THE BELL FAMILY

The identification of Bells as Scotch-Irish is a misleading interpretation of their true origin. They are descendants of Scotland who accepted land grants and settled in Northern Ireland. But, the term Scotch-Irish is applied to persons of Scottish blood who emigrated to America from the North of Ireland in the 1700's. Their forebears, natives of Scotland, had settled in Ulster in the 1600's. Many Scots were attracted to Ulster by hope of new opportunities, lower rents, more freedom, and room for expansion.

The Bell's were Lowland Scots and were found chiefly in Dumfriesshire in southern Scotland. The earliest records date from 1300. The Lowland Scots are of composite origin; a mixture of Romanized Britons, Celts, Picts, Scots, Angles, Danes, Norsemen, and Normans. The typical Lowlander is of fair height, long legged, strongly built, with no tendency of becoming stout. His eyes are bright, his features regular, and his cheeks prominent.

James the First of England, whose reign began in 1603, confiscated from northern Ireland more than 3 million acres of land. He established what was known as “Great Plantations,” encouraging the Scots to settle on these lands. Historians estimated 50-60,000 families were moving into Ulster between 1650 and early 1700. Invariable these Scots were Protestants and most likely Presbyterians. The Bells rarely intermarried with the Irish, because of their Catholic religion. The Scots and the Irish found it difficult to be compatible, therefore, the Bells and their allied families began looking for “greener pastures.” Emigration from North Ireland to the United States began in mid-1600, increasing tremendously year-by-year through 1800.

The battle of Bothwell Bridge in Scotland occurred June 22, 1679, which resulted in 250 natives of Scotland being banished to the coasts of America. We find many of our Bells in this group, as well as Craig’s, Campbell’s, Scott’s, Hamilton’s, Walkers, and Wilson’s. James II came to the throne in February of 1685, at which time the clergy and all members of the church began to notice favors the new king was displaying to the Roman Catholics, who began threats of the general slaughter of all Protestants.

The majority of the families landed in Delaware Bay. Some landed in New England, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. They migrated inward to the Shenandoah valley, North Carolina, and Westward. The mountains; the rolling valleys; the changing seasons, were the same terrains where they came from. The seasons were better. So they were at home in the area of settlement, but their danger was that they were a buffer between the Indians and the English living on the coast. The Indians had to deal with them before they could push the English back across the Sea.

After the Revolutionary War, many Bell’s received land grants in Virginia’s County of Fincastle- later called Kentucky County for their service in this War. The earliest year of our Bell Family line of record is 1789 when Armiger Lilley Bell signs a petition to the Virginia Assembly to form Woodford County in Kentucky County. Kentucky is admitted into the Union as a State June 1, 1792. Between 1801 and 1805, The Bells rode the Kentucky River, cross the Ohio River and settled in the Indiana Territory. Indiana became a State in December 11, 1816.

First Generation

1. Henry Oscar BELL was born on 19 May 1910 in Peru, Miami, Indiana. He died on 27 Jun 1976 in Peru, Miami, Indiana. He was buried on 1 Jul 1976 in Ever Rest Memorial Park, Cass, Indiana. He is reference number 8.

His wife, Mary Helen Collier Bell wrote the following about Henry in 1978:

Henry was born and raised on a farm in Miami County, Indiana. He made his money selling Vegetables and Furs. He didn't get along very well with his family. In the first grade, he was whipped almost everyday by his teacher, Miss Fern Pancake. He quit school in the eighth grade and went to live with his brother, Jonathan, in Fort Wayne, Indiana. He worked as a gas attendant for a while. Later, he came back to Peru and worked on various farms as a laborer. In the summer of 1928, Henry received employment at the Peru Ice plant, which was seasonal. When the Plant changed to coal, he worked there all the year round until he retired forty-four years later.

We Married in 1932.

Henry went on welfare because he was unemployed during the winter after the ice plant had closed for the summer months. We were on welfare until 1937. During this time period, he worked with the W.P.A. which helped gravel some of the roads in and around Miami County. Also during this period and in his spare time, he would fish in the rivers about Peru. He often fed his family with fresh fish and turtles -he caught.

When the Ice Plant went into the furnace and heating business, they sent him to various schools in different parts of the country to be a Heating and Refrigeration Technician.

His first car was wrecked driving home from Fort Wayne and he did not buy another one until 1965. This period between cars was filled by a service truck furnished to him by the Ice & Coal Company, in which he had permission to use for personal use.

Henry loved the outdoors and knew how to live off the land. Many times he would get off work early to pick-up his family and load them in the service truck and go looking for wild grown berries and stuff in season. He taught his children to identify and pick Raspberries, Strawberries, Dewberries, Blackberries, Mushrooms, Greens, Wild Onions, Garlic, Paw paws, Walnuts, Hickory nuts, Butternuts, and Sasafrass. He seemed to have no fear in the woods and never lost his directions. He would chase a snake, hold it by the tail and snap its head off. Then he would hang it on the fence until sundown-superstitiously saying they are still dangerous headless until after sundown. He approached animals without fear. He was able to rub poison ivy and poison oak on himself without effect. But his family would catch the poison at home off his clothing.

Henry ruled his family with a firm hand. He taught his children to earn an honest living. His children paid him room and board when they were able to work and earn their own money. He drilled his children to be honest and fair.

