrents. She declared that the flood of 1852 was far worse in Marion county than that of 1888 in Harrison county, which swept nearly all bridges away and took more than thirty-five dwellings and other houses down the West Fork river.

Mrs. Kidd was related to a number of Harrison county families, among whom are those of Dr. Chester R. Ogden and Lloyd W. Garrett, both of Clarksburg. She was a member of the Adamston Methodist Episcopal church.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence, with the Rev. J. D. Engie, pastor of the Adamston Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Interment will be made in the Green Lawn cemetery.

EARL DUTY

Lying in the snow beside a pile of ashes on Lowndes hill, the bodies of two men were found at 10:30 o’clock this morning by two youths, who were hunting for rabbits.

One of the bodies was positively identified this afternoon as that of Earl Duty, 46, of Northview, a concrete worker. Mrs. Edith Davis, an employee of the Anderson restaurant, West Main street, and a sister of Duty's and Carl B. Southern, city detective, established the identity of Duty at the Romine Undertaking Company's morgue, where both bodies were taken soon after they were found.

The body of the other man has not been identified. His head was found in the ashes of the fire. His features are badly distorted.

Police records show a man named Edward Danley was released from the jail the morning of March 4, after he had been arrested for being intoxicated.

Deputy sheriffs say they have frequently had reports that a number of men were assembling around fires on Lowndes hill and drinking "canned heat." Scarceely a winter goes by but what one or more persons are found dead beside these fires.

As no autopsy had been performed on either of the bodies, the cause of their deaths had not been positively determined this afternoon. But officers say both Duty and Danley were addicted to the use of "canned heat" and moonshine liquor.

Widow Not Located

Duty was married at one time, but he and his wife have not been living together. She was said to be in Clarksburg today, but could not be found.

Surviving relatives of Duty are: Sisters, Mrs. Edith Davis, 510 Milford street; Mrs. W. E. Thomas, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. W. M. Horner, Parkersburg; Mrs. Andrew Kirkpatrick, Harrisville; and Mrs. L. E. Lowe, Morgantown. His mother, Mrs. Helen Duty, lives with Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Davis said her brother came to Clarksburg from Parkersburg about three weeks ago. The last time she saw him, she said, was about two weeks ago.

Andrew Moore, deputy sheriff and因而 took the morgue late this afternoon and said he is positive one of the bodies is that of Edward Danley. Others besides Deputy Moore also stated they are positive the man is Danley.

Clarksburg (W. Va.) Telegram March 21, 1932

GEORGE W. WILLIAMS

Before a congregation which comfortably filled the First Methodist Episcopal church here, the Rev. T. G. Meredith, of Fairmont, a retired minister and boyhood friend, yesterday afternoon paid eloquent tribute to George W. Williams, 80, of Grass run, as a good man, when he preached a funeral sermon in memory of one of the leading citizens of Harrison county.

The audience contained many prominent citizens from all parts of the county, members of families who had known Mr. Williams a long time, besides numerous residents of the Grass run section. There seemed universal expression of grief over his passing.

Brief services had been held at the Williams residence at noon, and the funeral party consisting of members of the family, relatives and a large number of friends arrived at the church here at 2 o'clock. The venerable minister who pronounced the touching eulogy, in which he reviewed the life of his boyhood friend from every angle, was assisted by the Rev. L. F. Hyden, pastor of the Bristol Methodist Episcopal church, and Dr. Homer E. Wark of the funeral church.

The body was conveyed from the church at the conclusion of the services to the family plot in the Elkview Masonic cemetery where final rites were observed.

Mr. Williams is remembered by many as an influential citizen, prosperous farmer and successful livestockman. He and his brother, the late John Wesley Williams, of Grass run, father of Dr. Jesse F. Williams, of this city, were widely known for their scientific methods of agriculture and their enterprise and thrift. They and their brothers, Alpheus and Jonathan, were among the founders of the Grass run Methodist Episcopal church and liberal contributors to its upkeep and benevolences.

When Harrison county held annual fairs, George W. Williams was one of the best and most enthusiastic livestock exhibitors and ever lent hearty cooperation in making these yearly gatherings and home shows a complete success. Many who attended those exhibitions kindly recall the keen interest he took in showing them the merits of exhibits in and around the cattle pens, and have not forgotten the broad smile which always greeted them despite a physical affliction. Those who knew George W. Williams at all agree with the eulogist that he was a good man.

MRS. CELIA KESTER

Contracting double pneumonia last Friday, Mrs. Celia Kester, 90, a prominent Simpson district woman, died at 4:50 o'clock this morning at her home on Booth's creek near Sugar run seven miles below Bridgeport. She had been bedfast since Friday. The aged woman took a bad cold which developed rapidly into pneumonia, and efforts to save her life were ineffective from the start.

Mrs. Kester was a daughter of Alfred Watkins and Ruth Griffin Watkins, and was born June 13, 1841, on the Lanham farm near Boothsville. There were thirteen sons and daughters in the Watkins family, twelve of whom grew to manhood and womanhood, and all married except one.

The Watkins family was somewhat impoverished, and Mrs. Kester at the age of 18 years went out into the world to make her own way, entering the household of Abel W. and Eliza A. Gawthrop Shinn, of Adamsville, Clay district, parents of Mrs. Annette R. Morgan, of Clarksburg, mother of Mrs. Virgil L. Highland and others here. They were also the grandparents of Fred Shinn, a Clarksburg lawyer. She continued to live there as housekeeper until she married twenty-eight years later.

