PREFACE

The writer of this book must admit she was not interested in doing a family research when information was available and thus the long hunt for the forebears of this family. Long after my parents and grandparents were gone I became interested in the land of my origin. So far I'm still looking. My husband Pat Gale has been a very willing helper in this endeavor. He loves to travel and we both do the research.

We are indebted to many relatives and cousins for the information in this family history book. Relatives and friends were very helpful in locating information and when they didn't know they directed us in the right direction. Special thanks to those who helped me in this research. V. Neal Maricle, Raymond Maricle, Fern Crispin, Ethel Burnett, James Maricle, William O. Maricle, Cecil Maricle, Lee Maricle, Gordon Lee Maricle, Freda Phillips, and many others, and especially Reba Cushman.

All efforts to make this book as factual as possible have been undertaken. For any mistakes and errors within, I apologize.

The writing is interceded by charts and family history summaries. Some of the stories were told by word of mouth and so no written references will be made of these stories.

Lesson Name: HISTORY OF MILL SHOALS

by

JUDGE R. QUINDRY OF FAIRFIELD

Mill Shoals township is located in the north eastern corner of White Co. and comprises one and a half Congressional townships, or fifty four square miles. It consists of the south half of township 3 south, range 8 east, and the whole of township 4 south, range 8 east. It was all originally in timber, is undulating and hilly, and the soil is characteristic timber, clay, which is good for agriculture and horticultural purposes. The Skillet Fork River or creek, formerly declared navigable, enters the northeast corner of the township, and runs southeastward where it emerges about two and a half miles north of the southeast corner.

The township has among its early settlers: William Upton, Richard Upton, William Mason, William Childers, and Arthur Fowler. James H. Frazer, a native of Phillips township, moved to Mill Shoals Township in 1866. Bears, wolves, and deer were very abundant in an early day, an ordinary hunter would kill from ten to twenty five deer per day. While turkeys were so plentiful that they were not killed for a number of years.

The village of Mill Shoals is situated on Sections 19 and 20 on the banks of the Skillet Fork River. The land is very level, and it was originally owned by William Linder. The village was laid out in 1869 by Judge Boggs, of Wayne County, who received one half of forty acres for the work. For several years the village of Mill Shoals was a thriving community. There was a flour mill owned by Samuel Burrell, and run by water power, a saw mill, owned by the Behymer Co. doing a large business; a lumber manufactory, where lumber was prepared for the market; two general stores—Behymer and Co. and Upton and Lasater; two groceries, one hotel, two doctors, and a good school, taught by B.F. Files, which were in existence during the years of 1883-1885.

The village of Springerville was laid out in the year of 1857 for William Upton by John Storms, County Surveyer. It is located on Section 17 and 18, Mill Shoals Township, and is situated on high rolling land. The name of Springerville was changed when the O. a. M. rail road was built. This thriving little village boasted of a steam saw mill and grist mill, once owned by Mr. Upton and Co. who did a good business; two general stores, one owned by James Springer and J. N. Moutray, the other by John W. Springer, each having a good trade; one blacksmith shop, one family grocery, one hotel and one wagon shop. There was also a good district school where 100 pupils attended and received instruction from able teachers; two churches—one of the Christian denomination and one of the Latter Day Saints.
Christion Church, district No.5 was organized in November of 1881, Jon Foster, Jeffery McIntosh, Elders, and Daniel Cain and Whaley Newby, deacons; Thomas McIntosh, Clark. Among the first members were; Lector Ann McIntosh, Joseph Hamon, Charles Moore, Sarah Jane Cain and Jane Foster. J.W. Stone was the first Pastor. The church boasted of a membership of about thirty and a proportioned to be in a flourishing condition during the period of 1881-1883. In 1863 there was a Christian Church organized on the South side, called No.4. The officers were; Silas Johnson, John Fulford, and Tilford Taylor. William I. Richards was the Pastor and he remained in charge for about three years. When he commenced his labors there were forty-four members. There were several revivals during his administration, which added many to the membership until it numbered ninety. Since then many of the members moved away or died, and the society disorganized during the 1880's.

Antioch General Baptist Church was organized in Mill Shoals Township in 1868. James Tate and Dudley Smith were the first deacon; J.C. Pilcher was the first clerk. Among the first members were; Presly Nuby, Sarah Ann Headly, John Headly, Henry Maricle, Mary Ann Maricle, Thomas Dunn, Huey Dunn, and Lewis Waters and wife. Pastors during early days of the Church were; Revs. William Clark, H.H. Brown, Elder Tubbs. C. Sherwood, Elder Woods, Elder Ashby, Cillian Turner, and Wendell. The Church building was built in 1870 and was done by voluntary help. There were union Sunday school classes; the Methodist United with the Baptists and it was held in the Methodist Church in northern Mill Shoals Township.
George Maricle Family

George Maricle was born abt 1755 in N.J. (According to the 1850 Census of IL.) So far we have no claimable record for George Maricle. Through the Census and grandfather Henry Maricle's Abstract we find a family of eight children - three sons and five daughters. At this time we do not know who George Married. It is possible George married twice according to the long span of time between births of some of the children. However we do not know the name of his wife or wives.

His children are Jacob, Henry Clinton, Franklin, Sarah, Mary, Elizabeth, Jane and Margaret. All were born in Greenbriar Co. VA. as far as we know, but this has not been confirmed. When George passed away aft 1850 he did not leave a will. He is buried on the Henry Maricle Farm in Mill Shoals, White Co, IL. a short distance north east of the farm house. Across the street from the farm house is the West Antioch Cemetery and Church which was not in existence at the time of George's death.

George's first born was Jacob, so we will start our family with him. He married Sarah I. Arbaugh on 11 Feb 1813 in her father's house in Greenbriar Co. VA. which is now W. Va. Jacob was drafted into the Army on 13 Feb 1815 and served in the War of 1812. The War ended in a couple of weeks and Jacob was discharged 1 Mar 1815. He served in Captain Kincaids Co. of the VA. Militia. He was given Bounty land warrants 104,515-160-55.

Jacob farmed in VA. until about 1833. When he couldn't pay for the farm it was sold at Public Auction. He and his family started the long journey to IL. in a covered wagon. They stopped in a wagon camp in Rome, Smith Co., TN. They stayed about two years in the camp. My grandfather Henry Maricle was born there on 22 oct 1835. They finally arrived in White Co. IL. in 1837 where they stayed for the rest of their lives.

Jacob died the 3 Mar 1854 and was buried on Henry Maricle's farm with George Maricle. The grave stones have long been destroyed and no one remembers the dates on them. We have no definite date of Jacob's birth. Sarah was finally granted a pension of $8.00 a month from 9 Mar 1878 as long as she remained a widow.

According to the War record Jacob was 6 feet tall, had blond complexion, blond hair and blue eyes. Jacob and Sarah had ten children, all of whom grew to adulthood.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1949

YOU GOT IT FROM YOUR FATHER, IT WAS ALL HE HAD TO GIVE. SO IT'S YOURS TO USE AND CHERISH, FOR AS LONG AS YOU MAY LIVE. IF YOU LOSE THE WATCH HE GAVE YOU, IT CAN ALWAYS BE REPLACED, BUT A BLACK MARK ON YOUR NAME, SON, CAN NEVER BE ERASED. IT WAS CLEAN THE DAY YOU TOOK IT, CAN NEVER BE EASED. AFTER ALL IS SAID AND DONE, YOU'LL BE GLAD THE NAME IS SPOTLESS, WHEN YOU GIVE IT TO YOUR SON.

To the Maricles who may be interested in the

Believing that some may be interested in my visit to Southern Illinois, especially White County on June 19, 20 & 21st I am writing a few notes in narrative style.

It is my hope that all who have the patience to read this will supply any bits of information that may be suggested to them by what I have found out. It is not necessary that it be exactly correct and if in doubt it would be helpful if the source of information could be given at the same time.

Never have I had a warmer welcome about anything of a personal or business nature than I was on this visit with questions about our ancestors and the name Maricle. Persons who had no reason to be concerned stopped what they were doing and gave me all the time I could use when they found out my mission in their neighborhood. It was truly amazing how easily the information came to me once I had opened up the subject.

From the search that I had made in Washington, the Library of Congress and the National archives, from Richmond Va., from Mrs. House and the library in Melvill and from the notes I had made in two conversations with father and one with Uncle Carson, I knew pretty well what to look for. I knew that our Great Grandfather Jacob was an early settler in White county, that the Boone County History in the account of Harvey and Sarah Marclic gave his birthplace as Penn, but that the 1950 census listed him as having been born in Va. I knew too that his father may have been George, reportedly born in N. J. That George was his father, father of Jacob, was fully established by this visit.

As I neared Grayville Ill., which was my father’s birthplace, I wondered just how much I would be able to find out and where to begin. I must confess I was a little excited with the idea and determined that if nothing else came of the visit I would spend a little time in Grayville and Rochester Hills where my father had lived his young boyhood and just see how the country looked to me now. As far as I know I was the only member of our branch or the family that had been in the area of Ill. from which Grandfather and his family came to pioneer in Nebraska, for at least forty years and probably longer. So how to begin.

As I drove into Grayville I spotted an antique place on the main intersection of the highway from the north and the main street of the town. So I went in there first. My pretext was that I was looking for a chair to match the one I had in the car which grandfather had taken from that area to Nebraska. Talking with the owner I told then I desired information about my family name and that my father had been born in their town. Right away they said the place for me to go is the newspaper where they are these generation residents. I had lunch and went to the newspaper. The father was not in and the young man, the son, insisted on going with me out on the street to locate him. We talked for quite a while even though he was about to get away. The newspaper had copies since 1853, not in very good shape. He knew the Maricles were located in and around Mill Shoals, did not remember any being in Grayville. They did not think it very likely that I would get death notices of people living so far away in those days, only if they had died in Grayville. I had to know about the life of the little town and thought how like Albion. They, too, were needing a doctor and had just received word that two young men had decided to come and set up practice together taking over the large practice of the very old doctor who wished to retire. That was the big news coming out in the next weeks issue but they asked me questions and said they would put in an account of my visit and what information I was seeking. They referred me to a Mr. Cal Fleming, recently retired, whom I called upon but he could give me no information other than some of present generation. He thanked me for coming to talk with him.
I took time to look over the Wabash River which could be seen looking down the hill of the main street. Father had told me tales about playing as a boy along the Wabash and I wanted to see it. It is quite a river, yet much less than I had pictured it as a boy with my youthful imagination and seen through my father's boyhood memories, of where he played.

