THE CLAY FAMILY QUARTERLY

Volume 2 Number 3

July 1967

THE EDITOR'S NOTES

The twenty-four pages of this issue make it the largest issue yet published. There are, however, too many blank spaces (sorry about that), but your editor can only publish the data available. The long lists of individuals without dates, name of spouse and issue can make boring reading, but if they offer a clue to a forebears identity they will have served their purpose. If you have data on any of the individuals listed please send it to the editor for inclusion in the Clay Family Register.

As requested, we are supplying the following information on the purchase of copies of "Genealogy of Joseph Peck and Some Related Families". The book is available from the author, George Braden Roberts, 2853 Ontario Road, NW, Apt. 522, Washington, D. C. 20009, price $10.00. The editor's copy has been placed in the Houston Public Library.

Again we are indebted to Robert Young Clay, our most prolific contributor of data, for information on the book "Adventures of Purse and Person", much of the Virginia marriages data and information regarding the Thomas Hart Clay Bible. Such cooperation is sincerely appreciated by the editor and will be appreciated by future generations of Clays.

The cemetery records furnished by Mrs Mantel Clay are among the most difficult to obtain. We appreciate her efforts and take this opportunity to again ask that you furnish any such records you presently have or can obtain.

As we have written to several of you, it is the editor's fondest hope that one day The Clay Family Quarterly will be the most complete source book available on all of the branches of the Clay family. This would be an impossible goal without the assistance of the members of the association and their willingness to share their Clay data.

Writing about the family of Henry Clay, the statesman, editor Calvin Colton wrote, "The descendants of the original Virginia stock, numerous and widely dispersed, many of which still reside in Virginia and Kentucky, have branched so extensively that their common origin is scarcely recognized among themselves." "The Works of Henry Clay" G. P. Putnam, New York 1904. Colonel James Edmond Saunders, himself a Clay descendant, writing about the Clay family in his "Early Settlers of Alabama" wrote the following in 1899: "--- people who are poor and have no pride in the past or hope in the future seldom keep their family records carefully." We would only question his use of the word poor in this connection and would rephrase the statement --people, rich or poor, who have no pride ---. Perhaps, together we can correct both statements.
CLAY FAMILY GENEALOGY

"Genealogy of Joseph Peck and Some Related Families" by George Braden Roberts, privately printed, 1955, Washington, D. C.

A copy of this book, previously mentioned in volume 1 number 1, has been acquired from the author, who has given permission to use material in this publication.

Much of the Clay family lineage as presented in this work has been taken from previously reviewed books. References, in parenthesis, are to previous issues of the quarterly.

This history contains a sketch on Mitchell Clay 6-20 and his family, including a narration of an Indian attack, in which two of the children, Bartley 7-24 and Tabitha 7-26, were massacred and a third child Ezekiel 7-25 was captured to be later burned at the stake. Mitchell's fourteen children are listed as above (in the Peck genealogy).

"Adventures of Purse and Person- Virginia 1607-1625" Edited by Lash Jester in collaboration with Martha Woodroof Hiden 1956 Princeton University Press

The sketch on Clay, p. 135-138, gives the lineage as follows, pointing out the variance from Mary Rogers Clay's genealogy (v. 1, p. 17) as being due to later revealed data. The data proving descent of Charles 3-4 is the best we have seen.
