INTRODUCTION

This Stoner Family Book is in answer to a long-felt need for a written record to which the Stoner descendants could turn. There was ample historical material left by preceding generations; and with the living ones willing and eager to cooperate, the task of completing this first record has been a pleasure.

We are especially indebted to Lina Norris Stoner for the records she assembled and preserved. To many others go our thanks. We hope this book will kindle an interest among you to confirm past records and that you will add, from time to time, family dates and events as they occur.

As you turn through these pages, take time to "read between the lines" - there is so much left unsaid. What strong motives caused young Jacob Stoner and his brothers to leave their Fatherland and face the perils of the sea to come to the strange New World? What of the parents they left behind? Who extended a helping hand in the new country? How far back came the ideals of honesty, hard work, thrift, and the fear of the Lord? These have been traditional in the Stoner Family as long as anyone remembers.

Through the centuries, in spite of sickness and death, wars, and social changes, the family has survived and multiplied. Each generation has sought the best for its children. The sum total of their struggles, ambitions, and wisdom gained is here represented in the living descendants, almost without exception - people dedicated to helping their fellow-men. Never be ashamed of the old-fashioned virtues handed down by the older ones -- for, truly, "ours is a goodly heritage".

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM DEFINED:

Each direct descendant who is married is given a number. David Stoner II (1806 - 1896), the common ancestor to many of us, is given the No. 1. In the second generation, his first child is No. 2; and that person is designated in the next generation as No. 2-1. The designation 98-15-5-1 means that descendant No. 98 is the child of No. 15 who is the child of No. 5 who is the child of No. 1. Since no two persons will have the same number, it is possible to trace a name back to the common ancestor, such as No. 1.

Index I and Index II list only one page on which a name appears. It is intended that this page number represent the page on which the name appears as the head of his or her family. The listing of that name on other succeeding or preceding pages can be found by using the genealogical numbers.

Index I lists the names of The Jacob Stoner II family.

The numbering in the Supplement is independent of the numbering of The Jacob Stoner II Family, but it is carried out, generally speaking, in much the same manner. Index II is a separate index for reference only to the Supplement.

Thanks to All of You Who Helped in a Great or Small Way, Especially:

Helen Reiber for the Reiber records;

Lucille Hicks Armstrong for the Galen Hicks records;

Buford and Marjorie Hicks for their own and the Desenberg Family records;

Mary Roberts Christy for material on the David Lemon Family;

Bertha McNulty for the Mary Ann Himes Family;

- And, to the late Samuel D. Stoner and Catharine Stoner Higgins for their stories and reminiscences of the Stoner ancestors.

We are grateful also to Mrs. Pauline Randall Walters of New Ross, Indiana for her invaluable help in supplying records and information.

We appreciate and are truly thankful for the use of the numbering system of L. W. Shultz, Historian and Genealogist, of North Manchester, Indiana.

- And, finally, - Thanks to Vivian McClellan for her patience and assistance in making the final production of "Our Stoner Family" a reality.

Vera, - What a pleasure it has been to have had the honor of mimeographing and typing this record for posterity! You have been a wonderful woman with whom to work. It is truly hoped that others too will realize the time and patience that you have dedicated to this genealogy for those living and those "yet unborn". (See Page 29, last line)

Old History of Frederick County, Maryland states of this family: "The Stoner family is descended from five brothers bearing that surname who left their native land, Germany, in the middle or forepart of the eighteenth century and emigrated to this country." The only record of an immigration of five brothers in the same ship is the following: Johannes Steiner, Isaac Steiner, Henrich Steiner, Christian Steiner, and Jacob Steiner - who came from Rotterdam in ship "Neptune", arriving October 25, 1746 at Philadelphia. (Palatinates: Source 1. Pa. Ger. Pioneers pp 363 and 17:2:256)

No. B

JACOB STONER I (See: Jacob Steiner I, above for dates) is said to have settled first in Berks County, Pennsylvania; later in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania near Ephrata; then later still, settled in Carroll County, Maryland and lived in what was known as "Spring Garden." Both Jacob and Autrain were buried on the homeplace near Beaverdam, Frederick County, Maryland, which is the same place where Jesse Klein lived in 1931. Dates for birth and death were recorded on their tombstones on the Wm Rapp Farm (Hooge Farm). Jacob's will was filed in Frederick County, Maryland and his sons, John and David Stoner, were executors. It verifies the names of some of his children. Autrain Ferguson Stoner's will was filed in Frederick County, Maryland with Henry Bucher, Executor. Mother Autrain's will, made in 1820, left her possessions to five daughters: Susanna, Agnes, Nancy, Hannah, and Elizabeth. Copies of these wills appear in this history.

Among Lina Norris Stoner's records was the statement that Jacob Stoner I served in French and Indian War in 1757-1758 in Captain Elias Delashmutt's Muster Roll. He is said to have served on Committee of Observation, Frederick County, Maryland, March 22, 1776. National Archives, Washington, D.C. has no record of our Jacob Stoner I having served in Revolutionary War.

The following is copied from a German Bible printed by Christopher Sower (Saur), Germantown, Pennsylvania in 1763. This Bible, when inspected by Jesse Weybright belonged to David Devilbiss, Johnsville, Maryland; and it came to him through Elizabeth Stoner (who married Henry Bucher who was Executor of Autrain's will; and her granddaughter was a stepmother to David Devilbiss who is a son of Basil Devilbiss whose father was David Devilbiss). Quote: "I am sure it belongs to Jacob and Autrain Stoner, but does not bear any name in it. The above names are the same mentioned in both Jacob and Autrain's wills except Nancy is not named in both wills. I think the first Anna was born in 1781 and died in 1782 and then they named the next child Anna. I have found this custom in several families in my research work. The Settlement list gives a different rotation in this. Compare it with the first list I sent you."

From Lina Stoner's notes: "Jacob Stoner I came from Berks County, Pa. during the French and Indian War. He bought of Azel and Sarah Warfield 173 acres of land called "Spring Garden" February 17, 1765. Same date bought of M. Yeates 200 acres, a part of "Spring Garden." Jacob Stoner and wife, Autrain, sold to Jacob Stoner Jr. March 22, 1790, 125 acres. He also sold 5 acres to David Stoner same day; and on the same day, 150 1/2 acres to John Stoner and 50 acres to Peter Stoner."

m.1. Catharine Albaugh (1804 or 1805) - 8 Children
m.2. Barbara Garst (1820) - 9 Children

The 17 Children of Jacob Stoner II are listed on Page 15.
Jacob Stoner II, son of David I (d. 1853) and Elizabeth Stover-Stoner, was born in 1781 and died in 1836. He was a native of Maryland, his father, David I, having reared a large family near Johnsville, Maryland. Jacob II moved to Botetourt County, Virginia near Roanoke, where he spent the greater part of his life. His grave was visited in 1924 by his great-granddaughter, Rowena Stoner Peters, who reported that it is near the Cloverdale Church of the Brethren, Route 1, Roanoke, Virginia. Jacob Stoner II, his wife, Catharine Albaugh Stoner, and their little daughter, Barbara (who was said to have been killed by the explosion of a piston on a steam threshing machine) are all buried there upon a hill near their old brick house. The cemetery is known as the Moomaw Cemetery, near Bonsack, Virginia, five miles northeast of Roanoke, Virginia.

Jacob was a weaver by trade and owned several farms near Roanoke.

His first wife, Catharine Albaugh (See Biography, Page 13) died late in 1820 when her eighth child was very young. A month later Jacob married Barbara Garst (See Biography, Page 13), a neighbor girl who had been helping as a hired girl in the Stoner family. It is said by David, oldest son, that upon the first anniversary of his mother's death, Barbara presented Jacob with a daughter.

We have the account book which belonged to Jacob, still in a very good state of preservation. It is titled, "Jacob Stoner-His Book" dated Nov. 25, 1804, and carries his accounts into 1825. His accounts bear out the fact that he conducted a weaving business and hauling service, buying and selling merchandise, meats, fish, salt, and dealing in farm commodities. There were many accounts for "coloring cotton, -- deep blue or pale blue or quarter blue or half-deep," charging by the pound. He also colored wool yarn and sold many "coverlids." He paid men, often with produce, to break hemp, hew timber, build fence, "makeing nayles," mowing, "craydling," "molling two-hundred rayles," "holing dung," sawing lumber. He paid five cents per bushel for ashes, sold salt, buckwheat seed, rye, hay, oats, corn. Farm crops "holing" to Lynchburg and Christianburg. He charged customers for "shewmaking and half-soling shews, boiling apel butter, sale of beef by quarters, pork, lard, tallow, fish by the dozen, many fallons of whiskey, cymment, vinegar, cornmeal, straw, beef tallow, quarters of weal, sider by the gallon, brandey by the fallon." He paid men who "Twingleflaxe and yarn." He paid "dyrect tax and land tax." Everything was figured in pounds, shilling and pence. Towards the back of the book is a settling of accounts in beautiful handwriting, done no doubt by a clerk of the court, after his death, dated April 1836. Then some notations by his wife, Barbara Garst Stoner: - "This is to be remembered that my son David has received forty Dollars of his Leagecy of his father Jacob Stoner. Nov. 1842 by one sheep, $1.50." David Stoner got of his step-mother one bed supposed to be worth $7.00. "Nov. 1, 1842, Catharina has a legacy from her mother two beds and one bedstead $36. two chers $1.75 one shote $.50 one sheep--two lames $2.00 one cow and calf, $8.00 one flax wheles $3.00. Total $51.25." Other children are listed as having received in turn, livestock and household goods valued at $50. "January 3, 1860, the brothers and sisters all met at the home but Maglenes and Daniels one meety settled the distribution from fathers legacy and each one equal except what was in the probate corte."
Jacob Stoner II left a will (See Pages 16 & 17), providing that his property should be disposed of and the family moved to Indiana. (See Pages 18 & 19 for the listing of his personal property.)

BIOGRAPHY OF CATHARINE ALBAUGH STONER
- 1820
(Born in Carroll County, Maryland)

Catharine Albaugh, first wife of Jacob Stoner II was of German descent. The Albachs (Albaughs) arrived in Philadelphia September 23, 1734 on the ship "Hope" from the Palatinate of Rhenish, Bavaria, Germany. There were 208 emigrants but there were only six who were unable to read or write. John William Albach, the progenitor of the family in this country, married a Gehrdt. Their sons' names were: Zacharias, John Wilhelm, John Peter, and John Gerhart Albaugh. They located in Craegerstown District. Their son, John William, was a prominent citizen being one of a committee of safety for Frederick County, Maryland during the Revolution.

BIOGRAPHY OF BARBARA GARST STONER

(This information was furnished by Mrs. Pauline Walters of New Ross, Indiana, and was copied, for the most part, from "Our Garst Family," by W. T. Garst.)

Barbara Garst (b. May 6, 1794; d. April 5, 1858) aged nearly 64, comes from a notable family. The will of Jacob Stoner II is listed in "Our Garst Book" and there are some interesting Garst stories in the "Peffley Book." Barbara Garst was the daughter of Abraham Garst and Mary Zehring. From "Eagles History of Lebanon County, Pennsylvania," page 258: Ludwig Zehring came to America from Baden, Germany about 1725. He settled near Jonestown, Pennsylvania about 1773. He and his son, Mathias, returned to Germany and Ludwig died on the way home. He had three sons: Henry Zehring, b. April 5, 1737 d. April 19, 1819; Ludwig Zehring, Jr. b. December 1738; and Mathias Zehring, b. 1741 d. May 13, 1817. It is thought by Mrs. Walters that Mathias Zehring and wife, Mary Yager, were the parents of Mary Zehring Garst and the grandparents of Barbara Garst.

On her father's side, Theobald Gerst, b. Germany 1702, was 47 years old when he and his wife, Magdalena Catherine, sailed for America on boat "Isaac" to Bethel Twp, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. They had 7 children all born in Germany. Theobald d. 1770. Their children were: John Nicholas Gerst, Sr. b. 1725 d. 1803; Theobald (Dewalt) Gerst; Engelina Gerst; Magdalena Gerst; Cathrine Gerst; Margaretha Gerst; and Elizabeth Gerst. Theobald, Sr. belonged to Reform Church. His funeral was preached by Rev. John Conrad Buchner. Their son, John Nicholas Gerst, Sr. b. Germany d. in the fall of 1803 in Botetourt County, Virginia. He married Mary Elizabeth ______ about 1748. John Nicholas belonged to the German Baptist Church. His children were: Frederick Gerst; John Nicholas Gerst, Jr.; Catherine Gerst; Mary Gerst; Magdalena Gerst Peffley; Anna Gerst; Jacob Gerst b. January 14, 1766 d. February 7, 1854 (m. for his third wife, Magdaline Landis Hinkle, g. g. g. grandmother of Pauline Walters). She was the widow of Rev. John Hinkle. Remaining children of John Nicholas Garst, Sr. were Maria, Elizabeth Gerst, and Abraham Gerst I. John Nicholas Gerst Sr.'s will was witnessed by John Smith and Samuel Hershberger, Botetourt County, Virginia, 1803.
While living in Pennsylvania, Abraham Garst I, b. March 4, 1770
d. January 10, 1835. (Abraham was the son of John Nicholas Garst) He made Mary Zehring in 1790. She was b. 1772 d. 1852. They had the following children:

Abraham Garst II   b. May 26, 1791
d. October 1, 1852

Barbara Garst   b. March 6, 1794
d. April 5, 1858

Magdalina Garst   m. Jacob Brubaker (July 9, 1832)

Shortly after 1790, Abraham Garst I went from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania to Roanoke, Botetourt County, Virginia and his wife, Mary died.
He m.2. on August 10, 1801 to Katherine Ribble, b. March 4, 1780 d. April 15, 1841. He and his second wife had: John, Elias, George W., Hannah, Joel and Daniel (twins), Michael, Henry C., and Mary Garst. Abraham I, father of Barbara, owned 640 acres of land near Salem, Virginia now owned by Hollins College for girls. He sold the land in 1833 and moved to St. Joseph Co., Ind.
and bought a farm where South Bend now stands. He d. 1835. His wife, Katherine Ribble Garst d. in the spring of 1841. Buried in Bowman's Grave Yard, South Bend, Indiana.

According to Dwight L. Mathews, Clerk of St. Joseph County Circuit Court, Indiana, no will for him was ever probated in that County. Following his death, the following heirs were notified: Katherine Ribble Garst, South Bend, Indiana, wife; Magdalena G. Brubaker, Salem, Virginia; Barbara G. Stoner, Ladoga, Indiana; John and Abraham Garst, Jr., New Carlisle, Ohio; George Garst, Muncytown, Indiana; Michael Garst, Dayton, Ohio; Daniel Garst, Dayton, Ohio; and Joel, Hannah and Henry Garst of St. Joseph County, Indiana. - Signed by J. W. Bray, Clerk of Court, St. Joseph County, Indiana.

Mrs. John C. Cochrane (now 81) of St. Cloud, Minnesota is a g.g. granddaughter of Barbara Garst Stoner. "4-11-1845.: Received of Elias Garst, adm of Estate of Abraham Garst, late of St. Joseph Co. Ind. $40, it being 1/12 part remaining in the hands of the Adm and paid out to heirs by order of Probate Court of St. Joseph Co. Ind. Signed: Barbary Stoner, heir at law of Abraham Garst, dec." P. 226, "Garst Family" Coffin for Abraham Garst Dec. 30, 1835 was $10.00.

Barbara Garst Stoner, wife of Jacob Stoner II and mother of nine of his children, bravely made the trek to Indiana. She has many descendants. Lies brained in Stoner Cemetery beside some of her children.

Note: In the Clerk's Records of the Ladoga Church of the Brethren, there is the Church Letter of Barbara Stoner, transferring her membership from the Botetourt German Baptist Church. This letter is dated September 6, 1837, and was brought by Barbara when she came to Indiana from Virginia.

"In the name of God, Amen. I Jacob Stoner of the County of Botetourt and State of Virginia do make and declare this, my last will and testament in manner and form following. First I resign my soul into the hands of Almighty God hoping and believing in a remission of my sins by the merits and vindication of Jesus Christ, and my body I commit to the earth to be buried at the discretion of my Executor and Executrix herein-after named and my worldly estate I give and devise as follows:

First: It is my wish and desire out of my estate that any funeral expenses and all my just debts be paid.

2nd: It is my wish and desire that the tract of land on which I reside, containing about 258 acres, be sold for the best price that can be had on the following terms, one-third cash and the other two-thirds in payments of one, two and three years, and the money so arising from the sale of said land to be disposed of and laid out as hereinafter bequeathed and directed.

3rd: Out of the sale of my land out of the first payment it is my wish and desire that one thousand dollars be laid out by my Executor and Executrix in the purchase of a tract of land in the State of Indiana. Said tract to have a part improved with a comfortable home on the same to enable my widow to raise my young children which shall be enjoyed and left to my widow during her widowhood, and it is my wish should my widow marry again that my Executor furnish my widow with a bed and furniture for same, two milk cows and a side saddle and bridle and she is to have no more of my estate. To enable my Executor and Executrix to carry on the farm for the support and education of my younger children that they lay out three hundred dollars for provision stock and farming implements. The stock and farming implements purchased for the use of the farm to remain on the farm for the use of my wife during her widowhood. Should my widow marry then my Executor is to carry on the farm for the support of my children until they arrive of age.

4th: The remaining two-thirds of the money arising from the sale of my land I will that my Executor and Executrix lay out in land in the State of Indiana for all my children, viz: David, Susannah, Jacob, William, John, * Catharine, Daniel, Elizabeth, Joel, Magdalene, Sarah, Hannah, Rebecca, Lydia and Samuel, so that each of my children may have two hundred dollars laid out in land which they are to receive as they arrive at the age of twenty-one.

In the event of there not being money enough to lay out this sum, the youngest to have their portion made out of the tract of land purchased for the support of my widow and young children, should my wife be living at the time of their arriving at the age of twenty-one, then such as have received their land shall pay the interest on each share of two-hundred Dollars until they come into possession of their land. This to make the youngest equal with those who have received their lands.

5thly: It is my wish and desire that my family be removed at the expense of my estate.

6thly: My Executor and Executrix may carry on the farm where I now reside until a sale can be affected giving them time to make the necessary arrangements for the removal of the family say from this time until September.

*Note: Two of the 17 children (Abraham Stoner and Barbara Stoner) are not named in the will.
1837, so that they may select that time most advantageous to the family and benefit of my estate.

7thly: After all my children are made equal in land and my wife having departed this life or married and the youngest of age, it is my wish and desire that the balance of my estate be equally divided among all my children. Should any of my children depart this life before they arrive at age without leaving an heir or heirs, then and in that event their part to be divided among my surviving children, when they have heirs their part to go to them.

8thly: After the sale of my real estate my Executor and Executrix may proceed to sell the personal property on the farm, reserving such part as may be needed in the removal of my family or as the good of my estate may require. And lastly I hereby constitute and appoint my son David Stoner my Executor, and my wife, Barbary Stoner Executrix to this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills made and published by me. It is my wish and desire that the Court require no security of my Executor and Executrix as I have full confidence in the discharge of their respective duties. Given under my hand and seal this 23rd day of December 1835.

Signed, Sealed Published and Declared by the said Testator as and for his last will and testament in presence of us, who at his request in his presence and in the presence of each other have subscribed our names as witnesses thereunto.

FINAL SETTLEMENT OF THE JACOB STONER II ESTATE
(Following the death of his second wife, Barbara Garst Stoner, 1858)
- at Ladoga, Indiana -

There were six receipts (as follows), written longhand but worded alike, each signed by heirs of Jacob Stoner:

"Received of David Stoner II surviving Executor of the last will and testament of Jacob Stoner late of Botetourt County, of Virginia, decree that sum of five hundred and fifty-nine dollars and 98 cts payment to me in full of the proportion proceeds of the sale of real estate which undue proportion of said will was purchased for the use of Barbary Stoner-----widow of said deceased to be held by her during her natural lifetime and which is received by me in full payment and satisfaction of all demands in my favor against said Executor this 7th day of December A.D. 1860."