Keeps Farm Intact

Her husband was the late Samuel O. Kester, prominent Simpson district farmer and stockman. They were married January 8, 1888, at the Shinn home, and went to housekeeping in his then fine brick residence where she continued to live the rest of her life. The house, built in 1883, is still in fine shape. The bricks in it were burned on the premises and the construction work was done by Charles A. Short, of Shinnston, when he was a young man. It is surrounded by 373 acres of as fine land as there is in Harrison county, which she as a business woman kept intact.

Until her last illness, Mrs. Kester enjoyed reasonably good health all through her declining years and her mentality was normal. She did some of the housework and attended to farm business to the very last.

Remembering the Civil war period very well, she often told how "neighbors were against one another, and it was very unpleasant. The home guards always got busy to protect life and property, when threatened, and they were not confined to either side in the struggle."
Inherited Property

Aside from the activities of home guards, Mrs. Kester did not come in close touch with the war, as her home was isolated from war areas.

Her married life lasted only twelve years, as her husband died September 17, 1900, and was buried in a Bridgeport cemetery. She was the second wife, the first having been Rebecca Martin, widow of Temple C. Martin, from whom a large acreage of land was inherited. There were no Kester children.

Mrs. Kester joined the Coon's Run Baptist church when she was 28 years old and remained a member until she died. She was baptized January 9, 1878, in winter-cold water in Coon's run, which had been dammed for the purpose. She lived up to her profession and creed as a Christian.

Two sisters survive along with a brother. The sisters are Mrs. Sarah Saphrona Lockhart, of Weston, whose husband, Henry Lockhart, is dead, and Miss Amanda Watkins, of Boothsville. The brother is Benjamin Levi Watkins, who has lived at her home a number of years and managed the farm for her. His wife, the former Miss Mary J. Janes, has been in charge of the household affairs.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Simpson Creek Baptist church at Bridgeport, with the Rev. John W. Ayers, pastor, officiating. Interment will be made in the old brick church cemetery there.

BRUCE HIGHLAND

Fairmont, March 31.—Charles Bruce Highland, 64, veteran merchant, shot and killed himself in his store on Main street this morning. No reason was assigned for his act.

John Highland, who was born October 19, 1832, in Harrison county, and who died at the homeplace May 4, 1903. The elder Highland was a merchant, school teacher, farmer and Union veteran of the Civil war.

Mr. Highland's mother was Mrs. Lucinda Earle Patton Highland, born at West Milford, then in Virginia, April 3, 1851 and who died there May 29, 1929. She was a cultured woman and a daughter of Attorney Ebenezer Patton, who was born in 1822 and died in 1872.

Mr. Highland was a grandson of Jacob Highland, who was born near Clarksburg September 4, 1808. His grandfather was a merchant, farmer and county court justice, prior to the creation of West Virginia. Jacob Highland died March 16, 1880. He was a grandson of John Highland, of Newport, New Castle county, Delaware, who was born August 21, 1770, and died in Harrison county, Virginia, December 1, 1814, where he and his family had settled in 1806.

Taught School

Mr. Highland attended public school at West Milford. He obtained his first grade certificate and taught two terms of school at the Morris school in Union district.

Starting his career as a merchant at Red Fork, Ark., about 1892 Mr. Highland was successful from the beginning of his business career. After spending about six years at Red Rock, he returned to his home in Harrison county. He established a mercantile establishment at Fairmont about 1898 and was engaged successfully in the store business in the Marion county city until his death.

JOHN FOGG

West Virginia hills will know "Dr." John A. Fogg, 91, no more! "Dr." Fogg died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his home, 732 Water street.

All that remains mortal of this nomadic herb "doctor" will rest beneath the soil of his adopted state as he is to be buried here.

"Dr." Fogg was a quaint character who roamed the fields, hills, vales and woods in the central part of the state the last many years in search of herbs, roots, leaves and other natural health restoratives and collected them for the benefit of mankind. In former days he had a wide clientele, and in recent years he might be seen now and then distributing roots from a basket he carried on his arm.

Run Away at 18

The aged nomad was born February 2, groundhog day, 1841,
Mount Morris, Pa., a son of Bush­rod and Rachel Dean Fogg. At the age of 18, he ran away from home, going to Pittsburgh, where he shipped as roustabout on a large freight steamer plying between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. He later learned the mason's trade and did stone and brick work in and around Morgantown.

Shortly after he became 25 years old, "Dr." Fogg married Mary Vance, a daughter of Joseph Vance, who owned the old toll bridge across the Monongahela river at Morgantown. He says, now a free bridge, and had a farm of 300 acres at Jimtown, near the Monongalia county seat, on which there was a large house. His bride was only 13 years old and they lived at the home of his grandfather, George Morris, until she learned to cook, and then they went to housekeeping in that neighborhood.

Fourteen Children

"Dr." Fogg and Mrs. Fogg were the parents of fourteen children, seven of whom are living, with the eldest, William Fogg, of Union Heights ridge, past 61 years of age. The other six who are living are Emanuel Fogg, of the Despard suburb; Ira Fogg, the youngest child, who lives on Water street; John Fogg, of Akron, O; Mrs. Margaret Fogg, wife of Jacob Fogg, of Clarksburg; Mrs. Bertha Wine, wife of Roy Wine, a local teamster, and Mrs. Abbie Matheny, wife of Clarence Matheny, of Ben street.

It has been twenty-six years since the old herb doctor located in Clarksburg, soon after the death of his wife, although he first came to this city early in the Civil war, as he traveled to the home of an uncle, Emanuel Fogg, of Buckhannon, who served as faller there twenty-seven years.