Then I drove west to the town of Burnt Prairie, which in father's time was Liberty. It is only a wide spot in the road. Seeing two men sitting in front of the general store on the highway, I stopped, approached them, excused my interruption and asked them if they could tell me about any Maricles in that section. One of the men said, "yes," then he took another look at me and continued, "you are a Maricle. I can tell it. You look like one." This quite floored me. This fellow turned out to be the storekeeper and the other the extent of his customers at the time and he was not buying anything. So we had quite a talk, again as I had done in Grayville. He was a lay preacher or had been one and was very much an admirer of the Maricles, now in Florida, who was a preacher. He had married into a family that was connected by marriage with the Maricles but it got a little involved and he never did finish telling me just what the connection was. They said that the Maricles lived between there and Mill Shoals and that all of the them were buried in the cemetery of the West Antioch Church. They told me Cal Morrison was the man I should see as he knew more about the old timers than anyone and that I would find him at the mill. His name had been given me by the newspaper man in Grayville too. Approaching the mill I again saw two men sitting and asked if one of them might be Mr. Cal Morrison. He of the two said "you are speaking to him." He knew the Maricles, Victor who had just died a short time ago, Mr. W. H. his father and Uncle Henry, called by the same name we called him. He was full in years and information. The other man got up to see someone and he had me sit down. So I took a seat on the much whitened wooden bench where sharpened knives had been tested and Cal Morrison began to wonder if I was there for the afternoon. The man at the store had told me that he would have time to talk for his boys did the work of the mill if they were working that afternoon. This afternoon was given over to talking and I brought a new subject, "we could not tell me much further back that Uncle Henry on our side of the family." It seems that another line of the family had remained about there more than ours. He told me about a Maricle who was called upon for testimony in the case of a Negro of that area who was reported dead during the civil war and then showed up claiming his war pension. Then I remembered hearing something about that as a youngster. In a side line I was interested in what anyone of you may know about this case. He said their locale was the West Antioch Church and that he was sure they would be buried there. I was trying to find out information about Jacob, who his father was, date of death and place of birth. He urged me to go and see Lee Maricle of Fairfield, county seat of Wayne County.

I drove west again on the road to Mill Shoals past the West Antioch Church and stopped. At the entrance of the cemetery I saw three Maricle stones, none of whom were known to me. In all I found eight plots of Maricles. The one of greatest interest was that of Sarah, wife of Jacob Maricle, born Apr. 15, 1796, died Oct. 5, 1863. This was our great grandmother. But no record of Jacob and a big mystery. I took the inscriptions of all the makers and drove west again to Mill Shoals.

I remembered that Mill Shoals was the address of the family in Ill. and always wondered what it was like. Not so much, nothing to compare with Albion, about 600 population, not enterprising. Again I saw two men in front of the general store and talked with them. They both knew of the Maricles, but little of past generations. They could not agree if Lou Maricle was still in town with his mother where he had to come when the high water drove him from his farm house down on the bottoms. They said I should see the Maricles and this being the second time his name was mentioned so prominently I passed up looking for Lou and headed to Fairfield, going north this time.
Lee Maricle was the operator of the Farmer's Union Station and I arrived there just after he had left. I registered at a motel and phoned him at home, he asked me to come over to his house about eight. We had a delightful time, finally involving his wife, daughter and son. He had just moved into a new house he had built. At once we identified our backgrounds as being the same, out of Va., stopping in Tenn. for a few years then settling in White County Ill. He told me a lot and I made many notes. We quickly traced our families back to our great grandfathers being brothers as we thought. Later I verified this. Mine was Jacob and his was Henry. He did not know the name of their father. Said they had had the old family bible but that an Uncle Carson who had retired and moved to Oregon had visited them and one of his daughters was interested in family things and had wanted something from the old home and they had given her the old family bible. He suggested I write his Uncle Carson which I have done but as yet no reply. (Strange how the same names keep cropping up in various lines of the family). As he was from the Henry line of the family, Lee did not know too much about the later Jacob line. He was much interested in what search I had done in Washington D. C. and wanted to see all my records of census returns. He knew of the Lucretia Maricle who is an actress and was at one time on the New York stage, also of a Marie Jane Maricle who is an opera singer. They are cousins of some sort to him. Lee wanted me to see the widower of one of the Maricle women whom I finally located in a retirement home but the lady in the office said he would not be able to converse with me so I did not meet him. Lee invited me to stay over night with them and I thought how very like my folks would have done. We parted about eleven p. m. having both had a good time.

The next morning I took off for Carmi, to the south, the county seat, to look up some records, the library and newspaper. And the way trying to locate the widower which Lee had given me directions, not knowing he had gone to the home, I was told I was near the farm of Louis Maricle so I stopped. He was just getting to planting corn on the "bottoms" and I knew then why Grandfather had wanted to get a little distance from the creek. Lou had had to vacate his farm house for he had eighteen inches of water in the house. Those clay bottoms got soaked like that it takes some drying out. This was the worst he had ever had. Being late with his farming and working on a tractor he was none-the-less glad to talk with me about the name and the family connection. I quickly established him also, as being of the Henry line, not to be confused with Uncle Henry, who was a nephew to the Henry brother of Jacob. He had a little daughter named Martha Ann, just like ours.

On to Carmi I found out that their records had burned, which seems the case in most places. But they did have some. I found that Sarah Maricle's death was recorded but not Jacobs. Neither was there any record of George's death. I did see a history of the county which gave the information that the Maricles, some of them at least, lived first in Wayne County and then settled in White County. The librarian at Carmi was insistent that I see a local woman who is a professional in searching names and genealogies. This I did and have the first report but little that I did not know and nothing about the dates of death of Jacob and George, their places of birth or country of origin. At Carmi I did find that death records begin with 1877 and I have reason to believe that George died in the early 1850s and Jacob between 1857-59. The last record I could find that placed Jacob Maricle was in connection with the will of his brother Henry. Jacob was a witness to the will when it was drawn in June of 1850 and he probated the will Oct. 28, 1850. Thus Henry drew a will just before he died. There were no records of wills by either Jacob or George. Later in the abstract of the old farm I found proof that neither George nor Jacob had left wills.

The professional searchers at Carmi wanted me to go and see a man in Mill Shoals which I did. (Here it seems that some notes are missing or not with the thing I brought with me, hence the name has escaped me. But it was a name of one of the families that I remember being told about as a kid along with the Newbys and Files).
This gentleman was very interesting and knew about what others had told me but did not have any information about Jacob or before. He did send me to two others. One elderly gentleman I called upon in the early evening and he told me that he had heard I was about and inferred by his remark that he expected me to come and talk with him. He, too, knew the general knowledge but not back far enough. The other person for me to see was a Mrs. Adams and through her I got my greatest amount of information.

Before I go on let me say that I searched the Shrewsbury Cemetery near "Ill Shoals and found five more Maricle plots but none in our direct line. I also went to the Thackery Cemetery just over the line in Wayn County, which is known as "the Maricle Cemetery" although there were no Maricle buried there and none could tell me why the reference to the Maricle name.

The answer was given to me by Lee Maricle why I did not find graves marked for Jacob and George. There had been a private burying ground on the old farm and as it was not separately deeded the later owners had farmed over the burying ground. The same thing had happened at the farm of his grandfather and great grandfather which was south of our Maricles place that was finally sold out of the family by Uncle Henry.

Back to Mrs. Adams. She was, so she told me right away, a Neshy. That meant a good bit to her and in that community. She warmed to my inquiry and said I must talk with her son who now owned the old Maricle farm by the west Antioch Church. She had seen the abstract that was drawn to clear the title when he purchased the farm and knew there was a good bit of information. She telephoned her son and found that he was on the way to her place so I waited. He was enthusiastic. Said he would go to his office, open the safe and show me the abstract. He is a manufacturer, formerly in Chicago, of rings for large record books, with his plant in this little town of about 600. The abstract was about a half inch thick with tightly typed pages. I started to look it over and make some notes. He waited patiently but I knew I was keeping him. He insisted I take the abstract for as long as I wished to see it and finally after much urging on his part I did take it. Here I was a total stranger. The common tie was that his sister had become much interested in antiques and old family records so he knew how absorbing such could be. This Abstract gave me much more than I can write now. I took it to the motel, copied steadily that night and the next morning getting back to his office about ten and then on my way. It was here that I established beyond a doubt that our great grandfather was the son of George. Since the abstract part having to do with the sale by Uncle Henry was drawn in 1870 and since Jacob his father and George his grandfather had both died without a will, the sons daughters and their heirs were all spelled out there. I found out that Grandfather Harvey and Sarah his wife sold their inheritance to Uncle Henry and it was all recorded there, I thought at the time I was getting more than I really did get. It happens that those who were still living were not detailed as those who had died leaving heirs. But in this I find that Jacob outlived his father George and took over the farm from George. Then Uncle Henry took over the farm from his father Jacob. Jacob never cleared the title as he never sold it, but a part of it was deeded to him directly from the U. S. government anyway. The big find was, however, that George was Jacob's father as I had assumed. Further, I assume that Jacob died shortly before mid 1850 for there were several deeds then when Uncle Henry began buying out the other heirs. That together with the fact he appeared in the 1850 census aged 67 and living with him was George, aged 26, that neither are in the 1860 census but Jacob's wife with members of the family including Uncle Henry do appear in the 1860 census, gives me the decade of Jacob's death. The deeds would seem to indicate early 1850 or just before. I shall continue to be very grateful to Mr. Stanley J. Adams who placed such trust in me, a stranger, in letting me take the valuable abstract. It was a very long and involved one and would have cost several hundred dollars to replace.
Mr. Stanley J. Adams had suggested that I stop by the old home and look it over. I was glad he did for I was about to ask for that privilege. So after leaving the West Antioch Church Cemetery for the previous day my film had not been turning in the camera. His wife was expecting me and was in fact hunting up the pictures of the old home as it was when they bought the place and before it had been modernized. It had been a fairly large, plain and simple home. There had been a center doorway and steep stairs right by the front door going up the middle of the house. Two windows were on each side of the door on the first and second stories, as I remember. In the back of it was the very old log house with a good sized porch that was obviously the old pioneer home in 1837. I felt and that it had been removed, and I think they did too since I was there to see the old home, but they had moved the house back on the plot away from the road, modernized the home and added a sort of a sun room wing to the side in which they had many plants. The wife offered to take me through the home but as it had been so changed I did not go through it. They had added a large fireplace, the old home not having one. She showed me pictures of the log house and the old home before they began to do work on it and offered to let me take them and get reproductions. I wish I had, but did say that I might write and get them if I ever needed them. The whole family were most cordially and friendly and made me want to return to visit them again.

