By

JAMES WADE EMISON, JR.

Vincennes, Indiana
1954
This is a typical saga of the sturdy, God fearing "county families" who made America. Their inheritance was the "nobility" of character.

"The Emison Families, Revised" is the second and final edition. It is intended as a consolidated source record of at least 5 separate and distinct Emison families, who came from Ireland to America and among whom no known relationship has been identified. This and other facts would tend to negate the too common assumption that the name was derived from EMERSON. In fact some evidence might indicate derivation from EDMONDSTON or E(D)MIS(T)ON, if indeed the name has been changed to any degree. See "Origin of Name" herein.

The writer is primarily concerned with the specific family and other antecedants of HUGH EMISON(1744-1825) and his brother, ASH EMISON(1758-1824) who came from Ireland to America in 1761-62. He continues to offer any part or all of the previous REWARD of $250 (£100) for such authentic information or records. Although he has expended many years of time, efforts and funds, through competent genealogists and record searchers in Ireland and Scotland, he has been unable to identify any pertinent records on this family, possibly due to their destruction by fire and time.

Since publication of the preliminary edition of "THE EMISON FAMILIES" 1947, the author has found a number of material errors and inaccuracies, in certain collateral family information compiled by others. Due to the pressure of time and circumstances, this data was included in the book, without the opportunity of his personal verification from the original source records, as in every other instance. Some of this erroneous material was derived from early family legends and hearsay. But it was subsequently revised through exhaustive search of pertinent records. These legends may have been accurate, under the circumstance, time and place related. But they were altered in repetition by later generations who had no knowledge of the original circumstances. Secondly, there were some compilers, acting in the capacity of genealogists and historians of some repute in their communities, whose errors were not entirely "unintentional," and which errors could have been avoided by a comprehensive search of available records. However, in this latter category, a professional searcher is too often restricted by inadequate funds, and thus be forced into the position of portraying as actual facts, his personal conjecture as to what really occurred, under the particular circumstances, at that time and place. Even though the author has endeavored to acquire a comprehensive historical background on each community concerned, he has tried to present all available records, along with his interpretations.

The foregoing is one of the predominating reasons why the final edition of THIS BOOK IS BEING PUBLISHED, with the request that all copies of the preliminary edition of 1947 be returned.

* As noted above, the material in this book has been taken from the original legal records, family Bible records, parish registers and letters. Except where they are specifically quoted as such, the additional references to other publications, under "SOURCES" are intended as complimentary corroboration, for those interested.

Future inquiries, corrections and additions are welcomed.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

PART I
According to Peter H. Emerson, in his "English Emersons" (Lib. of Cong. CS439E6), the present name of Emerson was derived from the original Norse "Haimrick" composed of the two words "Haim" meaning castle, home or dwelling; and "Rik" meaning ruler or realm. The 2 words together had no definite meaning. Other forms of Haimrick were: Haimric, Haimrico, Haimricus, Hamric and Hemy, Emerson or Emerson. It is believed the present day English Emersons were descended from Aimeric, Archdeacon of Durham (1106-1214). The name was often misspelled Emirson and Emerson. In fact, in the early records it was spelled indifferently Emerson, or in a few instances, in the contracted form of Emson or Emison. This carelessly contracted form of Emson or Emison resulted in an entirely distinct and different name. Emson, Emson, Emmen, Emson, Emson, Emson and Emson were derived from Emme or Emma, according to that author.

NOTE by J.W. Emison: Particular consideration should be given the noted Scottish family of Edmondstono, with its variations - Edmon(d)s(on), Edminson, Edson(s), Edmis(t)on or the ultimate contraction of Emison. "Sir James Edmonston held important offices under James VI of Scotland" (crowned James 1st of England, 1603. (See "Edmonson-Edmondston Family" v.1 #2 p.47; in "Register" of Ky. Hist. Soc; also "Kentuckians in Ralls Co. Mo." v.14 #2).

Hugh Edmonson was on Tax List of W. Nottingham Twp. Chester Co. Pa., 1737, where the identified ASH (AMISTON) Emison, was listed in 1773-74. Many other members of this family were in this immediate area, and across the Maryland line.

Assumed by his son, EDWARD, who petitioned for time extension to repay debts. (Regarding legend that the EMSONS were "Thanes" who came down from Scotland with James 1st, it is known that the King granted many knighthoods and higher patents of nobility, during his "progress from Scotland to London" in 1603. But few names of such were mentioned in State Papers. Regarding the legend that the Emisons were banished to northern Ireland because of a duel, James 1st issued a proclamation forbidding dueling. But only a few of the duelists punished, were noted. See Calendar of State Papers, 1608-25; Library of Congress).

1770 MARGARET EMISON, m-James Hanna, 7/5/1770
"The transplantation of Ulster" by the Scotch and English Puritans, was a migration contemporary with those to Virginia and to Massachusetts.

King James 1st, had difficulties with some of the Irish nobility in the north of Ireland. In anticipation of the contemplated measures to suppress these large landholders, they fled the country. Their lands were confiscated, and turned over to the highest bidders of standing, who were Scotch and English managers or "under-takers." They, in turn, were to provide settlers for the lands, of which estates, most were sub-divided into small farms.

This transplantation was started in 1610, into the 6 northern counties of Ireland. And by 1620, there were between 30,000-40,000 Scotch settlers there. By 1641, there were approximately 100,000 Scotch and 20,000 English. The Scotch were predominantly Church of Scotland (Presbyterian), and the English mostly Puritans.

These thrifty farmers greatly improved and increased the productivity of the worn out farm lands. And the linen weavers began to compete too effectively with the established factories in England. Within several decades, history records their repeated and often continuous oppression - agricultural, industrial, political and religious - by various sovereigns and landowners. When the land leases began to expire, during 1710-20, the rents were almost doubled. These conditions started the great migrations to America, in 1715, which eventually reached the high point during 1771 to 1773.

The settling records of newspapers in Ireland revealed approximately 150,000 in the 1770's. Benjamin Franklin estimated the population of Pennsylvania in 1774 at 350,000, of which a third were Scotch-Irish Presbyterians, and a lesser number, English Puritans.

Reverting to the history of Ireland, before the transplantation of Ulster, the records show a number of invasions by the Norse and Danes. The city of Dublin received its name from the settlers being the "dark" Danes, as compared to the fair haired Norse. The invasions were confined mostly to the principal cities of Dublin and Cork, and also some of the smaller eastern coastal towns. Later, some of their descendants were instrumental in subsequent conquests of Ireland, by the descendants of the Angles, Saxons, Norse, Danes and Normans, in England. Some of the original invaders eventually married into Irish families, accepting their Church, along with their way of life. Also there were a number of Anglo Catholics remaining there after Henry VIII. Yet less than three score years after the settlement of Ulster, some momentous events occurred in the turbulent history of Ireland, which had a profound effect on Dublin, Cork and the smaller communities of south Ireland.

After defeating the adherents of the Stuarts in Scotland, and certain factions in England, Cromwell turned to the re-subjugation of Ireland, which culminated in the capture of Cork in 1650. Some of Cromwell's followers remained there to take a prominent part in the political, commercial and agricultural life of that community, up until after our American Revolution. Most of these men were of English extraction. But there were also many Scotch and Welsh. The Church of England was then their predominant religion.

The example of our American Revolution began to have a pronounced effect upon the Irish, in their demands for some form of "home rule," through their Parliament in Dublin. The end of our Revolution marked the decline of Protestant political ascendency in Cork. The Scotch Protestants in Ulster were migrating to America. This was also true, to a lesser degree, among the Scotch in the south of Ireland, due to increased rents, oppression by England and the clashes of personalities with the Irish of Catholic religion. In addition to these factors, the depredations of the "white boys" began in 1760. They were composed mostly of tenants, subsidized by certain Irish political and religious leaders, some holding commissions in the armed service of France, during the current Anglo-French War.
During the last fifteen years, the writer J.W. Emison, has spent many days of intensive research through the histories and records of Ireland, Scotland and England, at the Congressional Library, Washington; the Presbyterian Historical Society, and the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia; and many other sources in America. He has also enlisted the services of W.H. Welh and other eminent genealogists and archivists in Ireland, Scotland and England.

From these searches, there have been accumulated comprehensive records under the names of Emerson, Edmondstone, Empoon and other variants which might conceal the name of Emison. (See appendix). However, to date, for reasons explained in the following, no references have been specifically identified as the family of Hugh and Ash Emison.

From various legends, it may be presumed that these Kentucky Emisons came from County Cork, Ireland, and at some time prior to that, they came from Scotland, circa 1603 possibly. During the period 1603-1761, it was also possible that they lived in England, Ulster and or the Dublin area.

In this period many thousands of staunch and independent Scotch Presbyterians and English Puritans were on the move, for religious, political and economic reasons. In Ireland, it was a time of most violent upheaval, if one might use the superlative for the period, in the turbulent history of that country.

From Ireland, these determined peoples migrated to America, where they were catapulted into the role of pawns between the English, French and Indians, during the French and Indian War, ending 1763. After that, these settlers were launched into the American Revolution, in which the Indians became the subsidized and eager allies of the British. In that western frontier country of Pennsylvania and Virginia, it was the exception when most of the legal and historical records were not burned nor destroyed, through enemy design or the vicissitudes of frontier life.

Such was also the fate of records in Ireland. In 1829, the city and county records of Dublin were destroyed by fire. The records of births, baptisms, marriages, deaths and burials were kept in the various church parish registers. These records served both as legal and religious authority. However, almost a century ago, the government of Ireland required that all such records be forwarded to the national Public Records Office in Dublin. Thus transpired the ultimate disaster, in the preservation of records, when a large part of them were destroyed in the fire, during the "troubles of Easter, 1922. From a standpoint of present and future genealogical and historical information, it was fortunate that some Parishes of the Church of Ireland refused to forward their records as instructed, and other forwarded copies of them.

This recalls to mind that the early Church was the social as well as religious orbit, for all the families in the congregation, a fact of necessity, much more so then, than it is today. These families intermarried, and accompanied each other on migrations, for purposes of self protection, similarity of interests and social relaxation. It was this necessary practice which enabled the writer to trace the brothers, Hugh and Ash Emison, from the general area of their landing in Maryland, and westward to Kentucky, by searching the legal and historical or religious records in each county along their route. So it was, with the early American associates of the Emisons, extending back into Ireland.

Returning to Co. Cork, Ire., the writer has made a comprehensive search of the following publications and records: The histories of Co. Cork (including Ireland in a lesser degree) were: Smith's history (printed prior to 1762); Caulfield's history; also Brady's; Cusack's; "History of the Clerics and Parishes of County Cork" (with few specific names of church members); Corporation (Board of Aldermen) Records, of the cities of Cork, Youghal and Kinsale; Cork Historical and Archaeological Society (Vols. 1 - 4); and many other publications.

As mentioned elsewhere, the brothers, Hugh and Ash Emison, were both minors, in 1761-62, aged 17 and 8 respectively. The only specific records showing their parents would be the parish birth or baptismal records. County Cork has many dozens of parishes in its three Dioceses of Cork, Ross and Cloyne. And this would necessitate a search of each parish register in which the records had not been forwarded to Dublin, nor lost. In addition, there was the possibility that the parents of Hugh and Ash had moved to Cork, from Dublin or elsewhere in Ireland, after the births of the first or both of their sons.

The Corporation Records of City Cork, show the dates the following men were admitted as Freemen: (a) John Kingston, Apr. 16, 1743. A Capt. John Kingston was in the 1st Bnt., Westmoreland County Militia (Pennsylvania) in 1778, at the time Hugh and Ash Emison were in the 3rd Bnt. Later, Capt. Kingston accompanied the Emison brothers on Capt. William Lytle's party, from Pittsburgh, down the Ohio River (1780) as far as Limestone (Maysville) Kentucky, and then overland, as far as Kingston's new preemption, on Kingston's Fork (near his former one) at Muddle's Station. (b) William Fraser, Nov. 15, 1757. A William Fraser's pre-emption adjoined that of Ash Emison's, on the south, in Scott Co., Ky. (c) William Holmes, Alderman, and Sheriff, 1740. Jonathan Holmes (who later had a son, William, in Kentucky near the Emisons) had migrated from Ireland to Middleton Twp. (now Cumberland Co.) Pennsylvania prior to 1741. But the similarity of other names in Cork might indicate a possible connection with this Holmes family.

The Christian name of "Ash" Emison is a reasonable hypothesis that his mother or other female forebear was of an Ash or Ashe family. At this time there was a large family by that name, near Macroom, County Cork. There was also the large family of Sir Thomas Ash, (died 1832) and his wife Elizabeth (died 1639) of St. John's Abbey, County Meath. They had a son, Thomas, Jr., turning to the marriage bond records of the Dioceses of Cork, Ross and Cloyne, the following names were found. Cork and Ross: - James Barkley, 1642; Edward Cherry, 1716; Margaret Briscoe, 1722; John Archer, 1734; William Lemmon, 1716; James Lemon, 1745; John Lemon, 1746. Later, in Pennsylvania and Kentucky, all of the foregoing families were associated with the Emisons. This is particularly true of the Lemmons or Lemons, who were known to have come from Ireland, with or at the same time as Hugh and Ash.

As to religion, Hugh and Ash were identified with the larger migrations of the (Church of Scotland) Presbyterians from Scotland and northern Ireland. However, the predominant Protestant denomination in central and southern Ireland, was the Episcopal or established Church of Ireland. In County Cork, some of the Protestant families came with Cromwell; and others had lived there some generations before the settlement of Ulster, or the coming of Cromwell. Although their families were intermarried with Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists and other denominations, Hugh and Ash remained in the Episcopal faith.
EMISON FAMILY, KENTUCKY: - HUGH and ASH EMISON. According to certain flowery legends, they were descended from a family of "THAMES" who lived in Scotland, under James VI. They came to England with the King, when crowned there as James I, 1603; and changed their religion with that of the King. The Emisons were of a family who furnished many representatives in the military service of their country. Shortly after arriving in England, an Emison was involved in a duel, the latter part of which was witnessed, inadvertently, by the King. For this the family was banished to N. Ireland.

A more commonly known version of the above, relates that (Sir?) Thomas Emison was the father of the two sons, Hugh and Ash. The latter were brought to America, after Thomas' adversary, a Crown Officer, had been slain in a duel. They were supposed to have come, at that time, from Co. Cork, via the area of Castlebar, and to have landed at "Jamestown" in 1761-62 "after a long and disastrous voyage."

EMISON FAMILY, TENNESSEE: - JOHN EMISON. He was born in Ireland, circa 1802. While an orphan, aged 7, he was adopted by an aunt named McKnight. They lived in Yorkshire, England for a short time. Then she brought him to Moore Co., N.C., circa 1809. See a brief history of this family elsewhere herein, regarding his migration to eastern Tennessee in 1828; and to Crockett Co., 1832, in western Tennessee.

EMISON FAMILY, VIRGINIA: - MARGARET EMISON. She was a widow, who with her son, William, and her daughter, Margaret, came from Co. Down, N. Ireland to Loudoun Co., Va., circa 1609; and thence to Culpeper Co., Va. A possible connection is indicated, with the above orphan, John Emison. But no connection has been proven by records. See brief history of this family elsewhere herein.

EMISON FAMILY, LONG ISLAND: - JOHN EMISON. He was born Feb. 11, 1853, being the youngest of four children of William and Jane (Hamilton) Emison, who lived in Comber, Co. Down, N. Ireland. After the death of the father, the son John, and other members of this family, came to New York in the Fall of 1876. See elsewhere herein.

EMISON FAMILY, MASSACHUSETTS: - JOHN EMISON. He came from Fortlow, (Co. Waterford?) Ireland, to Haslingden, Lancashire, England. James, son of this John and Alice (Whitaker) Emison, was born Nov. 22, 1855 at Haslingden. He, with his second wife, Emma (Fletcher) Emison, and children, moved to Fall River, Mass., in 1870, where he died July 6, 1945. See data on this family elsewhere herein.

EMISON FAMILY, NEW HAMPSHIRE: - THOMAS A. EMISON. He lived in Laconia, N.H. His father, Edward J. Emison, was born, 1829, at Leinster Rd., Dublin. He published "Footprints of the Emison Family, 1172-1881." The Emisons came from Denmark to Ireland, at the time of the Danish invasions, in 1172. At that time Denmark subjected Ireland, and ruled it for five years. Four Emison brothers who were in that army, remained in the community of what is now Dublin. There were three Emison emigrations to America. First, William, Thomas, Henry and John came to Baltimore; second, three brothers came to America, intending to land at Baltimore, but they were shipwrecked, and landed further south. This is believed to have been the family which eventually settled in Kentucky. Third, there was another migration which landed at Baltimore about 1800.

NOTE, by J.W. Emison: - Although there are a number of striking coincidences in the foregoing, little of it has been verified from records available in Ireland or America, on Edw. J. Emison.
The chief ports of entry used by the Scotch from Ireland, up to and during the Revolution, were Philadelphia and Chester in Pennsylvania; Newcastle in Delaware; Baltimore and Annapolis in Maryland; and Charleston in South Carolina.

Some of these settlers moved northward from Philadelphia, into Bucks Co. And in the south, those from Charleston, migrated into northwestern North Carolina, where they joined the westward trek of the many coming down the Shenandoah Valley, bound for Tennessee and Kentucky.

However, there were more general lines of migration, with several variations. The predominant congregating area or temporary domicile, of these people, was then in Chester Co., Pa., or rather in a more general area radiating from the present conjunction of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware. See following page. From that area were the following routes of migration.

One route, in Pennsylvania, led through Lancaster, and Harris Ferry (Harrisburg) to Carlisle, an important community of the Scotch-Irish at that time. (a) Thence, through Shippensburg, over the Forbes (Pennsylvania) Road, through Bedford; Loyal Hanna (Ligonier); Hagers town (former seat of Westmoreland Co., near Greensburg); and to Pittsburg (formerly known as Ft. Duquesne, under the French, and later as Ft. Pitt, when southwestern Pennsylvania was claimed by Virginia); thence down the Ohio River. (b) From Carlisle through Shippensburg and Chambersburg in Pennsylvania; Hagerstown, Md.; Martinsburg, W.Va; and Winchester, Va; thence down the Shenandoah Valley-Wilderness Trail; through Staunton; Ft. Chiswell; and Gate City. From this area to Cumberland Gap, Ky., the pioneers were joined by the heavy migrations of Scotch-Irish, and some French Huguenots from Charleston, S.C. It was a crossroads of those bands for Tennessee; and those turning northward, through Cumberland Gap; Crab Orchard; Boonesborough; and Harrodsburg, in Kentucky.

The second route, in Pennsylvania, led to Wright's Ferry, at the Susquehanna River; through York; Gettysburg; and down into Maryland, through Hagerstown, to Cumberland. From Cumberland, Md., there were three alternate routes to the Ohio River. (a) Along the (northern end of the) Braddock Road, through Frostburg, and Grantsville, where it returned to Pennsylvania; thence through Somersfield; Farmington; Mt. Braddock; Connellsville; Mt. Pleasant; McKeesport; Braddock Field; and to Pittsburg. (b) Over the "Nemacolin" Indian Trail (approximately that of the Braddock Road, as far as Farmington); through Uniontown; to Old Redstone Fort (Brownsville) on the Monongahela River. There the "Kentucky (flat) boats" were constructed, for the trip, up to Pittsburg and thence down the Ohio River. (c) A shorter overland route was from Old Redstone Fort, westward through Washington; to Wheeling, W.Va., on the Ohio.

The third route led from lower Maryland, and Virginia, up the Potomac River valley, on to Cumberland, Md., or westward at Harper's Ferry; Charles town, W.Va; to Winchester, Va. From Winchester there were two general routes: (a) Overland to Cumberland; and by one of the abovementioned alternates, to the Ohio River. (b) Down the Shenandoah Valley-Wilderness Trail, and into the country of the Watauga, Holston and Clinch River valleys, so familiar in the time of Daniel Boone.

From the foregoing can be seen the important role played by the inland crossroads communities of Carlisle, Pa; Hagerstown, Md; and Winchester, Va. In attempting to trace the forebears of Scotch Irish families in the "western country," it will be found that a large majority of them passed through, and sometimes tarried in, one or more of these centers during their migrations westward.

Due to the importance of southwestern Pennsylvania (then also known as "the Virginia Claim") as a gateway of western migration, it is discussed in one of the following pages.
The conflicting land claims between the proprietary governments of Pennsylvania and Maryland, had a vital bearing on the colonial history of Cecil Co., Md., as a temporary domicile for many thousands of Scotch-Irish, and other early immigrants.

Prior to final mutual acceptance of the "Mason-Dixon" lines, for the western boundary of Delaware, and the southern boundary of Pennsylvania, the Penns had granted many land patents, in what is now Cecil Co., Md. Among the larger grants were the "Nottingham Settlement" (later recorded in Cecil Co., Md., Deed Bk. 16; p. 54; Feb. 11, 1783); and the "Welsh Tract."

Regarding the Nottingham Settlement, or "Nottingham Lots" Cornelius Empson and Ebenezer Empson, each took up 1000 acre lots on Jan. 7, 1701, as recorded in Land Office Bk. 3 "p. 60, at Philadelphia. Page 89 of this book reveals that the first warrant was issued to Henry Hollingsworth, for 16,000 acres on Mar. 7, 1732. Of this land, only 3000 acres or one sixth, now lies in West Nottingham Twp., Chester Co., Pa; and the balance is in the West Nottingham Dist., of Cecil Co., Md. The northeast corner of this settlement was 71/2 miles west of the present Delaware line, and slightly above the present Pennsylvania line. It extended westward some 10 miles, to the northeast corner of Octararo Creek, slightly below the Pennsylvania line. It was a rectangle, about 3 miles in depth.

This settlement contained the "East Nottingham Monthly Meeting" of Friends (Quakers) still in existence, at Calvert, Cecil Co., Md; also the "West Nottingham Preparative Meeting" established in 1719. The Friends' Church records of this area (including a certain area south and west of Philadelphia) are now lodged at the Stony Run MM or Church, 5114 Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

A short distance below the former Nottingham Settlement, is the Nottingham (Presbyterian) Church (often known as the "Lower Octararo Church") founded in 1724, at the village of "East Nottingham." This Church, still in existence, is near the Postoffice address of Colora, Cecil Co., Md. During 1711-20, the congregation of this Church divided into the "Old Side" and the "New Side." In 1724, Rev. Samuel Finley, Pastor of the "New Side" found the famous "Nottingham Academy." And later he became the first head of Princeton University. The foregoing information was obtained from pamphlets issued by the Nottingham Academy, which is still a thriving institution. Some of the early records are missing here.

The Welsh Tract was located partially within the eastern boundary of Cecil Co. In 1702, Penn granted this tract of 50,000 acres to a group of Welsh immigrants, who in 1701, had settled at Pennypack, Hadnor Twp., Chester Co., Pa. It was about 42 miles wide, including Newark, Del., within the northeast corner. It was 12 miles in depth, with the southeast corner lying just below the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

In 1702, this Welsh group (which included many members of the James families) formed their congregation, known at the "Welsh Tract Baptist Meeting" at Iron Hill, Pencader Hundred, New Castle Co., Del. The first meeting house was built in 1709; and this institution is still in existence. According to the records of this Church, published by the Historical Society of Delaware, Wilmington, 1904, many of the early Welsh settlers were associated with the Society of Friends. The principal cleavage of the Baptist Meeting existed in the latter's doctrine or ordinance of "the laying on of hands."

The Parish of the Church of England, in Cecil Co., and Harford Co., was originally part of St. James. Later they were St. George and St. John's. These records are now lodged in the Maryland Historical Society, Baltimore, Md. Many Parish Registers of Chester Co., Pa., are lodged at the "Church House" in Philadelphia.
EMISON FAMILY - KENTUCKY
PART II
Available evidence and legends indicate that James' Hugh and Ash Emerson, sons of "Sir Thomas"—of Ireland, "came to America, arriving at Jamestown, after a long and disastrous voyage." Also "Hugh was 17 when he first came to this country." This indicates the arrival during 1761-62. Of the several points of similar designation on the eastern shore of Chesapeake Bay, it is believed the "Jamestown was the (now extinct) original county seat of Cecil Co., Md., on Sassafras Creek.

To date, no conclusive evidence has been found to show it was the father, Thomas, who brought his sons to America. Probably it was the elder son, and guardian, James, after whom Hugh and Ash did name their first born sons. The first U.S. Census of Frederick Co. Va. (Tax List, 1782) reveals a "Thomas Emerson" as living some ten miles southeast of Winchester. Further records on him cannot be identified. However, there was a Thomas Edmondson or Edmonston in or near Winchester in 1783 (See Reiley Family herein) Also there were families of similar name in Chester and Cumberland County, Pa., when Hugh and Ash were there. A large part of West Nottingham Twp. Chester Co., was later included in Cecil Co. Md., after final acceptance of the Mason-Dixon Line during 1762-72. And it is presumed that the Emersons resided at or near that line, Hugh until 1771 and Ash until 1774. However, the Deeds were not recorded.

Other than the "Thomas Emerson" in Frederick Co. Va., the Thomas Emisons in Virginia, Pennsylvania and elsewhere indicated no probable relationship. The next to be considered is James.

After the arrival in 1761-62, the earliest record found concerned James "Emerson" who made application #3518 on 4/27/1767 to the Land Court in Philadelphia, for 250 (actually 185) acres along Conococheague Creek, in Hamilton Twp., several miles below Chambersburg, Pa. Previous application #1128 on 9/5/1766 for this same tract, had been made by Benjamin Gass & James Young. As this land concerned both James and Hugh, there are frequent references to it in the following pages and the appendix herein; and particularly to Adam Hoops, who after 1779, was a licensed Indian trader in Lancaster Co. "over the Susquehanna River" (Cumberland Valley). David Black's Grant of 251 acres on 10/4/1738, shows the above Benjamin Gass & James Young, also Adam Hoops and Thomas Moorehead were his "neighbors" along Conococheague. Thomas Patterson was neighbor to Samuel Moorehead's Grant of 325 acres on 8/25/1738. "Hoops Mill" was nearby on Conococheague, although not patented by Hoops until 3/11/1763. And it was there, presumably, that James, Hugh and Ash acquired their milling experience, passed on in their families.

Adam Hoops, born 1709, has not been identified directly with the line of Joshua Hoopes, of Bucks Co., and later Chester Co. Pa. In the new Cumberland Co., he was on the first Grand Jury, 7/23/1750; Coroner, 10/1750; and Commissary in the French and Indian War, 1755. Evidently about this time, Hoops moved his family up to Carlisle for safety from the increasing Indian atrocities, mentioned in his letter to the Governor, 11/3/1755, after Braddock's defeat at Pittsburg, 7/9/1755 (Pa Arch. S.1. V.9; p.156) He commanded the 2nd Bn., Col John Armstrong's Regt., 1756; Appointed Justice of the Peace, 1764; and had acquired at least seven plantations along Conococheague Creek. In 1765, he bought 200 acres along LeTort's Spring, just above Carlisle, where he then lived and had a store. Later, among his properties in Philadelphia, were "a house; range of stores; and a wharf, on the north side of Market St. extending from that of Joseph Donaldson to the Delaware River, the stores consisting of three on the ground floor; two on the floor above; and a "sail loft over the whole." (See Ad in "Pa. Gazette")

Returning to James Emerson, he may have been still in the area of Conococheague on 10/22/1767, when a letter for him was listed among those uncalled for, in Philadelphia. However, in 1767-68, James (including his wife) was the first leader of a class of seven, in "the Religious Society of Protestants, Commonly known as...
Methodists" or St George's Society, held in a "sail loft. On 6/20/1768, appeared the advertisement of James Emerson "At the Sign of the Sugar Loaf, in Market St., near the wharf (in or near the above stores of Adam Hoops) who for several years transacted the shrub--business---in the Metropolis of Ireland---" ("Pa. Gazette")

On 9/11/1770, James Emerson was a Trustee of the newly bought St George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

However, prior to 5/16/1769, when he was appointed Justice of the Peace in Bucks Co. Pa., Adam Hoops had retired to his home at "Summerseat" near the Trenton Ferry on the Delaware. There, James Emerson witnessed Hoop's Will on 6/7/1771, under which his wife Mary Emerson received a legacy of £100, and James received payment of £67 from the Estate. James Emerson "of Bucks Co." acknowledged receipt of his wife's legacy on 7/8/1771. And his signature seems the same as the member and Trustee of St George's Church. (Phila. Courthouse; Will Bk. P; p.110; 7/9/1771; Fkt#79/1771)

Adam Hoops' Estate reached a total of £4,079/12/2, including mills, stores, houses and plantations along the Conococheague; at Carlisle; Philadelphia; Summerseat on the Delaware; Paquess, NJ; and elsewhere. He died 6/30/1771, age 62, at Summerseat. His wife Elizabeth (Pinney) died 7/19/1782, age 62 at Philadelphia, where both were buried at the First Presbyterian Church. Their daughter Jane, married 4/21/1758, in Lancaster Co. Pa., Thomas Clarke. The latter's nephew, Thomas Clarke, came from County Sligo, Ireland, and was the heir of his uncle, who became wealthy in New Orleans.

James Emerson evidently crossed the Delaware to Trenton. He was on the Tax List of Trenton Twp., Hunterdon Co. N.J., Septmbr, 1779; also the Tax List of 1786, at Trenton, including John Emerson, presumably his son. Apparently it was also a son, James Emerson, who married 2/20/1788, Nancy Reed; and 8/22/1811, Rachel Metler, both in Hunterdon Co. N.J. And lastly, James Emerson, late of Trenton, died in Philadelphia on 12/1/1826, age 65 years. No further records can be identified in this area.

There was a James "Emison" who was granted 400 acres in Nelson Co. Ky., on Severn and Carright Creeks on 11/10/1767. But he assigned his warrant, and no further records can be found.

The foregoing postulates two difficult conclusions: (a) If or when the name might have been changed from Emerson, Edmiston, Emerson or some of their variants, to that of Emison. (b) The specific residence of these brothers, after landing in Maryland, to 1773-74.

The name might have been changed, possibly when leaving Ireland, when the father, Thomas, was supposed to have "slain his adversary in a duel." But elsewhere herein will be noted at least 5 separate Emison families who migrated from Ireland to America, beginning in 1761-62. Thus one arrives at the conjecture that James may have assured the more common spelling of "Emerson" which some descendants have adopted, from the occasional "hearsay" that the name was originally Emerson.

Regarding the residence of Hugh and Ash, possibly they were with James, at Hoops Mill or in the Conococheague area during 1762 to 1767; in Philadelphia with James, up to 1771, when he moved to Bucks Co. Hugh changed his residence from Chester Co. to Cumberland Co., in the Deeds of April 7th and 8th, 1773, covering the land below Chambersburg. But he had married Mary Baird at Falling Spring, near Chambersburg in 1771. The Tax Lists of West Nottingham Twp., Chester Co., show Ash Emison with 80 acres in 1773, and 100 acres in 1774. Ash, born 1753, was not 21 until 1774, and the land probably belonged to Hugh. As the Deeds were not recorded, no records can be found.

About June 1775, both Hugh and Ash moved westward to Westmoreland Co. Pa., which is discussed in later pages.

W.S.D.

NOTE by J.W. EMISON: This application for Survey and Patent was made to the Land Court, then in Philadelphia, but it was found that the above Gass & Young had made application some 6 months before that, and who claimed they had "an improvement on it 11 years before that." Possibly this referred to (JAMES) "YOUNG'S MILL" on CONOCOCHEAGUE CREEK, as shown in early maps. After consulting the above plat, an offset will be noticed on the creek, near the point the eastern boundary line meets the creek. See subsequent history of this land in connection with HUGH EMISON (B2).

NOTE BY J.W.E.: Although James Young made prior claim to the above 185 acres of land, evidently he did not consider the claim a strong one. The foregoing and following deeds indicate he considered his ownership as that of a half interest or joint owner with Hugh Emison.

James Moore, brother of David Moore, witnessed both transactions. And that is a possible reason why the Moores did not repay their "kinsman" Hugh Emison, for his half interest in the land as promptly as they should have.
This Indenture made this eighth day of April In the year of our Lord One thousand seven hundred & seventy three between HUGH EMISON of Hamilton Township in Cumberland County & Province of Penn-sya. of the one part and David Moore of the same place of the other part, Witnesseth, that the said HUGH EMISON for and in consideration of the sum of one hundred pounds lawful money of Pennya. to him in hand paid by the said David Moore at or before the en-sealing hereof the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged hath granted bargained sold released & confirmed and by these presents doth grant bargain sell release and confirm unto the said David Moore his heirs and assigns a certain Plantation or tract of land situate in the Township County & Province abovementioned adjoining the land of James Moore, Leonard Stam & Samuel Moorehead bounded and described as follows - that is to say Beginning at a white oak from thence south twelve degrees east two hundred & eight perches east one hundred & thirty three perches & one half to a white oak North fifteen perches to another post north sixty perches east fourteen perches to a Hickory North thirty four west (two) one hundred & seventy two perches to a white oak south eighty west one hundred & ten perches to the place of beginning, containing one hundred and eighty five acres & one hundred and thirty (five) three perches and the allowance of six acres pr. cent for roads & highways etc. which said tract of land was granted to James Young by the Honour-able the Propriari of the said Province by a Location & an order of Survey dated September 5th, one thousand seven hundred & sixty six No. 1128 and conveyed by said James Young to the abovementioned HUGH EMISON, together with all and singular the buildings improvements woodways ways waters watercourses - Liberties easements privileges profits commodities advantages hereditaments & appurtenances whatsoever thereunto belonging or in any wise appurtening whatsoever thereunto belonging and all the estate right title interest property claim & demand whatsoever of him the said HUGH EMISON of in and to the same or any part thereof to have and to hold the said tract of land hereditaments & premises hereby granted or mentioned or intended so to be with the appurtenances unto the said David Moore his heirs & assigns forever under and subject to the proprietary purchase money & yearly quit rent due or to become due for the same to the Chief Lord or Lords of the fee thereof. NOTES

The above would seem to indicate that the balance due, on the aforementioned 185 acres of land several miles south of Chambersburg, Pa., was to be paid for over a period of several years, making a total sum of 120 Pounds. Apparently David and James Moore paid one half (60 Pounds) at the time of purchase April 8, 1773.
And of the remaining half (60 Pounds) they agreed to pay 30 Pounds on Nov.1,1774, and the balance of 30 Pounds, possibly a year and a half later.

David and James Moore probably defaulted in the payment of 30 Pounds on Nov.1,1774 because they were in Westmoreland Co. Pa.

HUGH and ASH EMISON moved to Westmoreland Co. about July 1775.
David Moore married a cousin of Hugh's wife, MARY (BAIRD) EM-ISON. And this transaction may have been adjusted later, in Westmoreland Co. Pa., or Kentucky.

- William Barr: Case 45; October Term 1777.
- William Baird: Case 25; April Term 1775
About the month of June 1775, Hugh and Ash Emison left the area of Falling Spring (Chambersburg, Pa.) and moved westward to Westmoreland Co., Pa. The actual locality there, probably, was about 5 to 10 miles south of Greensburg, near the line between Hopewell and Mt. Pleasant Towns. There, Hugh Emison's brothers-in-law, James and Thomas Baird, had been assessed on some 900 acres prior to 1772. And presumably the Emisons lived in or near this area until they moved to Kentucky in 1780.

In this westward migration of the Emison and Baird families, it is understood that Mary (Douglas) Baird, widow of Thomas, Sr., accompanied the families of her children, in this group. See BAIRD FAMILY elsewhere herein. Members of the Holmes and McClure families were said to have accompanied the Emisons from Westmoreland Co., Pa., to Kentucky in 1780. But it is not known whether they were in the group which came from Cumberland Co., Pa., to Westmoreland Co., Pa., in 1775. Members of all three of these families were then or later, intermarried with the Emisons.

Westmoreland County was then a very troubled frontier country, as will be noted in the following pages concerning it, and the "Virginia Claim." In addition to this, the British encouraged Indian atrocities, through rewards and bounties on "scalps" after the Revolution had started.

However, these pioneers were looking forward constantly toward new lands beyond the frontiers. Like many others, Hugh and Ash Emison had decided to look for new lands in the "Kentucky Country." At this time Hugh was 31 years of age, married, and had two children, James, age 2, and Mary, age 3 months. Ash, his younger brother, was 22 years old and unmarried. So it was decided that Ash should make the trip, with Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry and other young adventurers in the county, who were going to explore for choice lands in Kentucky.

The Ohio Company had been formed some time before, with large grants of land in the present states of Kentucky and Ohio. Captain Hancock Lee had been appointed by the College of William and Mary, as surveyor for the Ohio Company. And he arrived, in the Kentucky River at the mouth of Elkhorn Creek about June 1, 1775. Within several weeks he had proceeded farther upstream, and started the settlement of Leestown, two miles from the present state Capitol at Frankfort. Capt. Lee was accompanied by a large group of young adventurers and surveyors, making land pre-emptions for themselves and their friends. Young George Rogers Clarke had been appointed as an assistant surveyor to Capt. Lee. And on July 6, 1775 he wrote his brother, Jonathan, from Leestown, concerning the urgency and desirability of obtaining large tracts of this excellent land for members of the family. According to his diary, contained in the "Clarke Papers, 1771-81," he was back in Winchester, Va., on Feb. 26, 1776, enthusiastically preparing for another trip to Kentucky at the earliest opportunity.

Collins' "History of Kentucky" V.1; p.18 reveals, "in October 1775, Robert Patterson (a neighbor of the Emisons in Cumberland Co., Pa.) and six other young men, with John McClellan and family, left Pennsylvania for Kentucky in canoes. At Salt Lick Creek, in what is now Lewis Co., Ky., Patterson and three men started into the interior---. They thence proceeded across the Licking and several branches of the Elkhorn to Leestown." In V.2; p.608, of Collins' History, it continues, "Certain it is, that in November (1775) John McClellan (with his family) David Perry and three others of them, together with Col. Robert Patterson, William McConnell, and Stephen Lowry, came from the neighborhood of Pittsburgh to this spring (now Georgetown), built a house, and made it their home until April 1776."