A hunter of herbs, Fogg became familiar with the mountain regions of Cheat river, going up the river for miles and roaming the forests. He rode a mule which he often tied to a herb root or tree while he searched for such roots as contained medicinal elements, and man and mule came down the river laden with sassafras, ginseng, yellow root, boneset and other roots to be manufactured into tea or taken in crude state. He himself not only lived on roots but in the sunshine of nature and the shade of virgin forests in which he made his livelihood and kept hearty and strong.

Funeral Plans

"Dr." Fogg had a second matrimonial venture which proved less satisfactory than the first. He married Mrs. Annie Springer, a widow, here August 12, 1915, and they went to an adjacent county, where they lived on a farm some time. The aged "doctor" did not care to be interviewed concerning this marriage, and about the time the subject came to his mind, he remarked that he had no further time to spare as he must proceed with his daily distribution of medicinal roots. They lived together on a farm near Margaret only a few months and then parted.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Hamilton funeral home, 216 Washington avenue, with the Rev. Joseph VanSickle officiating. Interment will be made in the Elkview Masonic cemetery.

ond lieutenant and later was transferred to Company K of the same regiment.

He was promoted to first lieutenant in May, 1917, and was then ordered to Camp Shelby where he was appointed personnel officer.

While at Camp Shelby he met and became engaged to Miss Mable Mixon, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and they were married shortly before Mr. Horner went to France with the Thirty-eighth division in September, 1918. At the close of the war Lieut. Horner was embarkation officer at Le Havre, France.

Locally he was connected with Builders Supply and Equipment Company; Cinerete, Inc., and the Concrete Steel Bridge Company, and became assistant treasurer of the Consolidated Supply Company, when it was organized about three years ago.

JAMES W. NOLL
MARTINSBURG, April 19, (AP) —James W. Noll, 78, of pioneer
Berkeley county family, which gave name to "Nollville," died today.

MICHAEL JOYCE

Michael Francis Joyce, 72, "grand old man" of the police department and retired lieutenant, is dead.

He passed away at his home, 116 Joyce street, last night at 7:14 o'clock, a month, nearly to the hour, since the death of his wife, Mrs. Mary Agnes Joyce.

Although his health had been impaired since his retirement in 1923, he was able to be about his home until last Friday when he was stricken and took his bed. Sunday, he again suffered a relapse and his condition had been considered critical since that time. He was conscious until the last.

Complications following a paralytic stroke was the immediate cause of his death.

Last Thursday he took a long walk on the Pinnickinnick hill and adjoining ridges where he used to roam as a lad. This was the last time that he was able to be outside. He seemed to have suffered from the energy expended on the trip and was unable to sleep the greater part of Thursday night.

Nine in Family

He was a son of Patrick and Bridget Joyce, natives of County Mayo, Ireland, and was born at Bridgeport, March 22, 1860. Shortly after his birth, the family moved to Clarksburg where he had resided since that time. He was one of nine children, three of whom are still living. They are John Joyce, 126 Joyce street; Miss Mary Joyce, of the same address, and Mrs. Timothy Radigan, of Cleveland, Ohio.

He was married to Miss Mary Agnes Walsh, a daughter of the late John and Bridget Walsh on January 29, 1903. Four children were born to this union. They were Miss Anna Joyce, who died April 18, 1927; Miss Gertrude Joyce, stenographer for R. G. Dunn and Company, who died February 23, 1931; Mrs. Nellie Scott, at home, and John Joyce, at home.

Mr. Joyce has lived in his present home for the past twenty-five years. He was a miner in his younger days and worked for the Consolidation Coal Company and other concerns at the Old Pinnickinnick, Columbia, Ocean and the Despard mines.

Begins Police Work

Shortly after his marriage in 1903 he was appointed patrolman and served as an active police officer until his retirement. He first served as a police lieutenant under the regime of the late Mayor Joe Craddock and under Police Chief Kenneth Sappington, now a patrolman.

By a special vote of the city council Mr. Joyce was retired on half pay, and on different occasions had been called in counsel on special cases and vital activities of the police department. When Chief of Police S. E. Barnett assumed the office of chief of police in 1926, Lieut. Joyce was called upon to assist in the reorganization of the police department and served actively for about a month.

Firm, yet courteous, Mr. Joyce made and retained a large circle of friends in his long career as a police officer, and is often spoken of by present day officers as their ideal of what a policeman should be.

Never Used Gun

Although he was required to carry a revolver on duty, he often declared that during his long and varied career with the worst of criminals he had never had his gun out of the holster. He led a clean life and demanded the same of his subordinates while on duty.

Funeral services will be held from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where requiem high mass will be observed at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Burial will be made in the Holy Cross cemetery.

BOYD TAYLOR

Elkins, Dec. 22.—Loss of blood and shock, the result of a shotgun wound in his right leg, caused the death of Boyd Taylor, 48, married, Baltimore and Ohio railroad employee, Coalton, at 6:15 o'clock last night at Davis Memorial hospital. Taylor was injured about 8:45 o'clock yesterday morning, just as he and Ray Loudin, neighbor, prepared to start on a hunting trip. Originally it was reported Taylor had been injured by his own gun. It was learned later that Loudin's gun inflicted the fatal wound.

The men, both carrying shotguns, were ready to leave the house. They slipped shells in the guns. Taylor started out. Loudin followed, about fifteen feet behind, examining his gun. The safety catch was stuck. He called to Taylor to wait. Taylor turned around. As he did so, the safety catch released, the gun went off, and the charge struck Taylor in the right leg.

Not a great many people in Barbour at this time remember Chester W. Proudfoot. He moved to Kansas in 1886. He is a son of the late John H. Proudfoot, who lived near Berryburg and a brother of Delbert M. Proudfoot, of this county.

We are giving below a clipping from a Scott county, Kansas, paper, describing his 80th birthday, which will enlighten those who knew him and his family, regarding their whereabouts.

