ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Society wishes to formally record its profound appreciation of the notable services of Dr. John W. Wayland in compiling the comprehensive index to Volume II. It represents a monumental task and a signal contribution to the publication's reference value. We are indeed indebted to Dr. Wayland for his generous labors.
PRESIDENT'S REPORT ON ROCKINGHAM HISTORICAL SOCIETY ACTIVITIES

The Society has concerned itself with a number of essential and constructive activities during the past year, and is able to report definite progress with several of its undertakings, as follows:

"THE WAYLAND HIGHWAY"

Substantially paralleling the "Old Port" or "Port Republic Road," this highway was named several years ago by the Rockingham County Board of Supervisors for Dr. John W. Wayland, noted Historian and a founder of the Society. It remained unmarked until last Autumn. In response to the Society's appeal, the Board of Supervisors generously appropriated funds for the erection of six "Wayland Highway" Markers. These were placed by the State Highway Department, and will serve to identify the road with visitors seeking the Harrisonburg, Cross Keys and Port Republic battlefields.

RELOCATION OF TURNER ASHBY MARKER

The State Historical Marker to indicate the area where General Turner Ashby fell in action during the engagement east of Harrisonburg, in June, 1862, was originally and inaccurately located on U.S. Route 11, about 1 1/2 miles south of Harrisonburg, some 20 odd years ago. Following a year of effort and an extended exchange of correspondence, the Virginia State Library has agreed to relocate this Marker at a point near the western intersection of the "Wayland Highway" and U.S. Route 11. This relocation, in cooperation with the State Highway Department, will harmonize more accurately with the marker inscription. It will likewise be helpful in directing visitors to the site of the Turner Ashby Monument, a short distance north of the "Wayland Highway."

IMPROVED ROAD TO THE ASHBY MONUMENT

Climaxing several years of persevering effort, in which the Society actively joined with the United Daughters of the Confederacy and local Civil War Round Table, the narrow lane leading from the "Wayland Highway" to the Turner Ashby Monument, was finally incorporated in the State's Secondary Road System last year and vastly improved. Visitors will now find it possible to drive to the Monument site and area. Erected by Turner Ashby Chapter, U. D. C., the Monument was formally dedicated June 6, 1898, just 36 years after General Ashby's death.

LINCOLN HOMESTEAD AND CEMETERY MARKER

Another continuing Society objective for the past year has been aimed at securing a State Historical Marker to identify the location of the birthplace of Thomas Lincoln, father of President Abraham Lincoln, and the nearby Lincoln Cemetery, on State Route 42, near Edom. The Virginia State Library, which agency has jurisdiction over these Historical Markers, has pleaded meagre funds for its Marker program and pointed to the existence of the Lincoln Marker at Lacey Spring, on U. S. Route 11, in explaining its inability to erect the Thomas Lincoln Marker sought by the Society.

As repeatedly pointed out by the Society, the Thomas Lincoln Marker would in no wise conflict with/or duplicate the Lincoln Marker at Lacey Spring. The former would identify an area and event dating from pre-Revolutionary days, and closely associated with the Lincoln family in Rockingham County, Va., therefore possessing wide interest and significance to Lincoln scholars and admirers.

We regret to report that the Society was advised by the Virginia State Library under date of February 7, 1961, that it “had decided upon the few markers which it will erect during the 1960-62 biennium,” and that it “will not be able to erect another marker to Thomas Lincoln.” The State Library added that out of over 100 requests, it will be able to erect only six or seven markers this year.

Feeling that it possesses ample merit and historical basis, the Society acted at its January, 1961, meeting to pursue its efforts in behalf of a Thomas Lincoln Marker near Edom. It has accordingly asked Rockingham County’s Legislative Representatives to actively support this endeavor, which has had the endorsement of the Rockingham County Board of Supervisors ever since its inception.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY SECTION IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Still another worthy Society objective is the early establishment of a special Section in the Rockingham Public Library, devoted to books and publications written by Rockingham County authors, published by Rockingham County presses, or dealing with Rockingham County As an initial step in this direction, the Library staff has kindly compiled a Bibliography of all such indicated holdings in the Library, and this Bibliography is included in the current “Rockingham Recorder.” Efforts are in progress to obtain lists of additional Rockingham County imprints from the Alderman Library of the University of Virginia and the Library of Congress, to the end of their future publication. Once the Bibliography is completed, and in event the Special Section is created, the Society will doubtless make a public appeal for contributions of listed volumes and publications not possessed by the Rockingham Public Library.

