Lauder, of Alberthorpe, Wakefield, etc.

This family claims descent from Eustace de Monte Alto, summarized as the Norman Hunter, who was in the train of Hugh Lupus, private Earl of Chester, and in repute of his services received the barony of Mistyl and the castle, bishopric, and manor of Hardwick, co. Lin. A member of this family, Anselmus or Anthony de Monte Alto, in 1314/15 purchased the manor against William de Lins, and had the good fortune to make the Scottish monarch prisoners, and conveying the result of his victory, he was granted, in the name of the county, a fine of two pence, a demy in the arms: "the lion demurred by the baron," surmounted with the letters "RUTHER D' MAURY." The name varies spelling — Mistyl, Mainshol, Mainshol, Mainshol, Mainshol, Mainshol, or Mainshol.

At what precise period the Otes family first settled in Yorkshire is uncertain, but it is of considerable antiquity in the county. The title deeds of the Shibden Hall Estate, in Southowram, show that it belonged, for Henry IV., to John Otes, who resided there at that time, and to his descendants, John Henry, whilst his kinsman, Bryan Otes, held property in Northowram, possessed considerable estates in Halifax, 21 Hen. VIII. About this period others of the name appear as landed proprietors in the same district of the West Riding, amongst whom are found the immediate ancestors of the present family.

Lawrence Otes, of Oates, of Woolley, in the West Riding of the co. of York, 4 James I., was selected of lands there. Conveyed lands to his nephew William, near 5 Charles I. Still living at Woolley 17 Charles I.

Sir John de Pilkington, 1 Hen. V., held — Margaret, heiress of Sir John de Verdon, by Maud his wife. — By inq. p.m., Hugh de Braswald (1st) Alexander de Pilkington, ancestor of the Pilkingtons, of Rivington. — =<

Margaret, = John de Pilkington, 8 Hen. VI., alive in — Katherine, sister of John alive 1450, when named in a fine leased by his ancient kin, 3 Rolls of Parliament.

John de Pilkington, eldest son of Sir Edmund Pilkington, died 27 Feb., 1457, to Sir Peter Leigh, of 2 Hen. VI., 1457. Lynn, being his 2nd wife, d. 5th in entail, 29 fine, 20 Hen. VI., 1457. Edmund, fine 1 Hen. IV., 1399, 8 Hen. VI., 1436. Robert, fine 8 — Sir William de Brad — Isabel, d. inq. p.m., 1419.

Thomas Pilkington, of full age 1451, when found heir to his uncle by inq. p.m., 20 Hen. VI., sheriff of Gisborne, died at the same time between 645 and 1656, first in entail by fine, 29 Hen. VI. His estates in Lancashire were forfeited after the battle of Bosworth, and confirmed upon the Earl of Derby. Fell at the Battle of Stoke, 1487. (In 1488, his settled estates were forfeited, and granted to Lord Strange, son of Thomas, 1st Earl of Derby, but the attaint was reversed, and his son succeeded to them.)

Arthur, a base son of — Alice, daughter of Sir John Savage — Sir Roger Pilkington, 65/65 Hen. VII., found by inq. heir to his father, died 17 Hen. VII., 1292, according to Vincent, certainly before 1299.

Richard, Samuel (According to Vincent, on the authority of Thomas.)

The descent of the main line of this family here is, for the first time, recorded from evidence; but they do not show where the line which settled in Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire branched off; accounts given of their ancestry varying materially, and no proofs being adduced, we have not ventured to insert them here. Vincent, who recited upon evidence, the descendants of some of the brothers recorded below, was manifestly wrong in representing them to be the sons of Edmund, son of Sir John Pilkington, for they none of them appear in the entails of the Verdon inheritance.

In the first year of King Edward IV, we find grants to Henry Pilkington, Esquire, out of the forfeited estates of John Catterall, in the county of York, and to John Pilkington, esquire of the body of the king. In the 16 of Edward IV, he endowed a chantry in the parish church of Walskirk, where his arms are described to be painted as "Argent a cross potent gules voided of the field, differenced by an annulet in the dexter chief point.

The names given in italics in the following Pedigree are taken from Vincent's account of depictions, "removing of records in the Courte of Chancery." — MS. in the College of Arms.

Edmund Pilkington, Esq. His life ended the 22nd years of Henry VII., 1468. (No note below.)

Robert, 1st son, d. without issue.

John Pilkington, an idiot, d. without issue.

William Pilkington, 3rd son, d. in the 22nd years of King Henry VIII., 1531.

Arthur Pilkington, 4th son, d. in the 30th years of King Henry VIII., 1539.

A Concubine, — Sir John Pilkington, knight, died the 29 December, anno 1287, in the 23d year of King Edward I., and founded a chantry in Wakefield Church, 1 Hen. VI., 1357. His will dated, at Skipton, 23 June, 1376, proved 29 June, 1379, directs his heir to be his lady, and a chanter to sing a mass every week. — Usur. Edward V. (No note below.)

