INTRODUCTION

A SHORT ACCOUNT OF THE VARIOUS TYLER IMMIGRANTS TO AMERICA.

This representative family has its roots deep in the colonial soil of New England, Virginia, New Jersey and Maryland, and all the numerous branches are supposed to have an English origin.

Representatives of the Tyler family were in nearly every one of the original thirteen States at the time of the formation of the Union. In the early wars, in the War of the Revolution and in the War of 1812 they were conspicuous, and in the Civil War some of their achievements were brilliant. Socially, the Tylers have reached "from the White House to the poor-house." Were their deeds stricken from the annals of our country the loss would be appreciable.

There were several immigrant ancestors of the Tylers and therefore a number of independent lines. In detail, this history treats only of the New England lines, but a brief outline follows herewith of the numerous branches in America.

Chronologically, the first record we have seen of Tylers in America, occurs in Camden Hotten's excellent book (based upon English Admiralty reports), which contains lists of emigrants to America between 1600 and 1700. It appears therefrom, that William Tyler, and his wife Elizabeth, set sail from England for Virginia, in 1620, on the ship Francis Bona-venture. He was a person of property; for, in 1622, he brought over, on the ships Providence and Hopewell, the following six servants: "Robart More," aged 50; "Wm. Broune," aged 26; "Robert Hodd," aged 20; "Anthonie Burt," aged 18; "Samiell Bennett," aged 40, and "Joane Bennett." In another entry in the said volume (in a list of "Living in Va., 16 Feb., 1623"), we find the said William and Elizabeth Tyler are at "Hogg Island." (This island is a little down the James River from Jamestown, the first English-American settlement, 1607.) It would seem that these parties intended permanent residence; yet, strange to say, not a jot of evidence has been found to show that they ever had descendants. Regretfully as we admit it, it seems impossible to learn anything further of this pair; who were, probably, the very first bearing the name Tyler, that had courage to seek remote and perilous shores of a literally “New World.”

From the number of Tylers early found settled on the Chesapeake, we are inclined to an hypothesis; that they (at least some of them) had a common cis-Atlantic ancestor (presumably, the above William Tyler). Conclusive evidence of such genealogic links, however, is (and probably will always remain) wanting.

Existing records point to three VIRGINIA TYLER BRANCHES:

(1). YORK COUNTY BRANCH; founded by Henry Tyler, born in England in 1604, came to Virginia by 1645; where, in 1652, he had a grant of 254 acres at “Middle Plantation.” This is the line of John Tyler, President of the United States.

(2). WESTMORELAND COUNTY BRANCH; founded by Charles Tyler, about 1690; who died about 1723, leaving four sons.

(3). ESSEX COUNTY BRANCH; founded by Richard Tyler, about 1690; who was licensed, in 1723, to keep an “ordinary”, and died in 1734, leaving three sons and two daughters.

IN BEAUFORT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, are found early Tyler records; possibly of a line migrated from Virginia.

IN MARYLAND we find several early Tylers domiciled; between whom appears no record of relationship:

(1). Edward Tyler was brought over in 1657 by John Wag­hop; but no land grant or settlement of his estate is found.

(2). Robert Tyler was brought over in 1649 by Henry Cat­lin; and will was probated in Calvert Co., in 1674; he left an only son, who resided at “Brough,” Prince George Co., on Patuxent River.

(3). John Tyler settled on Smith’s Island, Somerset Co., before 1700; who, by two marriages, left five sons. Will probated 1733.
INTRODUCTION

(4). William Tyler, of Pomonkey, Charles Co., leaves a will in 1755; which mentions a son and two daughters.

(5). The will of Edmund Tyler of "Bohemia Manor," Cecil County, 1738, mentions three sons.

Near SALEM, N. J., on Alloway's Creek, about 1688, William Tyler, Quaker, from Greinton, Somerset County, England, settled. Descendants known as "THE SALEM, N. J. LINE."

In CONNECTICUT we find several early clansmen who may have been closely related.

(1). Roger Tyler (previously in Massachusetts), leaves an inventory of an estate in New Haven in 1673. It has been thought by some that he was the progenitor of the "Branford" Tylers, but proof is lacking.

(2). In BRANFORD, CONN., four brothers, George, Peter, Francis and Charles appear on the records about 1667 and their descendants are called "THE BRANFORD LINE."

(3). William Tyler took the "Oath of Fidelitie" in New Haven in 1657, and his descendants are known as "THE WALLINGFORD LINE."