When all his children had left home and got married, Henry started gardening flowers. He loved all varieties of Roses. He later converted his flower garden to a vegetable garden in which he canned all his vegetables.

In 1972, Henry was stricken with arthritis in the arms, legs, hands, and shoulders. This developed into Rheumatoid Arthritis which caused him to retire in 1974. Henry suffered greatly until he died of heart failure.

16. Armiger Lilley BELL was born on 10 Jan 1771 in , Virginia. He died on 5 Nov 1816 in Vevay, Switzerland, Indiana. He is reference number 128.

Shelby County, Kentucky Taxes Armiger Bell for 358-1/2 acres of land on the Ohio River in Mason County, Kentucky, originally owned by John Bell and Richard Fox for the years-1792-93-94-95. In 1796 was taxed on 716-1/2 acres in Mason County tax and on 520 Acres on the Gasson Creek And Buck Creek in Shelby County originally owned by James Patton, Benjamin Pope and Mark Thomas.

Kentucky Gazette Vol XIX, No 1002, Thursday, 21 November 1805--Armiger living in Switzerland in Indiana Territory about 7 miles above the Mouth of the Kentucky River on the Ohio River, Regarding a Mare stolen by Archibald Taber--was stolen October 3rd.

Armiger moved to the Northwest Territory about 1800-1805 and settled in a place where he stayed and the county lines changed four times; Clark, Dearborn, Jefferson and Switzerland.

The first settlers in the county of whom any definite account can be given was Heathcoat Pickett, who located here in 1795, followed in 1798 and 1799 by the Cotton, Dickinson, and Gallion families.

The city of Vevay traces its beginning from a hardy group of Swiss-French settlers, seventeen in number, who migrated from the town of Vevey, Switzerland, on the north shore of Lake Geneve, in 1802. These Swiss, The Dufour, Golay, Berney, Meyland and Boralley families, formed an association to "cultivate the vine," and therefore, the first industry was that of wine-making, long an art of the Swiss. However, although production eventually reached 2000 to 3000 gallons yearly, the industry did not flourish, and was abandoned in the middle 1800's as the town became more commercially oriented. Vevay became the county seat, a trading center and a busy river port, with grains, soy beans, tobacco and livestock becoming the mainstays of the county's agriculture. A principal means of export was the steam packet and river barge, later to be replaced by faster truck transportation as a means of moving goods and farm products to and from the area.

The decade of 1810-20 was quite eventful in the history of Switzerland County, in that it witnessed the beginnings of her civil, political, educational and religious history. In 1810, John Francis Dufour was appointed the postmaster to New Switzerland (Vevay).

In 1812, the Indians were causing depredation to the settlements in the back of Switzerland and Jefferson Counties. William Henry Harrison, Governor of Indiana Territory, Ordered Capt Elisha Golay to form a company to patrol the frontier. A blockhouse was built at a place called Buchanan's Station in Jefferson County. On 3 Sept 1812, the Indians surrounded a settlement near Vienna, Indiana, and killed one man, five women, and 16 children with ruthless tomahawk. (The Pigeon Roost Massacre).

In 1813, the town of Vevay was laid out and the county of Switzerland formed. At this time, the population of the county was about 1000. In 1815, the population had increased to 1900.

The early settlers were not long in giving attention to the education of their children. As early as 1810 school was held in a log cabin where the only subject taught was French.

The pioneers did not neglect their religious life, either. from about 1814 to 1816 there was preaching frequently, although there were no organized churches. As early as 1817 a Sabbath-school was held in the court house.

Armiger Lilley BELL and Sarah BLACKFORD were married on 31 Mar 1795 in , Woodford, Kentucky.

18. James D DUFFIELD was born on 12 Dec 1796 in Chester District, South Carolina. He died on 17 Jun 1880 in Martinsburg Township, Pike, Illinois. He was buried in Oakwood South Cemetery, Martinsburg Township, Pike, Illinois. He has Ancestral File Number 1KQ9-29W. He is reference number 130. He served in the war of 1812 in New Orleans.

A peace treaty was signed at Ghent, Belgium December 24, 1814 to end the 1812 war with England and the United States. Unfortunately, at that time, it took a month to reach the United States from Europe.

Thus, the Battle of New Orleans which occurred on January 8, 1815, took place 15 days after the peace treaty had been signed. The British decided to punish the upstart Americans and capture the heartland of America by way of the Mississippi River. The British dispatched a force of 10,000 battle-hardened veterans of Wellington's Peninsular campaign of Napoleon's war, troops to the mouth of the Mississippi River in 50 vessels. Their commander was Major General Sir Edward Pakenham, a son-in-law and trusted subordinate of the Iron Duke, Wellington. Clearly the British were throwing in the cream of their army.

Major General Andrew "Old Hickory" Jackson, the American commander at New Orleans, was keenly aware of this. To stiffen the resolve of his new recruits, he mixed in with them their veteran troopers from the Indian wars. He issued firm orders for his army to stay within their barricades. Thus, there was no risky chase after the battle was won.

At Washington DC and elsewhere, rookie American troopers had hurriedly become lost, when approached by British regulars. This caused over-confidence among the British, and Pakenham expected easy victories along the Mississippi. Little did he expect "Old Hickory" and his hastily-assembled little band of Louisianians, Tennesseans, and Kentuckians to make a serious stand at New Orleans.

