SECOND SERIES
VOLUME II.

Compiled by

INTRODUCTION

Obituaries, when properly written, always contain considerable information of a genealogical and historical nature. Usually the dates of birth, marriage and death of the deceased is to be found in his or her obituary, and in addition to that the names, addresses and relationship of most of the surviving relatives is given. Taken all in all such information is distinctly worthwhile and should be preserved for the future.

In the past only a part of the genealogical and local historical data that has been printed has been preserved by the people in the various communities covered by this work; thus the information in this and succeeding volumes should materially add to what has already been made available to the general public, and in addition will preserve for the friends and relatives of those deceased ones the obituary notices appearing in the press at the time such deaths occurred.

This will be known as the “SECOND SERIES” of this work, although it will be published prior to the “FIRST SERIES.” The necessity for this manner of handling the work was brought about from the fact that the idea for the publication of such a series of books, originated with the compiler some time during the month of November, 1931. Immediately the type used in the obituary columns of The Clarksburg Exponent and The Clarksburg Telegram was ordered held each day to be used in this work. Such type matter could not be held indefinitely but as it accumulated it had to be made up into pages and printed, and thus it had to be designated as the “SECOND SERIES” because the compiler plans to secure and publish in the same form all the obituary matter that may be had, beginning with the earliest obituaries that were printed in the newspapers of this region and continuing it along to the date the “SECOND SERIES” of this work begins. Naturally it should be known and designated as the “FIRST SERIES.”

The two daily newspapers above mentioned endeavor to secure and publish an obituary notice for every individual whose death occurs in the territory which their circulation covers; and in many instances obituaries are published of individuals who resided in other sections of the state or nation, because of such individuals having relatives residing in the territory covered by these two newspapers. However, in more remote sections of such territory, news is not so readily secured and if obtained may not always be as accurate and complete as it should be; or in some instances may not be secured until the time has expired in which a daily paper could consistently publish such material. In order to overcome this the obituaries appearing in the weekly papers published in the territory covered herein, are clipped and compared with those appearing in the two dailies above mentioned. If it was found that they contained information not covered in the others or had not been published at all, they were re-set in type and used in this work, giving proper credit to the newspaper from which taken, although to do this required no little additional expense.

That errors will appear in these obituaries the compiler will freely admit, because the time allowed to gather the material and write an obituary notice to be published in a daily newspaper is so limited that it does not admit of being re-checked. For such reasons errors will naturally creep in, but wherever they have been found during the printing of the work they have been corrected. In the main the information will be found correct.
It will be noticed that over some of these obituaries the name of a newspaper and a date will appear, while others do not carry such additional matter. The name of the newspaper denotes that the obituary came from that particular newspaper, and the date indicated the date of the newspaper in which it was published. All obituary notices following such designation and up to the next like designation indicates that all these particular obituaries were published in the same newspaper and on the same date.

The material herein covers the counties of Barbour, Braxton, Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Harrison, Lewis, Nicholas, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Ritchie, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, Webster and parts of Marion, Wetzel and Wirt.

The compiler having had occasion to examine many family Bibles noticed that almost invariably obituary notices of their friends and relatives that had been published in newspapers had been clipped and placed or pasted in the family Bible along with the family records. This originated the idea that if people in general placed such great value on these obituary notices that there should be a demand for a book that would not only contain such notices about their friends and relatives, but of all the people in this whole section of the country. Besides a book of this kind would make a most interesting and valuable addition to any home or public library.

These volumes will be printed in a uniform size of approximately six hundred pages, the size of which will be six by nine inches, fully indexed, and each volume will be complete in itself. The continuation of the publication of such books will depend entirely upon whether or not the friends and relatives of those whose obituaries are contained herein will support the undertaking by purchasing the books. If cost cannot be had from the sale of each edition, then the effort will have to cease.

VIRGINIA ANNE WILSON

Virginia Anne Wilson was born in Braxton county, Virginia, July 15, 1852. She was a daughter of the late William M. and Phoebe Frame Wilson. At the time of her childhood things were quite different from ours. Homes were fewer and farther apart, and schools were in their infancy in this part of Virginia. She may be considered one of the pioneer heroines of the Birch river valley. Roads were little better than animal paths, no telephones to call doctors or neighbors. In fact everything was very inconvenient in those days so far from the centers of civilization.

She was married to the late John Walter Jackson, May 24, 1877. He was better known as Watt Jackson. To this union eight children were born, seven of whom are still living: Dr. Kenna, of Clarksburg; Fenny and Eldridge, of Sutton; Emmett, of Tesla; Mrs. Lillie Keener, of Sutton; Mrs. Lucy Barnett, of Webster Springs; Mrs. Ida Leech, of New York, and Lydia, who preceded her some years ago. Her husband was called from the stage of action about twenty-eight years ago, and all these years she, with the children's help, has toiled untiringly for their betterment. At or near the time of her marriage she located on the home farm on Polemic run. From these rugged hills she and her husband carved a fine farm home, and made a good living. Always having plenty of farm products to use and some to sell. No one knows the toils of all these years in raising a large family only those who had like experiences. In addition to supporting their family, they made a way possible for their education. Kenna studied medicine and is now a practicing physician of Clarksburg, W. Va., while Emmett has taught a number of terms in the rural schools of the county. Mrs. Ida Leech, of New York, is a trained nurse. All the others obtained a fair rural education.

She united with the Christian church some years ago and has lived a consistent member of that body ever since.

She is also survived by two brothers, Robert L., and N. Van, of Gassaway, W. Va.

She has been an invalid for several years, going on crutches for six or seven years. The end came May 12, 1932. After a short service at the home of the writer, the body was taken to the farm cemetery on Polemic run.

MRS. NETTIE SKIDMORE
Mrs. Nettie Ut Skidmore, wife of Rev. J. Marshall Skidmore, and daughter of Lewis and Emma Ut, was born in Taylor county, West Virginia, June 24, 1881, and came to Braxton county with her parents when she was two years of age, where she resided until her death April 20, 1932, at the City Hospital in Weston, Lewis county, where nine days previously she had been entered as a patient. Upon her entrance there she was readily given a skilled surgical examination by Dr. Hall and his assistants, who determined that a blood transfusion was necessary to save Mrs. Skidmore's life. The transfusion of blood to Mrs. Skidmore was administered, but it was of no effect, because Mrs. Skidmore continued thereafter to grow worse until she died at 3:40 on the afternoon of May 20, 1932. After death at the hospital in Weston, the local undertaker, J. W. Berry, of Sutton, was called to Weston to take charge of Mrs. Skidmore's remains, which he nicely prepared and transferred by hearse to the family home at Bakers Run.

On September 12, 1896, the subject of this writing was united in marriage to J. Marshall Skidmore, of Bakers Run, where they have made their home on a farm ever since. She also leaves fifteen grandchildren, one of whom is the little son of Mrs. Guy Friend, deceased. His name is Clifford, age ten. As Clifford's grandmother had reared him in her own home since babyhood or the death of his mother, his grandfather was requested to continue the care and training of him by Mrs. Skidmore before she died.

Mrs. Skidmore years ago was converted to the Christian faith, being a member of the M. P. church.

Funeral rites were beautiful. The Rev. Mr. Herron, of Wolf Creek, officiated, assisted by Mr. W. E. Haymond, of Centralla, and the Hon. John D. Sutton, of Sutton. Services were held at 2 p.m. at the church of Bakers Run.

SAMUEL H. SPENCER

The last trump was sounded for an aged War Veteran, Samuel H. Spencer, of Hookersville, on last Wednesday, when his spirit took its flight into the Great Beyond.

Mr. Spencer served in the Infantry as a Union soldier in the Civil War and had passed his four score and ten years mark, having been in his ninety first year at the time of his death.

After the close of the War, he spent his entire life in the community in which he died.

Mr. Spencer was a man of wonderful physical endurance, his body though old in years, was strong, and his mind alert. He was fortunate in that his health had always been of the best until about a week before his death, when he became suddenly ill, and he passed on to his reward last Wednesday evening.

He was a Deacon of the M. E. Church, and his seat was seldom vacant unless illness prevented his being there.

ELLA GORBY BARNES

Ella Gorby Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse K. Gorby, was born March 3, 1869, and died June 3, 1932, aged 63 years and three months.

She was married May 15, 1890, to Rev. Addison E. Barnes. To this marriage five children were born: Jesse B. Barnes, Mrs. C. V. Grimes and Ireta Barnes, of New Martinsville; Beryl H. Barnes, of Burbank, Cal.; and Edward G. Barnes, of Pittsburgh.

From the former marriage of Rev. Barnes there are two children: Mary, wife of Rev. Paul Flanagan, of Salem; and Paul Barnes, of St. Paul, Minn. There are nine grandchildren. The deceased is also survived by her father, one sister, Mrs. L. W. Oneacre; four brothers, John, Charles, and Kersey, all of New Martinsville; and George, of Pasadena, Cal.

Most of Mrs. Barnes' girlhood days were spent at the home of her parents, on Doolin, about three miles east of New Martinsville. After her marriage she took up the arduous responsibilities that come to the wife of any Methodist minister in the more recent pioneer days. As was the custom, after serving two or three years, Methodist pastors moved on to a new charge.

During Mrs. Barnes' life her husband, Rev. A. E. Barnes, traveled and worked in Tyler, Wetzel, Marshall, Ohio, Monongalia, Marion, Preston, Harrison, Taylor, Lewis, Tucker, Braxton, Gilmer, Webster, Pocahontas, Nicholas and Greenbrier.

During the thirty-five years spent as the wife of a traveling minister, Mrs. Barnes endured the physical labor connected with moving frequently, the responsibility of rearing and educating a family on a very meager wage, and yet she found time to be very active in church work and assisted materially in the services of the community. Quite often it was necessary for her to take the place of the Sunday school superintendent, lead the prayer meeting, or direct the work of the young people.

For the past few years, while Rev. Barnes has been on the retired list, Mrs. Barnes has been very active in the local church.

She led a very active life until two weeks before her death, which was caused by a malignant cancer of the liver.

A very fitting service was held at 2:30 last Sunday in the Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. B. T. Treve officiating as pastor, assisted by the church choir. Interment was in the Northview cemetery, under the direction of the Wharton Funeral Home.

ARCHIE M'CAULEY
Archie McCauley, 14, son of Loren McCauley, of Needmore, near Brownsville, was shot and killed by his chum and playmate, David Henline, 13, while the two were playing near the West Fork river about 5 o'clock Thursday evening. The full charge of a 12-gauge shotgun shell struck the unfortunate youth in the left side near and above the heart. He died ten minutes later without uttering a word, although he made a brave effort to speak to his father who rushed to his side immediately following the shot.

McCrauley, David Henline and a younger brother, Robert Henline, had been playing about the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Jessie Henline, a widow. Sometime after 4 o'clock McCrauley took the shotgun from its resting place in the home and accompanied by the two boys, set out for the river, to shoot fish, they said. The older Henline boy wanted the gun and asked for it frequently.

Youth Tells of Shooting
According to the testimony at the coroner's inquest held Friday, McCrauley finally gave the gun to him. David told the officers that he started to put the gun under his arm. As he did so Archie ran around in front of him. The weapon was cocked and as he raised it under his arm it discharged, fatally injuring his friend. David then threw the gun over the river bank and Robert ran screaming to the house. Archie walked ten steps and fell to the ground where he died. The screams of the two boys attracted the attention of the occupants of both the Henline and McCauley homes as well as others living nearby.

The sheriff, prosecuting attorney and coroner were notified and investigation was instituted. David Henline was questioned and left in care of his mother. However, later in the night officers were informed that he was not at his mother’s home but with his grandmother. He was picked up and placed in jail pending the outcome of the inquest.

Magistrate W. C. Ratliff, also county coroner, conducted the inquest with the assistance of Prosecuting Attorney W. R. Simmons and a jury composed of Jack Hayden, I. M. Fox, L. A. Griggs, J. M. Malloy, J. E. Jones and W. B. Pearey.

A number of witnesses were examined. However, the only witnesses to the affair were the two Henline boys. After hearing the evidence of the various residents of that community, the jury returned a verdict of "accidental shooting." There was nothing in the testimony to indicate otherwise and both of the boys told the same story of the shooting as related above, that David received the gun from Archie loaded with 8 gauge shot, that Archie ran around in front of David as he placed the gun under his arm when it discharged. Other members of the Henline household told this same account of the event on the stand as told them by the youths themselves. All the testimony indicated that the shooting was an accident. It did develop that the youths had quarreled over a boat earlier in the week and Loren McCauley, father of the dead boy stated on the witness stand that he heard the Henline youth threaten to kill his son in the dispute. However, David and all others told virtually the same account. David accompanied the jury to the actual scene and demonstrated the happening. He was released from custody.

It developed that Thursday morning George Henline, a cousin and David were down town. On the return David purchased a single 12-gauge shot gun shell at Posey's store in Homewood. He told George he was going to shoot a hawk that had been getting the chickens.

The gun was the property of Mrs. Henline’s husband, Pat Henline, who lost his life in the State Hospital mine when a slate fall occurred. Mrs. Henline kept it because it was his property. The children, she stated, frequently asked her for the gun but she refused them. Only a small sister knew that the boys had the gun until they heard the shot.

Mrs. Henline told the coroner’s jury after the verdict Friday evening that she was going to dispose of the gun and no longer keep it about the home.

Funeral services for Archie McCauley were conducted from the family home Saturday evening at 4 o’clock. A local minister was in charge and burial was made in the Brownsville cemetery.

FLOYD WOODSON

Floyd Woodson, farmer-Baltimore and Ohio track man, of near Brownsville, is dead and his son, Edward, 25, lies at the Weston General hospital at the point of death as a result of an automobile accident this side of Fall’s Mill, around 11 o’clock Thursday night of last week. The elder Woodson never regained consciousness and died Friday morning at 9 o’clock, ten hours following the accident. The son, unconscious for days, sustained a fractured skull, a broken nose, broken bones in the face, many cuts and bruises and possibly other injuries.

Woodson and his son had gone to Ivydale, in Braxton county, after the latter's wife and baby boy. Edward was moving here from Ivydale and the trip was made after his wife. However, her father was ill at the time and she decided to remain with him for a few days. This probably saved her life and that of her son.

Wrecks Near Falls Mill

The father and son set out for home in their Dodge car. Just what caused the accident is not known and may never be known. This side of Fall's Mill the machine left the highway and plunged down over a steep embankment a distance of 150 feet. The bank is said to be sheer at the point where the car went over and it dropped for some distance before it struck the steep, rocky ground. It catapulted down the steep decline, turning over several times. The elder Woodson was hurled clear and the son was thrown out as the machine came to rest at the foot of the bank.

A passerby was attracted by the moans and groans coming from below and he investigated. Securing the assistance of some others in the neighborhood they located both men. The elder Woodson was some distance from where the machine was found. They were carried to the highway and Miss Opal Andrew, who conducts a lunch stand at the Mill, brought them to the city in a truck.