The C. W. Proudfoot home in this city was the scene of a big family dinner on Friday, November 13, in honor of the 80th birthday of Mr. Proudfoot. All five of their children were present with their children, and other friends and relatives of the family came for the event. Despite that it was Friday the 13th, everybody enjoyed the evening, celebrating one of the milestones in the life of one of Scott county's most honored and respected citizens.

The children are Howard Proudfoot, Walter Proudfoot, Mrs. George Loux, Mrs. L. J. Loux, all of this county, and Mrs. Joe Edmundson, of Lane county. The husbands and wives with their children were present. Besides these there was the father of Mr. Edmundson, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lynch and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Proudfoot. One of the features of the evening was the big dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Proudfoot came to this county in 1886 from Philippi, West Virginia, and settled on a homestead southwest of this city, near where their son, Walter, now lives. They were one of a number of families which came from the same Virginia locality, at about that same time. Throughout all the 45 years of his residence here he has taken an interest in the public affairs of the county and state and nation and years have not changed him along that line. Mr. Proudfoot is in first class health and enjoyed the celebration immensely.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSON

We clip the article printed below from the Clarksburg Sunday Exponent.

We are wondering if any one of our readers know of him and to what Johnson family he belongs.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 26.—William Andrew Johnson, who was born in 1831 in what is now Barbour county, West Virginia, has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday at his home here in Omaha. Johnson, who is an ex-Confederate soldier, saw some of the most stirring scenes of the early west, at one time saving an entire command of troops from an Indian attack.

Johnson was a gunner in the Confederate army and fought at Bull Run and other battles, including Gettysburg. Following the latter battle he was captured and sent to Camp Chase in Ohio, from which he was paroled, after which he came west. In the fight at Beverly, Randolph county, West Virginia, he was wounded in the side and still carries that bullet.

Johnson dug gold in California and did lots of other things in the early days, but his big chance came at the battle of Mud Springs, Colo. He was a "mule skinner" at that time, driving a freighter wagon with a detachment of soldiers which was guarding emigrant trains into the new country. There were two companies of the soldiers. The soldiers had two pieces of artillery. The Indians were very much afraid of these small cannon.

Takes Gunner's Place

While in camp at Mud Springs, the soldiers were attacked by an overwhelming force of Indians. Very early in the battle one of the gunners was shot through and through by an Indian arrow. He was instantly killed. There was no one to take his place with the gun, which was left standing idle. The Indians, realizing that the cannon shots were reduced to one-half, redoubled their attacks.

"Skinners" were not supposed to take part in fights, but in a case like Mud Springs every man present had to fight to save scalps—his own as well as others. Johnson had his heavy revolver and fought alongside the regulars. He saw the gunner of one of the cannon killed and knew there was no one else in command to take the place of the dead man.

The captain of the soldiers was directing his men when Bill Johnson, the mule skinner, stepped up and gave the proper military salute.

"Captain," said Johnson, "I can handle that gun over there. May I?"

"Who told you you could shoot a cannon?" gasped the captain.

"Stonewall Jackson," quietly replied Johnson.

The officer didn't have time to argue or ask questions. The gun was silent. Furthermore, it was needed badly right then. The Indians were preparing for a final charge which the captain feared would sweep completely over the little band of soldiers.

Saves the Day

"All right," he called to Johnson. "Go ahead."

A few minutes later a cannon shot fell in the midst of the Indians. In a minute or two another ball came along. The precision of the shots now coming over was so much better than those during the earlier part of the fight that the Indians became "shy." Every ball ripped through with deadly effect. The soldiers took heart at the effect on the Indians and renewed the fight with greater vigor. In the end the red men withdrew and the command was saved.

Johnson went back to his mule skinning—and his cussin', which was a necessary part of freighting.

After the building of the Union Pacific railroad and the ending of freighting days in the west, Johnson came to Nebraska and settled down. That was in 1880. He has lived in this state ever since.

JUDGE CHARLES F. MOORE

After an illness of ten years of paralysis, Judge Charles Forrest Moore died at his home in Lewisburg on Friday night, January 8, 1932. His age was 69 years. The day before his elder brother, Chesley Rice Moore had died at Waynesboro. Funeral services were conducted from the home Sunday afternoon, and burial made in Rosewood cemetery.

Thus is marked the passing of one of the most brilliant sons of Pocahontas county. Minister, lawyer, judge, orator and writer—he excelled in each field.

Born and reared at Dunmore, the son of the late Isaac and Alcinda Arbogast Moore; trained in theology at Vanderbilt University; and in the law at the University of Virginia; chosen judge by the people of Allegheny county; moving to New York to care for big business affairs; widely sought after as a public speaker; coming back to his Greenbrier valley and devoting the declining years of a life of rich experience to writing.

Judge Moore was twice married. First to Miss Mollie Beard, daughter of the late J. J. Beard of Huntersville, of this union a daughter, Mrs Hallie Moore Pace, of Lewisburg survives. His second wife was Miss Jane Slaughter of Orange, Virginia. She and her daughter survive; of his father’s family there remain two brothers, Ernest N. and Harry M. Moore, of Dunmore.

In writing of the passing of this brilliant man I can do no better than take the following from the editorial column of Saturday’s Charleston Gazette:

“West Virginia lost one of its most gifted and beloved sons yesterday when Judge Charles Forrest Moore died at his home in Lewisburg. He was a man of wide attainments and national prominence. The Gazette joins his relatives in mourning the passing of a singularly sweet and human soul.