In fairness to the British, it must be stated that they were at a pronounced disadvantage in the battle which followed. Their highly-inaccurate Brown Bess smoothbore muskets had only half the effective range of the newly-invented, highlyaccurate Kentucky rifles with a rifling bore, which Jackson's men were using.

The Redcoats were making a frontal assault through a swamp against some of the world's best marksmen, entrenched behind breastworks. Everything seemed to go wrong from the start for Pakenham. The swamp mud was almost impassable. At night, the cat-eyed frontiersmen would sneak out, Indian-style, and pick off Pakenham's sentinels and scouts. Pakenham's cannon became mired in the mud flats.

At the beginning of the charge, Pakenham's stormers forgot their scaling ladders and had to break ranks and return for them. As it turned out, the only use ever made of those ladders was as a bier for the dead British soldiers, buried in mass graves under a flag of truce.

The close-ordered advancing ranks of the British army, with their splendid redcoated uniforms, were a sight to behold, but "Old Hickory's" men were undaunted. Their ebullent spirit is reflected in the following verse from an old song. It concerns the breastworks of earth, logs, and cotton bales they had hastily thrown up behind and left abandoned:

"Behind it stood our little force, none wished it to be greater: for ev'ry man was half a horse, and half an alligator."

In the battle which followed, one-third of Pakenham's assault force fell in a matter of minutes. One on the dead was Pakenham himself. A few members of a Scottish Highlander regiment, actually, did reach those cotton bales and climb up top, but only to die there.

The last words many of the Redcoats ever heard were boasts from Jackson's jubilant frontiersmen, loudly proclaiming themselves to be "HALF-HOSS AND HALF-ALLIGATOR."-------- James D DUFFIELD and Katharine WORLEY were married on 27 Oct 1818 in Knoxville, Knox, Tennessee.

He took the Oath of Allegiance in Elizabeth Town on Feb 19, 1665, and became one of the Associates. He received a home lot of six acres of land lying partly on Elizabeth River and other parcels of upland and meadows until his holdings amounted to two hundred and two acres. HUSBAND NOTES: Henry Oscar Bell

General:
His wife—Mary Helen Collier Bell wrote the following about Henry in 1978

Henry was born and raised on a farm in Miami County, Indiana. He made his money selling Vegetables and Furs. He didn't get along very well with his family. In the first grade, he was whipped almost everyday by his teacher, Miss Fern Pancake. He quit school in the eighth grade and went to live with his brother, Jonathan, in Fort Wayne, Indiana. He worked as a gas attendant for a while. Later, he came back to Peru and worked on various farms as a laborer. In the summer of 1928, Henry received employment at the Peru Ice plant, which was seasonal. When the Plant changed to coal, he worked there all the year round until he retired forty-four years later.

We Married in 1932.

Henry went on welfare because he was unemployed during the winter after the ice plant had closed for the summer months. We were on welfare until 1937. During this time period, he worked with the W.P.A. which helped gravel some of the roads in and around Miami County. Also during this period and in his spare time, he would fish in the rivers about Peru. He often fed his family with fresh fish and turtles he caught.

When the Ice Plant went into the furnace and heating business, they sent him to various schools in different parts of the country to be a Heating and Refrigeration Technician.

His first car was wrecked driving home from Fort Wayne and he did not buy another one until 1965. This period between cars was filled by a service truck furnished to him by the Ice & Coal Company, in which he had permission to use for personal use.

Henry loved the outdoors and knew how to live off the land. Many times he would get off work early to pick-up his family and load them in the service truck and go looking for wild grown berries and stuff in season. He taught his children to identify and pick Raspberries, Strawberries, Dewberries, Blackberries, Mushrooms, Greens, Wild Onions, Garlic, Paw paws, Walnuts, Hickory nuts, Butter nuts, and Sassafrass. He seemed to have no fear in the woods and never lost his directions. He would chase a snake, hold it by the tail and snap its head off. Then he would hang it on the fence until sundown-superstitiously saying they are still dangerous headless until after sundown. He approached animals without fear. He was able to rub poison ivy and poison oak on himself without effect. But his family would catch the poison at home off his clothing.

Henry ruled his family with a firm hand. He taught his children to earn an honest living. His children paid him room and board when they were able to work and earn their own money. He drilled his children to be honest and fair.

When all his children had left home and got married, Henry started gardening flowers. He loved all varieties of Roses. He later converted his flower garden to a vegetable garden in which he canned all his vegetables.

In 1972, Henry was stricken with arthritis in the arms, legs, hands, and shoulders. This developed into Rehumatoid Arthritis which caused him to retire in 1974. Henry suffered greatly until he died of heart failure.

General: Her Story written 1978

"We lived above Thoennes Grocery Store on East Main Street. Barely remember being at Niagara Falls when I was five (5): In New York when Armistice was signed.

Started school when I was six. Always liked school. Rode street car when weather was bad. Oft went to Kokomo on the Interurban to see Aunt Elsie Cox. Liked to read. Always had my nose in a book. In summers there wasn't much we could do then: no TV; Little radio. Dad did teach us to swim. He'd take us over to the river (Wabash) and teach me and my sisters and some of the neighbor kids. He often took us on picnics. Dad worked as a fireman on the Railroad and later became an engineer. We use to put old blankets out in the yard to sit on and sew, read, and play with our dolls. Mom taught me to piece a quilt. After I married Henry, His Mother taught me to quilt. I'd say, I had a rather Quilting childhood.

