The Descendants of William O. McCoy and Elizabeth Oldham
INTRODUCTION

Definition: A derivation of the name Magee, from the Irish Mag Aoidh or Mag Aodha, meaning son of Aodh (an old word for fire). MacKay is a Scottish version of this surname.

Alternate Surname Spellings: MacCoy MacCooey, McCooey, MecCoy, McKey, McKay, MacKay.

The Surname (McCoy) has its origins in Ireland, primarily the Ulster region.

The McCoy Coat of Arms is a Blue with a silver chevron, on which there are two daggers pointing at a buck's head, all between three silver bears' heads. The family motto: "Manu forti," means "With a strong hand".

The McCoy's trace their origin back to Scotland. The family was first found in Sutherland (on the east coast of Scotland), where they were seated from very ancient times, some say well before the Norman Conquest and the arrival of Duke William at Hastings in 1066 A.D. Their origin there is possibly Lowland, but they had intermarried with the Highland Celtic strain, giving some a slight olive complexion and some dark or auburn hair. They were in general tall, lithe, and handsome. They had a great deal of family pride and clannishness. The McCoy's were in Scotland until around 1700 A.D. at which time they migrated to Ireland. In the early 1700s, the McCoy's started to migrate to America, which was a British Colony.

The earliest known ancestor was a Jacobite in Ireland named John McCoy, whom was (according to some sources) the son of Alexander McCoy and Francis Katherine Sutherland, born in 1690, in Sutherland Shire, Scotland. The Jacobites were loyal supporters of the Stuart King, James II. It is believed that John migrated to Belfast, County Antrim, Ireland, after a failed rebellion in 1715, which was to return King James II to the English throne. John worked as a mercenary for English Lord Berresford (as did his brother).

John married a woman with the last name of Martin. The family then migrated to America, traveling from Belfast, Antrim County, Ireland, to America in 1732. John's brothers, James and Daniel, may have come from Ireland with him.
In 1737, he received a land grant in Charles County, Maryland, which was a 150-acre tract. (Located today outside of Funkstown, Washington County, Maryland.)

John purchased another 50-acre plot in Prince George's County, Maryland, on 11/09/1742 that he named "Neglect" (with 129 more acres in Queen Anne County, on 12/01/1748), and on 08/17/1747, he purchased 54 acres in Charles County, Maryland, which was referred to as "Slatford's Roost Extension."

It is thought the family name was originally spelled McKey and they migrated to Virginia from Pennsylvania, by way of Maryland or New Jersey sometime in the early 1700's, as did many McCoy families. Many McCoy, McKay, MacKay's were Quaker's and moved from Pennsylvania to the Front Royal area in Virginia.

The earliest known Mackay ancestor, Robert Mackay Sr., was a Quaker pioneer who lived in Freehold, Monmouth County, New Jersey and later moved to the Frederick/Warren County Virginia area. Much of his family went there as well. A house which was built by his son Robert Mackay Jr. is still standing in the village of Cedarville, Virginia. A sign has been erected along Rt. 522 South telling about the house.

Many genealogist say William O. McCoy was the great-great-grandson of this Robert (Robert; Moses; Richard; George; William O.), however, there has been no proof that Moses had a son Richard, and no George has been found that could have been the father of William O.

Most of the above information came from the book "The MacKeys (variously spelled) and allied Families", by Beatrice MacKey Doughtie.

After many hours of research the parents of William O. McCoy has not been found. The following is what I was able to prove regarding William O. McCoy and Elizabeth Oldham.

Notes for Elizabeth Oldham

West Virginia records for Pocahontas County indicates that she was 73 years old at the time of her death, 18 Oct 1873. Her death was reported by her son John.

There is a will on file in the Bath County, Virginia Court dated 20 September 1797 by William Oldham. This will names a daughter Elizabeth. If this William Oldham is Elizabeth's father then her age is older than 73. It reads as follows:

In the name of God Amen. I William Oldham of Bath County revoking all other, appoint this my last will and testament. I give and bequeath my loving wife, Jean, all my lands and moveable's. After her decease the land to be divided between my son William, Thorns, Joseph & David. The last will and testament of William Oldham Deceased was proven in Court by the Executors therein named and proved by the oath of Aaron Ewing and Ordered to be Recorded.