In RHODE ISLAND John Tyler was in Portsmouth as early as 1655. The branch is known as "THE RHODE ISLAND LINE."

In PROVIDENCE, R. I., "Widow Joan Tiler" appears as early as 1638, where she shared in Roger Williams' tract.

The MASSACHUSETTS BAY COLONY furnished a surprisingly large number of original immigrants of the Tyler name, some of whom have left descendants who have been traced.

In and about Boston we find the following:

(1). John Tyler, shopkeeper in Charlestown by 1696. He had a son John, born in 1696. The father died in Carolina. If there are latter-day descendants they are thus far untraced.

(2). Thomas Tyler was of Boston before 1685. His descendants are known as "THE THOMAS TYLER BOSTON LINE."

(3). William Tyler, a ropemaker, was in Boston in 1784.
INTRODUCTION

His descendants are known as “THE WILLIAM TYLER BOSTON LINE.”

(4). Mrs. Ann Tyler, widow of John Tyler, died in Boston, April 30, 1694, aged 40 years and was buried in the Granary burying-ground on Tremont street, where her stone may still be seen. It is probably the oldest American Tyler grave-stone.

In ESSEX COUNTY, MASS., we find the following:

(1). Job Tyler, in Andover, about 1640. His descendants, comprising by far the larger part of this History, are known as “THE JOB TYLER LINE.”

(2). Abraham Tyler, in Haverhill, by 1640. Left no descendants, but his record, will and inventory are given herein.

(3). Nathaniel Tyler, of Lynn, Mass., by 1640. No record of descendants.

(4). John Tyler, of Gloucester. Descendants known as “THE GLOUCESTER LINE.”

(5). Roger Tyler, of Lynn. The same man who is mentioned under “Connecticut.”

In MAINE a man named Thomas Taylor settled in Bowdoinham and changed his name to Tyler. He has living descendants known as “THE BOWDOINHAM LINE.”

In CANADA Captain Isaac Bartholomew Tyler was found by 1790, and later settled in Lewiston, Niagara County, N. Y.

Abraham, Nathaniel and Job are all heard of, among the first settlers of their respective neighborhoods, about the year 1640. This fact suggests possible relationships. The only corroborative evidence (if we may thus dignify so remote facts) lies in the recollection that Moses, son of Job, had sons “Joseph” and “Nathaniel” (both of whom died s. p.). The immigrant, Nathaniel, had an only “son Joseph”—and Moses had also a son “James,” whose son “Abraham” brought in some later generations by that name. We do not lean heavily upon such hypothesis; having learned, after strenuous labors, much to distrust general record-suggestions, as well as vague traditions. So, having raised the question (unanswerable), we pass on the well-trodden path.
Though two of the above first settlers touched but briefly our colonial history, we give the records found.

ABRAHAM TYLER, was in Haverhill, Mass., in 1640; died May 6, 1673; married, December 26, 1650, Hannah Freeman. Chase's History of Haverhill says: "The first company of settlers in the wild woods of Pentucket [Haverhill] were from Ipswich and Newbury, and were twelve in number." He places the year at 1640; Cotton Mather says, 1641; Winthrop says, about 1643 (Andover being settled at this same period). Whatever the date, Abraham Tyler, with three others, from Ipswich, and eight from Newbury, came "in June" to remain. In 1645 Abraham was one of the thirty-two landholders there. In 1648, his valuation is put at £60. June 7, 1652, the Second Division of plough-land was laid out, in the proportion of four acres to one acre of house-lot; of the forty-one sharers, Abraham (No. 5) had four acres. [Thomas Whittier, probably an ancestor of the poet, had 7½ acres.] September 7th of the same year, the town voted, that Abraham should blow his horn to call the people to meeting, and receive one peck of corn from every family for the year ensuing. (Early historians advertised the stipend as "a pound of pork." But careful Mirick says, a "close" inspection of the records reads, beyond doubt, a "peck of corn.") At the May, 1653, session of the General Court, we find Abraham's name on a petition, praying for a revocation of previous sentence, passed upon one Pike of Salisbury, who had been heavily fined and disfranchised for openly declaring, "such persons as did act in making that law [i. e., prohibiting certain persons from exhorting the people on the Sabbath, in the absence of a minister] did break their oath to the country, for it is against the liberty of the country, both civil and ecclesiastical." [Following the hubbub raised thereby, the Haverhill signers "acknowledged their offence":[Pike paid the fine, and was relieved of the disability.] In July, 1667, "accommodation" land was laid out to "Goodman [Abraham] Tiler," to the amount of "4 acres." ("Haverhill" then included, not only most of Methuen, Mass., but also Salem, Hempstead, Plaistow and Atkinson, New Hampshire.) Children:

Abraham², born H., June 4, 1652; died aged two years.
INTRODUCTION

Hannah, born H., Dec. 16, 1655; died aged six years.
Abraham, born H., May 21, 1659; died aged nine years.