Medical attention was given both upon their arrival here some time around 1:30. However, the elder Woodson was suffering from the injuries received and from the shock and never rallied. He expired at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Edward Woodson was called to the bedside of her husband and has been with him since the accident. The fact that her father was ill probably is the only reason she is not dead or badly injured along with her boy.

The body of the elder Woodson was taken to the home of his son-in-law, Richard Linger, in East Weston. Sunday afternoon brief services were conducted at 1:15. Later additional services were conducted from the McCann's Run M. E. church. The Rev. O. D. Curtis, of Jane Lew, was in charge and burial was made in the church cemetery.

He is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. Lewis Price and Mrs. Richard Linger, of Weston, Miss Vada Woodson, Robert, Claude and Edward, at home.

Woodson owned a small farm near Rohrbough Siding. He had worked for the railroad company for many years and was just about ready for retirement when the fatal accident occurred.

The automobile was a complete wreck. One wheel was torn off and the rest of the machine badly damaged. Two tires, however, remained intact in the wild dash down the steep hillside.

MRS. ELIZABETH WAUGAMAN

Mrs. Elizabeth Waugaman, 73, who died a short time after she was struck by a train at the Wood street crossing in South Buckhannon, Monday morning, was buried yesterday afternoon in the Sand Run Baptist church cemetery. The funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock from the Sand Run Baptist church, with the Rev. R. L. Kelbaugh, pastor of the United Brethren church here, officiating.

Mrs. Waugaman was hit by the mixed regular train which left the Buckhannon station at 10:30 o'clock for Pickens. The engineer, J. M. Williams, of Weston, said he saw the old lady step near the track but naturally supposed she would wait for the train to pass.

Witnesses said Mrs. Waugaman paused at the crossing for several minutes, until the train was within twenty-five feet of her. Suddenly, gathering up her long, black skirts, she darted across the tracks, in an apparent attempt to "beat the train." When she was nearly across her knees gave way and she stumbled on the ties, just as the cow catcher or pilot caught her up carrying her for several feet and throwing her off to the side.

The blow on her head rendered her unconscious. It was later learned that her skull was badly crushed. Neighbors rushed to the scene of the tragedy and helped to place her on a stretcher. In an attempt to get her to a hospital quickly, the train backed three-quarters of a mile into the Buckhannon station. Before they reached here, the old lady, who never regained consciousness, died in an express car. Train men called the hit and B. & O. officials from Weston investigated the death. No inquest was held.

DOROTHY AYERSMAN

Cheat river claimed its first victim of the year on Monday afternoon when Dorothy Ayersman, 15-year-old Rowlesburg high school girl, was drowned while swimming in the waters of the stream. Her father, Parker Ayersman, and a sister, Ethel, narrowly escaped a similar fate in their frantic efforts to rescue her.

Miss Ayersman, in company with a number of friends, had gone swimming Monday afternoon and had been in the water only a short time when she called for assistance. Two of her companions, Laura Ayersman and Mary Carrico, heard her cries but were unable to give her much assistance. Her father, who was on the shore, jumped into the river without removing his clothes when he saw her struggling in the water and swam to her rescue. Another daughter, Ethel, also attempted to reach the sister who was in distress.

After vainly struggling Dorothy sank to the bottom of the pool and it was with difficulty the father and sister of the victim of the tragedy were able to reach shore where they fell exhausted. Other bathers nearby who were attracted to the scene made repeated attempts to locate the body of the young girl which was found in ten feet of water nearly an hour after she had disappeared beneath the surface.

Two first-aid crews, one from Manheim and another from Oakland, worked with pulmotors for three hours but all their efforts were futile. It was believed the young lady had suffered a heart attack while swimming.

She taught embroidery in a great number of large department stores in different cities and towns where her handiwork took the highest rank of efficiency and beauty. She took groups of sightseers abroad on six different occasions and was nationally noted for her ability to make her pupils gain valuable knowledge from her familiarity with European places of interest and benefit as exemplified by the narrations that entertained their friends and acquaintances upon their return home. Her knowledge of points in this country were instructive and entertaining to groups that she led on different occasions, in her native nation.

Arterio sclerosis, hardening of the arteries, developed in the blood vessels of her brain and from lack of blood supply her brilliant mind ceased to function and paralysis was the sequella.

Her funeral attested the high estimation in which she was held and in the church of which she was a devoted lifetime member, high mass was witnessed by a throng of grief stricken friends. Burial was made in the family plot in Machpelah cemetery.—M. S. H.

RAY J. BAILEY

Stricken at 10 o’clock last night, Ray J. Bailey, 48, former merchant and member of a prominent family, died an hour later at his home, 513 Preston street, this city, of paralysis.

Although ill the last two years as the result of high blood pressure and complications, Mr. Bailey was up and around the house as usual yesterday and down town only a few days ago. The suddenness of his death was, therefore, a shock to family and friends. He suffered only the one stroke, sinking rapidly after it came.

Born May 4, 1884, Mr. Bailey was a son of Araminta A. and James Baxter Bailey, prominent residents of Flemington, where he was reared. They are now both deceased. The late James Bailey, of Flemington, a successful farmer, was his grandfather. A resident of Clarksburg the last twenty years, Mr. Bailey engaged in the mercantile business and was a traveling salesman a part of the time, being in the employ of the Morris Grocery Company at the time ill health forced his retirement two years ago. He had also worked as salesman for the F. Schenk and Sons Company, meat packers, of Wheeling, with Harrison, Taylor, Barbour counties as his territory.

From 1918 to 1924 he operated a grocery store on South Third street and then for four years owned and conducted a similar store in the Goff Plaza section of the city. As a result of his business connections he was widely and favorably known.

A member of Clarksburg Council, No. 28, United Commercial Travelers of America, Mr. Bailey was active in its deliberations. He was a member of the Methodist Protestant church at Astor, Taylor county.

Mr. Bailey is the second member of the family to die within the last eight months. Paul Wayne Bailey, of Adamston, former coal operator, died last November 10, at his home following a long illness of paralysis.

JOHN W. FLORAIN

Less than two hours after he had shot himself in the head and while being taken to a Morgantown hospital, John W. Florain, Sr., a well known resident of near Terra Alta, died at noon Saturday a few minutes before the ambulance in which he was being conveyed reached its destination.

When the trip to the hospital was begun it was not known that Florain had shot himself but it was believed he had been injured in a fall in the room in his home where he was found at eleven o'clock Saturday morning by his aged wife who had heard no shot although in an adjoining room at the time. She is said to be partially deaf.

An injury on the head was revealed when an examination was made by a physician who was summoned by Mrs. Florain. This was believed to have resulted in a fall and it was decided to send the aged man to the hospital. When he was pronounced dead upon the arrival of the ambulance at the hospital it was not discovered he had been shot and only after the body had been taken to an undertaker in Terra Alta was the cause of death known.

Coroner Hartman was notified and in company with Deputy Roth went to Terra Alta where an examination was made. It was found a .32 calibre bullet had penetrated the man's head and the bullet was later found by the officials in the room where the aged man had been discovered by his wife. The gun from which the bullet had been fired was found in an adjoining room. One shell had been exploded and it is believed the revolver had been found by some one following the tragedy and before the arrival of the officers. Florain was unconscious when discovered and had not entered the second room after shooting himself as his wife was seated in that room.

Why the aged man should seek to end his own life is not known but it is believed he had had financial worries and had grown despondent. Earlier in the day neighbors had been in his home and he appeared to be in his usual good spirits.

He was widely known and held in high regard. For a long number of years he had been a caretaker at the lake near Terra Alta and lived in a cottage nearby. His funeral was held at the home on Monday morning and interment was in the Terra Alta cemetery.

JAMES R. DOAK

Friends here are deeply grieved to learn of the untimely death of James R. Doak, son of Mrs. Margaret Doak, of this city, which occurred early Tuesday morning in the Camden Clark hospital in Parkersburg.

Tuesday evening's Parkersburg Sentinel gave the following account:

James R. Doak, aged 49, prominent Parkersburg druggist associated with the W. I. Boreman company, died unexpectedly this morning at 5 o'clock at the Camden Clark hospital following a major operation performed five days ago.

Mr. Doak had been in failing health for some time but he did not remain confined and continued actively in the business in which he was associated. He went from his store to the hospital the morning he was operated upon. His condition was very satisfactory until late last evening when he rapidly became worse with death following early this morning.

Mr. Doak, who was known as one of the leading druggists of the city, was born at Deep Valley, Tyler county, in 1884, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Doak. He spent his boyhood in that locality and then came to Parkersburg to attend Mountain State Business college, from which he was graduated at the age of 19.

He entered the employ of J. N. Murdoch company, of this city, wholesale druggists, being connected first with the office staff. He later became a salesman for the same firm. Mr. Doak then became connected with the George A. Kelly company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., wholesale druggists, and was with them for 14 years as a salesman.

When the World war broke out and the United States entered the conflict in 1918, Mr. Doak immediately volunteered his services with the Y. M. C. A. overseas forces and served for 11 months along the battlefront in France. After his return to this country following the signing of the Armistice, Mr. Doak returned with the Kelly drug firm for a year. He then came back to Parkersburg and was connected with the Parkersburg Rig and Reel company as a salesman.

Five years ago he became associated with a brother, N. B. Doak; his son, James N. Doak, and L. Harold Smith in the purchase of the W. I. Boreman Drug company of this city, one of the oldest established drug concerns in West Virginia, and served as secretary and general manager of the firm until his death.

The new management remained in business at the Boreman company's old location between Fifth and Sixth streets on Market for four years, but due to the enterprising supervision of Mr. Doak, the firm was able to move into a handsome new home at Sixth and Market streets a year ago. Mr. Doak was widely known in drug circles throughout West Virginia and Ohio and had a very large host of friends.

He belonged to the Scottish Rite of Free Masons and had been a life-long member of the First Christian church.

Mr. Doak leaves his widow, the former Mabel Frances Hamilton, of Belpre, O., whom he married a year after he came to Parkersburg from Tyler county; two daughters, Mrs. M. L. Oliver, of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. William Goe, of Sistersville; two sons, James N. Doak, of this city, and James Robert Doak, Jr., at home; his mother, Mrs. Freeman Doak, of Pennsboro; five sisters, Mrs. A. J. Cain, of Belpre, O.; Mrs. Georgia McQueen, of Newton, Ill.; Mrs. Mary Donaldson and Mrs. Lawrence D. James, both of Pennsboro, W. Va., and Mrs. Ben Wilson, of Grafton, W. Va., and one brother, N. B. Doak, of Belpre, O.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon from the First Christian church with the W. D. VanVoorhis, of Beech Bottom, O., officiating.

The body will be made in the Mount Olivet cemetery. The body will be at the Doak residence, 2101 Park avenue, Wednesday afternoon.

JOHN J. JARVIS

Mr. Jarvis was born in Ritchie county, Virginia, in 1853. His parents were Edmund J. and Caroline Jarvis.

He had lived in Idaho since 1875, having first settled at Challis, then in 1884 homesteading in Round Valley. In 1900 he moved to Middleton where he engaged in farming and storekeeping until 1916 when he moved to Bayhorse, near Challis, which place was his home until his last illness.

He was buried at Challis on June 16.

The above clipping was sent us for publication by Mr. Jarvis' sister, Mrs. J. E. Chippis, of Cascade, Idaho.

Mrs. Chippis included her subscription for the news one year along with her letter, in which she stated that it had been a long time since she had lived here but that she still loved her native home and people and that perhaps there would be some living in Pennsboro, who would remember Florence Jarvis.

Shock beyond measure by the news of the tragic death of Samuel Richard Bentley, 54, one of its most beloved and distinguished citizens, who was killed almost instantly at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night in an automobile accident. Clarksburg generally, and many parts of the state and nation, mourn his passing. The fatal accident occurred at Pike near the junction of the newly constructed cut-off with United States highway, 50, northwest of Ellenboro, where the automobile in which he and James W. Wooddell, manager of the Waldo hotel, were returning from a meeting of members of the West Virginia Hotel Men's Association held at Marietta, O. The car is believed to have struck a bank of gravel which caused it to plunge against a tree alongside the highway. It bounded back in the middle of the road and both men were thrown violently to the surface of the highway. The entire top of the car was torn off.

Bentley lived only a few minutes and died without regaining consciousness, his skull being crushed in from the rear. His left shoulder was badly mashed. There was a serious puncture in his left side and many severe lacerations on his arms and hands.

Just how long Wooddell lay in the highway following the death of Bentley, he himself does not know, possibly fifteen minutes he believes. When found he was taken to a home nearby and first aid medical treatment was given him by a physician summoned from Peninsboro.

The body of Bentley was removed to the nearby house and a Peninsboro undertaker responded to call. Later the Davis Undertaking Company sent an ambulance after the body and arrived about 5 o'clock at its local mortuary with it. An ambulance conveying Wooddell followed and arrived at St. Mary's hospital about the same hour.

Many View Body

The body of Bentley was removed at 8 o'clock last night to the lodge room of Clarksburg Lodge, No. 482, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, to lie in state until after funeral services.

Funeral Plans

Stater, of Huntington, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, will conduct services, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Homer E. Wark, present pastor of that church. The eulogy at tonight's services will be given by Louis A. Johnson, a past exalted ruler and close friend. Both services will be open to the public. Kirk King will have charge of the music at both services.

The body will be taken from the Elks' lodge after tomorrow afternoon's services to the Elkview Masonic mausoleum, where members of the Masonic order will have charge of the final rites. Masons are asked to meet at 1:30 o'clock in their lodge room adjoining the Elks' home so as to attend the funeral services and burial in a body. Members will bring cars, if possible.

Active pallbearers, all Masons, have been chosen as follows: Louis A. Johnson, Hugh Jarvis, W. M. B. Sine, Professor John A. Jackson, C. C. Grimmett, Arthur Parsons and Lloyd P. Souders, all of Clarksburg; and Phil Conley, of Charleston.

Born November 12, 1877, in Spencersburg, Mo., Mr. Bentley was a son of Joseph and Jane Brown Bentley, natives of England. When he was 2 years old, the family moved to Warsaw, Ill., where he attended public schools, and was employed as a youth by a St. Louis, Mo., furniture concern.

Joined Stock Company

Reaching manhood, Bentley studied elocution, and later took training two seasons in the Mozart Symphony Club organization, St. Louis, being of histrionic inclination. In 1899, he went to Pittsburgh, Pa., and joined the Grand Opera Stock Company, of that city, appearing with some of the leading dramatic artists of the United States.

In November, 1899, Bentley came to Clarksburg and associated himself with the former Ruhl-Koblegard Company, wholesale grocers, and retained the position until December, 1903, as a successful traveling salesman. He endeared himself so much to his employers, that the late John Koblegard, a leading member of the firm, prevailed upon him to take a European trip with him at Koblegard's expense, an experience Bentley often referred to in warm appreciation toward Koblegard and in vivid description of the enjoyment of the trip.