Among others in this area of Leestown -McClelland's Fort (Georgetown) at this time, from Pennsylvania, were William, Isaac and Cyrus McCracken; Abraham, Charles and Aquila Whitaker; Francis McConnell; and Charles LeCompte.
In an affidavit of April 29, 1799 (shown elsewhere herein) Ash Emison stated: "In the Spring of 1776, perhaps in February he was first acquainted with Dry Run," near McClelland's Fort. But Ash Emison, Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry, John Andrew Miller, William Miller, also Abraham, Moses and Aquila Whitaker first came westward to Leestown, with or about the same time as Robert Patterson, in October 1775. Through the winter "they stayed a considerable part of the time in Harrodsburg," and returned to Leestown in the Spring of 1776. The year 1775 is borne out by the affidavit of Wm. Lytle, subscribed to by William McConnell, James McConnell, James January, William Steel and Levi Todd. This affidavit was certified by Ash Emison himself. (See it elsewhere herein).

At Lexington, Ky., Complete Record Ex. "A" of Fayette Co. Dist. Court, and also "Land Trials, 1797-1802," reveal elsewhere herein, the affidavits of Ash Emison, Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry, John Andrew Miller and Aquila Whitaker. These men left Leestown about the latter part of March, and returned to Dry Run, north of McClelland's Fort in 1776, where Stephen Archer and the others (with the exception of Whitaker) helped Ash Emison to make "improvements" for land pre-emptions, including one for Hugh Emison. Toward the latter part of April most of the men in this neighborhood returned to Leestown, upon the advice of William McConnell, that Willis Lee had been killed by the Indians.

Chief Fluggy and 50 of his Indians attacked McClelland's Fort on Dec. 29, 1776. And it was finally abandoned in the early part of 1777, until 1786.

Contemporary with the activities of these men at Leestown in 1775, Capt. John Hinkston (Hingston) of Westmoreland Co. Pa., and 18 other pioneers were building a station, to the northeast, on the south fork of the Licking River. In 1779 it was resettled by Isaac Riddle. For further details, see in the following pages, the narrative concerning the migration to Kentucky in 1780.

Returning to the adventures of Ash Emison, he had made a 1000 acre pre-emption for himself, several miles north of McClelland's Fort, and another for his brother, Hugh, a mile southeast of his own. Consequently he returned to Westmoreland Co. Pa., in May or June of 1776.

To Major McJarrough, 3rd Battalion, Westmoreland Co. Militia, October 9, 1778:
(C) Sir: As we are well acquainted with your situation and the great barrier you are to our Fronteers. We do hereby order and empower you to put that part of your Battalion that is on the north side of the Pennsylvania Road under pay and rations such as shall well and truly attend the lawful commands of their superior officers, given under our hands this 1st day of Aug. 1778. (Sgd) Christopher Hay
William Cochran
For the purpose of a more enlightening record on Hugh and Ash Enison, during 1775-80, unfortunately they were in Westmoreland Co., Pa., at a period when all the 'elements' seem to conspire against it. Although the 1st and 2nd Battalions of Westmoreland Co., Militia were often mentioned in Pennsylvania records, this is less true of the 3rd and 4th Battalions.

In the 3rd Battalion, Col. James Smith, was a noted Indian scout. Later he went to Kentucky, as did Abraham Whittaker, David Vance, Matthew Caldwell, William McConnell, James Leach and others. During 1777, in the 2nd Battalion were Capt. Samuel Morhead and Lt. James Moore, shown in previous pages, as owning land adjacent to that of Hugh Enison, near Chambersburg, Pa. (Pa. Arch; S. 6; V. 2)

Old maps in the Congressional Library, Washington, D.C., present an interesting study of the early landowners in Westmoreland Co., during 1775-1857. James and Thomas Baird were on the tax lists, 1771-72, of Hempfield Twp., "Westmoreland Co. But the above-mentioned maps show the "Bairds" as living some 5 to 6 miles eastward, in Mt. Pleasant Twp., now the southern part of Unity Twp. In the central area of present Mt. Pleasant Twp., were the "Holmes," several farms belonging to members of the Lemon families; also the "Millers," "Vaness" and "Steels." The "Cherrys" were located at the southern boundary, on Jacob's Creek, at Laureldale.

According to Ellis' "History of Fayette Co., Pa." (then part of Westmoreland) he mentions several Cherrys in Bullskin Twp., and Andrew Lynn in Washington Twp. Also Mrs. M.A.H. McClymaine, historian, at Washington, Pa., and formerly of Greene Co., Pa., advised that John "ammeter, John Bell, David Vance, George Gray and David Lindsey were found in the early records of that county.

In the 1st Btn., Westmoreland Co., Militia, Capt. John Hinkston's Company included William, John and Joseph Lemon; George and John Finlay; John McMillan; and Hugh Gibbs, a brother-in-law of Hugh Enison. In the following narrative of William Lytle, Jr., it will be noted that his father reached the Monongahela River in the winter of 1779. There, he and two other families, (primarily the families of Hugh and Ash Enison) built three large Kentucky Arks. Possibly this may have been at "Old Redstone Fort" (now Brownsville) but more likely at a point further north towards Pittsburg.

Albert's "History of Westmoreland Co., Pa." and "Old Westmoreland" by J.B. Rowe, indicate the reasons for the lack of early records in the present Courthouse at Greensburg:- "We look in vain for the records and dates of most interest next to the original ones." (County organized Feb. 20, 1773); the time covering the Revolution; the burning of the county seat, Harnisstown, July 13, 1782, by the Indians; and the removal of the records to Greensburg in 1787. Thus ended the first county seat, of 39 log houses, a wooden Court House and jail. These records, hidden from time to time, after the term of the original Clerk and Prothonotary, were poorly kept, by loose methods, scanty though they were, some of them were lost, purloined and destroyed. During the Revolution, Capt. Ruffhage, the Clerk, considered the records as his personal property, and took them out of the county, when joining the Continental troops. He returned them only after Gen. Washington had been petitioned.

Lastly, there were the Pennsylvania boundary controversies with Virginia and Maryland, which were not settled until the latter 1780's, after final acceptance of the Mason-Dixon Line, and the western boundary. Prior to this time, 'Westmoreland Co. attempted little jurisdiction west of the Youghioheny River, and none west of the Monongahela. Frequently, Pennsylvania and Virginia, also Pennsylvania and Maryland, levied taxes on the same disputed lands, and harrassed the county officers of 'ash other.

J.V. Enison, the compiler herein, has spent many hours searching available early records covering this area. However, the exact residence of Hugh and Ash Enison during 1775-80 remains a conjecture. See the "Virginia Claim" on following page.
In southwestern Pennsylvania, Pittsburg, at the head of the Ohio River, and "old Redstone Fort" (now Brownsville) on the Monongahela River; also Morgantown, and Wheeling, in West Virginia, constituted the principal gateway area of western migration, during and after the Revolution.

For the future information of record searchers, this article is intended as a glossary of source references, and a brief history of this area.

Passing hurriedly over the earlier history of Pittsburg, which included its occupancy by the French as Ft. Duquesne; the French defeat of Gen. Braddock, whose forces also included the young officer, George Washington, and his Virginia troops; and the capture of Ft. Pitt, by Gen. Forbes in 1759, we arrive at the year 1773.

To assert their claim to what is now southwestern Pennsylvania, the government of the Penns set up this area as the new county of Westmoreland, from part of Bedford Co., on Feb. 26, 1773.

The Virginians were not long in making their counter moves. George Washington first met Dr. John Connolly, nephew of Col. Crogan, at Semple's tavern at Ft. Pitt, in 1770. Accordingly in 1773, Lord Dunmore, Governor of Virginia, proceeded to Ft. Dunmore (Pt. Pitt) where he conferred with Dr. Connolly. And on Jan. 1, 1774 he appointed Connolly as "Captain-Commandant of Militia at Ft. Dunmore, and its Dependencies."

To Virginias, Pittsburg, and what is now southwestern Pennsylvania, west of Laurel Ridge, constituted the northern end of the "West Augusta District" of Augusta Co., Va. On Mar. 15, 1774, Order Bk. 15, p. 302, of the Augusta Co. Court, reveals that John Connolly was qualified as one of the Justices on the "New Commission of the Peace," and that Philip Riley was appointed constable (at Ft. Dunmore) on the same date. (See Relley family elsewhere herein).

Soon thereafter, in the latter part of March or early April, (Gen.) Arthur St. Clair, Frothonotary of Westmoreland Co., Pa., caused Dr. Connolly to be arrested and jailed at Hannastown, the county seat. After a few days, Connolly induced the Sheriff there to parole him, on condition he would return for trial. At the appointed time, Connolly returned to Hannastown, at the head of his Virginia Militia composing 150-180 troops. And the court there "took no action." The next day, on April 9, 1774, three of the Westmoreland Co. Court Justices returned to their homes at Pittsburg, where they were arrested by Connolly, and sent to the Augusta Co. Court, at Staunton, Va., for trial. Here they were not by Lord Dunmore, who warned them that Connolly had "imitated" their own actions, after which they were released.

On Dec. 12, 1774, Dunmore issued a "Writ, adjourning the Augusta Co. Court to Ft. Dunmore, "as a New Commission of the Peace, with other likely adherents to the Virginia Cause." And there the first Court was held on Feb. 22, 1775. Occasionally the Court sat at Augustatown (at or near Washington, Va.) See "Minute Book of the Virginia Court held at Ft. Dunmore, for the District of West Augusta, 1775-76" now lodged at the "ashington County Historical Society, Washington, Va.

In June or July, 1775, "Dunmore's War" against the Indians was started. However, the Revolution was beginning, and Dunmore fled to England, as did Alexander Ross, a wealthy Virginia banker and land owner at Pittsburg. (See Relley Family).

During 1776, the "West Augusta District was divided into Youghoghenia, Ohio and Mononghalia Counties. And parts of the latter two counties still exist in northern West Virginia.

Some of these early Virginia records can be found, at Wheeling, W. Va., for Ohio Co.; and at Washington, Pa., for Youghoghenia Co. However, the Mononghalia records, at Morgantown, W. Va., were destroyed by fire. Most of the foregoing information was obtained from the records of the Virginia Courts, published by Boyd Olm- rine, 1904, in the "Annals" Vols. 1:2:3; Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg.
EMISON FAMILY - PENNSYLVANIA TO KENTUCKY, 1780

PERSONAL NARRATIVE of WILLIAM LYTLE, Jr., b-1770. See "Hist & Phil Soc of Ohio" Cincinnati; Jan-Mar., 1906; Lib. of Congress.

"Capt. Wm Lytle, Sr., commanded Ft. Hamilton, Tuscarora Valley. He was also a soldier of many years service including 3 years at Ft. Duquesne (Pittsburg). On Mar. 31, 1779, he sold his land in WEST PENNSBORO (TW) Cumberland Co., Pa., to Samuel Irwin, 100 acres for 1500 Pounds. Following are excerpts from the personal narrative of Wm Lytle, Jr., age 10, when he accompanied his father in this party.

"(Capt Wm Lytle, Sr) did not reach the Monongahela (River) until the winter was too far advanced to allow his descending the Ohio (River) until Spring. In company with 2 MEN WHO WERE BOUND WITH THEIR FAMILIES TO THE SAME POINT, he built 3 large Arks, afterwards called 'Kentucky Boats.' The winter proved uncommonly severe, and by suspending the operation of sawmills in that country procrastinated their arrangements until the First of April following. By advertisements all the adventurers in that part of the country who were bound to Kentucky, were requested to assemble on a large island in the Ohio a few miles below Pittsburg.

"So numerous was the concourse of adventurers to this point that in two days after his arrival, 63 boats were ready to sail in company. A part of these boats were occupied by families; another by young men descending the river to explore the country; and the remaining portion by the cattle belonging to the emigrants.

"The number of fighting men on board probably amounted to nearly 1000. My father (Capt Wm Lytle, Sr) had been a practiced soldier in the former Wars of the country. He was versed in Indian warfare. A number of his associates had been trained in the same way. Pilot boats headed the advance. The boats manned by the young men sustained each wing, leaving the family boats in the center, and the stock boats immediately in rear of them, and rear guard boats floating still behind them.

"We arrived without molestation at LIMESTONE, now Maysville. Capt Hinkston of our company WITH 3 or 4 OTHER FAMILIES decided to remain here. (Note by JWS: From Limestone he proceeded overland with the EMISONS and others, as far as Riddle's Station.) We tarried with them but half a day during which time a number of our company turned out to hunt.

"At 10 o'clock next morning Apr. 12, 1780, the pilot boats gave signals that enemy Indians were on the northern or 'Indian Shore' of the Ohio. The Indians were encamped where Front Street now intersects Broadway in Cincinnati. Their number did not exceed 150 whereas ours numbered nearly 500. Our party pursued them 4 or 5 miles up Mill Creek.

"We returned to our boats and floated, unmolested, down to BEARBASS (Louisville) at the Falls of Ohio. We arrived on April 15th. My Father selected a place about 5 miles back from the river. In a short time we were joined by more than 40 families. In the Spring of 1781, owing to danger of Indian attacks, he moved a hundred miles into the interior to KINCAID'S STATION near DANVILLE (Note by JWS: ASH EMISON made a land pre-emption or 'Improvement' for Capt Lytle in 1775 above his own, at Kinaid's Station, 10 mi. north of Lexington. See below, and following affidavit.) In 1784 he moved to Lexington, and raised a crop on the outlets of the present town. He had acquired 3000 acres of land a little above the Upper Blue Licks, as a bounty for military service in the French and Indian wars.

"Early in the Spring of 1785 my Father, brother and myself went out to his lands 10 miles from Lexington (Kinaid's Station?) Not long thereafter he moved his family there, and commenced clearing the land.

"(Note by JWS: Capt Lytle died Aug. 24, 1797, and his wife died May 1509, at Bardstown, Ky., where she is buried. The foregoing narrative further relates of pursuing marauding Indians up into Ohio.)"
"PETITIONS OF THE EARLY INHABITANTS OF KENTUCKY" By Robertson. See Filson Club; V.27; p.74; Petition 22:-

"The petition of WILLIAM LYTLE of Kentucky humbly sheweth, that your petitioner in the year 1775 hired a Certain ASH EMERSON to make an improvement for him in Kentucky at a Certain place called the DRY RUN, for which he made him full satisfaction as by his certificate herewith sent will appear. Also that your Petitioner came by water and landed at the Falls of the Ohio with his family in the Spring of the year 1780, a few days before the term of Court of Commissioners expired, then sitting at HERODSBURGH 70 or 80 miles distant from the Falls. Shortly after landing your Petitioners horses strayed away, and having a wife and large family of small children to provide for was compelled to stay till he could make some shelter to protect from weather, and before he could find them, to enable him to proceed to the Commissioners to lay in his claim, their powers expired and he being unacquainted with the law and reduced to such circumstances by sickness & misfortunes, as rendered him unable to apply to the General Court to make good his Claim within the time limited by law. Your Petitioner was therefore advised to apply to the County Court wherein his claim lay for redress. The Court was of the opinion his case did not come under the Description prescribed in the law for their Cognizance, whereby your petitioner is deprived of his just right & claim. Your petitioner therefore most humbly prays that you will be pleased to take his unfortunate case under your serious Consideration, and Grant him such redress by law or otherwise as you in your wisdom and judgment may think just and reasonable and your Petitioner as in duty bound will ever pray." (Sgd) WILLIAM LYTLE

"We the undersigned subscribers, Inhabitants of Fayette County in Virginia, being made Duty sensible of the truth of every circumstance your Petitioner has herein mentioned, do humbly pray your Honourable House his behalf, to grant him his petition, and your petitioners as in duty bound shall pray." (Sgd) WILLIAM M McCONNELL, JAMES McCONNELL, JAMES JANUARY, WILLIAM STEEL, LEVI TODD.

"This is to certify that I, ASH EMERSON made an improvement for the use of WILLIAM LYTLE in the year '75 in Kentucky on a run called the DRY RUN above my own improvement for which he made me full satisfaction pr me." (Sgd) ASH EMERSON

LEXINGTON DISTRICT COURT, KY: 3/ct/1799:
Deposition of (Capt) HANCOCK LEE--at the Tavern of Robert McBowen at Lexington on 2nd June 1799, before Samuel Blair and ROBERT PATTERSON. Hancock Lee deposes: "Some time in May or June 1775 as surveyor legally appointed by the College of WILLIAM and MARY (he) proceeded to make a survey for a company known by the name of the OHIO COMPANY, beginning same on the north side of NORTH ELKHORN (CREEK), and I directed Benjamin Ashby, then a deputy under me and appointed to run one of the lines of said survey--. I understand there was a chain of military surveys made on North Elkhorn in the year 1774. (Note by JWE: Young George Rogers Clarke was another of the Deputy Surveyors, who was at LEESTOWN, 2 miles north of Frankfort on the Kentucky River, on July 6, 1775).

The land I sold to (HUGH) EMISON, (JOSEPH) PATTERSON and Company interferes with McMILLEN'S pre-emption and the McNEIT claim. I conveyed this land by deed. DAVID HUNTER conducted by WILLIAM McCONNELL made an improvement on CANE RUN, and for McConnell's service Hunter said him a rifle gun. --(It) was called David Hunter's improvement from the summer of 1779 until after it was settled." the Settlement (McClelland's Fort - Georgetown) broke up, and that GEORGETOWN (was) not resettled until 1755." His brother John and gowan's Tavern, April 29,1799; "THAT IN THE SPRING of 1776 PERHAPS in FEB-RUARY, HE WAS FIRST ACQUAINTED WITH THE DRY RUN, and has known it from that time to this, and it was called by that name by all he ever heard speak of it. That the same Spring he became acquainted with MILLER'S RUN, that it acquired its name about that time from some of the company (WILLIAM and JOHN ANDREW MILLER) having impr ed on it, and that it has been uniformly called and known by that name and no other, except sometimes called, the not often, third DRY RUN, that this Deponent ever heard of to this day; that MILL-ER'S RUN is the same Run that JAMES BEATTY and OWEN OWINGS live on MILLERS RUN and its waters; that the DRY RUN empties into NORTH ELKHORN (CREEK) on the north side about half a mile above a that those two runs were notoriously called and known by the names of DRY RUN & MILLER'S RUN; and that he never heard them called by any other name to this day; that this Deponent was also well acquainted with LAIN'S (RUN) which also bore that name, and has always been called so since; that the DRY RUN empties into NORTH

p.32; Deposition of ASH EMERSON taken at above spot marked "I-1776." Being duly sworn, he deposes and says: "That about the month of MARCH 1776 THE SAID DEPONENT IN COMPANY WITH FIVE OR SIX OTHERS WERE MAKING IMPROVEMENTS IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD; that the deponent and STEPHEN ARCHER made search on the waters of DRY RUN for springs suitable to make improvements at, and found four springs which they thought would do for to make improvements at; one where the deponent now lives, one where JAMES FAULKNER now occupied and now occupied by a Mr. WILSON, one near where JESSE PAULLIN now lives and one where RICHARD APPLEGATE now lives, and one where RICHARD FERGUSON now lives. Question 1st by the Complainant. How far do you suppose the farthest of the four places you have mentioned is from this place? Answer about a mile and one fourth. Question 2nd by the same. How far do you suppose the farthest of the other three is? Answer. Rather over half a mile. Question 3rd by the same. Did you see or hear of any cabin built on this branch at that time? Answer. I did not. Question 4th by the same. Did you examine this branch for springs at that time? Answer. I do not know but we examined both above and below and examined branches smaller than this, which makes it appear likely to me we examined this one. Question 5th by the same. Did you see any cabin on DRY RUN at that time but what was built by the company that you were with? Answer. I saw one not far from the mouth of DRY RUN. Question 6th by the same. HOW LONG WERE YOU ENNEIPELED IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD in the YEAR 1776? Answer. I BELIEVE NEAR THREE WEEKS and HAD OUR CAMP AT THE PLACE WHERE I NOW LIVE, WHICH IS ABOUT HALF A MILE FROM THIS SPOT. (NOTE by J/E: See "EMERSONS STATION" ON SIS-QUI CENTENNIAL MAPS of EARLY KENTUCKY). Question by Defendant. Do you recollect which side of DRY RUN you went down from the upper improvement? Answer. To the best of my opinion we went down very near the run, but on which side I cannot say, we generally (went) up branches as they made into the run. Is there any particular circumstance that induces you to believe you examined this run for springs? Answer. There is not, other than that we made a general rule to examine the branches that made into DRY RUN. That kind of improvements did your company make? Answer. SOME TIMES FOURTEEN AND SOME TIMES TWELVE FEET SQUARE. Question by the Complainant. Do you believe that the figures and letters on the hackberry were all made at the same time? Answer. It is my opinion that "B" and part of the "W" were not made at the same time, that the other part of the "W" and the figures were. Question by the Defendant. do you not think that there has been an alteration in the two first strokes of the "W" since you first saw it? Question by the Complainant. Do you not believe that the first stroke of the "W" has been an "I"? Answer. It has that appearance to me by the dots that are in it. Question by the Complainant. Did your company make improvements on these waters in 1776 after BENJAMIN McCLELLAND had left this neighborhood Answer. According to the information BENJAMIN McCLELLAND gave in GEORGETOWN we did. And further sayeth not ASH EMERSON.
p.35: DEPOSITION of JOHN ANDREW MILLER, August 27, 1800, taken at above spot marked "I - 1776." Deposes: "In the year 1776 (he) was on DRY RUN in company with ASH EMERSON, STEPHEN ARCHER, MOSES CHERRY, WILLIAM MURER and others, and deponent helped ASH EMERSON to make improvements near the PLACE WHERE SAID EMERSON now lives, and also helped to make several other improvements on DRY RUN. WE ENCAMPED THERE FOR SOME TIME!(AT "EMERSONS STATION")

p.40: DEPOSITION of MOSES CHERRY, taken at above spot marked "I - 1776" on 27th August 1800. Deponent saith: "HE WAS IN COMPANY WITH ASH EMERSON, JOHN A. MILLER and others on DRY RUN, and at the same time ASSISTED ASH EMERSON in building a cabbin FOR HIM, SAID EMERSON, NEAR THE SPRING WHERE SAID EMERSON NOW LIVES. There were no improvements made on these waters in 1776 excepting that we made ourselves."

p.41: DEPOSITION of STEPHEN ARCHER, taken in Scott County, 27th October 1800. Deponent saith: "WE STARTED FROM LEESTOWN about the LAST OF MARCH and in company with WILLIAM MCCONNELL, came to DRY RUN, as we were informed where we were (to meet and) agreed every man should please himself in a place to build on. ASH EMISON and myself came down (the run) and found HIS SPRING, WHICH WE AGREED TO BUILD AT. We then went down the run to find improvements etc., but at mouth of said run we saw but two letters "DP! The next day we started to hunt the branches for springs to build at, then the next morning we found the first branch below the FURS of DRY RUN which we went up as far as we thought there was any chance of water, then came to the mouth of the next branch below and went up said branch some distance, where ISAAC COFFEE now lives and said deponent agreed to take that for his choice and build thereon. 'e found another spring where RICHARD APPELLE now lives which two cabins fell to said deponents choice. This was towards THE LAST of APRIL 1776 when I finished. We did not continue in or near the same place the whole time we were making improvements, as when WILLIS LEE was killed, WILLIAM MCCONNELL came out and advised us to go in (to Leestown) for some time which we did. WE MADE THE SPRING at ASH EMERSON'S OUR STATION CAMP while we improved on DRY RUN, WE WERE IN THIS ENCAMPMENT ABOUT TWO WEEKS.

p.43: DEPOSITION of ASH EMISON, taken at WILLIAM STEWART'S Improvement, 30th March 1807. "This deponent saith: that sometime in April 1795 this deponent was at the aforementioned improvements in company with NATHANIEL RANDOLPH and others, when said Randolph informed this deponent that the improvement which we are now at was made by himself and others for WILLIAM STEWART. Questioned by the defendant. Did you not see said Randolph put some letters on an oak tree near the said improvement? Answer. I believe he did. How far do you suppose it is from this improvement to the forks of the run? Answer. I do suppose it no more than 50 poles or thereabouts. Question 3rd. At the time Nathaniel Randolph put them letters on the oak tree did you discover any briars in the place—whereon the cabin stood, or any thicket of brush—? Answer. I do not recollect any briars but it was generally bushy on the run. Questioned 1st by complainant. Did you know there was a cabbin at the aforesaid improvement? Answer. Yes I have often seen it. Questioned 2nd by same. Was it not customary for briars to be about old improvements at that time? Answer. I have commonly seen it to be the case. Questioned by defendant. Was not the cabbin rotted down at the time Nathaniel Randolph put them letters on the oak? Answer. I recollect seeing part of it down by stage. Question by Complainant. Did not you understand that Nathaniel Randolph was at the aforesaid improvement before he made them letters on the oak? Answer. I did understand so by his being up at my improvement, but he did not tell me himself. And further the deponent sayeth not." (See abovementioned Land Patent map of Georgetown area; marked "E")

A point of interest on following map:

A. A blue ash tree marked "I-1776" shown by Nathaniel Randolph as the improvement of John Gabriel Jones. "Located on a small branch running into Dry Run, on the west side, a little below the main forks." It was important as the point where the depositions of Ash Emerson, Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry and others were taken on 6/21/1800 in the Case of Frazer vs Steele in Fayette Co. Cir Ct; Complete Record Bk. "A" Various distances estimated from this site. This site also used by Benjamin McClelland for the John Lowry Improvement.

B. Improvement made by Nathaniel Randolph for William Stewart. Located 80 poles east of above tree marked "I-1776." See deposition of Ash Emerson and others. Made there on 3/30/1807.

1. "Emerson's Station" noted in Sesqui-Centennial and other early maps and histories of Kentucky. This was original Improvement of Ash Emerson, near his spring. It was used as a camp in April 1776, by Ash Emerson, Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry, William and John Andrew Miller and others while making land pre-emption. The James Whitacre brothers were doing the same a short distance eastward, hence Lain's, Miller's and Cherry Runs.

2. Long Stone House, still in existence, being one of the two built by Ash Emerson for his negroes, near the site of his new brick home, after he had moved from his original improvement. His brick home was destroyed by fire about end of last century.

3. Ash Emerson's first grist and saw mills were built there on the lower forks of Dry Run, in 1797. Nine miles north of this site (on Eagle Creek, 7½ of a mile north-northwest of Sadieville) named after his daughter, Sadie (Emison) Fack(D123), Ash Emerson built his second water mill about 1812-13.

6. Improvement where Richard Applebey lived (1800).

7. Improvement where Rhodin & Isaac Coffage lived (1800).

8. Improvement of (William) McCracken's at the Cave Spring.

10. Improvement of John Lowry, 2 miles above McClelland's Fort.

11. Improvement in James Sterrett's preemption, where John Sterrett then lived (1800).

12. "Royal Spring." McClelland's Fort was on the cliff directly above this Spring, being built by John and Benjamin McClelland and others in January 1776, shortly before that of "Emison's Station." Later this site was named Lebanon, then Georgetown.

13. Hugh Emerson's Brick Home, built in 1811, and still in existence, at the site of his original log home, built in 1786. See photograph elsewhere herein.

15. Improvement of Charles Whitacre, made in 1776, "a few poles above a small fork in Miller's Run, and a short distance below a more principle fork." See above Whitacre brothers (No.1).

17. "Old Bailey Burying Ground" where Hugh and Ash Emerson, their wives, and some of their older children were buried; also the beauty, Wing, Barley and other early families. Original site of "Barkley Church." Built prior to 1800. It was authorized as a Presbyterian Church on 5/3/1829. And in 1835 it was moved to Oxford as the Providence (Presbyterian) Church.

18. Dry Run Baptist Church, founded 1804. A short distance east is Delaplain, formerly called Kingaid's Station, in northeast part of Ash Emerson's 1000 acre pre-emption. See Lytle narrative.

JAMES WASSON, Bk.D389; 400 Ac; Surveyed 12/25/1782. (Hugh Emison apparently settled with WASSON for 250 acres of his claim, supposedly in lower part of HUGH'S claim.)
The Emison brothers were friends of Capt. William Lytle in Cumberland Co. Pa. And Ash Emison had "made an improvement for the use of William Lytle in the year '75 in Kentucky on the run called Dry Run above his own improvement." So it was logical for Hugh and Ash Emison, Stephen Archer, Moses Cherry, the Bairds and others to join Lytle's party in the migration to Kentucky.

The preceding narrative of William Lytle, Jr., relates the details of this great migration in a very realistic manner. The two Emisons, Archer and Cherry accompanied this group as far as Lime-stone (Maysville, Ky.) where they landed with Capt. Hinkston, Apr. 11, 1780. It is believed that Ash Emison was united in marriage, to Mary Mitchell (at this time) or shortly before leaving Pennsylvania. Members of the Baird and other families had previously bought certain town lots and tracts of land in and near the present city of Louisville, Ky., and they continued with Capt. Lytle's party to "Beargrass, at the Falls of the Ohio" (Louisville) where they arrived on April 15, 1780. Before leaving the subject of this narrative, it was stated that Capt. Lytle proceeded to Kincaid's Station, near Danville," Yet the land which Ash Emison had claimed for Lytle on Dry Run, above his own, was also at what was then called "Kincaid's Station." This same settlement is now known as Dela-plain, and is also about 15 miles north of Lexington, being about 44 miles north of Georgetown.

Some 5 years previously, Capt. Hinkston, with 18 others, had built Hinkston's Station at the mouth of Hinkston's Fork, which empties into the Little Licking River. This was resettled in 1779 by Isaac Riddle or Riddle, after whom it was named. It was about a half of the distance, and near the trail, from Limestone to George-town and Lexington. Unfortunately for Hinkston, and those who stopped at Riddle's Station, the Indian Chief, Capt. Henry Bird with his Indians attacked that area in June 1780, within several months after the settlers arrived.

The Emisons and others accompanied Capt. Hinkston's party over-land from Limestone, across the north and middle forks of the Lick-ing River, to Hinkston's Fork, where Capt. Hinkston settled on his land across the creek from Riddle's Station. The Emisons, Archer, Cherry and others continued on across Stoney Fork and Huston's Fork to their lands north of the abandoned McClelland's Fort.

It is probable that they arrived on or about April 15th, and made a hurried recheck of the required "improvement cabins" and the tree markings on the two 1000 acre pre-emptions of the Emisons, made by Ash in 1776. Stephen Archer also had made two pre-emptions being one above each of Hugh's and Ash's. So Archer was commissioned to register the two Emison pre-emptions, along with his own, at the Virginia Land Commissioners Court, then sitting at St. Asaph's near the headwaters of Haning's Fork, Apr. 22, 1780. (Stanford, Ky.)

Exact surveys, and the permanent designation of boundaries was a serious problem in this new country, as will be noted from the land trial, elsewhere herein, of William Steel vs. William Frazier, two neighbors of Ash's. The only boundary markings were the trees, which were often destroyed or defaced, and small streams, which occasionally changed their courses. From land experiences in Cumberland and Westmoreland Counties of Pennsylvania, the two Emisons had acquired a practical knowledge of surveying. To forestall future boundary disputes, according to a legend among the Kentucky Emison family descendants, Hugh later surveyed the entire distance from Georgetown to the village of Oxford, a distance of about six miles. This survey served in the nature of a base or reference line, which ran along the northwest side of Hugh's pre-emption.

The abovementioned land trial of Steel vs Frazier, Dec. 4, 1780 enabled the author to determine the exact location of "Emison's (Emerson's) Station, 1776, and the Dry Run mill of Ash. The depo-sitions aided in the exact dates and migrations of Hugh and Ash.
In mid April, 1780, the families of the Emisons and friends had arrived in the "Kentucky Country" then known as the "dark and bloody ground." After a brief pause at their new lands near McClelanland's Fort, it is believed that they went on down to Harrodsburg for safety. And apparently they remained there most of the time until the final return to their lands in 1786.

For several years prior to 1780, the savage Indians from the Ohio country had harrassed the pioneers to the extent that McClelanland's Fort (later Georgetown, seat of Scott Co.), then only a year old, had been abandoned in the early days of 1777, until 1786. During this troubled period, it is understood that some of the settlers in this area stayed at Bryans Station, some 13 miles to the southeast. However, Chief Bryans had lost their land, due to a prior claim, and had returned to Rowan Co., N.C., in Augst 1780, "until after the Indian troubles were over." It was under such circumstances that Hugh, Jr., infant child of Hugh, died Aug.19, 1786.

As mentioned previously, there was the Indian attack by Chief Henry Bird in June 1780, which was followed by intermittent raids until they finally culminated in the attack on Bryans Station, and the disastrous Battle of Blue Licks. Within two months, Gen. George Rogers Clarke, then at Harrodsburg, had recruited a small army of settlers for his campaign, in which he drove the Indians well back into Ohio. Ash Emison, with his friends Stephen Archer and Moses Cherry, then at Harrodsburg, served in this campaign, in Capt. Samuel Kirkham's Co., Col. Logan's Regt., Lincoln Co. Militia, Oct. 22nd to Nov. 23rd, 1782. (See records in Appendix elsewhere herein)

When returning from the campaign in Ohio, it is evident that Ash, with his older brother, Hugh, had their two 1000 acre pre-emptions "entered" on Dec. 10, 1782. However, on Dec. 31st, Ash moved his pre-emption to make his original "improvement" (cabin) of 1776 "as near the center of a squard as prior claims will admit." Then he surveyed it on Jan. 5, 1783, with Hugh and Stephen Archer. Hugh returned later for his survey on Apr. 5, 1784.

In Harrodsburg "At a Court held for Lincoln Co., 16th Sept. 1783: Ordered that one Tithe to Hugh Emison be added to the list taken this year." (See Lincoln Co. Ky. Order Bk. 1781-91; p. 49; 9/Ct /1783). Two years later in 1785, Hugh Emison was among 140 inhabitants of Lincoln Co., who petitioned the Virginia General Assembly, for an Act establishing "Harrodstown" comprising 640 acres formerly reserved for the garrison. The ensuing Charter confirmed the titles of those living there since June 1, 1779 "provided that such possessions shall not exceed half an acre for each family, for an IN LOT (in the village) and 10 acres for each OUT LOT."

ORIGINAL EMISON HOMES

After Hugh and Ash Emison returned from Harrodsburg in 1786, Hugh built his first permanent home, on his original 1000 acres of land, midway between Georgetown and Oxford. See map elsewhere.

The old family Bible of Elizabeth (Marshall) Emison, second wife of Hugh, contains a notation, by their son, David, that "the brick house was built July 1, 1811." This ancient brick house is still in existence, a photograph of which is shown elsewhere herein. Until recent years, the date "1786" was visible on the wooden eave, under the south end of the roof, high above the kitchen door. Joseph L. Anderson of Cynthiana, Ky., and Emison descendant now deceased, related that he had seen this date at numerous times during his younger years. In 1947, this old home was owned by the J. B. Bryan family of Georgetown. They stated that the piece of wood containing the date, was removed in 1939 when the house was renovated; that it had been stored in their attic, but could not be located after a search; that the date had been carved by a ten knife probably; and that the date may have been 1785 or 1786. On the other hand, O.P. Hambrick of 104 Oak St., in Georgetown, made an affidavit on Sept. 13, 1947; that he occupied this house during 1916-25; and that he was positive the date was 1786.
Several weeks after his 17th birthday, George Marshall Emison, another son of Hugh and Elizabeth, carved his name and the date "May 19, 1833" on the south wall of the house, 7 feet above the porch floor, about one third of the way back from the southwest corner.

The present condition of this old home gives fitting evidence as to the soundness of materials and methods used by its builder at that early date. The construction is of brick, with stone foundation. Wooden pegs were used to bind the window frames, and all other joints in the woodwork of the house. The walls and foundations have settled or cracked very little in well over a century of time.

Ash Emison's original home was destroyed by fire sometime around the turn of the last century. The exact date at which his large brick home was built, is not known. It was located n.w. of and near the forks of Dry Run. One of the two long commodious stone houses, originally built for Ash's negroes, can still be seen, on the west side of the railroad, 4 miles above Georgetown.

FIRST EMISON MILL

After Ash Emison had applied to the Scott Co. Court, May 24, 1796 for a writ of Ad Quod Damnum, to erect his first water grist mill on the stream of Dry Run, it is interesting to read the then current language of the Sheriff's Jury of "Inquest." "We have proceeded to view the lands above and below the property of others, and found that neither the mansion house, orchard curtilage or garden thereunto immediately belonging to any person or persons whatsoever will be injured thereby. That the fish of passage nor ordinary navigation will be obstructed."

This grist mill was actually built sometime during the Spring or Summer of 1797, near the lower forks of Dry Run. It was operated by horsepower presumably, until the dam was constructed for waterpower about one year later. Some time during the next few years, a saw mill was also built as part of this mill.

Within approximately 12 years after the construction of the first mill, Ash had built a second mill in the northern part of Scott Co., on Big Eagle Creek. In this connection, it is known that Ash was associated with his older brother Hugh in many of their mill and land ventures. This second mill was located north northwest of Sadieville, a distance of 7/8 of a mile, in a direct line. And the remains of this mill are still in existence. After the death of Ash, the mill was operated by his son, William Emison, for many years until his death in 1875. In 1882 this mill was under the ownership and operation of Greenberry F. Mallory, who had married Mary Elizabeth Emison, daughter of William.

In mentioning Sadieville, it might be said that this village acquired its name in a colorful manner. During the construction of the railroad through this area, a great deal of the land was owned and occupied by descendents of Ash Emison. And the construction engineers often stopped at the home of Mrs. Sarah Emison Pack, grand daughter of Ash, who was known to her friends as "Sadie." In her honor the new rail stop was named Sadieville.

EMISON FRIENDS IN KENTUCKY

Before going further in the history of the Emisons in Kentucky, it is worth noting the migrations of the Lemon family, and their association with the early Emisons. It is known that the Emisons and Lemons came from Ireland to America in the same year of 1762; that they lived in Chester Co. Pa., at the same time, when Hugh Emison cited his residence as being "of Chester County" in 1773; that they were in Cumberland County at the same time, and that later in "westmoreland County several members of the Lemon family owned "plantations" south of Greensburg, near the Emisons.
The large number of horses owned by Hugh and Ash Emison, in those early years, marked the beginning of the era, in the breeding of thoroughbreds, which has made that blue grass country justly famous. For many years, prior to 1900, a racetrack was maintained by some of Ash Emison's descendants, in the southeastern part of his 1000 acre pre-emption.