RESTORATION OF EARLY ROCKINGHAM COURT RECORDS

A committee of Society officers has conferred several times with representatives of the Rockingham County Board of Supervisors, in the interest of measures for the preservation and restoration of the County early Court Records. A volume recording “Administrations, 1778-1815,” has been tentatively chosen for the initial restoration project. By happy coincidence in this conjunction, the Society has recently been informed by Mrs. Maurice B. Tonkin, State Chairman, Preservation of Records, Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution, of that body’s readiness to adopt restoration of the “Administrations” volume as its 1961 project. While details of the arrangement remain to be perfected, its consummation is expected.

“ROCKINGHAM COUNTY AND THE CIVIL WAR”

The Society instructed its President at its January, 1961, meeting to appoint a proper committee to explore the feasibility of the Society’s compilation and publication of a volume informative of “Rockingham County in the Civil War,” and to report its findings and recommendations to an early special meeting of the Society. A prolonged period of snowy weather has unfortunately delayed a committee study, which will proceed at an early date. It is believed that the proposed volume would enjoy a most favorable public reception. In event undertaken, its probable publication goal would be June, 1962, the Centennial of Rockingham County’s Civil War battles of Harrisonburg, Cross Keys and Port Republic.

RUSSELL L. STULTZ, PRESIDENT
CIVIL WAR CENTENARY

Harrisonburg and Rockingham County, as well as many other places in Virginia and other parts of the Country, are awake to the desirability of an appropriate celebration of the Civil War years. The Turner Ashby Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Shenandoah Valley Civil War Round Table, with headquarters in Harrisonburg, together with the Rockingham County Historical Society, are actively engaged in collecting pertinent materials and in making them available to the public.

The mayor of Harrisonburg has appointed a Centennial Commission for the city, and a corresponding commission for Rockingham County has been provided by the Board of Supervisors for the county. A large room in the building on South Main Street in Harrisonburg, formerly used as a school, has been made available for a Civil War library and museum, and attendants will be on hand there to receive students, visitors and tourists and to give them information and printed matter concerning the battlefields and other places of historical interest.

Joy W. Joiner, president of the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Museum in Lexington, has acquired strategic tracts of land on the battlefields of Cross Keys and Port Republic and is making them accessible to visitors and students. The lane leading from the old Port Republic Road (Wayland Highway) to the battlefield in Chestnut Ridge, where General Turner Ashby was killed, has been widened and improved. Additional road signs and battlefield markers are being provided. A large map of Jackson's famous Valley Campaign, to be electrically illuminated in connection with an explanatory lecture, is being prepared.

The Historical Society has under consideration the publication of a volume to be made up of source materials relating to the battles and other incidents that took place in the city and county during the war years. In this issue of the Recorder, as well as in preceding issues, are instalments of an interesting Civil War diary.

For many years the battlefields of Rockingham County have attracted visitors and Civil War students from many parts of the country, including the Middle West, New England, and Canada. Within the past year or two the local Round Table has entertained groups from similar organizations in Winchester, Richmond, Chicago, Illinois, and Cleveland, Ohio.

DIARY OF W. H. AREHART
Seventh Instalment

June, Thursday, 9th.

Left the Chickhominy, 6 miles from Richmond, this morning at 6 O'clock. Moved in the direction of Louisa C. H. We halted for the night near Beaver Dam Station, where we drew 4 days rations. We then had 6 days rations on hand for a march. Gen. Sheridan is moving up on our right with a heavy body of cavalry.

June, Friday, 10th.

Moved off this morning at daylight. Passed by Beaver Dam Station in the direction of Louisa C. H. Reached the C. H. at 1 O'clock P. M. Remained there several hours, thence moved off in direction of Charlottesville. Encamped for the night at Mechunck River in Louisa County.

June, Saturday, 11th

Left camp this morning at 6 O'clock. Moved back in the direction of Louisa C. H. Before reaching the C. H. we moved in the direction of Gordonsville. The enemy were advancing on the Orange Spring road. At 10 O'clock a dispatch came to Gen. Rosser, about 500 hundred Yankees were in our rear. Our Cavalry then persuaded them. Captured over 200 hundred. We had a regular Cavalry fight all day long. [Battle of Trevilian Station.] This evening at dark our brigade returned to Mechunck river and encamped for the night in our old camp where we camped night before. Gen. Rosser wounded today by fragment of a shell, through the calf of his leg.