Signers: Joseph B. L. Winter and Magdalene Winter
Jacob Stoner
Susan Leamon
Daniel Stoner and Rebecca Stoner
William Himes and Sarah Himes
John L. Winter

There were no receipts from some of the living heirs; they were probably lost: Hannah O'Dell, Rebecca Mills, Lydia Stoner and David Stoner. If there were ten survivors and each received $559.98, the value of Barbara Garst Stoner's estate was $5,599.80.

David Stoner had a clerk's bill of sale for what evidently was the record of sale of Barbara Garst Stoner's personal property at Ladoga, Indiana. Before nearly every purchaser's name was written: "Note," but there was a footnote on one sheet stating "Cash paid over $4.80." It was common practice in those days to give notes as there were no banks. The notes could be taken to "paper shavers," men who gave the holder cash for the note, after deducting a fee for cashing it.

Purchasers at the sale were: M.B. Anderson, Benj. S. York, S. Benson, D.H. Grimes, Wm C. Selders, David Stoner, Daniel Stoner, Jacob Stoner, S.S. Mills, Susan Lemon, Len Graves, Wm F. Thomasson, Joseph Cline, Seth Tuttle, Samuel Brown, James Tobin, Jas Daugherty, John J. Rose, John Gillam, Wm Himes, John L. Winter, Lydia Stoner, Drury Ragsdal, Anthony May, L.N. Thomasson, John Cook, J.B. Crane, Wm Myers, Abner Webster, Samuel Graybill, Wm. Elles, G.R. Anderson, John Randle. The household things and farm equipment sold at the sale were such things as: wagons, butchering equipment, Scythes, small tools, livestock.

David Stoner II was the first child born to Jacob Stoner II and Catharine Albaugh Stoner; his wife, Ann Deardorff Stoner, was the daughter of Jacob Deardorff and Elizabeth Staily Deardorff of Eaton, Ohio, Preble County. There were 6 children born to David and Ann:

- Catharine Stoner: b. February 23, 1852; d. December 10, 1948
- Benjamin Franklin Stoner: b. April 22, 1854 (twin); d. November 18, 1940
- Caroline Stoner: b. April 22, 1854 (twin); d. July 8, 1890
- Christena Stoner: b. February 2, 1859; d. December 31, 1899
- Salome Ann Stoner: b. November 8, 1863; d. March 11, 1894

REMINISCENCES OF DAVID STONER II
1806 - 1896
(By his son, Samuel D. Stoner, and told to Vera Stoner over a period of years, from 1940 to 1946)

It was the custom in Virginia for a son to work for his father until he was twenty-one. Accordingly, "Pap," as his children called him, left home the day he was twenty-one and went from Roanoke, Virginia to Huntington, West Virginia and took a steam-boat down the Ohio River to Cincinnati, Ohio. From there he walked north to Eaton, Ohio and across the Ohio State line to Four Mile, Indiana where there was a settlement of German Baptist Brethren, who had moved there from Virginia.

David was skilled in various activities. By the time he was six years old he was assisting his father on the farm by driving a wagon of logs harnessed to six oxen. Many times as a young man he traveled twohundred miles from Roanoke, Virginia to Newport News, Virginia, in a six-horse wagon hauling wheat and corn to market and bringing back calico, muslin, sugar, and once he brought a load of clocks.

He appears to have had schooling. We have some of his text-books and his Arithmetic copy book, which dealt in fractions and higher Arithmetic. He left diaries, letters and cancelled notes, and his Executor's reports on the estates of his father, step-mother, and brothers Joel and William. He likely settled his brother John's estate. He, however, was not a very good speller, but considering that Pennsylvania Dutch may have been the favorite language in the Stoner home in Virginia, that may have made spelling in English more difficult.

In David's father's home there was plenty of work for the family of seventeen children. They had a room for carding and spinning wool and weaving it into blankets and coverlets. There was flax spinning and hide tanning and shoe making. Each family baked its own bread in an outdoor brick oven, dressed and cured its own meat and made candles for lighting.
They did their own weaving. David learned the shoemaker trade well.

The simplicity of the family's eating habits is reflected in a comment David once made to Lina Stoner, his daughter-in-law, with whom he lived twelve years. He said his family ate from a common dish, with no individual plates. He was a messy eater and the other children objected to having him dip into the same dish with them so his step-mother gave him a tin pie pan to eat from.

As he traveled west, he brought with him his shoemaking tools and worked at the shoe trade for over a year, going from house to house. He made shoes at the Deardorff home, near Eaton, Ohio, (but more of that later). During the long winter in Indiana, he grew homesick for the hills of Virginia; but when spring came and everything was rich and green, he admired the country in Ohio and Indiana.

Returning to Virginia, he raised a crop of tobacco, and came back to Indiana, using the money from the sale of the tobacco to "enter" some Government land five miles east of Ladoga on December 27, 1831, later deeding an acre of ground from the farm of 160 acres for the Mt. Pleasant Church of the Brethren.

He returned to Virginia, some time later, with his mind made up to move his father's family to Indiana. One reason for this decision was the abundance of good land which could be "entered" or purchased from the Government for a dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. Another reason was that Virginia was a slave state and he was opposed to slavery. In Indiana, he could rear a family where he could teach his children the dignity of labor. He sat up until after midnight talking to his father, the result being that his father (who was in poor health) made a will directing that, upon his death, the family was to sell their Virginia land and move to Indiana where farms were to be purchased for each of the living children, with David Stoner as Executor and Barbara Garst Stoner as Executrix.
David's father, Jacob, died early in 1836 and David was now thirty years old, unmarried, and charged with the task of moving the family to Indiana.

Two of the children did not make the initial trip with the family. Susanna was married to Samuel Lemon, and they came some years later. Another son, William, came later. One daughter died in Virginia; and we have no record of son Abraham Stoner's coming. Barbara Garst Stoner, Jacob's second wife, and the Stoner children, piled their "plunder" in a six-horse covered wagon and a one-horse carry-all. They were on the road a month. Hannah was said to be the most mischievous on the trip. David would send the children ahead to look for water. On one occasion they asked for water at a dwelling and the woman would not give them any because the children had stolen her apples. David told the woman, "The business is, give us some water and I will settle for the apples." (The children walked most of the way.)

Arriving at Ladoga, they were not total strangers as many settlers had already come from Botetourt County, Virginia. Most of them belonged to the German Baptist Church, including the Stovers, Myers, Frantz, Peffleys, Harshbargers, and Himes. David and Barbara drove over the country looking for a suitable home for the family. One night Barbara dreamed of a beautiful place with a spring-house near a white dwelling. Later she found the place of her dreams, one mile south of Ladoga, but the farm was priced at two-thousand dollars and the will provided for only one-thousand dollars to be spent on a farm for her.

Some of the children objected to the extra money being spent on their step-mother's land but David informed them, "The business is, she is a worthy servant and if she wants this farm, she is to have it." He always held his step-mother in high esteem. David farmed this land for her until his marriage to Ann Deardorff in 1850. Barbara died eight years later (1858) at the age of sixty-three. Unfortunately, three of the children died soon after the family came to Indiana, and their graves are beside Barbara's in the Stoner Cemetery. The cause of their deaths and those of other children buried in the Stoner Cemetery may have been Diphtheria. Samuel D. Stoner was of the opinion that this was the great killer among the early settlers, but there were also illnesses such as Typhoid, Scarlet Fever, and Tuberculosis.

As Executor of his father's will, David immediately started the search for land for his brothers and sisters. Good land could then be had from the Government for about $1.25 per acre in Boone County. Since he had already entered land for himself in Montgomery County, he could not enter any more for himself in Boone County, but he spent much time going to and from Boone County, walking or on horseback, looking for land for his brothers and sisters. The Land Office was at Crawfordsville where he had to go each time to close the deal. It was said that Boone County was so swampy and wooded, at certain times of the year, a man could cross the entire county by jumping from one log to another to keep from drowning. When his brothers and sisters went to live on their land, they found it under water practically the year 'round, so David bought their land of them and they went elsewhere. David went north to LaPorte and purchased land for William and Joel, both of whom died soon after. In time, as Pap's children grew and were able to help clear the land in Boone County, and the big ditch drained the swampy areas, the land became the "Higgins 120", the "Zimmerman 160", the "Ben Stoner 80", and the "William Hicks 160." Some of them added to their original Stoner share.

David intended to give the 160-acre farm, west of the Mt. Pleasant Church - east of Ladoga, to his youngest daughter, Salome, wife of T.T. Myers. She died before her father's death, but it was his desire that her husband should have the income from the sale of the land. The money from the farm was given to the General Mission Board of the Church of The Brethren in trust and T.T. Myers received the interest from the money as long as he and his second wife lived, - after which it became the property of the Mission Board.

In 1840, David bought for himself a farm home two and one-half miles east and south of Ladoga which later became the property of his son, Samuel D. Stoner. He purchased the 150-acre farm (paying $1,800.00 to Jesse Routh) because it had a saw-mill on it. Jesse Routh had deeded ten acres of the land to the Otterman family for dam rights, which accounts for the farm's being only 150 acres in size. He operated the saw-mill for many years; and, not only sawed lumber for his own barn and house, but he did custom sawing.

Not many people knew of his plans to marry Ann Deardorff of Eaton near Dayton, Ohio. When he went to bring her to Indiana, he traveled in a carry-all drawn by his old horse, Jack. His daughter, Kate Higgins said he became acquainted with her when he made shoes in the Deardorff home, working on one side of the fireplace, while Ann wove coverlets on the other side. At the time of their marriage, he was 44 and she was 32 years old. They lived in a log house on his 150-acre farm until their brick house could be built. The bricks were made of clay dug from a pit near their house and were burned in a kiln nearby. The house was Virginia style, with a basement kitchen equipped with a big fireplace for cooking (Ann also had a cook stove); the east basement room for Ann's loom and spinning wheels and David's shoe-making tools; - and a third room for a root cellar. There were three rooms on the first floor and three in the upstairs, making a total of nine rooms. Each room had a fireplace which was the only mode of heating the house. The lower kitchen was finished in time for their first child, Catharine, to be born, February 23, 1852. The house was finished in walnut woodwork, with excellent cabinet work throughout. The Grandfather clock, which had been given to Jacob Stoner II as a wedding gift in 1805 was established in the new house, having been brought from Virginia wrapped in a feather mattress. The case was left behind, and John Masterson of Ladoga was hired to make a new case for the works. The family had bought a few pieces of furniture from Virginia, but the most of their furnishings were hand-made at a furniture factory in Ladoga. Judging from the quality of heirloom chests and beds found in the homes of their descendants, the new house was furnished with good furniture. David's cobbler's bench has become a coffee table and his shoe-lasts serve as book-ends in various homes of his descendants. The grandfather clock is still in running condition (1965) in the home of Paul D. Stoner.

"David, why do you work so hard?", someone asked him. To this he replied, "I'm working for someone who has not yet been born."
Samuel Stoner told how his father made shoes. They were generally made of horse or cow-hide. His needles for sewing the shoe-leather were made of male hog bristles - about four inches long. To get the bristles, he pulled them out of the hog's back, between his shoulders after the hog was killed but before he was scalded. The end of the bristle that was in the animal was the one used for the point. He used an awl to punch stitch holes in the shoe leather. Then he fastened a hog bristle to each end of a four-foot length of linen thread. To make the thread stick to the bristle, he used warm bees-wax. He waxed the entire length of thread with a ball of bees-wax held in his hand. Then he wrapped each tapering end of thread around a hog bristle for about three inches, waxing the ends well so they stayed in place. He started sewing in the middle of the thread, passing it through each hole he had punched, with the ends going in opposite directions through the same hole. He always wanted to work near a fireplace in cold weather to keep his waxed thread warm; and he did not like for anyone to stand between him and the fire.

One day while he was working in the Reiff home near Four Mile, Indiana (perhaps the first winter he spent in Indiana), Jacob Reiff, the small boy of the family, persisted in standing between David and the fire. David told him if he did not stand to one side he would tie him to the bedpost with his waxed thread. Jacob disobeyed, so he was tied to the bedpost with the "wax-end." Years later, Jacob Reiff, then a minister and Elder in the German Baptist Church, visited John Peffley at Ladoga, Indiana and attended Communion Service at Bethel Church. As he and John Peffley, who was Aunt Annie Harshbarger's father, were driving along the road, they came to a stretch of new gravel. John Peffley told Jacob Reiff that the fresh gravel came from Davey Stoner's farm. Jacob Reiff exclaimed, "Davey Stoner, he was the man who tied me to the bedpost with his wax-end when I was a little boy." He went to see David Stoner, who remembered the incident well.

"Some Stories About 'Pap'"

David's daughter, Kate, then sixteen, and aware that her father did not approve of "wanton waste," cleaned house and decided to dispose of some old shoes. She filled her apron with shoes and carried them down to Little Raccoon Creek which ran through the farm. One by one she threw them into the swollen stream and returned home. The next day her Pap went on a tour of inspection of his water-gaps, and there, hanging on the fence that divided his land from the neighbor's were the shoes. He returned to the house in an angry mood and asked Kate if she had thrown away those shoes. Being an honest girl, she answered truthfully. He ordered her to march down to the water-gap and bring them all back. She never forgot her lesson in applied thrift.

One day a neighbor girl came to visit Kate barefoot and stayed several days. When Sunday came the girls decided to stay home from the all-day meeting at Cold Springs Meetinghouse because the girl had no shoes to wear. When Pap learned of the plan he told them they were to go to church with the family, and Kate was to go barefoot too. Kate wore dresses down to her ankles, which was the style in those days. To cover her embarrassment, she bent her knees enough as she walked to hide her bare feet as she was then about sixteen.

At another time, 9-year old Kate went with her family to town. They were to meet at the blacksmith shop when they were ready to go home. While she waited for the family, the blacksmith made a ring for Kate's finger from a horse-shoe nail; but, knowing that such prideful things as rings were forbidden in her home, she hid the ring in the gate post, taking it out as she passed by on her way to and from school. One Sunday, after services, she was called by the minister to the altar and admonished for wearing the ring. When she got home she was admonished in another way for her vanity and disobedience.

Another story, never forgotten by Pap's six children, was the potato fight. Pap took them to the farm five miles east of town and told them to pick up and bag the potatoes, which had been dug. Pap drove away. They sacked a few; then Ben suggested they have a potato fight. Someone finally noticed Pap coming down the road in his wagon. He helped them finish picking up the potatoes, then ordered: "You chaps get in the wagon, and I'll settle with you when we get home." As they rode homeward, Ben had an idea: "Kate, crawl up in the seat with Pap and start talking Dutch." The strategy worked. When they got home Pap told the boys to unharness the horses and Kate to go help her mother get supper. This episode was featured in Lina Norris Stoner's poem, entitled "The Potato Fight" in her book, "Song of Home."

When the Ladoga Bank failed, some men decided to see how Davey Stoner would take the news. They watched him read the "closed" sign on the bank door. He is said merely to have slapped the lines on the horse's back, murmuring: "The business is, I'll have to hew me out another way." This expression became an old Stoner saying when disaster threatened: "We'll have to hew us out another road." At another time, he lost so many cattle from an unknown malady. One day he told someone, he must hurry home or he would get behind with his skinning. This also became an old Stoner saying: If we don't keep after a job, we will "get behind with our skinning."

Although Pap attended church all his life, and encouraged his children to join church, he himself had never been baptized and received into membership. When he was eighty-eight years old and crippled from a broken hip, Elder Will Harshbarger, father of John A. Harshbarger, persuaded him with this logic: "Davey, you have been a successful business man, have provided each one of your children with a home, but have never arranged for a heavenly home for yourself." David considered a minute; then said, "The business is, put the horse to the cart and go right along with it." The family doctor, J.P. Mahorney, had brought Elder Harshbarger to the Stoner home that day. The two men helped David into Dr. Mahorney's phaeton buggy and they drove down the hill to the creek where he was baptized by trine immersion, according to the practice of the German Baptist Church. When he got back to the house he remarked, "My fah's (fare's) paid, if I can just hold out faithful."

After his beloved wife Ann died in 1878 he continued to look after his farm interests, often riding to Boone County from his home farm near Ladoga on horseback. He died in 1896 and is buried beside Ann in the Stoner Cemetery.
Industrious, intrepid, thrifty, unselfish - - is the foundation he laid for his descendants "not yet born," so that the way has been easier for them.

SOME DEARDORFF HISTORY

It is believed that Ann Deardorff was a descendant of Anthony Deardorff, Sr. who immigrated to America in 1729 with Peter Becker, one of the founders in Schwarzenau, Germany in 1708 of the German Baptist Church (later the Church of the Brethren).

Miss Sudie M. Wingert, of Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, who died in 1962 and had made an exhaustive study of her family history, wrote the following letter to Rev. Samuel D. Stoner, dated August 31, 1941:

"In our data which we as historians of the Dierdorff-Deardorff clan have collected, I find that Anna Dierdorff (the great, great granddaughter of the immigrant Anthony Sr. and his wife Christena) married David Stoner. I take it that you are their son and that Lina N. Stoner who writes for the "Gospel Messenger" is your wife or daughter. I am also a descendant of Anthony Sr. through his oldest son, Henry. Family tradition says he had three sons but from his ___ we find he had five sons and three daughters. However I am now writing to inquire if you have any Stover connections. My great grandfather's sister Elizabeth Stover was married to David Stoner the son of Jacob and Autrain Ferguson Stoner of Ann Arundel County, Maryland. Do you happen to be a descendant of that marriage? Do you know any other descendants of theirs whether by name Stoner or not who are ministers of the Gospel? We are planning to have a William Stover memorial meeting before long and I would like to line up some of Elizabeth Stover Stoner's descendants before then. Thanking you for any consideration you give to this inquiry, I am, Sincerely yours,"

We have the names of the Deardorff's from an old Bible owned by Catharine Higgins. Through Rev. Peter Dierdorff of Goshen, Indiana, we have the listing of the names of Ann's father, Jacob Deardorff and his

December the 17th A.D. 1827 was born Silas Deardorff

October the 3rd A.D. 1831 was born Isaac Deardorff; d. November 8, 1877

The Deardorff family lived near Eaton, Ohio. When the children grew up and married, Ben, Jake, and Sam lived near Eaton, Ohio; Paul lived at Roann, Indiana; Isaac (address unknown); Silas lived at Kokomo, Indiana; Rebecca never married. Peter was the silversmith and made spoons from silver dollars for his sister Ann. They are now heirlooms in the Stoner family. Ann married David Stoner and lived at Ladoga, Indiana.

We have a letter from Hazel D. Smith of 1727 West Jefferson Street, Kokomo, Indiana, dated December 8, 1957 in which she lists the names of her father, Silas Deardorff's children. Silas married Cynthia Ann Hamilton. They had: Hiel Deardorff who had three children: William Henry, Walter Leundas, and Bertha May; Jacob Deardorff: no children; Albert Deardorff: had Mazy Frances, Clearance M., Charles W., Raymond, Ivan Glen, and Katherine Louise; Nancy Ann Deardorff: no children; Aaron Deardorff: had Paul Andrew, Hazel Sarah (m. Smith), Ralph, and Mildred Louise. Samuel Deardorff: had Edith, Mabel, Sarah, Thelma, Cynthia, Marie, Elmer, Gladys, Verne, Mary Evelyn, and Leora Mae. Eli Deardorff: had Lawrence and Ruth. Mary Emma Deardorff: had Ross and Donald. Elizabeth Deardorff died in infancy. Rufus Deardorff: had Marcus, Margarete, William L., Betty Lou, and Bonnie Lee. Reuben Deardorff: had Ossie Mae and Dorothy. Howard Deardorff had Verena.

At the time the letter was written, Howard was the only one of the Silas Deardorff children yet living. He was 81. Hazel D. Smith had one son who was a doctor (at the time of writing) at Bluffton, Indiana in the Caylor-Nickle Clinic.