Five years after he had seen his hope of a posterity fade from sight, May 5, 1673, he executed his will, by "marke." He died before "ye 14th: 8th. mo: 1673," on which date, the "relict" takes order from the Court at Hampton; and April 14, 1674, witnesses the probate duly made, at Salisbury. (Norfolk Co. Recs., "lib. 2d, pa. 321," and Salem files No. 28, 426.) April 14, 1674, came "Inventorie" for £105; which is extremely interesting, both as a study in phonetic orthography and as showing the personal effects of a Puritan pioneer. Surely our clan will read, not without a certain interest, of the well-intended efforts of this fated line; and join in wishing their undiscoverable grave, Requiescat in pace!

I, Abraham Tyler, of Haverhill, being sick & weak of body but of good and perfect memory doe make this my last will & Testament as followeth: I give to Robert Clement ye sone of Robert Clements ye twenty acres of forth Division of upland wth goodman Sharwood did give mee.

My house & house lott & all ye land about my house & ye remainder of ye land I bought of Steven Kent I give to my loving wyfe to bee fully & soley at her Disposeing. I doe likewise make my wife my full & sole Executrix & to receive all such Debts as are due to me & to pay such debts as I owe & to take care for my buriall.

In witness hereunto I have hereunto sett my hand & seal this 5th of May, 1673.

INTRODUCTION

Salisbury Court Aprill y° 14th-1674. Ent= y° 23d day of Aprill 1674.

NATHANIEL TYLER, according to the History of Lynn, was a resident of that place in 1640.

He does not seem satisfied by prospects, however, for by deed, October 1, 1652 (Essex Co. Registry, Vol. I, p. 20), he and wife, Jane, sell unto “Philip Kirtland, shoemaker,” all their “lands and houses, with their appurtenances, in Lynn.” On the 16th of October, of the same year (1652), we find his “will” on record at Boston (Suffolk Deeds, Vol. I, p. 248), wherefrom it is evident: that he is setting out on a sea voyage; that he takes aboard £80, to be paid “by bill of exchange” in London or Shrewsbury, England, leaving £24 to be sent on within a month; that, if he dies before reaching his journey’s end, his son Joseph Tyler, of Shrewsbury, shall have £50, and his wife Jane, the remainder; but, if she die on the voyage, Joseph is to have all and pay 40/ to testator’s sister Jane, wife of Edward Sanford of London.

No further record of him has been found in this country.
THE DESCENDANTS OF JOB TYLER
Descendants of Job Tyler, The Immigrant

FIRST GENERATION

JOB Tyler was born about 1619, as in a deposition of 1659, his age is stated as “about 40 yeares.” The author of this history (who died before its publication) left a note stating that he had never been able to “find a scintilla of evidence upon which to base” the tradition that Job Tyler was a native of Shropshire, England. Job’s death is nowhere recorded. It is conjectured that he died in Mendon and was there buried, but no proof is at hand to confirm the supposition. He married Mary —. It has been thought by one of the descendants of Job engaged in research that she may have been a widow Horton, but the proof of this statement has not been forthcoming. She was dismissed to the church in “Mendham” from the church in Roxbury on the 28th day of the third month (May), 1665. Her birth and death are unrecorded so far as present research has gone.

The first known of Job Tyler in this country may be found in the Rhode Island Collections, p. 92, as follows: “Inhabitants admitted at the Towne of Nieu-Port since the 20th of the 3rd 1638 . . . Job Tyler.” No other person of this name is known except the Job Tyler who appeared soon after in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. From the same authority (p. 24), we learn that a “Widow Tyler” in the same year, 1638, was one of the 54 who received lots out of Roger Williams’ tract in Providence. In 1640 (p. 31, Ibid.), she was still a widow but was more fully described as “Joan” and signed the “Compact.” The author was inclined to think she was a relict of a brother of Job Tyler, though Savage says she was “possibly his mother.” There was an early John Tyler who died in Portsmouth, R. I., in 1700, whom the author took to be a near relative of Job. He founded a line of his own which has a place in this history, known as "The Rhode Island Line."