In 1904, Bentley established his connections with the New York Life Insurance Company, later becoming its special representative. He was an infrequent visitor at the head offices of the company in New York and was intimately acquainted with the company's highest officials. His clientele included bankers, lawyers and other leading business men not only locally but also in other parts of the state.

Bentley's civic virtues were unsurpassed. He identified himself with the Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce when it was known in former years as the board of trade, and served as president of the present organization, devoting much time and talent to the upbuilding of the city in that capacity as well as in the role of member only. His fellows in that organization recall he was never too busy to share his time in the promotion of city welfare, expansion and development.

A charter member of the Clarksburg Rotary Club, Bentley was a regular attendant at its sessions and served acceptably and well as its president.

Prominent in Elks Lodge

Fervency and zeal no less characterized Bentley's fraternal life. Typically an Elk by nature and inclination, Bentley became a member of Clarksburg Lodge, No. 182, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in 1902, zealously exemplified its cardinal principles, charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity throughout the many years of his membership in that order. He served as exalted ruler of the lodge in 1906-07, and for a number of years as well as at the time of his death was chairman of the past exalted rulers' committee of the lodge.

Bentley was also a consistent advocate of the principles of Freemasonry. He was a member of Clarksburg Lodge, No. 155, of that fraternity. He was likewise a member of Clarksburg Chapter, No. 11, Knights Rose Croix, of the same fraternity. Soon after he became a resident of Clarksburg he identified himself with Clarksburg Council, No. 28, United Commercial Travelers of America. He attended the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Thoroughly American, Bentley took an active part in World war activities, always advocating and urging the cause of the Allies, and served in an enthusiastic and faithful manner in the local four-minute men's speaking organizations, making many addresses himself in the war drive for funds and loyal service, oftentimes making great personal sacrifices. He subscribed liberally to the Liberty loans, necessitated by the war. He was not averse to mounting a wagon in the street in the campaign and addressing the throngs. He frequently addressed theater audiences in behalf of such funds.
Widening his civic activities, Bentley a few months ago became imbued with the idea of promotion of the interests of the state from an advertising viewpoint, as the result of its beautiful scenery and its enormous natural resources. Encouraging the formation of the West Virginia Publicity Association, he assisted in the organization of that body at a meeting here and was selected its president in recognition of his enthusiasm and fitness. Before and since his election to that office, he engaged in spreading the gospel of West Virginia's being a glorious place in which to live, making frequent trips to central points and addressing service, civic and other bodies. He spoke his last words of praise of his adopted state, which he had learned to love so well only a few hours before he breathed his last breath, and doubtless the subject was uppermost in his mind when the final summons came in such tragic manner. Bentley immortalized his name when he invented the expressive slogan—"West Virginia—the State Beautiful," long since subscribed on all worthy literature about the state.

Bentley apparently had a premonition of death as he executed a new will Thursday afternoon, naming Louis A. Johnson and the Union National bank as his executors after Johnson had expressed the wish not to serve alone.

Friends point out the striking parallel of the manner of the deaths of Bentley and Dr. Robert Haynes, possibly his closest friend. Dr. Haynes met death the evening of December 5, 1929, when the automobile he was driving crashed into a tree along state highway 20 near the Harrison-Barbour county boundary line.

The Bentleys are an English family. John Bentley, the first of the line, was born in England and there engaged, as did his father before him, in the woolen mill business, dying at middle age.

Joseph Bentley, son of John Bentley, was born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England. As a young man he immigrated with his wife in 1870 to the United States and located at Jacksonville, Ill. Throughout his long and active life, Joseph Bentley also engaged in the woolen mills business. Coming to Clarksburg in June, 1899, he became manager of the Lowndes woolen mill here and retired soon after the mill was burned several years later. He was born September 1, 1842, and died here August 29, 1924, aged nearly 82 years.

Mrs. Bentley, born August 26, 1844, died here June 19, 1925, aged nearly 81 years. Before her marriage she was Miss Jane Brown, a daughter of a Methodist Episcopal minister.

The Bentleys were the parents of four children: Albert W., of Hamilton, Kan., a retired newspaper man; James, who died in infancy; a daughter who also died in infancy; and Samuel R. Bentley. Albert W. Bentley is the only surviving member of the immediate family. The only other relatives in the United States are several cousins at Burlington, N. J. He had relatives at Leeds, England. The brother will arrive at 1 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Burlington, N. J., relatives are Mrs. Rachel G. Haines and Mrs. Martha Bentley Martin and their several brothers. Mrs. Leroy Davison, of Leavenworth, Kan., and Mrs. Thomas L. Mettee, of Shawnee, Kan., are nieces of Mr. Bentley. His relatives in England are his cousins, the Misses Rhoda and Mary Speight, Mrs. Fannie Turner and John Bentley, all of near Leeds. John Bentley visited here two years ago.

Besides immediate relatives, among those near and dear to Mr. Bentley are Miss Ethel Leach, of 329 South Chestnut street, who was betrothed to him, and her uncle, Charles L. Hickman, whose home was much like his own to Mr. Bentley. Miss Leach has been in poor health several months, and it was feared the shock of the news of her fiancé's tragic death would prove too much for her to bear, but she has bravely met the ordeal and is bearing up well in her grief. Her aged uncle is no less affected as Bentley had long been loved as the aged man would love his own son. Sympathy is general for them as well as all the bereft relatives, and the pall of sorrow is seen on every hand, as the death of such a useful and loyal man, but recently voted Clarksburg's most useful citizen, comes as a calamity to city and state in the minds of all.

MRS. L. F. CURRY
William G. Johnson, a local lawyer, returned last night from Mountain Grove, Bath county, Va., where he attended the funeral and burial of Mrs. L. F. Services were held Sunday at the Stark Chapel church on the James river and burial made in the Lindsay cemetery. Johnson was impressed with the peculiarity of the rites at the grave. The minister first applied the shovel and almost filled the grave with earth, and then mem-

MARTHA J. POLING
The sudden death of Martha Jean, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Poling, of Fairmont, Monday brought an awful shock to the family.

We clip the following from the Times regarding the deceased:

"On Sunday, Mrs. Poling and daughters, Martha Jean and RuthAnn, were guests of Mrs. Ralph Dollison, at the Dollison camp on the Valley river, and the girls were in swimming for a short time and about the beach a greater part of the afternoon. Soon after her return home she complained of not being well and retired.

"The departed girl was a general favorite with all who knew her and was a bright and ambitious student. She would have been a sophomore at the coming term of the West high school. She belonged to the Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal church and was faithful in her attendance there. Martha Jean was a lovable, devoted daughter and her parents are grief stricken over her sudden death. Besides her parents, she leaves one younger sister, RuthAnn; also her grandmother, Mrs. Robert Poling, of Philippi. Both were of the Polings. The child was also a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poling, of Philippi.

"Martha Jean passed her fourteenth birthday anniversary on June 8. The two sisters were fond companions and have been greatly cherished in the family circle. The mother of the child was formerly Miss Gladys Ferguson."

MORGAN CARPENTER

On last Friday night Morgan Carpenter, a brother-in-law of Orb Fleming and who lived with Fleming in Nicholas county, near Allingdale, was shot and instantly killed about 10:30 p.m. by Orb Fleming. An investigation by the local authorities was made early on Saturday morning, and developed the following information:

It appears that Orb Fleming married a sister of Morgan Carpenter and Carpenter, with his mother and one brother had been living at the Fleming home for several months. On last Friday Fleming had gone into Webster county and Carpenter had remained at home, working on the farm until after supper, when he went to Camden-on-Gauley. Fleming came to his home about 10:00 o'clock at night, and shortly after went to bed. About half an hour later Morgan Carpenter also came home and went into his bed room, which adjoined that of Fleming. Some conversation arose between the two men, which developed into a dispute and Carpenter stepped into Fleming's room, advancing toward Fleming. Fleming had an automatic revolver hanging on the wall, near his bed, which he procured and fired at Carpenter striking him in the front part of the neck and the bullet penetrating the jugular artery and lodging in Carpenter's back. Fleming fired again, shooting Carpenter through the arm, the bullet also going under the skin for about four inches through his back, and then through the arm of Carpenter's mother. Carpenter walked a few steps across the floor and fell and died almost instantly. In the meantime, Carpenter's brother and Fleming's wife took the pistol from Fleming and while the wife and brother were scuffling over the pistol Fleming jumped out of the window and escaped. The above were statements made by Carpenter's mother to the authorities.

It is rumored that Fleming claims a case of self defense and that at the time he did the shooting, Morgan Carpenter was assaulting him with a black jack, aided by his brother, who had a knife and that before Fleming shot he had been struck once or twice with a black jack. Fleming gave himself up on August 1 and waived a preliminary examination and was granted bond by J. W. Early in the sum of $5000. Wysong and Wysong of Webster Springs, represent Fleming.

JOHN W. MURPHY

John W. Murphy, son of Michael and Barbara Baldwin Murphy, was born in Allegheny county, Virginia, in 1860, being the third in a family of ten children. While Mr. Murphy was in his early boyhood, his parents moved to Wilderness district, Nicholas county, West Virginia, where he was reared, helping to transform a veritable wilderness into a prosperous farming section, while at the same time developing those splendid traits of character which throughout the years to come won for him the admiration and respect of his neighbors and many friends.

Mr. Murphy was a quiet, unassuming citizen, inured to hard work, and yet never too busy to assist a friend, or stop for a friendly chat with those who passed his way. His smile and word of good cheer will long be remembered by all who knew him.

Early in life Mr. Murphy was confirmed in the Roman Catholic church and for more than half a century his Christian life and loyalty to his church have been an inspiration to his family and close friends.

On July 31, 1883, he was married to Miss Fannie Reynolds, of Summersville. For almost forty years they resided on their farm in the "Irish Corner." Later, when their children were grown and age no longer permitted Mr. Murphy to continue farming, they moved into Summersville, where his last years were quietly and pleasantly spent.

Mr. Murphy was blessed with reasonably good health, and was able to attend to his usual activities until August 8, 1932, when in his seventy-second year, he was stricken with a heart attack, and in less than thirty minutes thereafter was called into eternity. Following funeral services conducted by Father John Paulin, his body was laid to rest in the cemetery adjoining the St. John Catholic church at Summersville.

JOHN ARNOLD

After suffering for two days with severe wounds inflicted when an overspeeded turbine cracked up at the Croft Company mill in Suncrest Monday morning, tearing off his right arm, mangling his right leg and necessitating amputation, and seriously injuring five other men, A. C. "John" Arnold, Jr., Suncrest, died in St. Joseph's hospital early yesterday morning. The other men were described as being "out of danger."

The toll in the accident stood last night:

Dead: John Arnold, 28, married, Suncrest.

Seriously injured: Alex Hartman, 50, South Buckhannon, woods foreman at the mill, shattered right leg and minor cuts.

Wayman Burnside, 25, Suncrest, compound fracture of right leg.

Slightly injured: Cecil Clink, Buckhannon, minor abrasions; Edward Johnson, Suncrest, cut on hand; Phillip Swicker, superintendent, cuts on hand.

The men had been experimenting with the turbine in an effort to determine whether it would be practical to attach a generator to it to produce electricity to be used in charging company employees' radios in Suncrest. In the trial, steam from the company's boilers was used to furnish power, but when the turbine gathered speed it became apparent that it was going to fly to pieces. One of the men, sensing the danger, ran to turn off the steam, but was too late, the speeding wheel cracking up, throwing chunks of iron in every direction and striking the men.
The men were given first aid treatment at the mill by Dr. C. L. Cookman, company physician, and Mrs. James Ashworth, Buckhannon, a trained nurse, who was visiting at Suncrest. A special train rushed from the mill brought the more seriously injured men to the hospital in Buckhannon. Arnold's leg was amputated and part of his arm removed because of its shattered condition.

LUTHER SCOTT HILLYARD

Luther Scott Hillyard, was born Dec. 25, 1849, at the old Hillyard home, on a farm near Belington, and departed out of his life on August 10, 1932, at Elkins, W. Va., caused by sudden death in an accident on state route No. 56 above Belington.

He was the son of the late John and Mary Yeager Hillyard, and was of a large family consisting of 8 children all of whom have passed to the Great Beyond where no death can enter nor sorrow can come. His father was one of the pioneer settlers and came to Belington from Virginia. The Hillyard family afterward became one of the best and widely known families in Barbour county and one of the best respected.

The deceased was never married, but remained single all his life, being 82 years, 7 months and 10 days old at the time of his death. Luther, as he was familiarly called, was well and favorably known to all who knew him, and by the entire community, having been active in business one time in life. He was associated with his brother, John Hillyard, in the cattle business, buying and selling same, also shipping cattle, farming and other business activities. The Hillyard brothers were pretty well fixed so far as the world's goods were concerned, handling large sums of money and a great amount of stock and were well-to-do farmers.

After John died Luther made his permanent home with his brother's family.

So far as we know the departed brother never made any public profession of religion, neither was he ever united to any church, but he tried, we believe, to live a moral, respected life. But he was a man who was truthful, honest, conscientious and industrious and tried to live up to the Golden Rule, "To do to his fellowmen as he wanted others to do to him."

LLOYD E. STURM

Announcement has just been made of the death of Lloyd Elmer Sturm, aged 72, of 1392 Bridon Road, Columbus, Ohio, who passed away at a Columbus Hospital Friday morning. Mr. Sturm was born at Enterprise, this county, January 28th, 1860, the son of John F. and Harriet (Harrison) Sturm. He was a descendent of Jacob Sturm who came from Maryland and settled first in Monogalia county, and later in Harrison county.

Suffered From Tumor

The immediate cause of the death of Mr. Sturm was a tumor on one of his kidneys. He had been confined to the hospital since May 29th past. It was thought that a surgical operation would relieve his trouble, but in attempting to make the operation it was found impossible to successfully do so.

Mr. Sturm had been ill very little during his life time, but had spent most of his winters in recent years at Biloxi, Miss., on the Gulf of Mexico.

Learned Trade Here

Mr. Sturm spent his early life at his birth place and early learned the trade of stonemason and builder and built the stone work on the bridges at Good Hope, West Milford, the old Dublin bridge near Goff Plaza, Clarksburg, the old covered bridge across Limestone creek at Adamston, and many other of the old time bridges in Harrison and Marion counties. He had charge of the construction of all the bridges on the old Monongahela River Railroad between Clarksburg and Fairmont. He did his first work of this kind for the Norfolk & Western Maryland Railroad about 1887 and directed practically all of their work of this nature up to the time of his death. He built many of the viaducts near Columbus. He operated under the firm name of Sturm & Dillard, railroad contractors. Mr. Dillard, being a much younger man, took care of the outside work.

In 1888 he was married to Miss Nellie O'Connor, at Columbus, O. They first lived at Waverly, Ohio, and moved to Columbus in 1901, where Mr. Sturm resided until his death. At the time of moving to Columbus his residence was located in the very edge of the city. Today it is one of the leading residence streets, the growth of Columbus having extended its present limits far beyond what was once a residence even beyond the suburbs.