Of the Deardorff uncles and aunts, the one most often spoken about, in the Samuel D. Stoner family, was Aunt Rebecca Deardorff, who sometimes visited David and her sister, Ann Deardorff Stoner. There was a cane in the house known as "Aunt Becky Deardorff's cane" which Lina Stoner used when she grew old. Samuel Stoner sometimes attended the Deardorff reunion at Kokomo and most frequently mentioned his cousin Paul Deardorff.

Ann Deardorff Stoner was an industrious woman noted for her spinning and weaving. Her flax hackle and spinning wheels in the Home Place attic were evidence that she and David raised flax, grew sheep, and prepared the woolen yarn and linen thread. She used the loom that had belonged to Barbara Garst Stoner. Even after she developed cancer of the breast, she wove a coverlet for each of her six children. She bought her first sewing machine about the year 1865. She had a cook-stove and used iron kettles, or copper and brass utensils. Their first kerosene lamps were purchased in 1868 when Samuel was 12 years old. The lamp chimneys were not glass, they were made of tin with slits cut to emit the light.

Ann depended on native herbs and plants for medical remedies. Horehound tea and Snake Root were good remedies. Her treatment for sore throat was Ground Indian Turnip and honey. Then there was Tansy tea and Boneset tea. A standard remedy for "shakin' ager" (malaria) was Garden Benedict tea. Kate and Sam used to laugh over their attempts to keep from taking their daily portion of the latter, which they were forced to take each morning.

David and Ann's neighbors were the Jim Byrds, Wm Elliot Pearsons, and James Rouths. There were many sets of twins in the neighborhood: Oliver and William Byrd; John and Bailey Pearson; Hattie and Lewis Routh; Ben and Caroline Stoner; and a set of triplets: Elijah, Elisha, and Eliza Otterman. The children in this area went to a log school-house west of the old Ote Stark barn.

During her last illness, Ann spent time in Chattanooga, Tennessee taking treatment. She died at the age of sixty, October 14, 1878. Samuel and Aunt Kate Higgins always spoke of their mother with tender affection. As was the custom, they called her "Mother" and their father "Pap."

BIOGRAPHY OF SAMUEL DEARDORFF STONER
1856 - 1946

Samuel D. Stoner was the son of David and Ann Deardorff Stoner. He was born July 24, 1856 and died January 17, 1946. His father was born in 1806, making a combined life span of 140 years for father and son. During this time, our country was involved in six wars and witnessed many changes. Both father and son saw good times and bad.

There were six children in the family with plenty of work for all. Their father had business interests in Boone County and often went there on horseback, leaving the responsibility of the farm to his children. The saw-mill that David operated on the farm was powered by water with a mill-race that carried water from Little Raccoon Creek, the dam being on the Otterman farm east of Stoner's land. It was often Samuel's task to go to the east side of the farm and lower or raise the flood-gate to control the amount of water that came into the mill-race. These were usually wooden doors that raised or lowered by manual control. The saw-mill itself was of the sashsaw type where they sawed lumber for their own barn and did custom work. Samuel always had a fondness for the saw-mill business. The mill was on the west side of the farm, and there was a bridge near it to cross the mill-race. Brother Ben, two years older than Sam, arranged some loose boards on the bridge; and he and Sam sometimes cornered hogs and forced them to cross the bridge. When one stepped on the loose boards, he fell through into the deep water. One day their father called to Ben to come help him.
As he crossed the bridge, he fell victim of his trap and was dunked into the water. Ben and Sam always laughed about this when they got together in later years.

Their father had six yoke of oxen and some horses. When Samuel was eleven years old, he and Ben were racing to see who could unharness his horse first. Ben finished first; and when Sam's horse saw the other horse leave, he whirled around and kicked Sam in the face, injuring his right eye. An infection soon started. The family doctor came and took the shaving brush and cleaned the eye and told Ann, his mother, to poultice his eye with hot mush.
Long years afterward, Samuel wept as he recalled how his mother sat beside him night and day and shared his suffering while applying the poultices.
After several weeks, the eye-ball sloughed away and he went through the rest of his life with one eye. He always wore a black silk patch over the empty eye socket with a band around his head to hold it in place. In his later years he needed to wear glasses for the benefit of his good eye; then he wore a smoked lense on the right eye.

When he grew to be a young man, he felt very sensitive about his eye; and, in November 1880, he went to Cincinnati to be treated and fitted with a glass eye. It was not a success because the tear-duct was gone and the tears that normally form in the eye kept coursing down his cheek. The oculist told him, "If you conduct yourself like a Christian gentlemen, you will have no trouble in finding a wife; and, after you are married, it will not seem important to you." It turned out as the doctor said. When he was eighty-six, he lost the sight of his good eye with cataract and thought he would finish life blind; but his nephew, Dr. Otis Higgins and his son, Norris Stoner, persuaded him to have an operation. He fully received the sight in his left eye and lived about four years to enjoy it. He preached a sermon on the text, "Whereas I was blind, now I see."

School was the place a boy went when there was no pressing work at home. Sam attended common school in a log house about a half-mile west of his home. As a young man, he worked for his father for fifty cents per day and saved enough to go to Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio, September 7, 1881, at the urging of a former Ladoga minister and scholar, R. H. Miller, Sr., Samuel was invited to room in the Miller home. In later life, he used to tell of the "boners" he - an unlearned farm boy from Indiana - made at college. One day the teacher of grammar asked the class how many parts of speech there were. No one answered. Finally, Sam raised his hand and announced that there were 156. This he would follow with the injunction to his grand-children to get an education. His father was about seventy­ five years old at this time, and needed Sam on the farm, so he left Ashland College in April of 1882. That fall and winter he attended the Ladoga Normal School for thirty weeks.

While he was staying in the Miller home in Ashland, Emma Norris Miller, who was R. H. Miller's second wife, often read letters from her youngest sister, Lina Norris, of Maryland. She encouraged Samuel to write to her sister. "Men were scarce in Maryland following the Civil War," Lina used to say; and she not only wrote to him, but later, when the Millers moved to North Manchester, she invited him to come to see her there. He planned to take the midnight train at Ladoga. He overslept, so he walked and carried his suitcase the sixteen miles to Crawfordsville to take another train.

R. H. Miller recommended Sam very highly to Lina. He said the Stoners were good people and the Deardorffs were fine cultured people. So Lina put aside her other chances at romance and became engaged to Samuel. After about three years of courtship, he settled his accounts with Pap; and with the money went to Middleburg, Maryland to claim Lina for his bride in 1884. Sam's youngest sister, Salome, wanted to go to Mt. Morris, Illinois to college. The other children were in homes of their own in Boone County, so Samuel and Lina came to live with David in the house that David built for Ann Deardorff, 1852.

Then began Sam's more purposeful and useful life, shared and approved by Lina. Before the time when Sunday Schools were acceptable to many church people, he helped organize Sunday Schools in the Ladoga Church of the Brethren, known as Bethel, and in the old Fountain School District. During one period, he superintended Sunday School at one place in the morning and at the other in the afternoon. He united with the Church of the Brethren in 1880 and was elected to the office of Deacon that same year. In 1890, he was elected to the ministry, forwarded to the second degree in 1899; and advanced to the eldership in January 1904. He helped build the Mt. Pleasant church building (five miles east of Ladoga) in 1888; and when the congregation became a separate body in 1904, he often served as presiding elder. While farming was his means of livelihood all through the years, preaching and consultation in church matters received no less than his best energies. He served the Mt. Pleasant Church until 1937 when the members re-united with the Bethel congregation.

His sister-in-law, Emma Norris Miller, was left a widow in 1892 with four young sons: Oliver, Daniel, Robert H. Jr., and John. Very much alone at North Manchester, she sold her farm and in 1897 she moved to the house where Paul Stoner now lives (east of Ladoga). She remained there about 9 years, until Oliver was old enough to farm for her. Samuel had the oversight of six of his own sons and the four Miller boys who looked to him for advice and counsel and training in farm work. As his grandsons came along, he was closely associated with five or six of them.

His passion for education was as intense as his religious convictions were profound. His desire for learning was never stilled and he encouraged his children to think of higher education as the best preparation life could offer them. Unselfish and self-sacrificing, he and Lina sent their eight children through the four-year course at Manchester College.

The Stoner children were reared in a high moral and spiritual atmosphere. The family had grace at the table three times a day with Bible reading in the morning. It is pleasant to recall Samuel's manner of praying, --- "Our Father, we thank Thee that we are permitted to gather as we are, around this table spread with the creature comforts of life. We thank Thee for Thy bountiful provisions for our needs. Bless and keep us through this day and the remainder of our lives and in death save us, we beg through Christ. Amen."

Father had a fund of humorous stories and sayings, one of which was: "That settles it, boys, that settles it." This was the outgrowth of a quarrel that took place on election day in the Pinnell neighborhood, in Boone County. A certain candidate for office brought some liquor-loving friends to the voting place on election day. After getting them drunk, he furnished them with marked ballots. All they had to do was to drop these ballots in the box. As one such voter went to drop his marked ballot in the box, the candidate for the opposite side slipped his marked ballot in the drunk's hand and he dropped it into the box. A fight between the two candidates started and was stopped by Dump Pinnell and Will Higgins. It was then that Dump Pinnell said, "That settles it, boys, that settles it."

Around home, when anyone said "thank you" to Samuel, he often replied, "Yours truly, Hannibal Trout." As the story goes, there was a highly respected man by that name who had never had much experience saying grace at meals. One day he was calling on voters, seeking votes for himself at a coming election. One family invited him to eat with them. They even asked him to return thanks for the meal. He offered thanks, but did not seem to know how to finish his blessing, so he repeated what he had already said; then stopped and finally closed by saying, "Yours truly, Hannibal Trout."

A certain man inherited land and livestock, but he could not seem to manage all his property. One by one, his cattle died; one by one, he lost his farms. When he had only one farm left, he told someone, "I just about have my business down to where I can manage it by myself." That became one of Sam's sayings.

A man who lived near Sam tried to borrow money from him, but was turned down. The next day, he came saying that his child was ill and he needed money to pay the doctor. Samuel gave him the money and telephoned for Dr. Edward Lidikay. The father of the child was without transportation, but he was a fast walker. Dr. Lidikay went to his stable and started harnessing his horse. Before he had finished, the man came walking into the barn, rather out of breath, but still able to talk. He said, "My child is better, Doc, and you needn't come to see him." Doc thought this was a good joke on Samuel and often "joshed" him about being outwitted by this neighbor.

Sam and Lina used to tell about an old man named Zimri Gray who lived with them and helped with the work. He had one ambition in life: To get a "tomb-rock" for his wife, Eve's grave. When bedtime came, he always said, "Liny, if you don't care, I guess I'll go lay down." He, himself, passed away before his desire was accomplished and lay for many years beside Eve in an unmarked grave. A few years before she died, Lina Stoner engaged Claude Harshbarger (of Ladoga) to make a simple cement marker to be installed at the graves of Eve and Zimri. Claude would take no money for this kind of act. At last, Eve had her "tomb-rock."

In his later years, Samuel liked to "codger" around the barn he built, husking corn from the fodder that lay on the barn floor, milking his cow, or feeding the young calves. He always seemed to be there. Sometimes he slept in a rocker beside the kitchen stove. He spent nearly ninety years on this one farm; and it became a spot he loved so well. His spirit has answered the call to come up higher, but the ground he trod so many years, seems still eloquent of his presence.

Father and Mother Stoner loved their children and grandchildren dearly. They would ask for nothing more than to be remembered and loved in return.

David Stoner II was born near Roanoke, Botetourt County, Virginia, May 25, 1806; died at his home east and south of Ladoga, Indiana, May 14, 1896. The eldest in a family of seventeen children, and later father of his own six children, his early life was one of hardship and unremitting toil. His example of purposeful and tireless industry was his habit through life. "It was an invariable practice of his to make one shoe every evening after his day's work was done."

--Beckwith

He lived to see the fruits of his vision and labors in the new State of Indiana. With the help of his children, he cleared away the timber and drained the land, leaving a farm as a means of livelihood to each of his children in Montgomery or Boone Counties, Indiana.

Ann Deardorff Stoner was born at Eaton, Preble County, Ohio, January 31, 1818; died at her home near Ladoga, Indiana, October 14, 1878. She was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Staily Deardorff; and was a devout member of the German Baptist Church. Her immigrant ancestors were thought to have carried this faith to the New World in their migration around 1729. Ann came to Indiana as a bride, October 1850. She was skilled in the many home-making arts so necessary for the comfort and well-being of her family in those pioneer days. Mute testimony of her industry (in the form of spinning-wheels, flails and hackles, and hanks of linen thread) survived for seventy years in her attic. Some of her grandchildren cherish coverlets woven by her hand with woolen and linen thread which she spun.
THE HOUSE THAT DAVID STONER II BUILT
for
ANN DEARDORFF STONER

... Was finished about 1852. It is a sturdy, Virginia-style house, standing on a slope. It is built with bricks burned from clay taken from subsoil on the farm. Chapman describes the house as, "a home replete with comfort." He may have been referring to the nine fireplaces, one in each room for heating with wood fires. He may have been referring to the running water from a spring fifty yards from the house. This spring was the only source of drinking water for two generations.—Or, he may have been referring to the brick oven built in the yard east of the house. This oven was used for the making of bread and other goodies. ... The house now sits well back from the main road; but at the time it was built, it was near the "old road" which followed Little Racoon Creek to Ladoga.

JACOB STONER II

No. 2
SUSANNA STONER
b. March 21, 1808
m. Samuel Lemon (sometimes spelled "Leamon" "Layman")

Susanna and Samuel were reported by Lina Stoner to have been married and already settled in Virginia when the rest of the family came to Indiana in 1837. In his diary, David Stoner II mentioned that on April 9, 1839, he went to Crawfordsville (Government Land Office) and purchased land for Susannah, John, and Catharine. The record of purchasers of Government land in Montgomery County does not include any for Susannah. It is likely he entered it in Boone County, since John's land was purchased there; but the Boone County Court House burned and old records were destroyed some years ago. The Montgomery County records show that, beginning October 21, 1850, one Samuel D. Layman purchased land, Book 16, p. 320, and later made other purchases of land and property in the Ladoga area. In 1865, he and Getta Layman deeded Ladoga town property; and he bought property in Whitesville, 1866. It may be that Susannah having died, he married again. A more convincing record is the Church Certificate of Membership found among the Church of the Brethren's Clerk's papers, Ladoga, Indiana, as follows: "State of Virginia, Botetourt County, to wit: we the brethren of the church of Botetourt this 15th day of February, in the year of our Lord, 1858, send greetings to the Elders and brethren in the west or wheresoever this Epistle may be presented, whereas our Sister Susanna Layman (with her children) are about to move from us to you now this is to certify to you, that she is in full fellowship and peace with the brethren here as far as we have knowledge, we now commit her to your charge and oversight, and cheerfully commend you with her unto the Lord, the Shepherd and bishop of our souls and to the ward of his grace who is able to build with us up and finally give us an inheritance among all them who are willing to become sanctified by the same. Amen

Signed: in behalf of the
brethren present - - -
Peter Hiniger, Benjamin Moomaw, Daniel Kinzie, Jos Moomaw, George Layman"

(This date, February 15, 1858* agrees with the date recorded in David Lemon's obituary, in the "Amboy Independent" newspaper, that he came with Samuel and Susan Lemon to Indiana in 1858, locating in Montgomery County.)

BIOGRAPHY OF JACOB STONER III
(Son of Jacob Stoner II and brother of David Stoner II)

Jacob Stoner III, born 1812, in Botetourt County, Virginia, came with the family to Indiana in 1837. He lived on a farm near New Ross, Indiana now owned by Tom Evans' father, farmed by Tom Evans, who states that Jacob Stoner built the old barn and the house which has since been remodeled. His grand-daughter, Stella Stoner Chambers, now nearly ninety, recalls the happy times she had on her grandfather's farm and remembers her great uncle, David Stoner, who often came there on visits.

Jacob's second wife, grand-mother of Stella Chambers, was Lydia Winter Stevenson. Her father, John Winter, "entered" 160 acres of land for each of his 17 children in the New Ross community. Lydia could not read or write until after her marriage to her 1st husband, Stevenson, who was a school-teacher and taught her to read and cipher. They had a son, James Stevenson, who lived and died in Wichita, Kansas. Upon the death of Mr. Stevenson, Lydia married Jacob Stoner III and had children, four of whom lived. She was said to be a fine woman. Since the Winter children were linked three times with the Jacob Stoner II children, the following is a listing of the John Winter Family as reported by Stella Stoner Chambers: (John & Elizabeth Pfrimmer Winter were the parents of 17 children, many of whom are buried in the Ladoga Cemetery, 1 mile south of Ladoga, Indiana):

JOHN WINTER (b. 11-9-1778) — and — ELIZABETH PFRIMMER WINTER (b. 6-3-1789) (Father) (Mother)

b. September 28, 1814; d. 1838 - There is no record of his having married, and we presume he died single. From David Stoner's diary: "March 29, 1838 started to Laport for to get land for brother Willem. April 1, 1838, got to brother's. April 6, to Laport paid the money for brother Wm Stoner's land."
Here is a copy of a legal paper found among David Stoner's papers: "State of Indiana, LaPorte County: Be it remembered that on the 3rd day of November, 1838 the within named David Stoner was by the undersigned Clerk of the Probate Court of said County duly sworn agreeably to Law to truly and faithfully perform the duties and trusts committed to and required of him as administrator of the estate of William Stoner, deceased. Witness my hand and the Seal of said court at LaPorte this 3rd day of November, 1838. Wm Hawkins, Clerk"

"Nov. 13, 1839 Final settlement of the estate was filed with the LaPorte County Clerk, Wm Hawkins. There was $142.41 pd in expenses. Am't of assets $79.59. $62.82 am't over paid." - 82 -

From David Stoner's diary: "The estate of William Stoner-Db to David Stoner for going from Montgomery County, Ind. to Cosaosco County to pay taxese and make an agent thare to see his land thare by the name of James Norris. Lives nere Cleare Spring Post Office. Spent ten days in going thare and back the tavern bills was $423 cts. Returned the 23 Nov. 1843. Oct. 23, 1844 sent $5.00 Scrip bills. with 90 cts in trust Postege 25 cts. 1846 sent $7 Dollers but it is not enuff the taxes is $8.05 cts postag on these leters 15 c ts."

David left tax receipts dated from Nov. 18, 1843 to Jan. 29, 1863 for taxes paid as Administrator of Wm Stoner, Dec'd on Sec. 2 Twp 31, Range 7, acres 208.55. Warsaw, Kosciusko Co. Ind. In 1843 the taxes were $5.72. In 1863 they were $13.12 on the same 208.55 acres. There is no record of the sale of the land or disposition of the money among David's papers. William Stoner apparently lived only a few months after David went to Warsaw to purchase land for him. The land was bought in April and he died in November of 1838. He apparently lived in LaPorte County and owned land in Kosciusko County.

d. September 17, 1846 (near Ladoga, Indiana)(Buried in Stoner Cemetery)
His brother, David Stoner II was the administrator of his estate. From John's tax receipts, he appears to have paid in Montgomery County, Indiana, $1.14 tax on $40 worth of personal property and one poll December 3, 1845. Receipt signed by D. Vance, Treasurer and Collector of Montgomery County, Indiana.

His tax in Boone County, dated November 9, 1846, was one dollar and 81 cents for State, County and road tax on N.E. Q.Sec.10, T.17 R.1 W. April 9, 1839 is the date David Stoner entered land at Crawfordsville Land Office for Suzannah, John, and Catharine Stoner. There are nine tax receipts from Lebanon, Indiana, some with dates torn off, so his land was not sold immediately after his death. Receipt: Nov. 7, 1846 Received of David Stoner six dollars for coffin made for John Stoner-Dec'd. Signed C. R. Anderson.