“Judge Moore achieved distinction in the practice of law, as a lecturer, as an after dinner speaker and, above all, as a writer and philosopher. His “History of the States, United and Otherwise” is one of the classical books of humor or written by an American. His other books displayed his easy flowing style, his verse and witty way of expression and the humanity that motivated all his writings. Of late years he had been editing—with conspicuous success—a little monthly pamphlet of humor and philosophy that radiated his good sense and sincere love of mankind.

“He deserves to rank among the most eminent of West Virginians, and indeed of Americans. We feel a personal loss in the passing of a fellow toiler in the garden of words.”

RICE MOORE

Chesley Rice Moore died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Dunlap, Waynesboro, Virginia, on Thursday night, January 7, 1931, of the infirmities of age. Mr. Moore was a native of Pocahontas county, a son of the late Isaac and Alcinda Arbogast Moore of Dunmore. His brothers, are E. N. and H. M. Moore, of Dunmore. His younger brother, Judge C. F.

Dunlap of Waynesboro; Mrs. Edwin Miller of Martinsburg; Howard Moore, of Waynesboro; Clifford Moore, of Staunton; C. B. Moore, of Marlinton.

Dr. Love met death Tuesday evening when crossing the street from his drug store to the Cafeteria Court. Dr. Ernest Livingston Love was a son of Barton Love and Mary Latham Love. He was born in Grafton in a pioneer home on Main street March 27, 1860. Early in life he secured employment with the local Baltimore and Ohio railroad shop completing his apprenticeship as machinist. But he yearned to be a druggist and soon became an apprentice in a local pharmacy. Ever afterwards he followed that vocation, serving 50 years as a druggist and taking, too, a special course in Jefferson Medical College, at Philadelphia and was admitted to practice receiving a physician’s degree. But he did not practice medicine any length of time and soon returned to the drug business here. Dr. Love had an interest in seven drug stores in the city. He founded what is now the Grafton Drug and Chemical Company, established Love Drug Company store, and about seven years ago, selling the Love store, founded Court Pharmacy. Dr. Love was postmaster of Grafton for about nine years, having been appointed in 1907 by President Roosevelt and reappointed by President Taft, serving until December 31, 1915. Lot Maust

A sudden heart attack was believed to have been the cause of the death of Lot Maust, 71, whose body was found in the waters of Sandy creek, near Bruceton, several days after he had disappeared from his home in that section. County officers making an investigation could find no marks of violence on the body to indicate he had met with foul play.

He was last seen alive more than a week ago as he was walking along the state highway toward his home some distance from Bruceton. As his body was found in the creek’s waters at a point near the highway it is believed he was suddenly stricken and that his lifeless body rolled down the embankment into the water where it was later found.

Maust lived alone and his disappearance was not noted for several days. When the body was found an examination disclosed a sum of money in the clothing as well as a watch which indicated to officers the man had not been robbed and the body disposed of later. The man had been a resident of that vicinity for a number of years.

The body was discovered last Friday evening when a boy saw a hand protruding from the water. As the waters of the creek had been much higher than usual for several days it is believed the body had been submerged for nearly a week which was the date when the man had last been seen alive. As there was little water in the lungs it was believed the man was dead when his body rolled into the creek.

Funeral services were held in Fairchance where Maust formerly lived and where a son now resides. His wife died several years ago.

J. HENRY SHEARER

The community was shocked Friday afternoon, February 12, 1932, by the report of the suicide of J. Henry Shearer, aged 44 years. In the forenoon he had left home with a gun; in the afternoon his dead body was found by his brother Roy and a neighbor, Reed Gay, in a field perhaps a half mile from the house. He had shot himself in the side of the head with a 30-30 rifle. In a tree near by a rope had been fixed up with a hangman's noose. The conclusion is that he had made preparations to hang himself, and then decided to get his gun and end his life by shooting. Afterwards it was found that he had made a will before leaving home that morning.

Squire T. S. McNeel and Prosecuting Attorney A. P. Edgar held the inquest. The coroner's jury was composed of J. O. Morrison, W. H. Barlow, Sterling McElwee, Julian Moore and W. W. Addelman. Their verdict was that the deceased had come to his death by his own hand.

On Sunday afternoon the funeral service was conducted from the Edray church. Burial in the Edray cemetery.

Henry Shearer was 44 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shearer. He is survived by his parents, and the following brothers and sisters: Roy, William and Harry Shearer; Mrs. Noah Bright, Mrs. Georgia Taylor, Nettie, Grace and Clara Shearer.

The deceased was unmarried and lived with his brother and sister, Roy and Miss Nettie, at their farm on top of Elk mountain. Their home is about one mile west of the place the Seneca Trail crosses the mountain. There is no reason known why he should have killed himself. The supposition is that he had become suddenly insane.

WILLIAM T. ICE, JR.

It is quite probable that no greater shock was ever heralded over our city than that on Sunday night when the sudden death of Hon. William T. Ice, Jr., occurred. Physically, one of the very strongest men of his age in Philippi, no one expected the end of his life for years, but the Destroyer came as suddenly as the lightning's flash, and took him from among the living.

He breathed his last at the Grim Memorial church where he had gone to attend the union service. He was seen to fall over to one side and when caught by some one, made no outcry, but expired very quickly. Dr. C. B. Williams was immediately called and pronounced him dead.

Mr. Ice was one of Philippi's most prominent men, a lawyer of marked ability and a citizen of high standing. His popularity in Barbour county was shown on more than one occasion. He was a past grand master of the West Virginia grand lodge of Masons, a member of the Virginia debt commission, twice a member of the West Virginia legislature and very widely spoken of a number of times for congress.