Oil had been found in the region and on the old Maricle farm, too. Mr. Adams had told me that the payment for the oil rights before they started to drill was better than the return from the oil. There was only a small amount of oil and it was pretty well used up. A pool had been made near the old barn and a sign 'no fishing' so I suppose it was stocked. The farm buildings had not been too well kept up yet a garage and a shed seemed to be much later than the other buildings. Mr. Adams farms the 180 acres after work in the evenings and on weekends. (I can imagine what the Nebr. farmers are saying to that). He does have four children that I saw, the oldest a chunky boy about ready to do a day's work on a tractor. They are obviously a happy family and glad to have the farm. He is going to develop the land, which has not been done yet; said he got about sixty bushels of corn per acre without irrigation but that his sister who had improved her place was getting regularly one hundred bushels per acre. After I had gone on my way I wished that I had gone out over the farm a bit, but I could see from the road that it was rolling land, some clay, and looked to be good soil but not to compare with Northern Ill.

On my way again I stopped to see the newspaper men in Grayville who had been so interested and told them what I had found about the dates of the death of both George and Jacob. They told me: I was at liberty to see their old files as much as I wished but that they doubted very much that records of deaths that far away in the county would be recorded and that in those days they gave little information. So I did not search the newspaper files. Thus, what I had hoped to find out by going there, namely, the dates of death of both George and Jacob, then finding the newspaper record with information about the places of birth of each, did not exist. Neither did the county records show very much. But I was more than satisfied with what I had found out and pleased to have seen the old spots. I wished that my father could have been with me.

Then I headed for West Virginia but on the way I stopped at Rochester Mills. It was here, my father had told me, that Grandma Maricle had had a saw mill on the Wabash and from that work he went to Nebr. There is little left to the town of Rochester Mills as a town. No mill or industry. It is now known as Rochester. Again I went down to the Wabash and it is probably here more than in Grayville that Father had played as a boy. I could see the old canal beside the river where I assume water for power had been taken from the river at a higher elevation. Right along the river they were pumping oil constantly. I do not know, but the appearance was that the oil was somewhat more productive here. I had intended not to be in a hurry on this trip, but as I was a day later than I had expected to be and not wanting to miss West Virginia all together, I hurried along at this point and did not stop to visit with more than one local person. From there I drove through Mt. Carmel which was the 'city to which my father had gone as a boy and was on my way again.

I went to Northern West Virginia, near Morgantown, to the little hamlet of Miracle Run. In our Washington D.C. search we had seen a reference to the fact that this was named for a John Hericle, who whatever the spelling, had gotten title to the land following the Revolutionary War, by right of settlement and improvement of the land in 1773. I am searching for any information that this John may have been the father of George, our great, great grandfather. This fact is not established. The dates, as I have them, make it possible. George was born in 1755 and he would have been eighteen years of age in 1773. This is the nearest I have been able to find of the arrival of the man in Virginia, then West Virginia, now. But I repeat that this is only a conjecture to be explored and nothing more.

Again I had a good time at Miracle Run. There are two forks of Miracle Run, a small stream, and it was significant that in both forks and as I approached the early settler for whom the area is named. In one of the forks there is a little country store and a Miracle Run Methodist Church. The storekeeper knew the man as anyone with whom I spoke. He said that he understood the first home of John Hericle was right in the area of his store. I asked in answer to my question if he knew anything about the man for whom the place was named, "he must have been a fellow to get all this area named for him". But he knew of no one who could give more than he could, now that his father had died a year ago. His name was Mr. Lawley. This is a mountainous area and not much tractor farming that I could see. I think it would be great deer hunting country. I took some pictures of the old church and a road sign. I could not locate any name by any of the spellings in the cemetery.

I stopped in Morgantown to go over the county records and more important was to talk with the University professor, Dr. E. L. Core, who had been the one quoted in the book we had read about Miracle Run in our Washington search. Unfortunately he was away teaching at another summer school and so I could not locate him for information. I may write him yet. Then I really headed for home, called up Margie in Washington and told her I was going to pass her by this time as I was in a hurry and she was due to be with us in her vacation. I arrived home in the wee hours having taken out time, unwillingly for a traffic fine, and again when I became so sleepy I had to nap.

One incident I forget in Miracle Run is that a little church had celebrated a centennial and a young man had written up the history of the church. I was advised to go there and see him, which I did. He was apparently a fellow who had inherited wealth, seemed to have little vocation except to watch over others who worked his farm, a studious type and very cultured. There I saw a county history of Monongalia County and the story of the settlement by a John Hericle was confirmed but nothing about his origin or what became of him.

And just to keep the searching desire alive I find a George Mericle, rather Miracle, as a Revolutionary soldier from Penn. and no other information as of yet. Was George would have been 21 and right for military service. Is it so??? Also in 1750 the good ship Edinburg brought from Portsmouth England but really from Rotterdam a Jacob Mericle and a Simon Mericle. And in 1752 came from Rotterdam by way of England a Hans Jacob Merckel. These all came into the Philadelphia port. H. J. is just across the river and a little and our George, born in H. J. in 1755, and could he have been the son of one of these families from Rotterdam? Did the family live for long in Penn. and where? Who was the first one and how did they get to Virginia if they did not come into a southern port? And so it goes. Do any of you know of a foundation that would finance this search. I would like to continue it and probably will but it takes time and something else too.

I will add these observations. I do not see any chance that our line could have come from Hessian soldiers. If the record is correct that George was born in N. J. in 1755, that places the family here pre-war. The Penn. Dutch were really Germans and this info re the families from Rotterdam would make one spelling of the name at least really Dutch and this would not square with the reports about Penn. Dutch in our ancestry, unless on the non-Maricle side. The spelling of the name does not trouble me as much as it did for I have seen so many spellings of the same name in authentic government records, as many as six for the same person. It was common for names to be given to scribes who would write as it sounded and who with this name has not had it spelled many different ways. There were many names spelled to sound like Maricle in the list of Revolutionary War soldiers which also tends to make the name an old one in this country. Also, I find a group of our name going back to revolutionary times in New York and a line spelling it now Horicle in Virginia and south to Florida. The name is not as common as we may have thought.

I shall welcome any information about our known ancestors, or about other Maricles with names and addresses. I just, today, received a reply from the Carson C. Maricle in Portland Oregon and he does not know about the generations of George and Jacob that I am seeking information about. There was nothing in his letter about the old family bible and perhaps has not checked with his daughter who has the bible.

Leonard F. Maricle, as a boy of 13, with his parents Harvey and Amira and his brothers Claude 11 and Carson 5, came to Boone County in 1871. In 1879, Leonard filed on (W1/2 NW1/4 18-19-5) as a timber claim and planted five acres of walnuts. He built a house, 16' x 24', and married Fannie Bowman Nov. 8, 1883. They had two sons, Carl and Clarence. Early in 1887, a diphtheria epidemic claimed the lives of Fannie and Carl.

Later Leonard married Sarah Bowman Oct. 27, 1897. They moved into the house 1 1/2 miles west of Boone. They had four sons, Raymond 1899 and Neal 1900 and two younger sons who died in infancy. Raymond and Neal graduated from Albion High School and Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Clarence, 1886-1943, married Lulu Mansfield, 1890-1980, in 1909. Their children, Edwin, Orville, Frances and Patricia, all graduated from Albion High School. Edwin married Goldie Murphy in 1934. Neal, graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan and later got a doctoral degree. He worked 32 years with the YMCA in Honolulu, northeast USA and Chile, South America. Then he was with a fund raising corporation. He and Martha Knight were married in 1928 and now live in Danbury, Conn. They are the parents of twins, Martha Ann and Donald, born May 20, 1934. Martha Ann is a government employee in San Francisco, and Donald is a scientist in Hartford, Conn. Donald also has a doctoral degree. He and his wife, Priscilla, have three sons, Steven, Peter and Timothy.

I have tried to give a short sketch of the Leonard Maricle Family. There have been Maricles in Boone County ever since its beginning in 1871. We have been an ordinary family. Most of us have been affiliated with the Methodist Church.

Personally, I was in the educational profession for six years and came back to the farm in 1928 and retired in 1973.

With the blessing of all our children, Olive Papez and I were married June 23, 1979. We are happily living these mature years at 917 W. Fourth St., Albion, Ne.
AT THE OLD FARMSTEAD IN BOONE COUNTY NEBRASKA

by

Raymond F. Maricle

February 2, 1974
I have kindled an open fire in our Franklin stove in our country kitchen in our old house, the oldest house standing in Boone County, and always in possession of the Maricle family. I have built the fire with wood from an old Box Elder tree which Claude Maricle planted for his mother, my grandmother, when he was yet a boy which must make the tree between 90 and 100 years old. It stood at the edge of the driveway between the house and the driveway not far from the well whose cool pure water has quenched so many thirsty throats. This Box Elder was no stately tree standing sentinel, but at least it stood in observation as the generations of peoples passed in and out this friendly lane. It was a forked tree whose gentle trunk small children climbed. The trunk is hollow now and no longer is it clothed with green leaves in springtime. So now it makes its last contribution to man by warming his body and bones. My grandchildren climbed that tree and read aloud their children's stories from children's books. Boards were layed across it's branches and lunches were carried up and eaten there. For several years that tree has not been an item of beauty in the general landscape but each discussion of it's removal has been met with unison protest from those same grandchildren, now beyond the age of tree climbing. I feel almost a traitor to now reap this final good from what has been such a familiar tree.

I sit here in meditation before the fire. The Franklin stove-fireplace sits on a platform of brick made from a clay bank beside an old water hole on this farm. The water hole is filled now with the silt of a hundred years and the clay bank is a gentle hummock. I look across the other side of the fire and there sits the old Morris Chair which was my grandfather's and now is mine, with it's solid frame and reclining back. The chair is sturdy and old but it's cushions, back, and seat are of foam rubber. I'm sitting on a low ladder back chair, hand crafted, with it's rope woven seat all dating back to early pioneer days.

Beyond that Morris chair sits our round oak extension dining table which my wife and I bought fifty-one years ago today, when we set up housekeeping in Osceola, Neb., after we were married. We keep it as the best place for family to gather around us. We spent $288.00 that day and we had dining table and chairs and rug for our dining room; bed-davenport, chair, and rug for our living room; dresser and complete bed for our bedroom; a round oak heater to warm our little four-room house. The kitchen was equipped with a kerosene stove and a cold water faucet. Things were simple those days. Now sitting around that table are oak chairs which belonged to my father and mother and must be at least a dozen years older than the table.
Beyond the dining center sits an old dry sink which my grandmother used as a kitchen sink and we use as a planter, a place for plants. It was fashioned from lumber used for boxing crates when the Maricles moved from Illinois to pioneer in Nebraska in 1871. The circular saw marks still show a little but when it was cleaned up and refinished it makes a beautiful walnut planter. Imagine packing boxes of walnut?