Thomas Pilkington, knight, of — Elizabeth, daughter of Sir John Pilkington, knight, in the 20th year of Henry VIII., 1547. — Thomas Pilkington, knight, in the 20th year of Henry VIII., 1547. — Usur. Edward VI. (No note below.)

NOTE.—The name of Reygate is said to be derived from a place in Normandy, and that the family first settled at Reigate, in Surrey, to which place they gave their name, and whence they migrated north to Yorkshire, in the twelfth century. The same arms were borne by them temp. Henry 3, as is shown by a seal of that period.

John de Reygate, of Steventon, seneschal to William de Reyigate, brother and heir to John de Reygate, 1253.

John de Reygate gave lands in Fynpere, "ab arie de Farnes in co. Dorset, between 1216/35."

Sir John de Reygate, Knt. of Steventon, beir to his father and uncle, Katherine, a widow. 1334.

Robert de Reyigate, of South Holms, co. Ebor. 1235.

John de Reyigate, 1235.—Margaret —, —.

For their issue (who were lords of Steventon) see Foljamb以此 pedigree.

The Estates in Milford, Lumby, &c., and the Manor of Steventon, remained in the Foljamb family for nearly three hundred years; the House at Steventon being, however, only used as a residence by one of them, viz., Peter Foljamb, who lived there from 1642 till his death in 1669. He had succeeded his cousin, Sir Francis Foljamb, and only enjoyed the Steventon estate, for the Walton and Derbyshire property had been sold by Sir Francis, and his widow held Aldwark for her life. Peter Foljamb was buried in the chapel attached to the Manor of Steventon, at Sherburn, and four of his children, who died young, viz., Godfrey, Woodrove, Henry, and Jane. His wife, Jane, eldest daughter and co-heiress of Ellis Woodrove, of Hope, co. Derby, Esq., who died 4 September, 1658, is buried at Ledsham. The estates were sold in 1800 by Francis Perrand Foljamb, Esq., in lot to several purchasers. The Manor of Steventon, with the ancient mansion, and 300 acres of the estate, were purchased by the Rev. Christopher Adderston, of Aston, co. York. In 1807, Mr. Adderston resold it to the Rev. Richard Paver, of Ledsham. He died in 1812, and was succeeded by his son, Christopher Paver, who died in 1855, bequeathing the Manor, &c., to his son, William Paver, Esq., the present possessor of it.

THE SLINGSBYS' HISTORY.

AN ANCIENT YORKSHIRE FAMILY.

THEIR ANCESTRY AND ASSOCIATIONS.

Yorkshire has a special interest in the judgment which was delivered yesterday in the Slingsby appeal case. As the story of their connection, in parts of the present owner of the estates in question nor, of course, his brothers, the appellants, can claim direct descent from the Slingsby of Screven Park, Knaresborough, whose possessions it was claimed the child, Charles, Ensign Edward, was entitled to succeed in the ordinary course of nature. As will be seen from the following outline of the family history, the estates in the year 1899 passed, under the will of the last male representative of the line, to a cousin by marriage, namely, the Rev. Charles Slingsby Atkinson (father of Commander Charles Henry Reynard Slingsby, R.N.), who thenceforward assumed the name of Slingsby. The Slingsby records, nevertheless, are so notable a part of local history that no excuse is needed for reviewing briefly their salient features.

One of the oldest families in Yorkshire, the Slingsbys descended from a race of park rangers who held office under the Crown in the ancient Forest of Knaresborough. It is recorded that in the year 1311 a William Slingsby was made Warden of the Masters of the Knights of Ribbeseyn, and he it was, probably, who by marriage with Johannes, heiress of Henry de Scivens, founded the line of the Slingsbys of Screven. The De Scivens were people of even greater importance. The story runs that in the time of Henry III. there was one Gameell, to whom and his heirs was granted the stewardship of the Forest, and whose posterity took the name of Scivens from some portion of their habitation, the word meaning a cave. The appointment apparently was ratified when Johannes de Scivens married William de Slingsby, for there is evidence that when Edward III. was creating baronets, in 1333 he selected this William de Slingsby as leader of the Foresters in the campaign against Berwick.

