ARCH J. REVERCOMB

Undated newspaper clipping, but of the year 1945:

PROMINENT FARMER,
STOCKMAN DIES

Arch J. Revercomb, prominent stockman and farmer, died at his home at Armstrong, Bath County, on Tuesday, July 10, after a lingering illness.

He was a son of John R. Revercomb and Susan Lockridge Revercomb, and was born Feb. 4, 1868. He was one of a large family; one brother, John H. Revercomb, of Deerfield, survives. On May 30, 1906, he was married to Miss Jane Armstrong, who survives and two daughters: Miss Mary Susan Revercomb, a successful teacher in the Bath County schools, and Mrs. Hugh Coursey.

Mr. Revercomb was a successful farmer, stockman, and business man. He had been president of the Bank of Millboro for many years and was president of the Union Stock Yards of Staunton.

His father was a Confederate soldier. Mr. Revercomb was a kind neighbor, a wise counsellor and a true friend. He was always a liberal contributor to any cause of charity.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home on Thursday afternoon, July 12, at four o'clock, by his pastor, Rev. S. B. Hoyt of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in the family cemetery nearby.

COVINGTON MAYORS
ARGUE IN MEETING

BUDGET DISCUSSION HALTED
AFTER HEATED WORDS.

COVINGTON, Va., Oct. 10.---(AP)---Heated words and an altercation between Mayor Howard A. (sic!) Revercomb and former Mayor Emmett Stull, now a member of city council, abruptly halted discussions of council last night of a city budget.

Mayor Revercomb was arrested and then immediately released by Sheriff Dyche, of Alleghany county, who was present at the meeting and who charged the mayor with striking the first blow.

The altercation was said to have resulted when Councilman Stull, who is state grand master of Odd-Fellows, objected to what he termed too frequent interruptions from the mayor while the council member was questioning Town Manager James Mathers.
Our entire community was saddened on Wednesday afternoon when news was received from Roanoke of the sudden death there of Miss Anne Cameron Revercomb.

"Miss Revercomb had accompanied her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond, of Rosedale, to Roanoke and was taken ill with an acute attack of asthma in a dentist's office. She survived only a few minutes.

"Ann Cameron Revercomb was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Revercomb, dearly beloved people of Covington, and was born at the old home on Wills Street April 22nd 24, 1902."

Attended the Covington schools and Fairfax Hall at Waynesboro. After taking a business course, she accepted a position with St. Catherine's School in Richmond, and since 1925 was affiliated with the office force of that institution. Described as "a young woman of unusual thought and consideration of others. A child of appealing personality, she was a favorite in the home, and these loving characteristics, developing as she grew to womanhood, endeared her to those with whom she was associated."
LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 15.—Charles Howard Revercomb of Covington has donated to Washington and Lee University the personal Bible of Robert Alexander, who in 1749 founded a small classical school, Augusta Academy, from which the university grew. Mr. Revercomb is a great-great-grandson of Robert Alexander.

Roscoe B. Stephenson, W. and L. '03, also of Covington, made the formal presentation. Mr. Stephenson is another descendant of Alexander.

This Bible was given to Mr. Revercomb by his mother, Susan Bolar Revercomb, to whom it was given by her mother, Esther Wilson Bolar, who was a granddaughter of Robert Alexander. The Bible was kept for many years in the old Bolar home in Bath County, where Mr. Revercomb grew to manhood.

Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, upon receiving the Bible, expressed his deep appreciation to Mr. Revercomb for this gift and stated that the university's Bi-Centennial celebration, which is being planned for 1949, will center to a large extent around the person and the work of Robert Alexander, the founder of the University.

The school founded by Robert Alexander as Augusta Academy was the first classical school west of the Blue Ridge Mountains. It was first located near Greenville in Augusta County. Later the school was moved to Fairfield in Rockbridge County, and sometime later again moved to Timber Ridge and the name changed to "Liberty Hall Academy." at the beginning of the Revolutionary War. After the Revolution, the school was moved to Lexington where the old stone ruins of Liberty Hall Academy still remain.
Mrs. Charles Howard Revercomb, who died on Monday, December 27, in the Alleghany Memorial Hospital, was formerly Miss Cameron Rebecca Wills, daughter of the late William S. and Annie Scott Wills, and was born April 16, 1873, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

On December 10, 1896, she was united in marriage to Charles Howard Revercomb, in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with the Rev. L. R. Combs officiating. She was a charter member of the church, and of the Ladies' Guild, and was active and faithful in both organizations. Before her marriage she lived with her parents on Wills Street, the present site of the Revercomb homestead.

She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Pauline Revercomb Hammond, of Covington; Mrs. (Dina) Moore Lewis, of Richmond; John Bolar Revercomb, of Covington, and Miles Gary Revercomb of Richmond. One sister, Miss Lena Moore Wills also survives.