If I turn my back to the fire, I'll see an electric range, hot and cold water at the sink, a freezer-refrigerator, and electricity to dispell the morning darkness. The Franklin stove itself is flanked by automatic washer and drier. A furnace sends warm air to every room. So in these surroundings I sit in contentment as I await the stirrings of my household, my good wife and her lovely mother.

What plan and circumstance has brought us to this land? Harvey Maricle, my grandfather, brought his wife and three sons to the prairie of Boone County in 1871. An old day book of his for the years 1851-52 tells us a little about him and records some of the work he did as a wagon maker. Inside the front cover is this inscription: "March 30, 1851; Harvey Maricle, his book" and inside the back cover his name appears again with this notation: "Commandments ten, God gave to men." Inside the book on page 55, following a leaf torn out, he has this to say about himself, copied as written:

"Harvey Maricle was bornd January the 5th 1827 in the state of virginia greenbrier County where I lived with my parents until my eighth year when my parents moved to Smith County Tennessee in the fall of 35 where we lived too years and in the fall of 37 we moved to White County Illinois and settled in the woods and cleared us a farm where I lived until I was of age. I then left home to try my fortune in the world. I went to Grayville where I commenced wagon making for a living. I worked at that for about 4 years when I commenced house carpentering."

Here is a story told by my Father of one of those migrations from Virginia. Several wagons had started together. When the first Sunday came some wanted to go on and some wanted to observe the Sabbath and rest horses, oxen and men. So the group was divided. The Maricles rested the Sabbath Day. In mid-week those who had rested passed those who had no rest. On each Sabbath the seven-day travelers caught up with the Sabbath-keepers and after this fashion, week by week, arrived at their destination together. And a hundred years later, during the great depression and drought, I've known his grandson, Earl, by the light of an autumn moon, to shock sorghum forage until midnight Saturday, observe a twenty-four hour Sabbath, and at 12:01 Monday morning, begin again to set those shocks in orderly rows.

Another day book shows plainly the work of a wagon maker for the years of 1852 and 1853. A two horse wagon sold for $20.00 to $22.00 and a singletree sold for 10¢. A buggy running gear sold for $22.00. One of the more interesting items was a 16-foot length of walnut plank for 32¢. Then in April of 1856 appears his first work at the carpenter trade and continues thus 1857 and 1858. We know that in May of 1857
he and Sarah Almira Knowles were united in marriage so he must have been a carpenter at this time.

An old tax receipt from Wabash County for the year 1860 lists his property as follows:

Personal property $71.00 value  tax 1.42
W 1/2 NE 1/4 Sec. 10, town 2S, range 13W, 80 @ $800.00  tax 16.16 17.58

From an order of the County Court of Wabash County, dated Wednesday, March 6th, A.D. 1861, we excerpt the following: "Ordered that Harvey Mericle be appointed supervisor of road district No. nineteen (19)." "Ordered that road district No. nineteen (19) be bounded as follows: to wit: Commencing on the Wabash River where the section line between sections 1 & 12, Town 2 S, R 13 West strikes the same. Thence west on section line to the northwest corner of section nine (9) in said Township. Thence south on the section line between sections 8 & 9 to the Wabash River.
Thence with the course of the river to the place of beginning."

So, by comparing his land title with the road district boundary we know that the land he owned must have been a little more or less than two miles west of the Wabash River. Family lore tells that he also operated a saw mill for a time. We have also been told that he suffered severely from ague, which of course today would be called malaria. Ague seems to have been common to this flat marshy forest land which since has been tiled and drained and is now open productive fields.
Family lore also says his call to the Union during the Civil War was satisfied by the forfeit of $500 at a time when he was suffering severely with ague. And the ague was responsible for his looking for a drier climate away from marshes and river bottom land.

On March 17, 1871, Harvey (44) and Sarah A. (33) Maricle each took out a life insurance policy for $1,000.00 with the AEtna Life Insurance Company and in two months time he was on his way in search of a new homestead. The bill of sale of his property, prior to his leaving, lists 2 cows, $24.00 and $26.00, some tools of his trade and numerous household items. The whole sale amounted to $106.30.

The Homestead Act had an especial appeal to those men looking for new land. The movement was westward and Harvey Maricle was among those adventurous men. He had watched and helped his family carve a farm out of a virgin forest. Now, he at 44 and his wife at 33 with three young sons were prepared to pioneer in new country. Leaving his family behind, Harvey Maricle headed west intending to look for land in Kansas. Being told enroute that "the very dogs shook with ague" in Kansas, he headed northwest into what he hoped would be a higher drier climate free from ague. Boone County was this year, 1871, being opened to homesteaders and he came into the county in May of that year. The first settlers had established themselves in Boone County on April 13, 1871.

Harvey Maricle wanted land on the second bottom secure from the damp of river bottom land. He acquired for himself one quarter section by right of pre-emption and one quarter section as a homestead. Pre-emption required a payment of $2.00 per acre while a homestead required 5 years residence and development.

The land is described as follows: E 1/2 SW 1/4 and W 1/2 SE 1/4 Sec. 7 Town 19 Range 5 and E 1/2 NW 1/4 and W 1/2 NE 1/4 Sec. 18 Town 19 Range 5 Boone Co. Nebr. Here he established himself on May 25, 1871 and began the erection of a house with lumber hauled from Columbus. The house was completed and the family arrived and moved into their new home at summer's end. Thus was established the pioneer home of Harvey Maricle, his wife Sarah Almira, and their three sons, Leonard, 13; Claude, 11; and Carson, 5.

Near by was a water hole with clear pure water, into which the water flowed for four or five days after a rain as it filtered through the grasses of the valleys and the higher table land. The land was one wide expanse of grass from the Beaver Creek to the Cedar. The grasses most common were the Short Bluestem and the Long Bluestem. The merits of each were supported by the pioneers according to their individual preference. The only trees were in the sheltered coves along the creek where they were protected from prairie fires. Prairie fires, whether set by lightning strike or careless act of man, were a common threat to all early settlers. The pioneers early learned to protect themselves with a fire guard by plowing strips around their home sites and garden plots.

The county had been surveyed the previous year and on July 28, 1871, the County Judge of Platte County appointed the first commissioners for Boone County. There were John Hammond,
S.P. Bollman, and Harvey Maricle. And their first meeting was held in this homestead. On the 26th day of August, 1871, these men met at the Harvey Maricle house and decided the first election should be held in the first Tuesday in January of 1872. So Harvey Maricle early took part in the life and action in Boone County.

I have been told that first winter was bitter and severe. The climate was advertised to be mild and comfortable but the winter itself proved the reality of Nebraska winters. The house was framed and roofed and sided, but had no interior walls. Without windbreaks or shelter of any kind the wintry storms had easy access to this pioneer home. The cold winds and snows penetrated its shallow walls and with scarce fuel the family spent a miserable first winter.

The Maricles seem never to have used oxen in Boone County. The first horses were a team of Indian ponies which were used to break the sod and make the necessary trips to Columbus for provisions. Driving to Columbus and back was a two-day trip, staying over night in Columbus. A heavy load might require an over night stop in Genoa on the Indian reservation. A high bluff along side a watering hole northwest of Genoa was often a rest stop. Here the horses were watered and given their noon-day feeding. A climb to the top of the bluff would give a view of home on a clear day. The road passed through the Indian reservation but these were peaceful times and the early settlers were not bothered with Indian raids. The Indians came up and down the valley on hunting trips and on occasion made bows and arrows for Carson Maricle, then in his pre-teen years.
There is a story of a band of Pawnee Indians going north on foot into Sioux territory to steal ponies. Ten days or two weeks later they came back heading south to their own reservation, still walking. When asked why they did not steal ponies from the Sioux, their spokesman placed one finger in the palm of his other hand and explained "ponies." Then he dotted a ring around the ponies and said "Sioux", so with two words he told the whole story.

This first team of two Indian ponies hitched to a breaking plow turned the sod for the first crops. Breaking the sod became a part of the life of every pioneer homesteader. A certain amount of tillage was a part of the contract for proving up on a claim. This tillage required a certain kind of plow with a long gently curved molboard that would turn the sod upside down in long smooth furrows. The success of the plowing was dependent on the skill of the operator in keeping the blade sharp with hammer and file. With the Indian ponies hitched to the plow a man or boy walked in the furrow with a hand clasped on either plow handle. As a boy of fourteen or fifteen, Leonard Maricle gave himself the credit for doing the most of the plowing.

In harness these ponies were well behaved, but riding them was a different matter. They had to be taken to a watering hole a short distance east to drink and what was more natural to a boy than to ride one and lead the other. The one which was nicest to ride was the one hardest to sit. Leonard, my father, told me that he never was able to stay astride him when he decided to buck. He always landed gently on his shoulder. After each fall, pony and boy began a new ride.
"The Early Settlers" is an apt description of those men and women who first came to live in this new land. Here was no gold strike or mining bonanza, no forest to plunder for its rich woods. There was nothing here for hordes of adventurous and greedy men to exploit. Men came with their wives and families, single men too, sometimes with a girl's promise and a prayer from back home. From different locations and with diverse heritages, they came with a single purpose, to live and have a home on their own land in this new country. Homes were always open to the weary traveler and the Maricle home, on the main traveled route entertained many a man in want of food and rest. No doubt many a traveler was sincerely grateful for that hospitality, but the best stories come from the unusual. One man dropped his fork on the floor. And when Grandmother wanted to get him another, he said, "Oh, no, it's just as clean as it was before." Grandmother was nonplused. She just let him eat with it. Another man who evidently lived with a cliche or two on the tip of his tongue pushed his chair back from a well-laden table and said with appreciation, "Oh, that was good, what there was of it." Then having embarrassed himself he tried to do better by saying "There was plenty of it, such as it was." So far as I could ever learn he was still welcome the next time he came by.