June, Sunday, 12th.

HISTORIC BED

Mrs. A. E. Conquist of Lacey Spring, third vice-president of the Rockingham County Historical Society, has recently presented to the Stonewall Jackson Museum in Winchester a bed in which General Jackson slept when he was entertained by the Jackson Martz family at Tenth Legion. This bed was an heirloom in the Martz family, having come down from colonial times. It came into the hands of Mrs. Conquist in 1926, from her mother, Mrs. Sarah Martz.

During the fall and winter of 1861-62 General Jackson had his headquarters in the house of Mayor Fuller, on the northwest side of Braddock Street, in Winchester. The house is still well preserved, and within the past year, by the suggestion and under the inspiring leadership of Mr. Jay W. Johns, president of the Jackson Memorial Museum in Lexington, it has been set aside as a museum for the assembling of relics connected with General Jackson. For such a museum Winchester is a fitting location.

A NEW BOOK BY MRS. BOGGGS

A Society member, Mrs. Gordon Boggs (Elsie Byrd Boggs), has just had published an attractive volume of 144 pages on the town of Franklin, the county-seat of Pendleton County, West Virginia. The 20 chapters cover the history of the town from its beginning in 1794, with much background information about the county from the first settlements in the middle of the 18th century. For ten years, 1778 to 1788, a large part of what is now Pendleton County was included in the boundaries of Rockingham County.

The book is provided with two maps and is illustrated with 14 pictures from photographs. A special feature, valuable for convenient reference, is a table of dates comprising 132 items beginning with 1740 and continuing to 1960. There is a complete index. Price $5.00.

This is not Mrs. Boggs's first book. In 1950 was published "The Hammers and Allied Families," which is replete with information regarding many of the old families of Pendleton. Among other interesting matter it contains 34 letters written home by Pendleton soldiers in the Civil War, detailing experiences in camp, in battle, and in prison. Both volumes are rich in genealogy.

BAKER GENEALOGY

Robert Helsley Baker of Strasburg, Va., is the author of a monumental work on the Bakers, Helsleys, Glazes, Funkhousers, Pitmans, Rosenbergers, Brumbacks, and other old families that have long been familiar in the Shenandoah Valley. Mr. Baker, a member of genealogical societies in America and Europe, has devoted extensive and critical research to this work which will be a valued possession in many homes and a much-used source book in libraries. Interspersed with the genealogical outlines are numerous biographical and historical sketches of prominent individuals. The volume is made up of 271 mimeographed pages 8½ by 11 inches in size. It may be obtained from Mr. Baker at Strasburg or from Goodspeed's Book Shop, 18 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., at $12.00 a copy.

GARBER HISTORY AND GENEALOGY

The Garbers of Rockingham County and many others are familiar with the publications issued some years ago by Dr. Clark M. Garber, 87 North Main Street, Butler, Ohio. They will be pleased to know that Dr. Garber is now devoting himself to a renewed and extended service in this field. He has just recently completed a mimeographed volume of 89 pages, 8½ by 11 inches in size, on Garber history and genealogy, which is the first number in a forthcoming series. A complete index adds much to the value of this work. He welcomes pertinent information pertaining to any branch of the family.

BELLE BOYD, CONFEDERATE SPY

Miss Laura Virginia Hale of Front Royal, Virginia, is the author of an attractive illustrated brochure of 20 pages on Belle Boyd, "Southern Spy of the Shenandoah." It may be ordered from Mrs. Joseph M. Burke, Treasurer, 25 South Royal Avenue, Front Royal, at 25 cents a copy. Proceeds from sales are used for the benefit of Warren Rifles Confederate Museum in Front Royal.

It is fitting that this tribute to the spectacular career of Belle Boyd should be produced in Front Royal, the scene of some of her most daring exploits. Her life as a spy and a prisoner of war during the years of conflict and her extensive tours as lecturer and entertainer afterwards was remarkable and fascinating. Her several courtships and marriages invested it with romance.

In June 1863 Miss Boyd spent several days in Harrisonburg, lodging at the American Hotel.