The first representative of the two families mentioned in Burke is John de Slingsby, who died in 1313 from wounds received in Flodden Field. Several of his immediate descendants distinguished themselves in the service of the State and were knighted, but it was reserved for the fifth of the line—Sir Harry, the loyal Cavalier, whom Cromwell beheaded in 1658—to begin the line of baronets which was extinguished on the death of Sir Charles Slingsby, the tenth baronet, in 1899. The story of that tragic event has often been told. Sir Charles, as Master of the York and Ainsty Hunt, was one of the ill-fated sportmen who, while in full chase of a fox, were drowned in the Ure near Newby Hall, by the caprice of their horses. His horse, Saltish, becoming restive, caused the upset, and in the confusion of horses and men that followed there was great difficulty in effecting rescue. Sir George Wombwell was among the saved, but the Master was carried down stream, and is thought to have been seized with cramp while trying to swim ashore. On the following day, 300 years earlier, a similar fate had befallen the eldest son of one of his ancestors, who was drowned in the Nidd while endeavouring to save the life of a servant of the house.

The last baronet was unmarried. Screven passed to his sister, the last remaining Slingsby of Screven, who espoused Captain Thomas Leslie. She, however, left no issue, and on her death in 1899, her cousin, the Rev. Charles Slingsby Atkinson, succeeded to the estates and took the name of Slingsby, under the will of her brother. Mr. Atkinson was the eldest son of the Rev. Thomas Atkinson (rector of Kirby Sigston, Northallerton), brother of the 10th baronet's mother. Thus, there is no blood connection with the Slingsbys, the Atkinsons, indeed, on their part, tracing their descent from a common ancestry with the Atkinsons of Morland and Temple Sowerby, who settled in the northern counties about the time of Henry I. The connection with the Slingsbys is shown in the following table:-

who, being expelled the House of Commons, and having all his goods confiscated by an Ordinance of Parliament, nothing else remained for him to do but to endeavour to save his soul. He suffered on the 8th day of June, 1899, in the 57th year of his age, on account of his fidelity to his King, and attachment to the laws of his country; beheld by order of the tyrant Cromwell, he was translated to a better place.

At Red House, Moor Monkton, which the Slingsbys acquired by purchase from William Fairless, Sir Henry had entertained Charles I. many years earlier, namely, in 1658, on the monarch attended the races on Ascemb Moor, and saw his host's horse win the Plate. To Red House also came the Duke of York in 1665, when the estate had been restored, and Sir Thomas Slingsby, the second baronet, had succeeded his father, Sir Thomas, like others of his line before and after, sat in Parliament for Knaresborough, and besides being High Sheriff for Yorkshire, he held office as Constable of Scarborough Castle. He died in 1673, and was in turn succeeded by his eldest son, Henry, whose brother Thomas became the fourth baronet, and left three sons to bear the title. The first of these left no issue, and the others died unmarried, so that the title and estates went to Thomas Turner Slingsby (the 5th Baronet), named in the above extract from the family tree, who was the son of the 4th Baronet's youngest son. Thus, still without a break from father to son, the title descended until the 10th Baronet's melancholy end in the River Ure brought the male line to an end. The eldest daughter of Sir Thomas the 4th Baronet, by the marriage, in 1714 Thomas Duncombe of Helmsley, from whom the Earls of Ferriby are descended.

The last of the Slingsbys to inherit the Screven estate was, as we have seen, the 10th Baronet's sister. In the 233 years that had elapsed since the baronetcy was granted there had been seven generations of the family as Slingsby, and no fewer than five of the sin holders of the title died unmarried or without issue. Here is another interesting fact. At Harrogate, as we have seen, one of the Slingsby race discovered the Old Foss waters, and it was at Harrogate, too, that Charles Slingsby, younger son of Sir Thomas Turner Slingsby, the last Slingsby of Screven, was received into possession of the estates.

Staying with her at the old Dragon Hotel was her sister, and she married Sir William Inglesby, whose title also became extinct before many years had passed.

Beyond the headstones it contains, the Hall at Screven Park has little or nothing to show its association with mediæval times. It is a stone-built mansion dating apparently from the beginning of the 17th century, and occupying the site of the ancient building which Sir Henry Slingsby, the Royalist, described in his diary as "that rotten house at Scriving," when he visited it in 1659 from Red House. His purpose, however, was to inspect the repairs of it; so unsatisfactory was its condition that he had to borrow a fur-} rure from his tenant before he and his wife and daughter could settle down for the night.

Manor House, and Westwood Grove, etc.

On the east window of Hopefield old church, was a representation of the Staplefield arms, and the date 1668. This church was dismantled in the year 1845, and a new church was erected in its place. In the old church was a sumptuous glass window in the south wall, probably from the time of the Tudors, which was removed by the Rev. Mr. Watts, in the course of "The New Church," and on either side "The Adoration of the Magi, and the Tree in the East," with the following inscription:—"This window was erected A.D. 1682, by descents of Robert Staplefield, Esq. of Field House, near Halifax, and of David Staplefield, Esq. of Hope Hall, Halton, to replace an east window in the old church, bequeathing the family arms and the date 1682; on each side are the arms as used by the two branches of the family.

Pedigree of Stourton, of Stourton.