His brother, David Stoner II was his administrator. Among David's papers is the following letter:
"Ladoga, Indiana, July 20, 1841 (?) To Capt. Glenn, Brown Township, Ia. Sir: Allow me to introduce to your acquaintance Mr. Joel Stoner. I have been acquainted with Mr. Stoner for nearly nine years with us he is regarded to be a strictly honest and industrious young man. The loss of his arm prevents him from laboring on the farm - his mother being a widow-he has to seek employment otherwise.-he has taught school, he is a fair penman -under his misfortune we should lay party feeling and personal attachment aside and render aid- where misfortune merit and worth are combined. Any assistance that you may render him by introducing him to the public-will be thankfully received and reciprocated.

Yours very respectfully
signed Taylor W. Webster.

(Mr. Webster was proprietor of a general store in Ladoga at that time.)
There is no further word of Joel's going to Iowa. He lived in LaPorte, Indiana, and owned a nursery of fruit trees. He died of complications following measles, giving his property to his mother, Barbara, with David Stoner as administrator, requesting burial beside his brother, William Stoner at LaPorte.

Lina Stoner said that Magdalene was left a widow in Wisconsin. Late in life she came to Ladoga to attend the funeral of her sister, Hannah Ronk, and remained to nurse her sister, Sarah Himes, a paralytic. The latter died and Magdalene came to the home of Samuel D. Stoner, her nephew, after the funeral. She had taken cold, grew ill of pneumonia and died about two weeks after Sarah Himes's death. She is buried in Stoner Cemetery. On July 30, 1905 she wrote a letter to Mrs. Lina Stoner from Clear Lake, Cerro Gordo Co., Iowa, R.3, where she evidently had moved in her later years. Benjamin and Magdalene Stoner Winter had 12 children, namely: Martha; Rebecca; Mary; Lydia (m. Linton); Joseph; John; William; Christine; David; Jesse; Julia; and Emma.

m. Silas Smith Mills (July 29, 1852)
b. April 20, 1829 (near Ladoga, Indiana)
d. September 2, 1901

The Mills family is of English origin, coming to this country in early Colonial days, settling in New York, and eventually migrating from that state to Kentucky. Silas Mills' grandfather was Jacob Mills, his father was Lewis D. Mills who was reared and educated in Fleming County, Kentucky. When a young man, Lewis Mills went to Montgomery County, Ohio to live and there married Rebecca Fitzpatrick, who was of Scotch-Irish descent. She was born March 10, 1794; died July 22, 1843. Her father was John Fitzpatrick whose early life was passed in Virginia. His father had come to this country from Scotland. Lewis Mills was born in Fleming County, Kentucky, December 7, 1791.

Lewis D. Mills left Montgomery County, Ohio in the fall of 1827 and came to Montgomery County, Indiana, driving a cow, a horse, and a colt through the forest from Ohio. He entered 80 acres of land paying $1.25 per acre; afterwards adding 80 acres of school land in Section 16 of Clark Township. There were many Indians here at this time, and an Indian trail ran across Mr. Mills' farm. The Mills family worked hard to clear their land and to hew a comfortable home from the wilderness. After the death of his first wife, by whom he had ten children, he married Mrs. Mary Markey Fletcher who bore him two children. She died in 1869; Lewis D. Mills died December 19, 1847. He is buried in Stoner Cemetery. Nine of the Mills children grew to maturity. Silas belonged to the first marriage. A sister, Mary Jane, married Daniel Walls and lived in Boone County; Taylor Mills farmed in Scott Township. These three: Silas, Mary Jane, and Taylor - were still living in 1893. (Lewis D. Mills was a member of the Methodist Church. He often entertained Circuit-riders of by-gone time.

Silas S. Mills worked on the farm for his father until he was 18. He worked with James Houston in Ladoga 15 months to learn the blacksmith trade; then he worked as a farm hand, receiving $10 per month. One year he earned a total of $133 for his work which was the best wages he ever received. After his marriage to Rebecca Stoner, he rented land eight years, and, in the meantime, bought land in Iowa. At the end of 8 years, he bought land in Clark Township upon which he resided 16 years. After that, he purchased land 4 miles east of Ladoga, and that was his home for 3 years. Selling that, he bought land 1 1/2 miles southeast of Ladoga and dwelt thereon 12 years; then he moved to Ladoga. He owned 250 acres of land in 1893. He was a stalwart Republican and an active worker in the party. He was President of the Board of Trustees and served as School Director in Clark Township. After the death of Rebecca Stoner Mills, Silas married her sister, Lydia Stoner, who reared his and Rebecca's children.

"Horse Days"

(As recalled by Paul D. Stoner)

Early in his "Hoosier" days, Grand-"pap", David Stoner II, used oxen on his Montgomery County farm; and they also furnished power to dig the big drainage ditch through his Boone County land. We know he had, besides other horses, a horse named "Jack". (See Page 29, Par 4, Line 3)

By the time Grandfather, Samuel D. Stoner, farmed the Ladoga land, 1884-1946, there was a long procession of horses that did the farm work. Grandfather thought it unmanly and extremely lazy for anyone to use a riding plow. He was very serious in believing it was the mark of a man to hold the two plow handles and walk behind the plow with the lines thrown over his shoulders. As a youth, Paul Stoner thought it relaxing and refreshing to walk behind the plow and to smell the fresh-turned earth; but he did not think his father had very good horses - they were too small and light of bone. In 1921, Paul's father had thirty to thirty-five horses on the farm. One benefit from them, not noticed until they were no longer needed, was the clean-up job they did. After they were not so numerous, the limbs of the trees and bushes grew lower in the woods and the pastures became more weedy and bushy in the fence-rows.

Many of the horses had names suggesting ideals to which they did not fully measure. There were Hercules and Atlas, Rescue and King I (who were the same age as Norris Stoner), Fly (a buggy horse which Rowena Stoner and R. H. Miller Jr. drove to their teaching jobs at Fountain School and old No. 1 School). There were several Queens, Mart and Frank, Zellika, John, Charlie, Maude, Logan, Pearl, Dutch, Daisy, George, blind Prince, Dan, Fannie and Ribbon, Bob and Carmen. Norris used old Nancy when he farmed; and she had Happy, Black Leader, Daisy, Sal and Dick. The quality of the horses improved in later years with crosses on Percheron draft stallions owned by Ben Carmen and Tom Britts. (Horses mentioned together indicate teams)

Paul aspired to own leather tug harness instead of chain harness, but it was too expensive. Towards the last of the horse era, however, he purchased two pairs at auction sales but never used them very much as the horses "went out" on the Stoner Farm too.

Horses had personalities, and many are the stories that grew out of their behavior - some too painful to repeat. Lee Alexander was using a team in Boone County some sixteen miles away. One morning he telephoned to say that his team was missing. A quick check revealed that they were waiting at the "Home Gate" - ready to be turned through. At another time, old Frank and Mart lived with Oliver Miller for a year. He brought them home and unharnessed them. They immediately ran to the creek to drink - then marched back to their old stalls in the barn. Blind Frank knew his way around as easily as Mart. Grandmother Lina Stoner drove Fannie to Aid Society one summer day. Coming home, in front of the Roberts' home, Fannie lay down and refused to go any farther. Mr. Roberts finally came home and coaxed her to get up. Grandmother drove her home very slowly. As soon as Fannie was unhitched, she trotted away with alacrity. Grandfather laughed and told Grandmother that she had been tricked. Fanny had had her joke on Grandmother.

The first three tractors on the farm, around 1918-1920, were "Waterloo Boys", and there was a man named Gideon Smaltz who often came out from Indianapolis to keep them in running order. The Stoner men repaired tractors by day and plowed by night. They were followed in 1929 by a good steel-wheeled International - and, then by some John Deere tractors. About 1951, with the purchase of the second Ferguson tractor, horses were no longer needed except for saddle use. Then we had: Allie Ray, Bonnie Belle, Linda Dare, and another Queen. Paul found homes for the remaining draft horses where they could work a little for board and keep. The harness still hangs inside the barn door on ten or twelve pegs, much like the day they stopped using it.

BOONE COUNTY, INDIANA AND THE STONER FAMILY THERE

Boone County, occupying a central portion of the State of Indiana, was first settled by white men in about 1822. At that time, the Miami Indians occupied the northwest corner of the county, but about the year 1834, their fires went out and their songs were heard no more. In 1822, the white men found an unbroken wilderness, no roads, no mills, deep-tangled brush and vines, and a good portion of the land covered by water. The hardy pioneers came principally from Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and North Carolina.

Although the county was considered low and level, it, in reality, was the dividing summit of White River and the Wabash. The water flows in every direction in Boone County. Since the water now has been confined to deeper channels and numerous ditches, the land, as a rule, is dry and can be cultivated. Boone County was organized in 1830 when there were only 622 citizens in the county. From "Early Life and Times in Boone County, Indiana, 1887" by Harden and Spahr, pp 7-8-9-10.

"Harrison Township occupies a place in the southern tier of townships, and is bounded on the south by Hendricks County. The surface is level to a great extent. The headwaters of Eel River have their source here, flowing out of and through the extensive prairie known as "Stoner's Prairie". It is the only prairie in the county, and at one time it was thought it could not be cultivated. The early settlers avoided it and took to the woods but by 1887, that idea was exploded and many acres profitably tilled."

Harrison Township was settled in the year 1834; and, at that time, the surface of the land was either covered by water or a dense growth of timber and brush. Rattlesnakes were plentiful. The Stoners first bought land in Boone County on April 9, 1839. In 1880, the population in Harrison Township was 1,401 - with nine schoolhouses, 414 school children, four brick houses, and five frame houses. Poplar Grove Baptist Church was one of the first churches in the township. First known as Antioch, a log house was built in 1860 by the M.E. Church. Then The Baptists organized a church there.
Boone County, Indiana and the Stoner Family There - continued

Later in 1867, a frame house was built at a cost of $1,000.00, seating 400. The cemetery adjoined the church on the north and east. The building was sold and moved about 1950, but the cemetery at Poplar Grove is being maintained in good condition. The German Baptist Brethren, later known as the Church of the Brethren, built a substantial brick church on the Stoner-Hicks land a few miles east of Poplar Grove Church. It was known as the Bethany Church and was built in 1894. In 1917, John A. Miller of Nettle Creek was Elder and William Hicks and Oscar Harrison were deacons. Brethren Samuel D. Stoner and Howard Keim often went there from near Ladoga to supply the pulpit. Bro. Wm H. Bowser farmed in the Bethany Church area and preached for them, but he met an untimely death with Typhoid Fever (d. September 8, 1898, age 40 yrs; Buried Mt. Pleasant Cemetery). The Bethany Church building still stands but services have been discontinued since about 1930. To reach Poplar Grove Cemetery, go north from Lizton, Indiana on Road 39 a distance of 3.4 miles, turn east .6 miles. By continuing east from Poplar Grove, you will come to old Bethany Church and the Stoner-Hicks-Higgins-Reiber farms.

The Drainage Ditch in Boone County, Harrison Township

Grace Zimmerman Reiber believes that the drainage ditch was put in before she was born, which was October 23, 1883. Her mother, Caroline Stoner Zimmerman, heired 160 acres from her father, David Stoner, first living in a log house where Grace was born. They built the brick house in 1884, the bricks being burned from clay found on the place. Her sister, Gertie Zimmerman Harrison, was born in the new brick house. The log house was moved to the farm now owned by Grace Reiber; and her first child, Cmer Reiber, was born in the house. It was moved back and the present frame house was built. It is in this frame house that Grace still lives.

David Stoner wanted the open drainage ditch, which went through Caroline's land, located according to his own plans. One evening, the surveyor told the men to dig the next morning in a different direction from the one David wanted. Bob Zimmerman overheard him and told Caroline, his wife. Caroline mounted a horse and rode through the night to her father's home sixteen miles away, near Ladoga. The next morning, when the men came to work, David Stoner was waiting for them. They expressed surprise at seeing him there so early. He was brief and to the point, "the business is, boys, let's get on with it."

Every person whose land drained into the ditch was required to dig his allotted share - mostly done by hand. Samuel D. Stoner used oxen when he helped with the ditch. In Samuel D. Stoner's diary, for October 17, 1879, he has written: "Finished Ditching" (underscored three times).

August 26, 1879, he notes: "Comein ditching, - W. Grayham, R. Stephins and Self. September 1879 was spent mostly in ditching."

Galen Hicks remembers another "Big Ditch" story. One day while work was going on at the Hicks' land, Davey Stoner cut himself a walking stick; and when he went to dinner, he left it leaning against a tree. The workmen, seeing a freshly skinned stick, thought it was a stake and dug in that direction. That is why (the story goes) the ditch had a crook in it.

at that place! Bob Zimmermans built the brick house; Uncle William and Christena Stoner Hicks built a substantial frame house; and Uncle Will and Aunt Kate Stoner Higgins and Uncle Ben and Aunt Jennie Stoner also had comfortable dwellings and good farms in neighboring farms in Harrison Township.

Aunt Kate recalled the toilsome business of clearing the land and burning the trees to get ready for farming. She had a part in all this from early girlhood. A deep sorrow in Aunt Kate's life was the loss of her husband, Will Higgins, and of her grown daughter, Ocie Higgins, making it no longer possible for her to remain on the farm. Uncle Ben and Aunt Jennie Stoner also lost a grown daughter, Della; and Uncle Will Hicks lost his wife, Tena, and a grown daughter, Lucy Catharine Hicks. — For many years, Will Higgins belonged to the Horse Thief Detective Association. Aunt Kate had a wide acquaintance in Boone County and she lived to be 97 years old. Her later years were spent in Lebanon where she belonged to the Christian Church.

THIS LETTER - Addressed to Mr. Joel Stoner, LaPorte, Indiana, with the number "15" written where a postage stamp would now be placed - was found among Joel's papers:

Harrisburgh, March 7th, 1849

Dear Cousin,

After a long time I shall again send you a few lines, this neglect you must attribute to procrastination, as I have no other excuse to offer, well in the first place I would just say I am getting along something after the old fashion, I have been engaged since my return, in teaching Geographical classes, a business with which I am highly pleased. I taught a class in Salem that was truly interesting, rendered more interesting undoubtedly by certain interesting personages that attended the class. These tender little things cause some strange workings of nature within us, it is really too bad to let these fair ones play the devil with a fellow's heart: so you see I was almost in love, but presently I shall be removed some twelve or fourteen miles from these dear objects and my thoughts also must remove with me, you can observe by this that I still have some control of my senses, and have not suffered cupid to smite me with that unerring dart for which he is so justly distinguished, as handling with precision. I am now teaching here, there are a good many young ladies in attendance, but not regular, this makes me view them with a slight degree of aversion, as it shows at once they do not take that interest in improving their minds that all young persons should take, as to the part called beauty, they possess no small share of it, fine featured, beautiful indeed, symmetrical formed, lively and buxant not in the extreme but to a pleasing degree of moderation. But how can I expect all of them to attend regularly when their parents "the old hard cases" are so bitterly opposed to their daughters acquiring geographical knowledge; instead of light and knowledge becoming more generally diffused through this community, it seems as if their sphere was becoming more circumscribed:
and ignorance, prejudice and superstition getting more and more in the ascendancy. When did you leave home and how are the folks getting along there? How come those two Misses on, I was at various times on the eve of penning a sonnet for each of them, I guess you think, that would have been a devil of a production, coming from such a source as this, but do not be deceived, with such a source for inspiration had I but got fairly astride Pegasus and rode up the hill Parnassus, something might have emanated from this quarter most powerful and touching: had I done so they might both have been captivated and then I would have been in a fix.

I have not yet had word from Mil. which makes me sometimes feel a little uneasy should I lose that it would be a loss to me indeed. Dr. M. Garst talks of going up somewhere into that country this spring, if he does I shall try to get him to attend to it for me, if he does not I suppose I shall have to be under the painful necessity of going myself: if I do not sustain too great a loss my trip will be worth, I was about to say, the whole of it, but in my present circumstances it is too much for me.

The reason I consider it so valuable is, - to learn man. I do not remember whether I told you that I made some purchases on credit with a promise to pay on my return: I gave some due bills to this effect "Payable on my return" some of them hearing from my first letter home that the lakes were rough, and afterwards from some papers that some vessels had been destroyed, I suppose naturally enough thought that I was among the lost, in consequence of this, kept running to father continually to know if he would pay the money if I never came back, these bills called for about eight dollars each, one man, A. Landis whom I owed about twenty dollars bore it patiently until I got home, so soon as he learned of my arrival he was after me time and again, but as I was absent nearly all of the time I did not get to see him, however he sold the note to my friend L. T. Pfoutz his plea was that such young fellows might run away etc. etc. and he consequently, sustain an enormous loss. Now these very individuals always seemed warm friends of mine. I could scarcely believe that they could form this opinion of me. O friendship, friendship, what art thou but an empty name. What narrow minds what con­tracted souls such pitiable beings must have: May heaven in infinite mercy ever preserve me from such an avaricious, such a pernicious disposition.

J. Miller and myself have gone into partnership, next week I expect to go to Cincinnati to lay in groceries, our stand is on the corner of main and third south of Court house.

The friends through this vicinity so far as I know of are well, though there were many deaths in Salem and neighborhood while I was teaching there. Brother David had, at the same time, the misfortune to lose both his children by the Scarlet Fever. I must cease, I have been writing letters nearly all day and now the sun is just stealing behind the western horizon.

Write soon Joel. Yours etc. /s/ W. Stoner Jr.
A series of family reunions were held annually, beginning in 1925, at the S. D. Stoner home except that it was held once in Ben F. Stoner's Grove (July 19, 1936) and was held once at the Bethany Church near the Reiber home in Boone County (July 28, 1935).

Due to the advancing age on the part of many of the participants and the pressure of the war years, the reunions were discontinued in 1941 in which year the sixteenth reunion was held.

There were 60 present at the first reunion; 83 present at the second reunion. E. N. Stoner was elected president; Venna Leonard, secretary; and Daniel Leonard was elected photographer at the close of the meeting of the first reunion. They were re-elected at the close of the second reunion meeting and held office at least through the third reunion.

The entertainment at these reunions consisted of such as "Memories of Boyhood" by Marion Stoner (first reunion); and at the second reunion: a Reading by Anna, Edna, and Christena Belle Hicks; Song by the 3 Hicks girls; Solo by Salome Ruth Wine; Song by Mary Virginia Harrison; Song by Mary Catharine Stoner, accompanied by Nettie S. Rose at the piano; Song by James Burrin, accompanied by Georgevelyn Reiber at the piano; Reading by Reva May Leonard; Speeches by Catharine Higgins on "Childhood Days", Dr. Otis Higgins on "Making Things Better", and one by the president (E. N. Stoner) on "Next Year's Work".

There was a total of $1.61 reported as being in the treasury at the second annual reunion.

Pasted in the Reunion Secretary's Book is this poem:

To Samuel and Lina Stoner
As a Tribute to Their 50th Wedding Anniversary
(September 30, 1934)
1884-1934

By O. C. Higgins, M.D.

Full fifty years ago, today,
(I reck' the day was shiny)
From far off Maryland, they say,
Came Samuel, bringing Liny.

A home they made here in the wood
'Mid roses, phlox and piny,
And labored hard as young folks should
Did Samuel and Liny.

And children came to bless this home
Both reverent and kindly,
And none did from this hearthstone roam
From Samuel and Liny.

But each of them does do his part
To make this world's work holy
For they were gently taught this art
By Samuel and Liny.

Save one who brilliantly aspired
To train child minds, benignly,
He waits beyond to welcome there
Our Samuel and Liny.

And other children love this place
Of reverence and piety
They love the good will in the face
Of Samuel and Liny.

And loyal neighbors too there are
And hosts of friends who kindly
Pray now for twilight, free from care
For Samuel and Liny.

So fill the cup, oh, fill it up,
And drink of it kindly
For all success is nobleness,
Say Samuel and Liny.

Note: Lina, pronounced "Liny" for this poem.