Joined the Girl Scouts when I was 12 and stayed in until I was Married. Also took piano lessons until then. Couldn't memorize anything though. Just couldn't seem to get the hang of it. When I went to Jr High and High School, I walked four miles a day. twice too and twice home—it was exactly one mile from home to school. It didn't seem to hurt me. Did not get to go to dances and games, folks were a little strict then. Went to Sunday school every Sunday. Never did learn to dance—sure would have liked too. Never made friends very easily—too backwards. Oh yes, went to Camp every summer while a Girl Scout. Worked on school paper in High School—Liked that.

Got married when I graduated to Henry Oscar Bell in Wabash Indiana. Aunt Ellen taught me to crochet before Virginia was born in 1936. I fell off the chair behind Henry's Mom's room stove and grabbed my stomach. Virginia had a brown spot on her stomach. I don't know if she still has it or not. Married life was kind of hectic at times—I had eight kids and all were born at home. Still quilt and crochet.

Dad built us a playhouse in the back yard and swing. It seemed all the kids in the neighborhood congregated in our back-yard—as it seemed to do when you kids were growing up.

Times were hard for Henry and I in 1932—depression. We had no electricity then. Washed on a wash-board and had coal-oil (kerosene) lamps. Not much furniture. Times didn't pick-up until after Virginia was born. Henry worked only in summer at Ice Plant. We were on Welfare during winter. Henry worked on the WPA. Helped farmers for food and loads of wood. For instance—once Henry brought home a cow's head and broke it into pieces to boil. We had to cook without grease. I often wonder what kids would do today under these circumstances.
Family Group Sheet

My Mother helped what she could but Dad was down on us because I married Henry. He never once came into my house. I think he tried to makeup for it when the kids came along. He’d take the kids and buy them ice-cream and take them to stay for several days in their home. At the end, he did ask Henry to do things for him. So it ended O.K.

After 1937, things started to get better. We had electricity. Henry got me an old electric washer—which burned-up washing blankets. Then he got me a more modern one. We had enough to eat and I had books to read and kids to care for. Vivian was born 1938. I learned to crochet and quilt. So I've had a busy life-worrisome but good. Thinking it over, I don't think I had it as bad as some. At least Henry never stepped out on me. He might have got drunk, but he never mistreated me.

Oh, yes, back to girlhood, Dad often took us girls to Santa Fe to see Grandpa & Grandma Collier. My sister,Virginia, and I often stayed out there for weeks at a time. We also stayed in Detroit for a couple of weeks. Aunt Osie took us into Canada for a shopping trip. We also stayed at times with Aunt Rose & Uncle Orlie in Detroit. Every summer for years Dad & Mom would take us to Mountain, Wisconsin where they had bought a cabin on Stur lake. Talk about being back to nature. It was not all cleared of animals. Bears often could be seen from the cabin door, snakes hanging from the trees and sunning them selves on the door step. The last time I was up there was in 1935—the boys were 1 & 2 years old. I got homesick and Mom had to send us home. Henry met us at Logansport—boy—things sure looked good then. That's a terrible feeling.

That fall, we moved to the country. One month of that was enough, was glad to move back to town. We lived in a number of places. When Henry and I were married, we had a furnished apartment at 133 East third street. Then after Charles was born, we moved to 177 East Canal street. Moved next into a RR box car on Kelly Avenue where Thomas was born: Then to the country: Then back to town to 210 East Canal. After Virginia was born, we moved to 131 East Eight Street next to the Ice Plant—Vivian & Barbara was born. We started in 1941 buying our present house -207 West Eight Street. Lived here since— Rachel, Harriet and Melissa was born. Sure has been a lot of changes since.

Aunt Else Cox ,(my Mother's Sister), moved onto our property with her first trailer in 1949. She purchased a modern one in 1956

Virginia left home in 1951 to live at Norma's. Charles quit school and joined the navy in 1951 and later joined the Army.

Can remember when we had outside plumbing, Infact, my folks never had a bathroom inside until after 1932. We all had to have inside plumbing -City Law.

My parents first car was in 1919 and it was a Maxwell.

No one had furnaces until after 1936 and Henry installed most of them. I use to always have to get up back when I was going to school and build the fires and haul wood and coal. I did that even after I was married.— Until the kids got old enough to help.

Henry made me ovens and remodeled the house in 1948 the year Melissa was born."

General:
My Mother helped me in the early years in 1978.

I was born in a little house on 177 East Canal Street early Saturday Morning, on the hottest day of the year. My birth made the Peru Daily Tribune the same day on page two, at the end of the fourth column. I lived in Peru, Indiana for 17 years. When I was six months old, I caught bronchial pneumonia, which was almost fatal, while living on Kelly Avenue in a converted railroad box car. Then at the age of four, I had convulsions while living at 210 East Canal Street. Our family then moved to 133 East 8th Street and a month later, I and my brother Charles caught Scarlet Fever. The family who owned the house previously had the sickness. Then in 1941, the family moved to 207 West 8th Street. The final move.

At the age of 12, I carried newspapers in the mornings and later in the evenings. And peddled the Sunday papers. In My Senior Year in High School, I delivered the morning paper, the Sunday papers, and worked in the print shop owned by Bill Miller on 5th Street after school. I was in the High School Print Shop Class for three years, I learned all the steps in printing and ended up as a press operator for the school paper. This got me hired as a pressman in the Sentinel Printing Company after school and worked there after my Graduation from High School.