Bedfast 8 Months

Mr. Towles died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in his apartments in the Gore hotel following a long illness of complications due to high blood pressure and paralysis. He had been bedfast eight months and practically helpless although he retained his mental faculties until the last. He had shown remarkable recuperative powers and rallied at times when it was believed he was nearing the end.

Until late Saturday afternoon, Mr. Towles was able to take nourishment and his condition did not become alarming until he suffered a stroke that evening. His condition continued to grow worse and he passed peacefully.

Mr. Towles was born October 29, 1865, in Salem, and was a son of Joseph E. and Hester Hutson Towles, who moved to West Union a few years after the birth of the son. The senior Towles was a well known shoemaker. In addition to the operation of a large shop connected with his trade, the father held minor positions of public trust and then retired to a farm from the Doddridge county seat where he and his wife spent their last days.

Enters Service

Cecil Towles entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company as a clerk of the West Union passenger station of the company, September 6, 1884, when not quite 19 years old, and remained in company service more than forty-six years, officially retiring January 1, 1931.

Mr. Towles came to the Clarksburg station of the company from West Union, October 21, 1887, where he served in a similar capacity, until he was appointed passenger ticket agent, February 4, 1904, where his experience as clerk played him in hand, and he soon established a reputation as one of the company's most reliable agents. Applying himself unselfishly to the duties of the office, he held high rank among railway ticket agents whose knowledge of the intricate network of railways in the United States is comprehensive. Devoted to his duties, Mr. Towles gave all his time to the office and took only the briefest vacations.

The veteran ticket agent served here at a time when the local passenger station was reputed to enjoy the greatest patronage of any station between Washington and Cincinnati. The various latteral local lines of the system had not been constructed when he first entered the service here and he watched their development with interest and was zealous in his service, devoted at all times to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company but equally zealous in serving the traveling public.

When he became ill, he was granted sick leave May 26, 1930, and did no active service after that date. However, recovering sufficiently to leave the hospital, Mr. Towles often manifested his interest in the affairs of the office by visits there. During his later illness he frequently referred to the office and the company as much interested as when in active service.

Gets Official Praise

Personally known to most of the high officials of the railroad company, Mr. Towles was endeared to them, and on the occasion of his retirement from service, two of them wrote him letters of worthwhile testimonials, which he prized very highly. The first of these under date of December 20, 1930, reading as follows:

"I have just approved your application for retirement and have referred it to the pension committee for consideration."

"According to my records, I note you have been in the service forty-six years, employed as a laborer, ticket clerk and ticket agent on the Monongah division.
"I desire to congratulate you upon this occasion and hope that you may live for many years in the enjoyment of your well-earned rest from active duties and in the recollection of duty well performed.

"As soon as the pension committee approves your application, you will be notified."

The other letter was sent to Mr. Towles by C. W. Galloway, vice president of the railroad company, under date of February 16, 1931, and read as follows:

"On your retirement from active service after forty-six years with this company, I wish to congratulate you on the splendid record you have made and to express my personal appreciation.

"The company is not unmindful of the service rendered by its older men, and it must be a source of gratification to you to look back at your record of many years and feel it has been creditable—worthy of a man.

"It is hoped that your retirement will mean many years of comfortable life and that you will always feel that you are one of the Baltimore and Ohio family."

In addition to these testimonials, Mr. Towles received a handsome bronze medal in recognition of his long service.

Helped Found Church

The Towles family became identified with the city of Salem in its early history. as Henry Towles and his wife, Nancy Towles, grandparents of Cecil H. Towles, settled there at a time when there were not so very many residents of the town, dating with the construction of the Parkersburg branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in the early '50s. The elder Towles and his wife had no sooner moved to the town than they inspired the founding of the Methodist Episcopal church there, as a congregation met in 1851-2 in the shoe shop of Mr. Towles and in 1853 the class, which later became the church, organized with him as its leader.

Mr. Towles was married October 12, 1896, to Miss Dora F. Pike, at the home of her parents, the late Richard and Mildred A. Pike, by the Rev. B. B. Evans, then pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, known at the time as the Goff Chapel Methodist Episcopal church. She survives. They had no children. Devoted to each other, they were inseparable companions. Knight Templar

He distinguished himself in party affairs, when he took a leading part in the memorable convention struggle which finally nominated John W. CECIL H. TOWLES

Final rites for Cecil H. Towles, 66, retired ticket agent at the local Baltimore and Ohio station, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Stater, former pastor of the church, of Huntington, will pronounce the funeral eulogy and burial will be made in a crypt of the Elkview Masonic mausoleum.

The veteran railroad employe passed away at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his apartments in the Gore hotel following a long illness of high blood pressure and paralysis. He had been bedfast eight months and practically an invalid, although he maintained his mental faculties to the last.

He suffered a paralytic stroke Saturday evening and his condition from that time on was critical.

Perhaps no other man connected with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company in this section was better known than Mr. Towles. His courtesy and magnetic manner in pursuance of his duties as passenger agent is remembered by thousands and his passing casts a pall of sorrow over the entire community.

Herman lodge, No. 6. Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, of which he had long been a member, will have charge of the funeral, assisted by other Masonic bodies. Active pallbearers will be Charles S. Deison, W. Lee Williams, Fred E. Delbridge, S. W. Wells and D. J. Fury, all of Clarksburg, and H. R. Wickham, railroad passenger agent at Grafton.
The honorary pallbearers will be Millard F. Snider, Hugh Jarvis and S. Austin Smith, all of Clarksburg; Millard Hamilton, of Belpre, O., retired freight representative of the railroad company; V. A. Lyon, ticket clerk in the local station; J. P. Taggart, of Pittsburgh, assistant general passenger agent; E. A. Hoffman, of Wheeling division passenger agent; H. R. Gibson, of Grafton, division superintendent; C. F. Grumbine, assistant cashier at the local freight office; and Capt. John Smith, of Weston, retired passenger train conductor and former sheriff of Lewis county.

The body will lie in state at the First Methodist Episcopal church from 11:30 o'clock until 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, at which time the casket will be closed and not reopened.

Mr. Towles was born October 29, 1865, in Salem, and was a son of Joseph E. and Hester Hutson Towles, who moved to West Union a few years after the birth of the son. The senior Towles was a well known shoemaker.

Cecil Towles entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company as a clerk of the West Union passenger station of the company, September 6, 1884, when not quite 19 years old, and remained in company service more than forty-six years, officially retiring January 1, 1931.

Mr. Towles came to the Clarksburg station of the company from West Union, October 21, 1887, where he served in a similar capacity until he was appointed passenger ticket agent February 4, 1904, where his experience as clerk played him in hand, and he soon established a reputation as one of the company's most reliable agents. Applying himself unselfishly to the duties of the office, he held high rank among railway ticket agents whose knowledge of the intricate network of railways in the United States is comprehensive. Devoted to his duties, Mr. Towles gave all his time to the office and took only the briefest vacations.

The veteran ticket agent served here at a time when the local passenger station was reputed to enjoy the greatest patronage of any station between Washington and Cincinnati. The various latteral local line of the system had not been constructed when he first entered the service here and he watched their development with interest and was zealous in his service, devoted at all times to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company but equally zealous in serving the traveling public.

When he became ill, he was granted sick leave May 26, 1930, and did no active service after that date. However, recovering sufficiently to leave the hospital, Mr. Towles often manifested his interest in the affairs of the office by visits there. During his later illness he frequently referred to the office and the company as much interested as when in active service.

Personally known to most of the high officials of the railroad company, Mr. Towles was endeared to them, and on the occasion of his retirement from service, two of them wrote him letters of worthwhile testimonials, which he prized very highly.

In addition to these testimonials, Mr. Towles received a handsome bronze medal in recognition of his long service.

The Towles family became identified with the city of Salem in its early history, as Henry Towles and his wife, Nancy Towles, grandparents of Cecil H. Towles, settled there at a time when there were not so very many residents of the town, dating with the construction of the Parkersburg branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in the early '50s. The elder Towles and his wife had no sooner moved to the town than they inspired the founding of the Methodist Episcopal church there, as a congregation met in 1851-2 in the shoe shop of Mr. Towles and in 1853 the class, which later became the church, organized with him as its leader.

Mr. Towles was married October 12, 1896, to Miss Dora F. Pike, at the home of her parents, the late Richard and Mildred A. Pike, by the Rev. B. B. Evans, then pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, known at the time as the Goff Chapel Methodist Episcopal church. She survives. They had no children. Devoted to each other, they were inseparable companions. It was common to see them strolling in the streets of Clarksburg Sunday afternoon until he became too ill, and even after that during recuperative periods they indulged in their favorite pastime, their ideal devotion existing until the final message came to the husband.

A sister and two brothers survive. They are Mrs. Carrie W. Douglass, of Punta Gorda, Fla.; John Towles, of Haywood, and George W. Towles, of Chiefton. Another sister, Mrs. Belle Eddy, wife of Willis Eddy, of Salem, and a brother, Lee S. Towles, who was a conductor on the Monongahela river branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system, between this city and Fairmont, are dead.

ANDREW JACKSON LONG

Death claimed one of the notable figures of the county when last Saturday, Andrew Jackson Long, of Valley Bend, 83, succumbed to a complication of maladies incidental to advanced age. His death was not unexpected because for the last few months or since early in the year in fact he had been in extremely poor health and had grown very frail.

Born in 1849, the son of Washington J. and Mary Hutton Long, Mr. Long was never married, his closest relatives at the time of his death being two nieces, Mrs. R. L. pritt, of Valley Bend, and Mrs. Bruce Yokum, of Beverly, and by two nephews, A. B. Long, of Valley Bend, and Harry Ervin.

Throughout his long and useful life, Mr. Long resided on the same farm on which his father, Washington J. Long, had lived, his father being one of the earlier settlers of the county. The farm is regarded as one of the best in the Tygart Valley. During his lifetime Mr. Long added considerably to his holdings, and was extensively engaged in cattle raising.

He was a man of frugal habits, of much strength of character and all those who knew him entertained for him the highest respect for his many admirable traits of character. He was a frequent visitor in Elkins and was always welcomed here as a visitor.

The confidence and respect he commanded were attested in 1892 when he was sheriff of Randolph county, serving for a period of four years. For sixteen years he was president of the Valley Bend Board of Education. At the time the court house at Beverly burned he was a heavy loser, no less than $4,000 worth of paper being burned or lost beyond recovery. The main farm in Valley Bend district consisted of about 700 acres.

Funeral services were held at Mr. Long's late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. G. O. Yount, pastor of the Huttonsville Presbyterian church. Active pall bearers were: Jefferson Kittie, Dorsey Scott, Ben Wamsley, Ernest Pritt, Charles Phares, and John McElwee. Honorary pall bearers were, George Pritt, Charles Bradley, H. B. Phares, Sherid Pritt, Walter McElwee and Judge H. G. Kump.

Interment was made by F. E. Runner in the cemetery near the residence.

The fatal accident occurred while the child’s parents were visiting relatives in the Canaan Valley, the boy being at home with his grandfather, Charles E. Mylius. The boy was found by his grandfather lying on a bed with the glass near him.

Henry was given to experimenting with anaesthetics, it is stated, and did not realize the poisonous nature of the fumes he inhaled.

the Rev. W. E. Tanner in charge. Burial was made at Kesley, Braxton county.

THOS. M. VALENTINE
Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock this morning in the Pleasant Valley church near Auburn for Thomas M. Valentine, 72, retired farmer, who died Sunday evening at his home in that town of paralysis. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

JUDGE CHARLES LYNCH
Judge Charles W. Lynch, 81, dean of the Harrison county bar and a former president of the state supreme court, died at 9 o'clock this morning at his residence, 403 Lee avenue, of infirmities.
Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church. The hour has not been set. Interment will be made in the family lot in the Elkview Masonic cemetery.

Judge Lynch had been in impaired health the last three years but not until recently did he become bedfast. His death had been momentarily expected several days.

Judge Lynch was born Tuesday, March 11, 1851, near and south of the West Fork river one-half mile west of the mouth of Brown's creek, a tributary of the river, near Mount Clare, in an old frame house, which was destroyed by fire a number of years ago.

Pioneer Families
The parents of Judge Lynch were James Lynch and Catherine Jane (Stout) Lynch, son and daughter of pioneer families of Harrison county. James Lynch was a farmer and cattle grazer and widely known in the county.

In quest of an education fostered by his father, Judge Lynch had an unique experience. After having attended private schools near the home of his parents, he went to others farther removed but within the county. Two of them were near Romine's Mills and both taught by Dr. William Meigs, well known as a competent teacher.

The other was in a log structure formerly used as a church. Later he attended school in another building located near Prospect Valley in Eagle district, but it was too small to accommodate all the pupils, and Judge Lynch was among those transferred to a log building which had been constructed as and used for a stable; so, it appears that his education was somewhat "stableized."

Pioneer Methods
Pioneer methods were in vogue when he went to school. The school room of that day was one with long tables lining the walls as desks with long benches in front as seats for the pupils. As the backs of the pupils were toward the teacher, the student swung themselves "in reverse" when recitations were called so as to face the teacher. The comforts were few. The room was heated from a big stove in the center.

Entering West Virginia university at Morgantown in 1869, Judge Lynch was graduated in 1874 and the degrees of bachelor of arts and of master of arts were conferred upon him.

As an educator Judge Lynch did his first work as principal of the Burning Springs school in Wirt county, to which he was chosen in 1874. The appointment was made without his solicitation or knowledge. He accepted and served during the term.

Lucrative Salary
The salary was $75, considered by him as rather lucrative in view of his low finances.
He found it necessary to borrow $20 from his brother, John, to defray his travelling expenses to Burning Springs, which he repaid in two installments out of his salary.

Continuing in school work until 1882, when he resigned as superintendent of the Clarksburg city schools and was admitted to the bar, Judge Lynch was a member of the county board of examiners.
of teachers from 1876 to 1882. He taught advanced classes in the Clarksburg schools from 1876 to 1878, when he became superintendent and served in that capacity until 1882.

Old Personnel

The members of the Clarksburg bar were not very numerous at the time Judge Lynch was admitted to practice. They are all dead now. Among them were Judge G. D. Camden, Col. Benjamin Wilson, Gen. Nathan Goff, Judge Edwin Maxwell, Judge Thomas W. Harrison, John S. Carlile, Jr., A. L. Hustead, John Bassel and John J. Davis, in whose office Judge Lynch read law.

The judge of the court at the time was A. B. Fleming, of Fairmont, later governor of the state, also now dead.

Soon after Judge Lynch began the practice of law he was elected to the House of Delegates in the fall of 1882. He served two years and was reelected in 1890 for a like term.

In Legislature

In the legislature, Judge Lynch as a member of the judiciary and other important committees left his impress on the future statutes of the state and commanded wide influence in shaping legislation. His clarity of thought and chastity of language in framing bills for enactment elicited the admiration of his colleagues.

Judge Lynch served as prosecuting attorney of the county from 1885 to 1889, filling the office in such manner as to establish a reputation for efficient and faithful enforcement of the laws and the suppression of crime. He served a second term of four years in like manner following his second term in the legislature.