Ash Emison's grandson, Maj. James Edward Emison, or "Jim Bob" as he was known, was one of the more colorful personalities in the County during ante-bellum days. He was the leader among his friends, in the sport of "riding to the hounds" or foxhunting.

Horses and cattle were branded or identified in those early days, similar to the large ranches at present. Hugh Emison's "mark" or brand was recorded in Scott Co., Ky; Order Bk. X, p. 182: "A half crop on the upper part of the right ear, and a half crop on the under part of the left ear."

THE ERA OF HUGH AND ASH EMINSON

The period covered by the lives of Hugh and Ash Emison in Kentucky (1775-1825) was indeed the most important in the history of that famous state. It marked the arrival of the first few permanent settlers, and closed with the State of Kentucky being the most thickly populated area west of the mountains.

All of Hugh's older sons, James, Thomas, John and Samuel, had taken their negroes with them to Indiana Territory in 1804, knowing that they would no longer be slaves in that new area. However, a community was provided for them, on the land near the present village of Emison, Ind. Later, James returned to Kentucky and remained there until after the death of his father, before moving to Ralls Co., Mo., in 1828.

Ash Emison died on March 14, 1824. During his lifetime, Ash like his brother Hugh, had large quantities of land as well as horses and cattle. At the time of his death he possessed approximately 2,000 acres of land around his mill on Big Eagle Creek, in the Sadieville area, and the original land around the mill on Dry Run Creek. His will, probated in the Scott Co. Court of April 1824, revealed many bits of information. John Prunty, Jr., husband of Ash's daughter, Sarah, seems to have been rather a "dissipated man" and was disinherited with the sum of $5.00. Five miles west of Grafton, W.Va., is located the village of Pruntytown. It was named after John Prunty, Sr., who served as Sheriff. He owned 1000 acres of land there, and moved west in 1798.

Hugh Emison died about a year after his younger brother. His Will, probated in the Scott Co. Court of April 1825, concerned the distribution of property to his second wife; and her children; as he had done previously, with the children of the first wife.

"OLD BAILEY BURYING GROUND"

Shortly before his death, Joseph L. Anderson of Cynthiana, Ky., an elderly descendant of Hugh Emison, related that both Hugh and Ash Emison, their wives, and a number of their children, were buried at the "Old Bailey Burying Ground" where he had often seen their tombstones. From the village of Oxford, to reach this early cemetery, one drives south on the New Oxford-Newtown Turnpike, past the crossroads, a total distance of 1 ½ miles. Then cross a wire fence on the left, and walk 200 feet up a small hill.
This location is marked #17 on the Georgetown Land Patent map herein. In 1939, there was no longer any fencing around the cemetery, and the only gravestones remaining were some of the Emison, Swing and Beatty families. In Ash Emison’s lot were found the headstones of Ash; his wife, Mary; their eldest son James, who died in 1805; and their next son, Hugh, who died in 1807. In 1943, Mrs Jas Fuqua of Lexington, a descendant of Ash, had the remains of these four disinterred, and removed with the tombstones, to the plot of Ash’s son William, in the New Georgetown Cemetery.

Early church records indicate the old cemetery adjoined a Meeting House of no known particular denomination, which was built at this site some time before 1800. It was accepted as a Presbyterian Church on May 3, 1829, under the West Lexington Presbytery and Reverend Joseph Harrison was the first Pastor. In 1836 this Church was removed to Oxford, where it is called the Providence Church.

Note: See letter of 1/25/1920, from Mrs John Adams (Mollie Barkley) Herring, Georgetown, Ky., in Revolutionary Pension of Jno Barkley; Va. S12,990, U. S. Archives, Washington, D. C., as follows: "The brothers, WILLIAM, JOHN and ROBERT BARKLEY, came from (King George Co?) Virginia to Scott Co. Ky. some time before 1800. Robert Barkley m. 1806, Mary Cooper. Some of the family were buried on the old farm near "BARKLEY’S CROSSROADS" (Oxford) and the "CHERRY SPRINGS CHURCH." Robert Barkley gave the land, and later gave the Church at BARKLEY’S CROSSROADS, known as "BARKLEY’S CHURCH" or the "PROVIDENCE CHURCH."

MILITARY RECORDS

In 1920, the Big Spring Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, erected a handsome monument at the "Big Spring," site of McClelland’s Fort (Georgetown, Ky). On it were carved the names of Revolutionary Soldiers who died in Scott County as well as the pioneers who built that fort. See picture of monument herein.

On June 5, 1947, the names of Lieut. Hugh Emison, and his younger brother Ash Emison, were added to the list of Revolutionary Soldiers who died in Scott County, authorized as follows.

FAYETTE CO. KY: CIRCUIT COURT: BOX 722; CHANCERY #122:
HUGH EMISON vs SAMUEL THEOBOLD et al. Filed 6/24/1824; Index Bk.4
The tax lists of Fayette and Scott Counties (in appendix) confirm the material progress of Hugh and Ash Emison, and some early origins of fine Kentucky horses in "the bluegrass country."

In 1789, some 3 years after their final return from the fort at Harrodsburg, Hugh was listed with 1 negro; 10 horses and a stud. However, oxen were then the heavy draft animals on plantations.

In 1794-95, Hugh had 2 negroes; 12 horses; and 36 cattle. Ash had 10 horses and 26 cattle.

In 1799, Hugh was listed in 3 separate tax returns, with the total of 6 negroes; 38 horses and a stud; also a Lot in Georgetown held jointly with Moses Cherry. Ash was listed in 2 returns, with 2 negroes; 24 horses; and 12 cattle. This year marked the listing of Hugh's sons. James had 2 negroes; 11 horses; 200 acres from his father's original pre-emption; and a Town Lot. Thomas had 7 horses.

According to legend, Hugh declared that "each child, when married, would be provided with a good (200 acre) farm, well stocked with horses and cattle." This began with his eldest son, James, in 1799. And in 1802, Thomas was listed with 200 acres. In that year, the father Hugh, had only 500 acres or a half of his original pre-emption. But he had also acquired 1775 acres, in addition to 5 negroes and 16 horses. Of the acquired land, 1000 acres had been patented by his friend, Capt. Wm. Lytle. In the northeast corner of Ash's original 1000 acre pre-emption, the map herein, indicates a small settlement, "DELAPLAIN" formerly known as "RINGAIDS STATION". But it does not show the 500 acre pre-emption for Capt. Wm. Lytle, made by Ash, above his own, in 1775. See Lytle's petition herein.

In the Spring of 1804, Hugh's sons, James, Thomas, John and Samuel went to what is now Knox Co. Ind. However, as late as 1806 Thomas was listed with 1 negro; 6 horses; and his original 200 acres. Although James gave his residence "of Knox Co. Ind." when he patented 640 acres in 1807 and 320 acres in 1817, in what is presently Gibson Co. Ind., he continued to increase his properties in Scott Co. Ky., until after his father's death in 1825, when he was listed with 8 negroes; 12 horses; his original farm and 100 acres on Eagle Creek, aggregating slightly less than $10,000 in value.

In 1804, Hugh was first taxed on a "4 wheel riding carriage." He had 5 negroes; 12 horses; and many acres of land. Ash had 1 negro; 16 horses; and his land holdings.

In 1810, Hugh had only 300 acres of his original homestead on Lane's Run, in addition to his other lands; also 8 negroes and 26 horses. James had 2 negroes and 16 horses. Ash had 491 acres of his original homestead on Dry Run; 5 negroes and 23 horses, and a stud. Of particular interest at that time, Hugh and Ash each had bought 200 acres on BIG EAGLE CREEK in northern Scott Co. Soon afterward, the additional grist mill was built there, as shown on the map.

In 1824, after the death of Ash, his Will mentioned some 2000 acres "around my mills on Eagle Creek," in addition to his original mills on Dry Run. In 1825, after Hugh's death, his widow Elizabeth was listed with 5 negroes; a horse; 200 acres of the homestead and 100 acres on Eagle Creek. In 1830, she had 2 returns, aggregating 12 negroes and 5 horses.

In 1839, the last tax list noted was John (son of Ash) who had 19 negroes; 17 horses; 396 cattle; 250 acres on Dry Run and 700 acres on Eagle Creek, with a total value of $23,496.

The foregoing reveals the family interest in the breeding of good horses, a practice for which that estate became famous. For many years, some of the descendants of Ash maintained their private racetrack on part of his original land grant. In the decade before the Civil War, his sons, Benjamin and David, moved to Lafayette Co. Mo. In 1954, James Ash Emison, a great-great-grandson of Ash, continued to look after the noted "Lone Elm" breeding stables, near Odessa, Mo., which have been in that branch of the family for three generations. They were started with horses brought from Kentucky.
This Church was organized by Rev. John R. Moreland, and Rev. Wm. H. Forsythe. See V.2; pp.45-51; 586; in its Records.

After holding Services in the woods for 3 days, near the home of HUGH BEARD, some twelve or more pioneers professed their faith, and they proceeded to organize a Presbyterian Church on Sept.12, 1828. Hugh Beard donated 10 acres of land for this purpose, on an elevation near the STRAIGHT FORK of EAGLE CREEK.

Hugh Beard and Francis Adams were unanimously elected as Ruling Elders of the Congregation. And they were ordained by Rev. J.R. Moreland. In 1830 the congregation built a log Church 40 feet deep and 35 feet wide, capable of seating 300 to 400 members. It was dedicated by Rev. Nathan B. Hall on a Sabbath in May 1830. Thereafter, it became known as the Beard Presbyterian Church.

WILLIAM EMISON (C23) son of ASH, had been elected as Clerk of the Sessions, as well as one of the Trustees. And he recorded the formal Deed for the land, dated some 9 years later, part of which follows. "This Indenture made and entered into this 7th day of June 1839, between Hugh Beard (of Scott Co., Ky) party of the first part and ADAM PACK, James Cavender and WILLIAM EMISON, Trustees as here in set forth, (all of Scott Co., Ky) parties of the second part, WITNESS, that the said party of the first part for the consideration of ONE DOLLAR, have this day aliened, bargained, and sold—unto the said party of the second part as Trustees of the Beard Church, a Presbyterian Church in Scott Co., the following tract of land upon which is situated the Beard Church Meeting House, which is limited and bounded as follows. Beginning at a hickory on the north bank of the STRAIGHT FORK of EAGLE CREEK."

Following are some of the records in the Church Register:
p.30: "WILLIAM EMISON, received by examination July 19, 1833. NANCY HANNA EMISON (his wife) received by letter from Georgetown Church on same date."

Francis Adams, one of the original Ruling Elders had died, and the list of Elders in the Register contain the following: "WILLIAM EMISON ordained and installed Aug.30, 1834" as one of the Ruling Elders, and Clerk of the Sessions. He continued as a Ruling Elder for 41 years, until his death on March 11, 1875. "SARAH MAR- THA EMISON (daughter of William and Nancy Emison) received by examination Oct.18, 1847." "SARAH MARTHA EMISON married Richard Pack, Apr.4, 1843." See pp.106;107.

The Church records were kept by William Emison, as Clerk of the Sessions until Aug.30, 1863. Before relinquishing his work Mr. Emison had copied all the principal records in a Volume 1 (covering the organization of the Church, Sept.12, 1828 to Aug.24, 1863). Then he copied them into a Volume 2, which was used later, from Aug.24, 1863 to Aug.29, 1907. This Vol.2, is now lodged at Montreat, N.C., among the other records of the Presbyterian Church (South) Vol. 1 has been lost.

After William Emison died on March 11,1875, the congregation of the Beard Church met on March 28, 1875, under the guidance of Rev. E. Foreman, Moderator. And a magnificent eulogy of Mr. Emison was spread on the records. He was buried at the new cemetery in Georgetown, Ky., to which in 1943, were transferred the tombstones and earthly remains of his father and mother, ASH and MARY (Mitchell) EMISON, as well as his older brothers, James and Hugh (mentioned in detail elsewhere herein). N.B. In connection with the above, it is of some interest to relate that JAMES EDMUND (MAJOR "JIM BOB") EMISON, son of WILLIAM, remained unmarried during his life because of a blighted romance with Miss Forsythe, daughter of Bishop W.H. Forsythe, involving sympathies toward the North and South, during the Civil War.
THOMAS EMISON(C3) and his brother, SAMUEL EMISON(C9) are the biographical subjects in the following. This is also true in a lesser degree, to their brothers, JAMES EMISON(C1) who returned to Kentucky and later settled in Missouri; and JOHN EMISON(C5) whose date and place of death has been unidentified.

Samuel Baird, a brother of their mother, Mary (Baird) Emison, seems to have been the first member of these two families to settle in the area of old Vincennes. In July 1790, Samuel was appointed as the first Surveyor and Clerk of the Knox County Courts of the Northwest Territory. However, Knox County then covered most of the present day states embraced in Indiana Territory (1801) with the Capitol at Vincennes. In such a capacity, Samuel became familiar with the more fertile lands. Undoubtedly he communicated with his brother Thomas Baird in Kentucky, also his brother-in-law Dan'l McClure who had served under Clarke, at the capture of Vincennes. They and other members of their families moved to Vincennes in 1802.

During the period 1779-82, Gen. George Rogers Clarke had recaptured Ft. Sackville, at Vincennes, from the British, and made a strenuous campaign against the Indians, from central Kentucky well into Ohio. In 1804; the Indian situation in the new Indiana Territory, was being further stabilized by certain treaties; And the ultimate action was resolved in the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811.

The same urge which had compelled the brothers, Hugh and Ash Emison, to push-on from Pennsylvania to Kentucky in search of fertile new lands, now began to occupy the thoughts of Hugh's 4 sons, James, Thomas, John and Samuel.

In 1804, James and Thomas Emison had become more or less settled in Scott Co. Ky. At the time of their marriages, their father had given each "a 200 acre farm well stocked" as Hugh did with all of his children. In addition, James owned a lot in Georgetown, and 2 negroes. However, the news from their kinsmen in Indiana and that their sisters were mostly grown and provided for; and possibly the fact that their father was contemplating a second marriage; all of these factors played a part in their final decision, to push on to new homes, as their father and uncle had done.

In the Spring of 1804 preparations were made to leave for Indiana Territory. And a large group set out, over what was then called the "Buffalo Trace." Among those in the party were:- James and Mary (Barkley) Emison, with children Hugh, age 3, and Ann, age 2; Thomas and Jane (Holmes) Emison, with daughter Mary, age 2; John Emison; Samuel Emison, the two younger unmarried brothers; also relatives and friends.

It required three months to make this trip. The Emisons took with them, from the mills in Kentucky, 6 French buhrs (millstones) which weighed about a ton each. They were circular, about 4 feet in diameter, 15 inches thick, and looped with iron. They were moved by oxen. It is interesting to note that one of those buhrs can still be seen at the Atlas Mills in Vincennes. And several of them are at the original site of the mill in Indiana.

The caravan was large, and the progress slow, because of the rigors and trials of the wilderness. During this migration a son, William Weston Clarke Emison, was born to Thomas and Jane (Holmes) Emison, on June 15, 1804, in Knox Co. Ind., across the river from "White Oak Springs" (now Petersburg, Pike Co. Ind.)

Family legends reveal that the final overnight camp was at the present site of the Upper Indiana Church Cemetery. Also according to those legends, "a niece of Thomas Emison died and was the first to be buried there" in an unmarked grave, to avoid detection from Indians nearby. According to one source the child was Rebecca Estelle Emison. If so, she would have been an unlisted infant, probably of James and Mary (Barkley) Emison.

That year (1804) also marked the arrival of Elihu Stout from Kentucky, with the first printing press in Vincennes. For further details, see the article on Governor William H. Harrison herein.
Shortly after arrival, the Emisons began to "sink their roots" into the soil and life of the new country by settling on 400 acres at Maria Creek, which Thomas Emison had bought (1804) from his uncle Samuel Baird. This land, some 9 miles north of Vincennes and 2 miles east of the present village of Emison, is still in the family name after a century and a half.

Assisted by his brothers, Thomas built a large two story log home on the hill. And next arose the "Maria Creek Saw & Grist Mills" housed in the large two story log building nearby at the creek. In 1804-1808 the mills were operated by oxen.

On July 27, 1807, James and Thomas Emison applied to the Knox County Court of Common Pleas, for a writ of Ad Quod Damnum, which was issued to the Sheriff, to ascertain the damage sustained if the Emisons erected a mill dam in Maria Creek. The Sheriff returned the writ on Dec. 3, 1807 and judgment was entered, granting the right to erect and build the dam and mill on the premises mentioned. In 1808 the dam was completed, with an underpass waterwheel.

Shortly before joining Thomas in the application for the mill dam at Maria Creek, James possibly contemplated settling 30 miles to the south, and 1½ miles west of the present Owensville, Gibson Co. Ind. There he was granted U.S. Patents on 640 acres in May and June 1807. Evidently he was still living in Indiana on Nov. 15, 1817 when he bought 320 acres from the Vincennes University, midway and astride the Owensville-Princeton road. This purchase also included 600 acres for Thomas. Prior to the death of the father, Hugh, in January 1825, James had returned to Scott Co. Ky. But in 1828, he settled in Ralls Co. Mo. (See above deeds in appendix).

Returning to the mills on Maria Creek, 2 stands of millstones were used for corn and a stand for wheat. The storage capacity of the mill was about 1000 bushels of grain. And 25 barrels of flour could be ground daily, in addition to several hundred bushels of corn. As usually prescribed by law in those days, a toll of 1 ½ neck was received on each bushel of grain ground.

When taking their grain to Emison's Mills for the grinding, it was a pleasant occasion among the young and old, in pioneer groups, to meet and visit. Each awaited their turn, according to arrival, until the grinding was finished in the evening.

The sawmill was also operated by waterpower, with the sashsaws brought from Kentucky. A distillery was located back of the house, by a spring. And a tannery was operated with the other industries. "Emison's Landing" on the Wabash River, opposite Russellville, Ill. was the nearest point for heavy shipments by water.

In time, the holdings of Thomas Emison expanded greatly. Many scores of men, including the negroes brought up from Kentucky, were employed and lived on his lands. Most of the negroes lived on the "Stringtown Road" along the northern edge of the lands; also near Maria Creek to the southwest; and in the area where the village of Emison, Ind., now stands. Quantities of salt, sugar, tobacco and other "necessaries" were stocked. These provisions, along with the meat, from the herds of cattle and hogs, made this large community self contained.

Reverting to Kentucky, the Executive Journal there shows that Thomas Emison was Lieutenant of the local (Scott Co) Rifle Company in the 12th Regt., June 21, 1798. Later, the Executive Journal of Indiana Territory shows that Thomas was appointed First Lieutenant of Cavalry in the 1st Regt., Sept. 22, 1810. These military records elsewhere herein, further confirm the family legend that Thomas Emison was Commanding Officer of the "Vincennes Troop, of Light Dragoons" at the Battle of Tippecanoe. This was early in the action, after his Captain, Benjamin Fiske, was promoted to Major due to the mortal wounds of Major J.H. Daviess, Squadron Commander.

Thomas Emison's sabre is now in the possession of Mrs. Helen Emily (Adams) Emison (F63); and his pistol in the possession of Edward Emison (G31) of Vincennes. See the Currier print herein.
During this early period a fort was built on the hill southeast of the mills, near the road to Bruceville. It was nicknamed "Fort Petticoat" being often garrisoned by the women, when the men were called away on Indian campaigns.

The youngest brother, Samuel Emison, was a soldier in the Vincennes Troop at Tippecanoe. On May 14, 1814, he was appointed 3rd Lieutenant of Cavalry, and on Sept. 22, 1815, a Captain of Cavalry.

The first school in Knox County, outside of Vincennes, was a private subscription school, adjoining the mills at Maria Creek. School was also held at the original Upper Indiana Church, a mile and a half southwest of Bruceville. Reverend Richard Posey taught at both of these schools, which served all of Washington Township until 1820, when a school was built in Bruceville.

Bruceville was formerly an old Indian meeting ground, on the north fork of the "Appraw Trail" which led in the general direction of Emison's Mills and Emison's Landing; thence across the Wabash River, up to what is now Palestine, Ill. It was first settled by Major William Bruce, Jr., in October 1805. His second wife was a sister-in-law of Thomas Emison. (See sketch on WM Bruce herein).

As indicated above, the first road to Emison's Mills was from Bruceville. A road from the mills, south to the Busseron road near Small's Creek was later opened, after a petition of May 7, 1811 and report of Sept. 10, 1811 to the Common Pleas Court at Vincennes. The road petition of Feb. 5, 1812, heard before the March Court, 1812 is particularly informative. It was signed by Thomas, John and Samuel Emison; James Scott; Peter Ruby; Charles Allen and others, reciting the need for "a road from the neighborhood of Small's Creek to Emison's Mills". It petitioned for "a cart road to branch off of the County road leading from Vincennes to the Upper Settlements on Maria Creek on the land of Daniel McClure, and pass the Sinking Spgs Meeting House—and terminate at the said mills. This route will also be of singular use and convenience to us of the neighborhood of "Ochiltree" when we have occasion to go to said Meeting House."

Shortly afterward, the roads from the mills were extended to the north and south, becoming the Evansville and Terre Haute road or the "Old Stage Road," over which the stagecoach line was operated by John and Samuel Emison, from about 1820. It was later carried on by Samuel's son, Hugh Ash Emison and William Green. Depots on this line were at Emison's Mills and at "Vandalia" a short distance north, where the horses were changed. For further interesting details on this passenger and freight line, see "Diary of Jas Madison Emison" 1047, D.A.R., Washington, D.C.

In addition to the above stage line, Samuel and his older brother John Emison, had been active as surveyors in official capacities. The second American plat of the old French settlement, Vincennes, was made by the firm of (Homer) Johnson & (Samuel) Emison during 1810-16, and officially adopted by the city on Mar. 7, 1820. The first plat had been made by Samuel's uncle, Samuel Baird, 1792. John Emison had his horse stolen by Indians, while on service for the U.S. (p. 387; House Journal, Apr. 10, 1826; 19th Cong; 1st Sess.)

Indiana Territory had reached the stage when it was admitted to the Union in 1816. On Jan. 11, 1820, Gov. Jennings appointed Thos Emison as one of the Commissioners to select a centrally located site for the new Capitol. As we know, the site chosen was Indianapolis, after they had met in Noblesville with the Governor.

Although Thomas Emison was active in the Presbyterian community, he did not officially join the Sinking Springs Congregation of the Indiana Church until May 20, 1824.

In 1826 a U.S. Post Office was established at "Emison's Mill," with Thomas Emison as Postmaster. The distance from Washington was then 688 miles, some 40 miles shorter than the present rail line. About this time there were 5 roads or "5 points" at the mills.

Thomas' eldest son, W.W.C. Emison, later resumed the milling business at Bruceville, Vincennes and elsewhere. But this concerns the story of the original Maria Creek mills, which passed to James Madison Emison, the second son, and his descendants.
After the deaths of Thomas in 1836, and his wife Jane in 1839, their second son James Madison and his wife Emmeline, continued to reside at the old two story log home, near the mills, until about 1850. At that time, James built a handsome two story white frame residence of 13 large rooms, at the same site. A recent photograph of it, elsewhere herein, indicates the sturdy materials used and a capable supervision in the construction.

At this same time, James Madison built a new structure for the mill. In it he installed steam as the motive power, to be operated when the water level of Maria Creek was too high or low for efficient use of the waterwheel. The new mill ground 250 bushels of grain and produced 50 barrels of flour daily. The operations of the sawmill, tannery, and other industrial activities were continued.

During 1850-54, the Evansville & Crawfordsville Railroad (now the C & E.I. RR) was built through the Emison land about ½ miles west of the mills. And James Madison established a shipping point on the railroad, now known as Emison, Ind. This village was later surveyed and platted by his son, Samuel Ashley, as the proprietor. It was the beginning of the end for the old stagecoach line, operated by members of the Emison family, for some three decades.

The sudden illness and death of James Madison Emison in 1861 catapulted the heavy responsibilities of managing his properties, upon his two young sons, Samuel Ashley and James Emison. At that time, Samuel Ashley was graduating from college and had not reached his 22nd birthday. Although James had not reached his 16th birthday, he had to abandon further schooling immediately. Samuel Ashley was the senior member of this young partnership but shortly afterward, he returned to Indiana University for the study of law. And thereafter, he practised in Indianapolis until he died.

Thus the heavy burdens of actual management rested on James. He carried on the various business enterprises until 1879, when he formed a new partnership with his younger brother, Scott Emison, as the junior member. At that time, the flour mill was moved to Vincennes. There they erected a large brick mill building, bounded by First, Busserson and Levee Streets, adjoining the wharf on the Wabash River. This mill, named the Atlas Mills, was destroyed by fire in 1885. It was promptly rebuilt, with a capacity of 600 barrels daily, of the highest quality of flour. The firm had purchased Elevator "A" adjoining the Atlas Mills in 1883, and thereafter handled over a million bushels of wheat yearly.

In 1891, the operation of the gist (corn) mill on Maria Creek was finally abandoned. And the Baltic Mills (corn) were erected on First, Vigo and Levee Streets in Vincennes.

After the death of James Emison in 1916, Scott Emison carried on until he sold the Atlas Mills in 1919, and the Baltic Mills in 1924, both to Wm Orville Stout. These mills are now (1954) owned by the General Mills Corporation. After a century and a half of continuous operation, they are probably the oldest in the Middle West.

Most of the foregoing "Emison Family - Kentucky to Indiana" and "Emison Family in Indiana" is from a school paper on the "Emison Mills" written by Ellen Ross (Emison) Keck (H31) in 1939.

For further interesting details, see the "Diary of James Madison Emison" (including the Old Stage Line); also the "Diary of Jas Emison" both published by the latter's daughter, Estelle Emison, copies of which can be seen at D.A.R., Washington, D.C., and Vincennes.

*NOTE: Among Gov. Harrison's efforts to stimulate immigration, a U.S. Land Office was authorized at Vincennes on Mar. 26, 1804, to issue Patents, confirming previous French titles, and future sales of public lands. He concluded the Plankeshaw Indian Treaty of Aug. 27, 1804, extinguishing their titles along the "Buffalo Trace" and all land south and west to the Ohio and Wabash Rivers. For further details, see following article on Wm H. Harrison; also the article on JAMES WADE EMISON (his forebears and descendants) in "Indiana; Frontier to Industrial Commonwealth" Lewis Hist Pub Co., N.Y. 1954.
Before proceeding further, it might be appropriate to enumerate some of the lands owned by Thomas Emison and his descendants up to 1850. (See map of Knox Co. Ind., herein)

"The oldest (sesqui) CENTENNIAL FARM in the records of Indiana Historical Society at Indianapolis, lies north of Vincennes, Knox County. Thomas Emison migrated from Kentucky to Vincennes in 1804, and set up a milling business on Maria Creek." (From "Muncio Star")

In 1954, this farm was owned by the widow of Samuel McClellan Emison (F03). It was part of the original 400 acres in Additional Donation 42, purchased by Thomas Emison, soon after his arrival from Kentucky, through his uncle Daniel McClure, as Attorney-in-fact for the latter's brother-in-law, Samuel Baird, another uncle of Thomas.

Samuel Baird was appointed Clerk of the 3 Northwest Territorial Courts at Vincennes on July 3, 1790. And on July 10th he was appointed Territorial Surveyor, being directed to survey and lay off the land claims at Vincennes, Prairie du Rocher and Kaskaskia necessary for confirmation of the ancient French and British land titles by the U.S. In 1806, these titles in Indiana Territory were confirmed by Act of Congress. And the U.S. Patent on the above 400 acres was made to Samuel Baird, presumably because Thomas Emison had not recorded his Deed in 1804. For further details, see this Deed in the appendix; also Samuel Baird, in the BAIRD FAMILY herein.

Thomas Emison owned at least 625 acres around the Maria Creek mills, at the time of his death in 1836. (Knox Co. Ind: Order BkG; p.2h; Sept.25,1839) This was comprised of the original 400 acres in Additional Donation 42 (Lot 202); 25 acres in Lot 203, and 200 acres in the NE ¼ of Lot 195. Presumably the latter 200 acres had been bought from Thomas' younger brother, Samuel Emison, who had previously bought Lot 195 (400 acres) on Jan.8,1823.

In addition to the above, Thomas owned 56 acres in Lots 183 & 184, a half mile west of Bruceville; 320 acres (SW ¼ Sec.8; and SW ¼ Sec.9; Twp.11N; Rn9W) now in Sullivan Co. Ind; On Nov.15,1817, he had bought 800 acres (Sec.22; and NE ¼ Sec.32 Twp.2S Rn11W) midway and astride the Princeton-Owensville road, now in Gibson Co. Ind. Lastly, on Apr.26,1832 he had bought certain land on Salt River, in Rails Co. Mo., from his brother, James Emison. (See appendix)

At the settlement of Thomas Emison's estate, the eldest son, Weston Clarke Emison, bought the 25 acres in Lot 203, near the mills; and the 56 acres in Lots 183 & 184, west of Bruceville. As stated elsewhere herein, he bought the old Posey farm, south of Bruceville, from the 7 remaining Posey heirs, during 1910-14.

W.W.C. Emison and his son, John Wesley, acquired additional land adjoining the Posey farm, until it aggregated more than 1000 acres, along the Pennsylvania Railway, extending from the southeast edge of Bruceville, and lying in a continuous wedge strip in parts of Lots 72; 73; 96; and 97. The "Sinking Springs" log Church or original Upper Indiana Church was in this strip. North of Emison, Ind., they had acquired 730 acres adjoining and north of Lots 208 and 211. Lastly they acquired 532 acres in Lots 11; 12; & 23. At the death of the son, John Wesley Emison in 1888, he owned approximately 4000 acres, including lands bought from his father, in addition to other realty in Vincennes, Princeton and elsewhere.

In the above settlement of Thomas Emison's estate, the second son, James Madison Emison, bought the mills and the 600 acres surrounding them (Lots 202 and NE ¼ of Lot 195) for $4,150.00. He and his descendants added to these land holdings adjoining the mills until they aggregated at least 1300 acres in 1880. (Lots 195; 196; 201; 202; and 203. He also acquired the original land patents on 55 acres (Fractional Sec.8; and NW ¼ of Fractional Sec.9; on Feb.12, 1839) This land was just east of the mills. There were also other lands west of and in Emison, Ind., some 2 miles west of the mills.

NOTE: The foregoing narrative "Emison Family - Kentucky to Indiana" and the "Emison Mills" are from a paper written by Allen Ross (Emison) Keck (H31) written in 1939, while in high school.
One of her most distinguished historians, Frederick Jackson Turner, has taught America to know that out of her gnarled forests, tangled with promise and challenge, breathed a wind, moulding a yielding polyglot people into a new, vibrant and vital civilization. Woodland and river untamed, burgeoning soil unplowed sang the siren song and laid the scene for the seduction of man's most basic lust. The mere fact that the struggle alone lent character to its participants; the land became clothed with agrarian industry and was brought to fruition, not submissive but creative, and the man, with whom we are more concerned, won sinew for his muscle and fibre for his personality, solidly building, growing, begetting.

Minimized, perhaps, by Turner in his enthusiasm for the manifest spoils of the conquest were the "casualties" or that which stood in danger of being lost. Plunging through the wilderness, frenetic in his eagerness to grapple with the unconquered soil, the woodsman-farmer - like a swimmer shucking off encumbering clothing - was carelessly divesting himself bit by bit of the residual, if obscure, wholesome restraining influences of community living built tediously through the weary ages of man. Church, law, book-learning, and certainly art lay by the roadside dying and neglected. In the wilds of western America a man lived miles from his neighbor. He was visited, perhaps annually, by a circuit-riding preacher who did what marrying, baptizing and scripture-reading were necessary. To questions of property rights came the unequivocal answer of musket and ball, and books not a Bible were more scarce than devices for the distillation of corn spirits.

A need there was for someone to gather from the society - perhaps corrupt and crusty in the eyes of the frontiersman - that was lodged on the Atlantic seaboard the vestiges of basic values, and plant them in the passionate soil of the frontier of Western Civilization. Such a man was quiet, lean-faced William Henry Harrison, a leader. Born of a haughty James River culture he was none the less captivated by the maiden wilderness. He paid her homage, and he skirmished with her Indian protectors, opposing their resentment and resistance of her ravishment. But no cavalier flirtation his, for his contributions were sound and persisting, as bare enumeration will reveal.

His accomplishments can roughly be broken into two classes, the seizure of the West and the garnishing of it with the remembrances of a seaboard heritage. In his "seizure" phase his efforts were first military and perhaps more remote than they were later to be. The young Harrison first entered the army as Ensign in the 1st Infantry Regiment, at 18. In Ohio he joined General St Clair, who shortly thereafter was relieved of his western command by Washington and was replaced by "Mad Anthony" Wayne, who quickly proved himself as mad as the well-known fox. At any rate he made Harrison his third aide-de-camp, in which capacity Harrison had the good fortune to serve during the historic engagement of Fallen Timbers in 1794 and the Treaty of Greenville in 1795. The two events combined to be the long-awaited showdown with the Indians in the Northwest Territory.

Wayne died very shortly thereafter and was succeeded by General James Wilkinson, an unhappy choice; Harrison registered his personal displeasure by resigning from the army and retiring to North Bend on the Ohio near Cincinnati, where he planned to become a farmer. He happily - was not long out of the public service, for in 1798 Colonel Winthrop Sargent, Secretary of the Northwest Territory, was named as Governor of the newly-created Southwest Territory, and Harrison was designated as his replacement. The following year he won popular election as the Territorial Delegate to the Congress; it was in this capacity that he wrote the famous land law of 1800, which allowed the small, independent settlers to procure land directly from the government without the necessity of patronizing the wealthy land speculators. Before the session of Conwas ended, however, the Northwest Territory was divided to allow admission of Ohio as a state. The remainder of the old Territory, what is currently the states of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, was established as the Indiana Territory. Its Governor? William Henry Harrison, aged 27.

From this position there accrued to him the multifarious jobs of the executive and the administrator, the law-giver and enforcer, the general and drill-master, the diplomat and treaty-maker, and the regulator and inducer of progress and culture. But the only title he bore in addition to Governor was Superintendent of Indian Affairs, and here his power, secretly bestowed, was plenipotentiary. The fruits of his treating with the Indians were legion, both in point of the number of treaties accomplished and acres of land gained for the settlers. But there were subtler intentions couched within the dusty legal phrases of these acts. First, for the incoming settlers was the steadily augmented assurance for his travels through the wilderness of safe passage. The first treaty in 1803 as far as the acquisition of land was concerned merely cleared the title on the Vincennes Tract, already generally conceded to be the white man's; it achieved, moreover though, the further step of providing for three sanctuaries or "houses of entertainment" on the Illinois Trace to St Louis from Vincennes, and one on the Buffalo Trace between Louisville and Vincennes. The next treaty saw as an incidental accomplishment to the acquisition of land the inclusion of the entire Illinois Trace within the public domain. The third took in the much more important Buffalo Trace using it as a boundary or, more accurately, as a reference line for the boundary which was actually a straight line half a mile north of the most northern bend of the Buffalo Trace. Second, his heart went out to the Indians, both because he was a humanitarian and because he wanted to make them into good neighbors. He desired not only to treat them with justice but to quiet any warlike propensities by wooing them away from liquor and wild predatory ways of the wilderness. This intention can be traced through the treaties. The Treaty of Green ville offered only money payments, but the treaty of 1803 made the humble beginning by offering in the annuities along with money a most domestic commodity, salt - for the preservation of food and the domestication of animals. The treaty of the next year provided for someone to teach the redmen to "make fences, cultivate the earth, and such of the domestic arts as are adapted to their situation." In 1805 a treaty provided that the annuities be paid in "either money or merchandise provisions or domestic animals," and a priest was promised for the construction of a church and the education of the Indians.

In fact, to this day Indians may attend without charge the University established by Harrison in Vincennes. This observation brings to mind the second part of Harrison's contribution to the winning of the west, the good fight against the attrition of those values inherent in community life. In his effort to transfer some of the culture of James River heritage to the Hoosier wilds he waged his war against the decline of civilized amenities, the aspect that Turner minimized in his apotheosis of the frontier.

In 1801 he induced five other influential citizens to join him as trustees of Jefferson Academy, which they founded. It was difficult to keep it going without financial assistance however, and such was petitioned from Congress. Their prayer was answered in the land Act of 1804, which set aside within the Northwest Territory section 16 of each township for the support of the public schools; the act further allowed three entire townships for the support of seminaries of learning to be established at Detroit, Kaskaskia and Vincennes, whereas the same land act had newly established land offices. It may safely be assumed that such township in the Vincennes area went initially to Jefferson Academy and secondly to Vincennes University, incorporated in 1806, replacing Jefferson Academy.
Harrison is further credited with establishing in Vincennes its first library, which was housed for some time within his own home, Grouseland, its first historical society, its first agricultural society, and - it is said - a dramatic society. In mentioning Harrison's famous old brick mansion, Grouseland, I digress to note that it was later owned and occupied during 1896-1900, by Edwin Stanton Shepard my grandfather, while his brother and he owned the paper mills nearby. My mother was born there. And as a child, she was indelibly impressed with the romantic legends as to the bullet holes by the Indians in the window-shutters, and the "secret tunnel." This building is now preserved by the local D.A.R.

Harrison was instrumental in the establishment of churches at Vincennes, the prime settlement in the Territory. The first Methodist minister to hold Services in Vincennes was Reverend Wm Winans, a close friend of Harrison's. His first service was performed in the little fort and Harrison held a candle that the reverend might read his notes. Mrs. Harrison was a Presbyterian, and the Reverend Thomas Clelland, a Presbyterian minister, was a frequent visitor at Grouseland. The early history of the Indiana Church is revealed in the following pages of this book. The catholic mission of St Francis Xavier, located in the little settlement, is credited with being one of the oldest west of the Allegheny Mountains; when Father Rivet not only its priest but headmaster of Jefferson Academy as well, died in 1804, it was left for some time without an official of the Catholic Church. But in 1812 Harrison joined with others in petitioning the nearest Bishop for a resident priest.