My accomplishments during his High School years: Three year letterman in Cross-Country running; One year Wrestling; Three years at Track. School clubs: Hi-Y two years, State Hi-Y Conference two years, C-21 club two years, P-Club and Rodeo one year. I was a member of DeMolay.

I was a Boy Scout and made the rank of Eagle Scout. Thanks to two great Scoutmasters, David H Gysin-a wounded WW-II veteran, and Jack Hayworth-Peru Fireman. I was also an Explorer Scout: A member of the Order of the Arrow: Was a camp counselor at a boy scout camp one summer. The Business Men of Peru sponsored a few scouts to go to the Boy Scouts Jamboree in 1950 and I was able to go to the Valley Forge Jamboree in Pennsylvania. Also this same year during Scout week in February, I was selected to be the Mayor of Peru on Saturday as a part of Peru's annual observance of national Boy Scout week-February 4-10. Out of 300 active scouts in the County, 21 were selected to hold City and County Offices. The following year, I was elected to be the Chief of Police of Miami County.

I had a dog named Sport, who was with me constantly. Such as, when I went to school, Sport would follow me and wait for me until school was out. He was always there waiting. The only trick Sport learned was jumping into the basket on the bicycle and ride in a sitting position as I peddled the bike. Sport was with me for about eight years when the police took him away because he was accused of attracting a lady.

I played hooky from school once, which turned out to be a time I will never forget. Since I loved swimming, I went to a gravel pit to swim. While I was playing on a sandbar, my right foot slid under a sheet of metal and was cut above the ankle. I received six stitches and lost some summer swimming time.

After graduating from High School and quitting my job at the Sentinel Printing Company in late Summer, I ventured to Seattle, Washington, in hopes of attending the University of Washington and Major in Forestry. But this was at the time of the Korean Conflict, and the schools were not allowed to give deferrals. I was counceled to join the service and return with the GI bill to pay for my College Education.

I returned home and joined the Army July 6, 1953. I took training as a Helicopter Mechanic at the Air Force Base at San Marchus, Texas. I was then transferred to over seas to Augsburg, Germany in March 1954, via a troop ship. I was trained in Frankfurt, Germany to be a Link Trainer Operator and Mechanic by two Great German ex-pilots. After two years in Germany, I returned to the States, via a troop ship, and was stationed at Fort Ord, California. When I left Germany, it was the coldest month of the year and that day was 25 degrees below zero. I received an Honorable Discharge on July 5, 1956.

In the fall of 1956, I entered Purdue University on the GI bill, The Army changed my mind about the out-of-doors living. After my freshman year, Engineering was not his choice. I quit Purdue after 3 semesters. I took a home study course paid by the GI bill as an Airline Agent and received employment as an Agent with Lake Central Airlines of Indianapolis and stationed at Cincinnati airport. After two years, He was promoted to Lead Agent.

In 1963, I quit the Airlines and worked as a bookkeeper for Cincinnati Belting and Transmission Company. I liked the bookkeeping duties, therefore, I went to night school for five years at the Miller Draughan college in Cincinnati and receive a diploma in General Administration and Higher Accounting. After fourteen years at this Belting company, It was sold and I was let go. In 1977, I started my own Accounting and Bookkeeping service,- thanks to a lot of older Accountants in the business that would not hire me ,But did helped me to get started in the business. I am still active in the business.

With the help and support of these older and experienced Accountants, I joined many Accounting Trade Associations. I was elected President of the Kentucky Association of Accountants(A State organization) for the year 1983-1984, The Northern Kentucky Chapter President for the year 1984-1985. I took a two day test with Internal Revenue Service and became an Enrolled Agent- (Enrolled to Practice Before The Internal Revenue Service.)

I got married to a local Peru, Indiana girl on November 15, 1959, and have two boys borned in Kentucky-Mark Andrew Bell ,18 September 1960, and David Lee Bell, 30 June1965. I was divorced June 15, 1987.

I had a business client who repaired aircraft instrument at Lunken Airport. Being an aircraft mechanic in the Army, I was wondering through the hangers and talking to the mechanics which were also pilots. Will Black asked if I ever thought of getting a pilots license. He told me for $40 an hour he would get me ready to pass the FAA pilots written test and FAA's Flight test. I did get my private pilots license by flying his Cherokee 140 and Clermonts Airport's Apache 180. I than joined the Civil Air Patrol and they schooled me how to grid search and seek and many other valuable things.

Because the Civil Air Patrol is a unit of the United States Air Force,and its activity is strictly Volunteer, The State of Kentucky make me a Kentucky Colonel on 25th July 1990.

I am a Baptised member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. I hold the Melchizedek Priesthood with the office of High Priest.

I owned my own Ceramics Business called -Greeney Ceramics in Ortonville,Minnesota-started 1976 and closed after 8 years.
Retired from Nursing and became Self-employed as a Beauty Consultant for MaryKay Cosmetics for 20 years.

When I was in my youth and the year was 1945, I attended Girl Scout Camp and after three days, I had poison ivy so bad that the Camp Counselor had to drive me home. My summer was miserable. Dr. Barnett said he had never seen such a bad case of ivy. He tried every current remedy but to no avail. Therefore, he resorted to an old Indian remedy—cook Oatmeal without salt, stain it, then paste it on the rash. It worked but it took very long time—that was my miserable summer. I still get rashes of unknown origin. I have to be very careful of new products, therefore, I rinse my clothes several times before I wear them.