In the fall of 1904 the Republican party, as in all other instances, elected him judge of the Thirteenth judicial circuit, now the Fifteenth, composed of Harrison and Lewis counties the same as at present except that at the time the work of the circuit judge for four years included that of the judge of the criminal court now.

Eminent Standing

Of admirable judicial temperament and especially well trained and widely experienced in the law, Judge Lynch at once won an eminence standing with the judiciary of the state and enjoyed the confidence of the people as a just judge.

As he was ending the last year of his eight-year term on the circuit court bench, the Republican state judicial convention at Huntington in the summer of 1912 nominated him for membership on the state supreme court. At the November election he led the judicial ticket, receiving 2,000 more votes than his Republican colleague and over 16,000 more than his leading Democratic rival.

As evidence of the satisfactory administration of the office of circuit judge in both Harrison and Lewis counties, the bar of each prepared memorials of his ability, efficiency and integrity, the chief characteristics of a judge, and on their motion the court of each county entered these memorials on their records as perpetual tributes to his qualities and work as a judge.

His nomination for supreme court judge was made in the wee hours of the morning while Judge Lynch was at home asleep. He had not sought it and was not aware that the convention was considering his name. He did not believe he had been nominated as reported in press dispatches until he was told over the long distance telephone by William M. Matthews, clerk of the state supreme court. He accepted and was elected for a term of twelve years, nine of which he served resigning December 31, 1921, because of ill health and the burdensome task. He later recovered his health sufficiently to resume the practice of law and to look after banking, real estate and other interests the same as before he went on the bench.
President of Court

Judge Lynch served as president of the state supreme court in 1917 and 1921.

At the first regular term of the supreme court of appeals, following the retirement of Judge Lynch, and held January 11, 1922, Judge George Poffenbarger, after he had been designated to serve as president of the court, made the following announcement:

"At the end of nine years of faithful, efficient and conspicuously able service on the bench of this court, the Hon. Charles W. Lynch, for good and sufficient personal reason, has voluntarily retired from it and incidentally severed a relationship with the remaining members of the court, enjoyed and appreciated by us in a degree that can be neither accurately or adequately expressed. It would be next to impossible to enumerate the instances of his helpfulness in the disposition of the many intricate and important problems submitted to the court within the period of his service, or to portray the cheerfulness, alacrity and courtesy with which it was rendered.

Comradeship

"Association of the members of the court begets a comradeship that is deep, strong and beautiful beyond the power of words to describe. It can be fully appreciated and understood only in its enjoyment, and it lives, persists and intensifies beyond the severance of actual association. Peace has her victories no less renowned than war, and we constantly feel that some of them are achieved here, in the administration of settled law, just interpretation of new law, and the application of both to the rapid mutations of all phases of life and business, incident to modern growth and development. In this great work, Judge Lynch has valiantly done his full share, with the modesty, reserve, courage and ability of the consummate jurist.

"Retiring with all the honors attendant upon the high position he so becomingly has held, he carries them with becoming dignity, into the walks of private life, but to us he will ever remain more than an honored fellow citizen.

Personal Friendship

"We send with him our unstinted personal friendship, esteem, admiration, abiding confidence in his future usefulness to the state, the many religious, fraternal, political and social organizations he has honored with his membership, and the public in general; and we shall always remember with inexpressible pleasure the many instances of personal and mutually helpful contact in the achievement of public and private results of the greatest and gravest import, in the conduct of one of the supreme coordinate branches of the government, through a period of years requiring more than usual and ordinary steadiness of hand, clearness of head and rectitude of heart.

"Judge Lynch's amiable disposition and strikingly fine character have commended and endeared him no less highly to the clerk of this court, his subordinates, law clerks, stenographers, librarians and all of the other officials and attaches, than us. I most cheerfully include them in our expression of sincere regret on account of his resignation."

This and other memorials were ordered printed in Volume 89 of the reports of the supreme court.

Some time after he had resigned from the state supreme court, Judge Lynch was appointed a member of the Codification Commission of West Virginia to revise and codify the statute law of this state. His appointment was made to fill a vacancy caused by the death of one of its members. Judge Lynch continued to serve in that capacity until the completion of the first revision.
Not An Officeseeker

Although frequently nominated and elected to important offices, Judge Lynch was not a chronic officeseeker. He objected to nominations for both the legislature and the office of prosecuting attorney and reluctantly accepted appointment on the Codification Commission.

Bearing the distinction of being the oldest member of the Harrison county bar both in age and practice in the profession, Judge Lynch was also widely experienced as a lawyer and jurist, having spent fifty years as such.

Elevates Calling

During all those years naturally his professional services varied, carrying a wide range and scope; but it may be truthfully said that his course therein elevated his calling, and was notably void of the questionable practices, and especially in recent years as shown in cases in which legal talent rather than lawful justice has ruled.

Possessing a high conception of the honor and dignity of his profession he adopted at the beginning of his career in the law the motto that while he would be conscientiously and diligently faithful to the interests of his clients, yet the sanctity of the law should be uppermost at all times in the consultations and advices incident to practice. He believed in the law and its justice and ever sought only justice in his work before and in the courts. He was always careful to satisfy himself that there was merit in causes before he advised clients to sue.

Large Practice

Careful, conscientious and reliable, as well as able, he built up a large and lucrative practice, and his judgment and counsel were much in demand among the people and the members of the bar. He won high rating in recognition of his ability, experience and professional integrity and his broad background of experience in practice and knowledge of the law commanded for him a high place in the circles of jurisprudence in this state.

When it was pointed out to him and insisted upon that his long experience in the law and on the bench as well as his almost unlimited legal knowledge would prove invaluable to the Codification Commission in its work and be of enduring service to his state, he consented to accept the appointment. Those associated with him in the work say he gave inestimable service, both as counselor and initiator of the revision and codification.

Judge Lynch first became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church whose house of worship was near where he was born and which is still standing and now used as a farm hay house.

Transfers Here

Later he transferred his membership to the First Methodist Episcopal church here, then known as Goff chapel. He was president of its board of trustees, more than a half century. He was chairman of the building committee when the present edifice was built on a lot which cost $20,000 with a limitation of $40,000 placed by the board of trustees for the edifice itself but which cost an even $100,000 when completed in 1909.

Foremost at all times in the financial and spiritual activities of the church, Judge Lynch was ever an outstanding member who contributed liberally of his time, talent and means to the cause, and held high positions in the officiate, including that of a teacher of one of the Sunday school classes.

Wesleyan Trustee

After fourteen years of consecutive service as president of the board of trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan college at Buckhannon, the state school of the West Virginia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Judge Lynch resigned in June, 1926. As an evidence of the splendid satisfaction he had given in the administration of that office, the board unanimously created the office of president emeritus of the board and by a standing vote elected him to the new office.

Recognizing his worth as an officer of the college and the work he had done in connection with the founding and development of the institution, the board of trustees soon after his election as its president conferred the degree of LL.D. upon him. He continued his interest in the college and was always among the first to come to its aid when occasion demanded. He was a liberal contributor to the college endowment.

A member of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference held in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1920, Judge Lynch represented the state conference with honor and distinction.

Pominent Mason

Judge Lynch was a past grand master of the Masonic order in this state. He was made a Mason in 1876 by Hermon Lodge, No. 6, of Clarksburg, to which he belonged at the time of his death, and was its oldest member in point of age and membership years excepting Edwin K. Stout, a relative. Judge Lynch served three different times as worshipful master of the lodge.

Placed in line in 1908-9 by Emmett M. Showalter, of Fairmont, then grand master, Judge Lynch served as the head of the order in the state in 1912-13. He delivered many decisions which have become a part of the organic law of Masonry in West Virginia.

Among his official acts as grand master were the ceremonies of laying the cornerstones of the Masonic temple at Shepherdstown in Jefferson county, the school building at Summersville in Nicholas county, the Washington Irving high school building at Clarksburg, the Shinnston high school building and two churches at Salem.

Judge Lynch was a director of the Empire National bank and had numerous other business connections.

Revolutionary Soldier

Thomas Stout, great grandfather of Judge Lynch, was an Indian spy and a Revolutionary soldier serving from 1776 to 1797 in guarding the people against the savages. Indians finally caught him and caused him to run the gauntlet which he did successfully and thereby saved his life. His son, Benjamin, was the father of Judge Lynch's mother, and it was through this descent Judge Lynch was received into membership of the Society of Sons of the Revolution in West Virginia.

Judge Lynch was married March 8, 1888, the birthday of his bride, to Miss Mary Virginia Robinson, a daughter of the late Fernando A. Robinson, and a sister of the late Benjamin Robinson. Judge and Mrs. Lynch had two children. One died in infancy. The other is Lawrence R. Lynch, a member of the law firm, Lynch and Lynch, who was admitted to the bar after he had attained a collegiate education at Ohio Wesleyan university and Columbia university, New York city; and a professional one at Harvard university. Successful in the practice of law, he is rated one of the brilliant young members of the legal fraternity in West Virginia. He is president of the Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce. Judge Lynch was the senior member of the law firm.

Mrs. Lynch, the son who resides at 411 Lee avenue and many other relatives survive.

WOODROW HALL
By Grover Berry
Sutton, July 7.—While his father made desperate efforts to save his son's life, Woodrow Hall, 20, farmer, was drowned in the flooded waters of Coon creek, ten miles west of Sutton, about 5 o'clock last evening.

Hall and his father, Addison Hall, also a farmer, had rowed out into the backwater of the creek and were trying to save some firewood which was floating down the stream.

Boat Overturns

In some manner the boat overturned and the two men catapulted into the water. Both fell on the wood suffering injuries.

The elder Hall, although he was hurt, succeeded in righting the boat and climbing back into it.

Then he seized hold of his son and tried to pull him into the boat. The young man, however, was either frightened or hurt so badly that he could give his father no help.

Twice the elder Hall pulled his son upon the side of the boat and almost had him in safety, but both times the young man slid back in the water. The second time, the father was unable to hold on. Young Hall’s body sank. It was recovered several minutes later, after a neighbor had dived for it.

Funeral Plans

Efforts to revive the young man were futile.

Addison Hall was reported to be getting along well today at his farm home along Cook creek. It is not believed his injuries will prove serious.

Funeral services for the drowning victim have not yet been arranged. Surviving relatives include the parents, three brothers and three sisters.

Although the flood did little damage in Sutton, it wreaked havoc in the Coon creek territory, only ten miles distant. Several dwellings were washed downstream and much farm goods was destroyed. Damage will run to thousands of dollars, residents of the section said today.

C. V. HARLAN
Buckhannon, July 11.— (Special)

—Charles Virgil Harlan, 35, farmer and veteran of the World war, died at 8 o’clock Saturday evening at his home near here following three weeks’ illness of typhoid fever.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o’clock this afternoon at the Pleasant Dale Methodist Episcopal church with the Rev. C. E. Goodwin, officiating. Interment will be made in the Pleasant Dale cemetery.

Mr. Lambert is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sanie V. Harlan, with whom he made his home; three sisters, Miss Mary A. Harlan, of Clarksburg; Mrs. D. G. Mader, of Bridgeport, and Miss Maurine Virginia Harlan, at home.

Merle Bailey

One student was drowned and another who narrowly escaped a similar fate is recovering today at a local hospital after the annual picnic of Salem college summer students yesterday at Laurel park.

Merle Bailey, 30, teacher and student, son of John D. Bailey, of Wilson addition, of Salem, was drowned.

Bailey, who had taught two years at St. Marys and six years at Chelyan, Kanawha county, was among the 200 students who went swimming in the West Fork river. He was an experienced swimmer.

Professor Ernest R. Sutton, of Salem college, said today that he saw Bailey standing in about five feet of water at 2 o’clock yesterday afternoon. This was the last time he was seen alive.

Steps on Body

Bailey’s disappearance went unnoticed until after 5 o’clock when the picnickers started home. Two young women who had accompanied Bailey reported he was missing. A search of the bath house revealed his clothes and keys to his car. Headed by Coach Edward Davis a searching party was organized. It was only a few minutes until one of the searchers, wading in the water, stepped on Bailey's body. The body was found in the middle of the river in front of the bath house. Examination revealed that it had been in the water some time and although crews were present, artificial respiration was not attempted as it was believed Bailey had been dead too long to be revived.

College officials today advanced theories that Bailey suffered a heart attack which caused him to sink. No definite cause, however, has been assigned.

Father Is Ill

John Bailey, father of the dead student, is seriously ill at his home. He was notified of his son's death last night after a physician was summoned to the house.

Bailey was graduated from Bristol high school in 1922 and was attending Salem college this summer to obtain a renewal to his standard normal certificate. He has been reemployed at Chelyan.

Besides his father, he is survived by four sisters, Mrs. W. P. Lough, of Bristol, and the Misses Norma, Wilda and Pauline Bailey, at home; and a brother, Miles Bailey, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Spurgeon funeral home on High street, Salem.

JOHN W. COSTILOW

Struck by a train as he was walking on the railroad track near the Phelps can factory, west of Adamston early yesterday morning, John W. Costilow, 56, of 2125 Twenty-second street, Northview, a former oil field worker and coal miner, was killed instantly.

The mangled remains were found at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Mason Wendom, laborer, of Wilsonburg. Wisdom called Andrew Moore, turnkey at the Harrison county jail, and Ollie Michaels, deputy sheriff, was sent to investigate. After conferring with Dr. Leroy C. Goff, county coroner, Michaels ordered the body taken to the Romine Undertaking Company's establishment.

Baltimore and Ohio railroad police made an investigation. They said they learned Costilow left the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, 801 Baltimore avenue, about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He was in an automobile driven by Solomon Miller, of Potosi.

Miller told the officers Costilow got out of his automobile at Stop 8 on the Wilsonburg street car line and then refused to get back into the car again. That was shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning, the last time Costilow was seen alive.

Railroad officials said they were unable to determine for a certainty what train killed Costilow. Dr. Goff stated that from all indications the man's death was accidental and said no inquest will be held.

Funeral Tuesday

The deceased man is survived by a widow, three sons and two daughters. The sons are E. J. Costilow and Martin Costilow, both of Northview; and R. L. Costilow, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Daughters are Mrs. R. L. Styer, of Bradenton, Fla., and Mrs. L. D. Davis, of Parkersburg.

He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. A. G. Meek, Fairmont, and Miss Lillian Costilow, 424 Lee avenue. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Seventh Day Baptist church, at Greenbrier, Doddridge county.

CHARLES W. BENDER
WILLIAM HILL

Philippi, July 20.—(Special)—Funeral services for the victims of yesterday's triple tragedy at Brownston will be held tomorrow.

Charles Walker Bender, 38, landowner, farmer and former miner, who slew his wife and a neighbor and then killed himself, will be laid to rest in his native Webster county. The exact time and place of the services will not be decided until relatives arrive this afternoon at Flemington, where the body is held at the McGlumphy undertaking establishment.