In 1804, the same year that Emisoshs came from Kentucky, Harrison induced Elihu Stout to bring printing press and paper down the Kentucky and Ohio Rivers and up the Wabash to Vincennes, where he commenced to print the Indiana Gazette. This printing shop, regretfully, burned in 1806, but with Harrison's support and assistance Stout went back to Kentucky and returned with a new press and supplies by horseback over the Buffalo Trace. In 1807 his new paper, The Western Sun, appeared. Its descendant the Vincennes Sun Commercial, is today the second oldest in continuous publication west of the Alleghenies. An organization was formed to reproduce "Indiana's First Print Shop" for the occasion of its sesqui-centennial in 1954. And it is proposed that this shop be located in the State Park at Vincennes, at the site of the first Territorial Legislative Hall and adjacent to Harrison's Grouseland.

When young Abraham Lincoln, his parents and others, passed through Vincennes in 1830, enroute from Spencer County, Indiana to Illinois, he stopped in at Stout's shop, and saw his first printing press. The artist, Albert T. Reid, painted an imaginary picture of this scene in 1821, and called it "The Meeting of the Two Great Emancipators." (Indiana Historical Bulletin, July '52; ill)

I depart temporarily from this early history, in stating the "Sun" had followed the editorial policies of the Democratic Party. But for many years prior to his death, this paper was owned by Jno Wesely Emison, Jr., with his nephew, John David Hoxue, Jr., as General Manager. Under the new guidance the publication was moved into a modern plant, and its policies became somewhat more cognizant of the bi-partisan viewpoint. Mr. Emison was a firm supporter of the political principles of Lincoln.

Today Harrison is known, if at all, as "Old Tip." and it is questionable if those who use the name simply know what it refers to, or, if they do, the import of the Battle of Tippecanoe. It was the last significant Indian war in the West. It was the irrevocable crushing of a blunt-headed growth engendered among the Indians by a brilliant and skilled Chief named Tecumseh who was a general in the British Army. Tecumseh had solicited from among the various nations the young and the warlike, the crafty and the disinterested to federalize for the inevitable and undeniable stand, the resistance to the intrusion. But while he was proselytizing in the south, Harrison challenged his forces. He challenged with 400 men of the 4th Infantry Regiment of Regulars from Massachusetts, and with his fine 1st Indiana Regiment of Militia, which he personally formed, drilled and trained. Among the latter was his own "honor guard" of prominent citizens in the community, being the "Vincennes Troop" of Light Horse Dragoons. It was commanded by Captain Benjamin Parke (Federal Judge of the Territorial Courts, and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Vincennes University). The Executive Officer and First Lieutenant of this Troop was Thomas Emison, Harrison's friend and active supporter. On at least one occasion the Dragoons stood close by, "with menacing pistols" while Harrison was conducting uncertain negotiations with the Indians.

In preparation for the Tippecanoe campaign, the eccentric General Jo Hamilton Daviess, volunteered to enlist as a Trooper, and promised to organize a Troop of Dragoons he later brought from Kentucky. Upon arrival the assembled Squadron of Dragoons mustered only about 30 men in each of two Troops and about 73 men in the Vincennes Troop. However, out of courtesy, Daviess was appointed Major, commanding the Squadron of Dragoons. Early in the Battle of Tippecanoe, Daviess was mortally wounded, in a dubious and ineffective charge led by him. Thereupon Captain Parke received a field promotion to Major, commanding the Squadron of Dragoons. And Lieutenant Thomas Emison was the Commanding Officer of the Vincennes Troop in that engagement.

In answer to Harrison's challenge the Prophet, Tecumseh's fanatic and drunken brother, committed his brother's forces against a too wise soldier and in a matter of hours was run off the field in a rout. The Indian threat in the West had been met and answered. A Cincinnati paper carried the following account of the victorious encounter, and the same edition remarked the successful testing of a steamboat that would run up the Ohio as well as down. Another era was crossing the threshold in the West. The Frontier finally shrugged its shoulders and moved across the Mississippi, vanquished by men — and, in a large part, by a man.

NOTE by JWE: The foregoing article on Major General William Henry Harrison, who later became President, was written by Thomas Shepherd Emison (E33), and with the few personal exceptions, it is based on a condensation of his "Senior Paper" while at DePauw University. Elsewhere herein will be noted the Currier print of 1840, depicting Harrison, Thomas Emison and others at Tippecanoe; also in the appendix will be found the military records concerning Thos Emison, before, during and after that engagement. KNOX CO. IND: DEED Bk.B; p.196; (11/15/1817 - 7/13/1818)
WHEREAS by authority of Section 5, Act of Congress, Approved March 20, 1854, a Township of land has heretofore been allocated by the Secretary of the Treasury of U.S., for use of a SEMINARY of learning in the DISTRICT of VINCENNES--Two.2S Rn14W. WHEREAS--an Act of the Legislature of Territory of Indiana, Approved November 20, 1836--incorporated--VINCENNES UNIVERSITY--Board of Trustees--authorized to sell land--. Between (General) WILLIAM H. HARRISON; (Judges) HENRY VANDERBURGH; and FRANCIS VIGO, as Committee for the Board of Trustees, and THOMAS EMISON of Knox Co. In consideration of $2,000.00 paid by THOMAS EMISON--for 100 acres in Sec. 22; also 100 acres NE sec. 32; (Midway and astride the Princeton-Crawfordsville Road, now in Gibson Co. Ind). THEREFORE I, (Judge BENJAMIN LARRE, CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES--have granted, bargained and sold (above lands) to THOMAS EMISON. (See deeds in appendix).
As mentioned previously, the "Vincennes Troop" of Light Dragoons was organized by Governor Harrison. It was composed of his friends and prominent men in the community. And it served as his escort or bodyguard on official occasions.

During Harrison's conference with the Indians, at Vincennes, in August 1810, upon a prearranged signal from the Chief Tecumseh, he and his warriors defied Harrison with threatening actions, and Mr. Winans (Methodist Minister) ran to the door of Harrison's home to protect his family. An early Philadelphia print depicting this incident, will be found herein. For further interesting details in the early history of Vincennes, see "Indiana, From Frontier to Industrial Commonwealth" Lewis Historical Pub. Co., N.Y., 1954.

During Harrison's second conference with Tecumseh in mid 1811 the full Troop of 80 dragoons, "with swords at their sides and pistols in their belts, sat opposite the Indians" See "History of the Late War in the Western Country" M'Afee, 1816, (pp. 22; 25) also "The Pictorial Field-Book of the War of 1812" B.J. Lossing, 1868, (192; 205).

The military records of the appendix herein, reveal on Sept. 22, 1810, Governor Harrison appointed Benjamin Parke as Captain of Cavalry in the Ist Regt., Indiana Militia, and Thomas Emison, Ist Lieutenant in same. Actually they were the Commanding Officer and Executive Officer, respectively, of the Vincennes Troop. On Sept. 9, 1811, George Wallace, Jr., was appointed 2nd Lieutenant in the "Vincennes Troop, Light Dragoons."

Benjamin Parke, born Sept. 2, 1777 in New Jersey, came to the new Indiana Territory in January 1801. In 1804, he built a large frame house at "Parke Place" on ground provided from Gov. Harrison's own plantation. He married Eliza Barton June 5, 1806 in Lexington, Ky. He served as an advisor and confidant of the Governor; as Attorney General of the Territory; was elected its Delegate to Congress; and was appointed U.S. Judge of the "General Court" in 1808. He was appointed U.S. District Judge for Indiana when it became a State in 1816, and served until he died Aug. 12, 1835 at Salem, Ind. He was also Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Vincennes University. Parke County was named after him.

Thomas Emison, as First Lieutenant and Executive Officer of the Vincennes Troop, was possibly the only officer, with previous experience as such, before leaving Scott Co. Ky. George Wallace, Jr., was the son-in-law of Gen. John Gibson, Territorial Secretary and Acting Governor, during Harrison's absence, in War of 1812. (See military records in appendix, as to Thomas Emison's command of this Troop at Tippecanoe). His subsistence voucher, "on Tippecanoe Expedition" covered the period Sept. 16th to Nov. 19th, 1811.

Among the more familiar names of the Soldiers in this Troop, at Tippecanoe were:-- Sergeants Wm. Harner, John McClure; Corporals Charles Allen (see Allen Family herein), SAMUEL EMISON (a Militia, and Thomas Emison, 1st Captain of the Indiana Militia, and Thomas DuBois, Jr. (son of Capt. Poussant DuBois. See Baird Family)

On Sept. 26, 1811, Governor Harrison left Vincennes for Prophetstown, near Lafayette, with about 900 troops, consisting of Indiana and Kentucky Militia and part of the 4th U.S. Infantry Regt., under Col. Boyd. About 30 of the Militia, including the Vincennes Troop, comprised a Squadron of Dragoons, under Major J.H. Daviess (mortally wounded, early in battle, and replaced by promotion of Captain Parke). Enroute, they kept near the Wabash River, stopping October 3rd, on some high ground 2 miles north of Terre Haute, where Fort Harrison was built. After leaving a small garrison there, they arrived at Tippecanoe on November 6th, the evening before the battle, concerning which there are numerous records as to this Troop, its officers and men.
(Finely engraved quotation under line "Battle of Tippecanoe")

"UPON ONE OCCASION AS HE (GEN. HARRISON) WAS APPROACHING AN ANGLE OF THE LINE AGAINST WHICH THE INDIANS WERE ADVANCING WITH HORRIBLE YELLS, LIEUT. EMERSON (THOMAS EMISON) OF THE DRAGOONS SEIZED THE BRIDLE OF THE HORSE AND EARNESTLY ENTREATED THAT HE WOULD NOT GO THERE, BUT THE GOVERNOR PUTTING SPURS TO HIS HORSE, PUSHED TO THE POINT OF ATTACK, WHERE THE ENEMY WERE RECEIVED WITH FIRMNESS, AND DRIVEN BACK." (pp. 35-6; "History of the Late War in the Western Country" R.B. McAfée, Lexington, Ky., 1816)

"LITH & PUB BY M. CURRIER, 2 SPRUCE ST., N.Y.,--- in YEAR 1840."
The boulder, which has rested for over a century on the lawn of the old Rabb-Emison home in Vincennes, recalls to the author, his childhood memories of a romantic legend. It was brought down from Ft. Knox, where it is said this boulder was used as a trysting seat by Jefferson Davis, a new Lieutenant at his first army post, and Sallie Taylor, daughter of Zachary, who had returned to visit her native Vincennes. Some might smile at this legend, but not Jeremiah Donovan, who also sat on this boulder with Miss Wyant his future wife, and who brought it to his home, later owned by Dr. Rabb.

Jefferson Davis (1808-1889) graduated from West Point in 1828 and was assigned, as a 2nd Lieutenant, to the garrison at Ft. Knox, established June 11, 1803, some 3 miles above Vincennes on the river. Over the objections of Col. Taylor, this young couple eloped and were married in June 1835, when Davis resigned as 1st Lieut., 1st Dragoons. And they settled at "Brierfield" Warren Co., Miss.

Gen. Zachary Taylor became President on March 4, 1849 and died at the White House on July 4, 1850. In 1808, he was appointed as a 1st Lieut., and was later a Captain, in command at Ft. Knox. He lived at a cottage built by Benjamin Parke, at lst & Hart Sts. In Vincennes, where his daughter Sarah was born. In September 1812, Capt. Taylor was given command of Ft. Harrison, near Terre Haute, and this family moved away. The rest of his career is well known.

Thus the old Territorial Capital at Vincennes was the residence of three "future Presidents" during the young and formative periods of their careers—Harrison, Taylor, and Davis of the Confederacy. COUNCIL AT VINCENNES: GENERAL HARRISON AND TECUMSEH
August 1810

To lay the background for this epic of spiritual influence in the wilderness, we must return over a century and a half, to 1802. Indiana Territory, with its 6500 pioneers, had been in existence for less than two years, since July 4, 1800.

In 1800 Kentucky was the seat of a great evangelical movement within the Baptist Church. Shortly afterward, the movement started in the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches. But until 1802, there was no church for the Presbyterians in Indiana Territory. There had been a few sorties by various ministers to the new homes of their members "northwest of the Ohio River." However, the people felt the earnest need, to be "supplied" by spiritual guidance they had left behind in their homes and churches in Kentucky and the east.

So it was, when Samuel Thornton Scott had been in Vincennes to teach at the new Jefferson Academy (organized in 1801 and later renamed the Vincennes University. The obituary of Scott by Rev. W.W. Martin, in "The Western Luminary" April 2, 1828, shows that after finishing his education (at Transylvania Academy in Lexington, KY) Scott went to Vincennes to teach. While there, he felt called upon to preach, and later returned to Kentucky where he placed himself under the West Lexington Presbytery April 15, 1802, as a candidate for the ministry. He was licensed there on Dec. 28, 1803. So he was in Vincennes prior to the first date.

It is understood, that in 1802, the first informal gathering of Presbyterians was held in the barn of Col. John Small, 1½ miles north of Vincennes (later known as the "McKinney farm") and Scott preached a lay sermon on that occasion. More than a decade earlier Col. Small was the Sheriff of the new Knox Co. Northwest Territory created in 1790, encompassing the present states between the Mississippi and Miami Rivers, and extending from the Ohio River, north of Ft. Dearborn (Chicago). The first "Quarter Session of the General Peace" was convened at his home. It is further known that Reverend Scott made a number of "missionary calls" from Kentucky into the area of Vincennes, during 1802-1805, on which latter date he became the first permanent pastor of the Indiana Church.

It was not until 1804 that a sermon was delivered by an ordained minister. The sermons of that year, together with those of 1805 and 1806, were delivered at the express direction of the Transylvania Presbytery of the Kentucky Synod, which sent Reverend Samuel Rannels, Samuel B. Robertson, James McCreary and Thos Clelland into Indiana Territory on several missionary excursions. The latter was sent to Vincennes in 1805, at the request of Mrs. William Henry Harrison, a Presbyterian. Rev. Clelland delivered his first sermon at the Governor's mansion. It is said that "Governor Harrison, an Episcopalian, held the candle by which Rev. Clelland could read the Lord's Holy word to those assembled in the Council Chamber." This episode was also attributed to Rev. William Winans, the first Methodist minister in Vincennes, and a friend of Harrison's.

In 1806, Rev. Samuel B. Robertson appeared in Vincennes, having been directed there apparently by the Transylvania Presbytery. While there he organized the Indiana Church in the abovementioned barn of Col. Small, where just four years previously Reverend Scott had preached to the first congregation of Presbyterians. In that same year, 1806, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church passed a resolution "that Mr. Samuel T. Scott, of the Presbytery of West Lexington, be a missionary for three months in Indiana Territory, and especially in Vincennes."

October 10, 1808 marks the official beginning of Rev. Scott's tenure as the first permanent minister in Indiana Territory and of the Indiana Church. However, he was not the first of the St. Pleasant and Indiana Creek Churches in Kentucky until after being in Vincennes for some time. The foregoing was confirmed from the Minutes of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia 1808 (pp.215-16) "---that a representative of the Transylvania Presbytery, Synod of Kentucky, stated the "Indiana Church" was able to support a pastor." In the following year, 1809, the Territorial Legislature was petitioned, and incorporated the "Indiana Church," under an Act approved December 7, 1810, with John Ochiltree, John Gibson, William McClure, Samuel Thompson and Joseph Williams as Trustees.

Reverend Scott was highly regarded as a scholar and administrator, as well as a popular preacher. He was chosen as President of the virile young Vincennes University in 1807, the year before he became the first permanent pastor of the Indiana Church. And he held Communion "in the Seminary" on October 22, 1826, before completing "his scan of life" the next year.

Reverend Stephen Bliss visited Scott in Vincennes in 1824, and later reported on a Communion Service witnessed there, as follows. "Reverend Scott's meeting was held 5 to 7 miles north of Vincennes (Upper Congregation). Long before, Mr. Scott had erected a platform in the woods—with rustic benches. Often these meetings numbered more than a thousand hearers."

Many of the activities of the Indiana Church concerned areas north and east of Vincennes. However, many of the church services and most of its official meetings were held in the original county courthouse, at 4th & Buntin Streets in Vincennes. There, met the Salem Presbytery; the Wabash Presbytery; the Indiana Home Missionary Society; the Synod of Indiana, in 1826 and 1828. There, Reverend Bliss was ordained; Reverend Scott and his son-in-law, Samuel R. Alexander were successively installed as pastors of the Church; and the latter organized the first temperance society. Col. Robert Buntin allowed this first courthouse to be erected on his land in 1808. And the Country Trustees, Samuel Emison, Daniel McClure and J.P. Beddolet (all Presbyterians) acquired title to this land for Knox County, on August 21, 1823.

Rev. Samuel Thornton Scott died on December 30, 1827 and was buried at the cemetery in Vincennes. He was succeeded by his son-in-law, Rev. Samuel Rennels Alexander, who was installed as pastor in a ceremony at the courthouse, in October 1828. He was promised a yearly salary of $100, but less than a third of this was subscribed on January 1, 1829. Among some of the more familiar names were Jacob Kuykendall, John G. Holland, Samuel Thorn, John RoC, William Burdick, George W. Bwing, William J. Heberd, Samuel Judah and Solomon Shuler. Later, Rev. Alexander's "Treasury Book" shows the subscriptions of Thomas Emison, 1831-33; James Denny, 1832-36; John C. Holland, and William Burdick, 1845-47.

Concerning the "Vincennes Portion," John Bruner deeded it Lot 219 at 5th & Busserson Sts., on December 14, 1829. The "brick church was dedicated on April 16, 1831. It was finally separated from the Indiana Church during Dec. 30, 1832-Jan. 5, 1833. As in many congregations, during the Civil War, the Union adherents organized the Second Presbyterian Church April 20, 1862. Its Trustees, W.H. McCord, Hubbard M. Smith and Moses Tyler bought part of Lot 234, near 5th & Main Sts., from G.P. Smith on June 4, 1863 (Deed Bk.92; p.07) The new brick church was erected that year. During 1873-00, the Manse, adjoining it on the east, was used as a Sunday School, after the two congregations were again united as "The Presbyterian Church of Vincennes", at 5th & Busserson Sts., on May 19, 1873 (Lot 219; Deed Bk.22; p.47). A new brick church was erected in 1884 and enlarged in 1896, as the present First Presbyterian Church.

Concerning the "Upper Portion" or congregation, the original site was at the "Sinking Springs Meeting House" in the north corner of Donation 72 (1 1/3 miles below Bruceville on State Road 67). This site was on the land of Daniel McClure, Clerk of the Session of the Indiana Church, who had bought Don. 72 on September 4, 1815 (Bk.G; p.257; 10/17/1835) It is understood that a tent was first used by this congregation about 1806. Certainly it was in existence before the road petition of 1812 signed by Thomas, John and Samuel Emison; also James Scott, Charles Allen, Peter Ruby and others "of the neighborhood of Ochiltree, when (they) have occasion to go to said Meeting House." They petitioned for a road from Small's Creek to Emison's Mills, being a cart road to branch out of County Road.
leading from Vincennes to the "Upper Settlements on Maria Creek," on land of Daniel McClure, and pass by the SINKING SPRINGS MEETING HOUSE and terminate at (Emison's) mills. On May 16, 1815 Daniel McClure confirmed by deed of gift, 1 acre in north corner of Don. 72 "on which the PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE now stands." (Bk.A: p. 206; 6/23/1815). Also on July 31, 1815, Patrick Simpson made a deed of gift: 100 acres (endowment farm) in Don. 1; "whereas at present there are TWO MEETING HOUSES--one in the neighborhood of William Purcell (in Don. 182, adjoining the Sinking Springs Meeting House) and the other in the neighborhood of Ephraim Jordan (Don. 7, near the Lower Meeting House; Bk.A: p. 290; 3/1/1816)."

In 1818, Samuel Thompson was Supervisor of a road from SINKING SPRINGS MEETING HOUSE which passed through his land (in Dons. 181-182) and intersected the road from Vincennes to Emison's Mill.

The year 1815 seems to have been one of change (and confusion to present day historians) in Indiana Church history. The earliest records of the Session, now available, start in 1812. Communion was held at the Upper Meeting House July 31, 1815; at the Lower Meeting House, 1st Sabbath in November 1815; and at the Sinking Springs Meeting House, 1st Sabbath in September 1816. These records continue to show that these THREE Meeting Houses were contemporaneous, at least until some time after May 16, 1827 when Communion was held at the Sinking Springs Meeting House. They indicate the Upper Congregation was alternating between, or part of them had moved to, an old log church some 3 miles south, at the site of the present Upper Indiana Church, midway on the old Vincennes-Bruceville road (north corner of Don. 26) (The "Presbyterian Stand" was at Col. Small's.)

That log church was built about 1806 by the Wabash (Baptist) Congregation, first "constituted" at the home of William Bruce, in the Fall of 1807, according to his "Memoirs" mentioned herein. He and others left this church a year or so later, to form the Maria Creek Baptist Church. A cemetery had been previously located there and the first person to be buried was a niece of Thomas Emison, in 1804, while his group camped there overnight, enroute from Kentucky to his new land on Maria Creek. (See narrative of this trip herein)

The Sinking Springs Meeting House evidently continued as such until some time after 1827 and possibly during 1832-1836, on which latter date, the first brick church was built at the present Upper Indiana site. And a number of early graves were brought there from the Sinking Springs cemetery. In 1913, the present brick church replaced the old one.

Among those "first admitted" during Communions at the Sinking Springs Meeting House were: John Ochiltree & wife, April 19, 1815; Margaret (Moessman) McClure and Catherine (McClure) Hogue, August 20, 1820; THOMAS EMISON, Andrew Armstrong and WM Alexander, on May 30, 1824; John and Robert McCord & wives; WM Denny & wife, May 29, 1825. However, they were buried at the Upper Indiana Cemetery.

Concerning the "Lower Portion" or "Lower Meeting House" it was referred to in the plat of land so "dedicated" in 1809 by John and Abel Westfall. It is also the present site about 5 miles southwest of Vincennes, on the Monroe-City road. (West quarter of Don. 161) By 1820, the Indiana Church had assumed the responsibility of providing a manse for Reverend Scott, which was the first of 3 built near the Lower Meeting House.

According to one source: On April 6, 1812 the Presbytery designated the rural churches as "Upper Indiana" "Bruceville" and the "Lower Indiana." There is quite a bit of confusion about this, as some surmise that the "Upper Indiana" of the earliest days was taken bodily to Bruceville, and remained the "Upper Indiana" of Bruceville, and there were not 2 meeting places in that neighborhood.

An Act was approved by the General Assembly of Indiana on January 19, 1849; also by the Presbytery on April 15, 1847, under which the "Lower Portion" retained the name of the Indiana Church, and the "Upper Portion" was designated as the "Upper Indiana Church.

"The Church of Indiana" organized in 1806 by Reverend Sam'l B. Robertson of Transylvania Presbytery, Synod of Kentucky, remained under that jurisdiction until 1615, when it became part of the Miami Presbytery, Synod of Ohio, for two years. In 1523, the Salem Presbytery was constituted, consisting of Indiana and that part of Illinois lying north of the mouth of White River. In 1525, the Salem Presbytery was divided into Madison in the east and Wabash in the west. The name of Wabash Presbytery was changed to the Vincennes Presbytery in 1530, by the Synod of Indiana, which latter, had been organized by the General Assembly on May 29, 1826.

The history of the Indiana Church during 1802-57, was fundamentally the life histories of its two early ministers: Samuel Thornton Scott; also his son-in-law Samuel Rennels Alexander, whose physical influence remained present until his death in 1854.

This church was the predominate influence among the early Indiana families in this book, most of whose members were baptized, married and buried, within the several congregations. This influence radiated outward some 5 to 10 miles from an uneven quadrangle formed by: - the mills of Thomas Emison on Maria Creek, in the northwest; by Bruceville, the pioneer Scotch settlement of his brother-in-law, William Bruce, on the northeast; by the "Lower Fortion" on the southeast; and by Vincennes on the southwest. (See map herein)

NOTE: The foregoing is a synopsis of "A Chronology and History of the Indiana Church, 1802-16" being the thesis or "Senior Paper" at DePauw University, of James Wade Emison, III (Ell). His biographical sketch is shown elsewhere in this book.

The above is intended more as a factual and informative narrative, primarily concerning and affecting the early Indiana families in this book, and for the reader who is learning of this Church for the first time. As such, it is not indicative of the original work, which is an objective and highly researched article containing deductive conclusions, and documented as to certain controversial circumstances, dates and places. For those students of history who may be interested, it is suggested that the original work can be studied for further interesting facts and sidelights.

NOTE: To Mrs. John M. (Eliza Hadion) Brevoort, is due the credit for identifying the Sinking Springs Meeting House.
It is known that the group which included Abraham Lincoln (are 21) left Gentryville, Spencer Co. Ind., on March 1st, and arrived near Decatur, Macon Co. Ill., on March 25, 1830. After minute research by highly qualified and competent authorities, one might infer that the exact route of this group over more than 220 miles of trails would have been well identified after 65 to 100 years. Yet in Knox Co. Ind., alone, their specific route seems to have been rather tortuous and confused in mystery (See Knox Co. herein).

Among several routes indicated then were, (a) the "Buffalo Trace" to Vincennes. From Vincennes, it could have been up the old stagecoach road to "Emisons Mill", thence northwest to "Emisons Landing" on the Wabash, and across the ford (or McCarty's Ferry) to Russellville, Ill. (b) a second route the "Louisville Road" to Vincennes, and thence to Russellville, as above. (c) a third route entered the county at "Apraw Ford". From this point (in Donation 15:) one fork of the "Arrow Trail" ran southwest to the Louisville road. But there was another well defined Indian trail from Apraw Ford, passing northwest to a point near Bruceville (a former Indian meeting ground); then (1) southwest where it joined the Bruceville road to Vincennes. (2) continued northwest to Emisons Mill; to Emisons Landing; across to Russellville; and north to Palestine, Ill., a former Indian ground. (See Knox Co. Road Petition of May 22, 1826, for a road from Arrow Ford to "Thomas Emison's mill"

It is now known that the Lincoln party entered Knox County at Apraw Ford; that they left it by ferry across the Wabash at Vincennes; that they traveled west across the flooded prairie, and a ferry across the Embarrass River, into Lawrenceville, Ill. that they then turned northeast, again crossing the Embarrass by another ferry, and thence through "the Purgatories" (swamps) to Russellville; and then to Palestine. At the Illinois Republican Convention of May 9, 1860, Lincoln said he would remember the trip (through Lawrenceville to Russellville) "as long as he lived. Notwithstanding the above, somewhat similar difficulties were indicated in the passage through Knox County, before crossing to Illinois at Vincennes.

William Weston Clarke Emison (B12) whose biographical sketch is shown elsewhere herein, often related to his son, John Wesley, and his grandson, James Wade, that Abraham Lincoln, his father's family and that of Mr. Hanks, stopped in front of the Emison home in 1830 (see map); that young Lincoln stated they had come enroute from southern Indiana and that they were moving to the Sangamon country in Illinois; that he explained they had come around by way of Bruceville because of the deep sand on the more direct "stage" road from Vincennes to Emisons Mill; that when they reached Bruceville, they proposed to turn west on the road (passing Emisons Mill and Emisons Landing) to the ford across the Wabash at Russellville; and that they talked of this former meeting in 1833, when Lincoln returned to Bruceville for a speech and political revival, during the campaign of 1844. Joseph Van Water of "Vandalia" near Emisons Mill, later related during 1872-73, that the Lincolns traveling west in 1830, had camped overnight by the mill; that he saw and talked to them at that time, as to where they came from and where going. W.A. Taylor's mother and step-father, Dr. McCowen also confirmed the above. W. A. Emison had the reputation for being laconic and for instinctively separating facts from fiction or imagination. There was no doubt of the meeting, among those who heard.

Evidently near Emisons Mill, the Lincoln party learned that Spring floods had made the ford to Russellville dangerous, and McCarty's ferry was not running. And they turned back south down the sandy stagecoach road to Vincennes, for the ferry crossing.

The law firm, of which James Wade Emison, Sr. (F52) was a member, now named Emison & Emison, was established at Vincennes about 1819 by Samuel Judah. History indicates that he was for a time, a partner or associate of General Washington Johnson, a distinguished citizen of Indiana and the first lawyer in Vincennes, where he arrived in 1793, and was prominent in the affairs of the community.

From the order book records and signed pleadings in the Knox County Circuit Court at Vincennes, it appears that the several firm names were as follows: Samuel Judah (1819-38); Judah & Gibson (1838-1842); Samuel Judah (1842-52); Judah & Usher (1852-54); Judah & Denny (1854-60); James C. Denny (1860-67); Denny & Reiley (1867-69); Denny, Reiley & Johnson (1869-72); Reiley & Johnson (1872-79); Reiley, Johnson & Niblack (1881-85); Reiley & Niblack (1886-89); Reiley & Emison (1889-99); James Wade Emison (1899-1901); Emison & Moffett (1901-07); James Wade Emison (1907-17); Emison & Hoover (1917-31); Emison & Emison (1931-todate).

Samuel Judah (1798-1859) graduated from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N.J., in 1816 and was a clerk and student for two years in the law office of George Wood, Esq., of that city, who sent his certificate (Feb. 20, 1819) and letter (May 5, 1819) to his friend Isaac Blackford of Vincennes (Judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana, 1816-52, and the author of Blackford's Indiana Reports) concerning Judah, the originals of which are now on the walls of the firm offices. Mr. Judah was admitted to the bar in the East in 1818 when 20 years of age and shortly thereafter left for Vincennes where he remained a short period. The Sullivan County Circuit Court was established in 1819 at Merom, 25 miles north of Vincennes, near the Wabash River. And Mr. Judah went there to commence the practice of law. In a short time he returned to Vincennes where he resumed his practice for the remainder of his life. For further legal and family details, see "Pioneer Families of Knox and Sullivan Counties, Indiana" Estelle Emison (F61) Chairman, Gen. Com., DAR, Vincennes.

Further names of all the former and deceased members of the firm are as follows: George R. Gibson; Nathaniel Usher (1827-1873) father of the late Admiral Nathaniel Usher, was appointed United States Judge for the Territory of New Mexico; James C. Denny (1829-1887) withdrew from the firm to become the Attorney General of Indiana; Captain George G. Reiley (1811-1900); William C. Johnson (1813-1925); William C. Niblack (1854-1920) son of Congressman Niblack, who became Judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana, and a brother of the late Admiral F. Niblack. He withdrew from the firm to practice law in Chicago, where he became President of Illinois Trust Co.; James Wade Emison (1859-1917) is discussed in his biographical (F52) sketch elsewhere herein; William S. Moffett (1853-1907) died while a member of the firm; as did Captain Reiley and James Wade Emison; William S. Hoover (1862-1941) withdrew from the firm Jan. 1, 1931, to become Judge of the Knox Circuit Court, and while so serving died July 15, 1941.

The present members of Emison & Emison are Ewing Emison, a son, John Rabb Emison, a son, and Ewing Rabb Emison, Jr., a grandson of James Wade Emison, Sr. For further information concerning them, see their respective biographical sketches elsewhere herein.

This firm has served as a law school for the community for a century, where many lawyers obtained their legal education as well as training and experience in the practice of law.
CHARTS & BIOGRAPHIES
EMISON FAMILY - KENTUCKY

A1 THOMAS EMISON, was the father of Hugh and Ash, according to oft repeated legends among their descendants. However, no conclusive evidence nor records have been found in America indicating that Thomas himself brought these sons from Ireland in 1761-62. Other than the THOMAS EMISON listed in the 1st Federal Census of Frederick Co. Va., 1782, the records of the various THOMAS EMERSONS, in Virginia, Pennsylvania and elsewhere, indicate no probability of relationship to Hugh and Ash. No further trace of the above THOMAS EMISON could be found. But there was a THOMAS EDMONSON in Winchester, Frederick Co. Va., who sold Martin Reyle some property there on 6/11/1783. (See Reiley Family herein) And there were numerous families of EDMONDSONS and EDMISTONS in West Nottingham Twp., Chester Co. Pa., and the surrounding areas, when Hugh and Ash were living there in 1773-74. Sir James Edmondson held important offices under James VI of Scotland. And William Edmondson was among the first of the Quakers in Ireland. (See "EMISON--ORIGIN of NAME" in foregoing pages).

B1 JAMES,

m- /17 , Mary

He is believed to have been the older brother and Guardian, who brought the minor brothers Hugh and Ash, from Ireland to JAMES-TOWN (?Cecil Co. Md?) during 1761-62. Hugh and Ash named their eldest sons James.

Under "Early Emison History in America," also in the appendix herein, will be found numerous records on a "JAS EMERSON" in Philadelphia during 1767-1770:- (a) Application for survey of 155 acres (below Chambersburg, Pa) later in hands of Hugh. (b) "At the Sign of the Sugar Loaf"----"recently from the Metropolis of Ireland." (c) Leader of the original Methodist class and a Trustee of Saint George's Church, 9/11/1770. (d) Witness to the Will of ADAM HOOPES of "Summerseat" Falls Twp., Bucks Co. Pa., 6/7/1771. His estate at Philadelphia Courthouse #79/1771, reveals that James was aged 27, and his wife MARY EMERSON was legatee for £100. The "Release" for this legacy was signed 7/8/1771, by "JAS EMERSON of Bucks Co.

Hoopes had one of his early gristmills near the 155 acre survey of James, below Chambersburg. Presumably James, and possibly his brothers Hugh and Ash, were associated with Hoopes, at the latter's stores and/or mills, in Cumberland Co; Philadelphia; and in Bucks Co. See James Emerson (Jr?) (1761-1826) in Hunterdon Co. in New Jersey and at Philadelphia. Further records were unidentified.

Again, JAMES may have moved to Kentucky with Hugh and Ash in 1780 or later. See appendix for Survey for JAMES EMISON, 11/10/1777 Nelson Co. Ky; 400 acres. Further records of this James not found.

E11 WILLIAM W. EMISON, b-6/28/1839, Ralls Co. Mo., son of James Ash & Susan L. (Turley) Emison (D6); James (C1); Hugh (B2); Thomas (Al).

In 1859, the news of gold and silver discoveries in Colorado, Nevada and the Oregon country was stirring the imagination of adventurous pioneers. Then 20 years of age, William had acquired a sound basic education in the schools of Ralls Co. Mo. After unsuccessful prospecting in Oregon, during 1859-61, he came to the conclusion that the true wealth of that country lay in the settlement of its fertile valleys. Eventually he returned to Ralls County but his experience left him with the determination to settle in Oregon after the War.

In 1870, near Kansas City, he married Mary B. Rice, b-6/20/1849 in Ralls Co. Mo.

At that time, accompanied by his wife and his younger brother, Matthew, he chartered a boat and pushed up the Missouri River as far as possible, then continued overland via the Oregon Trail. His son, Sanford Napoleon, was born at Baker City, Ore., in 1872.

William, with his brother Matthew, again tried prospecting and placer mining. But eventually William bought a large tract of land in the Snake River valley, near Ontario. There he became interested as one of the prominent stockmen in that country, until he died on 4/2/1900. His widow, Mary, died 3/9/1915 at Portland, Ore.

BATTLE OF TIFFEEANCE

OCT 15 1776 JUNE 2 1836
William Weston Clarke Emison, eldest son of Thomas and Jennet (Holmes) Emison, was born June 15, 1804 in Knox Co. Ind., at White Oak Springs (now Petersburg, Pike Co) during the migration of his parents from Scott Co. Ky., to Indiana. Other versions indicate he was born "near Georgetown, Ky." He was named after his distinguished maternal grandfather, Col. Clarke. See CLARKE FAMILY.

On Nov. 24, 1825, he married Elizabeth King Posey, born Aug. 18, 1799 in Beaufort, S.C., daughter of Rev. Richard, Jr., and Frances (Allen) Posey of South Carolina and Indiana. See POSEY FAMILY.

Shortly thereafter, they resided in Jefferson Co. Indiana for several years before returning to Washington Twp., in Knox Co.

In March 1830, young Abraham Lincoln accompanied his parents and others, from their old home in Spencer Co. Ind., to Macon Co., Ill. This party paused before entering Bruceville, in front of the Posey farm, where Mr. Emison talked with them, and first met the future President. Their acquaintance was renewed when Lincoln returned to Bruceville in the Whig campaign of 1844, and they discussed the previous meeting. Mr. Emison and his son, John Wesley Emison, were personal friends of President Lincoln. They admired and supported him actively during the Civil War. See LINCOLN WAY herein.

Mr. Emison had settled on his farm, less than a mile southeast of Bruceville, which adjoined the Posey farm on the north. During 1840-44, he purchased the Posey farm from the remaining 7 heirs. On his own farm, he established a tannery, which had been in operation 30-40 years, according to his short biographical sketch of Sept. 1873, in the "Vincennes Sun." He had also "embarked in the milling business at Bruceville in 1854, and continued in it at various points, up to his establishment of (St. Louis Mills) in Vincennes" where he then resided. On his farm there was also a distillery and a sawmill. According to the diary of his younger brother, James Madison, on March 20, 1853, "Weston got his new sawmill started. The two circular saws ran like a top.

It is understood Mr. and Mrs. Emison moved to Vincennes about Nov. 20, 1862, when her mother, Frances (Allen) Posey died. Their Bruceville home was occupied by their son, John Wesley, who bought all his father's properties except two residences on Broadway at the north corner of 8th St., and a small farm in Johnson Twp. This purchase also included the father's interest in the St Louis Mills on 11th St., between Oak and Locust Sts., and the four blocks directly to the southeast, owned jointly with Capt. John R. Callender.

Mr. and Mrs. Emison lived at the home on the corner of Broadway until her death on Feb. 29, 1876, when he returned to live at the new brick mansion of his son, John Wesley, a mile southeast of Bruceville. There he died on Mar. 7, 1881, and was buried beside his wife, at the Upper Indiana Church cemetery.