So this old house became a meeting place of community and church affairs. W.J. Nelson, a man active in county and church affairs, seems to have been a narrator of early activities in Boone County. We quote from Mr. Nelson, "During the summer and fall of 1871, Rev. S.P. Bollman raised the standard of Methodism by preaching at different points in the settlement." There was not a church nor a school house in the county so the preaching took place in the homes of the early settlers. Preaching on this basis was voluntary and it is likely that no offerings were taken. W.J. Nelson has this to say in "Early Reminiscences" in the 25th anniversary number of the Albion Weekly News. "Some of the early settlers will remember how on a Sabbath morn Father Bollman and I went to church at Harvey Maricle's. Mr. Bollman drove his young team to my house and I hitched his young team to the tongue and my big oxen in the lead, with high spring seat, fish pole and lash on it, dressed in suit of broadcloth and silk plug hat, I drove to Boone to church. I did this out of mischief. We talked and laughed and wondered what Bollman's Pennsylvania friends and my Ohio friends would say if they had seen us on that bright Sunday morning. I remember how Maricle, Bowman, King, Stevens and others looked when I pulled up in front of Maricles and yelled 'Whoa!' I'm sure I felt too mischievous that day to pray very seriously."

But the early preaching services were irregular and generally speaking the Sunday Schools were better established. These were non-denominational and supported by a small community, holding weekly services and accepting a preaching service whenever a preacher was available. There is a story here. I do not know what denominational preference Grandmother had in those days. She was a Methodist when I knew her. Grandfather was a charter member of the Congregational Church in Albion and never changed. But Grandmother was one of the sponsors of the community Sunday School. On a Sunday when Grandmother could not be present, a traveling Methodist preacher held a preaching service also and took advantage of the opportunity to organize the Sunday School as a Methodist Sunday School. His excuse or reason for doing so was that if he didn't organize quite a few new Sunday Schools they would send him where there was more grass next year. Grandmother was displeased and she was quoted as saying that if she had been there it would not have happened.

When organized Methodism came to the county, Boone was one of the stations on the circuit. It remained a preaching point as churches were developed in the towns and was an out­point of the Albion Church when in 1895 it organized as an independent Methodist Church with a preacher of its own. It operated as a single church for about twenty years when it was dissolved and its membership was transferred to the Albion Methodist Church.

In the first year of settlement the land was fast being taken. Land was plentiful and men were looking for homesteads. Grandfather had said that the hills between the Beaver and the Cedar would furnish all the grass for all the cattle he could ever raise. But before the generations of heifers could produce a beef herd all the land was taken up.

Early mail into the community was a matter of neighborly accommodation on the part of anyone going to Columbus and back. But in March of 1872 a postmaster was appointed for Boone. The official appointment reads as follows:

"Post Office Department Appointment Office, March 28, 1872, Sir: The Post Master General has ordered the establishment of a Post Office at Boone, in the County of Boone and the state of Nebraska, and the appointment of Harvey Maricle as Post­master thereof. I have the honor to be, Very Respectfully,

Your obedient servant

J.W. Marshall

First Assistant Postmaster General"

The Post Office was maintained in the Maricle home until the coming of the railroad when it was transferred to Boone.

With the County having been organized and the commis­sioners appointed and functioning the establishment of a county seat became of prime importance. Primarily two locations were being considered. Grandfather proposed a cite on his north quarter, W 1/2 SE 1/4 (7) (19) (5), and Loran Clark promoted a cite on his wife's land, NW 1/4 (22) (20) (6). Feeling ran a little high. Those in this area and in Beaver (now Saint Edward) favored the Maricle location and those in Hammond (now Albion) favored the Clark location. The stories I heard in my boyhood led me to believe there was considerable see-sawing back and forth on the decision, and that Grandfather was always straightforward and forthright while Loran Clark resorted to skulduggery. It just happened that before coming to Nebraska, Loran Clark has been a mining promoter in Colorado, so his experience may have given him a slight advantage. The third meeting of the commissioners was held at John Hammond's house for the purpose of choosing a location but no agreement was reached.

Harvey Maricle had a plat made and stakes driven for a town cite and some information says he had mailed a copy to Lincoln to the legislature to be on file. Word of mouth information says that Loran Clark, having become alarmed, hastened to Lincoln and got a resolution passed by the legislature declaring the county seat to be in Sec. (22) (20) (6). Records seem to show that there was an election on October 12, 1872, that settled the matter in Loran Clark's favor. Word of mouth stories again say that the election was held in this house, and that partisans of both sides patrolled outside the house to make sure no illegal votes were cast. Stories vary about the naming of the county seat. Some say it was determined by the outcome of a card game late at night. Another story says it was a compromise between the two names "Albion" and "Manchester." Finally the town was named Albion and the precinct, Manchester.

Again quoting records we read,

"Therefore it was ordered and proclaimed that the above named Albion located on the Northwest quarter section (22) (20) (6) west of the 6th P.M. as shown by plat filed October 5, A.D., 1872, and acknowledged October 9, 1872, by Loran Clark and Elizabeth B. Clark his wife, be and the same is hereby proclaimed the County Seat of Boone County State of Nebraska. By order of the County Commissioners. This 28th day of Oct., A.D., 1872.

William J. Nelson County Clark"

So that story is told, some truth and possibly some fiction.

Grasshoppers were a real threat in those early years. Those green gardens and small fields were a succulent banquet table for the grasshoppers when the mid-summer sun began to dry the prairie grasses. Some writers intimate that the grasshoppers were not very abundant after all, but when all the grasshoppers for acres around had congregated on one small garden the devastation could be and often was complete. Then too there seems to have been army grasshoppers in those days swarming over the land thick enough to darken the sun. They would descend on a green field, feast a day or two, and fly away leaving only bare ground and stubby stalks. Early references seem to indicate '73 and '74 were the worst grasshoppers years.

This story is told how the Maricles saved a potato patch. A boy walked along either side of the potato patch with a long rope stretched between them. The rope was allowed to ruffle the tops of the potato plants and by walking back and forth often enough the grasshoppers were prevented from devouring the potato crop. These were very discouraging years, some people quit and went "back home." Grandfather remarked that he could not afford to leave after he had invested $500 in a house.

A calamity seems to have hit the Maricles some time in the winter of 1874-1875. I had been told that when one of the Indian ponies died it was a serious loss. Too late to ask questions I discovered this subscription list:

"Boone, Nebraska, Feb. 17th, 1875. We the undersigned agree to give the amount in cash set opposite our several names towards the purchase of a horse for Harvey Maricle, he having lost one of his team and is not situated to purchase another without some assistance." Twenty-one names follow and they read like a roster of the early community. The amount raised seems to be $23.55. Such spirit is commendable and the Maricles must have appreciated it.
In his book "The Sod House," Dr. Cass G. Barns tells of coming to Nebraska and Boone County in November, 1878. He tells of having had a circular from Adam Smith and the B & M Railroad extolling the merits of their Boone County holdings. Developing new lands demand transportation and the railroads were allotted designated sections to help defray the cost of building railroads. The first effort of the railroad to meet the needs of Boone County was to build a graded wagon road leading toward a rail connection. Adam Smith had the contract for this graded road, the first in Boone County, and was paid at least in part with railroad land. Incidentally, he came to live in the big house on the farm he developed a half mile west of St. Edward. This graded road leading south-easterly from northwest of Albion became the main traveled route to the railroad, and was known as "The Grade" during the years of my youth.

Dr. Barns says he had arrived in Silver Creek late in the evening on that November day in 1878 and that Harvey Maricle had just arrived with a load of wheat hauled in a grain tight wagon box rather than in sacks as was the Hoosier custom. He mentions that the grain was left standing over night until the elevator opened next morning with no loss. History tells us that Harvey Maricle marketed the first wheat from the county but it is unlikely that this was his first load.

The County was developing fast and it became evident that the potential was greater than the graded road would support. The original survey assumed that if and when a railroad was built, it would follow the grade but a later survey suggested a lower route. In 1879 Boone County voted a $33,000 bond issue to help secure a railroad. The railroad was built and began train service in 1880.

The Boone County Argus of Aug. 25, 1876, carried thirteen advertisements for goods and services in Boone County and an equal number from Columbus. The issue of Nov. 23, 1883, carried 54 ads from Boone County and none from Columbus. So we assume the railroad made Boone County self-sustaining.

Building the road bed for the railroad was quite a task and offered opportunity for many men to find employment. It was work for man and team to operate a slip scaper. Leonard Maricle was one of those men. He was 21 years old, had filed on his homestead claim of 80 acres adjacent to his father's land, and was ready to make a start on his own. He bought his first team and my memory seems to say he paid for them with his railroad money. I do remember he told me the grading boss never wanted a team to stop moving but he didn't care how slow they walked.

Father's first team was Fred and Flora and he claimed they were a good team. Fred was a blaze faced sorrel with white main and tail and Flora was a sorrel with dark main and tail. From Flora's offspring came a long line of good horses. It seemed to be Father's plan to give each son a mare colt and let the son keep one colt from her. All his sons got their first horses from this line of descent. The first of this line that I remember was Zoe. Zoe had Betsy, Dick, Topsy, Fred and Ned. Betsy had Queen, Prince and Charley. So Clarence had Betsy and Queen. Prince was a beautiful gray gelding, sold in 1910 to a commercial horse buyer. Mr. T.B. Bowman said Prince was one of the lead horses in Swift's six horse hitch showing at Chicago International Livestock show when he was showing Perchons there later. Topsy had Ted, Flora, Maid and Bell. Maid and her first colt were mine and Neal had Bell and her first colt Prince. Clarence took Queen and Topsey with him to his homestead in Wyoming in 1913. I drove Ted to high school as a young horse but somehow after Neal and I were through high school we always called him Old Ted. He lived 18 more years of good life and I buried him on the hillside where my father Leonard had his dug-out while homesteading his 80 acre claim.

Father had filed on his claim when he was 21 and had a dug-out where he kept a stove and a crude bed to establish residence. With a change in National administration the rules on homesteading were given a more strict interpretation and just in case some residence requirements might be in question the homestead right was surrendered and a timber claim right was taken and he began again to prove up on the 80. He planted 5 acres of walnuts in rows eight feet apart and spaced eight feet in the row. Some replacements were made with catalpa. But I remember that walnut grove, row on row of walnuts. We are on the outer edge of the walnut zone and on that well drained hill side they did not grow large or live long. They were mostly gone in fifty years. They got to be about the right size for fence posts and we used some for fuel. Some walnut we used for lumber grew on lower ground and were large enough for sawing.
The broken pieces of brick that used to be seen in the field that was the curing yard for the old brick yard have all disappeared now and gone back to the soil. When I was a boy cultivating corn in that field, I had the visual evidence of the old brick yard that used to be. The brick yard was situated on a clay bank east of the road and just at the south edge of the old watering hole where a large cottonwood tree now stands. The old journal to which I go for my information carries this notation: "Commenced moulding brick Sept. 16, 1879."