The body of Bender's wife, Lona, 32, was returned to Webster county this morning. Services for her will be held at 10 a.m., tomorrow in the Fairview church on Big Grassy run, with burial in the Fairview cemetery nearby. The body will remain at the home of a brother, Millery Gregory, near Webster Springs, until time for the funeral.

Domestic Troubles

Rites for the neighbor who was slain, William Hill, 28, will be held at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning in Mumford chapel, near Belington. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The double murder and the suicide were apparently the outgrowth of a quarrel between Bender and his wife. They have been having domestic trouble recently, which resulted in Mrs. Bender going into court Monday and having her husband put under bond to keep the peace.

Yesterday morning, Bender got his three older children out of the house on the pretext of hoeing corn in a nearby field, then returned to the house and shot his wife to death. Hill, aroused by the disturbance at the Bender residence, rushed in and was shot down. Bender then ended his own life.

A coroner's jury placed full responsibility for the deaths on Bender.

The Benders had lived in Brownton the last seven or eight years, going there from Webster county.

Mrs. Bender was a daughter of Edward and Elliott Gregory, both of whom survive. Also surviving are a sister, Miss Elnie Gregory, of Fairmont, and two brothers, Arden, of Corley, Braxton county, and Millery, of near Webster Springs.

Mother Survives

Bender is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary I. Bender, who lived with her son; two sisters, Mrs. Ada McGraw, of Caretta, McDowell county, and Mrs. Edna Wright, address not learned; a half-sister, Mrs. Jannie Davis, of Webster Springs, and a half-brother, Henry Bender, of Newark, Wirt county.

Surviving children of Mr. and Mrs. Bender are Rebia, 16; Vesta, 13; Alta Mae, 12, and Edward Charles, 3.

Hill was a descendant of a pioneer family in the Sugar Creek section of Braxton county, a grandson of Edward and Kate Digman Hill, and grandson of Philip and Ella Henline Hill. His father died about six years ago. His mother lives at Twin Falls, Ida. A number of brothers and sisters also live in that state. Other survivors include the widow, Mrs. Ina Hill, and a twenty-one-month-old daughter, Edna May.

DORSEY B. HUDKINS

The funeral of Dorsey B. Hudkins, 52, prominent local building contractor and victim of the heat wave and rheumatism, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 302 Ohio avenue, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Duff Street United Brethren church.

While Mr. Hudkins had been suffering from rheumatism, the immediate cause of death was attributed to the excessive heat. At the time he was stricken at 2:15 o'clock the thermometer registered 95 degrees. Because of the hot weather and his affliction he had remained at home throughout the day. His was the first reported heat fatality of the year in Clarksburg. He did not complain of the heat until his sudden collapse. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Ray N. MRS. KATHERINE MCDONNELL Ill for several months and refusing food or medical attention for the last five days, Mrs. Katherine McDonnell, 47, former resident of Orlando, Lewis county, yesterday killed herself after she fired upon her cousin at her home in East Wheeling.

Mrs. McDonnell was the mother of Miss Jeanette McDonnell, 24, of 115 Cherry street, who formerly was a nurse at a local hospital, but for the last several months has been doing private nursing.

Police said that Peter Moran, 45, a cousin, surprised Mrs. McDonnell when he walked into her bedroom and found her standing before a mirror with a pistol pointed at her heart. He fled from the room and she fired at him as he went down the stairway.

Mrs. McDonnell then returned to her room and shot herself through the heart, dying instantly. The coroner investigated and attributed her act to a nervous breakdown.

Mrs. McDonnell, who is separated from her husband, moved to Wheeling four years ago.

MRS. EMMA WILEY
Mrs. Emma Wiley, 76, a sister of Nathan G. Stealey, of this city, and a member of a family prominent in the history of Clarksburg since an early day, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home in Waynesburg, Pa., following an illness of a heart ailment.

Mrs. Wiley was the widow of Capt. J. M. Wiley, who did military service in the Philippine Islands. He died eighteen years ago at his home in Waynesburg.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete when Mr. Stetiley and a sister, Miss Fannie Stealey, of Washington, D. C., left here at 7:30 o'clock this morning for Waynesburg. But services and interment will be held here, probably tomorrow. Miss Stealey arrived here on an early morning train.

John and Lyda Lacy Stealey, the first of the family in Clarksburg and grandparents of Mrs. Wiley, came across the Allegheny mountains from Virginia in a wagon drawn by an ox team and settled here at an early period in the history of Clarksburg, preempting land, of which Norwood park is now the center. They reared their family on Water street and West Main street. The former was born January 15, 1792, and the latter, March 22, the same year. Both were natives of Virginia. He erected one of two of the oldest residences now standing in Clarksburg. It is located at 126 West Main street and was erected by him 129 years ago. He died there.

Main Street A Woodland

At the time the Stealey family located here the present new county court house site was woodland, and members of the family, now living, recall his telling them he had killed deer there.

Mrs. Wiley's father, the late Edmund L. Stealey, born here November 21, 1812, was the eldest of a family of seven children. The others were Jacob B. Stealey, born December 20, 1816; Elizabeth H. Stealey, born November 28, 1817; Nancy G. Stealey, born May 30, 1820; Sarah Adlin Stealey, born May 20, 1823; John J. Stealey, born August 9, 1826; and George O. Stealey, born March 29, 1829. Most of them left descendants, a number being present residents of the city.

Edmund L. Stealey, father of Mrs. Wiley, was married October 20, 1842, to Miss Mary Hawthorn, member of a prominent Morgantown family. They were the parents of six sons and a like number of daughters, all now dead except three. He owned and operated the first tannery established in Clarksburg. It was located on the present site of the Mason hospital, Water street and Washington avenue. He did an extensive business.

Two Daughters Survive

Mrs. Wiley is survived by two daughters, the Misses Mary and Anne Wiley, both at home; the brother and sister mentioned and another sister, Mrs. Bessie Brady, of Washington, D. C., widow of Thomas G. Brady, a former Clarksburg real estate and industrial promoter, who moved to Washington, D. C., many years ago and died there; three nephews, Max, Camden and William Brady, sons of Mrs. Bessie Brady and all living in Washington. D. C.; and a niece, Mrs. Frances VanFossan, wife of Judge E. H. VanFossan. She is a daughter of Mrs. Brady and also lives in Washington.

A member of the Methodist Episcopal church from childhood, Mrs. Wiley was active in religious life until illness deprived her of that privilege. She was prominent in Waynesburg society. Hers is the second death in the Stealey family within the last three years. A sister, Mrs. Anne Hursey, of Washington, D. C., widow of Seymour Hursey and eldest member of the family, died last before her.

Columbus Lipscomb, 89, Union vet­

519 Caroline street, following an illness dating back to January 20, 1930, when he became bedfast. The minister in charge will be the Rev.
A. J. Robinson, pastor of the church. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

The funeral party will leave the Lipscomb home at 7 o’clock tomor­row morning and go to the church.
Mr. Lipscomb became a member of the Baptist church at an early age and remained a member until death.

Wed Three Times

Born July 6, 1843, on Bone creek near Auburn, Ritchie county, the aged soldier was a son of James and Matilda Jett Lipscomb, na­tives of Virginia, who settled in pioneer days in Ritchie county, reared a family and died there.
His father was a shoemaker and farmer. Other members of the family were Granville Lipscomb, a brother, who lived and died at Cen­tral; and Alcinda, a sister, who married John Williams and lived and died five miles from Auburn.
Several half-brothers and half­ sisters also survive, the veteran’s father having been married three times.

Mr. Lipscomb was married
March 24, 1864, to Miss Elizabeth Waldo, a daughter of Bartlett and Jane Gray Waldo, of Oxford. She died June 10, 1896, at Holbrook, Ritchie county. They were the parents of one daughter and four sons. The daughter, Miss Myrtle Hortensia Lipscomb, at home, is the only surviving member of the family. She had given her father constant attention from the time he was taken ill, assisted by Rob­ert Straley, whom her father took as a neighbor boy and reared.
Many nephews and nieces also sur­vive. His sons were Bartlett, Sher­man, Arthur Boyd and Newton Bruce, all of whom died single, and there are no grandchildren.
Serving in Company K, Third West Virginia regiment of volunteer infantry, Lipscomb enlisted here July 4, 1861, at the age of 18 and served throughout the war. He saw his first battle at Montereay, Va., April 12, 1862, and participated in numerous battles in the Shenandoah valley, including the second Bull Run or Manassas engagement August 28 and 29, 1862.

Taken Prisoner

Taken prisoner at Moorefield June 26, 1864, Lipscomb was sent to the notorious Andersonville prison in the South where he endured great hardships, including deprivation of food enough to sustain his health. He remained there until October when he was exchanged.

When Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, the veteran was one of the soldiers sent to Washington, D. C., to do guard duty, and he guarded the Potomac river at that point during the "Grand Review" in May, following the death of Lincoln.

The regiment, then the Sixth West Virginia Cavalry, ordered to the West, proceeded to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and then to Fort Kearney on the plains, where it engaged in a number of battles with Indians. It was mustered out May 22, 1866, and Lipscomb returned home after final discharge at Wheeling, June 1, 1866, having served almost five years in the army. He was wounded at the Droop Mountain battle November 6, 1863, and carried the scar to his dying day. He first voted for Lincoln in 1864 on the field of battle.

This bit of Scripture hung above his fireside:

"Seek the lord while he may be found."

WYATT S. MEADOR

Wyatt S. Meador, citizen of this community for over three-quarters of a century, died at Oak Hill Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock. Mr. Meador had been in feeble health for over a year. Last Friday he became seriously ill and gradually grew weaker until the end.

Mr. Meador was 91 years old. He was born in the state of Virginia, but came to Nicholas county in early manhood.

Mr. Meador's wife died in the year 1892. To them were born eight children, Miss Inez of Summersville, Mrs. A. G. McAllister of Doylesville, Va.; Mrs. A. A. Baumgardner, Oak Hill; J. L. Meador, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, Lena, Va.; Mrs. Robert Bell, who died in 1905; Mrs. C. A. Noel, who died a few months ago, and Mrs. J. O. Armstrong, who died several years ago.

During the Civil war he was a soldier of the South, and engaged in some of the bloodiest battles of that war. He participated in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg, and was one of the few southern soldiers who came out of that battle alive. Pickett's men were said to be the flower of the Confederate army. Shortly after the war he was commissioned a captain in the Virginia militia.

Most of his mature life was spent in Summersville. During the many years of his life he built up a reputation of being a very accommodating man. His friends say that he was too liberal for his own good. Many times he gave to the poor and helped the sick when he was not in very good financial circumstances himself.

Until a year or two ago his brain was clear and active. He was well informed as long as he was able to read. He was able to visit town and greet his friends and neighbors until he was almost 90 years of age.

He had many friends over this section of the state who are grieved to hear of his death. They realize that he lived to the end of his days, but regret that life is only a temporary thing.

He is gone, but he leaves with us a memory of a brave soldier, a good father and an accommodating neighbor. Mr. Meador built his fortune of unseen wealth and has suffered no bankruptcies.

The funeral will be held from the M. E. church, South, today at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in the cemetery adjacent to the church.

The honorary pallbearers are G. H. Alderson, J. A. Mearns, J. H. Hill, J. C. McMillion, H. W. Herold, R. M. Bryant and Daniel Brock.

The active pallbearers are S. P. Hamilton, Dr. J. O. McQueen, William E. Dotson, Harrison Groves, Howard Campbell, Lee S. Fitzwater, A. Lee Stewart and Joe Alderson.

JOHN DOLES
John Doles, Milburn miner, took no chances on his suicide plans going awry, and in deliberation, made his arrangements that would add to the effectiveness of his voyage from this world into eternity.
His body blown to bits and badly decomposed, was found in a woods a short distance from the county road between Milburn and Westerly, last Saturday by an employee of the Milburn By-Products Coal Co., engaged in getting out timber. Doles had been missing for five days, and his boarding mistress thought he had gone away on a visit. He had told her a few days before not to pack his basket the following morning, as he would not go to work.
An investigation of the case revealed that on that day he had purchased some dry cell dynamite and the necessary wire and concussion caps to set the dynamite off. The dynamite he fixed in his cap which he pulled tightly over his head, the wires he attached to the batteries, and holding the two ends, one in each hand, he brought them together, creating the circuit which set the dynamite off and blew him to pieces, according to an exchange.

MRS. BROWN MILLER
Some weeks past a mistake was published in regard to the death of Mrs. Brown Miller, of Huntersville, who departed this life August 26, 1932. We wish to correct the same by saying it was not a fall which Mrs. Miller received that caused her death, but a constitutional disorder to which this good woman had been subject for many years. Those of us who enjoyed knowing this quiet character may well remember her as a soul content with the happiness life afforded. She was faithful to the duties of her household, and her hands were continually devoted to making her home a pleasant place to be. Mrs. Miller had been under a doctor's care for some months, and, while her condition was serious, her death was unexpected. The ailment suddenly developed to that stage beyond medical control. Every care that human hands could administer proved powerless against death.

The Ellenboro lodge of Masons, of which he was a member will have charge of final rites at the grave.

Mr. Graham was an operator for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for over forty years. At one time he and eleven other members of his immediate family were employed as telegraph operators—six sons, three daughters, one son-in-law and one daughter-in-law.

Born July 30, 1848, at St. Louis, Mo., Mr. Graham came east in 1865 to become operator for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Harper’s Ferry. Later he was transferred to Cornwallis, Ritchie county, where in 1871 he met and married Miss Almeda Johnson daughter of the late Robert Johnson.

Mrs. Graham, now 79, has been in poor health for some time. Transferred to Central Station, Doddridge county, Mr. Graham... was a telegraph operator there until he suffered a nervous breakdown in 1906, when he was retired after forty-one years' service. Recovering, he became manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company's office in West Union, serving in that capacity several years, until a severe attack of influenza unfitness him for further duty. Since that time, he had lived in retirement at his West Union home.

He had belonged to the Ellenboro lodge, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, for fifty-five years and held a fifty-year membership medal from that lodge. Also, he was a member of the Cairo lodge of Odd Fellows about fifty years. He belonged to the Knights of Pythias at Rutland Wood county, and was an honorary member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, this type of membership being granted only after forty years' regular service.

The five sons and one daughter who are now serving as telegraph operators are J. O. Graham, of Long Run; L. W. Graham, of Wilsonburg; J. J. Graham, of Ellenboro, and Mrs. D. M. Cahill, of Smithsburg, all employees of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; R. M. Graham, operator for the Eureka Pipe Line Company at Tenmile, and Charles C. A native of Culpepper county, Virginia, Mrs. Robinson was a daughter of Henry and Catherine Ann Bruce Fox. Her father died when she was a child and her mother brought the family of eight over the mountains into West Virginia when Mrs. Robinson was nine years of age. They settled in Elk district, near Craigmoor, where she spent the greater part of her life.