He was the son of the late Judge William T. Ice and was born in this place, June 15, 1875. Surviving him are the following sisters: Miss Elizabeth, at home; Mrs. Fred O. Blue, of Charleston; Miss Nelle, of Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. John H. Zirkle, of Martinsburg, and Mrs. James E. Harrison, of Detroit, Mich.

He was a member of the Baptist church and a consistent supporter not only of the church but of all its relationships. Broadus college had no stronger and more liberal supporter than he. Mr. Miller was alone at his home when he fired the shot that ended his life. The charge from the pistol entered his head near the right ear. He had given no intimation that he considered doing such a tragic deed and spent most of the morning in his home writing.

When his aged father, Jacob A. Miller, who resided with his son returned home from a brief visit with a neighbor he found his son unconscious and lying on a bed. A physician was immediately summoned but found a fatal wound had been inflicted.

LEE CROUCH

Ill less than a day, Lee Crouch, banker, merchant, farmer and public official in the course of his long and eventful life, one of the best known men in Randolph county, succumbed to an attack of double pneumonia at his home on Second street at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Although ill earlier in the year with influenza, for the last month or so Mr. Crouch had been able to be at his desk and even as late as Monday afternoon talked to friends and neighbors in the bank of which he was president and on the street. He sank very rapidly after contracting pneumonia, however, and expired at the hour named.

At the time of his death Mr. Crouch was president of the Elkins National Bank with which he had been connected for a period of more than a quarter of a century and was also a director of the Western Maryland Railroad Company, representing the Alien Property Custodian's interest.

The son of Abraham and Elizabeth McNeal Crouch, Lee Crouch was born on July 13, 1858, near Elkwater in Randolph county, where he spent his earlier days on the farm. His education was received in the county schools and under the direction of his mother, a native of Pocahontas county. His father was Andrew Crouch and the latter's brother, Major John M. Crouch is said to have been the first white male child born in Randolph county.

Engaged in the business of farming during his younger years, Mr. Crouch opened a store at Huttonsville which he conducted for about two years. He was chosen as a deputy sheriff under the late Warwick Hutton, and after serving four years, he continued as a deputy under A. J. Long when the latter became sheriff. In 1896 his popularity won for him the election as clerk of the county court and in 1902 he was elected for another term of six years. Before the expiration of his second term however, the late Henry Gassaway Davis, then president of the Elkins National Bank offered Mr. Crouch the cashiership of the institution, a position in which he served until the death of senator Davis when he became president of that institution. For the last five years or more Mr. Crouch had served on the board of directors of the Western Maryland. In 1924 Mr. Crouch completed a six-year term as president of the board of county commissioners, declining to become a candidate again at the expiration of his term.

Mr. Crouch was a member of the Presbyterian church, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and of the Masonic Fraternity.

In 1893 Mr. Crouch married Miss Sarah A. Wallace, daughter of John Wallace of near Staunton, Virginia, four children being born to that union. He is survived by his wife; one son, Wallace, assistant cashier of the Elkins National Bank; by three daughters, Mrs. Mary Rothlesburger and Miss Maud, a teacher, both of New

To this union were born twelve children, two dying in infancy and ten living to an old age, the subject, Andrew W. Ware, Jr., of this writing being their fourth child.

"Uncle Andy" as was called by all who knew him, was a friend to all, there being no time too bad to cause him to refuse his fellowmen. On account of rheumatism he had not been far from home for about 12 years before his death; otherwise he was healthy until about four years ago, when he suffered a paralytic stroke, which was a light one and enabled him to get about the house, until nearly four weeks before his death. At that time he became bedfast almost suddenly, and wasn't able to sit up long at one time thereafter.

In 1884, he was united in marriage to Virginia, the daughter of Hudson D., and Sarah Knight. To this union seven children were born, one dying in infancy and the eldest at the age of 42. He is survived by his wife and five children, namely: Mrs. Clifford Gillespie, Sutton; H. J. Ware, Centraria; Ezekiel, Clarence and Hazeal Ware, at home. He is also survived by one brother, John Ware and one sister, Louisanna Skidmore, eighteen grand-children, and five great-grandchildren.

On April 5, 1932, the writer of-
SWe attended at the funeral of the deceased at his home. All of "Uncle Andy's" children were at the funeral, as well as many relatives and friends from far and near. After he was laid to rest in the family cemetery on Ware mountain, where he has lived since the age of 12.

JAMES WATSON

Word was received Tuesday morning by John Randecker that James Watson of Washington Bottom had died at his home Monday night. Mr. Watson was a former Richwood resident, having lived here for about 23 years, during which time he was the mill foreman for the Cherry River Boom & Lumber Company. About four years ago, Mr. Watson retired to his farm, five miles from Parkersburg, where he lived until his death.

Mr. Watson is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. Winnie Haynes of Parkersburg, George Watson of Washington Bottom, and Henry Watson and Guy Watson of Doupian Falls, O.

Mr. Randecker, W. H. Stockwell and John Catlette attended the funeral services this afternoon at Washington Bottom.

DANA F. CUTLIP

Citizens of Richwood were saddened Saturday morning when news reached here that Dana F. Cutlip, 23, had been killed in an automobile at Middletown. Mr. Cutlip, who for several months had been working at Mullens, and Miss Jane Prentiss, 18, of Amigo, were killed when two automobiles collided and dropped over a 200-foot embankment at Middletown. Three other persons were injured in the crash.

George Stanton, 22, of Mullens, and Miss Easter Kerns, 19, of Rhodell, who were in the same car, are in a critical condition at the Mullens hospital. Everett Vest, 29, of East Gulf, who was alone in his car, was lacerated about the face, and is a patient at the Beckley hospital.