Being human, we all make mistakes from time to time, despite our best intentions. We're basically good, but sometimes our behavior isn't. Because of my Father's and my Maternal Grandfather's behavior, I, at the age of 15, (1951), went to live with my Great Aunt's family (Carl & Norma Christner) until I moved to Muncie, Indiana for College.

Hobby: enjoy Crocheting and many other crafts.

General:
Virginia Helen Bell Starkey writes:
Harriet started school at the age of six in Kindergarten at Central Grade School in Peru, Miami, Indiana. She loved kids—the more the merrier. She was very fond of animals—dogs and horses, and she owned both. Do not remember the horse's name, but her dog was named Bengi. Where you saw Harriet, Benji was near by.

Harriet graduated from Peru High School in 1963. She went to Modeling school in Chicago for a while. She purchased a car while in Chicago and called it -Sammy.

Harriet did not like Modeling and returned to Peru. She worked at an Elevater in Kokomo, Howard, Indiana, for a while, than decided to go and live with her sister, Virginia, in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

She rented her own apartment soon after she received employment with Central Data Company.

On 23 February 1969, she was found dead from Carbon Monoxide in her car. She was vacuuming her car with the machine plugged into her cigarette lighter, the car running and her garage door closed. It was cold and she was getting ready for her date.

CHILD NOTES: Albert Henton BELL
General: Never Married

CHILD NOTES: Henry Oscar BELL
General:
His wife-Mary Helen Collier Bell wrote the following about Henry in 1978

Henry was born and raised on a farm in Miami County, Indiana. He made his money selling Vegetables and Furs. He didn't get along very well with his family. In the first grade, he was whipped almost everyday by his teacher, Miss Fern Pancake. He quit school in the eighth grade and went to live with his brother, Jonathan, in Fort Wayne, Indiana. He worked as a gas attendant for a while. Later, he came back to Peru and worked on various farms as a laborer. In the summer of 1928, Henry received employment at the Peru Ice plant, which was seasonal. When the Plant changed to coal, he worked there all the year round until he retired forty-four years later.

We Married in 1932.

Henry went on welfare because he was unemployed during the winter after the ice plant had closed for the summer months. We were on welfare until 1937. During this time period, he worked with the W.P.A. which helped gravel some of the roads in and around Miami County. Also during this period and in his spare time, he would fish in the rivers about Peru. He often fed his family with fresh fish and turtles-he caught.

When the Ice Plant went into the furnace and heating business, they sent him to various schools in different parts of the country to be a Heating and Refrigeration Technician.

His first car was wrecked driving home from Fort Wayne and he did not buy another one until 1965. This period between cars was filled by a service truck furnished to him by the Ice & Coal Company, in which he had permission to use for personal use.

Henry loved the outdoors and knew how to live off the land. Many times he would get off work early to pick-up his family and load them in the service truck and go looking for wild grown berries and stuff in season. He taught his children to identify and pick Raspberries, Strawberries, Dewberries, Blackberries, Mushrooms, Greens, Wild Onions, Garlic, Paw paws, Walnuts, Hickorynuts, Butternuts, and Sassafrass. He seemed to have no fear in the woods and never lost his directions. He would chase a snake, hold it by the tail and snap its head off. Then he would hang it on the fence until sundown-superstitiously saying they are still dangerous headless until after sundown. He approached animals without fear. He was able to rub poison ivy and poison oak on himself without effect. But his family would catch the poison at home off his clothing.

Henry ruled his family with a firm hand. He taught his children to earn an honest living. His children paid him room and board when they were able to work and earn their own money. He drilled his children to be honest and fair.

When all his children had left home and got married, Henry started gardening flowers. He loved all varieties of Roses. He later converted his flower garden to a vegetable garden in which he canned all his vegetables.

In 1972, Henry was stricken with arthritis in the arms, legs, hands, and shoulders. This developed into Rehumatoid Arthritis which caused him to retire in 1974. Henry suffered greatly until he died of heart failure.

HUSBAND NOTES: Armiger Lilley BELL

General:
Woodford County, Kentucky Tax List -1790, James Bell: 1791-Armiger,James,John Bell: 1792-Elizabeth (Widow of Robert Bell of Logan County taxed on 2000 acres on Graves Creek), John Bell: 1794-Armiger,Elizabeth,John Bell: 1795-Elizabeth,James,John,Samuel Bell: 1796-Elizabeth, Joseph Bell: 1797-Elizabeth Bell.

Shelby County, Kentucky Taxes Armiger Bell for 358-1/2 acres of land on the Ohio River in Mason County, Kentucky, originally owned by John Bell and Richard Fox for the years-1792-93-94-95. In 1796 was taxed on 716-1/2 acres in Mason County tax and on 520 Acres on the Gassen Creek And Buck Creek in Shelby County originally owned by James Patton, Benjamin Pope and Mark Thomas.

Kentucky Gazette Vol XIX, No 1002, Thursday, 21 November 1805--Armiger living in Switzerland in Indiana Territory about 7 miles above the Mouth of the Kentucky River on the Ohio River, Regarding a Mare stolen by Archibald Taber--was stolen October 3rd.