Exceptional Mind

Mrs. Robinson was a woman of exceptional mind and she retained her mental faculties until the last. Her greatest pride was in the welfare of her children, and their interests were paramount in her everyday life. Energetic and kind, she won and retained the esteem and respect of her entire community around the old homestead in Elk district and in later life in Clarksburg. Devotion to her family was an outstanding trait of her character, and her sympathy and help was always cheerfully extended to an ill or careworn neighbor.

Robinson, of Clarksburg; Howard L. Of Scotch Descent

Mrs. Robinson was of Scotch descent, and was the only one of three persons in West Virginia eligible for membership in the Magna Charta Dames, an English organization, founded by descendants of persons instrumental in forcing King John of Great Britain to sign the famous document. Her application had already been filed at the time of her death.

She was the last of a family of eight children. A sister, Mrs. Mary J. Cammack, of Huntington, died in 1925. Her mother came to this state in 1859. Mrs. Robinson for the past eleven years spent her winters in Clarksburg and the summers at the old Robinson home-stead in Elk district. She was a member of the Hopewell Baptist church, in Elk district, but attended both that church and the Clarksburg Baptist church regularly until her health failed a year or more ago.

Mrs. Robinson's grandfather was Alexander Bruce, a Scotch nobleman, and member of a famous family in that country. She was of Revolutionary stock on both her paternal and maternal side. Her husband died November 27, 1918, at the age of 80 years. His ancestors were also from Virginia, his paternal ancestor, William Robinson having settled in Fauquier county before the Revolutionary war. He was a son of Rev. Joseph H. Robinson, youngest son of William and Susan Lowe Robinson.

D. J. COLLINS, SR.

Dennis Joseph Collins, Sr., veteran wire chief of the Weston office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, having served his company for nearly forty-six years, died at the General hospital Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock as the result of shock suffered in an auto accident Saturday morning.

Mr. Collins, in company with C. G. Kerns, lineman of the telephone company, had gone to Jane Lew Saturday morning on business. While returning Mr. Collins took the wheel of the company truck in which the two men were riding so that he might learn to drive.

Coming down the Fisher hill Mr. Collins seemed to have good control of the truck, Mr. Kerns reports, as it was in second gear. At a curve at the foot of the hill the fatal collision occurred when the telephone truck collided with a car driven by Miss Berkie Turley, of Charleston.

In company with Miss Turley were her sister, Mrs. Dessie Smith, also of Charleston, and two hitchhikers, both of Richwood, who are students at Glenville State Teachers' college, Glenville. According to their statements the truck was being driven on the wrong side of the road at the time of the accident.

Miss Turley was driving a Chevrolet coach, and witnesses whom she had passed on the road just before the time of the wreck at 10:45 o'clock report that the car was being driven at a high rate of speed.

No immediate eye witnesses were present, but several cars soon arrived on the scene.

Mr. Collins and Mr. Kerns were brought to the General hospital where it was believed that the latter was more seriously injured. He was suffering from a slight concussion of the forehead, facial cuts, and sprained wrists. Mr. Collins suffered a fractured left knee and cuts about the head, but his condition was not regarded as critical.

He failed to rally from an operation upon his knee which he underwent Saturday afternoon and his condition steadily grew weaker until the time of his death.

Miss Turley, who with her sister was treated in a Clarksburg hospital, had three front teeth knocked out and received cuts and bruises. Mrs. Smith suffered a broken arm and cuts about her face and arms. They were driving to Morgantown to witness the Pittsburg-West Virginia football game. The young men in the car were uninjured. A complete investigation of the accident, in which the two cars were completely wrecked, is being conducted by the telephone company.

Mr. Collins, who was 63 years old, was born March 25, 1869, at Augusta, Ga. His service with the Southern Bell Telephone company started on October 18, 1886, and lasted until July 19, 1912, at which time West Virginia was also in the Southern Bell Telephone company. On August 1, 1910, he was promoted to plant wire chief at Charleston, and on February 24, 1913, he was transferred as plant wire chief to Point Pleasant.

On March 19, 1917, he was transferred to Weston as wire chief, and since has been located with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company here. His service record extended over a period of 45 years, 11 months, and 14 days.

Mr. Collins was regarded by his company as one of its most efficient, dependable, and conscientious employees. Quiet in disposition, he was a staunch friend to his associates.

One son, Dennis J. Collins, Jr., who resides at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Samuel Field, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are the two members of the immediate family who survive along with Mrs. Collins, Stephen M. Collins, of Akron, O., a brother; and Mrs. Sarah Powers, of Savannah, Ga., a sister, are also living.

Mass was celebrated for the deceased resident Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church, with the Rev. Father M. Buchheit officiating. The body was then taken to Savannah Monday night by members of the family and Guy Douglas, local representative of the telephone company. Funeral services and burial were held Thursday.

E. F. FINDLEY

Broken in health and out of employment for many months, E. Frank Findley, 55, former merchant, shot and killed himself today in his house, 113 Marshall street.

Mr. Findley went into the kitchen of his house shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. He placed the muzzle of a .22 caliber rifle against his right temple and set off the trigger.

Mrs. Findley and neighbors who were attracted by the shot rushed to the fatally wounded man's aid and he was taken to St. Mary's hospital where he died at 10:25 o'clock this morning without regaining consciousness.

Sold Interest

Mr. Findley was engaged in the operation of the Goff Plaza grocery store, corner of Marshall and East Main streets, until June, 1931 when he sold his interest in the place. He had not been actively engaged in business since that time.

The fact he was unemployed, associates say, caused him much worry. He suffered a nervous breakdown, which is believed to have caused him to become temporarily deranged and resulted in him taking his own life. He did not leave a note explaining his act, or give any intimation he planned suicide so far as could be learned.

For twenty-five years Mr. Findley was employed by the R. T. Lowndes department store, which was the oldest mercantile establishment in Clarksburg, when it was taken over by the Parsons-Souders Company's department store several years ago. He was the manager of the carpet and rug department at that time, but he had worked in other departments and was considered an expert in merchandising. Findley also wrote the advertisements for the Lowndes store.

Active Church Member

Politically, Mr. Findley was a Democrat and his brother, A. Judson Findley, now of Sistersville, served as Democratic prosecuting attorney of Harrison county for one term.

An active member of the Clarksburg Baptist church, Mr. Findley attended services regularly when his health permitted.

Mr. Findley was a member of the Clarksburg lodge of Odd Fellows and at one time held important offices in the organization.

Mr. Findley's complete name was Elijah Frank Findley and he was born May 1, 1877, on a farm on Kincheloe creek, near Good Hope. He was a lifelong resident of Harrison county. He was educated at West Virginia Wesleyan college, at Buckhannon. He was the son of Adam Franklin and Nancy Ellen Findley, who were among the early settlers in the southern parts of the county.

The deceased man leaves his widow, who before her marriage, was Miss Lelia Hansford, of Clarksburg; a daughter, Miss Pauline Findley, 26, a teacher in the Morgan school, Shenley Heights; and sons, Paul Findley, 25 and James Edward, all at home. He also leaves the brother, A. Judson Findley, of Sistersville; and a sister, Mrs. Gideon Dillon, of Honley, Neb. The brother was reported on the way to Clarksburg this afternoon.

Funeral arrangements are in-process.

DR. L. E. ROBERTS, MRS. ALMA ROBERTS, MISS THELMA HEFNER.

By Grover Berry

Sutton, Oct. 8.—Three persons were drowned when a car skidded off a mountain highway and plunged into Elk river about 3:30 o'clock this morning near Villa Nova, just over the Braxton county line in Clay county.

Dr. L. E. Roberts, 56, of Rosedale, Braxton county.

Mrs. Alma Roberts, 25, his wife.

Miss Thelma Hefner, 22, of Gassaway.

Dr. Roberts and his wife had been visiting in Charleston and were on their way home, bringing with them Miss Hefner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hefner, of Gassaway, who also had been visiting in Charleston.

Persons living near the highway were awakened by a loud splash, as if some large body had fallen in the water.

Hurrying to the scene, they heard a man's voice, calling for help. A farmer obtained a boat and rowed about the river. The man's voice, however, had quit calling and the rescuer could find no one. The search was continued while word was sent to authorities. Two bodies, those of Mrs. Roberts and Miss Hefner, had been recovered shortly before noon today. Clay and Braxton county authorities and state police, aided by residents of the section, were still seeking the body of Dr. Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Snodgrass, of Sutton.

Obtains Rifle

Mr. Findley had been despondent for several weeks, according to members of his family, but had never intimated that he intended taking his own life. He went into the kitchen of his home about 9 o'clock yesterday morning after he had obtained a .22 calibre rifle from another part of the house.

His actions were unobserved by members of the family and it was only when they heard the shot that they thought of his disappearance from the living room. Neighbors also heard the shot and rushed to his assistance.

Dies in Hospital

He had placed the muzzle of the gun to his temple and fired. He was taken to the St. Marys hospital where he died at 10:25 o'clock without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Findley was engaged in the operation of a grocery store in Goff Plaza until in June, 1931, when he sold his interest in the place. Since that time he had been unemployed and he suffered a nervous breakdown a few weeks ago which is believed to have deranged his mind.

For twenty-five years Mr. Findley was employed by the R. T. Lowndes department store, which was the oldest mercantile establishment in Clarksburg, when it was taken over by the Parsons-Soleders Company's department store several years ago. He was the manager of the carpet and rug department at that time, but he had worked in other departments and was considered an expert in merchandising. Findley also wrote the advertisements for the Lowndes store.

Politically, Mr. Findley was a Democrat and his brother, A. Judson Findley, now of Sistersville, served as Democratic prosecuting attorney of Harrison county for one term.

An active member of the Clarksburg Baptist church, Mr. Findley attended services regularly when his health permitted.

Mr. Findley was a member of the Clarksburg lodge of Odd Fellows and at one time held important offices in the organization.

Mr. Findley's complete name was Elijah Frank Findley and he was born May 1, 1877, on a farm on Kincheloe creek, near Good Hope. He was a lifelong resident of Harrison county. He was educated at West Virginia Wesleyan College, at Buckhannon. He was the son of Adam Franklin and Nancy Ellen Findley, who were among the early settlers in the southern part of the county.

The deceased man leaves his widow, who before her marriage, was Miss Lelia Hansford, of Clarksburg; a daughter, Miss Pauline Findley, 26, a teacher in the Morgan school, Stealey Heights; and sons, Paul and James Edward, all at home. He also leaves a brother, A. Judson Findley, of Sistersville; and a sister, Mrs. Gideon Dillon, of Henley, Neb. The brother was reported on the way to Clarksburg.

ELIZABETH JUNE GOFF
Kingwood, Oct. 19.—(Special)—A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon decided that Elizabeth June Goff, 9, met her death accidentally when struck by an automobile yesterday noon at Denver school near the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Goff.

The verdict attached no blame to William Johnson, 21, of Tunnel hill, Tunnelton, driver of the car which struck the little girl as she started home from school across state route 26.

Despite this verdict, Johnson is being held in the Preston county jail here. Prosecuting Attorney Melvin C. Snyder, after an investigation of the details of the accident, said he will ask the November grand jury to return a manslaughter indictment against Johnson.

Sheriff W. W. Williams said three witnesses told him Johnson's car was going forty miles an hour or faster. Original reports of the accident, possibly exaggerated, said Johnson's machine was doing from fifty to fifty-five miles an hour.

Witnesses to the accident included George DeWitt, principal of the Denver school; Lora Criss, teacher, and Mrs. Curtis Wolfe, a neighbor.

They said the little girl started across the road, saw the car and started back. Johnson, however, had swerved his car to the left to avoid striking her and so ran directly into her. She was knocked down and dragged about 115 feet by the machine, the witnesses said. She suffered a fractured skull and died fifteen minutes later.

No formal warrant has been issued for Johnson's arrest. Officers are continuing their investigation of the tragedy.

ROY SMITH

Funeral services for Roy Smith, 38, Hackers Creek, who died Monday morning at 7:10 o'clock from injuries suffered when he was run down by a roadster driven by Mrs. Russell Wilmoth, of Elkins, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Westfall chapel of the Methodist Protestant church near Hackers Creek. The Rev. Hollen Shamblin officiated, and interment was made in the McVaney cemetery.

The tragedy occurred Sunday morning at about 11 o'clock in Hodgesville in front of the Post garage. Smith had been visiting with his sister, Mrs. Daisy Jeffers, in Hodgesville and after a visit to the store in Hodgesville, he started to cross the road to return to his sister's home for dinner.

Witnesses pointed out that Smith was slightly crippled, and when Mrs. Wilmoth blew her horn he became confused and darted back into the path of the automobile. The machine struck him and when it swerved around in the road the rear of the car hit him a second time.

Mrs. Wilmoth told Corporal Fred Currance of the state police that Smith started to cross the road and when she was near him, he stepped in front of the car. Currance made an investigation and said that he believed the accident was unavoidable.

For five years Smith had lived on the farm of Alya Harris in Hackers Creek, helping him with the farm work. Two weeks ago he moved to Hackers Creek, where he resided with his mother, Mrs. Laura Smith. His father, Ed Smith, died several years ago.

LUTHER FISHER

Not in a long time have we been called upon to record a death so sudden as that of Luther Fisher, nor one which was a greater shock to the people of Sutton. Apparently he was in the best of physical condition, and had been on the streets that day, going home after getting the evening mail. The finger of death touched him as he sat alone in a chair in his home. The end came, as near as can be reckoned, about 5:45 p.m. Mrs. Fisher had been engaged with other ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church in some welfare work at the church, and when she returned to her home found the dead but still warm body of her husband.

John Luther Fisher was the son of the late Senator Benjamin Franklin Fisher and Margaret Sutton Fisher, and was born at the old Fisher homestead, near Flatwoods, May 4, 1860. May 20, 1886, he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Margaret Squires, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Squires, and for forty-six years they had happily and successfully journeyed life's pathway together. They were the parents of six children, three of whom are living, viz: Margaret, wife of Frank E. Arnett, superintendent of the Elkins public schools; Ruth, wife of Vernon E. Bail, of the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company's local office, and Susan, a vocalist of unusual talent, who is now filling an engagement with the Staats opera house in Berlin, Germany. One child died in infancy, Charles in childhood and George Prince, who served overseas during the World war, died in 1922. Mr. Fisher was a brother of Rush, Bailey, Judge Jake and Will Fisher, of Sutton; Mrs. A. L. Morrison, of Sutton, and Mrs. Susan Loyd, who resides near Sutton. Another sister, Mrs. May Fisher Berry, died in 1896.

Mr. Fisher's young manhood was spent on the farm and as a teacher in the public schools. From 1895 until the beginning of the World war he was engaged in the export lumber business with James Kennedy under the firm name of James Kennedy & Company. From 1917 to 1923 he was a member of the Braxton Coal Company, which operated mines at Copen and Braxton, this county. Following the sale of his mining interests, he was for five years employed as superintendent of the Sutton Chemical Company's mines. During the past five years he acted as receiver for several firms which had failed.