(Samuel, in Hebrew, is: "Given of God")

INTRODUCTION

This Stoner Family Book is in answer to a long-felt need for a written record to which the Stoner descendants could turn. There was ample historical material left by preceding generations; and with the living ones willing and eager to cooperate, the task of completing this first record has been a pleasure.

We are especially indebted to Lina Norris Stoner for the records she assembled and preserved. To many others go our thanks. We hope this book will kindle an interest among you to confirm past records and that you will add, from time to time, family dates and events as they occur.

As you turn through these pages, take time to "read between the lines"—there is so much left unsaid. What strong motives caused young Jacob Stoner and his brothers to leave their Fatherland and face the perils of the sea to come to the strange New World? What of the parents they left behind? Who extended a helping hand in the new country? How far back came the ideals of honesty, hard work, thrift, and the fear of the Lord? These have been traditional in the Stoner Family as long as anyone remembers.

Through the centuries, in spite of sickness and death, wars, and social changes, the family has survived and multiplied. Each generation has sought the best for its children. The sum total of their struggles, ambitions, and wisdom gained is here represented in the living descendants, almost without exception,—people dedicated to helping their fellow-men. Never be ashamed of the old-fashioned virtues handed down by the older ones—for, truly, "ours is a goodly heritage".

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM DEFINED:

Each direct descendant who is married is given a number. David Stoner II (1806 - 1896), the common ancestor to many of us, is given the No. 1. In the second generation, his first child is No. 2; and that person is designated in the next generation as No. 2-1. The designation 98-15-5-1 means that descendant No. 98 is the child of No. 15 who is the child of No. 5 who is the child of No. 1. Since no two persons will have the same number, it is possible to trace a name back to the common ancestor, such as No. 1.

Index I and Index II list only one page on which a name appears. It is intended that this page number represent the page on which the name appears as the head of his or her family. The listing of that name on other succeeding or preceding pages can be found by using the genealogical numbers.

Index I lists the names of The Jacob Stoner II family.

The numbering in the Supplement is independent of the numbering of The Jacob Stoner II Family, but it is carried out, generally speaking, in much the same manner. Index II is a separate index for reference only to the Supplement.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS:

Thanks to All of You Who Helped in a Great or Small Way, Especially:

Helen Reiber for the Reiber records;

Lucille Hicks Armstrong for the Galen Hicks records;

Buford and Marjorie Hicks for their own and the Desenberg Family records;

Mary Roberts Christy for material on the David Lemon Family;

Bertha McNulty for the Mary Ann Himes Family;

- And, to the late Samuel D. Stoner and Catharine Stoner Higgins for their stories and reminiscences of the Stoner ancestors.

We are grateful also to Mrs. Pauline Randall Walters of New Ross, Indiana for her invaluable help in supplying records and information.

We appreciate and are truly thankful for the use of the numbering system of L. W. Shultz, Historian and Genealogist, of North Manchester, Indiana.

- And, finally, - Thanks to Vivian McClellan for her patience and assistance in making the final production of "Our Stoner Family" a reality.

Vera, - What a pleasure it has been to have had the honor of mimeographing and typing this record for posterity! You have been a wonderful woman with whom to work. It is truly hoped that others too will realize the time and patience that you have dedicated to this genealogy for those living and those "yet unborn". (See Page 29, last line)

Old History of Frederick County, Maryland states of this family: "The Stoner family is descended from five brothers bearing that surname who left their native land, Germany, in the middle or forepart of the eighteenth century and emigrated to this country." The only record of an immigration of five brothers in the same ship is the following: Johannes Steiner, Isaac Steiner, Henrich Steiner, Christian Steiner, and Jacob Steiner - who came from Rotterdam in ship "Neptune", arriving October 25, 1746 at Philadelphia. (Palatinates: Source 1. Pa. Ger. Pioneers pp 363 and 17;2:256)

No. B

JACOB STONER I (See: Jacob Steiner I, above for dates) is said to have settled first in Berks County, Pennsylvania; later in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania near Ephrata; then later still, settled in Carroll County, Maryland and lived in what was known as "Spring Garden." Both Jacob and Autrain were buried on the homestead near Beaverdam, Frederick County, Maryland, which is the same place where Jesse Klein lived in 1931. Dates for birth and death were recorded on their tombstones on the Wm Rapp Farm (Hooge Farm). Jacob's will was filed in Frederick County, Maryland and his sons, John and David Stoner, were executors. It verifies the names of some of his children. Autrain Ferguson Stoner's will was filed in Frederick County, Maryland with Henry Bucher, Executor. Mother Autrain's will, made in 1820, left her possessions to five daughters: Susanna, Agnes, Nancy, Hannah, and Elizabeth. Copies of these wills appear in this history.

Among Lina Norris Stoner's records was the statement that Jacob Stoner I served in French and Indian War in 1757-1758 in Captain Elias Delashmutt's Muster Roll. He is said to have served on Committee of Observation, Frederick County, Maryland, March 22, 1776. National Archives, Washington, D.C. has no record of our Jacob Stoner I having served in Revolutionary War.

The following is copied from a German Bible printed by Christopher Sower (Saur), Germantown, Pennsylvania in 1763. This Bible, when inspected by Jesse Weybright belonged to David Devilbiss, Johnsville, Maryland; and it came to him through Elizabeth Stoner (who married Henry Bucher who was Executor of Autrain's will; and her granddaughter was a stepmother to David Devilbiss who is a son of Basil Devilbiss whose father was David Devilbiss). Quote: "I am sure it belongs to Jacob and Autrain Stoner, but does not bear any name in it. The above names are the same mentioned in both Jacob and Autrain's wills except Nancy is not named in both wills. I think the first Anna was born in 1781 and died in 1782 and then they named the next child Anna. I have found this custom in several families in my research work. The Settlement list gives a different rotation in this. Compare it with the first list I sent you."

JACOB STONER II
b. February 14, 1781
d. 1836
m.1. Catharine Albaugh (1804 or 1805) - 8 Children
m.2. Barbara Garst (1820) - 9 Children

The 17 Children of Jacob Stoner II are listed on Page 15.
Jacob Stoner II, son of David I (d. 1853) and Elizabeth Stover-Stoner was born in 1781 and died in 1836. He was a native of Maryland, his father, David I, having reared a large family near Johnsville, Maryland. Jacob II moved to Botetourt County, Virginia near Roanoke, where he spent the greater part of his life. His grave was visited in 1924 by his great-granddaughter, Rowena Stoner Peters, who reported that it is near the Cloverdale Church of the Brethren, Route 1, Roanoke, Virginia. Jacob Stoner II, his wife, Catharine Albaugh Stoner, and their little daughter, Barbara (who was said to have been killed by the explosion of a piston on a steam threshing machine) are all buried there upon a hill near their old brick house. The cemetery is known as the Moomaw Cemetery, near Bonsack, Virginia, five miles northeast of Roanoke, Virginia.

Jacob was a weaver by trade and owned several farms near Roanoke.

His first wife, Catharine Albaugh (See Biography, Page 13) died late in 1820 when her eighth child was very young. A month later Jacob married Barbara Garst (See Biography, Page 13), a neighbor girl who had been helping as a hired girl in the Storter family. It is said by David, oldest son, that upon the first anniversary of his mother's death, Barbara presented Jacob with a daughter.

We have the account book which belonged to Jacob, still in a very good state of preservation. It is titled, "Jacob Stoner-His Book" dated Nov. 25, 1804 and carries his accounts into 1825. His accounts bear out the fact that he conducted a weaving business and hauling service, buying and selling merchandise, meats, fish, salt, and dealing in farm commodities. There were many accounts for "coloring cotton, --deep blue or pale blue or quarter blue or half-deep," charging by the pound. He also colored wool yarn and sold many "coverlids." He paid men, often with produce, to break hemp, hew timber, build fence, "makeing nayles," mowing, "craydling," "molling two-hundred rayles," "holing dung," sawing lumber. He paid five cents per bushel for ashes, sold salt, buckwheat seed, rye, hay, oats, corn. Farm crops "holing" to Lynchburg and Christianburg. He charged customers for "shewmaking and half-soling shews, boyling apel butter, sale of beef by quarters, pork, lard, tallow, fish by the dozen, many fallons of whiskey, cymment, vinegar, cornmeal, straw, beef tallow, quarters of weal, sider by the gallon, brandey by the fallon." He paid men who "Twingle flaxe and yarn." He paid "dyrect tax and land tax." Everything was figured in pounds, shilling and pence. Towards the back of the book is a settling of accounts in beautiful handwriting, done no doubt by a clerk of the court, after his death, dated April 1836. Then some notations by his wife, Barbara Garst Stoner: - "This is to be remembered that my son David has received forty Dollars of his Leagecy of his father Jacob Stoner. Nov. 1842 by one sheep, $1.50." David Stoner got of his step-mother one bed supposed to be worth $7.00. "Nov. 1, 1842, Catharina has a legacy from her mother two beds and one bedstead $36. two chers $1.75 one shote $0.50 one sheep--two lames $2.00 one cow and calf, $8.00 one flax wheels $3.00. Total $51.25." Other children are listed as having received in turn, livestock and household goods valued at $50. "January 3, 1860, the brothers and sisters all met at the home but Maglenes and Daniels one metly settled the distribution from fathers legacy and each one equal except what was in the probate corte."
Jacob Stoner II - continued

Jacob Stoner II left a will (See Pages 16 & 17), providing that his property should be disposed of and the family moved to Indiana. (See Pages 18 & 19 for the listing of his personal property.)

BIOGRAPHY OF BARBARA GARST STONER

(This information was furnished by Mrs. Pauline Walters of New Ross, Indiana, and was copied, for the most part, from "Our Garst Family," by W. T. Garst.)

Barbara Garst (b. May 6, 1794; d. April 5, 1858) aged nearly 64, comes from a notable family. The will of Jacob Stoner II is listed in "Our Garst Book" and there are some interesting Garst stories in the "Peffley Book." Barbara Garst was the daughter of Abraham Garst and Mary Zehring. From "Eagles History of Lebanon County, Pennsylvania," page 258: Ludwig Zehring came to America from Baden, Germany about 1725. He settled near Jonestown, Pennsylvania about 1773. He and his son, Mathias, returned to Germany and Ludwig died on the way home. He had three sons: Henry Zehring, b. April 5, 1737 d. April 19, 1819; Ludwig Zehring, Jr. b. December 1738; and Mathias Zehring, b. 1741 d. May 13, 1817. It is thought by Mrs. Walters that Mathias Zehring and wife, Mary Yager, were the parents of Mary Zehring Garst and the grandparents of Barbara Garst.

On her father's side, Theobald Gerst, b. Germany 1702, was 47 years old when he and his wife, Magdalena Catherine, sailed for America on boat "Isaac" to Bethel Twp, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. They had 7 children all born in Germany. Theobald d. 1770. Their children were: John Nicholas Gerst, Sr. b. 1725 d. 1803; Theobald (Dewalt) Gerst; Engelina Gerst; Magdalina Gerst; Catharine Gerst; Margaretha Gerst; and Elizabeth Gerst. Theobald, Sr. belonged to Reform Church. His funeral was preached by Rev. John Conrad Buchner. Their son, John Nicholas Gerst, Sr. b. Germany d. in the fall of 1803 in Botetourt County, Virginia. He married Mary Elizabeth ______ about 1748. John Nicholas belonged to the German Baptist Church. His children were: Frederick Gerst; John Nicholas Gerst, Jr.; Catherine Gerst; Mary Gerst; Magdaline Gerst Peffley; Anna Gerst; Jacob Gerst b. January 14, 1766 d. February 7, 1854 (m. for his third wife, Magdaline Landis Hinkle, g.g.g. grandmother of Pauline Walters). She was the widow of Rev. John Hinkle. Remaining children of John Nicholas Garst, Sr. were Maria, Elizabeth Gerst, and Abraham Gerst I. John Nicholas Gerst Sr.'s will was witnessed by John Smith and Samuel Hershberger, Botetourt County, Virginia, 1803.
While living in Pennsylvania, Abraham Garst I, b. March 4, 1770, d. January 10, 1835. (Abraham was the son of John Nicholas Garst) He married Mary Zehring in 1790. She was b. 1772 d. 1852. They had the following children:

Abraham Garst II
b. May 26, 1791
d. October 1, 1852

Barbara Garst
b. March 6, 1794
d. April 5, 1858

Magdalina Garst m. Jacob Brubaker (July 9, 1832)

Shortly after 1790, Abraham Garst I went from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania to Roanoke, Botetourt County, Virginia and his wife, Mary died. He m.2. on August 10, 1801 to Katherine Ribble, b. March 4, 1780 d. April 15, 1841. He and his second wife had: John, Elias, George W., Hannah, Joel and Daniel (twins), Michael, Henry C., and Mary Garst. Abraham I, father of Barbara, owned 640 acres of land near Salem, Virginia now owned by Hollins College for girls. He sold the land in 1833 and moved to St. Joseph Co., Ind. and bought a farm where South Bend now stands. He d. 1835. His wife, Katherine Ribble Garst d. in the spring of 1841. Buried in Bowman's Grave Yard, South Bend, Indiana.

According to Dwight L. Mathews, Clerk of St. Joseph County Circuit Court, Indiana, no will for him was ever probated in that County. Following his death, the following heirs were notified: Katherine Ribble Garst, South Bend, Indiana, wife; Magdalena G. Brubaker, Salem, Virginia; Barbara G. Stoner, Ladoga, Indiana; John and Abraham Garst, Jr., New Carlisle, Ohio; George Garst, Muncy-town, Indiana; Michael Garst, Dayton, Ohio; Daniel Garst, Dayton, Ohio; and Joel, Hannah and Henry Garst of St. Joseph County, Indiana. - Signed by J. W. Bray, Clerk of Court, St. Joseph County, Indiana.

Mrs. John C. Cochrane (now 81) of St. Cloud, Minnesota is a g.g. granddaughter of Barbara Garst Stoner. "4-11-1845.: Received of Elias Garst, adm of Estate of Abraham Garst, late of St. Joseph Co. Ind. $40, it being 1/12 part remaining in the hands of the Adm and paid out to heirs by order of Probate Court of St. Joseph Co. Ind. Signed: Barbary Stoner, heir at law of Abraham Garst, dec." P. 226, "Garst Family" Coffin for Abraham Garst Dec. 30, 1835 was $10.00.

Barbara Garst Stoner, wife of Jacob Stoner II and mother of nine of his children, bravely made the trek to Indiana. She has many descendants. Lies buried in Stoner Cemetery beside some of her children.

Note: In the Clerk's Records of the Ladoga Church of the Brethren, there is the Church Letter of Barbara Stoner, transferring her membership from the Botetourt German Baptist Church. This letter is dated September 6, 1837, and was brought by Barbara when she came to Indiana from Virginia.

In the name of God, Amen. I Jacob Stoner of the County of Botetourt and State of Virginia do make and declare this, my last will and testament in manner and form following. First I resign my soul into the hands of Almighty God hoping and believing in a remission of my sins by the merits and vindication of Jesus Christ, and my body I commit to the earth to be buried at the discretion of my Executor and Executrix herein-after named and my worldly estate I give and devise as follows:

First: It is my wish and desire out of my estate that any funeral expenses and all my just debts be paid.

2nd: It is my wish and desire that the tract of land on which I reside, containing about 258 acres, be sold for the best price that can be had on the following terms, one-third cash and the other two-thirds in payments of one, two, and three years, and the money so arising from the sale of said land to be disposed of and laid out as hereinafter bequeathed and directed.

3rd: Out of the sale of my land out of the first payment it is my wish and desire that one thousand dollars be laid out by my Executor and Executrix in the purchase of a tract of land in the State of Indiana. Said tract to have a part improved with a comfortable home on the same to enable my widow to raise my young children which shall be enjoyed and left to my widow during her widowhood, and it is my wish should my widow marry again that my Executor furnish my widow with a bed and furniture for same, two milk cows and a side saddle and bridle and she is to have no more of my estate. To enable my Executor and Executrix to carry on the farm for the support and education of my younger children that they lay out three hundred dollars for provision stock and farming implements. The stock and farming implements purchased for the use of the farm to remain on the farm for the use of my wife during her widowhood. Should my widow marry then my Executor is to carry on the farm for the support of my children until they arrive of age.

4th: The remaining two-thirds of the money arising from the sale of my land I will that my Executor and Executrix lay out in land in the State of Indiana for all my children, viz: David, Susannah, Jacob, William, John, * Catharine, Daniel, Elizabeth, Joel, Magdalene, Sarah, Hannah, Rebecca, Lydia and Samuel, so that each of my children may have two hundred dollars laid out in land which they are to receive as they arrive at the age of twenty-one.

In the event of there not being money enough to lay out this sum, the youngest to have their portion made out of the tract of land purchased for the support of my widow and young children, should my wife be living at the time of their arriving at the age of twenty-one, then such as have received their land shall pay the interest on each share of two-hundred Dollars until they come into possession of their land. This to make the youngest equal with those who have received their lands.

5thly: It is my wish and desire that my family be removed at the expense of my estate.

6thly: My Executor and Executrix may carry on the farm where I now reside until a sale can be affected giving them time to make the necessary arrangements for the removal of the family say from this time until September

*Note: Two of the 17 children (Abraham Stoner and Barbara Stoner) are not named in the will.
EARLY STONER HISTORY IN AMERICA

7thly: After all my children are made equal in land and my wife having departed this life or married and the youngest of age, it is my wish and desire that the balance of my estate be equally divided among all my children. Should any of my children depart this life before they arrive at age without leaving an heir or heirs, then and in that event their part to be divided among my surviving children, when they have heirs their part to go to them.

8thly: After the sale of my real estate my Executor and Executrix may proceed to sell the personal property on the farm, reserving such part as may be needed in the removal of my family or as the good of my estate may require. And lastly I hereby constitute and appoint my son David Stoner my Executor, and my wife, Barbary Stoner Executrix to this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills made and published by me. It is my wish and desire that the Court require no security of my Executor and Executrix as I have full confidence in the discharge of their respective duties. Given under my hand and seal this 23rd day of December 1835.

Signed, Sealed Published and Declared by the said Testator as and for his last will and testament in presence of us, who at his request in his presence and in the presence of each other have subscribed our names as witnesses thereunto.

Jno. W. Thompson John Murray John Bonsack

"At Botetourt April Circuit Superior Court 1836. This last will and testament of Jacob Stoner, Dec'd was proved by the oath of John W. Thompson and John Murray witnesses thereto and is ordered to be recorded. A copy teste F. Woltz DC.

Virginia Botetourt County to Wit: I Henry W. Bowyer, Clerk of the first Superior Court of law and chancery for Botetourt County in the State aforesaid do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the will of Jacob Stoner dec'd from the record of said County. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the said county this 15th day of September, 1837.

H. W. Bowyer, Clerk.

Jacob Stoner's will, recorded in the order Book of the Probate Court of Montgomery County, Indiana on Pages 3182319, March 1, 1838.

Attest James W. Lynn, Clerk

For the Executors: Rec'd for Record March 7, 1838 and recorded same day in Montgomery County, Indiana "Deed Record Book" Vol 7 Page 203 & 4. A true record George Miller RMC Exd. Rec'd fee $1.00 Rec'd for record March 7, 1838.
The age of the paper and names of purchasers, plus the character of property sold, indicate this was the sale of Jacob Stoner II's personal property sold in Virginia, 1837, before the family moved to Indiana.

Jacob Stoner II's Sale - continued

two fields of corn  Benjamin Newman  240.00
300 bushels of oatz  Milly Feller  100.00

This amount appeared at bottom of last page: $ 1719. 96 3/4

On the last sheet is a long list of those who gave bond and the amount. Among those listed are: Wm Clanahan, David Gish, John Henderliter, Caroline A. Heftrig, James Kyle, Christian Mumaw, Jacob Peters, Richard Greenwood.

