FOREWORD

As will be noted, a majority of the earlier settlers in Ritchie County were descendants of families who were in the southwestern section of Pennsylvania and in Monongalia, Harrison, and Hampshire Counties, Virginia, prior to 1785.

Ritchie County, Virginia (now W. Va.), was created in 1843 from parts of Harrison (Created in 1784 from Monongalia), Wood (Created in 1798 from Harrison), and Lewis (Created in 1816 from Harrison) counties.

The undersigned assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of statements made in the Editor's Notes. Every attempt has been made to include valid supplemental information; however, any corrections to these notes will be gratefully received.