NOTE: It is understood that Reverend Wade Posey, with his brother in law, W.W.C. Emison, were keenly interested in the establishment and growth of Indiana Asbury College (now DeFauw University). His son, John Wesley Emison, Sr. (E42) was the first "Emison Trustee" (1880-1889). His grandson, James Wade Emison, Sr. (F52) was the first Trustee in his generation, followed by his younger brother, John Wesley Emison, Jr. (F51) who represented the Indiana (Methodist) Conference on the Board of Trustees and Visitors, from 1912 until his death in 1932. In 1951, his great grandson, John Rabb Emison, (G33) was elected as Alumnae Representative on the Board.

A perusal of the biographical sketches herein, reveals James Wade Emison, Sr. (Class of 1882) was the first of some 26 members of this family to enter DeFauw, which included 7 of their wives.

He was also a Trustee of Vincennes University. (See p. 213).

1859: HOME OF W.W.C. EMISON (D12) VINCENNES 1952
JOHN WESLEY EMISON, Sr., (E-42) 81

John Wesley Emison, Sr., second son of William Weston Clarke and Elizabeth (Posey) Emison, was born Jan. 12, 1829, at their early home, one mile east of Bruceville, Knox Co., Ind.

On March 25, 1856, at Bruceville, he married Sarah Emelia Dunning, daughter of Spencer Spear and Emily Emelia (Reiley) Dunning, who was born March 7, 1839, and died Sept. 17, 1874, near Bruceville.

After her death, he married second, on Feb. 6, 1875, Anna M. Shugart, born Feb. 2, 1835. She survived him some 32 years, and died on March 31, 1920, at Vincennes, where she was buried at Greenlawn.

In his early manhood, John Wesley became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was ever an active worker in its behalf, and a generous contributor to its support.

During the Civil War, he offered his services to the Union, but was rejected because of the condition of his health. Not allowed active duty at the front, he became the confidential agent of Indiana's War Governor, Morton, during that doubtful period in his area. Further, he made every effort to look after the wives and children and other dependents of those who were bearing arms.

The following is quoted largely from the "History of Old Vincennes and Knox County," by George Greene, 1911. On attaining his majority, John W. Emison turned his attention to large scale farming and milling, and followed these pursuits throughout his entire life, yet he also extended his efforts to stock raising and general merchandising. In the latter connection he joined with two neighbors in the firm of Roberts, Emison and Steffy. This firm handled drygoods, groceries, clothing and lumber. His first milling experience was at Bruceville. After the war, he secured a mill at Wheatland, 10 miles southeast, in partnership with Mr. Evans. There, he also became a partner, with Hugh Barr, in a general store. In connection with the grist mill, he also had a sawmill and tannery in operation. Shortly after the birth of his son, Hugh Ash, on March 7, 1866, he returned to Bruceville. And two years later he bought the old Posey farm on July 28, 1868, from his father. Mr. Hugh Barr, for many years his partner and business associate, said of John Wesley Emison, "in all my dealings with him, there never was bad feeling between us, never one word that was harsh or short, and I was with him for 35 years. He was always a sober, moral and agreeable man. To know him was to love him."

Some years after the war, Mr. Emison entered the milling business, in Vincennes, with John R. Callender, under the firm name of Emison & Callender. The mills were known as the St. Louis Mills at 10th and Oak Sts., and were in successful operation for many years. During this same period, he also engaged in the milling business, in Princeton, Ind., with his son-in-law, Henry J. Barr.

Mr. Emison was a man of notably sound business judgment and discrimination; and his investments were judiciously made. As the years passed, he continued adding to his lands, until they aggregated nearly 4,000 acres. In later years he devoted much of his time to the study and application of scientific farming. His experiments on the control of the Hessian fly, and the proper time of wheat planting, were later confirmed by the agricultural department of Purdue University, the state school.

Shortly before or after the death of his first wife, Sarah Emelia, in September, 1874, Mr. Emison built a handsome brick mansion, on his farm, a mile south of Bruceville. A picture of this home, taken in 1917, is shown elsewhere in this book.

Mr. Emison died there, on March 16, 1898. And he was buried at the Upper Indiana Church Cemetery, beside his first wife.

The children of John Wesley, Sr., and Sarah Emelia (Dunning) Emison, who reached maturity, are shown in the following biographical sketches. They were, James Wade Sr.; Martha Olive; John Wesley Jr.; Hugh Ash; and Elizabeth Ethel.

NOTE: Mr. Emison's uncle, Rev. Wade Posey, was interested in DePauw University. And he was the first "Emison Trustee" (1835-60) followed by two of his sons and a grandson, in later years.

James Wade Emison, Sr., second son of John Wesley, Sr. & Sarah Emison (Dunning). Emison was born Feb. 7, 1859, at the earlier home of his parents, a mile east of Bruceville, Knox Co. Ind.

His early education was received in the grade school at Bruceville, after which he entered the Preparatory Department of Indiana Asbury (now DePauw) University at Greencastle, Ind. In college, he also took a year's course in the school of law. He was a member of the Debating Society (along with James E. Watson and Albert J. Beveridge, later U.S. Senators) and he represented his school in the Indiana Inter-collegiate Oratorical Contest of 1881. He was the first among many members of his family to attend DePauw and to be elected to Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. He graduated at the head of his class with the degree of A.B., 1882. Later he returned and delivered his Master's Oration at Greencastle, upon which he was awarded the degree of M.A., 1888. Beginning in May 1903, he was for a number of years a member of the Board of Trustees of his alma mater.

Upon leaving college, Mr. Emison returned to Bruceville where he assisted in the management of his father's farming, mercantile, milling and other enterprises. After embarking on his legal career he continued a keen and professional interest in advanced scientific methods used on his own extensive farm lands in the vicinity of Emison, Ind. He was an active official of the Knox Co. Fair Association during 1888-94.

On Nov. 27, 1890, at the First Presbyterian Church in Vincennes he married Sada Ross Rabb, born July 2, 1863 at Vincennes, daughter of Dr. John Henry and Susan Eleanor (Sinclair) Rabb. Mrs. Emison was educated at St. Mary's-of-the-Woods at Terre Haute, Ind., and Miss Summer's (now Mt. Vernon) Seminary at Washington, D.C. See RABB FAMILY.

After he had begun the study of law in the offices of George G. Reiley and William C. Niblack, he was admitted to the Bar April 7, 1888, in the Knox Circuit Court at Vincennes, the location of the first court in Indiana. On Jan. 1, 1889, after Mr. Niblack moved to Chicago, Mr. Emison became the junior partner in Reiley & Emison, which continued until the death of Captain Reiley in 1899. Mr. Emison continued the active practice of law until his death. In 1954, Emison & Emison represented the second and third generations, also a continuous legal existence of 135 years. Further details on this law firm, also its connection with the Vincennes University, will be found elsewhere herein. (Trustee, Oct. 3, 1898 until his death)

As a member of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Emison was actively interested in the Vincennes University. Without compensation he represented it successfully in the 1907 Indiana Legislature concerning lands taken from it by the State. In 1910 he represented it in the Indiana Supreme Court, resulting in a settlement of $120,548.

In politics, Mr. Emison believed in the principles of Abraham Lincoln. He was an active leader of the Republican Party in Indiana and was a Delegate to the National Convention at Chicago in 1908.

It was due to Mr. Emison's keen interest as an historian that one of his sons has endeavored to record some of the early times, events and families which helped to form the saga of old Vincennes and the Northwest Territory.

After full and useful lives, Mrs. Emison died on Nov. 25, 1917, and Mr. Emison on Nov. 26, 1917, resulting from a railway accident. They were buried in Fairview Cemetery, leaving for their descendants a record of moral integrity and intellectual attainment difficult to emulate. Among the sentiments and resolutions expressed by representatives of the Bar Associations in Vincennes and the surrounding courts of southern Indiana, was that of Judge Thomas Duncan, a distinguished lawyer of Princeton, who said Mr. Emison "was the epitome of the finest attributes in a Cavalier and a Puritan."

Mr. Emison was a member of the Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church, during his lifetime in Vincennes. He was a Knight Commander in Masonry; a member of the Elks; the Pastime and Columbia Clubs in Vincennes and Indianapolis respectively.

Ewing Emison was born September 19, 1891 at Vincennes, Ind., son of James Wade, Sr., and Sada Ross (Rabb) Emison (F52); John (El2) William (D12); Thomas (C3); Hugh (B2); Thomas (Al)

His early education was received in the Vincennes Public Grade and High Schools, from which he graduated in 1909. During 1906-07, he attended Culver Summer Naval School at Culver, Ind. In September 1909, he entered DePauw University at Greencastle Ind., and graduated A.B., 1913. In college he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity; Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity; and Kappa Tau Kappa, local honor fraternity. He was President of his Phi Psi chapter and active in student affairs. After leaving school he began the study of law in his father's law firm, the history of which is shown herein. He was admitted to the Bar on November 4, 1915, and has since that time diligently engaged in the practice of law. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Indiana State Bar Association, and the International Association of Insurance Counsel.

Mr. Emison has been active in the affairs of the Republican Party of Indiana, commencing with his election as a Precinct Committeeman in 1913, when he was 21, and he so served until 1924. He was 11 times elected as a member of the Indiana Republican State Committee, representing the second (later designated as the seventh) Congressional District, during the period 1920-42, being a longer service than any member of either the Republican or Democratic State Committees. In 1924, he was the Manager of the Indiana primary campaign for President Calvin Coolidge, became a friend of the President, and was a guest at the White House on a number of occasions. In 1924, he was elected Delegate-at-Large, and in 1952, District Delegate, to the Republican National Conventions. In 1928, he was the Indiana Member of the Republican National Committee. In the campaign of 1936, as a friend of the Republican candidate for President, Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, he was the Special Representative of John D.M. Hamilton, Republican National Chairman, in five mid-western states, of which Indiana was one. In the early part of 1951, Senator Robert A. Taft selected his personal and political friends, Senator Raymond E. Willis; Judge Arch N. Bobbit; former Secretary of State, F.E. Schortmeier and Mr. Emison to represent him in the State of Indiana in his campaign for the Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket. They organized the Indiana Taft-for-President Committee, which conducted his successful campaign for the Delegates from Indiana to the Republican National Convention.

As a child he heard his father make many public speeches urging adequate recognition of the heroic services of General George Rogers Clarke, resulting in the acquisition of the Northwest Territory, by the erection of a federal monument on the site of Fort Sackville at Vincennes, and urging that annual support be given by the State of Indiana to the Vincennes University to partially compensate for its permanent endowment of 20,000 acres of land wrongfully seized and sold by the State. His father's zealous advocacy inspired him as a youth to plan and prepare at an appropriate time to accomplish both for the Vincennes area.

He enlisted the interest and support of President Coolidge for a federal memorial for General Clarke, resulting in the President's request in his annual message of 1927 that a memorial be established and constructed in federal recognition of General Clarke's conquest of the Northwest Territory. Subsequently, at the President's urging, a federal appropriation was made and the memorial constructed on the site of Fort Sackville in Vincennes. Mr. Emison wrote the plank favoring the memorial in the Indiana Republican platform of 1926, as a result of which the Indiana legislation was enacted for the state's participation in the establishment of the memorial. President Coolidge appointed him as a member of the George Rogers Clarke Sesqui-centennial Commission, the federal commission, on June 9, 1928, the life of which was extended by Congress until it expired in 1939, after the completion of the construction of the memorial. In 1926, Governor Ed Jackson appointed him to the George Rogers Clarke Memorial Commission, the Indiana commission, for a term of four years and he was re-appointed by Governor McNutt, Governor Leslie and Governor Townsend, serving until the Commission terminated following the construction of the memorial.

He was elected as a Member of the Board of Trustees for Vincennes University on April 1, 1916, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father. He continued the services of his paternal grandfather, Rabb, who served from 1866 until his death in 1898, and his father, who served from 1898 until his death in 1917. With the aid of his friend, Governor Ralph F. Gates, he successfully sponsored a law enacted by the 1947 Session of the Indiana General Assembly which gives support to Vincennes University from the Indiana state school tuition fund.

Due to his interest and experience, at the request of the Corps of Engineers, United States Army, and Governor Ralph F. Gates, he wrote the Indiana Flood Control Act enacted by the 1945 Session of the Indiana General Assembly, creating the Indiana Flood Control and Water Resources Commission, and has been appointed as a member thereof by Governors Gates, Schricker and Craig. This pioneer legislation has been used as a model by many other states.

On November 21, 1920, at Hutchinson, Kansas, he married Tuley Louise Shepherd, daughter of Edwin Stanton and Allela Allen (Walker) Shepherd of Hutchinson. See SHEPHERD FAMILY elsewhere herein.

Mrs. Snison was born December 21, 1899, at "Grouseland" the historic old Harrison home at Vincennes, where her family resided when her uncle and father owned and operated the paper mills nearby. Her earliest memories were impressed with the romantic legends of this land mark, further details of which are mentioned elsewhere herein, in an article on General Harrison, by her son, Thomas.

After graduating from the Hutchinson High School in 1917, she attended Kansas University for two years, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and active in student affairs.

Mr. Ewing has always been a member of the First Presbyterian Church. His fraternal and social societies are the Pastime Club, subsequently merged with the Harmony Society; the Country Club; the Elks Lodge; the Columbia Club of Indianapolis.

JAMES MADISON EMISON(D15)

James Madison Emison, third son of Thomas and Jennet (Holmes) Emison, was born May 11, 1812, at the large two story log home adjoining the postoffice of Emison's Mill, Ind. His early education was received at the private subscription school nearby.

On Jan. 31, 1836, he married Emmeline Scott, born Nov. 20, 1814, daughter of Thomas and Rebecca (Haddon) Scott, a prominent family in the community. See following; also SCOTT FAMILY herein.

Some 6 months after his marriage, the death of his father, Thomas, brought added responsibilities to James, in the active supervision of the various activities in the mills and the lands around them. Later he bought a large additional acreage of land on Passeron Prairie.

By the year 1850, Mr. Emison had a family of 5 children. And it was about this time that he removed the old log home, and built a large 13 room, two story home at the same site, a photograph of which can be seen elsewhere herein.

As the business activities of James Madison became more complex, he started a diary on Sept. 14, 1857, which he continued until 3 weeks before his fatal illness and death in 1861. It was from this diary, recently published by Miss Estelle Emison, his granddaughter, that the following extracts were taken. They describe the color, driving power and philosophy of this leader more effectively than the usual obituary.

Jan. 20, 1860: "Went to the (Shaker) Prairie; the man on the farm feeding his stock out of my corn, so that made me mad. Heard that run off - he got sacks to put wheat in for me to pay for flour, so he cleared the country, so I did not like that. So goes the world."

June 26, 1860: "I went down to ---- big Democratic convention. They had a big day both in trickery and drunkenness and fighting. They made their nominations by management, and not doing justice to them that were worthy. The men that treated the most, with the exception of Hseon, got in."

Dec. 6, 1860: "Stayed in Terre Haute last night; went to Rockville. Good many there (Railroad Jubilee); fine day, and fine time too."

Apr. 27, 1861: "I went to Bruceville---good many there. Quite a war feeling is up. They had a meeting and formed---two companies, one to be subject to call of the Governor anywhere in the state, and the other for a home guard. James P. Martin was elected Capt. of the first, and Andrew Dunn, the second."

Apr. 23, 1861: "The time and troubles are a good deal at present. Weston insisting on joining Harrow's Company (at Vincennes). I joined Home Guard---."

May 11, 1861: "Went to Bruceville---to muster. Good many turned out---quite a stir. Things begin to look like war---everything moving. I am forty nine this day, and I begin to feel it."

On June 1, 1861, Mr. Emison attended a war rally at Roberts Grove, regarding the formation of a volunteer Company. While there a sudden storm arose, from which he had no shelter, and he suffered a "congestive chill," which resulted in his death on June 14, 1861. He was survived by his widow, who died July 1, 1888, at their home. They and most of their children were buried at the Upper Indiana Church cemetery.

Their children were, Thomas, Samuel Ashley, Rebecca Jane, Weston, James, Mary, Martha, Scott, Hugh and John. For further information of them see the following, also "Diary of James Madison Emison & History of Emison's Mills" Estelle Emison, 1947, at D.A.R., Washington, D.C., and Vincennes.

1850: HOME, J.M. EMISON (D15) at EMISON'S MILL 1952.
Samuel Ashley Emison, second son of James Madison and Emmeline (Scott) Emison, was born July 28, 1839, at the large two story log home, near the Postoffice, at Emisons Mill, Knox Co., Ind. He received his early education at the old school, near the mills, in which he became the teacher later. Thereafter he attended and graduated from Indiana University at Bloomington, in 1861. At that time, the sudden death of his father, James Madison, on June 14, 1861, left him, at the early age of 22, as the senior partner in the mills, with his younger brother, James, age 15. And this partnership continued until Samuel returned to study law at Indiana University, from which he graduated with L.L.B., 1872. Soon afterward, he moved to Indianapolis, where he became associated with a Mr. Perkins in the practice of law, until he died there on Jan. 31, 1875. Mr. Emison never married.

SCOTT EMISON (E58).

Scott Emison, fifth son of James Madison and Emmeline (Scott) Emison, was born Sept. 23, 1854, at the new white frame mansion near the mills, a picture of which is shown elsewhere herein. His early education was received in the school near the mill at which his older brother, Samuel Ashley, was the teacher. After this he went to Indianapolis with Samuel, where he attended preparatory and business school. In 1873, he entered Hanover College, in Indiana, which he attended for two years. There he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Scott left college at the age of 21, and entered business in the firm of G. Weinstein & Co., in Vincennes. After three years he joined the firm of Watts Bond at Oaktown, Ind.

In 1879, Mr. Emison returned to Vincennes, where he became the junior partner of J. & S. Emison, with his older brother, James, the details of which are shown elsewhere herein.

Mr. Emison first visited Europe in 1894, during which time he arranged business connections with firms in England, Scotland and Ireland. About five years later he returned to Europe, where he revisited these countries, and spent some time in France. During his return on the S.S. Etruria, the ship encountered a disastrous gale, in which it almost foundered, two of the passengers being in such a panic that they jumped overboard.

After the death of his older brother, James, in 1916, Mr. Emison carried on the management of the business until 1919, when he sold the Atlas Mills, and in 1921, the Baltic Mills.

On Jan. 25, 1941, Mr. Emison died in Vincennes, at the age of 86, after a long and eventful life.

In Masonry Mr. Emison was a Knight Templar; a charter member of the Pastime Club; and an active supporter of the First Presbyterian Church.

NOTE: The present village of Emison, Ind., some two miles west of Emison's Mills, was owned, surveyed and platted by Samuel Ashley Emison (E52) in May 1867. It was a community as early as the year 1810. It was called Emisons Station, on the E & C RR in 1854. Vandalia, was platted Dec. 17, 1839 by Joseph VanMeter, on his farm, about 1½ miles north of Maria Creek, on the Terre Haute stage road. A general store was there until the Civil War. Busseron was referred to as early as 1812. It was platted May 30, 1854 by Thomas Posey Emison (EH1); John Alexander McClure; and William W. Harper.

Oaktown was platted by George Bond on May 20, 1867 and was previously known as Oak Station.
James Emison was born Oct. 15, 1846, at the original two story log home, near Emison's Mill, Ind., son of James Madison and Ernestine (Scott) Emison (D15); Thomas (C3); Hugh (B2); Thomas (A1). He attended the old school near the mills until the sudden death of his father, on June 11, 1861, compelled him to abandon further formal education, at the young age of 15.

Immediately he entered into the active management of the mills and other properties, with his older brother, Samuel Ashley, as the senior member of their partnership.

On Sept. 26, 1872, he married Hulda Maria McClellan, daughter of Starrett and Phoebe Ann (Campbell) McClellan of Knox Co., Ind. She was born Nov. 2, 1845, and died Mar. 15, 1881 in Vincennes, at the birth of her fourth child, James Madison. See McCLELLAN FAMILY.

He continued the management of the mills and other properties until 1879, when he took in his younger brother, Scott, as a junior partner, in the firm of J & S Emison. And the flour mill was moved to Vincennes, some nine miles to the south. This partnership continued until the death of James.

He married second, on July 1, 1885, his second cousin, Mary Eliza Wick Emison (B61) daughter of Hugh Ash and Mary Katherine (Harper) Emison of Knox Co., Ind. She was born on Oct. 20, 1856, and died Sept. 8, 1924 in Vincennes. See her family elsewhere herein.

Mr. Emison participated in politics to the extent that he was more interested in good government, than any particular policy of the Democratic party. As such, he served as County Commissioner and later, as a city Councilman in Vincennes.

After a full and useful life, Mr. Emison died on Independence Day, 1916, at his home on 4th Street in Vincennes.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge; the Pastime Club; and an active supporter of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rebecca Estelle Emison, eldest daughter of James and Huldah Maria (McClellan) Emison, was born July 17, 1873, at the old white mansion, built by her grandfather, James Madison Emison, near Emison's Mill, Ind., some nine miles north of Vincennes.

There she learned to do the things which all country children know; to drive horses, to harness, and to ride them.

The first step in her education was the attendance at the subscription school, near her home, taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Sartor. When the family of James Emison moved to Vincennes in 1882, Estelle and her sister, Maud, attended the public schools in Vincennes until the Fall of 1886, when they transferred to the Vincennes University.

In September 1892, she entered Indiana University at Bloomington, as a Junior, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and took an active part in campus affairs. She graduated in June 1894, with the degree of B.A.

In August 1894, Miss Emison entered the office of her father's and uncle's firm, J. & S. Emison, which owned and operated the Atlas Mills and the Baltic Mills at Vincennes. Shortly thereafter, she became the secretary and assistant of her uncle, Scott Emison. Much of the office work of the mills was under her supervision and responsibility. After the sale of these mills in 1919 and 1924 respectively, she continued as Scott Emison's secretary. And from 1934 until his death in 1941, she looked after the capable and successful management of his business interests and properties, many of which she inherited.

She has been a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Vincennes, and of the American Association of Business Women. With a keen interest in civic affairs, she is a member of the Vincennes Chamber of Commerce; the Fortnightly Club; and has served as Secretary of the Girl Scouts. Politically, she is an earnest believer in the ideals of the Democratic Party.

Miss Emison is an enthusiastic member of Francis Vigo Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and served as Regent of that Chapter in 1932-33. She encouraged its work in genealogy, and called the first meeting to list the graves in all the cemeteries of Knox County. As Chairman of the Genealogical Committee, she assisted in placing a number of valuable books in the Indiana State Library at Indianapolis, and the National Library of the D.A.R. in Washington, D.C. She was on the Committee for the restoration of "Grouseland" the old mansion of General William Henry Harrison, now owned and occupied by the D.A.R. For further information on President Harrison, see the article elsewhere in this book. Miss Emison is a member (2997) of the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames of America.

Among her educational activities, Miss Emison is a charter member of the Vincennes Chapter, American Association of University Women, and a member of the Emeritus Club of Indiana University, comprised of retired professors and graduates past their fiftieth class anniversary. She is now a Trustee of the Vincennes University.

Miss Emison has travelled extensively throughout the United States, seeking to broaden her outlook on life through understanding others. She has been for many years a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Vincennes, and a loyal worker in church organizations.
Samuel McClellan Emison, son of James and Hulda (McClellan) Emison, was born Aug. 8, 1879, at the old mansion built by his grandfather, James Madison Emison, near Emisons Mill on Maria Creek, about 8 miles north of Vincennes, Ind.

His mother died March 15, 1881, while he was still an infant. And he was taken to the home of his maternal grandmother, Phoebe Ann (Campbell) McClellan, where he remained through the early years of his life. Aunt Phoebe Ann, as his grandmother was known, was recognized as the community leader, and this association proved most fortunate to him in shaping the character and ideals of the grandson. On reaching school age, he became a pupil at the old Simpson School, a one room structure located near his grandfathers farm, in which his mother had taught prior to her marriage. He remained there until reaching the fourth grade.

The flour mill had been moved to Vincennes in 1879, and in 1882 his father moved the family to Vincennes, where he resided north of the Methodist Church, on fourth street. At Vincennes, he entered the Vincennes University, completing his grade work, preparatory schooling and two years of college. While there, he became a member of the Cadet Corps, and distinguished himself by being the first and only freshman to win the competitive award known as the Joseph Medal. He graduated from the Vincennes University in 1897. Then he entered Indiana University at Bloomington, where he majored in history and economics. Two years later, at the age of nineteen, he graduated with the degree of A.B., 1899.

Mr. Emison returned to Vincennes where he took up the study of law in the office of his cousin, James Mads Emison, Sr., a leading member of the Republican party in the state. He was admitted to the Bar, and commenced the practice of law in 1900. He was of the opposite political faith to his cousin, and won the nomination for Prosecuting Attorney on the Democratic ticket over a large field of opponents. He was elected to that office in 1902, and again in 1904.

On June 5, 1907, at Vincennes, he was united in marriage with Emily Adams, born Jan. 9, 1881, daughter of John C., and Sarah E. (Culbertson) Adams. Mr. Adams had served as Prosecutor in 1886-89, and was a prominent lawyer at Vincennes. Her mother was the daughter of Col. James L. Culbertson of Edwardsport, who was also a well known lawyer. Mrs. Emison graduated from the Vincennes University. Later she attended and graduated from Butler College at Indianapolis, and Chicago University. Having similar tastes and backgrounds, their marriage proved especially happy.

Mr. Emison inherited the old family home where he was born, near the old mill on Maria Creek. Across the old stage road, now an Indiana highway, is a pasture of high quality native bluegrass, never broken nor plowed for over a hundred years. Mr. Emison spent his summers at the old home, while looking after his farms.

It was through the presence of an Indian Mound on land acquired by Mr. Emison, that he developed his interest in archaeological research, and the hobby of Indian relics. This led to the famous Emison collection of prehistoric objects.

He had a long and successful career in his profession, having practiced law at Vincennes continuously for over forty six years. Mr. Emison died suddenly, from heart attack, on Dec. 1, 1947, at Vincennes, where he was buried.

In Masonry, he was a member of the Blue Lodge, and Knight Templars, at Vincennes, and the Shrine, at Indianapolis.
SAMUEL EMISON was born Sept. 17, 1788, several miles northeast of Georgetown, Ky., son of Hugh & Mary Baird Emison. As a boy of 15, he moved to Knox Co. Ind., with his 3 older brothers, in 1804. At the Battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 7, 1811, he was a Soldier, with his future father-in-law, John McClure, Sgt., in the Vincennes Troop of Light Dragoons, commanded by his older brother, Thomas. On May 14, 1811, he was appointed 3rd Lieutenant in a Squadron of Cavalry, and on September 22, 1816, as a Captain of Cavalry, 1st Regt. Ind. Militia.

When Vincennes was incorporated in 1814, Homer Johnson and Samuel Emison were engaged to make an official survey and plat of town, then extending north to Hart St. On Nov. 18, 1816 the Trustees officially adopted (Johnson & Emison) survey of the "Old Town" which plat is used today. Samuel was Surveyor of Knox Co., 1815-37.

Samuel's brother, John (a Federal Surveyor) and he, organized prior to 1820, a stagecoach line from Evansville to Terre Haute. It was continued by Samuel's son, Hugh Ash, and George Green. Emison Mills and Vandalia, a few miles north, were depots for the change of horses.

"Hugh Ash Emison, at the time of his death, was the oldest member of one of the oldest families in Knox Co., Ind.

The family name was originally that of Emerson. (Possibly true, before the family left Ireland, but subsequent migrations of Emisons from there tend to negate this family legend). In (1761-62, James?) Hugh and Ash (Emison), sons of Sir Thomas Emerson of Ireland, came to America, arriving at Jamestown, after a long and disastrous voyage.

In company with the McClure and Baird families, who were the ancestors of the old and highly respected McClure and Baird families of this county, Hugh and Ash Emison came (in 1775, from Cumberland Co., Pa., to Westmoreland Co., Pa., where they served during the Revolution and from there, in 1780, overland to the headwaters of the Clinch River, where they constructed a flat boat, and floated down the Ohio to (Limestone) a point opposite Georgetown, Ky. Here the group of homesteaders separated—. (In Cumberland Co., 1771) the Emison and Baird families had been united by the marriage of Hugh Emison and Mary Baird. (Ash Emison and Mary Mitchell were believed to have married before leaving Westmoreland Co., Pa.) Hugh Emison, and his wife Mary, and Ash Emison and his family found a home for themselves (north and east) of where the city of Georgetown, Ky., now is, and the McClures and Bairds found their way to (Louisville and Bardstown, and later) to Knox Co., Ind. Mary Baird was the aunt of the late Joe Baird of Brucoville, of the children who were born to Hugh and Mary Emison. (Jane Thomas, John and Samuel, came to Knox Co., in 1800. Martha Emison, the youngest daughter of Hugh and Mary Emison was the mother of Mrs. William Heberd of this city (Vincennes).

One by one they are falling as did the giant trees of the mighty forests they have cleared away.

On Sunday, January 7, 1900, at his home in the city of Trenton, Mo., Hugh Ash Emison passed away after a short sickness of pneumonia. He had been in the enjoyment of unusual health for one of his years, until some 3 or 4 days before his death.

Hugh Ash Emison was born in Knox County, on what is now the William Heberd farm some 3 miles east of the city, on July 19, 1812. His life has covered a mighty span of years. He was born one year before the territory of Indiana was admitted as a State into the Union. He has lived almost three-fourths of the years of our national existence. He has seen the great State of Indiana spring up out of an unbroken wilderness. He has seen Knox County, which he loved, and with his fellow laborers helped to make what it now is, denuded of the primeval forests which covered it in the days of his boyhood, and brought to its present high state of cultivation; he has seen its few scattered settlements grow into its present rich, enlightened, prosperous and progressive population. He has seen the city of Vincennes, of which he was for a quarter of a century, an honored citizen, grow from an insignificant borough into its present splendid proportions.

He had seen the old stage coach line which had its headquarters here, and with which he was connected for a third of a century, gradually supplanted and driven out of existence by our present railway system.

Hugh Ash Emison was married to Mary Katherine Harper, February 15, 1865. Five children were born to them, namely Mary Hugh, now the wife of James Emison, Sr.; Martha H., now the wife of Jefferson Sloat of Trenton, Mo.; John Emison, Sr., now a resident of Tennessee; Thomas Emison, now a resident of Trenton, Mo.; and Samuel who died in infancy.

Mr. Emison left surviving, his two sisters, namely Mrs. Margaret Becket of this city, and Mrs. Mary Fomercy, of Falls Co., Mo.

Hugh Emison was a man of stalwart proportions, and sterling character, and of gentle and kindly ways. He had the respect and friendship of all who knew him. He lived a long eventful and useful life, and measuring it throughout with the Golden Rule. He is coming back home to find a lasting resting place beside his beloved and faithful wife in the beautiful cemetery at the Upper Indiana Church. The funeral will take place from the residence of James Emison (555) at 10:00 A.M., Wednesday.

NOTE: Above obituary is from the "Vincennes Sun" on 1/10/1900 by James Wade Emison, Sr. (552). Additions & corrections in parentheses, from records found more recently, by J.W.E., Jr. (632)

JOHN HUGH EMISON (E63) died Dec. 31, 1917, at his home in Watertown, Tenn. He was born Oct. 20, 1861, on the farm of his father, Hugh Ash Emison, several miles east of Vincennes, Ind.

He received his education in the Public Schools of Vincennes and Knox Co. Thereafter he became an engineer of the old O & M and got to New Mexico in that capacity. There he married Apr. 12, 1909, May Belle Houston (4/9/1867 - 3/2/1918) daughter of William & Sarah (Colyar) Houston of South Pittsburg and Nashville, Tenn. Her Mothor, Sarah (Colyar) Houston (9/22/1836 - 8/12/1912) was a daughter of Col A.S. Colyar, one of Nashville’s most distinguished citizens and one of the few surviving members of the Confederate Congress.
As an author, one of his best known works was "The Life of Andrew Jackson." At the time of his death on Dec. 22, 19 , at his home on 8th Ave., in Nashville, he had passed his 90th birthday.

At the time of his death in Watertown, Tenn., John Hugh Emi-son had been connected with the Nashville Division of the Southern Railroad. During his latter years, as an ardent member of the Methodist Church, and in the midst of his lingering illness, he received a glowing tribute from his Kennedy Bible Class of Lebanon, Tenn.

Mr. Emison’s surviving sisters and brother were Mrs James Emi-son (E61); Mrs Martha Sloat of Trenton, Mo. (262) and Thomas Harper Emison (E64) of Duluth, Minn. Their and his children, Harold Sloat; Arthur Colyar; Thomas Harper; and John Hugh, Jr., are shown in detail elsewhere herein. (From’Vincennes Commercial” 1/1/1918; also clipping from unidentified Nashville Paper on Col A.S. Colyar).

BEATRICE OTTIE (TAYLOR) EMISON (F71) died of heart attack on Sept. 15, 1951, while outings with members of her Pilot Club at Dunn-sville, Va. Mrs Emison first came to work with the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, at Richmond in the twenties.
She married and left the Commission, and joined a family, became a widow of Harold S. Emison, Sept. 7, 1945 in Carden City, L.I. And she returned to the Commission in 1949, in the Education Division. She contributed much to the success of the magazine "Virginia Wildlife"

Always active in civic and community life, Mrs Emison was a former President of the Women’s Auxiliary of the Church of the Epiphany; the Richmond Pilot Club; and the Bryan Park Civic Assoc.

Her radiant personality, ready smile and genuine warmth, her great capacity for full living and human friendship cannot help but remain indelible to her many friends. (J.J.S: "Virginia Wildlife")

HUGH ASH EMISON (C13) "In 1830, at the time of his marriage to Jane Pearson of Owenton, his father gave him a 200 acre farm near Georgetown, well stocked, and built a home for them (which he did for each of his children). According to Cousin Martha Moore (the daughter of Samuel Moore) Hugh Ash's father gave him many slaves, among whom were Nancy and Leebow, children of old Ann Grandfather, Hugh Ash, was very prosperous until the War between the States. He was a Union sympathizer, determined to stand by the Union, and was certain that the Government intended doing the right thing by reimbursing the South for her slaves. His only son joined the Union Army. During the War his farm was devastated by Morgan and his men, who drove off all the stock they had failed to butcher. They rifled the pantry and storehouse, leaving no food for the family. Soon after this the slaves were freed at the end of the War. But he had been a very kind master, so that many of his slaves refused to leave him. He assisted neighbors, in rebuilding their homes and barns, destroyed by marauding bands."

Dr. JOSEPH F. EMISON (C19), (9/10/1822-7/27/1890) Scott Co., Ky.

son of Hugh & Elizabeth Marshall Emison.

"He was one of the best-beloved doctors in Scott County. The night was never too dark, nor the weather too bad for him to call on his patients, and was certain that the Government intended doing all the fees owed him. But he gave his services freely to the poor, His wife, Caroline, was my favorite Great Aunt." (See Appendix.

The following information was contained in a letter of Oct. 6, 1938, from JULIAN EMISON (D73) of Brownwood, Texas. A book published some time ago, "History of Texas" contains a biography of my father, DAVID EMI son (C15), and my grandfather HUGH EMI son (B2). (Following are abstracts of this sketch - JNE):

"HUGH EMISON WAS A NATIVE OF IRELAND, AND BELONGED TO A PROMINENT FAMILY OF THE LAND, THAT Furnished MANY REPRESENTATIVES TO THE MILITARY SERVICE OF THE GOVERNMENT. (HE)--"WAS A YOUNG MAN OF 17 WHEN HE CAME TO THIS COUNTRY."

"After the death of his first wife, Mary (Baird) Emison, Hugh married, 2nd--"Elizabeth Marshall, cousin of Thomas Marshall, who served as one of the Supreme Judges of Kentucky. (He)--"was an EPISCOPALIAN in religious faith, and his wife a METHODIST."

"He died at the age of 82 years, and his wife 63 years--."

"In February 1875, DAVID EMISON removed with his family to Texas, taking up his residence in Brown County, locating on a wild piece of land amid the mountains. He went to the surveyor to survey his land. But that official said the Indians were too numerous among the mountains and would not consent to undertake the task. Mr. Emison then borrowed the surveyor's instruments, surveyed his own land, and also that of several of his neighbors."

"DAVID EMISON--was on the side of the Union, and in opposition to secession, which would destroy the nation."(end of sketch)

"When I (JULIAN EMISON (D73) was traveling all over Texas and old Mexico some years ago, I met--DAVID EMISON (E131.8) who lived in Victoria Texas, but he is now dead. Some of the Emisons went to Mission Valley, Brewster Co. Texas in 1850. There was one A.T. EMISON (E131.7), who is now dead. I have before me a "Review of Texas Wild Life and Conservation" which states A.T. EMISON gave 6251 acres of land known as a game sanctuary. I saw a man out there who told me there was a BEN EMISON, a stock man."

(Signed) JULIAN EMISON

P.S. "I have a razor hone that has been handed down to me. It has been in the Emison family for at least 200 years. It is a hone of petrified wood, being placed, and allowed to remain for 5 years in the Lochineer River." (Signed) JULIAN EMISON

NOTE by J.W. Emison, the compiler hereof: The abovementioned "Lochineer River" is the Scotch spelling of Loughneagh or Lake Neagh in Northern Ireland. In a letter of 9/30/39, R.L. McKeown of Belfast, Ire., stated that it was not uncommon to have such razor hones, from petrified hollywood, which had been thrown into Lough Neagh, near the mouth of the rivulet Doon, where it enters the lake from County Tyrone; also that there were some Emisons who probably went to America, from the Lurgan District, near the opposite shore of Lough Neagh, the largest lake in North Ireland. See "History of Texas" Lewis Pub Co; Chicago; 1896. p.420.

SCOTT CO. KY: DEED Bk.16; p. 34; (11/16/1876 - STEPHEN COOPER & JULIA V. (MADDEN) EMISON (D136) of SALINE CO. Mo., appoint WILLIAM QUARLES EMISON (D135) their Attorney, to take possession, etc., of land and legacies particularly from Estates of Daniel Cooper, Decd; Mrs. Elizabeth Gaines, Decd., in Counties of Scott and Fayette, Ky.