Final Settlement of the Jacob Stoner II Estate

(Following the death of his second wife, Barbara Garst Stoner, 1858)

- at Ladoga, Indiana -

There were six receipts (as follows), written longhand but worded alike, each signed by heirs of Jacob Stoner:

"Received of David Stoner II surviving Executor of the last will and testament of Jacob Stoner late of Botetourt County, of Virginia, decree that sum of five hundred and fifty-nine dollars and 98 cts payment to me in full of the proportion proceeds of the sale of real estate which undue proportion of said will was purchased for the use of Barbara Stoner---widow of said deceased to be held by her during her natural lifetime and which is received by me in full payment and satisfaction of all demands in my favor against said Executor this 7th day of December A.D. 1860."

Signers: Joseph B. L. Winter and Magdalene Winter
Jacob Stoner
Susan Leamon
Daniel Stoner and Rebecca Stoner
William Himes and Sarah Himes
John L. Winter

There were no receipts from some of the living heirs; they were probably lost: Hannah O'Dell, Rebecca Mills, Lydia Stoner and David Stoner. If there were ten survivors and each received $559.98, the value of Barbara Garst Stoner's estate was $5,599.80.

David Stoner had a clerk's bill of sale for what evidently was the record of sale of Barbara Garst Stoner's personal property at Ladoga, Indiana. Before nearly every purchaser's name was written: "Note," but there was a footnote on one sheet stating "Cash paid over $4.80." It was common practice in those days to give notes as there were no banks. The notes could be taken to "paper shavers," men who gave the holder cash for the note, after deducting a fee for cashing it.

Purchasers at the sale were: M.B. Anderson, Benj. S. York, S. Benson, D.H. Grimes, Wm C. Selders, David Stoner, Daniel Stoner, Jacob Stoner, S.S. Mills, Susan Lemon, Len Graves, Wm F. Thomasson, Joseph Cline, Seth Tuttle, Samuel Brown, James Tobin, Jas Daugherty, John J. Rose, John Gillam, Wm Himes, John L. Winter, Lydia Stoner, Drury Ragsdal, Anthony May, L.N. Thomasson, John Cook, J.B. Crane, Wm Myers, Abner Webster, Samuel Graybill, Wm. Elles, G.R. Anderson, John Randle. The household things and farm equipment sold at the sale were such things as: wagons, butchering equipment, Scythes, small tools, livestock.

1806 - 1896
(By his son, Samuel D. Stoner, and told to Vera Stoner over a period of years, from 1940 to 1946)

It was the custom in Virginia for a son to work for his father until he was twenty-one. Accordingly, "Pap," as his children called him, left home the day he was twenty-one and went from Roanoke, Virginia to Huntington, West Virginia and took a steam-boat down the Ohio River to Cincinnati, Ohio. From there he walked north to Eaton, Ohio and across the Ohio State line to Four Mile, Indiana where there was a settlement of German Baptist Brethren, who had moved there from Virginia.

David was skilled in various activities. By the time he was six years old he was assisting his father on the farm by driving a wagon of logs harnessed to six oxen. Many times as a young man he traveled twohundred miles from Roanoke, Virginia to Newport News, Virginia, in a six-horse wagon hauling wheat and corn to market and bringing back calico, muslin, sugar, and once he brought a load of clocks.

He appears to have had schooling. We have some of his text-books and his Arithmetic copy book, which dealt in fractions and higher Arithmetic. He left diaries, letters and cancelled notes, and his Executor's reports on the estates of his father, step-mother, and brothers Joel and William. He likely settled his brother John's estate. He, however, was not a very good speller, but considering that Pennsylvania Dutch may have been the favorite language in the Stoner home in Virginia, that may have made spelling in English more difficult.

In David's father's home there was plenty of work for the family of seventeen children. They had a room for carding and spinning wool and weaving it into blankets and coverlets. There was flax spinning and hide tanning and shoe making. Each family baked its own bread in an outdoor brick oven, dressed and cured its own meat and made candles for lighting.
They did their own weaving. David learned the shoemaker trade well.

The simplicity of the family's eating habits is reflected in a comment David once made to Lina Stoner, his daughter-in-law, with whom he lived twelve years. He said his family ate from a common dish, with no individual plates. He was a messy eater and the other children objected to having him dip into the same dish with them so his step-mother gave him
a tin pie pan to eat from.

As he traveled west, he brought with him his shoemaking tools and worked at the shoe trade for over a year, going from house to house. He made shoes at the Deardorff home, near Eaton, Ohio, (but more of that later). During the long winter in Indiana, he grew homesick for the hills of Virginia; but when spring came and everything was rich and green, he admired the country in Ohio and Indiana.

Returning to Virginia, he raised a crop of tobacco, and came back to Indiana, using the money from the sale of the tobacco to "enter" some Government land five miles east of Ladoga on December 27, 1831, later deeding an acre of ground from the farm of 160 acres for the Mt. Pleasant Church of the Brethren.

He returned to Virginia, some time later, with his mind made up to move his father's family to Indiana. One reason for this decision was the abundance of good land which could be "entered" or purchased from the Government for a dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. Another reason was that Virginia was a slave state and he was opposed to slavery. In Indiana, he could rear a family where he could teach his children the dignity of labor. He sat up until after midnight talking to his father, the result being that his father (who was in poor health) made a will directing that, upon his death, the family was to sell their Virginia land and move to Indiana where farms were to be purchased for each of the living children, with David Stoner as Executor and Barbara Garst Stoner as Executrix.
David's father, Jacob, died early in 1836 and David was now thirty years old, unmarried, and charged with the task of moving the family to Indiana.

Two of the children did not make the initial trip with the family. Susanna was married to Samuel Lemon, and they came some years later. Another son, William, came later. One daughter died in Virginia; and we have no record of son Abraham Stoner's coming. Barbara Garst Stoner, Jacob's second wife, and the Stoner children, piled their "plunder" in a six-horse covered wagon and a one-horse carry-all. They were on the road a month. Hannah was said to be the most mischievous on the trip. David would send the children ahead to look for water. On one occasion they asked for water at a dwelling and the woman would not give them any because the children had stolen her apples. David told the woman, "The business is, give us some water and I will settle for the apples." (The children walked most of the way.)

Arriving at Ladoga, they were not total strangers as many settlers had already come from Botetourt County, Virginia. Most of them belonged to the German Baptist Church, including the Stovers, Myers, Frantz, Peffleys, Harshbargers, and Himes. David and Barbara drove over the country looking for a suitable home for the family. One night Barbara dreamed of a beautiful place with a spring-house near a white dwelling. Later she found the place of her dreams, one mile south of Ladoga, but the farm was priced at two-thousand dollars and the will provided for only one-thousand dollars to be spent on a farm for her.

Some of the children objected to the extra money being spent on their step-mother's land but David informed them, "The business is, she is a worthy servant and if she wants this farm, she is to have it." He always held his step-mother in high esteem. David farmed this land for her until his marriage to Ann Deardorff in 1850. Barbara died eight years later (1858) at the age of sixty-three. Unfortunately, three of the children died soon after the family came to Indiana, and their graves are beside Barbara's in the Stoner Cemetery. The cause of their deaths and those of other children buried in the Stoner Cemetery may have been Diphtheria. Samuel D. Stoner was of the opinion that this was the great killer among the early settlers, but there were also illnesses such as Typhoid, Scarlet Fever, and Tuberculosis.

As Executor of his father's will, David immediately started the search for land for his brothers and sisters. Good land could then be had from the Government for about $1.25 per acre in Boone County. Since he had already entered land for himself in Montgomery County, he could not enter any more for himself in Boone County, but he spent much time going to and from Boone County, walking or on horseback, looking for land for his brothers and sisters. The Land Office was at Crawfordsville where he had to go each time to close the deal. It was said that Boone County was so swampy and wooded, at certain times of the year, a man could cross the entire county by jumping from one log to another to keep from drowning. When his brothers and sisters went to live on their land, they found it under water practically the year 'round, so David bought their land of them and they went elsewhere. David went north to LaForte and purchased land for William and Joel, both of whom died soon after. In time, as Pap's children grew and were able to help clear the land in Boone County, and the big ditch drained the swampy areas, the land became the "Higgins 120", the "Zimmerman 160", the "Ben Stoner 80", and the "William Hicks 160." Some of them added to their original Stoner share.

David intended to give the 160-acre farm, west of the Mt. Pleasant Church - east of Ladoga, to his youngest daughter, Salome, wife of T.T. Myers. She died before her father's death, but it was his desire that her husband should have the income from the sale of the land. The money from the farm was given to the General Mission Board of the Church of The Brethren in trust and T.T. Myers received the interest from the money as long as he and his second wife lived, - after which it became the property of the Mission Board.

In 1840, David bought for himself a farm home two and one-half miles east and south of Ladoga which later became the property of his son, Samuel D. Stoner. He purchased the 150-acre farm (paying $1,800.00 to Jesse Routh) because it had a saw-mill on it. Jesse Routh had deeded ten acres of the land to the Otterman family for dam rights, which accounts for the farm's being only 150 acres in size. He operated the saw-mill for many years; and, not only sawed lumber for his own barn and house, but he did custom sawing.

Not many people knew of his plans to marry Ann Deardorff of Eaton near Dayton, Ohio. When he went to bring her to Indiana, he traveled in a carry-all drawn by his old horse, Jack. His daughter, Kate Higgins said he became acquainted with her when he made shoes in the Deardorff home, working on one side of the fireplace, while Ann wove coverlets on the other side. At the time of their marriage, he was 44 and she was 32 years old. They lived in a log house on his 150-acre farm until their brick house could be built. The bricks were made of clay dug from a pit near their house and were burned in a kiln nearby. The house was Virginia style, with a basement kitchen equipped with a big fireplace for cooking (Ann also had a cook stove); the east basement room for Ann’s loom and spinning wheels and David’s shoe-making tools; and a third room for a root cellar. There were three rooms on the first floor and three in the upstairs, making a total of nine rooms. Each room had a fireplace which was the only mode of heating the house. The lower kitchen was finished in time for their first child, Catharine, to be born, February 23, 1852. The house was finished in walnut woodwork, with excellent cabinet work throughout. The Grandfather clock, which had been given to Jacob Stoner II as a wedding gift in 1805 was established in the new house, having been brought from Virginia wrapped in a feather mattress. The case was left behind, and John Masterson of Ladoga was hired to make a new case for the works. The family had brought a few pieces of furniture from Virginia, but the most of their furnishings were hand-made at a furniture factory in Ladoga. Judging from the quality of heirloom chests and beds found in the homes of their descendants, the new house was furnished with good furniture. David’s cobbler’s bench has become a coffee table and his shoe-lasts serve as book-ends in various homes of his descendants. The grandfather clock is still in running condition (1965) in the home of Paul D. Stoner.

"David, why do you work so hard?", someone asked him. To this he replied, "I'm working for someone who has not yet been born."
Samuel Stoner told how his father made shoes. They were generally made of horse or cow-hide. His needles for sewing the shoe-leather were made of male hog bristles - about four inches long. To get the bristles, he pulled them out of the hog's back, between his shoulders after the hog was killed but before he was scalded. The end of the bristle that was in the animal was the one used for the point. He used an awl to punch stitch holes in the shoe leather. Then he fastened a hog bristle to each end of a four-foot length of linen thread. To make the thread stick to the bristle, he used warm bees-wax. He waxed the entire length of thread with a ball of bees-wax held in his hand. Then he wrapped each tapering end of thread around a hog bristle for about three inches, waxing the ends well so they stayed in place. He started sewing in the middle of the thread, passing it through each hole he had punched, with the ends going in opposite directions through the same hole. He always wanted to work near a fireplace in cold weather to keep his waxed thread warm; and he did not like for anyone to stand between him and the fire.

One day while he was working in the Reiff home near Four Mile, Indiana (perhaps the first winter he spent in Indiana), Jacob Reiff, the small boy of the family, persisted in standing between David and the fire. David told him if he did not stand to one side he would tie him to the bedpost with his waxed thread. Jacob disobeyed, so he was tied to the bedpost with the "wax-end." Years later, Jacob Reiff, then a minister and Elder in the German Baptist Church, visited John Peffley at Ladoga, Indiana and attended Communion Service at Bethel Church. As he and John Peffley, who was Aunt Annie Harshbarger's father, were driving along the road, they came to a stretch of new gravel. John Peffley told Jacob Reiff that the fresh gravel came from Davey Stoner's farm. Jacob Reiff exclaimed, "Davey Stoner, he was the man who tied me to the bedpost with his wax-end when I was a little boy." He went to see David Stoner, who remembered the incident well.

"Some Stories About 'Pap'"

David's daughter, Kate, then sixteen, and aware that her father did not approve of "wanton waste," cleaned house and decided to dispose of some old shoes. She filled her apron with shoes and carried them down to Little Raccoon Creek which ran through the farm. One by one she threw them into the swollen stream and returned home. The next day her Pap went on a tour of inspection of his water-gaps, and there, hanging on the fence that divided his land from the neighbor's were the shoes. He returned to the house in an angry mood and asked Kate if she had thrown away those shoes. Being an honest girl, she answered truthfully. He ordered her to march down to the water-gap and bring them all back. She never forgot her lesson in applied thrift.

One day a neighbor girl came to visit Kate barefoot and stayed several days. When Sunday came the girls decided to stay home from the all-day meeting at Cold Springs Meetinghouse because the girl had no shoes to wear. When Pap learned of the plan he told them they were to go to church with the family, and Kate was to go barefoot too. Kate wore dresses down to her ankles, which was the style in those days. To cover her embarrassment, she bent her knees enough as she walked to hide her bare feet as she was then about sixteen.
At another time, 9-year old Kate went with her family to town. They were to meet at the blacksmith shop when they were ready to go home. While she waited for the family, the blacksmith made a ring for Kate's finger from a horse-shoe nail; but, knowing that such prideful things as rings were forbidden in her home, she hid the ring in the gate post, taking it out as she passed by on her way to and from school. One Sunday, after services, she was called by the minister to the altar and admonished for wearing the ring. When she got home she was admonished in another way for her vanity and disobedience.

Another story, never forgotten by Pap's six children, was the potato fight. Pap took them to the farm five miles east of town and told them to pick up and bag the potatoes, which had been dug. Pap drove away. They sacked a few; then Ben suggested they have a potato fight. Someone finally noticed Pap coming down the road in his wagon. He helped them finish picking up the potatoes, then ordered: "You chaps get in the wagon, and I'll settle with you when we get home." As they rode homeward, Ben had an idea: "Kate, crawl up in the seat with Pap and start talking Dutch." The strategy worked. When they got home Pap told the boys to unharness the horses and Kate to go help her mother get supper. This episode was featured in Lina Norris Stoner's poem, entitled "The Potato Fight" in her book, "Song of Home."

When the Ladoga Bank failed, some men decided to see how Davey Stoner would take the news. They watched him read the "closed" sign on the bank door. He said merely to have slapped the lines on the horse's back, murmuring: "The business is, I'll have to hew me out another way." This expression became an old Stoner saying when disaster threatened: "We'll have to hew us out another road." At another time, he lost so many cattle from an unknown malady. One day he told someone, he must hurry home or he would get behind with his skinning. This also became an old Stoner saying: If we don't keep after a job, we will "get behind with our skinning."

Although Pap attended church all his life, and encouraged his children to join church, he himself had never been baptized and received into membership. When he was eighty-eight years old and crippled from a broken hip, Elder Will Harshbarger, father of John A. Harshbarger, persuaded him with this logic: "Davey, you have been a successful business man, have provided each one of your children with a home, but have never arranged for a heavenly home for yourself." David considered a minute: then said, "The business is, put the horse to the cart and go right along with it." The family doctor, J.P. Mahorney, had brought Elder Harshbarger to the Stoner home that day. The two men helped David into Dr. Mahorney's phaeton buggy and they drove down the hill to the creek where he was baptized by trine immersion, according to the practice of the German Baptist Church. When he got back to the house he remarked, "My fah's (fare's) paid, if I can just hold out faithful."

After his beloved wife Ann died in 1878 he continued to look after his farm interests, often riding to Boone County from his home farm near Ladoga on horseback. He died in 1896 and is buried beside Ann in the Stoner Cemetery.
Industrious, intrepid, thrifty, unselfish — is the foundation he laid for his descendants "not yet born," so that the way has been easier for them.

SOME DEARDORFF HISTORY

It is believed that Ann Deardorff was a descendant of Anthony Deardorff, Sr. who immigrated to America in 1729 with Peter Becker, one of the founders in Schwarzenau, Germany in 1708 of the German Baptist Church (later the Church of the Brethren).

Miss Sudie M. Wingert, of Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, who died in 1962 and had made an exhaustive study of her family history, wrote the following letter to Rev. Samuel D. Stoner, dated August 31, 1941:

"In our data which we as historians of the Dierdorff-Deardorff clan have collected, I find that Anna Dierdorff (the great, great granddaughter of the immigrant Anthony Sr. and his wife Christena) married David Stoner. I take it that you are their son and that Lina N. Stoner who writes for the "Gospel Messenger" is your wife or daughter. I am also a descendant of Anthony Sr. through his oldest son, Henry. Family tradition says he had three sons but from his ___ we find he had five sons and three daughters. However I am now writing to inquire if you have any Stover connections. My great grandfather's sister Elizabeth Stover was married to David Stoner the son of Jacob and Autrain Ferguson Stoner of Ann Arundel County, Maryland. Do you happen to be a descendant of that marriage? Do you know any other descendants of theirs whether by name Stoner or not who are ministers of the Gospel? We are planning to have a William Stover memorial meeting before long and I would like to line up some of Elizabeth Stover Stoner's descendants before then. Thanking you for any consideration you give to this inquiry, I am, Sincerely yours,"

/s/ Sudie M. Wingert

We have the names of the Deardorff's from an old Bible owned by Catharine Higgins. Through Rev. Peter Dierdorff of Goshen, Indiana, we have the listing of the names of Ann's father, Jacob Deardorff and his

December the 17th A.D. 1827 was born Silas Deardorff

October the 3rd A.D. 1831 was born Isaac Deardorff; d. November 8, 1877

The Deardorff family lived near Eaton, Ohio. When the children grew up and married, Ben, Jake, and Sam lived near Eaton, Ohio; Paul lived at Roann, Indiana; Isaac (address unknown); Silas lived at Kokomo, Indiana; Rebecca never married. Peter was the silversmith and made spoons from silver dollars for his sister Ann. They are now heirlooms in the Stoner family. Ann married David Stoner and lived at Ladoga, Indiana.

We have a letter from Hazel D. Smith of 1727 West Jefferson Street, Kokomo, Indiana, dated December 8, 1957 in which she lists the names of her father, Silas Deardorff's children. Silas married Cynthia Ann Hamilton. They had: Hiel Deardorff who had three children: William Henry, Walter Leundis, and Bertha May; Jacob Deardorff: no children; Albert Deardorff: had Mazy Frances, Clearance M., Charles W., Raymond, Ivan Glen, and Katherine Louise; Nancy Ann Deardorff: no children; Aaron Deardorff: had Paul Andrew, Hazel Sarah (m. Smith), Ralph, and Mildred Louise. Samuel Deardorff: had Edith, Mabel, Sarah, Thelma, Cynthia, Marie, Elmer, Gladys, Verne, Mary Evelyn, and Leora Mae. Eli Deardorff: had Lawrence and Ruth. Mary Emma Deardorff: had Ross and Donald. Elizabeth Deardorff died in infancy. Rufus Deardorff: had Marcus, Margarete, William L., Betty Lou,

At the time the letter was written, Howard was the only one of the Silas Deardorff children yet living. He was 81. Hazel D. Smith had one son who was a doctor (at the time of writing) at Bluffton, Indiana in the Caylor-Nickle Clinic.

Of the Deardorff uncles and aunts, the one most often spoken about, in the Samuel D. Stoner family, was Aunt Rebecca Deardorff, who sometimes visited David and her sister, Ann Deardorff Stoner. There was a cane in the house known as "Aunt Becky Deardorff's cane" which Lina Stoner used when she grew old. Samuel Stoner sometimes attended the Deardorff reunion at Kokomo and most frequently mentioned his cousin Paul Deardorff.