The occupants of both cars had attended a dance at Mullens and started home about 12:30 o'clock. Vest, it is reported, attempted to pass the other car. It is believed that he cut back to the road too quickly, as the wheels of the two cars were interlocked. Cutlip's car left the road first, and then Vest's also plunged down the embankment. Both cars landed on the Virginia railroad tracks, where traffic was held up for an hour.

Frank Provincena of Devil's Fork heard the crash and took the occupants of Cutlip's car to Mullens in his truck. Mr. Cutlip's body was brought here to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cutlip of East Walnut street. The body was prepared for burial by the H. C. White morticians.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church, with the pastor, the Rev. Arthur Lazenby, assisted by the Rev. John Hollister, pastor of the Calvary Methodist church, officiating. Interment was made in the Richwood cemetery.

Dana is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cutlip, and two brothers, Arlin and Clifford Cutlip. He had lived his entire life here and was known and liked by all. Especially was he popular with the young people.

Messenger, 30, driver of the car, was instantly killed and Robert Goff, 28, received head injuries and body cuts. The car was nearly demolished by the force of the impact.

The two men, both residents of Rowlesburg, were returning home from Sunset dance hall at an early hour Sunday morning and it is believed by officers who made an investigation that they were driving at a fast rate of speed. When the car reached a point near Mecombe on the Northwestern turnpike it failed to negotiate a turn and crashed into the bank.

Messenger, who was a widower, was employed at the railroad shops at M. and K. Junction and had been a resident of Rowlesburg for several years. He was a native of the Amblerburg section where his parents and several sisters and brothers reside. He was a member of a well known family of that section and following the death of his wife his son, now five years old, has been living in Keyser in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nine.

Goff, who had accompanied Messenger for an evening's outing, is expected to recover although he was badly cut and he suffered from the shock. He is a son of Mrs. Retta Goff.

G. W. ROBERTS

G. W. Roberts, aged 67, prominent merchant and a former cashier of the Wirt County Bank, was found dead on the Presbyterian church lot about 1:30 o'clock Monday morning. His body was found by his son, Walter, and Don Pomroy.
It was believed at first that Mr. Roberts ended his own life, although no message was left and Sunday night had appeared not to be depressed. It was reported that a revolver was found clutched in his hand and that he was shot through the roof of the mouth. An element of mystery, however, is connected with the case. A bruise on the forehead, physicians stated, might have been made by a black jack or other blunt instrument which left an impression that he may have been the object of an attack. An investigation by a coroner's jury headed by Squire John Boston on Monday rendered a decision of death by an unknown hand.

Mr. Roberts was said to have left home early Sunday evening and walked down town. He returned about 8 o'clock, read awhile and left again about 9 o'clock, telling his wife that he was going to the store. Being a man who did not habitually spend his evenings away from home, members of the family became alarmed when he did not return from the store in a reasonable time, and began a search. His sons, Leslie, Ralph and Walter, who reside here, searched the store and not finding him, enlisted the aid of Sheriff Pomroy's office and a search of several hours over all parts of the town was made till the body was found in a secluded spot on the Presbyterian church lot.

Mr. Roberts has for many years been one of our country's most prominent business men. As merchant, banker and general businessman he has been a leader for many years. He established his general store here in 1886 and this business is still being conducted. He served one term as sheriff of Wirt county, and for thirty years was cashier of the Wirt County Bank.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Roberts, and ten children, seven sons and three daughters. R. C. Roberts and Mrs. P. D. Sheppard, of Parkersburg; George Paul Roberts and Glen W. Roberts, of Pittsburgh; Leslie V. Roberts, R. T. Roberts, Roger Roberts, Walter M. Roberts and Miss Louise Roberts, all of Elizabeth, and Mrs. Werner W. Mechell, of New York city.

He is also survived by two brothers, Harvey Roberts, of Pittsburgh, and C. H. Roberts, of Beckwith, W. Va.

WILLIAM ANDERSON ARTHUR William Anderson Arthur was born December 15, 1847, and died April 25, 1932, aged 84 years, 4 months and 10 days. He was a son of Randolph and Mamie Arthur and was born on Grassy Creek, where he had lived all his life, still owning the farm which became his after his father's death, during the Civil war. His mother be­
until she died, in 1885. He was married to Fannie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Miler, and to them were born seven children: Roy B. Arthur, Morgan M., Roy G. and Walter, all of whom are living; Charles, Clare­ ence and Lawrence died some years ago, in infancy.
Anderson Arthur was a man who had a great love for his home, being always inclined to hold on to the farm which was the place of his birth, where a part of his early manhood was spent with his loving mother, who had the misfortune of having her husband killed by a band of armed men who didn't belong to either side of the army.
After a few years, his mother died.
He was then left alone to face the world with all of its misfortunes and temptations. But having a determination to do something, he went to school, and later became a teacher and taught probably until he was married. Then he turned his attention to the farm, where the results of his work will show in the years yet to come, as many others like him have done, and now passed on. This should cause us to realize that it was men like him who have lived before us that have helped to make our country what it is today, and we should ever cherish the precious memorries of them as we, too, go on through life. He was a man who stood for education and took an active part in school work. He served a number of times as a member of the board and was a trustee many times. He had been postmaster at Orndoff for about 24 years. He was a good business man. He was a notary.