Much of the foregoing data, and all of the following information, was contained in letter of 6/21/52, from MRS. MARY (FOWELL) EWING, Odessa, Mo., daughter of Elizabeth Shannon Emison (B152):
John W. Emison (D133) joined the Kentucky Volunteers, under Manelus V. Thomison, and reached Gen. Winfield Scott before entering Mexico City, where he received a saber wound (1847). Enroute home, via New Orleans, he visited his sister, Mehetable (Emison) Brooks at Washington, Miss. (D132). About 1850 he bought a farm near his sister, Mary (Emison) Beaumont (D134) in Platte Co. Mo. After her death, he moved to Lafayette Co. Mo., where he was joined by his brother, Dr. Samuel Shannon Emison (D131).

About a year after Dr. Samuel's arrival in Missouri, the two brothers were joined by their father, David Emison (C29) who bought two improved farms, near Higginsville. One farm was occupied by Dr Samuel S., and brother John W. After the fatal threshing accident to his brother, John, in 1874, Dr. Samuel S. continued to reside with and look after the widow and children of John. The other farm nearby, bought by the father, David, was occupied by him, and his young son, Stephen Cooper. After the slaves were freed the father David, and son Stephen, lived with John W., until David's death, and Stephen's marriage, both in 1865. John W., and Stephen C. were talented violinists.

John's wife, Anna Elizabeth Grant, was educated at Science Hill Academy, Shelbyville, Ky. Her four daughters were educated at Elizabeth Aull Seminary, and the son, Samuel G., at Wentworth Mil-

BENJAMIN EMINSON & DESCENDANTS

The following family legends and information contained in early news clippings were furnished by Mrs. W.B. Emison (E195).

We don't know about the father of ASH EMINSON (B3). But his wife was MARY MITCHELL. His son, James Ash (D12), soldered lead balls, and used this rifle on occasions before moving to Missouri in 1850. EMINSON (B30) was in the furniture business in Cincinnati. And I have an early mahogany sideboard which came out here via the old home in Scott Co., Ky. It belongs to the same period as my coin silver mint julep cups that his father Emison (James Ash: D12) won at the fairs.

EMISON (B30) organized the first Christian Church in Wellington, Mo., where he served as an Elder for over 55 years. He ordained to serve in the absence of the regular pastors, many of the young couples were married by him. ("Dawn of the Reformation" Haly)

When James Ash EMINSON accompanied his father, Benjamin, from Kentucky to Missouri in 1850, the former established the well-known "Lone Elm Stock Farm" with the Kentucky saddle horse "Tom Halstock" and other thoroughbred stock. Almost a century ago, he exhibited 4 colts at 4 fairs, and came home with 16 silver trophies.

The Lone Elm Stables gained wider reputation under W.B. Emison (E195), the son of James Ash. They included the prize mules for which Missouri became noted. The following is abstracted from a clipping from the "Odessa Democrat" 1908:

"...Those passing by the windows of the Bank of Odessa have noted the window full of prize ribbons, won by the Lone Elm stables, at the Kansas City Royal Stk Show; the Missouri and Illinois State Fairs. "We give the picture of "Queen" who won 1st prize at the K.C. Royal (2 years); and at Sedalia (State Fair) 1907-08; and at Springfield, Ill., 1906. Queen --and her mate were never beaten in their class."

Mrs. W.B. Emison relates, "my husband was a true Kentuckian in his love for fine horses. When we were married he had two pairs of perfectly matched driving horses. Another horse named "Johnson" a smooth saddle for ladies, always took a prize when shown. Upon learning this, Helen Gould sent her agent to purchase, that Johnson was shown and sold at 10:30 at night. A familiar sight to those passing Lone Elm, was a beautiful Arabian mare named Kate; spirited, but gentle for the children. She was presented by a prominent woman in Denver, a friend of Judge Emison's sister, Kate Raglund.

In more recent years, there was an interesting history behind "Lady Emison" who won the first race at Tropical Park, Fla., Dec. 29, 1938. She was foaled by Flora Fauna, at Lone Elm Farm, and sired by "Han of Ma..." At the suggestion of his wife, Judge E.B. Emison registered this filly as "Lady Emison." And she was later sold to the highest bidder, who happened to be the agent for Tom Pendergast, the notorious political boss of Kansas City. The next news about Lady Emison was the above win at Tropical Park, on which Pendergast won $210,000, just before he went to prison.

A quarter of a mile north of the old home at Lone Elm, is "Emison's Knob" an old Indian Mound of 25 acres. At the western foot of this hill is "Bushwhackers Spring." Quaintreil and his men occasionally camped there. And it was said the James boys (originally from Scott Co., Ky.) sat on their horses, under the "Lone Elm" tree, and chatted, before they embarked on their unfortunate careers.

"During the early part of the War between the States, after several Southern neighbors of the Emisons, were called out of their homes and shot down by the Federals, Father Emison (James Ash: D12) took his family and went up into Illinois for a time."

Samuel Grant Emison (E153) owned one of the finest farms near Higginsville, Mo. He was a Deacon, and active supporter of the Christian Church, which suffered a loss when he moved to Houston.

David Hicks Emison (E171) of Napton, near Marshall, Saline Co., Mo., visited us often. We would meet him at the fairs, where he always had a good saddle horse on exhibition. He died in Kansas City, and was returned to Napton for burial.

NOTES

A possible connection should be kept in mind, between the separate Emison families of Virginia, Tennessee and Long Island.

As a schoolmaster during his earlier years, William Emison continued his educational supervision in Culpeper Co., along with his activities in Masonry, and "one of the Gentleman Justices of the Court." (Culpeper Co. Min. Bk.22; p.2; 6/21/1817; also "Hist. of Culpeper Co.(St Mark's Parish)" Green; Pt.2; p.6)

Following are abstracts from his diaries, concerning the weather and his activities, supplemented by his correspondence with his sister, Margaret, and other members of the Smallwood family.

Apr.25, 1818: "Last night had the degree of Fellowcraft conferred on me, and returned home to CLEVELAND."

June 6, 1818: "Was at Muster this day, was advanced to the degree of Fellowcraft conferred on me, and returned home to CLEVELAND."

June 10, 1818: "This day (school stopped) for vacation which will end July 20th. (As a private tutor he alternated between the plantations of the Somervelles and Wallaces). "Going to the Court House (village of Culpeper) to a called lodge for the purpose of initiating Dr. J.B. Wallace and Gabriel Freeman."

1823: FAIRFAX, Va: "The population of this place, this year of 1823, is 381, of which there are 13 resident practicing lawyers, 4 doctors, 8 merchants, 3 cabinetmakers, 1 hatter, 2 blacksmiths, 1 schoolmaster. (W. EMISON)"

June 10, 1824: "John Harrison went home today." (at Somervelles)
Mar. 28, 1825: "Gustavius Wallace, son of Michael, came to Clovergreen. (Wallace plantation) His daughters are as smart as it is common for girls to be who are raised in the country."

Some time after the above date, William Emison apparently ended his teaching at private schools, and became increasingly active as Commissioner of the Court in numerous cases.

Aug. 19, 1829: William Emison bought "Clay Hill" covering 125 acres; and "25 acres containing mansion house," adjoining the land of John Cummings, Deed. (step-father); Daniel Duvall, Deed; Archibald Tutt; and William Major. (Deed Bk. 2V; p. 176)

Jan. 18, 1847: William Emison was appointed SUPERINTENDENT of SCHOOLS by the County School Commissioners, "under an Act amending the present primary school system, Mar. 5, 1846." NOTES
No relationship with the Emisons in Kentucky has been found. JOHN EMISON was born about 1799-1802, in Ireland, and became an orphan while quite young. He was adopted by an aunt named McKnight. And they lived in Yorkshire, Eng., for a short period before he was brought to Moore Co., N.C., when about 7 years of age.
In Moore Co., N.C., 1820, he married Margaret Boals, born 1799, in Scotland. In 1823, this family settled near the village of Cotton Grove in eastern Tennessee, and in 1832, they moved to Crockett Co. John Emison died in 1844, survived by his widow, Margaret, who died at the advanced age of 75, in 1874. Seven of the above children were still living in 1837 (See "Hist of Tennessee" Goodspeed Pub. Co., Nashville, 1887)
It is entirely possible that the above JOHN EMISON had an older brother, JOSEPH ELDRIDGE EMISON, who came to America with or about the same time. See statement of his descendant, Joseph Elridge Emison, of St. Louis, Mo., in February 1945, under Dr. Isaac Emison(3-19) elsewhere herein.

Notes
The writer has been unable to identify another version on this family, as related by Dr. Joseph Eldridge Emison, 6143 Bartmer St., St. Louis, Mo., in February 1945. This version would seem to indicate that the original Joseph Eldridge Emison was an older brother of the original John Emison (1-1), if there were two separate Isaac Emisons. The foregoing and following charts were forwarded by other Emison family sources in Crockett Co., Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark. The statement of Joseph Eldridge Emison follows.

"JOSEPH ELDRIDGE EMISON, his great-grandfather, was born in North Ireland, and lived in Yorkshire, England, for a period, from whence he came to America, while young. He served in the War of 1812, when he was wounded and carried the bullet in his body during the remainder of his life. He settled near Bristol, Tenn. JOSEPH ELDRIDGE EMISON, Jr., his grandfather, settled near Bells, Tenn., in Crockett Co. He served in the Mexican War. And late in life, he moved to Russellville, Ark."

* Dr. Isaac Emison, his father, was born at Bells, Tenn. He practiced medicine in St. Louis, and thereafter traveled for the Major Drug Co., until his death.

There are a number of Emisons living in Humboldt, Gadsden, Bells and Brownsville, in Crockett and Haywood Counties, Tenn., including WILL EMISON, former Sheriff, at Alamo, Crockett Co."

IN DISPLAYING THE SEVERAL EMBLAZONMENTS OF ARMORIAL BEAVERS HEREBIN, IT MUST BE KEPT IN MIND THAT THERE ARE COMPARETIVELY FEW PRESENT-DAY AMERICANS WHO ARE THE DIRECT HEIRS (IN PRIMOGENTURE) OF THE ORIGINAL FOREBEARS WHO RECEIVED GRANTS IN ARMS, AND THERE COULD BE NONE LEGALLY ENTITLED TO BEAR SUCH ARMS, AS AMERICANS. HOWEVER, FOR THOSE SO INCLINED, THE AUTHOR, IN CONSULTATION WITH A REPUTABLE AUTHORITY IN HERALDRY, HAS WITHOUT FURTHER COMMENT OR RESPONSIBILITY, SHOWN HEREBIN THE VARIOUS ORIGINAL COATS OF ARMS, EXCLUDING SUBSEQUENT DIFFERENCES AS TO CADENCY OR INTERMARRIAGE, IN ANY PARTICULAR LINE OF DESCENT.

FURTHER, NO ATTEMPT HAS BEEN MADE TO DISPLAY THE ARMS OF EMERSON: EDMONDSTONE; NOR EMISON HEREBIN, AS THE AUTHOR HAS DISCOVERED NO SATISFACTORY EVIDENCE TO SUBSTANTIATE THE FAMILY LEGEND, THAT "THE NAME OF EMISON WAS ORIGINALLY THAT OF EMERSON."

This gentleman being also a nonresident (living in Lexington) put the property into the hands of Maj.Thos. Love, who for many years operated it as Frankfort's first tavern."

Weston Clarke(1764-1788) son of James (following page) used a signet seal on his Will (Pkt#62/1789), Philadelphia Courthouse)suggestive of the WESTON crest of an EAGLE, rising (with head turned) rather than a greyhound's head, charged on neck with cinquefoil azure, both arms, with crests, being shown herein.

Louise Tracy (above) further states"strong men descended from FRANCES LATHAM:" including RAY GREENE and Col CHRISTOPHER GREENE.

A legend among the early Clarkes, Holmes and Emisons states a forebear was related to Gen. Nathanael Greene of the Revolution. The following sources show:- That Gen. Nathanael's son, Nathanael Ray,m-9/9/1808, Anna Maria Clarke, of Ethan & Ann(Jard). That the General's brother, (3rd)Christopher & Deborah(Jard)Greene had children:- (a) Celia,m-1/12/1800, her cousin, Ray Clarke of Ethan & Ann(Jard), and they lived in Shelby Co. Ky., 1815 (b) John Ward,m-1820, Margaret Clarke,b-1/13/1798, Dunhaven, Inverness, Scotland, of Alexander. Excepting the latter, these Clarkes apparently were descended in the same family as Rev. NOTE: Above and following CLARK FAMILY data furnished by Wm. Clark Holmes, Box 5310, Los Angeles, Calif.
Lt. Col. Wm. Clark, (1722-1808) was an elder supervisor of the Provincial Government in Cumberland Co., Pa; Paymaster of Militia; and assisted in organizing the several Battalions in which he was listed during the Revolution.

Due to past confusion with other William Clarks, then in Cumberland and Lancaster Counties, for whom similar Revolutionary Service has been claimed, a careful study of the following signatures reveals specific identification of this particular Col. Wm. Clark.

See letter of 10/22/1780, from Thomas and Esther (Kilgore) Baird at "The Falls" (Louisville, Ky) to "Mother" a neighbor of Col. Wm Clark, who was then legal Guardian of Thomas' youngest brother, Joseph, and sister, Martha. The letter inquired as to "the health of the Wm Clarks" and it was evidently turned over to Col Clark, as the reverse side bore his identified signature, in connection with a legal memorandum or bond, concerning a daughter of his son George Clark. NOTES

The Posey Family was descended from the French family Foschet of Voyaux, Cambrai, France. The American family sprang, in the 6th generation, from Marteyn Foschet, Knight Seigneur of Voyaux, and his 1st wife, Anne de Colnet. They were Huguenots at the beginning of the 17th Century, and fled to London. There the records of the Huguenot Church, Threadneedle St., show many marriages in this family. Francois Foschet, or Francis Posey, as he was then known in London, came to Virginia in the group of Wm Farrar, June 11, 1637.

TWO SEPARATE POSEY LINES IN EARLY INDIANA

Capt. John Posey lived at "Rover's Delight" on the Potomac River, adjoining George Washington at Mt. Vernon. He married Martha (Price) Harrison, widow of George Harrison. The son, Gen. Thomas Posey (1750-1818) was Governor of Indiana Territory, 1813-16. By Martha (Mathews) Posey, 1st wife of Gen. Thomas Posey, he had a son "big Captian" John Posey (1775-1851) who married Lucy Frances Thornton. She was the daughter of Mary Alexander Thornton (widow of Geo Thornton) who became the 2nd wife of Gen. Thomas Posey. Some have confused the elder Capt. John with his grandson, John.

It has been stated also that the elder Capt. John Posey; and his wife, MARTHA (Price) Harrison Posey, who died in Dec., 1769, were the same as John Posey, Jr., and wife MARY, (see ([*) on 1st page of POSEYS in Md.) who sold part of "Ardlington Hall" to their nephew RICHARD POSEY, Sr., of Henrico Co., Va., 1761. This John, Jr., and his wife MARY also conveyed "Green Choice" 1772, after the death of the above MARTHA (Price) Posey, 1769. It is true that this elder Capt. John Posey came from Charles Co., Md., originally. And he returned to Maryland later, before going to live with his youngest son, William, in Chester Co., Pa., where he died some time after the Revolution.

Although of the same generation, it is evident that Richard Posey, Sr., and Gen. Thomas Posey were more distantly related than first cousins.
Maj. Gen. Thomas Posey was Governor of Indiana Territory, at Vincennes, 1813-16. Posey Co. Ind., was named after him. And it's county seat, Mt Vernon, was named after Washington's home on the Potomac River in Virginia. Gen. Posey's family lived in Henderson Co. Ky. (just below Posey Co. Ind.) And he was buried across the Ohio River, at Shawneetown, Ill.

Regarding the separate line of Richard, Sr., and Elizabeth (Wade) Posey of Abbeville Co. S.C., their children, including Rev. Richard Posey, Jr., had previously settled in 1808, near Bruceville some 7 miles northeast of Vincennes. Further, Rev. Wade Posey, son of Rev. Richard, later moved to Robb Twp., Posey Co. Ind., where his two sons were born. According to one source, the community was called Palestine during 1810-52. However, the U.S. Postal Index listed it as Poseyville, when a Post Office was established there on Feb. 10, 1843.

WADE FAMILY

Col. Zachariah and Nancy (Underwood) Wade were born, respectively, near Chester, S.C., and in Kentucky. They came from Kentucky to Center Twp., Posey Co. Ind., in 1815, where the village, WADEVILLE was platted in 1853.

Col. Wade commanded the 26th Regt., Indiana Militia in 1826. His wife, Nancy, d-12/15/1834; and he d-9/15/1846. According to one source, they had 8 children. However, his Will, probated on 11/9/1846, mentioned his wife; 10 children, some of whom were minors; and his brother, Isaac M. Wade. This would seem to indicate a second wife, by whom Zachariah had 2 or more children.

Although this particular Zachariah Wade has not been identified positively, there is reason to believe that he was a cousin of Rev. Richard Posey, Jr. An older Zachariah Wade witnessed the power-of-attorney by Richard Posey, Sr., to Harrison Posey of Chas. Co. Md., 7/8/1787, at Richmond, Henrico Co. Va. And on 7/25/1787, this Zachariah had taken the instrument back to Charles Co. Md. to acknowledge it. At that time Zachariah stated his residence in the adjoining Hanover Co. Va.

At that time or not long thereafter, Richard Posey, Sr., married Elizabeth Wade. It would indicate that Richard Posey, Sr., met Zachariah Wade in Richmond for the purpose of arranging the sale of his ancestral lands in Charles Co. Md., and the marriage to Elizabeth Wade, daughter or sister of Zachariah, before moving to Darlington, S.C.

The original member of this Wade family came to St. Mary's Co. Md., in the 1800's, about the same time as the original Francis Poschet or Posey. Later some of the Wade branches had moved to the area across the Potomac River from Mt Vernon, Va., in Pr. George's Co. Md. The name of Zachariah was carried down in each generation.

Apparently Zachariah Wade, father or brother of Elizabeth, followed the Poseys to South Carolina, where he settled in Chester Co. The U.S. Census, 1800 (Chester Co. S.C.) shows:- Zachariah Wade - Males 1(-10); 1(10-26); Females 1(-10); 1(26-45)

The degree of relationship between the elder Zachariah Wade and Hampton Wade and Wade Hampton of Pittsylvania Co. Va. and S.C. is undetermined.

NOTE: According to Frances(Allen)Posey, his niece, Thomas Allen "married an adopted daughter of Daniel Boone, and went to Kentucky with Boone in 1781." Later, back in Rowan Co. N.C.(Marriage Recds)

"Thomas Allen, m-5/29/1790, Margery Bryan," evidently his 2nd wife and daughter of John & Sarah Bryan. (See Will in following records)

Daniel & Rebecca(Bryan)Boone had a son, Jesse Bryan Boone. (See Jesse Bryan, witness to Will of Erasmus Withers Allen, above) Also they reared the children of Rebecca's uncle, James Bryan, including daughters, Susannah, Mary and Rebecca. Another uncle, Morgan Bryan, Jr., married a daughter of George Forebush. Rebecca's sister, Phoebe married a (Forbis) Forebusb, which families presumably were neighbors of THOMAS ALLEN on BRYANT'S MILL CREEK (See following records) Rebecca also had an uncle, John Bryan, and a brother, John Bryan, either of whom could have been the father of Margery(Bryan) Allen.

However, "The Boone Family" H. Straker, 1926, contains no further data as to the wives or children of either John Bryan.

ALLEN FAMILY

WILLIAM ALLEN, b-8/17/1731, Essex Co. Va; and d-8/ /1797, in Abbeville Co. S.C., son of Erasmus Withers & Sarah Allen. He m-1754, in Chesterfield Co. Va., SARAH DAVITT, (1730-1792). As later related by his daughter, Frances (Allen) Posey, her parents (and/or those of her husband, the Poseys) were living in Sussex Co. Va., before moving farther south. This seems to have been confirmed by Sussex Co. Va; Land Warr; 50 acres; William Allen, 1755. They were living "near Salem, Old Stokes Co. N.C., on 12/28/1778" at the time Frances was born. Winston-Salem, N.C. was part of Stokes Co., only during 1790-1840. This would indicate during 1790-92, after William had settled his father's estate in Rowan Co. N.C., and after the death of his mother, presumably this family settled near "Old Post 96" (Cambridge) in Abbeville Co. (now Greenwood) S.C. There he was evidently present at the marriage of Frances, and died some 4 months later. However, it was possible that William settled first (across the Savannah River) in Petersburg, Elbert Co. Ga., in February 1792, before moving to Old Post 96, where he died in 1797 (See records in following pages).

NOTE by JWE: With the exception of the legal records herein, the names, dates and places, concerning her grandfather, Erasmus Withers Allen, her father William, and her uncle, Thomas Allen, were related by the above FRANCES (ALLEN) POSEY, to her son-in-law Richard Hargraves on 8/1/1858, at her home, south of Bruceville, during a Posey-Baisom reunion. Although she had understood the Allens "came from England to Chesterfield Co. Va., in the early part of the 1700's," along with other minor confusions of family legend, her information has enabled the writer to verify the essential data and records herein. JWE.

REILEY FAMILY

MARTIN REILEY, SR., and Philip Reiley at Pittsburg, were apparently, the sons of John Philip Reale who arrived at Philadelphia, Sept. 9, 1738, at the age of 28, on the ship "Glasgow," Walter Sterling, Commander. However, this remains to be proven.

He was first identified in York, Pa., Mar. 31, 1758, when he bought the east half of lot #39 on High St., being the main east-west thoroughfare. (York Co., Pa. Deed Bk. "A" p.271).

It is believed that he married his wife, Elizabeth, at or shortly before this time, when he also established his business as a merchant "Taylor." However, from the amount of property owned at the time of his death in Winchester, Va., 1791, it is indicated that he was a shrewd, business man, in other lines of endeavor.

On Oct. 28, 1765, Martin purchased the S.E. ¼ of lot #56, fronting on the "Centre Square of Towne" (including shop thereon). From Sept. 30, 1777 to June 28, 1778, the adjoining building was used as the U.S. Treasury, when the temporary Capitol of our young nation was the York Co. Courthouse, in the Square. (Deed Bk. "D" p.233).

After selling the last of his properties in York, Pa., on Dec. 30, 1771, the next records concern Martin, Sr., and Martin, Jr., in Bedford Co., Pa., during the Revolution.

Fa. Arch: S.5; V.5; p.249: Martin Reiley (Sr.?); Martin Reiley, (Jr) Peter Reiley; Otfs., Depreciation Pay, Revolutionary War. (No date).

The wife of Martin Reiley, Sr., is believed to have been Elizabeth Bishop.
At the close of the Revolution, Martin Reiley, Sr., evidently decided to settle in Winchester, Va. There, on June 14, 1783, he purchased his first property from Thomas Edmondson, one half of a lot of one half acre, being Lot #1 on Edmondson's Plat, on Loudoun St., north of Fairfax Rd. (Frederick Co. Deed Bk. 29; p. 27).

The next record on this family was from the Diary of Rev. Christian Streit (1785-87) Pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Winchester:- Sept. 31, 1786: "Buried Martin Reiley's child, Jacob, age 2 years, 8 months. Dec. 3, 1786: Mrs. Martin Reiley was on the list of those attending Communion.

Further records of this period are from the "Story of Winchester" by Frederic Martin, p. 270:- 1788, Tax List of Winchester; Martin Riley; (sons) Martin, and Michael; also Robert Curtis p. 272.

Among the lot owners were, Martin Riley, one half lot (on Loudoun St., adjoining north side of Presbyterian Church).

Martin Reiley, Sr., died at Winchester, His Will:- Frederick Co. Va. Bk. 5: p. 333; dated Oct. 26, 1791; and probated Dec. 7, 1791. The Executors were his wife, Elizabeth; Son-in-law, Capt. William Hall.

The extent of Martin's estate was not revealed until an appraisal on Nov. 16, 1831:- House and lot on the east side of Loudoun St., adjoining Thomas Scott (his neighbor in York, Fa.) $500; House and lot, south of above, fronting on Loudoun St. - extending to Keill's line, $800; (The foregoing 2 lots with buildings, adjoining the present Presbyterian Church site, was their home, later occupied by the widow, Elizabeth; and the adjoining silversmiths shop of her son, Philip); House and lot on Cameron St., fronting $41 ft., $700; Cut Lot #22, of 2 acres, north of Fairfax Lane, $150; Cut Lot #69, about 3 acres, adjoining Fowell's Heirs, Middall and Pose, $150; Tract of 143 acres in Frederick Co., near Trowbridges, on road to Bath, $1800; Tract of 161 acres in Morgan Co., on road to Bath, $300. (See Will Bk. 17; p. 375). CHILDREN:

1. MARTIN, Jr., b-1759, in York, Fa. His records of service, during the Revolution, in Bedford Co., Fa., are listed above, along with those of his father, Martin, Sr. His parents apparently lived there during that period. And he seems to have accompanied them to Winchester, Va., at the close of the War. The abovementioned records listed Martin, Jr., and his brother, Michael, in Winchester, at their father's home, in 1788. Perhaps Martin remained there until after the death of his father in 1791. It is certain that Martin, Jr., was living in Bedford, Fa., after 1791. According to one source, he brought with him a number of family slaves; also a quantity of silverware (which probably had been manufactured by his younger brother, Philip, a silversmith).

In Bedford, Fa., Martin established a general merchandising business, which became one of the largest in the county, and flourished for over half a century. He was prominent in political activities, being one of the early Sheriffs of Bedford Co., Fa.

His wife, Hetty (Ewalt) Reiley, was born 1759, and died Nov. 22, 1807. He survived her some 22 years, and died Oct. 5, 1829. They were both buried in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Bedford. His Will: Bedford Co., Va. Bk. 2; p. 213; (Oct. 2, 1829 - Oct. 13, 1829).

Their children were:- (a) John. (b) Martin, 3rd. (c) Elizabeth. (d) Mary, m-1/2/1799, Peter F. Walter (see "Claypoole's Amer. Advert'r.

2. MICHAEL, born in York, Fa; and died intestate, 1814. His wife had died previously; and the heirs were the following children: (a) Sarah, m-July 19, 1809, William James, by J.G. Schmucker, Minister, St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Hagerstown, Md. (b) Rebecca, m-Adam Bishop. (c) Mary, m-Ralph Hickman. (see Frederick Co., Va. Deed Bk. 37; p. 488; Nov. 3, 1815).
3. PHILIP, b-circa 1770, or earlier, in York, Pa. He was evidently too young to have served in the Revolution.

It is apparent that he had completed his apprenticeship as a silversmith, possibly in Philadelphia, at the time he married Amelia Coombs, Aug.10,1791, in Harford Co., Md. Undoubtedly they soon proceeded to Winchester, Va., where his father died several months later. There Philip established his silversmith's shop at or near 102 Loudoun St., adjoining the home of his mother. He continued there until some time prior to Sept.22,1808, on which date he had moved to Washington, Pa., and purchased the building and lot #185, on what is now the west side of Main St., between Pine Alley and Chestnut St. (Washington Co., Pa. Deed Bk.1-V; p.508)

Philip's elder sons, John C., and David B., had completed their training as silversmiths. And it is possible that he and his wife had preceded them to Vincennes, Ind., where their daughter, Emily Amelia, was born Feb.24,1816, on a farm at the southern edge of that city. Apparently Philip came back to Washington, Pa., where he bought an 82 acre farm, some 5 miles to the west, on Mar.11, 1816. He sold his property in Washington, Pa., July 17,1816 before finally returning to the farm at Vincennes. He died there in May, 1821. At some time during 1824-27, his widow, Amelia, accompanied most of her children to Lawrenceville, Ill., where she was living on Feb.16,1833.

4. ELIZABETH, born in York, Pa. On Mar.27,1785, she was married to Capt. William Ball by Alexander Balmain, Minister, Episcopal Church, Winchester. He was co-Executor of her father's estate. He died in Winchester, at some time during 1815-30.

5. CHRISTOPHER, He moved to Bedford, Pa., where he established a saddlery business. He was Sheriff of Bedford Co., during 1801-1804; and Justice of the Peace for several terms. His wife, Jane (Jean) and he, apparently died in Bedford.

6. JOHN, m-Dec.3,1798, Mary Aldridge, by Alexander Balmain, Minister, Episcopal Church, Winchester. His Will: Frederick Co., Va. Bk.19; p.27; (Aug.22,1832 - Mar. 4,1835)

7. DAVID, He moved to Bedford, Pa. He bought out the interest of his brother, Christopher, in the estate of their father, Nov. 7,1825, when they were living in Bedford. (Deed Bk.50; p.491).

8. SYBILLA, (Sibby), m-Jan.27,1799, John Aldridge, by Christian Streit, Minister, Evangelical Lutheran Church, Winchester. They were both living in Winchester, 1835, at the final accounting of her father's estate.

9. JACOB, b-Jan.31,1784; and d-Sept.31,1786. (See Diary of Rev. Christian Streit, 1785-87).

SIGNATURES OF PHILIP REILY, AND HIS SONS.
PHILIP REILY, b-circa 1770 or earlier, in York, Pa., son of Martin, Sr., and Elizabeth Reyle. Philip signed his name Reily, but his descendants used the more common spelling of Reiley.

He may have been the "Philip Ryley, Junior" who volunteered in Capt. Adam Poult's Co., 5th B'n., Philadelphia Co., June 22, 1780. But he has not been identified as such. (Pa. Arch. S.12; V.1; p. 365)

Apparently he had completed his apprenticeship as a silversmith, probably in Philadelphia, at the time he married AMELIA COMBES, Aug. 10, 1791, in Harford Co., Md. Within several months they had moved to Winchester, Va., shortly before or after the death of his father, there. He established his silversmith's business at or near 102 Loudoun St., adjoining the home of his mother. (See "Reminiscences of William Greenway Russel" 1800-91, Handley Library, "inchester"). He continued there until some time prior to Sept. 22, 1808, on which date he had moved to Washington, Pa., and purchased the building and lot #185, on what is now the west side of Main St., between Pine Alley and Chestnut St. (See Washington Co. Deed Bk. I-V; p. 508).

Philip's elder sons, John C., and David B., had completed their training as silversmiths. And it is possible that their parents had preceeded them to Vincennes, Ind., where their daughter, EMILIA REILEY, was born Feb. 21, 1816, on a farm at the southern edge of that city. Apparently Philip came back to Washington, Pa., where he bought an 82 acre farm, some 5 miles to the west, on Mar. 11, 1816. (Deed Bk. I-Z; p. 562). And he sold his property in Washington, July 17, 1816 (Deed Bk. 2; p. 196) before finally returning to the farm at Vincennes. There he served as Administrator for the Estate of his son, David B., 1820, with Elihu Stout, Editor of the Vincennes Sun; and his son, John C., as sureties. Philip himself died in May, 1821. At sometime during 1824-27, his widow, Amelia, accompanied most of her children to Lawrenceville, Ill., where she was still living on Feb. 10, 1833.

CHILDREN

a. JOHN C., b-1792, in Winchester, Va. After learning the craftsmanship of his father, while in Washington, Pa.; and possibly in Winchester, Va., he and his brother, David B., established the new jewelry firm of J.C. Reiley & Co., Feb. 1, 1817, in Vincennes. (Their advt., Vincennes Western Sun).

On Dec. 4, 1818, at Vincennes, he married MARCIA McALL. And after her death, he married Feb. 2, 1829, at Vincennes, Susan Bailey (born 1794); and died Mar. 7, 1860. He served as a Justice in 1820, with General W. Johnston. His mother; brothers and sisters moved to Lawrenceville, Ill., during 1824-27. However, he continued his business activities in both Vincennes and Lawrenceville for some time.

In Lawrenceville he carried an immense stock of jewelry, drygoods, groceries and other general merchandise in his store on the north side of the Courthouse square. He also built and operated a furniture factory, and flat boats, carrying local produce to New Orleans. About 1830, he built a large brick home on the southeast corner of 10th St., two blocks north of the Courthouse square. In addition to these activities, the Reiley brothers operated a distillery and packing house on 18th St., near the Embarrass River.

#(Martin Reiley, m-4/23/1829, Mary Buchanan, Lawrence Co. Ill.)
PHILIP RILEY, was found first, as an Indian trader at Pittsburg, See "Day Book, 1765-67" of Baynton, "harton & Morgan," Pittsburg, (at Carnegie Library, Pittsburg) as follows:-

PHILIP Riley; 13 days work assisting the same from MINGO TOWN. (below Steubenville on the Ohio) 1767.

Alexander Ross, at Pittsburg, 1769-75, was a Virginia banker and land owner, who fled to England (as did Lord Dunmore) as the beginning of the Revolution. His Estate, confiscated by Pennsylvania, showed sums due by Dr. John Connolly; PHILIP RILEY, June 22, 1773; and many others. (See Pa. Arch.: S.6; V.12 & 13; pp. 10; 15; 23; 27)

* Philip seems to have been a strong adherant of Dr. Connolly, who was appointed Captain-Commandant of Virginia Militia at Ft. Dunmore (Pittsburg) by Lord Dunmore, Jan.1, 1774

Dr. Connolly was appointed one of the Justices of the new Commission, to sit at Pittsburg; and Philip Riley was appointed Marshall on the same date. (See Augusta Co., Va. Order Bk. 15; pp. 309-33)

On May 18, 1775, Philip was a surety on the bond of Edward Armstrong. (See "Minute Bk., Virginia Court, Ft. Dunmore, 1775-76")

Philip, and also Christopher Riley (possibly a brother) were among the Virginia militia paid off at Pittsburg, late in 1775, most of whom joined the Revolution. (See "Historical Register of Virginians in the Revolution" Swathway, 1938).

8. (son).
JOHN GEORGE RAAB-RAB-RAPP, then overseas, evidently had received encouraging news from John Peter Raab-Rapp, presumably his older son or younger brother, then in Berks Co., Pa. Accordingly he proceeded on the Ship "Beulah" with Capt. Richey, and arrived at Philadelphia, Sept.10,1753, with his family, including his son, George Michael, age 11. (See "Pa. Ger. Pioneers" R.B. Strasburger, V.1; p.513; Lists, 197A:B:5.)

He settled at Reading, Pa., where he and most of his family were buried. As d-6/21/1791. His Will: Berks Co., Pa., Bk."B"p.274; (2/7/1784 - 10/6/1791).

(B) GEORGE MICHAEL RAAB-RAB-RAPP, b- /1739, in "uertemberg. At the age of 14, he arrived on the Ship"Beulah" as Philadelphia, Sept.10,1753. On this ship, in addition to his parents, were his future "Step-Father" George Conrad Braun, Jr., and family: the latter's parents and brothers: also others later intermarried with his children, and the two above Raabs. His Will: Berks Co., Pa., Bk."A" p.167; (10/25/1802 - 6/19/1803) (His family elsewhere herein).

This Will of George Conrad Braun, mentioned George Michael Raab as his "step-son" (who had married his daughter, Anna Dorothea Braun). According to present definitions, this indicated that George Michael's mother, Maria Dorothea ( ) Raab, widow, had married his second husband, George Conrad Braun; and that his daughter, Anna Dorothea, had in turn, married her son, George Michael; further, that George Michael was a son-in-law, as well as "step-son." However this is complicated by the names MARIA DOROTHEA, and ANNA DOROTHEA, indicating they were full mother and daughter, according to baptismal custom then.

Circa 1764, George Michael had married Anna Dorothea Braun. And George Conrad Braun, Jr., with his wife, Maria Dorothea, were sponsors at the baptism, (Mar.10,1765) of Sophia Dorothea, b-Jan. 19,1765, eldest child of George Michael and Anna Dorothea Raab, at the Zion "Rosen" Evangelical Lutheran Church, Richmond Twp.

On or before Mar.27,1773 this family had settled in adjoining Greenwich Twp., on the north, where George Michael bought 160 acres of land; and where they lived evidently, until it was sold Mar.28,1778. This seems to have been confirmed by the baptism of their child, Solomon, Sept.19,1774, at the "Dunkel" Evangelical Lutheran Church in Greenwich Twp. After the sale of the above farm in 1776, this family evidently returned to Richmond Twp., where they attended Communion June 27,1778, at the Zion "Rosen" Church. And their son, Daniel, was baptized there on Mar.26,1780.

Prior to May 21,1782, this family had moved to, what is now, Shepherdstown, W.Va., when George Michael had bought his first property on Church St. (Lot #41; Berkeley Co. Deed Bk.5; p.759).

There, George Michael took an active interest in the affairs of the st. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, the records of which show that he was a Deacon Aug.30,1795. However, this was only a continuation of his religious activities, when he had also been a Deacon in the above Zion "Rosen" Church, Dec.23,1771.

His "step-Father" George Conrad Braun, Jr., also had been a leader in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church at Reading, Pa. And the records of that Church show that he married Joseph Alter and Katherine Koch, July 20,1789. They show further, that John Peter Rapp, and Samuel Homan, with other relatives and friends, were active lay leaders in Trinity Church.

The Church records at Shepherdstown show that the youngest child, Juliana (of George & Dorothea Raab) baptized Apr.16,1791.
On Aug. 3, 1803, "George Michael Rabb, otherwise called George Rapp; otherwise Michael Rapp, of Shepherdstown, Va." acknowledged receipt of $129/11/1, being his legacy and that of his wife Dorothy, under the will of Conrad Brown." (Berks Co., Pa., Deed Bk. 20.)

After the death of Anna Dorothea, in 1804, George Michael m-2nd, Jan. 2, 1808, Barbara Beckhart, who survived him until 1834.

He died in December 1811, at Shepherdstown. His Will: Jefferson Co., W. Va., Bk. I; p. 595; (5/7/1810 - 12/23/1811)

CHILDREN (Still living, and mentioned in father's will, shown(4))

At some time prior to Sept.1, 1788, he had moved from Shepherdstown to Augusta Co., Va. (Augusta Co. Order Bk. 20; p. 625). And he was joined by Sampson Zagam, Jr., in the purchase of lot: 12 ft by 10 poles, containing their shop, adjoining Col. Wm. Bowyer, in Staunton. (Deed Bk. 28; p. 144). John's younger brother, George Adam, had reached the age of 21 in 1797; and he also joined this firm about that time. It is not known where John's wife, Clemintine, died. However, in Staunton, Feb. 2, 1796, John Rapp was married by Rev. Wm. Wilson, to Elizabeth Allor (Oehler), daughter of Anthony.