Three children, William Frederick Revercomb, Charles Howard Revercomb, Jr., and Ann Cameron Revercomb are deceased.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 p.m. from Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Active pallbearers were: Edmund and George Revercomb, Jr., Tavener Fudge, R. B. Stephenson, Robert Young, Dr. Jack Hudnall, Frank Rinehart, and John Stephenson of Highland County.

Friends of the family and members of the church acted as honorary pallbearers.
Charles Howard Revercomb, 85, for many years a resident of Covington, died at his home on Wills Street yesterday afternoon after a brief illness.

Mr. Revercomb, son of the late Honorable William H. Revercomb and Susan Bolar Revercomb, was born July 9, 1863 at the old Bolar home in Bath County. He was the last survivor of his immediate family.

In 1890 Mr. Revercomb came to Covington and was prominent in the civic, political and religious life of the community for many years. He was deputy-treasurer of the county and later served for twelve years as postmaster of Covington. He was mayor of Covington and served several times on the Town Council, and also represented this legislative district in the House of Delegates. Mr. Revercomb was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

On December 10, 1896, he was married to Miss Cammie Rebecca Wills, and of this union seven children were born, of whom four survive: Mrs. Frank H. Hammond and John B. Revercomb of Covington, and Mrs. William M. Lewis and Miles Carey Revercomb of Richmond.

The funeral service will be held from the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 3 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. O. J. Hollandsworth, assisted by the Rev. John S. Wellford.

FINE YOUNG CITIZEN GOES TO HIS REWARD

Howard Revercomb, Jr. Passes to Life Eternal

Seldom, indeed, does it happen that a community, with such universal distress, loses one of its young men as now this county loses young Howard Revercomb, who early this, (Wednesday) morning, May 7, passed to life eternal.

Howard had been critically ill for months, and every possible effort had been made to find a remedy for his illness; but specialists in several cities, from Philadelphia to Richmond, were unable to save him. Yet, with wonderful courage and beautiful patience, he bore his sufferings and his tenacity extended his life even beyond the hopes of his physicians. At the end his brave spirit passed quickly and serenely.

Howard Revercomb was a wonderfully fine young man, almost peerless in his strength of character, his unselfishness of life, and his faithfulness to the highest standards. It is probable that in all Alleghany County no young man was so generally loved. Practically all his life he was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, where he was confirmed at the age of twelve. His life here, where he was born May 15, 1900, and attended the city schools, was marked by great excellence in many phases. He was a good football player of remarkably great power for his weight; and his example of right living was very effective among all who knew him. After his years in the local high school Howard attended the Augusta Military Academy and everywhere he carried with him the same impression of fineness and goodness. His passing is definitely a sad loss to this community.

Howard Revercomb, Junior, was a son of Hon. Howard A. Revercomb and Mrs. Revercomb, who was formerly Miss Camerons Wills. Surviving him are his father and mother and the following brothers and sisters: William F. Revercomb, Ann Ameron Revercomb, Pauline and Diana Revercomb, Jack Bolar Revercomb and Miles Cary Revercomb.

(List of active & honorary pallbearers.)
"The marriage of Frank Holloway Hammond to Miss Pauline Wills Revercomb on Saturday afternoon, June 24, was a ceremony of unusual beauty and impressiveness. Regal and rock lilies, combined with California ferns and rhododendrons were used in the decorations at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, where the ceremony was performed."

The Rev. Warren A. Seager, Rector of the Church, performed the ceremony.

"Mrs. Hammond is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Revercomb. She is a graduate of State Teacher's College at Farmville and has taught at Winston-Salem, at St. Catherine's School in Richmond and in the Covington schools. Mr. Hammond graduated with honors from Augusta Military Academy and also took a course at the University of Virginia. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hammond were born in Covington."
Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Revercomb, widow of the Hon. George A. Revercomb, prominent Virginia attorney, died at her home in Covington Sunday, August 25, 1946. Mrs. Revercomb was a daughter of the late Rev. Samuel F. Chapman and Mrs. Rebecca Elgin Chapman, and was born in Fauquier county, near Warrenton, Va. Her family lived in Alexandria for a time and when she was 12 moved to Covington, where her father served as pastor of the Covington Baptist Church from 1882 to 1897. He was a soldier, educator and minister, serving as a captain in the Army of the Confederacy. In 1894 Elizabeth Chapman married Geo. A. Revercomb. She is survived by the following children: U. S. Senator Chapman Revercomb of Charleston, West Virginia, Horace A. Revercomb and Dr. Paul H. Revercomb, George A. Revercomb, Jr., Edmund Revercomb, and Mrs. H. G. Hudnall of Covington. Three sisters and a brother also survive. They are Miss Ella Chapman and Herbert Chapman both of Covington, Mrs. Wingfield Young of Winston-Salem, N. C., Mrs. George A. Stephenson of Richmond, Va. The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at the Covington Baptist Church, with Dr. R. R. McCulloch, the pastor officiating. Burial was in Cedar Hill cemetery.
Headline: "HUDNALL-REVERCOMB NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT COVINGTON".