Armiger moved to the Northwest Territory about 1800-1805 and settled in a place where he stayed and the county lines changed four times; Clark, Dearborn, Jefferson and Switzerland.

The first settlers in the county of whom any definite account can be given was Heathcoat Pickett, who located here in 1795, followed in 1798 and 1799 by the Cotton, Dickinson, and Gullion families.

The city of Vevay traces its beginning from a hardy group of Swiss-French settlers, seventeen in number, who migrated from the town of Vevey, Switzerland, on the north shore of Lake Geneve, in 1802. These Swiss, The Dufour, Golay, Benney, Meyland and Boralley families, formed an association to "cultivate the vine," and therefore, the first industry was that of wine-making, long an art of the Swiss. However, although production eventually reached 2000 to 3000 gallons yearly, the industry did not flourish, and was abandoned in the middle 1800's as the town became more commercially oriented. Vevay became the county seat, a trading center and a busy river port, with grains, soy beans, tobacco and livestock becoming the mainstays of the county's agriculture. A principal means of export was the steam packet and river barge, later to be replaced by faster truck transportation as a means of moving goods and farm products to and from the area.

The decade of 1810-20 was quite eventful in the history of Switzerland County, in that it witnessed the beginnings of her civil, political, educational and religious history.. In 1810, John Francis Dufour was appointed the postmaster to New Switzerland (Vevay).

In 1812, the Indians were causing depredation to the settlements in the back of Switzerland and Jefferson Counties. William Henry Harrison, Governor of Indiana Territory, Ordered Capt Elisha Golay to form a company to patrol the frontier. A blockhouse was built at a place called Buchanan's Station in Jefferson County. On 3 Sept 1812, the Indians surrounded a settlement near Vienna, Indiana, and killed one man, five women, and 16 children with ruthless tomahawk. (The Pigeon Roost Massacre).

In 1813, the town of Vevay was laid out and the county of Switzerland formed. At this time, the population of the county was about 1000. In 1815, the population had increased to 1900.

The early settlers were not long in giving attention to the education of their children. As early as 1810 school was held in a log cabin where the only subject taught was French.

The pioneers did not neglect their religious life, either. from about 1814 to 1816 there was preaching frequently, although there were no organized churches . As early as 1817 a Sabbath-school was held in the court house.

HUSBAND NOTES: James D DUFFIELD

General:
He served in the war of 1812 in New Orleans

A peace treaty was signed at Ghent, Belgium December 24, 1814 to end the 1812 war with England and the United States. Unfortunately, at that time, it took a message about a month to reach the United States from Europe.

Thus, the Battle of New Orleans which occurred on January 8, 1815, took place 15 days after the peace treaty had been sign.

The British decided to punish him upstart Americans and capture heartland America by way of the Mississippi River. The British dispatched a force of 10,000, battle-hardened, veterans of Wellingtons Peninsular campaign of Napoleon's war, troops to the mouth of the Mississippi River in 50 vessels. Their commander was Major General Sir Edward Pakenham, A son-in-law and trusted subordinate of the Iron Duke, Wellington. Clearly the British were throwing in the cream of their army.

Major General Andrew "Old Hickory" Jackson, the American commander at New Orleans, was keenly aware of this. To stiffen the resolve of his new recruits, he mixed in with them his veteran troop from the Indian wars. He issued firm orders for his army to stay within their barricades. Thus, there was no risky chase after the battle was won.

At Washington DC and elsewhere, rookie American trooper had hurriedly become lost, when approached by British regulars. This caused over-confidence among the British, and Pakenham expected easy victories along the Mississippi. Little did he expect "Old Hickory" and his hastily-assembled little band of Louisianians, Tennesseans, and Kentuckians to make a serious stand at New Orleans.

In fairness to the British, it must be stated that they were at a pronounced disadvantage in the battle which followed. Their highly-inaccurate Brown Bess smoothbore muskets had only half the effective range of the newly-invented, highly accurate Kentucky rifles with a rifling bore, which Jackson's men were using.

The Redcoats were making a frontal assault through a swamp against some the world's best marksmen, entrenched behind breastworks. Everything seemed to go wrong from the start for Pakenham. The swamp mud was almost impassable. At night, the cat-eyed frontiersmen would sneak out, Indian-style, and pick off Pakenham's sentinels and scouts. Pakenham's cannon became mired in the mud flats.

At the beginning of the charge, Pakenham's stormers forgot their scaling ladders and had to break ranks and return for them—As it turned out, the only use ever made of those ladders was as a bier for the dead British soldiers, buried in mass graves under a flag of truce—.

The close-ordered advancing ranks of the British army, with their splendid redcoated uniforms, were a sight to behold, but "Old Hickory's" men were undaunted. Their ebullent spirit is reflected in the following verse from an old song. It concerns the breastworks of earth, logs, and cotton bales they had hastily thrown up behind and old abandoned canal:

"Behind it stood our little force, none wished it to be greater: for ev'ry man was half a horse, and half an alligator"

In the battle which followed, one-third of Pakenham's assault force fell in a matter of minutes. One on the dead was Pakenham himself. A few members of a Scottish Highlander regiment, actually, did reach those cotton bales and climb up on top, but only to die there.

The last words many of the Redcoats ever heard were boasts from Jackson's jubilant frontiersmen, loudly proclaiming themselves to be "HALF-HOSS AND HALF-ALLIGATOR".