Grandfather Harvey Maricle and E.F. Farmer seem to have been partners in the brick making business. The records show the Maricles received some pay for labor but whatever contribution made by E.F. Farmer, it was not labor. To be honest, the records do show that he helped stand the expense of labor. In one place, there is a notation of loads of sand hauled. It reads: "1880, April 28, Carsey II; May 5, Leonard IIII II-III-I; May 6, Claudius IIIII IIIIII." There is no charge for either sand or labor so one must presume both were free and likely the sand was from the creek bed.

The journal shows that from Feb. 10, 1880, to May 18, 1881, the total amount of business was $1,462.28. Brick sold for one cent apiece. One of the larger orders was from Loran Club for 4,500 brick for which he paid $45.00. Other buyers were School District No. 65 of Platte County and School District No. 4 of Boone County. From May 19, 1881, to May 20, 1882, the volume of business was $1,059.39. The records do not show operation of the brick yard after October, 1883. In the closing pages of the journal there appears what seems to be a general summing up of the brick making venture.

Total receipts by H.M. $2,434.61
Paid out by H.M. 1,742.28 692.33

This appears to be the profit from three years of brick making.

The brick from this yard was used to make a lot of foundations for homes, schools and churches. A house built of this brick still stands high on State Street in Albion. The foundation of this house on the farm and the walls of the basement are of homemade brick. In an effort to make the house warmer, the walls of the original house were interlined with brick. This makes it very difficult to install electric wiring and impossible to use walls for heating ducts. A few of these brick have been carried to the eastern seaboard into Connecticut by Don and Priscilla Maricle to have and to hold as souvenirs of what was once a small Maricle industry.

You have read in your history books that the 1880's were a time of political unrest. There was the Populist Movement and the National Farmers Alliance. I have come upon a charter of the National Farmers Alliance. It read:

"State of Nebraska United States of America

National Farmers Alliance

To all to whom these presents may come, Greetings

The Nebraska State Farmers Alliance

of the United States of America, do hereby grant unto:

C.H. West A.J. Barney
John Kopfer L.F. Maricle
of the Precinct of Boone, County of Boone, State of Nebraska this charter, under which the said parties are authorized as a Farmers Alliance, under the name of the Boone Farmers Alliance No. 1195 of the State of Nebraska."

The charter goes on with some more fine print and is properly signed and dated Feb. 21, 1880, and imprinted with the seal of the Nebraska State Farmers Alliance. I also found these minutes of one of their meetings:

"Alliance met at six o'clock July 7-81. Meeting called to order with N.C. Kilborn in the chair. Moved and seconded that H. Maricle, N.C. Kilborn, and W.R. Lapham be appointed delegates to attend the delegate Alliance to meet in Albion Saturday July 9-81. Adjourned to meet Saturday July 23-81. L.F. Maricle Sec'y pro tem."

Most young people liked to go to Church Sunday night where the crowd gathered. Leonard Maricle owned a young team and wagon frequently filled with young folks attending Sunday night services in Albion. Pride in their horses led some young men to test the speed of their teams. There was such a young man with a fast team who delighted in speeding past another team and then slowing down to a walk until the back team tried to pass when there was another horse race. This sort of thing gets to be very annoying. So Father gave his team a little special training. There came a Sunday night when the crowd in his wagon, by pre-arranged agreement, hurried from the Church and were ahead of all other teams starting home. So when this nuisance driver with the fast team drew up and tried to pass there was a contest of speed. He failed to pass and pulled in behind only to find the traffic slowing to a very slow walk. He made several attempts to pass only to encounter the same failure. The story as it came to me was that the nuisance driver after that was always careful to observe the courtesy of the road. I don't remember that Father ever encouraged a son to race a driving team. Even those of us who knew him best in his later years can grant that he once must have been a young man.

Grandfather, Harvey Maricle, was a great walker. During the years he was post master and store keeper in Boone, he regularly walked to work and home again. He was a pace counter as well and could tell you the number of steps between any landmarks or bushes along the way. He would even walk to Albion rather than catch up a horse out of the pasture. One time when thrashers pulled into his place late in the evening he offered corn for their horses. These horses of course worked every day as the horse power that ran the thrashing machine and the men wanted oats for their horses. So Grandfather took a sack up to a neighbor a half mile north and walked back home again with a sack of oats on his shoulder.

He did make one compromise with walking and that was to ride a bicycle. His first bicycle was one of those high wheelers with the small wheel behind supporting the seat. The pedals were fastened to the axle of the high wheel which made it a strictly one speed bike.

In a new country the people are dependant upon the skills of those who are their neighbors for all the necessary things of life, and of death. So since Grandfather was a worker of wood, and had the elementary tools of such a trade he came to be called upon to make a coffin at the time of a death in the community. I do not know the details of any such request, but I do recall that I have been told that he rendered such services in time of need.

And to meet the needs of the community in such times of sorrow he gave a six acre plot from his farm for a cemetery. It is not extensively used these later years but is the cemetery commonly used by the Maricle and other long established families. It is maintained voluntarily by the living members of the families buried there.

Grandfather was careful with his tools and I remember him using a key to unlock his tool chest when he wanted a tool from it to loan to Father. I can still hear him say, "I keep it locked because I can't count on Carse to take proper care of tools." When the tool chest came to Uncle Carson I'm sure he never abused a tool. From him it went to Uncle Claude and Earl must have it now but I don't presume that a tool has been abused yet. The story is that neighbors used to bring their saws to Grandfather to have them sharpened. After the saw was filed and the teeth were set the final test was to hold the saw at an inclined angle with teeth up-turned and see how smoothly a slender needle would slide down between the points of the saw teeth.
I suppose it could be said that Grandfather was a particular man. Uncle Carson told me this story. He was husking corn, by hand in those days, and unloading it into a crib. He was careful to get all the husks off but Grandfather would get up into the crib and make sure all the silks were removed so the mice would not build nests in the corn crib. Later that fall they were thrashing stacked grain and when they came upon a mouse nest made of corn silk in the top of the stack he wondered if a mouse would carry corn silk that far to make a nest, how important it was to get all the silks off an ear of corn.

Grandfather was a keeper of bees. He never sold honey but he kept bees. And he was generous with the honey his bees produced. He made his own bee hives and the supers that went with them. A super is a shallow bottomless frame that sits on top of a bee hive to provide a place for the bees to deposit excess honey after the hive itself is stocked with what honey the bees will need for over winter. First the bees must live; we eat only the excess honey after their needs are met. The supers were equipped with especially formed frames that accommodated about a pound of honey each. He had a special frame for forming these into shape and into each was hung a bees wax film on which to start a section of honey. No one else in the family seemed to have the expertise to handle bees without the danger of being stung. He claimed there was no danger, only clumsy hands. Generally, the rest of the family left the bee chores to him.
On one occasion when Grandfather returned from a visit to his old home along the Wabash he brought some timber squirrels to Nebraska. By this time trees were thriving about the homestead. I cannot say when he brought them to this country but I do remember the wire screen cage he kept them in on the second floor of a combination granary and corn crib and his saying that the squirrels hardly ever returned to it anymore. Now I wonder if he was the man who first introduced squirrels to our county.

I remember, as a small boy, watching him hoe around some small oak trees along the north edge of the home site. Those oaks are tall trees now and each fall the squirrels reap a harvest of acorns there.

For a while Grandfather kept a store in Boone. It must have been after he closed out his brick yard. At least some of the time he was both postmaster and store-keeper. It must have been a general store for in an undated invoice it shows a wide variety of both groceries and dry goods as well as some clothing.

This total inventory came to $5,685.38. Prices were not as high as they are today and some items may be of interest. Coffee was valued at 12 to 18 cents per pound; oranges were 20 cents per dozen; lard was 10 cents and ham was 14 cents per pound. Jello was entered at 8 1/4 cents per box and salmon was from 8 to 17 cents per can. Some overalls were as high as 80 cents and most wool dress goods were within the 40 cent range per yard.
There came a time when Grandmother wanted a parlor. So an extension was built onto the east side of the house. The story goes that Grandfather did not think it essential, and even though he had been a house builder, he did not help with the building. Grandmother had the room built and, by some division of income, she paid for it with her own money. She was heard to remark on this or some other occasion, "I don't see how such a good man can be so stubborn." I surmise but do not know that this occurred during the years that he was postmaster and store-keeper. It is my understanding that years later when the kitchen was built on the west side of the house he made capable contribution to its building. I can remember him showing my Father the arch over the back porch with pride of workmanship. No additions have since been made to the house other than the water system, electricity and furnace. It is an old house and comfortable. Living in it is a pleasure. It instills in us an understanding of the past, an appreciation of the present and the hope of the future.

IS NINETY-ONE YEARS OLD AND IS ENJOYING EXCELLENT HEALTH

Henry Maricle Of Mill Shoals, Native Of Tennessee, Thought To Be Oldest Resident Of White County And Attributes Long Life To Hard Work.

On Friday of last week Henry Maricle of Mill Shoals passed his 91st milestone and is enjoying fairly good health for a man of his age. Uncle

Henry, as he is familiarly called, was born in Tennessee on October 22, during the ninth child of a fami

ily of eleven children and the only one still living.

His parents immigrated to this county from Tennessee when Uncle Henry was only 18 months of age. His father and grandfather at that time entered a body of land from the government, at about 13½c an acre, located on what is now the Burnt Prairie-Mill Shoals road, near Antioch G. B. church, which for years was the Maricle homestead and where he spent practically his entire life.

In the fall of 1919 he sold the farm and moved to the village of Mill Shoals. In February, 1923, Mrs. Mari cle died and up to the time of her death they had lived together nearly 66 years. Eleven children were born to them, nine of whom are still living, two having died in early childhood.

He does not know of anything to which he could contribute his long life unless it would be hard work, for he has certainly done his share of hard labor. He has dug quite a lot of rock out of the ground on the old farmstead, shaped them up and sold them to be used as a foundation for buildings. However his hobby seems to be truck gardening and we must say that few are his equal when it comes to raising a fine garden, both as to appearance and amount of production.

He has doubtless seen many changes along life's pathway and the writer would suggest that we hear, through the columns of the Tribune-Times, from other residents of the county, if there be any, who are as old or older than he.

Rites will be in charge of Ivan B. Clayton, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Chatta, assisted by Rev. J. C. Harris, Frederick Methodist minister.

Native of Illinois

Lester Eugene Maricle was born February 20, 1885, in Millisht Illinois, where he was reared and educated. He came to Tillman County in 1907, settling in the pasture area of Grandfield. 1912 the Maricles moved to Fritterer community, which has been the family home.

Maricle was a lifelong Presbyterian, member of the First Presbyterian Church in Frederick, a deacon and long active in its affairs.