Ann Deardorff Stoner was an industrious woman noted for her spinning and weaving. Her flax hackle and spinning wheels in the Home Place attic were evidence that she and David raised flax, grew sheep, and prepared the woolen yarn and linen thread. She used the loom that had belonged to Barbara Garst Stoner. Even after she developed cancer of the breast, she wove a coverlet for each of her six children. She bought her first sewing machine about the year 1865. She had a cook-stove and used iron kettles, or copper and brass utensils. Their first kerosene lamps were purchased in 1868 when Samuel was 12 years old. The lamp chimneys were not glass, they were made of tin with slits cut to emit the light.

Ann depended on native herbs and plants for medical remedies. Horehound tea and Snake Root were good remedies. Her treatment for sore throat was Ground Indian Turnip and honey. Then there was Tansy tea and Boneset tea. A standard remedy for "shakin' ager" (malaria) was Garden Benedict tea. Kate and Sam used to laugh over their attempts to keep from taking their daily portion of the latter, which they were forced to take each morning.

David and Ann's neighbors were the Jim Byrds, Wm Elliot Pearsons, and James Rouths. There were many sets of twins in the neighborhood: Oliver and William Byrd; John and Bailey Pearson; Hattie and Lewis Routh; Ben and Caroline Stoner; and a set of triplets: Elijah, Elisha, and Eliza Otterman. The children in this area went to a log school-house west of the old Ote Stark barn.

During her last illness, Ann spent time in Chattanooga, Tennessee taking treatment. She died at the age of sixty, October 14, 1878. Samuel and Aunt Kate Higgins always spoke of their mother with tender affection. As was the custom, they called her "Mother" and their father "Pap."

1856 - 1946

Samuel D. Stoner was the son of David and Ann Deardorff Stoner. He was born July 24, 1856 and died January 17, 1946. His father was born in 1806, making a combined life span of 140 years for father and son. During this time, our country was involved in six wars and witnessed many changes. Both father and son saw good times and bad.

There were six children in the family with plenty of work for all. Their father had business interests in Boone County and often went there on horseback, leaving the responsibility of the farm to his children. The saw-mill that David operated on the farm was powered by water with a mill-race that carried water from Little Raccoon Creek, the dam being on the Otterman farm east of Stoner's land. It was often Samuel's task to go to the east side of the farm and lower or raise the flood-gate to control the amount of water that came into the mill-race. These were usually wooden... doors that raised or lowered by manual control. The saw-mill itself was of the sashsaw type where they sawed lumber for their own barn and did custom work. Samuel always had a fondness for the saw-mill business. The mill was on the west side of the farm, and there was a bridge near it to cross the mill-race. Brother Ben, two years older than Sam, arranged some loose boards on the bridge; and he and Sam sometimes cornered hogs and forced them to cross the bridge. When one stepped on the loose boards, he fell through into the deep water. One day their father called to Ben to come help him. As he crossed the bridge, he fell victim of his trap and was dunked into the water. Ben and Sam always laughed about this when they got together in later years.

Their father had six yoke of oxen and some horses. When Samuel was eleven years old, he and Ben were racing to see who could unharness his horse first. Ben finished first; and when Sam's horse saw the other horse leave, he whirled around and kicked Sam in the face, injuring his right eye. An infection soon started. The family doctor came and took the shaving brush and cleaned the eye and told Ann, his mother, to poultice his eye with hot mush. Long years afterward, Samuel wept as he recalled how his mother sat beside him night and day and shared his suffering while applying the poultices. After several weeks, the eye-ball sloughed away and he went through the rest of his life with one eye. He always wore a black silk patch over the empty eye socket with a band around his head to hold it in place. In his later years he needed to wear glasses for the benefit of his good eye; then he wore a smoked lense on the right eye.

When he grew to be a young man, he felt very sensitive about his eye; and, in November 1880, he went to Cincinnati to be treated and fitted with a glass eye. It was not a success because the tear-duct was gone and the tears that normally form in the eye kept coursing down his cheek. The oculist told him, "If you conduct yourself like a Christian gentlemen, you will have no trouble in finding a wife; and, after you are married, it will not seem important to you." It turned out as the doctor said. When he was eighty-six, he lost the sight of his good eye with cataract and thought he would finish life blind; but his nephew, Dr. Otis Higgins and his son, Norris Stoner, persuaded him to have an operation. He fully received the sight in his left eye and lived about four years to enjoy it. He preached a sermon on the text, "Whereas I was blind, now I see."

School was the place a boy went when there was no pressing work at home. Sam attended common school in a log house about a half-mile west of his home. As a young man, he worked for his father for fifty cents per day and saved enough to go to Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio, September 7, 1881, at the urging of a former Ladoga minister and scholar, R. H. Miller, Sr., Samuel was invited to room in the Miller home. In later life, he used to tell of the "boners" he - an unlearned farm boy from Indiana - made at college. One day the teacher of grammar asked the class how many parts of speech there were. No one answered. Finally, Sam raised his hand and announced that there were 156. This he would follow with the injunction to his grand-children to get an education. His father was about seventy-five years old at this time, and needed Sam on the farm, so he left Ashland College in April of 1882. That fall and winter he attended the Ladoga Normal School for thirty weeks.

While he was staying in the Miller home in Ashland, Emma Norris Miller, who was R. H. Miller's second wife, often read letters from her youngest sister, Lina Norris, of Maryland. She encouraged Samuel to write to her sister. "Men were scarce in Maryland following the Civil War," Lina used to say; and she not only wrote to him, but later, when the Millers moved to North Manchester, she invited him to come to see her there. He planned to take the midnight train at Ladoga. He overslept, so he walked and carried his suitcase the sixteen miles to Crawfordsville to take another train.

R. H. Miller recommended Sam very highly to Lina. He said the Stoners were good people and the Deardorffs were fine cultured people. So Lina put aside her other chances at romance and became engaged to Samuel. After about three years of courtship, he settled his accounts with Pap; and with the money went to Middleburg, Maryland to claim Lina for his bride in 1884. Sam's youngest sister, Salome, wanted to go to Mt. Morris, Illinois to college. The other children were in homes of their own in Boone County, so Samuel and Lina came to live with David in the house that David built for Ann Deardorff, 1852.

Then began Sam's more purposeful and useful life, shared and approved by Lina. Before the time when Sunday Schools were acceptable to many church people, he helped organize Sunday Schools in the Ladoga Church of the Brethren, known as Bethel, and in the old Fountain School District. During one period, he superintended Sunday School at one place in the morning and at the other in the afternoon. He united with the Church of the Brethren in 1880 and was elected to the office of Deacon that same year. In 1890, he was elected to the ministry, forwarded to the second degree in 1899; and advanced to the eldership in January 1904. He helped build the Mt. Pleasant church building (five miles east of Ladoga) in 1888; and when the congregation became a separate body in 1904, he often served as presiding elder. While farming was his means of livelihood all through the years, preaching and consultation in church matters received no less than his best energies. He served the Mt. Pleasant Church until 1937 when the members re-united with the Bethel congregation.

His sister-in-law, Emma Norris Miller, was left a widow in 1892 with four young sons: Oliver, Daniel, Robert H. Jr., and John. Very much alone at North Manchester, she sold her farm and in 1897 she moved to the house where Paul Stoner now lives (east of Ladoga). She remained there about 9 years, until Oliver was old enough to farm for her. Samuel had the oversight of six of his own sons and the four Miller boys who looked to him for advice and counsel and training in farm work. As his grandsons came along, he was closely associated with five or six of them.

His passion for education was as intense as his religious convictions were profound. His desire for learning was never stilled and he encouraged his children to think of higher education as the best preparation life could offer them. Unselfish and self-sacrificing, he and Lina sent their eight children through the four-year course at Manchester College.

The Stoner children were reared in a high moral and spiritual atmosphere. The family had grace at the table three times a day with Bible reading in the morning. It is pleasant to recall Samuel's manner of praying, — — — "Our Father, we thank Thee that we are permitted to gather as we are, around this table spread with the creature comforts of life. We thank Thee for Thy bountiful provisions for our needs. Bless and keep us through this day and the remainder of our lives and in death save us, we beg through Christ. Amen."

Father had a fund of humorous stories and sayings, one of which was: "That settles it, boys, that settles it." This was the outgrowth of a quarrel that took place on election day in the Pinnell neighborhood, in Boone County. A certain candidate for office brought some liquor-loving friends to the voting place on election day. After getting them drunk, he furnished them with marked ballots. All they had to do was to drop these ballots in the box. As one such voter went to drop his marked ballot in the box, the candidate for the opposite side slipped his marked ballot in the drunk's hand and he dropped it into the box. A fight between the two candidates started and was stopped by Dump Pinnell and Will Higgins. It was then that Dump Pinnell said, "That settles it, boys, that settles it."

Around home, when anyone said "thank you" to Samuel, he often replied, "Yours truly, Hannibal Trout." As the story goes, there was a highly respected man by that name who had never had much experience saying grace at meals. One day he was calling on voters, seeking votes for himself at a coming election. One family invited him to eat with them. They even asked him to return thanks for the meal. He offered thanks, but did not seem to know how to finish his blessing, so he repeated what he had already said; then stopped and finally closed by saying, "Yours truly, Hannibal Trout."

A certain man inherited land and livestock, but he could not seem to manage all his property. One by one, his cattle died; one by one, he lost his farms. When he had only one farm left, he told someone, "I just about have my business down to where I can manage it by myself." That became one of Sam's sayings.

A man who lived near Sam tried to borrow money from him, but was turned down. The next day, he came saying that his child was ill and he needed money to pay the doctor. Samuel gave him the money and telephoned for Dr. Edward Lidikay. The father of the child was without transportation, but he was a fast walker. Dr. Lidikay went to his stable and started harnessing his horse. Before he had finished, the man came walking into the barn, rather out of breath, but still able to talk. He said, "My child is better, Doc, and you needn't come to see him." Doc thought this was a good joke on Samuel and often "joshed" him about being outwitted by this neighbor.

Sam and Lina used to tell about an old man named Zimri Gray who lived with them and helped with the work. He had one ambition in life: To get a "tomb-rock" for his wife, Eve's grave. When bedtime came, he always said, "Liny, if you don't care, I guess I'll go lay down." He, himself, passed away before his desire was accomplished and lay for many years beside Eve in an unmarked grave. A few years before she died, Lina Stoner engaged Claude Harshbarger (of Ladoga) to make a simple cement marker to be installed at the graves of Eve and Zimri. Claude would take no money for this kind of act. At last, Eve had her "tomb-rock."

In his later years, Samuel liked to "codger" around the barn he built, husking corn from the fodder that lay on the barn floor, milking his cow, or feeding the young calves. He always seemed to be there. Sometimes he slept in a rocker beside the kitchen stove. He spent nearly ninety years on this one farm; and it became a spot he loved so well. His spirit has answered the call to come up higher, but the ground he tred so many years, seems still eloquent of his presence.

Father and Mother Stoner loved their children and grandchildren dearly. They would ask for nothing more than to be remembered and loved in return.

DAVID STONER II

David Stoner II was born near Roanoke, Botetourt County, Virginia, May 25, 1806; died at his home east and south of Ladoga, Indiana, May 14, 1896. The eldest in a family of seventeen children, and later father of his own six children, his early life was one of hardship and unremitting toll. His example of purposeful and tireless industry was his habit through life. "It was an invariable practice of his to make one shoe every evening after his day's work was done."

—Beckwith

He lived to see the fruits of his vision and labors in the new State of Indiana. With the help of his children, he cleared away the timber and drained the land, leaving a farm as a means of livelihood to each of his children in Montgomery or Boone Counties, Indiana.

ANN DEARDORFF STONER

Ann Deardorff Stoner was born at Eaton, Preble County, Ohio, January 31, 1818; died at her home near Ladoga, Indiana, October 14, 1878. She was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Staily Deardorff; and was a devout member of the German Baptist Church. Her immigrant ancestors were thought to have carried this faith to the New World in their migration around 1729. Ann came to Indiana as a bride, October 1850. She was skilled in the many home-making arts so necessary for the comfort and well-being of her family in those pioneer days. Mute testimony of her industry (in the form of spinning-wheels, flails and hackles, and hanks of linen thread) survived for seventy years in her attic. Some of her grandchildren cherish coverlets woven by her hand with woolen and linen thread which she spun.
for

... Was finished about 1852. It is a sturdy, Virginia-style house, standing on a slope. It is built with bricks burned from clay taken from subsoil on the farm. Chapman describes the house as, "a home replete with comfort." He may have been referring to the nine fireplaces, one in each room for heating with wood fires. He may have been referring to the running water from a spring fifty yards from the house. This spring was the only source of drinking water for two generations.—Or, he may have been referring to the brick oven built in the yard east of the house. This oven was used for the making of bread and other goodies.

... The house now sits well back from the main road; but at the time it was built, it was near the "old road" which followed Little Racoon Creek to Ladoga.

SUSANNA STONER
b. March 21, 1808
   m. Samuel Lemon (sometimes spelled "Leamon" "Layman")

Susanna and Samuel were reported by Lina Stoner to have been married and already settled in Virginia when the rest of the family came to Indiana in 1837. In his diary, David Stoner II mentioned that on April 9, 1839, he went to Crawfordsville (Government Land Office) and purchased land for Susannah, John, and Catharine. The record of purchasers of Government land in Montgomery County does not include any for Susannah. It is likely he entered it in Boone County, since John's land was purchased there; but the Boone County Court House burned and old records were destroyed some years ago. The Montgomery County records show that, beginning October 21, 1850, one Samuel D. Layman purchased land, Book 16, p. 320, and later made other purchases of land and property in the Ladoga area. In 1865, he and Getta Layman deeded Ladoga town property; and he bought property in Whitesville, 1866. It may be that Susannah having died, he married again. A more convincing record is the Church Certificate of Membership found among the Church of the Brethren's Clerk's papers, Ladoga, Indiana, as follows: "State of Virginia, Botetourt County, to wit: we the brethren of the church of Botetourt * this 15th day of February, in the year of our Lord, 1858, send greetings to the Elders and brethren in the west or wheresoever this Epistle may be presented, whereas our Sister Susanna Layman (with her children) are about to move from us to you now this is to certify to you, that she is in full fellowship and peace with the brethren here as far as we have knowledge, we now commit her to your charge and oversight, and cheerfully commend you with her unto the Lord, the Shepherd and bishop of our souls and to the ward of his grace who is able to build with us up and finally give us an inheritance among all them who are willing to become sanctified by the same. Amen

Signed: in behalf of the
brethren present - - -
Peter Hiniger, Benjamin Moomaw, Daniel Kinzie, Jos Moomaw, George Layman"

(This date, February 15, 1858* agrees with the date recorded in David Lemon's obituary, in the "Amboy Independent" newspaper, that he came with Samuel and Susan Lemon to Indiana in 1858, locating in Montgomery County.)

BIOGRAPHY OF JACOB STONER III

(Son of Jacob Stoner II and brother of David Stoner II)

Jacob Stoner III, born 1812, in Botetourt County, Virginia, came with the family to Indiana in 1837. He lived on a farm near New Ross, Indiana now owned by Tom Evans' father, farmed by Tom Evans, who states that Jacob Stoner built the old barn and the house which has since been remodeled. His grand-daughter, Stella Stoner Chambers, now nearly ninety, recalls the happy times she had on her grandfather's farm and remembers her great uncle, David Stoner, who often came there on visits.

Jacob's second wife, grand-mother of Stella Chambers, was Lydia Winter Stevenson. Her father, John Winter, "entered" 160 acres of land for each of his 17 children in the New Ross community. Lydia could not read or write until after her marriage to her 1st husband, Stevenson, who was a school-teacher and taught her to read and cipher. They had a son, James Stevenson, who lived and died in Wichita, Kansas. Upon the death of Mr. Stevenson, Lydia married Jacob Stoner III and had children, four of whom lived. She was said to be a fine woman. Since the Winter children were linked three times with the Jacob Stoner II children, the following is a listing of the John Winter Family as reported by Stella Stoner Chambers: (John & Elizabeth Pfrimmer Winter were the parents of 17 children, many of whom are buried in the Ladoga Cemetery, 1 mile south of Ladoga, Indiana):

JOHN WINTER (b. 11-9-1778) —— and —— ELIZABETH PFRIMMER WINTER (b. 6-3-1789) (Father) (Mother)

b. September 28, 1814; d. 1838 - There is no record of his having married, and we presume he died single. From David Stoner's diary: "March 29, 1838 started to Laport for to get land for brother Willem. April 1, 1838, got to brother's. April 6, to Laport paid the money for brother Wm Stoner's land."
Here is a copy of a legal paper found among David Stoner's papers: "State of Indiana, LaPorte County: Be it remembered that on the 3rd day of November, 1838 the within named David Stoner was by the undersigned Clerk of the Probate Court of said County duly sworn agreeably to Law to truly and faithfully perform the duties and trusts committed to and required of him as administrator of the estate of William Stoner, deceased. Witness my hand and the Seal of said court at LaPorte this 3rd day of November, 1838. Wm Hawkins, Clerk"

"Nov. 13, 1839 Final settlement of the estate was filed with the LaPorte County Clerk, Wm Hawkins. There was $142.41 pd in expenses. Am't of assets $79.59. $62.82 am't over paid." - 82 -
From David Stoner's diary: "The estate of William Stoner-Db to David Stoner for going from Montgomery County, Ind. to Kosciusko County to pay taxes and make an agent there to see his land there by the name of James Norris. Lives near Clear Spring Post Office. Spent ten days in going there and back the tavern bills was $423 cts. Returned the 23 Nov. 1843. Oct. 23, 1844 sent $5.00 Scrip bills. with 90 cts in trust Postage 25 cts. 1846 sent $7 Dollars but it is not enuff the taxes is $8.05 cts postage on these letters 15 cts."

David left tax receipts dated from Nov. 18, 1843 to Jan. 29, 1863 for taxes paid as Administrator of Wm Stoner, Dec'd on Sec. 2 Twp 31, Range 7, acres 208.55. Warsaw, Kosciusko Co. Ind. In 1843 the taxes were $5.72. In 1863 they were $13.12 on the same 208.55 acres. There is no record of the sale of the land or disposition of the money among David's papers. William Stoner apparently lived only a few months after David went to Warsaw to purchase land for him. The land was bought in April and he died in November of 1838. He apparently lived in LaPorte County and owned land in Kosciusko County.

da. September 17, 1846 (near Ladoga, Indiana)(Buried in Stoner Cemetery)
His brother, David Stoner II was the administrator of his estate. From John's tax receipts, he appears to have paid in Montgomery County, Indiana, $1.14 tax on $40 worth of personal property and one poll December 3, 1845. Receipt signed by D. Vance, Treasurer and Collector of Montgomery County, Indiana.

His tax in Boone County, dated November 9, 1846, was one dollar and 81 cents for State, County and road tax on N.E. Q.Sec.10, T.17 R.1 W. April 9, 1839 is the date David Stoner entered land at Crawfordsville Land Office for Suzannah, John, and Catharine Stoner. There are nine tax receipts from Lebanon, Indiana, some with dates torn off, so his land was not sold immediately after his death. Receipt: Nov. 7, 1846 Received of David Stoner six dollars for coffin made for John Stoner-Dec'd. Signed C. R. Anderson.

His brother, David Stoner II was his administrator. Among David's papers is the following letter:
"Ladoga, Indiana, July 20, 1841 (?) To Capt. Glenn, Brown Township, Ia. Sir: Allow me to introduce to your acquaintance Mr. Joel Stoner. I have been acquainted with Mr. Stoner for nearly nine years with us he is regarded to be a strictly honest and industrious young man. The loss of his arm prevents him from laboring on the farm - his mother being a widow he has to seek employment otherwise—he has taught school, he is a fair penman—under his misfortune we should lay party feeling and personal attachment aside and render aid—where misfortune merit and worth are combined. Any assistance that you may render him by introducing him to the public—will be thankfully received and reciprocated.