"A wedding of interest to Richmond was solemnized at the Covington Baptist Church on Saturday evening, October 5, when Miss Elizabeth Beaufort Revercomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George/Revercomb, became the bride of Dr. Harry G. Hudnall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bertrand Ryland Hudnall."

Given in marriage by her brother, Chapman Revercomb.

"The bride is a graduate of the State Teachers' College at Farmville and of Hollins College, while Dr. Hudnall graduated from the University of Virginia and served his internship at Duke University's Hospital and at Dr. Crile's Clinic in Cleveland."
George A. Revercomb, Jr., a local attorney, was elected vice president of the Valley Area at the State Bar Association yesterday at White Sulphur Springs. It was the 65th convention of the organization.

From: Genealogical Notes of Howard Revercomb Hammond. Copied Saturday, 18 October 1969.

Newspaper clipping of about 1942:

OLD HOMESTEAD IS BURNED TO GROUND

On Tuesday the old Revercomb home on Jackson River was burned to the ground, and today are left only the ruins of the most historic old home in this section of the country.

The fire started about noon, and when help from near-by farms reached the place, any chance of saving the house was past and practically all household furniture and clothing of the tenants, who had moved in only last week, were lost.

The family of Bill Gilbert, the tenant, was taken in by friends from surrounding farms, and clothing and other equipment have already been given them by the neighbors and guests at Hickory Lodge.

The land grant to the place was given to Col. John Dillar, by the King of England in 1762.

The house of hand hewn logs, was built at that time and in later years was handed down to Mr. William Revercomb who married Susan Bolar, parents of Mr. Howard Revercomb and the late George A. and Hall Revercomb, of Covington.

It was originally called Walnut Buff, because of the grand walnut trees that surround the farm.
The place has not changed hands in that time until it was deeded to Mr. T. M. Gathright, a few years ago.

The handsome box-wood surrounding the house were badly scorched by the flames and may be ruined, but it is hoped that the ones at a distance may be saved.

Many expressions of regret have been heard today from friends who have had many a pleasant visit at the Old Revercomb Place.

OSCAR ADAM STEPHENSON was born 19 July 1845 at the farm home of his parents, Adam and Sarah "Charlotte" (Wilson) Stephenson on the Jackson River in Bath (now southern Highland) County, Va. His father was one of several men who helped to bring about the establishment of Highland County by an act of the Virginia General Assembly, 19 March 1847. Adam Stephenson was appointed County Clerk in the new county in May 1867 and soon thereafter moved his family to Monterrey.

In August 1863 Oscar was called into the Confederate States Army. His older brothers Tyler and Lucius were members of Co. C, 14th Virginia Cavalry, and Oscar joined the unit. His left hand was injured at the Battle of Cheat Mountain, Pocahontas Co., W. Va., 6 Nov. 1863. The 14th served in Early's raid on Washington, D. C., in 1864 and joined General Lee's main army just before the final surrender at Appomattox, 9 April 1865. Oscar was among those who declined to surrender and made good their escape. He was paroled at Staunton, 23 May 1865.

Oscar A. Stephenson attended Washington College (now Washington and Lee University) for the academic year 1867-8. At the time General Robert E. Lee was president.

On 3 June 1874, Oscar married his second cousin, MARGARET LOUISA REVERCOMB, at her parents home in southern Bath County.

For some years Oscar lived upon and farmed the 300-acre farm where he had been born, on the Highland-Bath line. In 1879 he purchased 300 acres near Meadowdale from his brother Tyler. The 300 acres adjoined Glenwood, the farm of Adam Stephenson (Jr.), his father to the westward. Oscar enlarged the small house already standing on the property. He called the farm "Mountain View".

O. A. Stephenson (as he was sometimes referred to in the records) served as Supervisor for the Bluegrass District of Highland County from 1895 to 1903, being elected to seven 2-year terms. The supervisors constituted the county Board of Supervisors and possessed certain administrative and legislative powers.

Oscar Adam Stephenson died 14 September 1917, at home.
MARGARET LOUISA REVERCOMB was born 7 March 1853 at the old Bolar-Reveroomb homestead, Walnut Bluff, located on the east side of the Jackson River, about one-eighth of a mile above the confluence of Mill Creek with the larger river. She was the second of seven children of her parents, WILLIAM HUGHART REVERCOMB (1824-1900) and SUSAN PAULINE BOLAR (1823-1901). Margaret's grandfather, John Bolar, Jr. (1775-1858), married Esther Wilson (1788-1875), the sister of Oscar's grandfather, William Wilson (II) (1787-1868).

Margaret died 11 December 1911 at Mountain View, of appendicitis and peritonitis. Margaret, Oscar and their daughter are buried in a private cemetery next to Pisgah Presbyterian Church; the church adjoins the farm.