The family of Stourton, deriving its name from the river Stour, is of the highest antiquity, and is supposed to have been seated in the West of England previous to the Conquest, at which time Edric and Ralph, who, according to tradition, were two of the Conquerors invested this part of England, broke down the sea-walls of the Severn, and, removing to Glastonbury, guarded the pass by land until the Conquerors ascended to the terms that were required.

THE WATSON-WENTWORTH ACHIEVEMENT,

BY

MR. WENTWORTH STURGEON, F.R.G.S., AND COUN. HARL. SOC.

1. The quarters, as numbered, from Harl. MS. 1047, Br. Mus.; this collection was made by Richard Gascoigne, kinsman to Thomas, 1st Earl of Strafford, in 1651.
2. The quarters marked * are given by Glover, Vis. Yorks. 1854, Harl. MS. 1351, as allowed (with the exception of Brett) by the heralds, temp. Elizabeth, and are displayed upon the tomb of Thomas Wentworth, and Margaret Gascoigne, his wife, in Wentworth Chapel, temp. 1557. Where lettered, Glover's marshalling is here differed by a lion.
3. The quarters in small capitals are those of the heretresses who married into the Watson, Wentworth, and Gascoigne families; the right to bear those quarters is questionable.
4. The quarters from 29 to 42 inclusive are not in the first Watson shield in Harl. MS. 1047, although Amora Umfraville (who married Stephen Walsay) is given as an heiress in the pedigree. The authorities referred to are Harl. MSS. 1474, 1475, 1571, 1679, 245, 2513, 1711, but they are contradictory as to the alliances. If the daughter and heir of Lord Clare married Dapifer instead of the daughter and heir of Sir Qam, the quarters between parenthesis 36-39 would be borne.
5. In Baron Vernon's achievement (Edm., vol. iv, pp. 483), the following appear, amongst others, as Watson quarters: 1. Bigod, Earl of Norfolk; 2. Marshall, Earl of Pembroke; 3. Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke; 4. Macmorrough, King of Leinster (to follow the Glanville quarter); 5. Newberth, in the place of Walfen, Earl of Melinc. This last is clearly a mistake, as the Newberth quarter was granted to Isabel, natural daughter of William, Earl of Brutel.
6. * Glover is marshalling the Wentworth quarters in 1632 places Brett next after Tinsley, and this quartering appears in the shield of quarterings of the second Marquis of Rockingham at Wentworth House.
7. * Greville, Earl of Warwick (Edm., vol. iii, p. 289), bears three Neville coats. In Tooke's Vis. Yorks., Harl. MS. 1479, the Nevill of Overton is quartered by what appears to be a lion.
9. * Although the Percy pedigree, showing Anastasia or Jeanne de Percy to be the daughter and co-heiress of William de Percy by his wife Joan, daughter and co-heiress of William de Brewer, is in Harl. MS. 1047; yet the quarter is in the shield; this is endorsed by Harl. MSS. 1788 and 1590.
10. * The Clavering quarters are borne by the Aubergavenny Nevilles, Barons Saye and Seale (Edm., iv. p. 483). Lord Howard de Walden (Ibid., p. 47), Baron Coventry (Ibid., p. 44), and by many other extinct Peers. Both in his Barony coat, vol. ii, p. 127, states that the marquis of Aubrace and Horford, and eventually Clavering and Bubburgh were granted to Ralph Neville, thus depriving his youngest brother Alan of his inheritance.
11. * Harl. MS. 1178, but the description of the quarter is not recorded.
12. * Mary Ferrers was sixth in descent from St. Louis IX, King of France, canonized by Pope Boniface IX, 1139; fifth in descent from St. Ferdinand, King of Castile and Leon, canonized by Pope Clement X v. 1717; and tenth in descent of St. Margaret, Queen of Scotland, granddaughter of Edmund Ironside, canonized by Pope Innocent IV. in 1253.
13. * The Mother of Agar, Earl of Mercia, was the famous Lady Godiva (Dou. Wars, p. 91).
14. * Robert de Bellomont was son of Elizabeth (daughter of Hugh the Great, Earl of Vermandois, son of Henry I, King of France), who was in descent from Charlemagne.
17. * If Scott, Earl of Huntington, is borne, then are brought in the following quarters, which are borne by Martha, Baroness of Chedworth (Edm. Bar. vol. iv. p. 483). (She, however, bears David, Prince of Scotland and Earl of Huntington quarterly.) Viscount Tamworth (Ibid., vol. iv. p. 522), and the Countess of Northumberland, (Ibid., vol. iii, p. 268), both carry Scott as a Galloway quarter; but Surtees in his History of Durham, vol. iv. p. 595, emphatically denies that Margaret, daughter and heiress of David, Earl of Huntington, was mother of Helen, wife of Alan, Lord of Galloway, while Harl. MSS. 1590 and 1233 state that she was.