Children

1. Dorothy Mariann COLLIER
   - Birth: 16 Mar 1925 [Peru, Miami, Indiana]
   - Spouse: Robert W GASAWAY ( - )
   - Marriage: 15 Mar 1944 [Peru, Miami, Indiana]
"We lived above Thoennes Grocery Store on East Main Street. Barely remembering being at Niagara Falls when I was five (5): In New York when Armistice was signed.

Started school when I was six. Always liked school. Rode street car when weather was bad. Often traveled to Kokomo on the Interurban to see Aunt Elsie Cox. Liked to read. Always had my nose in a book. In summers there wasn't much we could do then: no TV: Little radio. Dad did teach us to swim, He'd take us over to the river (Wabash) and teach me and my sisters and some of the neighbor kids. He often took us on picnics. Dad worked as a fireman on the Railroad and later became an engineer. We use to put old blankets out in the yard to sit on and sew, read, and play with our dolls. Mom taught me to piece a quilt. After I married Henry, His Mother taught me to quilt. I'd say, I had a rather Quilting childhood.

Joined the Girl Scouts when I was 12 and stayed in until I was Married. Also took piano lessons until then. Couldn't memorize anything though. Just couldn't seem to get the hang of it. When I went to Jr High and High School, I walked four miles a day. twice too and twice home-it was exactly one mile from home to school. It didn't seem to hurt me. Did not get to go to dances and games, folks were a little strict then. Went to Sunday school every Sunday. Never did learn to dance- sure would have liked too. Never made friends very easily-too backwards. Oh yes, went to Camp every summer while a Girl Scouts. Worked on school paper in High School—liked that.

Got married when I graduated to Henry Oscar Bell in Wabash Indiana. Aunt Ellen taught me to crochet before Virginia was born in 1936. I fell off the chair behind Henry's Mom's room stove and grabbed my stomach. Virginia had a brown spot on her stomach. I don't know if she still has it or not. Married life was kind of hectic at times-I had eight kids and all were born at home. Still quilt and crochet.

Dad built us a playhouse in the back yard and swing. It seemed all the kids in the neighborhood congregated in our back-yard—as it seemed to do when you kids were growing up.

Times were hard for Henry and I in 1922-depression. We had no electricity then. Washed on a wash-board and had coal-oil (kerosene) lamps. Not much furniture. Times didn't pick-up until after Virginia was borned. Henry worked only in summer at Ice Plant. We were on Welfare during winter. Henry worked on the WPA. Helped farmers for food and loads of wood. For instance—one Henry brought home a cow's head and broke it into pieces to boil. We had to cook without grease. I often wonder what kids would do today under these circumstances.

My Mother helped what she could but Dad was down on us because I married Henry. He never once came into my house. I think he tried to makeup for it when the kids came along. He'd take the kids and buy them ice-cream and take them to stay for several days in their home. At the end, he did ask Henry to do things for him. So it ended O.K.

After 1937, things started to get better. We had electricity. Henry got me an old electric washer—which burned-up washing blankets. Then he got me a more modern one. We had enough to eat and I had books to read and kids to care for. Vivian was born 1938. I learned to crochet and quilt. So I've had a busy life-worrisome but good. Thinking it over, I don't think I had it as bad as some. At least Henry never stepped out on me. He might have got drunk, but he never mistreated me.

Oh, yes, back to girlhood, Dad often took us girls to Santa Fe to see Grandpa & Grandma Collier. My sister, Virginia, and I often stayed out there for weeks at a time. We also stayed in Detroit for a couple of weeks. Aunt Osie took us into Canada for a shopping trip. We also stayed at times with Aunt Rose & Uncle Orlie in Detroit. Every summer for years Dad & Mom would take us to Mountain, Wisconsin where they had bought a cabin on Star lake. Talk about being back to nature. It was not all cleared of animals. Bears often could be seen from the cabin door, snakes hanging from the trees and sunning themselves on the door step. The last time I was up there was in 1935-the boys were 1 & 2 years old. I got homesick and Mom had to send us home. Henry met us at Logansport-boy—things sure looked good then. That's a terrible feeling.

That fall, we moved to the country. One month of that was enough, was glad to move back to town. We lived in a number of places. When Henry and I were married, we had a furnished appartement at 133 East third street. Then after Charles was born, we moved to 177 East Canal Street. Moved next into a RR box car on Kelly Avenue where Thomas was born: Then to the country: Then back to town to 210 East Canal. After Virginia was born, we moved to 131 East Eight Street next to the Ice Plant- Vivian & Barbara was born. We started in 1941 buying our present house -207 West Eighth Street. Lived here since-- Rachel, Harriet and Melissa was born. Sure has been a lot of changes since.

Aunt Else Cox (my Mother's Sister), moved onto our property with her first trailer in 1949. She purchased a modern one in 1956

Virginia left home in 1951 to live at Norma's. Charles quit school and joined the navy in 1951 and later joined the Army.

Can remember when we had outside plumbing, In fact, my folks never had a bathroom inside until after 1932. We all had to have inside plumbing -City Law.

My parents first car was in 1919 and it was a Maxwell.

No one had furnaces until after 1936 and Henry installed most of them. I use to always have to get up back when I was going to school and build the fires and haul wood and coal. I did that even after I was married.- Until the kids got old enough to help.

Henry made me ovens and remodeled the house in 1948 the year Melissa was born."