John continued his wagon making factory in Staunton, after his brother, George, moved to Dearborn Co., Ind., in 1816. However, on Aug. 28, 1837 (Deed Bk. 58; p. 129) he executed a customary Trust Deed to James Bumgardner, covering his household and business properties, giving some indication he contemplated moving west. It is not known where or when he died.

On Dec. 22, 1821 (Deed Bk. 46; p. 207) he also sold his house and lot #9, on the north side of the Main St., in Greenville.

Solomon was co-Executor of his father's Estate, Dec. 23, 1811. His own estate was appraised Nov. 3, 1835. (Berkeley Co. Bk. 14; p. 12).

Note: Some of above furnished by George A. Hopp, —°-t. , Clarksburg, W. Va., descendant of Daniel and Nancy (Small) Ropp.

After reaching manhood in Shepherdstown, he joined the wagon making business of his elder brother, John, and Sampson Eagan, Jr., in Staunton, Va. It was here that George met Miss Elizabeth James, daughter of Thomas James, formerly of Harford Co., Md., and Culp- peer Co., Va., she being the step-sister of Sampson Eagan. On Dec. 1, 1799, at Staunton, George married Elizabeth James, b-1781 in Harford Co., Md.

In 1816, this family moved to Dearborn Co., Ind., where they settled in Greendale, adjoining Lawrenceburg, the county seat. There he continued his wagon making for over a score of years.

He d-Sept. 27, 1837, survived by his widow, Elizabeth, who d-Dec. 31, 1839. Both were buried at Rising Sun, Ind., near the home of their son, David Guilkerson. For detailed information, see his biography, and their descendants in the following pages.

8. DANIEL, b-Nov. 21st, 1779; bpt-Mar. 26, 1780, at Zion "Wesem"-Evangelical Lutheran Church, Richmond Twp., Berks Co., Pa. He evidently died young or unmarried, and without heirs, being unmen¬ tioned in his father's Will.

12. JACOB, b- / /17__, at Shepherdstown. "Being above the age of 18, he appeared in Court (at Staunton) and made choice of (his brother) George Rap as Guardian." (Augusta Co Order Bk. 29; p. 249; May 11, 1806). Augusta Co. Marriages show Jacob Rapp & Polly Heiser May 7, 1807. This would indicate that Jacob was nearer 21 than 18 years of age, when he joined his brothers in Staunton, after the death of his mother, in 1804.

13. JULIANNA, bpt-4/16/1791, at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Shepherdstown, W. Va.

In the first place I direct all my just debts to be paid. Item, I give and devise unto my wife Barbara the house and lot where I now live on Church Street in Sheperdstown as long as she continues my widow, or if she should not marry then, for and during her natural life, and no longer. My daughter Juliana's legacy to be paid to her in the first place, and then and as soon as may be convenient after my death the division among my other children as above directed to be made of all my estate, except what my wife may have by this will and after my wife's death or marriage then the proceeds of the sale of the house and lot aforesaid to be divided as above directed. I hereby nominate and appoint my son Solomon and John Baker (Attorney at law) of Sheperdstown Town Executors of this my last will and testament, hereby revoking and annulling all other wills by me made.

Witnesses: John Baker; Philip Craft; John Pierce, Jr.
Probated the 23rd day of December, 1811. George Rite, Clk.

NOTE, by J.W. Emerson:—Although the above Will apparently was signed George "ROB" or "RAB", the early records of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Sheperdstown, W. Va., contain his actual signature, as one of the Four Deacons on 30, Aug. 1795

(Signature tracing) GEORG RAAB: Georg Rabb
GEORGE ADAM RABB, son of George Michael and Anna Dorothea
(Brown) Rabb, was born in Greenwich Twp., Berks Co., Pa., on July 17, 1776; and baptized Oct. 19, 1776, at the New Bethel "Corner" Church, in adjoining Albany Twp.

His parents then owned a 160 acre plantation in Greenwich Twp., during the 5 year period, Mar. 27, 1773 - Mar. 26, 1778 (Deed Bk. 3, p.395). They were still living in Berks Co., on Mar. 29, 1790, at the baptism of their son, Daniel, in the Zion "mosolem" -evangelical Lutheran Church, in Richmond Twp. However, prior to May 26, 1792, this family had moved to Shepherdstown, W. Va., on which date, the father bought his first property there, on Church St. (Lot 44; Berkeley Co., Deed Bk.5; p.755).

George's oldest brother, John, had moved on to Augusta Co., Va., prior to Sept.1,1793 (Ordor Bk.20; p.625). And he later established a wagon making business at the county seat of Staunton. On June 4, 1793 (Deed Bk.29; p.223) John was joined in his partnership by young Sampson "again, Jr., son of the widow Mary Sagen, who had married Thomas James, in Hartford Co., Md. George, himself, had reached the age of 21 in 1797; and he also joined the business of his brother, John, thus it transpired that he first met Miss Elizabeth James, b. /1781, in Hartford Co., Md., daughter of Thomas James and his first wife (Louisa?). These young people were married in Staunton, Va., on Dec.1,1799.

Records show that George prospered in Staunton. However, he was not in sympathy with the institution of slavery. His was evidenced by his purchase of a young negro boy, whom he arranged to emancipate. (Staunton City Deed Bk.1; p.224). On Dec.23, 1814, he sold his home on Beverley St. (Lot 60; Deed Bk.39; p.401).

This family moved to Bearborn Co., Ind., in 1816. And on April 1,1819, they had settled on Pleasant Ridge, in Greendale, a suburb at the northern edge of Lawrenceburg. There, George resumed his wa on making business, in Sec.10, of a 317 1/2 acre tract, comprising parts of Sec.10; 11; 12; Twp.3; Rn.1 West (Deed Rec."AA",p.2). This was near George Weaver, in Dec.17, whose daughter, Frances Sarah, married James Rabb the son of George.

Mr. Rabb obtained the original U.S. Patent on 159 acres, May 27, 1827, being a mile north of Greendale, and west of Tanner's Creek (S.E.3; Sec.33; Twp.6; Rn.17). On Dec.5,1835, he also purchased the "Speakman Farm" of 210 acres, being a mile north of Rising Sun, Ohio Co., Ind. and "bountied" by the road to Lawrenceburg, and the Ohio River. (Secs.9; 10; Twp.4; Rn.17; Deed Rec."
"p.453). In the same year, he deeded the remaining 60 acres of his original 317 1/2 acre farm, abovementioned, to his son-in-law, David Marsh.

The old Marsh home, owned by the latter's son, Jacob Huron Marsh, is now located at the corner of Oakley St., and Ridge Ave., Greendale. Following pages show he had thus provided for his children.

George Lane, in his "Centennial Notes" relates that:- George Rabb was one of the best men we ever knew; as honest as Mr. Rabb was one of the best men we ever knew; as honest as Mr. Rabb was the byword of his day. David Guilkerston Rabb moved to Ohio Co., soon after the death of his father. In early times a camp meeting was hold in the Rabb Grove, near father Rabb's. ("Bearborn Co., Ind."

The double tombstone in the Rising Sun Cemetery reveals that:- "George Rabb" died "Sept.27,1838, in the 64th year," also "Elizabeth Rabb" died "Dec.31,1839, in the 59th year." However, the above official church record, in Berks Co., Pa., shows that he died in his 63rd year. Further, he retained the original spelling of "Rab" in the signature of his Will. But his children used the spelling of "Rabb."

RA3B FAMILY

JAMES RABB, oldest son of George Adam and Elizabeth (James) Rab, was born Dec. 17, 1805, at Staunton, Va.

In that city young James received part of his early education. In 1816, his parents moved to what is now the village of Greendale, a suburb at the northern edge of Lawrenceburg, Ind. After arriving at their new home, the education of James was continued in the schools of Lawrenceburg, and Cincinnati.

On Mar. 12, 1829, in Dearborn Co., he was married by the Rev. Daniel Newton, to Frances Sarah Weaver, born July 27, 1812, daughter of George and Mary V. (Wilson) Weaver, of Cambridge, a nearby community in the county.

His father deeded James, on Mar. 13, 1833, a 159 acre farm, one mile north of Greendale, and west of Tanner’s Creek. (P. 33; Twp. 6; Rn. 17; Deed Rec. "C" p. 206). However, four years later he had moved to Switzerland Co., Ind., where on Feb. 20, 1837, he bought for $12,200, a farm of 54.6 acres, on the Ohio River, two miles southwest of Patriot, Ind., and two miles upstream from Warsaw, Ky. (St., Secs. 26; 35; Twp. 2; Rn. 17; Will Rec. "G" p. 433).

While living here, he deeded his interest in the Speckman farm, on the Ohio River, at the northeastern tip of Ohio Co., to his brother, David Guilkerson, Sept. 4, 1841. (Deed Rec. "A" p. 453).

On April 17, 1852, Mr. Rabb sold 225 acres or about half of his Switzerland Co., property to his kinsman, George H. Lozier. But, at sometime on or before this date, he had moved across the river to Warsaw, Ky. (St., Sec. 35; Twp. 2; Rn. 17; Will Rec. "F" p. 51).

Later Mr. and Mrs. Rabb moved to Louisville, Ky., where he carried on a drug business for several years. Then they moved to Carrollton, Ky., where he was a prominent and influential merchant.

It was here that he formed a lasting friendship with General W. O. Butler, the famous Kentucky soldier and statesman.

In 1863, Mr. Rabb, and his wife, joined their son, Dr. John H. Rabb, at their home in Vincennes, Ind. Mrs. Rabb had been an invalid for some years; and it was here that she died on Oct. 10, 1869. Mr. Rabb survived his wife by some twenty years, dying at the home of his son, on Dec. 27, 1891. His wife, and he were both buried at Greenlawn Cemetery in Vincennes.

He was inately "a gentleman of the old school." During the latter years his mental and physical faculties had been preserved to a remarkable degree. His memory was good, and he could relate on many events in our history, beginning with the presidency of Thomas Jefferson, on down through the tempestuous strife of the Civil War.

CHILDREN

2. JAMES DAVID, b-Sept. 19, 1830 in Switzerland Co., Ind; and d-Aug. 26, 1863, at New Orleans, in the Civil War. See full details in following pages.
Dr. John Henry Rabb, eldest son of James & Frances Sarah (Weaver) Rabb, was born April 5, 1830, in or near Lawrenceburg, Ind.

It is believed that he received most of his early education in Warsaw, Ky., before and after his parents had moved there from the residence overlooking the Ohio River, in Switzerland Co. Ind.

After graduating from Hanover College in Indiana, he attended and graduated from the Medical College in Louisville, Ky.

This "romantic elopement" was understood to have been the culmination of childhood friendship in Warsaw, Ky. Mrs. Rabb received her education at "Miss Jackson's School for young ladies" at Lexington, Ky. The report card, in her family scrapbook, reveals "Excellent" and "perfect" for scholarship and social deportment.

In 1854 this young couple settled in Russellville, Ill., which then seemed a promising Wabash River port of the Illinois country. There he became known as a particularly able physician, noted for his charitable and benevolent deeds. On one occasion he was called from his home, to attend a very sick man near Oaktown, Ind. In the lowlands, enroute, many of the inhabitants were infected with various forms of swamp fevers. Upon his return, Dr. Rabb visited each home and administered to the sick in more than half a dozen places. Finally near the bank of the river, he came upon a destitute woman with a sick baby in her arms. She had heard that the doctor would come that way, and walked over a mile to seek his help. The child seemed to be dying but Dr. Rabb administered medicine and gave more for the mother to take home. Several months afterward, the mother came to his office to express her gratitude for saving her child's life. Dr. Rabb recalled this incident as the happiest of his many charitable efforts.

In 1859, Dr. Rabb moved some ten miles south, to Vincennes, on the Indiana shore of the Wabash. However, shortly after his arrival, he was looking after his patients and a fall from his horse so crippled him that he could no longer follow his profession.

During the Civil War, although incapacitated for active duty, Dr. Rabb was a staunch defender of the Union, and he gave greatly of his resources and energies to that cause. Appointed as a Trustee of the Vincennes University on Oct. 1, 1866, he gave much time and effort to that institution until his death.

He prospered in his well known mercantile firm, established after he had been disabled in the practice of medicine. In 1871, he founded the "First National Bank in Vincennes. With Dr. Rabb as the President of this bank, during the remainder of his life, it became one of the most respected financial institutions in southern Indiana. During this time he also became President of the Citizens Gas Light Co., and a stockholder in many other enterprises to which he gave his energies as an officer and director.

After a full life of civic leadership, Dr. Rabb died Feb. 14, 1898, at his home in Vincennes. At his funeral in the First Presbyterian Church, his fellow University Trustees, were pallbearers. And the Cadet Corps, which went to the Spanish-American War, acted as a Guard of Honor, in acknowledgment of the services rendered to the University. He was a Trustee of that Church for 40 years.

He was survived by Mrs. Rabb, who died July 19, 1910. And she was buried at his side, in Greenlawn Cemetery in Vincennes.

Their children are shown on the following page.

NOTE: The biography of James David Rabb (p.214) reveals he was "placed under the tutelage of Rev. R.M. Chapman" then in Louisville; and later a leading personality in the academic life and history of VINCENNES UNIVERSITY. Evidently Dr. Chapman inspired the assistance of David's elder brother, Dr. John H. Rabb, who served as a Trustee from 1866 until his death in 1898. Dr. Rabb's vacancy was filled by his son-in-law James Wade Emison, (F52) who served until his death in 1917, when the latter's son Ewing Emison, (G31) was appointed as Trustee. And he is now (1951+) serving as such.

A further examination of the biographical sketches of the Emi-son and Rabb families indicates at least 15 of their members were enrolled in the Preparatory or Collegiate Divisions of this institution. James Wade, Sr., was also a Trustee at DePauw. (See p.79)
James David Rabb, younger son of James and Sarah Frances (Weaver) Rabb, was born on Sept. 19, 1840, at the large home of his parents, overlooking the Ohio River, several miles southeast of Patriot, Switzerland County, Indiana.

Later, while his parents were living in Louisville, young David was placed under the tutelage of Rev. R.M. Chapman, then in Louisville, and later connected with the University at Vincennes, Indiana.

In the Fall of 1854, he entered Crawfordsville (now Wabash) College, at Crawfordsville, Ind., where he made a brilliant record in his studies. Several months before graduation, a classmate and he conceived a plan of trans-atlantic travel and adventure. Accordingly they arranged their plans to make a start after graduation, which was near at hand. Knowing full well that their parents would not consent to such a wild scheme of adventure, they started out on an apparent sightseeing trip which included Philadelphia, New York and Boston. In the latter city they engaged themselves as sailors on a merchantman, soon to leave for Europe, and the Far East. Then so advised, the parents of these young men consented, only because of the determination of their sons. After putting in at a number of ports in Europe, and other parts of Asia, the vessel set sail for India, spending several months in Calcutta. Finally after thirteen months of cruise and many adventures, they landed in New York in good health.

During their absence the father of David had arranged for an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy. And after a few weeks recreation, David entered West Point in 1859. He soon rose to the head of his class, a position he maintained at the end of each year. While still in school, his ability had attracted the attention of Gen. McCook, during the early part of the Civil War, who offered him a position on his staff. This necessitated forfeiting his future status as a graduate of the Academy, something which David declined. As a first classman (Senior), so competent was he in scholarship and military command, that he was appointed First Captain (Cadet Commander) of the Cadet Corps.

After David's graduation in 1863, Gen. Burnside made a request for his service as Engineer-in-Chief of his Department. Young Rabb was in high hopes that he would be assigned to this place. But the Adjutant General acceded to the demand of Maj. Gen. Banks, commanding the Department of the Gulf. During his graduation furlough, David visited his old friends in Kentucky, and his brother, Capt. John H. Rabb at Vincennes, Ind. However this furlough was cut short by his appointment as First Lieutenant, and assignment to the 19th Army Corps, with orders to report to Maj. Gen. Banks, at Fort Hudson, as Engineer-in-Chief, Department of the Gulf.

Lieut. Rabb regretted missing the appointment with Gen. Burnside, a station nearer home and friends. But, with little time for preparation, and farewells to friends he would never see again, he departed for his southern post of duty.

He landed at Fort Hudson several days after its surrender. After superintending work on the fortifications there for some days, he was ordered to New Orleans to superintend construction of fortifications there. Although his duties were arduous, and he mentioned in his last letter that he had ridden some thirty miles that day, he was buoyant and pleased with his new career. Several days after this letter was received, and after only a months duty in New Orleans, Lieut Rabb was stricken with typhoid fever, which ended in his death on Aug. 26, 1863. His remains were shipped to Vincennes, Ind., for burial in Greenlawn Cemetery, the resting place of his parents and brother's family.
DAVID GULKERSON RABB, born July 6, 1812, at Staunton, Va., was the son of George Adam and Elizabeth (James) Rab. In 1810, his parents moved to, what is now, Greendale, Dearborn Co., Ind., adjoining Lawrenceburg.

He received his early education in the schools at Hardintown, and Lawrenceburg. In 1828, he went to Cincinnati, where there was an excellent classical school, later known as Woodward College.

After school, he entered the service of the American Fur Co., which transacted most of its business with the Indians. In this work he traveled over the Missouri plains, into the Rocky Mountains, and among the headwaters of the Missouri River. After six months, he returned to Cincinnati where he was employed in the mercantile business; and he also worked for a while in the establishment of his father, building wagons. Later he bought some land below Laughery Creek in what is now Ohio Co., Ind.

In 1833, he married Miss Abigail Scoggin, of Hamilton Co., Ohio. And they went to live at the Laughery Island farm. There, his wife died, soon after the death of their infant, George.

On Aug. 30, 1837, he married Margaret H. Jelley, born Nov. 13, 1817, of Rising Sun, Ind. In 1847, he bought the famous Maple Grove farm. Here, his second wife died on June 17, 1850, after having six children, three of whom were still living in 1859.

On July 22, 1856, Mr. Rabb married Rachel Ann Fitch of Bedford, Mass., by whom he had five children, who were living with widowed mother, in 1880.

Mr. Rabb was a successful farmer; and he was also fortunate in his boating experience on the Ohio. In Rising Sun, he became active in aiding the Churches, schools, and civic enterprises. He was active in Masonic work, and was one of the oldest Knights Templar at his death.

For several years he was engaged in the dry goods business with J.H. Jones. And in 1868, he opened an office for the purpose of produce commission business.

During the Black Hawk War, he acted as a scout. In the Mexican War, he raised a Battery of Artillery, and was commissioned as Captain. During the Civil War, he was commissioned as Captain of the 2nd Indiana Battery of Field Artillery. This Battery was moved to St. Louis, where Capt. Rabb was attached to the Staff of General Fremont. There he made the celebrated 100 day march through Missouri. On November 24th, with two other officers, he was taken prisoner by Sig. Gordon's guerrilla band, while on his way back from St. Louis, to his command at Ft. Leavenworth. He suffered many indignities from the rebels, then in possession of Ft. Leavenworth, but finally made his escape. For four months he was in command of the parole prisoners camp, at Camp Chase, Columbus, Ohio.

He hated slavery, as did his father, who left Virginia for that reason, in 1816. Although he was active in Church and Sunday school work, and attended the Methodist Church when young, he did not join a Church until the age of 50, when he became the Ruling Elder of the Presbyterian Church.

Capt. Rabb had planned on moving to California several times. But his life was finally cut short on Oct. 7, 1874. He was survived by his widow, Rachel, who died Dec. 11, 1899. Capt. Rabb, and most of his family were buried in the cemetery at Rising Sun, Ind.

Most of the foregoing is from "A Biographical History of Eminent and Self Made Men of Indiana" Western Biog. Pub. Co., Cincinnati, 1880.

The old Rabb home is still in existence, (1939) one mile north of Rising Sun, near the road to Lawrenceburg. The "Rabb Woods" nearby, was to be used as a concealed rendezvous, after the signal of cannon fire. This plan was made in case "Morgan's Raiders" were successful in crossing the Ohio River here, during the Civil War.

THOMAS JAMES, b- / /1755, place undetermined. It is believed he was the son of Thomas James, Sr., but not identified as such.

During the Revolution, on July 25, 1776, he enrolled in the Class or Detachment of 2nd Lieut. Asell Hitchcock, Jr., passed upon by Asell Hitchcock, Sr. This group became a part of Capt. Bennett Bussey's Co., Harford Co. Militia, passed upon by Thomas Jones, 2nd Major, Baltimore Battalion, Maryland Militia, under Col. Hyde. After being taken to Baltimore for equipment, this Company was marched to Philadelphia, and thence into New Jersey to join the Regular Army. Thomas was in the battle at Ft. Lee, where he was taken prisoner by the British. He escaped shortly thereafter, but became ill, and unable to rejoin his Company at the time of its discharge from the 6 months tour of duty. During the foregoing enlistment he was in several other skirmishes, before the one at Ft. Lee. In 1777, he again enlisted in the same Company for another period of 6 months, during which it was transferred to Baltimore, to guard that city. (See "Harford County" Preston, 1901; also Revolutionary Pension affidavit of Thomas James #816423 Harford Co., Md., Nov. 14, 1832, shown elsewhere herein).

In the Harford Co. Census of 1776, a Thomas James was listed in Bush River Lower Hundred. On March 24, 1778, the list of Abraham Whitaker reveals that Thomas James, Sr.; Thomas James, Jr.; Joshua James; and Henry James took the oath of Fidelity in Harford Co. In the same year, the list of Robert Amos, reveals the names of James; Sampson Eagan, Sr.; John Chocke-Chalke (Jr); William Hitchcock and Asell Hitchcock, as taking the oath of Fidelity in Harford Co. (See "Maryland Records" Dr. G. Brumbaugh, 1928, elsewhere herein).

Thomas m-1st. She apparently died at the birth of the twin children, Elizabeth and Elisha, in 1781. Undoubtedly, with these circumstances in mind, Thomas rather hurriedly m-2nd, Nov. 11, 1781, in Harford Co., Mary ( )Eagan, the widow of his deceased friend and neighbor, Sampson Eagan, Sr., who also had a young son, Sampson, Jr.

On March 2, 1784, in possible contemplation of their later removal to Culpeper Co., Va., Thomas and Mary Eagan James conveyed her interest in the estate of Sampson Eagan, dec'd. to William Hitchcock. This deed, witnessed by their friend, Abraham Whitaker, included the land tracts, "Brown's Lot" and "Better Luck." As this latter tract, "Better Luck" was formerly owned by John Chalke, Sr., dec'd., it indicates that Mary Eagan James was the daughter of one of his children. (See Harford Co. Deed Bk. "FLG-E" p. 433; herein).

While this family was living in Culpeper Co., Va., there was the oft repeated family legend that Elizabeth James, diminutive daughter of Thomas, "mounted the highest horse in Culpeper County." Circa 1790, Sampson Eagan, Jr., step-son of Thomas, had removed to Augusta Co., Va., where he later joined the wagon making business of John Rab, in Staunton, June 4, 1793. (Deed Bk. 29, p. 223). On Jan. 5, 1795, at Staunton, Sampson was married, by Rev. John McCue, to Rebecca Yost, daughter of Henry Yost.

Within a few years, George Rab, younger brother of John Rab, had also joined the wagon making business of the latter. Thus, it occurred that George Rab met Sampson's step-sister, Elizabeth James, whom he married later in 1799.

The exact year in which the family of Thomas James moved to Staunton, Va. is not known. He was the security on the marriage bond of his daughter, Elizabeth, in Staunton, Nov. 26, 1799. Definitely he was a resident of Staunton on May 23, 1804, on which date he was issued a license as merchant "to sell goods of foreign growth and manufacture." (See Order Bk. 28, p. 141).

On Aug. 28, 1818, it is indicated that the son, Elisha, may have left Staunton. And not long thereafter, on Oct. 17, 1818, a Thomas James purchased the property adjoining lot #67, "on the north side of the second Main St., in the Town of Waynesborough, some 11 miles to the east." (Deed Bk. 43; p. 120).
During and after the year 1818, the Augusta Co. Court records contained mention of "James & Co." presumably the mercantile firm of Thomas James. Finally, on Aug.24,1824, a "Thomas A. James" executed a trust deed, covering his household furnishings and other personal property, giving some indication that he so contemplated or had left Augusta Co. (Will Bk. 14; p. 502).

The abovementioned purchase of the property in Waynesborough in 1818; and the trust deed in 1824, may have pertained to some other Thomas James, in Augusta Co.. The census records of Rush Co., Ind., (then part of Franklin Co.) showed in 1820, Thomas James and wife, both "over 45", also Eli James and wife, both aged 26 to 45, with their children. (See census records elsewhere herein).

The Rush Co., Ind., Census of 1830, shows Thomas James, age 70 to 80. Further, on Nov. 14, 1832, he made affidavit for Revolutionary Pension, before his friend Elias Foston, Judge of the Probate Court, who was also a Baptist minister. This application contained the supporting affidavit of an Elisha James, who was either the son of Thomas, or from another branch, shown elsewhere herein. (See census records elsewhere herein).

Thomas and his second wife, Mary Eagan, undoubtedly had other children, including Henry Eagan, brother of Sampson, Jr.. However, this sketch concerns, primarily, Thomas' son, Elisha; and his daughter, Elizabeth (James) Rab, who died in Dearborn Co., Ind., in 1839. Possibly the latter explains the reason for "Thomas James, age 85, living in the home of Jehu Goodwin", as found in the 1840 U.S. Census, Millor Twp., Dearborn Co., Ind..

According to the D.A.R. records of "Revolutionary Soldiers buried in Rush Co., Ind.", "Thomas James died after 9-12-1842". A close study of these records, elsewhere herein, will reveal some of the descendants of Thomas James, as well as the other branch of Elisha James, Sr., (b-circa 1775 in N.C.) mentioned elsewhere.

CHILDREN

1. ELISHA, b- / /1781, in Harford Co., Md. Wife, Rebecca
   On Oct.25,1810, he was issued the yearly license of a merchant, in Staunton. (Augusta Co. Order Ek. 32;p.39). A year later, on Dec.23,1811, Elisha and his wife, Rebecca, sold certain realty or executed a trust deed to Robert Douthat. (Order Bk.32; p.250)
   He was appointed Peace Officer for the District of Staunton on Dec.27,1813. And his brother-in-law, George Rab, was a security on his bond of $1000 therefor. (Order Bk. 33; p.315).
   In possible contemplation of his removal to Rush Co., Ind., Elisha executed a demand note for $100 to his step-brother, Sampson Eagan, Aug.15,1818, secured by a trust deed covering his household effects and other personal property. This deed was witnessed by Henry Eagan, presumably his step-brother. It was recorded on Feb.22,1819, indicating that Elisha had left Staunton. (See Staunton Corp. Ct. Deed Bk. 2; p. 110).

   The 1820 census of Rush Co., Ind., shows "El James" age 26 to 45, with wife and children. He was then 39. And he is definitely identified in the 1850 census, as "aged 69, born in Maryland. However, it has been undetermined as to when or where he died.

2. ELIZABETH, b- / /1781, in Harford Co., Md. She accompanied her parents to Culpeper Co., Va., whence has been handed down the family legend of her horsemanship, as a young lady.
   On Dec.1,1799, at Staunton, Va., she married George Adam Rab, b-July 17,1776, in Berks Co., Pa., son of George Michael and Anna Dorothea (Braun) Rab of Shepherdstown, W.Va.
   In 1816, this family moved to Dearborn Co., Ind., where they settled on Pleasant Ridge, at the northern edge of Lawrenceburg.
   He died Sept.27,1837, being survived by his widow, Elizabeth, until her death on Dec.31,1839. Both were buried in the cemetery at Rising Sun, Ind., near the home of their son, David Guilkerson. FOR FURTHER DETAILS, SEE "RABB FAMILY" ELSEWHERE HEREIN.
Henry James was among the passengers on the "Ark" and "Dove" who were the first Maryland adventurers or immigrants. They landed on St. Clements Island, Nov. 25, 1634.

Prior to 1700, there were numerous James families who came to America. And it is understood that most of them were from Wales or of Welsh descent. The Welsh were among the later peoples in Great Britain to adopt surnames, and the various James families there, were not necessarily related.

Their early religious affiliations were mostly those of the Society of Friends (Quakers), and the Baptist Church, with members of families frequently changing from one to the other. Many of the present day James families, had their origin in America, from the following.

Aaron James, a Friend, came to America with Thos. Penn, on his second trip, on 9/29/1701. Aaron James, and wife Elizabeth presented their certificate of transfer, from Stafford, to the Chestertown Monthly Meeting at Willistsontown, Chester Co. And they settled in Westtown, where he purchased 630 acres. Of their children, one went to Vermont; two to North Carolina; and several to other states. Seven of their children were: Thomas, b-4/22/1700; Mary, b-2/10/1702; Sarah, b-7/1/1704; Aaron, Jr., b-11/9/1706; Joseph, b-1/29/1709, and who d-9/2/1772, and who m-circa 1735, Hannah Hinkman; Ann, b-3/26/1711, (Chester & Delaware Co's Cope & Ashmead, 1904)

With Aaron James or about the same time, a large group came from Wales, on the "William and Mary". They landed at Philadelphia on Sept. 8, 1701, and settled at Pennepack, Radnor Twp., Chester Co. Within a year and a half, due to the controversy of "laying on of hands" many of this group moved to the "Welsh Tract" of 30,300 acres, purchased from Penn, near Newark, Del. This "Welsh Tract Baptist Meeting" built its first church at Iron Hill, Pencader Hnd., Newcastle Co., Del., in 1709. Among the many early Janeses in this congregation were: John James, from Lantivy, joined at Pennepack, 1702; James and Sarah James, joined by baptism, 1703; Joseph James, from Blaeney-Gwent, 1711; Thomas James, b-1698; and d-Dec. 28, 1779; William James, d-Apr. 14, 1765, in 85th year. (See records of "Welsh Tract Baptist Meeting" 1904 by Historical Society of Delaware, Wilmington).

Turning to another early James family, in 1711, John James, and his sons, Josiah, Thomas, William, Isaac and Aaron came from Pembroke, Wales, and settled in the eastern edge of Montgomery Co. Then the Montgomery Baptist Church was organized in 1719, John James, his wife, and three older sons constituted one half of the membership. In 1720, John James and his sons, Thomas and William moved across the line into New Britain Twp. There, a new Baptist Church was later organized on Oct. 28, 1754, which included John James; Thomas James; Mary James; Mary Jane, the wife of Aaron; and Jane James.

Returning later to the Baptist Church at Montgomery, Pa., the Rev. John Davis, born Sept. 10, 1721, at Pennepack, was ordained in 1756, at the Montgomery Church. In that same year he went, to what is now Harford Co., Md., where he organized the "Winter Run" later called the "Harford" Church. And it is possible that he followed or accompanied some of the James family who were former members of the Montgomery Church. For further details on the foregoing, see "General History of the Baptist Denomination in America" by David Benedict, 1813; also "History of Bucks County" by W. M. R. Davis, 1876, Doylestown, from which the foregoing was taken.
The particular Thomas James (b-1756) concerned in the following, "was a resident of Harford Co., Md., at the time he enlisted" July 25, 1776, during the Revolution. Actually, Harford was taken from Baltimore Co., 1777. From this point onward, he and his descendants, have been identified. However, prior to this date, his identification and his forebears, even in this small area, has been quite confusing.

The Episcopal Church Parish Register of St. Johns and St. Georges (Harford Co.) reveals that Thomas James, son of William and Frances, was born Aug. 21, 1724; also that Thomas James married Jane Hicks, Nov. 29, 1748.

The congregation of the Baptist Church at Montgomery, Pa., included many descendants of John James, who was one of the founders in 1719. Rev. John Davis was ordained there in 1750. Shortly thereafter he probably accompanied some of the James family to Maryland, where he organized the "Winter Run" later called the "Harford" Baptist Church. (p. 385, "Hist. Bucks Co., Pa." Davis, 1876).

During 1749-50, a Thomas James acquired 150 acres of 99 year leases, on the West Fork of WINNER RUN at Black Rock Branch.

On Nov. 17, 1750, a Thomas James became a member of the Gunpowder (diver), Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends, near Cockeysville. (See Bk. 123; p. 73; at Stony Run Church, Baltimore.) Further records of the Gunpowder MM, show that Thomas James, m-8/27/1761, at the Little Falls Meeting, 3 miles west of Belair, Ann Amos, b-2/22/1748 (NS) daughter of William and Hannah Amos. Among the witnesses were John, Sr., and Mary Chalke-Chocke, parents of Elizabeth, who later married Thomas James. (Bk. 123; p. 217).

The Parish Register of St. Johns and St. Georges, reveals a Thomas James married Dec. 4, 1764, Elizabeth (Chalk) Chalke. For this marriage outside of their congregation the Friend's records of the Gunpowder MM, show that Thomas James was dropped on 7/28/1765. (Bk. 123; p. 197). However, his wife and he returned as members of the Meeting on 3/17/1767. (Bk. 123; p. 223).

The Will of John Chocke-Chalke, Jr. (Baltimore Co., Bk. 33; p. 209) was proved June 24, 1765. The executors were his widow, Elizabeth, and son, George; with Thomas James as one of the sureties.

Thomas James died early in 1777. And his widow, Elizabeth, was appointed Administratrix on Mar. 10, 1777, (Harford Co., Admin. Bk. JG-1; p. 83). Her brothers, John and George Chalke, were her sureties on the bond of $5000. The inventory totaled $713 10/5, including the above 166 acres of leases, on Mar. 21, 1777. This record showed the nearest of kin as Henry James and Joshua James.

On Mar. 12, 1778, Elizabeth's son, Tudor James, had become insolvent (Md. Chancery #2801-B; Hall of Records, Annapolis). Among his creditors were his mother, Elizabeth, and Amos James, $22/10. Thereafter, the widow, Elizabeth James, lived with her brother, Tudor Chocke-Chalke, on his plantation in Harford Co., which included "Chocke's Reserve" until after the death of her brother, John, on Sept. 10, 1810 (Md. Chancery 1082; May 24, 1813). Identity of the various James families in Harford Co., is further confused by the fact that the above Henry James (nearest of kin to Thomas James) married Apr. 9, 1777, Martha (Chalke) Smith, sister of Elizabeth (Chalke) James. The children of Henry, Sr., and Martha (Chalke) James were, Priscilla Hollingshead; Henry James; Thomas James; (See their Wills at Baltimore, in following records), also Nancy Rare; and Sarah McJough. (See Md. Chancery 1292; p. 565; at July term, 1825, Baltimore; Hall of Records).

Due to the close association of Thomas James (b-1756) with Sampson Eagan; Abraham Whitaker; Asell Hitchcock; "Z. Hitchcock; "Maryland Records" Brumbaugh, 1928, covering Harford Co., should be noted closely": p. 127, Thomas James, Can., 1776; Bush River Lower Hnd. p. 211, William James; Sampson Eagan, Sr.; John Chalke; "Z. Hitchcock; Asell Hitchcock; Oath of Fidelity, 1778, List of Robert Amos. p. 217, Thomas James, Sr.; Thomas James, Jr.; Joshua James; Henry James, Oath of Fidelity, 1778, List of Abraham Whitaker.
THOMAS JAMES, b-1756, at a place undetermined, was a resident of Harford Co., Md., when he enrolled July 25, 1776, in Capt. Bennett Busey's Company of Militia.

It is possible that he was the son, Thomas, mentioned in the marriage contract of Thomas James of New Providence, Pa., Phila- delphia Co., Pa., Sept. 19, 1763, in contemplation of his second marriage, with Esther Griffith (Chester Co., See Chester Bk. 11 p. 234). Esther (Griffith) James, widow of Thomas James, Tredyffrin, was appointed Admin., his Estate on June 12, 1773 (See Chester Co., Admin. Bk. 9 p. 128; in following records.

After the death of Thomas James, Sr., at Tredyffrin in 1773, it is possible that the young Thomas, b-1756, may have been the Thomas James, cited in the Census, 1770, in Bush River Lower Md., Harford Co., Md. However, neither of the foregoing is proven.

A Thomas James, m-l-1776, Elizabeth McFall, in Washington Co., Md. If he were the above Thomas James, b-1756, then Elizabeth evidently died in Harford Co., 1763, at the birth of twins, Elizabeth and Elisha, and Thomas remarried during the same year.

He m-2nd, Nov. 11, 1761, Mary Sagan, widow of his deceased friend and neighbor, Sampson Sagan, Sr., who had a young son, Sampson, Jr.

Some time after 1784, they moved to Culpeper Co., Va.; and thence to Staunton, Va. He died Sept. 12, 1842, in Rush Co., Ind.

For further details, see following pages.

AMOS JAMES, b-1765, in Harford Co., son of Thomas and Ann (Amos) James. He moved to Baltimore.

On 6/2/1791, at the Gunpowder Monthly Meeting of Friends, near Cockeysville, Md., Amos James of Baltimore, married Mary Lee, daughter of Samuel and Mary Lee of Harford Co. Among the witnesses were the undermentioned, Tudor James, and (James; also Nancy, Sarah, and William Amos, Jr. (Friends Bk. 23 p. 141)

He died May 29, 1047, in Baltimore (Baltimore Co., Will Bk. 21 p. 452. Their children were:-- Mary, m-Mr. Bartlett; Mariam, m-Mr. Gillingham; Deborah, m-2/11/1802, Mr. Robinson.

TUDOR JAMES, b-1780? in Harford Co., son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Chalke) James of Harford Co.

He m-Oct. 31, 1814 in Frederick Co., Md., Mrs. Achsa (Chosse) Kennedy, b-1780. They both died in 1863; and were buried in the Green Mount Cemetery, where the above birth and death dates were noted. These dates are confused, as his father Thomas, d-1777. Apparently, when still a young man of 12, Tudor James had moved to Baltimore, where he filed a petition of insolency on Mar. 15, 1798, with his mother, Elizabeth, as the largest creditor for £530, and Amos James, £22/10 (See Md. Chancery #3061-3).

HENRY JAMES, b-17__, in Harford Co., son of Henry, Sr., and Martha (Chalke) James, her second husband; or Henry, Sr., himself.

SEPARATE BRANCH OF JAMES FAMILY

In Rush Co., Ind., at the same time as Thomas James and his son Elisha, were members of a separate James family, first found in North Carolina. Elisha James, Sr., was one of 12 brothers whose parents moved from N.C. to Sullivan Co., Tenn., circa 1800. All of the brothers served in War of 1812.