He was married on April 1, 1915, to Nellie Cassady in Frederick, passed away on February 3, 1951, to Keith Cassidy, at Albion, and three brothers, three sisters who with the wife remain to mourn his departure.

Survivors Are Listed

In addition to the wife, of his family, home address, 1102 S 13th Street, Maricle is survived by one daughter, Miss Ruby Maricle, three brothers, man Maricle, Eugene, Rev. Don Maricle, Alton, Illinois, Harve Maricle, Los Angeles, California.

Harvey Maricle Dies at His Home Near Boone, Sept. 14th.

Harvey Maricle passed away at his home near Boone last Wednesday evening, after an illness of several weeks duration. Old age and a general breaking down were largely the cause of his death.

Mr. Maricle was one of the first settlers in this county, coming here from Illinois in 1874. He built the first home for himself and family, and it was in it that the first preaching service in the county was held. The old settlers were a hospitable class, but none were more so than Mr. and Mrs. Maricle. Their home was always open to travelers and the good which they did in this way cannot be estimated. And they have ever been the same.

Mr. Maricle was a member of the first board of county commissioners and the board held its first meeting at his home. He was one of the leaders in the work of establishing the county, and his integrity and wisdom were exemplary all of those characteristics which make for the highest type of Christian citizenship.

His departure is greatly mourned by his relatives and intimate friends and is shared in by his many friends and acquaintances over the entire county and especially by those of the old settlers who struggled through the hardships of the early days with him.

The funeral was held from the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Griffith, and the body laid to rest in Memorial Cemetery, Maricle.

Maricle remembers 94 years of snow, Indians, plagues

In the year 1871, a man, his wife, and their three sons boarded a train at Grayville, Ill., and started out for Kansas to set up farming.

While on the train, the man met a neighbor of his who was headed for Nebraska. During the course of the conversation, the man bound for Kansas happened to mention the fact that he hoped the fever known as ague wasn't common in Kansas. The Nebraska-bound gentleman at once informed his friend that ague was really common in Kansas. "Why don't you, then, bring your dogs shake with it?"

As a result of this conversation Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Maricle and their three sons, Leonard, Claud, and Carson, settled in Nebraska. They homesteaded the place that is now occupied by F. F. Maricle, 3½ miles south of Albion.

The last of the family who is still living is Claud Maricle, now 94 years old. Ninety-four years filled with memories of blizzards, Indians, grasshopper plagues and the growth of Boone County and Albion itself.

CLAUD MARICLE arrived in Boone County with his parents and two brothers on the last Sunday in July of 1871. At the time they arrived, there was only one building near them. That was one in Albion owned by Lorin Clark.

For many years after people began settling the area, the Maricle family had the only frame house in the vicinity. The other dwellings were sod houses finished with door and window sills made of lumber which had to be hauled up from Columbus.

Columbus was the trading center in those days, and, as Mr. Maricle put it, "Even if you wanted just a box of matches, you had to go to Columbus to get it."

"I remember when the railroad first came through," he said. "When it came, they gave the people free rides to Columbus to celebrate."

One of the first church services held in Boone County was held in the Maricle home on Easter Sunday in 1872 or 1873. That church service always reminds him of a blizzard that came up on that day.

"IT WAS ONE of the worst blizzards I have ever seen," Mr. Maricle recalled. "It lasted for three days and you could hardly see through the snow. The preacher who preached at the Easter services had to leave his team at the house and he walked home to Oakdale after the blizzard was all over."

During another blizzard that came up that year, Mr. Maricle remembers when his father opened one of the doors to see how things looked outside. The wind whipped his hat off and he didn't find it until the snow melted the next spring.

There was one year when his family was about the only family around that had potatoes for their meals.

In 1872, the second year they had been on the homestead, the grasshoppers started devouring everything in sight. Claud and his brother devised a method to keep the grasshoppers off their potatoes.

"THERE WAS A strong South wind blowing," he said. "We took a rope about 20 or 30 feet long and we would drag it down the rows of potatoes. That would scare the grasshoppers off the potatoes so that they would fly up. The wind would catch them then and carry them off to the North. In about an hour they would be back down and we would have to start all over again with the ropes."

That year the grasshoppers ate everything green in sight.

"I can remember that about..."
OLD SETTLER — Cloud Maricle, 94, was one of the first settlers in Boone county. He came here with his parents from Illinois in 1871. In the picture Mr. Maricle holds an old fashioned muzzle-loading shotgun which he purchased many, many years ago. As Mr. Maricle told about loading it, his son-in-law, John Papcz, with whom he lives, said "By the time you got it ready to shoot the rabbit would be to St. Edward." Albion NEWS-foto.

FOUR CHILDREN BORN TO MR. AND MRS. W. A. MARICLE, ALL OF WHOM SURVIVE.

Mary Margaret Maricle, daughter of Thomas and Sarah Evans was born in Butler Co., Ohio November 9, 1858 and died at her home in Mill Shoals February 24, 1923, being 65 years 3 months and 15 days of age. She spent her childhood days in Butler Co., Ohio and at the age of 12 years she, with the rest of the family, moved to Sedalia, Missouri. At the age of 22 years her parents having died, she came to the county to live with her uncle Samuel Freeland, who reside in that time east of Mill Shoals, IL. She was united in marriage to William Anderson Maricle September 23, 1881. Together they took up the cares, disappointments and blessings of a married life on their farm three miles south east of Mill Shoals where they lived until nine years ago, when they came to their present home in Mill Shoals.

To this union were born four children, all boys, namely Harvey F. of St. Louis, MO., Lester E. of Freidricj, OK., Bennie L. of Brighton, IL. and Herman H. of Lewiston, Idaho. The home has been blessed with good health until the last illness of Mrs. Maricle. A doctor had never been called into the home except at the birth of the children. Recently she contracted Bright’s disease, the result of which took her to a sanitarium at Olney, where after a few weeks treatment she was able to come home. After a few days, along with these complications, she took the flu, followed by pneumonia, which resulted in her death.

At the age of fifteen years she professed faith in Christ and united with the M.E. Church, living a faithful Christian life until the end. She bore her sufferings without a murmur. Administering to the needs and wants of the home she at all times held the esteem of her many friends and neighbors. She leaves to mourn her departure he faithful and lifelong companion, her four sons, one granddaughter, one brother, William H. Evans of Sedalia, MO. and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. February 26th at the M.E. Church in Mill Shoals by Rev. L.F. Vice. Interment was at Antioch Cemetery two miles east of Mill Shoals.

MY GRANDMOTHER

OBITUARY. Mary Ann Maricle daughter of John and Harriett Shearer was born near Phillips Town in White Co., IL. Oct 2, 1841 and died Feb. 21, 1923 being 81 years, 4 months and 19 days old.

She was united in marriage to Henry Maricle March 5, 1857 when with her husband she took up the cares of life on the old Maricle homestead near Antioch Church, where she spent her entire married life except the last three years which she spent at their home in Mill Shoals.

MOTHER

Tears and joy today are blended, tears for loss, and joy for gain, Mothers stay on earth is ended. God has called her from her pain. Vain the tribute we would tender, words of ours can ne'er express, nor the flowers that loved ones send her. All she was of loveiness. Proud are we that God has loaned her though it seems to me that so short awhile, Proud to think that we have owned her, and have seen her blessed smile. Anywhere we ever found her, seemed like something all around her. Blending happiness with love. Thanks to God who gave her to us as we lay near her neath the flowers. Such a gift was never due us. As that mother of ours.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and beautiful offerings during the recent illness and passing of our beloved one. Mrs J.E. Merical

CHARLEY GRAFT FAMILY

Mella Arabel Merical, youngest child of John and Ann Merical, was born October 8, 1875, in Illinois, and came with her parents and brothers: Grant, Charles, Elmer, and William and a sister, Della, to Coryell, Texas when she was 9 years old. Traveling with a caravan of covered wagons, they arrived at the Mississippi River to cross on the ferry. The wide expanse of water was a frightening sight, and when the horses neighed and the mules brayed, she was panic stricken.

Ever seeking to better their lot, they came to Custer County in 1896, where she farmed on land near Elm.

Charley Graft was born in St. Joe, Texas, August 30, 1867, and came to Custer County in 1894. He and Mella Merical were married April 30, 1899. They purchased land from Emet Williams and built a home. Here they remained for the rest of their lives.

Nine children were born: Dwight Graft Foster, April 20, 1900; Warren, December 20, 1901; Rene, June 23, 1904; Dwade Graft Skelton, September 20, 1906; Ralph, January 20, 1908, died January 10, 1910; Paul, March 18, 1910, died December 25, 1976; Fern Graft Crispin, December 5, 1911; Kermit, June 5, 1914; and Inis Graft Fraser, December 21, 1916.

Charley and Dick had driven 1500 head of cattle from Duncan and they became ranchers. Charley added hogs to his operation and often had 300 to 400 hogs of various sizes in preparation for market.

Marketing cattle and hogs was another task. The cattle were rounded up and driven about 8 miles to a neighbor's corral. The next morning, they were driven to Custer City, where they were loaded on freight cars and shipped to Chicago. One person was permitted to ride in the caboos of the train to feed and water the livestock. Hogs were even more hazardous to market, especially in summer. Several wagons were used and the men arose at 2:00 am and loaded the hogs by aid of kerosene lanterns to arrive at Custer City or Thomas before the heat of the day.

The main crops grown were oats, corn, maize, which was gathered and fed to the livestock. In addition to hogs and cattle the family usually had 15-20 head of horses; some for working and others to ride.

As there were no detention dams, Barnitz Creek often overflowed its bank in the rainy season. When the water receded, the creek was somewhat boggy and occasionally cattle or horses became mired in the mud, unable to free themselves. When this happened, a general call went out on the party line and good neighbors came to the rescue to help dig the animals out. Some lived, but many good work horses or steers were often lost.

which had large apple orchards. These ripened from early June through October. The nicest of the fall apples were picked, wrapped in paper, and stored in boxes in the cellar for winter enjoyment.

When Sunday arrived, all work ceased. The family donned their Sunday best, going to church in the hack or wagon and later in the Model T. Mr Graft served as Sunday School Superintendent for approximately 25 years.

The heritage left by this pioneer couple is a memorable one. Seven of the eight grown children married, settled within a radius of 25 miles of their original homes, and reared and educated their children. All of the original land is owned and farmed by some of the family.

On October 1, 1976, R. B. Graft was killed in a farm accident, and Paul Graft died December 25, 1976, of a rarely incurable disease.