JAMES OSCAR COLE

James Oscar Cole, son of John E. and Anna Cole, was born July 16, 1904, and died March 22, 1932, aged 27 years, 8 months and 0 days. He was married to Miss Freda Rollyson November 1, 1924. Three children, one son and two daughters, were born to this union: Eugene, Mary and Betty Lea. He was attacked with acute appendicitis and was taken to the General hospital in Charleston January 25, where he spent the remainder of his life. Oscar early confessed faith in Christ, but in the trials and turmoils of life he permitted his faith to waver. During his illness, however, he renewed the covenant while worshipping with members of the Salvation Army. He was always glad when these good people came to worship with him. He leaves to mourn his sad and untimely death his wife and three children, his father and mother, two brothers, Clay, of Morgantown, and Otis, of Parkersburg, and three sisters, Mrs. Rosa Lipscomb, of Morgantown, and Ocie and Mary, at home.

After fitting services at the church, he was on Thursday evening, March 24, laid to rest in the Upper Sugar Creek cemetery. Rev. A. E. Crites conducted the funeral solemnities in the presence of a large number of people. He delivered a splendid discourse in which he portrayed the death of our loved ones as being a "sacrifice."

Amid the great struggle, Oscar looked upon life's ocean of changing wonders with hope. He dreamed of regaining health, he struggled for it, but when he was thrust into the visible presence of death he did not quail. Not alone for one moment in which he could give up life hardly aware of its relinquishment but through the days of deadly languor through weeks of agony that was no less agony because gently borne with clear sight and calm courage, he looked into his open grave. As the end drew near the hospital became to him a wearisome place of pain, and he begged to be taken from its prison walls, from its oppressive, stifling air, from its homelessness and its hopelessness. But it fell his lot to remain there the remainder of his life. His friends were ever near him during all the trying hours of his illness. They lent him half their powers to eke his living out. But with all their love and sympathy they could not share his suffering. He trod the wine-press alone. When his dying morning came at last, his quiet eyelids closed in a peaceful slumber, and he had another morn than theirs. With an unfaltering front he faced death. With unfailing tenderness he took leave of life. Above the full tide of this world's interest he heard the voice of God. With simple resignation he bowed to the Divine decree, leaving behind him a great host of sustaining friends, cherished and loving parents, the wife of his youth, the little children not yet emerged from childhood's days of frolic. His eyes read a mystic meaning which only the rapt and parting soul may know. Let us think that his heart felt a peace which nothing earthly affords, and that in the silence of the receding world he felt on his fevered brow the breeze of an eternal day and heard music of the angels in the air.

Gently and silently his mortal remains were followed by a loving people to the little sanctuary on the mountain while the bell he had heard so often, by day and by night, rang the remorseless toll for him. He traveled the road so familiar to him again, but for the last time. The old church in its quiet shade received him. The people of the little community came forth to view for the last time the earthly remains of one whom they had known and loved. Oh, it is hard to take the lesson that death will teach, but let no man reject it, for it is one that all men must learn. Death is indeed a "sacrifice."

"We knew not what sleep so deep and still;
The folded hands, the awful calm,
The cheek so pale and chill:
The lids that will not lift again,
Tho we may call and call;
The strange white solitude of peace that settles over all."

MRS. JACOB ECKARD

Funeral services for Mrs. Jacob Eckard, 60, a daughter of Walker Pringle, who is a direct descendent of the historic Pringles of this county, who committed suicide at home in Alton, were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the Alton United Brethren church.
The Rev. Duncan, pastor of the church officiated and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Eckard ended her life by hanging herself from a rafter of an outbuilding near her home, with an old piece of cloth. She was last seen alive by Gochen Tenney at 5:45 o'clock Saturday morning when he was leaving for the field to milk. Tenney has been doing chores for Mrs. Eckard since her separation from her husband, several months ago. He left her in the shed and when he returned about a half hour later, he found her lying on the floor dead.

It is thought that worry over marital troubles caused her to end her life. Neighbors said she had spoken several times of killing herself, but that no one took her seriously. Mr. Eckard has been living at Cherry Fork since the separation.

Tenney notified the sheriff's office, and Sheriff H. A. Zickefoose and Mrs. Homer Sampson, deputy, investigated the death.

Mrs. Eckard, before her marriage was Melviney Pringle, daughter of Walter and the late Martha Pringle of Alton. Her husband and father and one son, Wright Eckard, of Alton, survive her.

MARY HENRIETTA MEAKS

Mary Henrietta Meaks was born January 16, 1859, and departed this life May 7, 1932, age 73 years, three months and 21 days.

She was united in marriage to Henry Derrick in 1882. To this union were born two children, William Derrick, of Beards Fork, and Walter Derrick, at home. Five years after her marriage to Mr. Derrick he passed on and left her a widow with two sons.

In 1891 Sister Meaks was again united in marriage to George W. Meaks. To this union were born seven children, two of whom passed on in infancy. Pearl, who became the wife of Floyd Morris, died a few years ago.

The other four children left behind to mourn the loss of Mother are Della Lerg, at home; Wesley Meaks, of Dunbar; Clarence Meaks, of Beards Fork, and Leonard Meaks, of Glasgow.

Sister Meaks has been an invalid for 12 years, having been confined to her bed for the past nine years, but she bore her afflictions with great patience, without a murmur or a complaint. Few people are able to stand affliction any more nobly than she stood hers.

In her youthful teen age, Sister Meaks gave her young and tender heart and life to Jesus the Savior of mankind and was baptized and joined the church at the time of her conversion. She had her troubles and jokes, her defeats and victories, and would no doubt admit her shortcomings and mistakes. She very nobly faced life with its problems and cares and heroically met her death. She longed to go even before she went in order to relieve her friends of the trouble of administering to her wants. Jesus, who was the hope of her life here, has become the joy of Heaven to her now. May the children, the grandchildren, the brothers and sisters and the many friends of this good woman... and mother live to meet her in the City of God, where there is no more parting, pains, sorrows or death but where all is peace, joy and goodwill. May we all be comforted by the fact that the good, wise God knows best.