Yours very respectfully

signed Taylor W. Webster."
(Mr. Webster was proprietor of a general store in Ladoga at that time.)
There is no further word of Joel's going to Iowa. He lived in LaPorte, Indiana, and owned a nursery of fruit trees. He died of complications following measles, giving his property to his mother, Barbara, with David Stoner as administrator, requesting burial beside his brother, William Stoner at LaPorte.

Lina Stoner said that Magdalene was left a widow in Wisconsin. Late in life she came to Ladoga to attend the funeral of her sister, Hannah Ronk, and remained to nurse her sister, Sarah Himes, a paralytic. The latter died and Magdalene came to the home of Samuel D. Stoner, her nephew, after the funeral. She had taken cold, grew ill of pneumonia and died about two weeks after Sarah Himes's death. She is buried in Stoner Cemetery. On July 30, 1905 she wrote a letter to Mrs. Lina Stoner from Clear Lake, Cerro Gordo Co., Iowa, R.3, where she evidently had moved in her later years. Benjamin and Magdalene Stoner Winter had 12 children, namely: Martha; Rebecca; Mary; Lydia (m. Linton); Joseph; John; William; Christine; David; Jesse; Julia; and Emma.

The Mills family is of English origin, coming to this country in early Colonial days, settling in New York, and eventually migrating from that state to Kentucky. Silas Mills' grandfather was Jacob Mills, his father was Lewis D. Mills who was reared and educated in Fleming County, Kentucky. When a young man, Lewis Mills went to Montgomery County, Ohio to live and there married Rebecca Fitzpatrick, who was of Scotch-Irish descent. She was born March 10, 1794; died July 22, 1843. Her father was John Fitzpatrick whose early life was passed in Virginia. His father had come to this country from Scotland. Lewis Mills was born in Fleming County, Kentucky, December 7, 1791.

Lewis D. Mills left Montgomery County, Ohio in the fall of 1827 and came to Montgomery County, Indiana, driving a cow, a horse, and a colt through the forest from Ohio. He entered 80 acres of land paying $1.25 per acre; afterwards adding 80 acres of school land in Section 16 of Clark Township. There were many Indians here at this time, and an Indian trail ran across Mr. Mills' farm. The Mills family worked hard to clear their land and to hew a comfortable home from the wilderness. After the death of his first wife, by whom he had ten children, he married Mrs. Mary Markey Fletcher who bore him two children. She died in 1869; Lewis D. Mills died December 19, 1847. He is buried in Stoner Cemetery. Nine of the Mills children grew to maturity. Silas belonged to the first marriage. A sister, Mary Jane, married Daniel Walls and lived in Boone County; Taylor Mills farmed in Scott Township. These three: Silas, Mary Jane, and Taylor - were still living in 1893. (Lewis D. Mills was a member of the Methodist Church. He often entertained Circuit-riders of by-gone time.

Silas S. Mills worked on the farm for his father until he was 18. He worked with James Houston in Ladoga 15 months to learn the blacksmith trade; then he worked as a farm hand, receiving $10 per month. One year he earned a total of $133 for his work which was the best wages he ever received. After his marriage to Rebecca Stoner, he rented land eight years, and, in the meantime, bought land in Iowa. At the end of 8 years, he bought land in Clark Township upon which he resided 16 years. After that, he purchased land 4 miles east of Ladoga, and that was his home for 3 years. Selling that, he bought land 1 1/2 miles southeast of Ladoga and dwelt thereon 12 years; then he moved to Ladoga. He owned 250 acres of land in 1893. He was a stalwart Republican and an active worker in the party. He was President of the Board of Trustees and served as School Director in Clark Township. After the death of Rebecca Stoner Mills, Silas married her sister, Lydia Stoner, who reared his and Rebecca's children.

WM MORTON MILLS
b. September 4, 1862
d. March 9, 1943 (Buried in Stoner Cemetery)
A bachelor, Morton was handicapped by a crippling infirmity, suffered in his youth (which may have been Polio), and he always walked with a cane. He engaged in the merchandise business in Ladoga, and, later in life, spent his time overseeing his farms. His sister, Emma Overman, was his housekeeper. They lived on West Main Street in Ladoga many years. He was a Republican and an influential citizen of Ladoga. The Churches of Ladoga and the Stoner Cemetery were among the beneficiaries of his will.

END of ABRAHAM STONER Line

(See Page 95)
Early in his "Hoosier" days, Grand-"pap", David Stoner II, used oxen on his Montgomery County farm; and they also furnished power to dig the big drainage ditch through his Boone County land. We know he had, besides other horses, a horse named "Jack". (See Page 29, Par 4, Line 3)

By the time Grandfather, Samuel D. Stoner, farmed the Ladoga land, 1884-1946, there was a long procession of horses that did the farm work. Grandfather thought it unmanly and extremely lazy for anyone to use a riding plow. He was very serious in believing it was the mark of a man to hold the two plow handles and walk behind the plow with the lines thrown over his shoulders. As a youth, Paul Stoner thought it relaxing and refreshing to walk behind the plow and to smell the fresh-turned earth; but he did not think his father had very good horses - they were too small and light of bone. In 1921, Paul's father had thirty to thirty-five horses on the farm. One benefit from them, not noticed until they were no longer needed, was the clean-up job they did. After they were not so numerous, the limbs of the trees and bushes grew lower in the woods and the pastures became more weedy and bushy in the fence-rows.

Many of the horses had names suggesting ideals to which they did not fully measure. There were Hercules and Atlas, Rescue and King I (who were the same age as Norris Stoner), Fly (a buggy horse which Rowena Stoner and R. H. Miller Jr. drove to their teaching jobs at Fountain School and old No. 1 School). There were several Queens, Mart and Frank, Zellika, John, Charlie, Maude, Logan, Pearl, Dutch, Daisy, George, blind Prince, Dan, Fannie and Ribbon, Bob and Carmen. Norris used old Nancy when he farmed; and she had Happy, Black Leader, Daisy, Sal and Dick. The quality of the horses improved in later years with crosses on Percheron draft stallions owned by Ben Carmen and Tom Britts. (Horses mentioned together indicate teams)

Paul aspired to own leather tug harness instead of chain harness, but it was too expensive. Towards the last of the horse era, however, he purchased two pairs at auction sales but never used them very much as the horses "went out" on the Stoner Farm too.

Horses had personalities, and many are the stories that grew out of their behavior - some too painful to repeat. Lee Alexander was using a team in Boone County some sixteen miles away. One morning he telephoned to say that his team was missing. A quick check revealed that they were waiting at the "Home Gate" - ready to be turned through. At another time, old Frank and Mart lived with Oliver Miller for a year. He brought them home and unharnessed them. They immediately ran to the creek to drink - then marched back to their old stalls in the barn. Blind Frank knew his way around as easily as Mart. Grandmother Lina Stoner drove Fannie to Aid Society one summer day. Coming home, in front of the Roberts' home, Fannie lay down and refused to go any farther. Mr. Roberts finally came home and coaxed her to get up. Grandmother drove her home very slowly. As soon as Fannie was unhitched, she trotted away with alacrity. Grandfather laughed and told Grandmother that she had been tricked. Fanny had had her joke on Grandmother.

The first three tractors on the farm, around 1918-1920, were "Waterloo Boys", and there was a man named Gideon Smaltz who often came out from Indianapolis to keep them in running order. The Stoner men repaired tractors by day and plowed by night. They were followed in 1929 by a good steel-wheeled International - and, then by some John Deere tractors. About 1951, with the purchase of the second Ferguson tractor, horses were no longer needed except for saddle use. Then we had: Allie Ray, Bonnie Belle, Linda Dare, and another Queen. Paul found homes for the remaining draft horses where they could work a little for board and keep. The harness still hangs inside the barn door on ten or twelve pegs, much like the day they stopped using it.

BOONE COUNTY, INDIANA AND THE STONER FAMILY THERE

Boone County, occupying a central portion of the State of Indiana, was first settled by white men in about 1822. At that time, the Miami Indians occupied the northwest corner of the county, but about the year 1834, their fires went out and their songs were heard no more. In 1822, the white men found an unbroken wilderness, no roads, no mills, deep-tangled brush and vines, and a good portion of the land covered by water. The hardy pioneers came principally from Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and North Carolina.

Although the county was considered low and level, it, in reality, was the dividing summit of White River and the Wabash. The water flows in every direction in Boone County. Since the water now has been confined to deeper channels and numerous ditches, the land, as a rule, is dry and can be cultivated. Boone County was organized in 1830 when there were only 622 citizens in the county. From "Early Life and Times in Boone County, Indiana, 1887" by Harden and Spahr, pp 7-8-9-10.

"Harrison Township occupies a place in the southern tier of townships, and is bounded on the south by Hendricks County. The surface is level to a great extent. The headwaters of Eel River have their source here, flowing out of and through the extensive prairie known as "Stoner's Prairie". It is the only prairie in the county, and at one time it was thought it could not be cultivated. The early settlers avoided it and took to the woods but by 1887, that idea was exploded and many acres profitably tilled."

Harrison Township was settled in the year 1834; and, at that time, the surface of the land was either covered by water or a dense growth of timber and brush. Rattlesnakes were plentiful. The Stoners first bought land in Boone County on April 9, 1839. In 1880, the population in Harrison Township was 1,401 - with nine schoolhouses, 414 school children, four brick houses, and five frame houses. Poplar Grove Baptist Church was one of the first churches in the township. First known as Antioch, a log house was built in 1860 by the M.E. Church. Then The Baptists organized a church there.

Later in 1867, a frame house was built at a cost of $1,000.00, seating 400. The cemetery adjoined the church on the north and east. The building was sold and moved about 1950, but the cemetery at Poplar Grove is being maintained in good condition. The German Baptist Brethren, later known as the Church of the Brethren, built a substantial brick church on the Stoner-Hicks land a few miles east of Poplar Grove Church. It was known as the Bethany Church and was built in 1894. In 1917, John A. Miller of Nettle Creek was Elder and William Hicks and Oscar Harrison were deacons. Brethren Samuel D. Stoner and Howard Keim often went there from near Ladoga to supply the pulpit. Bro. Wm H. Bowser farmed in the Bethany Church area and preached for them, but he met an untimely death with Typhoid Fever (d. September 8, 1898, age 40 yrs; Buried Mt. Pleasant Cemetery). The Bethany Church building still stands but services have been discontinued since about 1930. To reach Poplar Grove Cemetery, go north from Lizton, Indiana on Road 39 a distance of 3.4 miles, turn east .6 miles. By continuing east from Poplar Grove, you will come to old Bethany Church and the Stoner-Hicks-Higgins-Reiber farms.

The Drainage Ditch in Boone County, Harrison Township

Grace Zimmerman Reiber believes that the drainage ditch was put in before she was born, which was October 23, 1883. Her mother, Caroline Stoner Zimmerman, heired 160 acres from her father, David Stoner, first living in a log house where Grace was born. They built the brick house in 1884, the bricks being burned from clay found on the place. Her sister, Gertie Zimmerman Harrison, was born in the new brick house. The log house was moved to the farm now owned by Grace Reiber; and her first child, Cmer Reiber, was born in the house. It was moved back and the present frame house was built. It is in this frame house that Grace still lives.

David Stoner wanted the open drainage ditch, which went through Caroline's land, located according to his own plans. One evening, the surveyor told the men to dig the next morning in a different direction from the one David wanted. Bob Zimmerman overheard him and told Caroline, his wife. Caroline mounted a horse and rode through the night to her father's home sixteen miles away, near Ladoga. The next morning, when the men came to work, David Stoner was waiting for them. They expressed surprise at seeing him there so early. He was brief and to the point, "the business is, boys, let's get on with it."

Every person whose land drained into the ditch was required to dig his allotted share - mostly done by hand. Samuel D. Stoner used oxen when he helped with the ditch. In Samuel D. Stoner's diary, for October 17, 1879, he has written: "Finished Ditching" (underscored three times).

August 26, 1879, he notes: "Comenst ditching, - W. Grayham, R. Stephins and Self. September 1879 was spent mostly in ditching."

Galen Hicks remembers another "Big Ditch" story. One day while work was going on at the Hicks' land, Davey Stoner cut himself a walking stick; and when he went to dinner, he left it leaning against a tree. The workmen, seeing a freshly skinned stick, thought it was a stake and dug in that direction. That is why (the story goes) the ditch had a crook in it.
at that place! Bob Zimmermans built the brick house; Uncle William and Christena Stoner Hicks built a substantial frame house; and Uncle Will and Aunt Kate Stoner Higgins and Uncle Ben and Aunt Jennie Stoner also had comfortable dwellings and good farms in neighboring farms in Harrison Township.

Aunt Kate recalled the toilsome business of clearing the land and burning the trees to get ready for farming. She had a part in all this from early girlhood. A deep sorrow in Aunt Kate's life was the loss of her husband, Will Higgins, and of her grown daughter, Ocie Higgins, making it no longer possible for her to remain on the farm. Uncle Ben and Aunt Jennie Stoner also lost a grown daughter, Della; and Uncle Will Hicks lost his wife, Tena, and a grown daughter, Lucy Catharine Hicks. — For many years, Will Higgins belonged to the Horse Thief Detective Association. Aunt Kate had a wide acquaintance in Boone County and she lived to be 97 years old. Her later years were spent in Lebanon where she belonged to the Christian Church.

THIS LETTER — Addressed to Mr. Joel Stoner, LaPorte, Indiana, with the number "15" written where a postage stamp would now be placed — was found among Joel's papers:

Harrisburgh, March 7th, 1849

Dear Cousin,

After a long time I shall again send you a few lines, this neglect you must attribute to procrastination, as I have no other excuse to offer, well in the first place I would just say I am getting along something after the old fashion, I have been engaged since my return, in teaching Geographical classes, a business with which I am highly pleased. I taught a class in Salem that was truly interesting, rendered more interesting undoubtedly by certain interesting personages that attended the class. These tender little things cause some strange workings of nature within us, it is really too bad to let these fair ones play the devil with a fellow's heart: so you see I was almost in love, but presently I shall be removed some twelve or fourteen miles from these dear objects and my thoughts also must remove with me, you can observe by this that I still have some control of my senses, and have not suffered cupid to smite me with that unerring dart for which he is so justly distinguished, as handling with precision. I am now teaching here, there are a good many young ladies in attendance, but not regular, this makes me view them with a slight degree of aversion, as it shows at once they do not take that interest in improving their minds that all young persons should take, as to the part called beauty, they possess no small share of it, fine featured, beautiful indeed, symmetrical formed, lively and buoyant not in the extreme but to a pleasing degree of moderation. But how can I expect all of them to attend regularly when their parents "the old hard cases" are so bitterly opposed to their daughters acquiring geographical knowledge; in¬ stead of light and knowledge becoming more generally diffused through this community, it seems as if their sphere was becoming more circumscribed:
and ignorance, prejudice and superstition getting more and more in the ascendancy. When did you leave home and how are the folks getting along there? How come those two Misses on, I was at various times on the eve of penning a sonnet for each of them, I guess you think, that would have been a devil of a production, coming from such a source as this, but do not be deceived, with such a source for inspiration had I but got fairly astride Pegasus and rode up the hill Parnassus, something might have emanated from this quarter most powerful and touching: had I done so they might both have been captivated and then I would have been in a fix.

I have not yet had word from Mil. which makes me sometimes feel a little uneasy should I lose that it would be a loss to me indeed. Dr. M.
Garst talks of going up somewhere into that country this spring, if he does
I shall try to get him to attend to it for me, if he does not I suppose I shall have to be under the painful necessity of going myself: if I do not sustain too great a loss my trip will be worth, I was about to say, the whole of it, but in my present circumstances it is too much for me.

The reason I consider it so valuable is, - to learn man. I do not remember whether I told you that I made some purchases on credit with a promise to pay on my return: I gave some due bills to this effect "Payable on my return" some of them hearing from my first letter home that the lakes were rough, and afterwards from some papers that some vessels had been destroyed, I suppose naturally enough thought that I was among the lost, in consequence of this, kept running to father continually to know if he would pay the money if I never came back, these bills called for about eight dollars each, one man, A. Landis whom I owed about twenty dollars bore it patiently until I got home, so soon as he learned of my arrival he was after me time and again, but as I was absent nearly all of the time I did not get to see him, however he sold the note to my friend L. T. Pfoutz his plea was that such young fellows might run away etc. etc. and he consequently, sustain an enormous loss. Now these very individuals always seemed warm friends of mine. I could scarcely believe that they could form this opinion of me. O friendship, friendship, what art thou but an empty name. What narrow minds what con¬ tracted souls such pitiable beings must have: May heaven in infinite mercy ever preserve me from such an avaricious, such a pernicious disposition.

J. Miller and myself have gone into partnership, next week I expect to go to Cincinnati to lay in groceries, our stand is on the corner of main and third south of Court house.

The friends through this vicinity so far as I know of are well, though there were many deaths in Salem and neighborhood while I was teaching there. Brother David had, at the same time, the misfortune to lose both his children by the Scarlet Fever. I must cease, I have been writing letters nearly all day and now the sun is just stealing behind the western horizon.

Write soon Joel. Yours etc. /s/ W. Stoner Jr.
OUR STONER FAMILY

REUNIONS

A series of family reunions were held annually, beginning in 1925, at the S. D. Stoner home except that it was held once in Ben F. Stoner's Grove (July 19, 1936) and was held once at the Bethany Church near the Reiber home in Boone County (July 28, 1935).

Due to the advancing age on the part of many of the participants and the pressure of the war years, the reunions were discontinued in 1941 in which year the sixteenth reunion was held.

There were 60 present at the first reunion; 83 present at the second reunion. E. N. Stoner was elected president; Venna Leonard, secretary; and Daniel Leonard was elected photographer at the close of the meeting of the first reunion. They were re-elected at the close of the second reunion meeting and held office at least through the third reunion.

The entertainment at these reunions consisted of such as "Memories of Boyhood" by Marion Stoner (first reunion); and at the second reunion: a Reading by Anna, Edna, and Christena Belle Hicks; Song by the 3 Hicks girls; Solo by Salome Ruth Wine; Song by Mary Virginia Harrison; Song by Mary Catharine Stoner, accompanied by Nettie S. Rose at the piano; Song by James Burrin, accompanied by Georgevelyn Reiber at the piano; Reading by Reva May Leonard; Speeches by Catharine Higgins on "Childhood Days", Dr. Otis Higgins on "Making Things Better", and one by the president (E. N. Stoner) on "Next Year's Work".

There was a total of $1.61 reported as being in the treasury at the second annual reunion.

Pasted in the Reunion Secretary's Book is this poem:

To Samuel and Lina Stoner
As a Tribute to Their 50th Wedding Anniversary
(September 30, 1934)
1884-1934

By O. C. Higgins, M.D.

Full fifty years ago, today,
(I reck' the day was shiny)
From far off Maryland, they say,
Came Samuel, bringing Liny.

A home they made here in the wood
'Mid roses, phlox and piny,
And labored hard as young folks should
Did Samuel and Liny.

And children came to bless this home
Both reverent and kindly,
And none did from this hearthstone roam
From Samuel and Liny.

But each of them does do his part
To make this world's work holy
For they were gently taught this art
By Samuel and Liny.

Save one who brilliantly aspired
To train child minds, benignly,
He waits beyond to welcome there
Our Samuel and Liny.

And other children love this place
Of reverence and piety
They love the good will in the face
Of Samuel and Liny.

And loyal neighbors too there are
And hosts of friends who kindly
Pray now for twilight, free from care
For Samuel and Liny.

So fill the cup, oh, fill it up,
And drink of it kindly
For all success is nobleness,
Say Samuel and Liny.

Note: Lina, pronounced "Liny" for this poem. - 114 -

(Samuel, in Hebrew, is: "Given of God")