Mr. Fisher was converted during his young manhood and for 45 years had been a devout, active and influential member of the Methodist Episcopal church. During his residence here he was for several years superintendent of the local Sunday school of that denomination.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. E. C. Zinn, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. W. E. Keenan, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, were held at the Fisher home Saturday at 3:00 p.m. and were attended by a very large number of his relatives and personal friends. His body was then taken to the Fisher family cemetery near Flatwoods and laid to rest. The pall bearers were six of his nephews, namely: J. B. Fisher, cashier of the Bank of Gassaway; Dr. Clarence Morrison, of Quantico, Va.; Attorney F. C. Fisher, of Sutton; Frank Loyd, of Sutton, R. F. D.; Frank Fisher, Democratic nominee for clerk of the county court, of Flatwoods, and John Fisher, also of Flatwoods.

VIRGINIA JENKINS

When she stepped from behind one train directly in the path of a backing "helper," Virginia Jenkins, 9, a student in the Terra Alta graded school, received injuries that caused her death within an hour after the accident. Her companion, Doris Taylor, saw the engine in time to jump to safety and was unhurt.

The accident occurred at a railroad crossing in Terra Alta on Tuesday afternoon shortly after school had been dismissed. Both girls, students in the fourth grade of the Terra Alta school, were going to the Taylor home directly from school to ask permission to go to the Jenkins home to study. It was necessary to cross the railroad and after crossing one track after an eastbound freight had passed they stepped in the path of a "helper" going in the opposite direction on another track. The engine was being backed toward Rowlesburg and the engineer failed to see the two girls in time to stop.

Seeing the approaching locomotive bearing down on them the Taylor girl screamed to her companion and jumped to safety. The Jenkins girl failed to jump and was struck by the engine and her badly mangled body was hurled from the right of way. Examination revealed the victim of the accident had suffered the loss of both legs and one arm and the body badly bruised. She died within less than an hour.

Both the engineer, James Spiker, of Piedmont, and G. Teaslee, of Rowlesburg, the fireman, saw the two girls but were unable to stop their engine in time to prevent the tragedy. They were in charge of engine No. 96 and were returning to Rowlesburg after helping another train across the grade. They stopped their engine as soon as possible and picked up the child. She was unconscious, but still alive although terribly mangled.

The unfortunate victim of the tragedy was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Jenkins. The father, when he learned there had been an accident at the railroad crossing, went to the scene to find the victim was his daughter. Besides the parents one sister survives.

Funeral services for the little victim will be held at two o’clock on Friday afternoon from the Terra Alta Presbyterian church with Rev. W. B. Brock, pastor of the church, in charge. Interment will be in the city cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPHINE STOUT

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence of Ross F. Stout, White addition, Nutter Fort, for his mother, Mrs. Josephine Stout, 88, who died Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ella White, 329 Clay street, this city, following a critical illness of three weeks of infirmities. The Rev. Dr. Homer E. Wark, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be the minister in charge. Interment will be made in the Stout cemetery near Quiet Dell. The pall-bearers will be A. B. Jarvis, W. H. Davisson, B. B. Jarvis, Clarence E. Stout, Porter Rogers and Orville Jones.

Born near Bridgeport September 16, 1844, Mrs. Stout was a daughter of Ross Faris, a son of Humphrey Faris, a native of Pennsylvania, and Sarah Green Faris, a daughter of James and Elizabeth Green, of near Quiet Dell, all of whom are deceased. Mrs. Stout's father was a native of Bridgeport and her mother was born in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Stout's grandparents were the parents of ten children, of whom five survive: Mrs. Ella J. White, widow of Orville White, of this city; Ross F. Stout, of Nutter Fort, a former sheriff of Harrison county; Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Thompson, wife of Floyd Thompson, of Detroit, Mich.; Alfonzo Stout, a Zack's run farmer, and Carl C. Stout, of Sullivan, Col. There are seventeen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Her husband went to Denver, Col., June 19, 1910, to visit at the home of the son, Alfred, and died there a month later, aged 70. The body was brought home for burial. There were eight children by this marriage, among whom was her father, Ross Faris, third in order of birth. After the death of his wife, Humphrey Faris was married in 1812 in this county to Miss Madeline Goodwin, a daughter of John and Elizabeth Webb Goodwin, who had come from the Shenandoah valley in Virginia and settled near Bridgeport. They were the parents of six children, the second of whom was the late George T. Faris, father of Samuel S. Faris, now deceased. The half-brother of Mrs. Stout lived to the age of 92 years.

Mrs. Stout was the eldest of the three daughters who constituted the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faris. The others were Rebecca Jane, who married Alfred Gourley, and Mary Ann, whose husband was Columbus Davisson, a brother of the late Flavius B. Davisson, of Bridgeport. The Gourleys moved to Livingston county, Ill., where they died a number of years ago. The Davissons died in Missouri.

October 9, 1862, is the date of the marriage of Josephine Faris and Thomas Benton Stout. The latter was born on Zack's run near Quiet Dell and was a son of James M. and Celia Bassel Stout, a half-sister of the late John Bassel, prominent Clarksburg lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Benton Stout lived on Zack's run and were the parents of ten children, of whom five survive: Mrs. Ella J. White, widow of Orville White, of this city; Ross F. Stout, of Nutter Fort, a former sheriff of Harrison county; Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Thompson, wife of Floyd Thompson, of Detroit, Mich.; Alfonzo Stout, a Zack's run farmer, and Carl C. Stout, of Sullivan, Col. There are seventeen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The son, Alfred, died two years married in Fayette county, Pa. later in Denver.
Mrs. Stout was a remarkable woman. There being no boys in her father’s family, she became her father’s “boy,” as he often said, as she worked a lot in the fields in harvest time, handling hay and wheat, chopping wood for the cook stove and doing other farm work. She frequently declared she did so much outdoor work that she really knew more about that than cooking. And after her marriage, as was the custom with many in those days, she did light farm work such as dropping corn in the springtime. She loved the outdoors and was fond of her children and their children as well as the great-grandchildren. She had a mother heart for all children.

A member of the Methodist Episcopal church more than forty years, Mrs. Stout was a conscientious Christian woman, exemplifying her faith in the performance of good deeds and in her daily walk in the life. She retained almost perfect health until within the last few months and was an exemplar of a life well run.

GEO. A. RADER
Citizens of the Gilboe community and Nicholas county in general were shocked and grieved early Friday morning when the sad news spread rapidly that George A. Rader had taken his own life at his home about 7:30 o'clock, by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun.
Mr. Rader was injured about two years ago in an automobile wreck from which he never fully recovered. Suffering from other ailments and from the result of the automobile injury his body became weaker and as the weeks and days went by Mr. Rader became gradually weaker in body and a short time ago he became mentally deranged which developed into the tragedy.
On last Friday morning he arose and did his chores. He returned to the house after feeding and told his wife that there was a sick cow at the barn and that he would like for her to see about her. She went immediately to the barn and as she was entering, she heard the fatal shot. Hurrying to the house she found the body of Mr. Rader lifeless lying in the hall.

Mr. Rader was 62 years of age.
He lived his entire life in the county and was one of its most progressive farmers. We believe that we can truthfully say there was not a more loved and respected citizen in the county than was Mr. Rader.
He was a friend in time of need and spoke ill of no one. He was industrious, loyal and true. His life was a blessing to his family and to his friends.

He was one of a family of nine children: Charles, of Boomer, William, who died young, Otis, of Oklahoma, Joseph, of Webster Springs, Mrs. Viola Brown, Mrs. Mary Adkins, Mrs. Ida Proctor and Frank.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Cecil and one daughter, Mrs. H. H. Hypes, both of Sumersville and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. E. Brown, in the Salem church, where he attended church regularly. A large crowd of sorrowing friends and neighbors attended the services.

The Summersville Masonic Lodge of which he had been a member for 20 years had charge of the services at the grave. He was also a member of the Wakoma Chapter of the Eastern Star No. 52, many members attended the services.

He rests in peace in the graveyard near his home.

GLEN CURRENCE

Glen Currence, 30 years of age, died in Summersville Sunday morning at 2 o'clock as the result of injuries he received Saturday night
Lee Tinkle place on Muddeley.

Mr. Currence was a bookkeeper of Bulltown, and lived at Burnsville.
He was enroute home for the weekend when the accident occurred, and was found by some parties who had been attending a football game.

Just what caused his car to leave the road is not known, but it is presumed that he was not acquainted with the road and misjudged the route. His car went across Muddletry Creek, turned over and pinded him beneath. He was injured internally.

His brother, William, was notified and arrived here before he died.

He was a graduate of Burnsville
High school and Parkersburg Business college. Surviving are his parents, and four brothers.

O. R. HAMRICK
JOHN A. SCHULTE
By Wilbur M. Swiger
Clarksburg today mourned the passing of two young men, one a veteran pilot, who was instantly killed yesterday morning when "The National Commander," the big Travelair airplane, christened in honor of Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, crashed on a high mountain top near Gormania.
O. R. Hamrick, 28, pilot of the plane, was the veteran aviator killed. John A. Schulte, 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Schulte, 219 Walnut street, a relative of Hamrick, was a passenger in the plane, was the second victim.
Hamrick was on the way to Washington, D. C., to meet Commander Johnson and bring him back to Clarksburg so he could vote there Tuesday.
Low Ceiling
The big ship took off from the Clarksburg airport in Elk district at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The ceiling was low and he remarked to friends at the airport that he was afraid he would not be able to get over the mountains between Clarksburg and Washington.
So low were the clouds that Pilot Hamrick landed the cabin plane at Red House, Md., about 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning. He stayed there for fifteen or twenty minutes and observing that the fog was lifting from the first mountain he was to cross, remarked to those at the flying field that he believed he could make it.
Disappears in Clouds
The ship took off perfectly, climbed high over Table Rock mountain, the highest point on United States route 50, with an elevation of 3,095 feet, and disappeared in a bank of clouds. Later farmers in the vicinity of Gormania heard a motor roaring overhead, but could not see the airplane. The ship then started over Grassy ridge after circling four or five times in the vicinity of Gormania. It was apparent to those on the ground that the pilot was lost in the clouds and was flying low in the hope of finding a place to land. Many believe Pilot Hamrick was trying to make his way back to the field at Red House.
Heard Crash
Then almost exactly at 11 o'clock mountaineers in the vicinity of Grassy ridge heard the impact of the big airplane as it crashed into the treetops on top of the high and densely wooded mountain. Smoke and fire sprung up and it was apparent for many miles away that the airplane was burning.
Simmons Cosner and Oliver Moreland, farmers and mountaineers, of Grassy ridge, rushed to the scene of the burning plane as soon as possible. They had to walk more than a mile and a half through the wooded section after leaving the highway. They were the first persons to reach the plane, which was still in flames.
Hamrick and Schulte were inside the cabin and could not be reached because of the intense heat. Both are believed to have been killed before the ship caught fire. Their bodies were broken and burned beyond recognition.
Strip Plane
Cosner and Moreland notified Robert Oaks, a constable, of Gormania, and he came to the scene of the wreckage and took charge. The charred bodies were removed and carried into the woods. By this time a large crowd gathered and despite the efforts of Constable Oaks and others, souvenir hunters carried away parts of the plane. Virtually all of the ship but one wing had been burned and the motor was torn from the ship.
I. Dabney Jackson, Don Hardgrove and Robert Nay, all Clarksburg aviators and close friends of Pilot Hamrick who had flown with him many times, went to Grassy ridge yesterday afternoon in an automobile. They were accompanied by M. J. Lynch and the latter's son, J. B. Lynch, local undertakers. The local aviators made a complete investigation of the mishap. They said today that all reports in-
The motor of the big ship was functioning perfectly. It had been overhauled last week at the Curtiss-Wright shops at Bettis Field, Pittsburgh. They discredited reports that the plane had a leaky gas tank. They said the tank did develop a leak Saturday a week ago when Pilot Hamrick took some Clarksburg football fans to the Notre Dame-Pitt game. The tank, however, was repaired last week during the overhaul.

Hardgrove and Jackson said that when they arrived at Red House yesterday afternoon that the ceiling over the mountains was almost zero. Fog was so thick in the highway on the mountains around Gormanla that they could scarcely see to drive a automobile.

Return Bodies

The Clarksburg undertakers were more than four hours in carrying the bodies from the scene of the crack-up to the highway where they had their automobile parked. The bodies were brought to the Lynch funeral home, West Pike street, where they are now being prepared for burial. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the arrival of Hamrick’s relatives from Webster Springs.

Pilot Hamrick had been flying airplanes for the last seven years. His log book showed he had spent more than 1,200 hours in the air. Two years ago he obtained his transport license and started flying the big Travelair at the local airport. In all his flying career, Hamrick never had a crack-up until yesterday. Once while barnstorming in the vicinity of Uniontown, Pa., in an obsolete army ship, he was forced to make a landing when the magnetos of the plane became wet in a cloud bank. He damaged the landing gear some in landing, but escaped uninjured.

2-Year-Old Ship

Pilot Hamrick visited many West Virginia cities, where he flew passengers. Two or three times he made altitude flights of 10,000 feet or more and never had any difficulty in handling the ship. The Travelair was a little more than two years old, having made its maiden trip between Clarksburg and Pittsburgh, September 8, 1930. Said to have cost $13,000 or more, it was the pride of this section of the state.

Hamrick was born and reared at Cowen, Webster county and would have been 29 years of age next February. Aviation began to interest him shortly after the World war. He enlisted in the United States Marine Corps several years after the war, but after spending a few months in the organization, got his honorable discharge and returned to Clarksburg. He started learning to fly soon afterward.

Widow Survives

The deceased pilot leaves his widow, who before her marriage, was Miss Edna Schulte. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schulte, of 105 Virginia avenue, and a cousin of John Schulte, the other victim.

Other surviving relatives of the dead aviator are: His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hamrick, of Webster Springs, and five brothers; Rister, Ernest, Gatrill, Gordon and Gerald, all of Webster Springs. John A. Schulte, the youth killed with Pilot Hamrick, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schulte, and was a route carrier for the Clarksburg Telegram. Saturday he won a prize of $1 from the newspaper’s circulation department for drawing the best map of his route.

Young Schulte had a fondness for aviation. It was his desire to become a pilot and he frequently accompanied Hamrick on flights. Sunday morning Schulte’s mother begged him not to go with Hamrick on the Washington flight, but the youth pleaded:

“Ah, mother, nothing can happen. It is safe.”

Arriving at the airport, Pilot Hamrick asked Robert Nay, mechanic at the airport, to accompany him. Nay is a holder of a private pilot’s license and has made a special study of navigation. Hamrick said he anticipated blind flying over the mountains and told Nay he could help him a great deal. Nay made ready to go, but Young Schulte kept insisting that he be permitted to go with Hamrick to Washington.

"Well," remarked Nay, "some one has to stay here and look after things. It is either I or Schulte. What do you say Ham [Ham was Hamrick's nickname]?

"Oh, I guess I'll have to let the kid go," said Hamrick as he climbed into the plane. Schulte got in by his side. Nay spun the propeller, the big motor roared and headed eastward. He was in excellent spirits, Nay said, and seemed delighted he was going after Commander Johnson.