THE SPOTSWOOD SCHOOL

Wednesday evening, November 16, 1960, Harrisonburg dedicated a new elementary school, located near the southeast border of the city, and named for Governor Alexander Spotswood, who, with his “Knights of the Horseshoe,” spent a short time in what is now the eastern part of Rockingham County in early September 1716.

THE GERMANNA COLONISTS

The annual bulletin, 1960, issued by the Memorial Foundation of the Germanna Colonies, is of special interest. Mr. D. R. Carpenter, a certified engineer, has provided a map showing the locations of the several families in Madison County as of the year 1740. Dr. B. C. Holtzclaw of Richmond has contributed an extended and valuable paper on the lands of 12 German families comprising the Little Fork Church in Pauquier County as of 1748. Another special feature in this issue of the bulletin is the roster of families and individuals from nine different states who were in attendance at the reunion on July 17, 1960, in Siegen Forest at Germanna. Copies of the bulletin at $1.50 each may be obtained from the central office, P. O. Box 786, Harrisonburg, Va.

WILBARGERS IN VIRGINIA AND TEXAS

Wilbarger County, Texas, was named in honor of two native sons of Rockingham County, Virginia, Josiah and Mathias Wilbarger, who were the first settlers on the Colorado River about 26 miles southeast from where the city of Austin is now located. The stream that flows into the river at the site of their settlement is now known as Wilbarger Creek.

John Wilbarger and his wife, Ann Pugh, of Rockingham had three sons born here: Josiah, in 1801; John Wesley, in 1806; and Mathias, in 1807 or 1808. In 1818 the family moved to Bourbon County, Kentucky, and in 1823 to Pike County, Missouri. In September 1827 Josiah married Margaret Baker in Missouri. On December 26 of the same year they arrived at Matagorda, Texas, which was still a part of Mexico. Wilbarger taught school for a year, then moved to La Grange where he continued teaching and also did surveying. In 1829 he was joined by his young brother Mathias, and the next year they settled on the Colorado River, at the mouth of the Wilbarger Creek. There they built log cabins and started farms. They were the first and only settlers there until July 1832.

In August 1833 Josiah Wilbarger was shot by Indians, scalped, and left for dead. He died in 1844, at the age of 43, leaving a wife and five children. Mathias died at Georgetown, Williamson County, Texas, in 1853. In 1858 a new county was laid off on the northern border of Texas and named for Josiah and Mathias Wilbarger.

Wilbarger County has an area of 928 square miles, 52 more than Rockingham. Cotton, grains, and livestock are produced, and industries flourish. In 1950 more than 2000 wells producing oil and gas were reported. By the census of 1960 the population of the county is 19,000; that of Vernon, the county-seat, is 12,110. One of the handsome buildings in Vernon is the Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium.

John Wesley Wilbarger, brother of Josiah and Mathias is said to have been a Methodist preacher, and he too had intimate associations with Texas. In 1837 Josiah made a visit to Missouri and on his return to Texas John Wesley accompanied him. In 1889 a book, entitled “Indian Depredations in Texas,” by John Wesley Wilbarger, was published in Austin.

Wilbargers are listed in the directories of Austin and Dallas. In and near Vernon, in addition to the Wilbarger Memorial Auditorium, there are Wilbarger Memorial Park, Wilbarger Hotel, Wilbarger County Library, Wilbarger Community Building and a half-dozen other establishments bearing the Wilbarger name.

Information concerning the Wilbargers in Texas has been supplied by Mrs. Margaret B. Pratt of the Dallas Public Library; and Jack Lacy Jr., General Manager of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce, has supplied population figures and other items concerning Wilbarger County and the city of Vernon.

EXPLANATORY—The Society is indebted to the staff of the Rockingham Public Library for the foregoing Bibliography of the Library’s holdings of Books written by Rockingham County citizens and residents and of Books published by Rockingham County presses.

The compilation is only partially complete, and will be supplemented in subsequent issues of THE ROCKINGHAM RECORDER by additional titles obtained from the records of the Alderman Library of the University of Virginia, the Virginia State Library, Richmond, and other sources.

Since many books by Rockingham County authors or publishers are missing from this initial listing, the Society will welcome and appreciate information relating to any and all such publications.

The compilation is designed to provide the basis for the Society’s objective of a special Rockingham County section in the Rockingham Public Library, in which eventual public contribution of volumes absent from the Library’s holdings will be invited.