PAUL GRAFT

Maricle to celebrate 100th birthday

One hundred years of living is a long time for anyone, and Ella Culley Maricle has almost reached that point. Ella was born December 14, 1893.

Ella was born on a farm in Hamilton County, Illinois, the fifth of nine children and the daughter of Joel and Johanna Culley. The Culleys came to America from Ireland in 1743 and settled in Indiana and Illinois.

Ella married Frank Maricle in 1913. In 1918 they came by train to Idaho. The train became snowbound in Cheyenne, Wyoming for a couple of days. When they arrived in Minidoka, the sun was shining, the snow was melting and the water was running off the roof of the depot. They knew from that moment that Idaho was the right place to live.

The couple was very ambitious. After arriving in Idaho, Frank worked for wages. They lived and farmed at 100 S. Meridian, then farmed for C. E. Bouse and lived next to what is now East Minico. After a couple of years they moved to the Dr. J.B. Kenagy farm at 225 n. and 200 W.

Ella raised chickens, turkeys and geese to supplement their income. They had the opportunity to rent a good 80 acre farm from Sam Woolford. The farm is now the location of the Rupert Elks Lodge. After ten years of farming, they were financially able to buy a 40 acre farm from Aaron Becker at 200 S. and 50 East. They later purchased the adjoining 40 acres from the father of Oris Gibson. They continued to buy good farms. Some farms they kept, and some they resold.

Along with farming, Frank and Ella kept dairy cows and a farm flock of about 100 ewes. There were always spring lambs to market and wool to sell. They always had a large garden that Ella grew and she always canned lots of food.

During the winters, Ella pieced quilts. A favorite pastime was to invite other ladies to bring a covered dish and spend the day quilting. She loved to crochet and embroider, and she was a marvelous cook and housekeeper.

Their social life consisted of belonging to the Rupert Grange. In 1970 they became 7th degree members. At the time that the Rupert Grange relinquished its charter, Ella had been a member for 65 years. She also belonged to the Grange Auxiliary, was a member of the Merry-Go-Round Social Club, the Worthwhile Extension Club, the Early Settlers and the Rupert Senior Citizens.

Fishing was a favorite pastime, and they loved being at Fish Creek Reservoir before the sun came up over the mountains. They spent many happy evenings playing pinochle with their neighbors, Viola and Walter lee. Ella has been a life-time member of the Primitive Baptist Church.

Frank passed away in July, 1975, but Ella continued to maintain her home and continues to live on the farm at 200 S. and 25 E. They had two children: Ernie Maricle, who passed away in September, 1992, and Doris (Howard) Bruns. In 1986, Howard and Doris moved into Ella's home to care for her because Ella's health was declining. During her long illness, Ella has kept her sense of humor and her beautiful personality. In visiting with her, you would find a lovely 100 year old lady with an alert mind who is more concerned about other people than she is about herself.

Ella has five grandchildren, eight great grandchildren and 16 great great grandchildren. She also has one sister, Rosa (Mrs. Alvin) Holmes. Ella has always felt blessed to have her family close by.

Many vivid memories come to Ella's mind. During her childhood, the family lived close to the Mississippi River and three times the home flooded and the family had to move to higher ground. She remembers the San Francisco Earth Quake, the sinking of the Titanic, the two World Wars, the first automobiles, the first airplanes and a man walking on the moon. So much progress has taken place in her lifetime.

Ella and Frank always said, "Idaho has been good to us."

Karen (Shrode) Maricle Busy With Family Living In Rockport East Of Evansville

Rockport, IN 47335
Jan. 19, 1987

Dear Pink Press Readers—I am Karen Maricle Shrode. I graduated with the class of 1962. I am the daughter of the late Lloyd Maricle, a Fairfield carpenter, and Opal Marie, currently of Rockport, IN. I have one brother, Jim Maricle. He and his wife Susan live near Mt. Vernon, IL. They have a daughter, Jamie, and a son, Carson Dale.

I came to Evansville in the fall of 1962 to attend Lockyear Business College. After graduating in the spring of 1964, I took a job with Weiborn Hospital in the accounting department. I worked there for the next 8 years in the accounting and data processing departments.

In August of 1969 I was married to Al Shrode of Chrisney, IN. We lived in Evansville for 2½ years, moving to rural Rockport, IN in the spring of 1972. Rockport is about 25 miles east of Evansville.

We are the parents of three children, a daughter, Sarah, 13; two sons, Eric, 9, and Keith, 6 years old. Sarah is in the 7th grade at South Spencer Middle School. She enjoys school, plays piano, and plays the clarinet in the school band. She also enjoys being in 4-H.

Eric is in the 3rd grade and Keith is in the first grade at Rockport Elementary School. Eric takes piano lessons and both boys enjoy baseball.

Al works in the finishing department at Alcoa Warrick Operations at Newburgh, IN and I am a housewife.

We are only about 10 miles from Owensboro, KY where we are members of the First General Baptist Church. Mother lives in Rockport, which is three miles from us, so we see her often. She is well and able to go.

We have enjoyed coming to the Fairfield Fall Fun Fest as we get to see so many of our friends and relatives. I hope to be able to attend my 25th class reunion this summer.

Enclosed are pictures if you can use them.

Best Wishes.

Karen Shrode

Our family—Mr. and Mrs. Mason M. Maricle, son Jesse and writer Jessie J. Churchwell, came to Greer County, O. T., from Wayne County, Illinois in December 1901.

In 1903 my step-father, Mason M. Maricle accompanied by John Hollars, Armer J. Nix and Homer Slaton came to Beaver County by covered wagon. On August 3rd of this year Mr. Maricle filed on a homestead 11 miles south of Liberal. We were three miles from Lorena Post Office.

In six months, February 1904, Mr. Maricle and son, Jesse, returned by covered wagon to begin to prove the claim. Mr. Maricle was one of the eighteen charter members of the Independence Sunday School organized June 5, 1904. He hired a neighbor to plow and plant maize as soon as it was plowing season.

This planting in the sod was done as the land was plowed. A bucket was used for a planter box. As the bucket turned over the seed was dropped. Then it was covered as the next row of sod was turned.

In August 1904, Mr. Maricle and son Jesse made the third trip to Beaver County in a covered wagon to build a half dugout in preparation for his wife, who was to come as soon as her health permitted. Later that fall he returned to Greer County for a short time to butcher meat for the winter. He brought the meat back to Beaver County along with some chickens and a milk cow. His son and a neighbor occupied the claim in his absence.

In November 1904, our family doctor would not permit my mother to take the long trip by wagon to Beaver County, so she took me (a girl of 15) and returned by train to stay with her mother in Wayne County, Illinois. Her health improved, so that in 1905 Mother and I arrived in Liberal. We came by train by way of St. Louis and Kansas City. We were met by my step-father and step-brother in a wagon to take us the last eleven miles of our journey to the first home of our own.

We lived in a half-dugout the first few months, then my step-father added a room above the ground constructed of 12" boards stripped with 4" boards and wood shingle roof. We stripped the inside cracks with muslin and papered the walls with newspapers. It was ceiled overhead and the attic was used for clothes storage. A ladder fastened to the wall served as the stairs. For two years we hauled all our water three miles from a windmill belonging to J. E. George, a cattleman. The well was situated on the section line and was dug for the purpose of watering his range cattle. These cattle grazed all the unfenced areas, as at that time there was free range.

We had a good garden and row crop. It seems unbelievable, but we had no weeds. We had a watermelon patch grown on the sod and it produced the finest watermelons I have ever seen.

Mr. Maricle farmed until 1913 when he purchased the Lorena country store, which he operated until the fall of 1919. He hauled the groceries and supplies from Liberal by the use of a team of horses and a spring-wagon. For a period of four or five years prior to 1920 by mother Martha J. Maricle served as postmistress of the Lorena Post Office.

In the fall of 1919 they sold the country store and moved to Elkhart, Kansas, where they were in partnership with Jesse M. Maricle.

A year later Mr. and Mrs. Maricle moved to Liberal, built a home, and bought and operated the Cash & Carry Grocery. Mr. Maricle retired from the grocery business in 1924. His death occurred 1945 at McAllen, Texas. Mrs. Maricle's death was in 1964 in Liberal.

My step-brother, Jesse M. Maricle, and I attended school at the Independence township school and attended Sunday school and church on Sunday in the same building. Miss May Hill was our school teacher. She is now Mrs. Homer L. Smith of Turpin, Okla.

At the close of his fifth year of grade school Jesse M. Maricle went to Liberal to work at the Enterprise Grocery and continued his education by correspondence courses.

In 1917 Jesse Maricle was married to Florence Hockett, a school teacher. In the fall of the same year he joined the Navy, serving two years. In 1919 he returned from the Navy and located at Elkhart, Kansas where he bought and operated a general store. Jesse operated a chain of grocery stores, bakeries and warehouses in southwest Kansas and eastern Colorado at the time of his death, which occurred in 1942 in Dodge City. He is survived by his widow and three sons.

The writer, Jessie J. Churchwell Stephenson was born in Wayne County, Illinois, in a log cabin and as stated above came with my folk to Oklahoma Territory and Beaver County. I was married to Cyrus F. Stephenson April 30, 1907 at the home of my parents.

Cyrus F. Stephenson was born in Kaufman County, Texas. He came to Beaver County, O. T. in 1903 and filed a claim on NE1/4 of Sec. 21, twp 5, rge 20. In 1904 he built a one room 10' x 14' house. He brought the first bag of mail to the Lorena Post Office in 1904 from Liberal. He attended Independence Sunday school and church where he and the writer became acquainted.

In 1908 my husband built a half-dugout room for a kitchen. It had only a dirt floor, but I was never so proud of any home in my life as this. I was moving into it before it had a roof over it or windows in it. I cooked on a three burner gasoline stove.

In 1906 we bought our first one-horse buggy, and our first car was a Ford received on Christmas Day, 1916.

The year we were married, my husband, my step-father, and Mr. Robert Vogt together bought a header and barges. On July 2nd we had a hail storm and suffered a complete loss of the crop. Our neighbor Mr. Chas. B. Evans, was on the way home with a new header when the storm struck. The implement dealers carried our account over to another year until we could raise another crop.

In 1909 we moved to the Theo. B. Moore place. The land was prepared for wheat and the seed was furnished so we could get another start. We received 2/5ths of the crop as the renter's share and stayed there 6 years.

In 1915 we built a five-room home on our original homestead, where I still live.

My husband's death occurred July, 1920. Our six children are living and I have six grandchildren.

God hath not promised skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through;
God hath not promised sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.

But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the labor, light for the way,
Grace for the trials, help from above,
Unfailing sympathy, undying love...