1. Elisha James, Sr., b-circa 1770-75, presumably in N.C. He owned farms in Sullivan Co., Tenn., 1808-14; and was next found in 1820 census of Hamilton Co., Ohio. He bought a quarter section of land in Rush Co., Ind., 1823; and died in that county Oct.11, 1841. His children:- (a) John J. (b) Lucinda L., m-DeWesey Ingersoll. (c) Amos. (d) Blanchey. (e) Samuel. (f) Walter, m-1/1/1833, Nancy Jones (g) Elisha, Jr., (1814-1887), m-9/13/1834, Rush Co., Ind., m-Catherine Ann Poston, b-1819 in Ky., daughter of Elias Poston, Judge of Rush Co., Ind., Probate Court; and Baptist minister. (h) Jonathan. (i) Emeline, m-John Dewese. (j) Delilah, m-Daniel Parks. (k) Thomas (l) George. (m) Noah. (n) Frances.

The above child (g) Elisha, Jr., and Catherine (Poston) James, with their children, are shown in the 1850 Rush Co., Ind. census. This family moved to Wabash Co., Ind., 1860; and thence to Mansfield, Ill., in 1870, where Elisha, Jr., d-1877, and Catherine, 1899.

2. WILLIAM JAMES, b-3/21/1794 in N.C.; and d-9/13/1868. He m- Mary P. Kirtley, b-1/1/1794; and d-10/7/1873. Both bd-Forrest Cemetery, Ripley Twp., Rush Co., Ind. Their children:- (a) William, Jr. (1827-1849). (b) George, b-1829. (c) Wiley, b-1831; and d-11/22/1853. (e) John, d-11/6/1850. Thomas James, b-1756, stated that he was a resident of Hartford Co., Md., when he enlisted July 25, 1776, during the Revolution. And there is strong reason to believe that both of these branches of the James family were descended from the same James forbear, in the 100 mile area surrounding Philadelphia.

NOTES

GEORGE WEAVER, (1733-1782) bought from his brother, Henry, 2 land tracts comprising 125 acres in Caernarvon Township, Lancaster Co. on 2/13/1763; also 2 land tracts comprising 230 acres, including a grist mill and dam, on Connestoga Creek. After his death in 1782 his widow, Frances, sold the 230 acre plantation in Caernarvon Township on 9/29/1782, of which the brother, Henry, repurchased 156 acres, including the grist mill and dam on Connestoga Creek, originally sold to GEORGE on 2/17/1774.
GEORGE WEAVER, 2nd, b-12/20/1770, son of George & Frances (Brechbiel) Weaver of Caernarvon Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa. He moved to Frederick Co., Va., with his mother during 1788-90.

He m-6/29/1790, by Simon Haar, Minister, Evangelical Lutheran Church, Stephensburg, Va., to MARY V. WILSON, b-1770, daughter of James & Jane Wilson of Berkeley Co. (See Will: James Wilson in Berkeley Co. Va. Bk. 5; p. 192; Proved 3/15/1815.)

At some time prior to 1811, they had settled between WILSONS and Tanners Creeks, in Dearborn Co., Ind., at the village of Cambridge (now extinct) near Lawrenceburg. It is believed that they left Frederick Co., Va., circa 1798.

The 1820 U.S. Census of Franklin Co., Ind., (which then adjoined Dearborn Co.) revealed a George Weaver and family. And it is possible that they had moved several miles to the north for some time. However, on 1/3/1820, George Weaver and his brother, John, were elected as Directors of the Farmers & Mechanics Bank (now the People's National Bank).

The wife, Mary V., died 9/1/1831, "in the 62nd year of her age." Her gravestone is in the "OLD SECTION" of the Greendale Cemetery, which is composed of the graves removed from two other Lawrenceburg cemeteries, later covered by new Ohio River Levees. He survived his wife over a score of years, and died 1/29/1853.

GEORGE LEAVER, in or prior to 1811, had settled in the village of Cambridge (now extinct) 5 miles north of Lawrenceburg, Ind. He was a voter in the elections, Apr. 3, 1809, Dearborn Co., Ind. Terr. "Among the first land sales, in Lawrenceburg Twp., by the U.S. Govt., --- Twp. 5; Rn. 1 "east; a portion of Sec. 17, in 1811 to George Weaver---." ("A" p.410) See references on following page.

"George Weaver selected a tract just east of David Sears, between Tanners and Wilsons Creeks, where he lived with his family for a number of years, honored and respected. His son, SAMUEL, was one of the most chivalrous, high-toned, daring young men that graced the forrest homes of the period---, the captain at the ballroom dances, the acknowledged leader in all deeds of danger, generous to a fault, liberal without measure, and an acceptable visitor in any society." ("B", p.111)

Col. Pinkney James, afterwards of Rising Sun, about 1809, purchased the land where that part of Lawrenceburg, called NEWTOWN, lies, and platted it. He gave it the name of EBEBOROUGH---(and) in the year 1811, sold the ground to Stephen Ludlow, GEORGE LEAVER, JOHN LEAVER and Thomas Porter. The exact description was from Tate St., in a direct line to the meandering of Tanners Creek, to a point where the north line of the old graveyard struck it, thence east to where the old fence north and south divided the new addition from the city dirt lot." ("B", p.267)

George Weaver joined in a petition, recommending (Rev.) Elijah Sparks, as Judge of the Territorial Court, Mar. 1, 1813. And the latter was appointed to that office on Jan. 16, 1814.

"In 1815, George Weaver erected a two oxen sawmill in Newtown, a section of---(Lawrenceburg) which had grown up secondary to the (Ohio) river shore community, back on slightly higher ground---." ("B", p.236). "During the period 1815-20, a bank was organized under the name of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank (now People's Rational Bank)---on High St. Its board of directors, elected at the annual election, Jan. 3, 1820, was -- GEORGE LEAVER, JOHN LEAVER." ("B", p.25)

"In 1826, George Leaver had a ferry over Tanners Creek (adjoning his farm). ("B", p.119)

"JAMES WILSON LEAVER, was one of the most truly worthy men that graced the frontier settlements. He rendered valuable service in defending the homes of the pioneers from the Indians, and was always regarded as the bravest of the brave, Capt. James Weaver was often called on to lead his company in driving back the savage foe that threatened to destroy all the pale faces on this side of the Ohio River. Less worthy heroes have had books written in praise; while may of those who defended this country and preserved its pioneers from the tomahawk and the scalping knife rest alone in the memory of their old associates, or their immediate descendants, to do them justice and preserve their name from the tomb of forgetfulness. Capt. Weaver was an enterprising business man, and was among the first to engage in running boats down the river loaded with the surplus produce of the county, which he continued for a number of years. Many will remember him for his promptness and fair dealing; his word was as good as his bond; he prided his honor as his life and would as soon have parted with the one as the other." ("B", p.163). "From 1812-15 the country was settled rapidly---many of the settlers showed a preference to the vicinity of Wilmington (5 miles southwest of Lawrenceburg) and about the year 1815 the town was laid out. Capt. James Weaver---established the first store in the new village. He kept a small stock of goods in a cabin built of Buckeye logs." ("A", p.181). "Among the principal business men of Lawrenceburg, 1815-20, (were)---JAMES LEAVER." ("A", p.234). The city Directory, 1858-59, shows that he was still active as a commission merchant. ("B", p.276)

"The WEAVERS and other early families were buried on the outskirts of the village (Wilmington or Lawrenceburg?) in the old public graveyard and new cemetery." ("A", p.406)
During the War of 1812, James Wilson Weaver enlisted at Lawrenceburg, Ind., Apr. 3, 1813, in Capt. J. Sortwell's Co., Indiana Militia. The pension affidavit of his widow, Mary F. (Ferry) Weaver, Feb. 8, 1879, shows that:—She was 87 years old (b-1792); that she married her husband Dec. 5, 1816, at New Fort, Ky.; that he died Feb. 15, 1873. The affidavit of her son-in-law, Eber Sherman, Feb. 8, 1879, shows that:—He married, Sept. 5, 1813, Maria Eliza Weaver, daughter of James Wilson and Mary F. (Ferry) Weaver; that the WEAVER FAMILY BIBLE shows the marriage date and place of her father and mother. The affidavit of Mary Eliza (Weaver) Sherman, Feb. 8, 1879, shows that:—She was born Apr. 30, 1818. (Pension # Ind. 22,143)

The deed records of Dearborn Co., Ind., show that James Wilson Weaver sold his lands in Aurora, Jan. 15, 1807; also a lot in Wilmington, Apr. 30, 1867. He died in Aurora, Feb. 15, 1873.

JOHN WEaver, was "among---(Lawrenceburg's) young men" in 1813. He was a director of "The Library Co." in 1820. Also on Jan. 3, 1820 his brother, George, and he were elected directors of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank, on High St. (now People's Nat. Bank). ("s" 235).

"John Weaver, at one time, Sheriff (1837) and a brother to Mrs. Elizabeth Sparks, was then a U.S. Officer, and with a small command, occupied one of the block houses in what is now Dearborn Co." ("a" p. 119).

He died at some time prior to Mar. 25, 1868, on which date an Administrator was appointed for his estate. No list of heirs appears in the Dearborn Co., Court records.

ELIZABETH WEaver, sister of John, was the wife of Elijah Sparks, a Methodist Minister. They lived in Campbell Co., Ky., and later at Covington. After moving to Lawrenceburg in 1808, he practiced law, and was appointed a Territorial Judge. ("A" pp. 149, 152)

DAVIS WEaver, "was another of this family that was prominent about the time of the War of 1812, and for a short time after. He is spoken of in the writings of the early period, as a genial, pleasant gentleman, fond of good company and enjoyed a good story or an inoffensive joke. He could not do too much for a friend, and as a business man was straightforward and law abiding citizen. ("B" p. 154). On June 25, 1827, Davis Weaver was one of the members of Lodge No. 4 (Masonic) at Lawrenceburg. ("B" p. 141).

SAMUEL WEaver, (unidentified) and his wife, Catherine (Robinson) Weaver, were natives of Berkeley Co., W. Va. They married in Clermont Co., Ohio, and settled near Batavia, where they resided until their deaths, the mother in 1859, at age 60, and the father in 1863, at 66. They were the parents of 12 children:—Charles R.; William; Asenath; Sarah; Amadaj; Elijah; Catherine M.; Rebecca; Samuel M.; Margaret; Francis C.; Elizabeth. Samuel M., was a doctor; Postmaster at Dillsborough; government revenue gauger; township trustee; Mason; Methodist. He was b-Feb. 2, 1834; and d- July, 1883.

FREDERICK WEaver, (unidentified) was a voter on Apr. 3, 1809, in a Dearborn Co., Ind., election.

GEORGE WEaver, (unidentified) enlisted in Co."A" 139th Indiana Regt., in the Spring of 1864, during the Civil War. He was probably the son of George, Sr., or one of his brothers.

NOTE: Bible of JOSHUA BUCKLEY, Sr., now in possession of above Mrs. William Douglas, his great great grand daughter.
Nimrod H. Sinclair, son of Thomas Benjamin Sinclair and his first wife, Mildred Buckley, was born Jan.30,1809, "in Loudoun Co., Va." as related to his children.

Some time after this, his parents had moved presumably to Haymarket, Prince William Co., Va., where they were apparently living at their home on lot #98, at the time of his mother's death on July 12,1822. This untimely passing left the father with four or five very young children.

On Mar.29,1823, at Fairfax, Va., the father Thomas Benjamin, married his second wife, Zipporah Buckley, daughter of John H. Buckley, who was the eldest brother of his first wife, Mildred. When the home in Haymarket was sold on May 21,1823, this family had moved up across Bull Run, into Fairfax Co., in the area south of Centerville, Va. In fact, the lands connected with the early Blackburn, Buckley and Sinclair families were located near both the northern and southern ends of the Loudoun-Fairfax Counties boundary line, at that time. And this probably accounted for the fact that Nimrod was born "in Loudoun Co."

When quite young, as related by Nimrod to his children, his father, Thomas,"gave him $100, and a horse, with which to go to Kentucky and make his fortune." This adventure, in later years, proved eminently successful.

Several years later, this family had moved to Warsaw, Ky., on the Ohio River, where he became a prosperous and prominent merchant. It is believed that while living in Warsaw, his daughter, Susan Eleanor, became acquainted with young John Henry Rabb, son of James Rabb, who was also a merchant in Warsaw. For further details of this romance, see the RABB FAMILY, elsewhere herein.

Mr. Sinclair was saddened by the losses of his daughter, Ann, in the latter part of 1841; and his wife, Sally, on Oct.28,1842, who left two young daughters.

On July 4,1843, presumably in Warsaw, Mr. Sinclair married, second, Nancy F. Baker, born Jan.11,1814.

It was during this period that he moved to Covington, Ky; and established a prosperous mercantile firm across the river in Cincinnati, Ohio. He continued this business in Cincinnati, while residing at 1024 Scott St., in Covington. And, at the time of his death he was a comparatively wealthy man.

During his earlier years, Mr. Sinclair was not actively interested in religion, but at about the mid century mark, he endeavored to retrieve this lost time by joining in the active work and support of the Scott Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Covington.

He died in Covington on Mar.30,1881. After a funeral service conducted by the Rev. George S. Savage, he was interred at the Spring Grove Cemetery in Cincinnati. His second wife survived him some twenty one years, dying on Sept.21,1902. She was also buried at the Spring Grove Cemetery beside her departed husband.

Of his ten children, Mr. Sinclair was survived by, Susan Eleanor, who married Dr. John H. Rabb of Vincennes, Ind; William Bryant; Mary Elizabeth, who married Thomas G. Randall; Leslie Devore; Alice Matilda, who married George J. Hill of Covington; Virgil I; and Charles Bowman.

In his Will, the Widow, Nancy F., was nominated as Executrix. The disposition of his estate remained under her care and supervision. (Kenton Co., Ky., Will Bk.3; p.184; (3/13/1879 - 5/7/1881).

NOTE: From the foregoing it will be noted that Christopher Randall, Jr., moved from Anne Arundel Co., to the area just west of Baltimore, where Randallstown was named after this family. However his son, Aquila, returned northern Anne Arundel Co., just south of Baltimore, where he died.

Aquila's son, Brice Chew Randall and Susannah Porter were married on Feb.21,1795 (according to her family Bible) by Rev. J.O.S. Bend of St Paul's in Baltimore. However, this marriage was recorded as Feb.11,1795, in both the Parish Registers of St Paul's, Baltimore, and St Thomas' or "Garrison Church."
The Randalls of Randallstown, Owings of Owings Mills, Browns and other noted families, were active in the founding and history of the "Chapel of Ease" in "Garrison Woods" near Randallstown. Later, this "Garrison Church" became the head of the new St Thomas' Parish, taken from St Paul's. For further interesting information, see the "Garrison Church" Ethan Allen, D.D., 1898, New York.

There were several Browne families who had their beginnings in Anne Arundel Co., Md. However the following concerns, primarily Thomas Browne (1st) and his descendants.

I. THOMAS BROWNE (1st), is said to have come from Virginia to Maryland in 1651; and to have complied with the requirements as to the bringing in of settlers. A land tract of 150 acres, called "Brownley" was surveyed, and patented to him Feb. 28, 1659. Subsequent land tracts, patented to Thomas, descended in the family, making possible the clear identification of his progeny.

There are no records showing the death of Thomas (1st). However, after his death, his widow married, second, William Hopkins. He received a patent on "Brown's Peace" 1676. (See below)

II. JOHN BROWNE, was the brother of Thomas (1st). His Will is found in Anne Arundel Co., Md. Bk. 1, p. 320; Mar. 30, 1666. His daughter had a son, William Greene.

THOMAS BROWNE, Sr., b-cl 1669, the oldest son of Thomas (1st) above and gave legal acknowledgment as such Mar. 9, 1674 (Anne Arundel Co. Md., Deed Bk. "TH#1" p. 216); also that his mother had married second, William Hopkins.

The land tracts of Thomas (2nd) were: - "Friendship" 100 acres, 1681 (surveyed for both Thomas, and his step-father, William Hopkins); Other patents to Thomas were, "Increase" 100 acres, 1659; "Brownes Folly" 270 ac., 1679; "Brownes Chance" 98 ac., 1657; "Addition" 400 ac., 1707; "Brownes Adventure" 1000 ac., 1694; "Diamond" 200 ac., 1681; "Brownes Forrest" 387 ac., 1685; "Brownes Increase" 250 ac., 1689 (to William Hopkins); "Romers Ridge" 415 ac., 1703; "Clink" 100 ac. 1659 (to William Galloway, originally).

In 1692, Thomas was appointed to the military office of Ranger in Anne Arundel Co., in which he continued until 1696. He died at his plantation on the Severn River, in 1715. His Will is recorded in Md. Bk. "WB#6" p. 54; (3/22/1715 - 6/24/1715). In addition to his children, he mentioned his brother-in-law, John Somerland.

CHILDREN

1. THOMAS (3rd) is not mentioned in the above Will of his father. However, he inherited over 1000 acres, originally patented by his grandfather and father. (Md. Deed Bk. "TH#4" p. 339; Oct. 2, 1715). On this date, "Thomas Browne (3rd) of Anne Arundel Co., Md., son and heir to Thomas Browne, late of said County" deeded his brother John, the tracts: - "Addition" 400 acres on Patuxent River; "Brownes Increase" 250 acres, South side of Anne Arundel River; "Brownes Forrest" north branch of Patuxent; "Brownes Increase" 300 acres; "Capt. Dorsey's Friend" 574 A. on west side of Middle River, in Baltimore Co; a tract of 100 acres in Anne Arundel Co., near the bay; "Increase" 150 acres; "Brownes Folly" 270 acres; "Brownes Peace" 52 acres. These tracts totaled 2283 acres, and showed that Thomas (3rd) was deeding his interest in his father's estate.

2. JOHN, was the Executor of his father's Will. He inherited the home plantation, "Clink" 100 acres on Anne Arundel River. Later he mortgaged the above-mentioned land tracts (deeded from Thomas to Amos Garrett of Annapolis, Aug. 3, 1716. (Md. Deed Bk. "TH#5" p. 339). "John Brown, son of John." His Will: Md. Bk. 30, p. 24; (2/13/1733 - 3/30/1773); Wife, Margaret, Executrix. Children: - (a) John, Jr., rec'd "Clink", part "Providence"; (b) "Brownes Increase" 250 ac.; "Brownes Purchase, on Elk Ridge. (b) Basil, rec'd part "Providence" including the home. (c) Benjamin, rec'd 63 acres. (d) Elizabeth, rec'd part "Solomons Hills" and share of "Providence." Other sons were not named. Joshua was "Ranger" and Military Officer of Anne Arundel Co.,

Quaker family. Further, the records of the "East Nottingham HS"

Bulletin 211; 5/15/1933; Dr. Louis A. Warren, Editor; Also Bulletin 1087; 2/6/1950; "Lucy (Shipley) Hanks after the death of Nancy's father, married on April 30, 1790 in Mercer Co., Ky., Henry Sparrow whose brother, Thomas, was later to marry Elizabeth Hanks, presumably a sister of Nancy's father, James Hanks. On the written affirmation which Lucy made stating that she was of age, two kinsmen Robert Mitchell and John Berry served as witnesses to the certificate. Mitchell was a brother-in-law having married Naomi Shipley, a sister of Lucy and John Berry was a nephew, the son of her sister, Rachel (Shiple) Barry.

Well established tradition has it that at some time previous to the death of Richard Berry, Sr., in 1798 Nancy, daughter of Lucy, went to live with her Aunt Rachel Berry, where there was also living Sarah Shipley Mitchell, daughter of Naomi, who had been massacred by the Indians. Whether or not the widow Rachel Berry was living at the time Nancy Hanks was married June 12, 1806 is undetermined. Mordecai Lincoln, brother of Thomas Lincoln, served as an appraiser of the estate of Richard Berry, Sr., and was closely associated with the younger Richard, during the time they both lived in the Beech Fork community. Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks grew up in the same neighborhood."

PATRICK SIMPSON was born Dec.3,1761, in Glasgow, Scotland, son of George and Janet (Stringe) Simpson. He came to America at an early age, and during the long voyage of 13 weeks, he read the Bible through twice. After landing in one of the Carolinas, he moved northwest up through Cumberland Gap, to "Red Horse" near Crab Orchard, Ky. There he built a home and lived until the age of 21 in February 1783, when he moved to old Vincennes, Northwest Territory. In 1790, he served as a soldier in Capt. Pierre Ganelin’s Co. of Northwest Terr. Militia, at Vincennes. During this period he had several "brushes" with the Indians. On two occasions he swam the Ohio River, once with rifle in hand, and the Indians after him. For this military service he was granted 100 acres "on Mill Creek."

On July 14,1790, he was on the first Grand Jury of the Northwest Terr., at Vincennes; and on Mar.3,1801, the first Grand Jury of the new Indiana Terr.

The original Deed of Sept.2,1790, now in the possession of his descendants, reveals that Patrick bought his first land in Old Donation 4, from Honoré Danv. A Land Grant by the Northwest Terr., in 1797, confirmed all of Donation 4. He was a large landowner, having at one time about 7300 acres in the Miami River Valley of Ohio. And in 1806, he had 4,127 acres in Knox Co. Ind. At one time he owned the Square where the City Hall formerly stood in Vincennes, and traded it for a slave. He also owned a store in Vincennes but most of his life was spent on his home farm and orchards in Old Donation 4, where he died on Nov.24, 1820.

At the "log rolling" when his home was erected, 14"rattlers" were found beneath the large hardwood logs. This large two story log home had 6 rooms, and 5 fireplaces. The chimneys were made of brick, laid on clay mortar. The walls had portholes, through which defenders could fire at attacking Indians. This old home remained in continuous possession of Patrick’s descendants until about 1955.

From "Hoosier Horticulture" April 1924, p.51: we learn: "In 1808---Patrick Simpson planted a seedling apple orchard" on the farm now owned by Henry Bezy, in Donation 4. This was one of the first apple orchards, and was located near his log home. In 1863, a few of the apple trees were still in good condition, and loaded with fruit. Some of the trunks were 2½ to 3 feet in diameter. It is interesting to note that Archibald Simpson, son of Patrick, was one of the first nurserymen in this part of the state. Harry D. and Robert A. Simpson and William C. Reed, his grandsons, were also in the nursery and orchard business in Knox Co. Ind.

Patrick Simpson was an early member of the Indiana (Presbyterian) Church, "Upper Portion." And later he transferred to the "Lower Portion." On July 31,1815, he made a Deed of Gift of 100 acres to be taken from Old Donation 4, for the "encouragement of the Presbyterian Religion within the said Territory, and towards the support of a Presbyterian Minister. Before the (Lower) Meeting House was built, services were sometimes held at his log home. On a number of occasions, it was necessary for the congregation to be protected from the Indians, by soldiers from Ft. Knox. For further details on this Church, see its history; records; and map herein.

James Scott Brevoort was born July 16, 1908 at Vincennes, Indiana, son of John Mantle and Maud (Emison) Brevoort. He attended and graduated from the Vincennes Public Grade and High Schools in June 1926. Thereafter he entered Rose Polytechnic Institute at Terre Haute, Ind., and graduated C.E., 1930. On July 23, 1933, at Jacksboro, Tenn., he married Mrs. Ruby (Atherton) Hennecki. Since 1941, they have been living at Chattanooga, Tenn., where Mr. Brevoort is associated with the Tennessee Valley Authority. Following are some of the scientific details of his past work. He laid out the topographic sheet used as a detailed topographical survey of the dam site for the Upper Mississippi River Navigation Improvement. He readjusted the stadia traverse extending from Keokuk, Ia., to Grafton, Ill., and computed the geodetic positions of some 500 central points tied in by the traverse. He adjusted a triangulation net used for control of the combined Rock Island, Illinois sewer and sea wall. He computed the central traverse used as the base for the Norris Reservoir Property Survey. He did some original computation for calibrating aerial photographs used for North Norris Reservoir Property Survey. He supervised the drafting of the boundary descriptions of property containing approximately a million acres required for the Tennessee Valley Authority Dam and Reservoir Project. He made a completion report of the land purchase policy used for acquiring fee simple title to or flowage easement in the lands required for the Authority Dam and Reservoir Projects. He computed the acreage possessed by the Authority for each reservoir, and in each county affected by each reservoir. He drafted the descriptions of the boundaries of lands to be transferred from the Authority to other government agencies. These descriptions have been incorporated in Presidential Executive Orders transferring the land.

CAPT. JOHN MCHATTON, b-6/21/1740, one of the 6 sons of Wm. & Margaret Mchaton, who moved from Londonderry, Ire., to Lancaster and Cumberland Co's, Pa., shortly prior or after John's birth.

He m- 2/26/1766, MARTHA LYTLE, b- /1744, believed to have been a near relative of Capt. Wm Lytle, mentioned elsewhere herein.

He d-2/21/1831, and she d-8/20/1826, both at Oxford, Ky.

CHILDREN (Others shown in "Partial History of Mchaton Family")

(A) ROBERT LYTLE, b-11/23/1788, Oxford, Scott Co., Ky., (126)

He m-12/25/1809, CATHARINE "KITTY" EMISON, b-11/23/1790, the daughter of Ash & Mary (Mitchell) Emison. See EMISON FAMILY herein.

He was elected to the Kentucky House of Representatives, 1814; and to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1827, as the "Jackson candidate" supported by Col. Richard M. Johnson (later U.S. Vice President)

About 1830, this family moved to Indianapolis, Ind., where Gen. Mchaton d-5/20/1835. Thereafter, the mother and younger children returned to their home in Scott Co., Ky., where the mother d-1/9/1850

Children (Most born in Scott Co., Ky.)

(1) Charles Grandison, b-8/4/1811
m-1st, 12/7/1838, Ann E. Williams, who d-8/4/1849
m-2nd, 4/30/1852, Elizabeth Reed Williams, who d-7/22/1923, Los Gatos, Calif., daughter of Minor B.R. & Cyrene (Viley) Williams of Georgetown, Ky.

After the death of his father, he and his brother, James A., maintained the family home until the mother's death, and educated their brothers. In the meantime he went to Washington in 1829, as secretary of Rep. Richard M. Johnson, and was subsequently named Inspector of postoffices, under Postmaster-General Wickliff.

Later he formed a partnership with his brother, James A., and George Ward, at Baton Rouge, La. There they introduced the manufacture of chairs and osnaburg at the state prison. This was the first manufacture of cotton cloth in the South. With a member of his wife's family, he bought "Gartness" a 2000 acres plantation 2 miles from Baton Rouge.

He was a friend of President Polk, and often a Guest at the Whitehouse. He retained an artist in his home for a year, painting portraits of Andrew Jackson, and other prominent friends. Before the War, he bought the interest of his brother, James, in the Mchaton-Lashley plantation in Mississippi. However to remove his family from the southern climate, he bought "Elm Park" a large estate near St. Louis. There he maintained fine stock, owning such race horses as Flora Temple; Pilot Temple; Dixie; and Tackle. He imported from India the first pair of Brahmin cattle for producing work stock for the sugar wagons in Louisiana. Elm Park and most of his other possessions passed with the Civil War. Attempting to recoup his losses, he returned to the cotton plantation in Mississippi, and later to St. Louis. But advancing age and feeble health forced his retirement to his farm at Fulton, Mo., and then to Franklin, Tenn., where he d-2/10/1895

(2) James A., b- /1813,
m- 5/22/1833, Eliza Chinn of Richard & Eliza (Holmes) Chinn, a prominent attorney in New Orleans. See HOLMES FAMILY herein.

He was a U.S. Mail contractor; and a highly successful dealer in horses and mules in the Mississippi valley. Soon he became the partial or sole owner of 8 plantations along the Mississippi. His home plantation was "Arlington" some 4 miles below Baton Rouge.

He was not originally a secessionist, and while a delegate at the Democratic Convention of 1860 in Charleston, S.C., he remained seated with Gen. Clark, when the Louisianans marched out. During his absence from Arlington, the first Confederate flag in Louisiana was raised there. But upon his return it was lowered. During the War he became more identified with the Confederate activities. So when the Union troops arrived he fled with his family... to Texas, and later to Matamoros, Mexico, where he continued his cotton business. After the fall of the Confederacy he bought a sugar plantation at Desengana, Cuba, where he lived for 10 years.
 There he entertained other noted temporary refugees including John C. Breckenridge; Gen. Robert Toombs; and Gen. Moore of Louisiana. He returned to St. Louis, Mo., where he d- 7/6/1871, and was sent to Lexington, Ky., for burial.

(3) Lucretia Calista,
 m- /7/1834, Indianapolis, Robert Arnold Lashley of Greenville, Miss. They moved to Silver Lake, Miss., where they died and were buried.

(4) Eunice Caroline,
 m-1/20/1835, Indianapolis, Stephen Jackson. They returned to Georgetown, Ky., with members of her family, where he died not long afterward.

(5) Fenelon, b.- /1819,
 Unmarried. He owned a plantation near Baton Rouge. While servicing in the Confederate Army, his properties were lost. And he returned to Baton Rouge, where he died.

(6) William Kearse,
 b.- /1829,
 Unmarried. He was associated with his brothers Charles and James. He served in the Confederate Army, dying at the end of War.

(7) Robert Emerson, b-7/3/1830,
 He practiced law in Baton Rouge, later moving to New Orleans where he became a noted lawyer and orator. Sometime after joining the Louisiana Militia, he was appointed Postmaster of New Orleans under President Buchanan. At this time he contracted rheumatic fever. Although a General of Artillery, due to this illness, he served as Commissary General all through the Confederacy.

 (k/5/1930 - 1/14/1919) daughter of Benjamin & Catherine (Prisco)
 Emerson(C30). See EMISON FAMILY elsewhere herein.
 In October 1832, Rev. McHatton, and 16 other members withdrew from the Baptist Church at Silas, Bourbon Co., Ky., and organized there the first Church (Christian) of Kentucky, under the teachings of Dr. Alex. Campbell, formerly of Georgetown (Baptist) College, Ky. In 1833, this group united with the Christian Church of Leesburg, nearby, organized by Rev. B.W. Stone. However, during 1801-03, Rev. Stone had begun the new teachings at the Cane Ridge Church of Bourbon Co., some 20 years before Dr. Campbell published the "Christian Baptist."
 Rev. McHatton was ordained as a minister of the Christian denomination, 1835, in Kentucky. In 1845, he proceeded the Emisons to LaFayette Co., Mo., where he settled in Greenton Valley. There he donated the land, furnished most of the materials, and erected the first Christian Church in that country, and in which he served for many years without remuneration. He also organized churches at Warrensburg, Rose Hill and other communities.
 After a full life he died 6/30/1857, and was buried in the Greenton Cemetery.

Following are excerpts from a speech by James Wade Emison, Sr., at the Bruce Home and Inn. (See "Vincennes Sun" Oct. 25, 1911)

"One hundred years ago today, Major William Bruce stood upon this soil and looked with pleasure upon this home, reared in the great wilderness. This town (Bruceville) took from him its name. Thomas Emison, his brother-in-law, had settled on Maria Creek some three miles away in 1804. (Rev.) Richard Posey had settled within half a mile of this spot, having migrated to this community from South Carolina for the purpose of freeing his slaves. A short distance from the Poseys, the Chancellors had settled; north of them some miles, the Folks had made their home.

Major William Bruce had 25 children. This home was the home of his 17th child, James Bruce--; his widow Mrs Rebecca Bruce--still makes her home here. One of the chairs upon which he sat in those long gone-by days, and upon which Abraham Lincoln sat in 1844, is an object of great interest; the old family clock, which has kept time in this homestead for 100 years, is still here--; a hunting shirt worn by Major Bruce--tells its own story of pioneer days; and more interesting and more sacred than all, the old Bible, opened at the place where is recorded the birth of Major Bruce's first child--Charles Polk Bruce, in 1799.

One hundred years ago--General Harrison, Governor of the Territory and stationed at Vincennes its capital, only a few miles from this place, was enlisting volunteers for the purpose of conquering Tecumseh and the Prophet. Practically every man in the community became a soldier for the preservation of their homes and families, and among them was the man who built this home, Major Bruce. (Thos Emison, with the Vincennes Troop of Light Dragoons) proceeded with General Harrison to the battleground, since grown famous, but Major Bruce, after taking up the march to Tippecanoe, was directed by General Harrison, to return--for the purpose of protecting wives and children of the pioneers against the attacks of savages--and on the day of the famous battle of Tippecanoe, Nov. 7, 1811, Major Bruce was stationed (a mile and a half west of) Edwardsport--."
As stated previously, "Hugh and Ash Emison, sons of Thomas, came from Ireland, landing at JAMESTOWN——; also "Hugh was seventeen when they came to this country" or within a year after Sept. 20, 1761. At present the "Jamestown" referred to, is thought to have been in Cecil Co. Md., and not the original island settlement in the James River, which had previously passed into the hand of a private family, and was then more or less a deserted community.

In referring to the original Jamestown settlement, it is rather a coincidence to note another small settlement named Jamestown in Prince Edward Co. Va., 2 miles east of Farmville, on the south bank of the Appomattox River. According to the "Gazetteer U.S.A." by Haskell

It was also an Emison legend that "they owned the land" on which the original Appomattox Courthouse was erected later. This particular site was then in the extreme western tongue of Prince Edward Co., which now forms part of Appomattox Co. The writer, J.E., examined an old county map in Farmville, which showed the early land owners in that area. No indication of the Emison family was found. But it did show the Marshall and Webb families, two names prominent in early Scott Co. Ky. Hugh Emison, m-2nd, 10/23/1800, Elizabeth Marshall, daughter of Stephen George Marshall

THOMAS EMISON

Moving northward to Frederick Co. Va., there was found a Thomas Emison, on the tax list of Elisha Williams, 1782, used in the 1st Federal Census, 1790. According to other names on this list, Thomas Emison then lived about 10-12 miles southeast of Winchester near the present county line. Unfortunately, no further trace of him could be identified in that area. At the same time, it should be borne in mind, that no other records have been found in America to identify the father (supposedly Thomas) of Hugh and Ash Emison. This Thomas Emison did live at a time and place where he could have been the father of Hugh and Ash. Again, Frederick Co. records give numerous mention of a Thomas Edmundson who m-3/16/1786, Ann Campbell. There were also Edmundsons-Edmonsons-Emdinsons in Cecil Co. Md., and Chester Co. Pa., where Hugh and Ash Emison lived.

MARGARET EMISON

Not far from the locale of Thomas Emison, records reveal the family of Margaret Emison, widow; her son, William; and her daughter, Margaret. This family came from Co. Down, North Ireland to Loudoun Co. Va., circa 1809. Later they moved to Culpeper Co. Va. See a brief history of this family elsewhere herein.

EMERSON FAMILIES - NO CONNECTION

There was also in Frederick Co. Va., a Thomas Emerson, (June 23, 1773 - July 22, 1837) son of Rev. Arthur Emerson. He married Rachel Burwell, daughter of James Bacon Burwell. And they inherited the latter’s historic "Yellow House." Later this family moved to Knoxville, Tenn., where Thomas was the first Mayor in 1815.

There are records of two other Thomas Emersons in Virginia, a generation earlier: (a) Thomas Emerson, d-1790, of Goochland and Albemarle Counties. (b) Thomas Emerson; Land patent, 1761, on 159 acres in Hampshire Co. W. Va.

It is understood that some of the Emerson families, in various counties of Virginia, were descended from the Emersons of Massachusetts. There were Emerson families who moved from Virginia to central Kentucky, and thence to southern Indiana, during the same periods as the Emisons.
EMISON FAMILY: VOYAGE FROM IRELAND

"The Ship "Willy" Capt. J.M. McConnel: from CORK, is ashore in the River near Little Creek, having received before, considerable damage on the cross ledge." (East of Dover, Del.) See Pa. Gazette, 11/5/1761.

EMISON FAMILY: LANDING AT "JAMESTOWN."

JAMESTOWN, Cecil Co., Md., on Sassafras Creek (Now extinct)

JAMES POINT, JAMES ISLAND, Dorchester Co., Md.

CAPE JAMES, near Lewes, Del. (Now Cape Henlopen)

NOTE: A comprehensive search has been made in the county court records and state archives of Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania. The Tax Lists of 1773; 1774; in West Nottingham Twp., of Chester Co., Pa., show ASH EMISON, with 80 and 100 acres respectively. Much of that original township now lies in Cecil Co., Md., after final acceptance of the Mason-Dixon Line, during 1762-75.

CONCLUSIONS: At present, it is believed that the family of HUGH and ASH EMISON may have landed at Jamestown, Cecil Co., Md., in 1761-62. It was the original county seat, near Ordinary Point, on Sassafras Creek, about equi-distant from the mouth to Fredricktown. The first courthouse was built there in 1692. And the village was later called "Oldtown," but it is now extinct. See "History of Cecil Co. Md." Johnson.

"Son Thomas: I gladly received yours of Sept ye 20 which give us pleasure to hear of your welfare, ----we and all your friends here are in their common health at present. I am in hopes these lines will find you all the same. I have not anything particular to write you but what the bearer can tell you. I expect it will be Squire Miller. I have not seen JOHN SUTFIN (son-in-law) since I received your letter, and I do not know at present whether he is expecting to take his wagon there or not. I believe he wrote last week to SAMUEL (C9). I shall write to him in two or three weeks if I am well. You say JOHN (C5) is yet at your house. I Fully expected that he would have been out surveying before now. I believe it was when you were here that the dispute took place betwixt ---- ----- and myself. He warranted me for $46.07. It was brought to arbitration before Elijah and John Craig. They brought him in $28.64 in my debt. Same Ewing, Mat Barkley got a judgment against ---- for $14.00. Hard on the Dutch. That same one has buttered his bread of several of us but we will watch hereafter. I think he must be a Yankee. Another subject, your Sister MARY (C10) brought forth a fine daughter last Saturday.

I have not anything more to say, only hard times and getting harder. ----wishing you to remember us as BETSY (wife) and children join me in sending their best wishes to you all, and enquiring friends, JINEY (wife of Thomas). children, JOHN, SAMUEL and family.