Several people who descend from this William Oldham state that these two Elizabeth Oldham's are different people. They suggest that the younger Elizabeth is a daughter of a brother to this William. No proof as to her parents has been found.

Have copy of "Register of Marriages". Have photo of headstone and of house he built on the road between the Locust Creek covered bridge and Beard Post Office. He built and operated several "grist mills" in the Locust Creek and Beard area being paid with the product that was processed. He also farmed, and sold a piece of land he owned that later became part of the Droop Mountain Battlefield. Sometime after 1952 he moved in with his son Sidney and his wife Lora. Later, after he had a stroke Sid took him to Charleston and he lived with his son Charlie and his wife Mable. He was a big person and Mable could not lift him. She had a man that lived nearby to help her with him and paid him 1 pack of "Camel" cigarettes.

Notes for Mary Jane Kyle
On the 1910 Census it states she is 55 years old. If true she would have been born about 1855/56. Marriage record states that she was 27 at time of marriage (28 Dec 1882), which would indicate she was born about 1855. Death record in Pocahontas County Court house states she was age 69 years 9 months 26 days, which would place her date of birth 24 Oct 1852. Death Certificate gives date of birth as 24 Oct 1852 and date of death as 19 Aug 1922. Cause of death was "chronic diarrhea" with "probably malignant intestinal affection". A contributory cause was "influenza in Feb 1922".

He associated with FARMERS INSURANCE and opened his own agency in September of that year, where he remains until his retirement in 2003. He and his wife moved to Cape Cod in 2003.

Chuck enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserves on his 17th birthday in South Charleston, West Virginia. He was a Jr. in high school. During the summer of 1956 he went to boot camp, was returned to reserve status and finished high school. The following August of 1957 he joined the regular Marine Corps, and after additional training went to Oppama, Japan for 1 1/2 years. From the Charleston Daily Gazette, June 1956.
SOUTH CHARLESTON WAS NEVER LIKE THIS
Marine Reservists in Summer Training
By MSGT. C M. AKEY
PARRIS ISLANDS, S. C., Jun. 20, 1956
"South Charleston was never like this."

Marine Reserve Privates Charles W. Carden, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Carden, 4520 Kanawha Ave., South Charleston, and William J. Clark, son of Mrs. Goldie Clark, Route 6, Charleston, expressed the sentiments of 41 young Leathernecks, all members of the Marine Corps Reserve 4th Engineer Company.

The South Charleston Reserve Unit Marines arrived here at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot last week to undergo 10 weeks recruit training.

Each man requested assignment to recruit training under a program which allows them to return to the 4th Engineers upon completion of training.

According to Carden and Clark, the next 10 weeks will be busy ones if they are anything like the past week. Following a strict schedule, the men have been given physical examinations, a traditional Marine "Boot" haircut, drawn utility uniforms, rifles, equipment and been introduced to their drill instructors.

Carden, a clerk at Leonard's Drug Store in South Charleston and Clark, who works as a clerk for Sears and Roebuck in Charleston, both commented on their haircuts. It's a tossup as to which man would frighten the most customers.

Like the rest of the 4th Engineer Reserves, Cardin and Clark have found this is a real change from attending drills once a week. The men are on the go from dawn to dusk.

During the next 10 weeks they will receive instructions in military drill, parades and ceremonies, manual of arms, guard duty, personal hygiene, first aid and defense against chemical and atomic attack.

Three weeks will be spent on the rifle range where they will fire the M-1 rifle for qualification. In addition, each man will fire the .45 caliber pistol, 22 rifle and 22 pistol.

The Mountaineer State Reserve will bivouac at Elliot's Beach where they will participate in maneuvers intended to teach them how to live in the field.

The final two weeks training will be a review of instruction received in earlier training.

Their last day of training will be graduation day. At these exercises, awards will be made to the outstanding.
man and the high-shooter of the platoon. Men demonstrating Outstanding qualities at leadership during recruit training will, be promoted to private first class.
The next day, a hardened, sharp looking group of Marines from the 4th Engineer Company will board buses for the return to South Charleston and their jobs in civilian life.