Job Tyler is said to have been found in Andover, Mass., by the first colonists there, a solitary squatter, about 1639-40; the earliest dates of the settlement of Andover are conjectural, as the town records before 1650 are lost, and the records of the church which have been preserved date from 1708. A few years later he was in Roxbury, Mass., as witness the following from the old records: "11 month, 1 day, 1646, Lambert Genry hath liberty to sell his Land beyond the mill Creeke to — Tyler of Roxberye." (Dedham Town Records.) "1646, Month 1, day 28. A lit infant also a twinn of Job Tilers dyed." (Roxbury Church Records.) He soon returned to Andover, for March 5, 1650, "Jobe Tyler of Andover" mortgaged property there to John Godfrey, the beginning of trouble for Job and others.

Witnes these presents, that Jobe Tiler of Andover in ye county of Essex, doth acknowledge himselfe to be owing & indebted unto John Godfry of Newbury in the Said covnty, the full & just some of Sixteene pounds to be paid to him the said John Godfry. the one halfe, viz: the eight pounds in good merchantable wheat at fourer Shillings p. bushell & ye other halfe in like good & merchantable rye at three Shillings & Six pence p. bushell, the payment to be made on the first of March come two yeare next after this date, to the which payment well & truly to be made. the said Jobe Tyler doth binde himselfe, his heires, executors, administrators & assignees firmly by these presents, and hereunto hath sett to his hand, this fift day of March, 1650. The said Jobe Tyler doth bind over his house & land & three cowes, in further assurance for his performance of this bill; wch house and land & three cowes, Scituate in Andevour aforesd, the said Jobe Tyler shall not anyway dispose of, from ye Said John Godfry, directly or indirectly, by letting or selling, according to ye tenor purport and true intent of these presents.

JOBE TYLER.
Also from Andover Rec., Bk. II, p. 1, the following:

Know all men by these presents, that I Job Tiler of Andover, in the countye of Essex, have given, granted, Sold and Sett over vnto John Godfry of the Same Towne and countye, my dwelling house in which I now dwell, with a barne and land about it. Contenining twenty five acres, be it more or less, both broke up and unbroke up, as it is fencet in with a logg fence and rayle fence, also two parcells of meddow one of them lyeing about halfe a mile from the said plow land by a pine swamp, the other parcel of meddow lying about a mile off; both of the sayd parcells of meddow being granted and layd out for nyne acres, the latter parcell lying by the meddow of John Rvss, together with the fences & appvrtenances belonging to it. To have and to hovld all that my said house, barne land fences and appurtenances, and the two parcells of meddow unto him the Said John Godfry, his heirs and assigns forever. In witness whereof I the sd Job Tiler have herevnto sett my hand and Seal, the 18th of Aprill, 1662. The condition of this bargaine and Sale is Svh, that whereas the Said Job Tiler hath Signed and delivered three Several bonds vnto John Godfry aforesaid which bonds were written by Anthony Svmerby at one tyme, but payable at three Severall tymes: if the Said Job Tiler shal well and truly Sattisfie and pay or cause to be Sattisfied and payd, the said three bonds vnto the sayd John Godfry his heirs, execvtors, or assignees. according to the tymes of payment as they shall become dew, according to the true intent & meaning thereof, that then this above Said bargaine and sale to be voide and of none effect, or elce to re-maine and abide in full force. Strength and virtue.

DANIEL DENISON.

April 18: 1662.

Job had much legal trouble in Andover.
We find in 1658 that a charge was brought against John Godfrey of witchcraft and the accuser and principal sufferer from his "wiles" was Mary, wife of Job Tyler. This accusation was brought in connection with a law-suit against Godfrey and the accusation was not established. One annalst calls Godfrey "this hard-bitted money lender" and hints that there may have been some cause for the bitterness shown by the Tylers toward him. This was a day of superstition, and although the delusion of witchcraft had not attacked the community as a whole, a little deposition in which Job's family joined against Godfrey shows the temper of the time. The "deposition" although sworn to in 1659 was brought forward in 1665 again, and reads as follows:

"The Deposition of Job Tylar aged about 40 yeares, Mary his wife, Moses Tylar his son aged between 17 and 18 yeares and Mary Tylar about 15 yeares old. These deponents witnese, that they saw a thing like a bird to come in at the door of their house, with John Godfrey, in the night, about the bigness of a blackbird, or rather bigger, to wit, as big as a pigeon and did fly about, John Godfrey laboring to catch it and the bird vanished as they conceived through the chinck of a joyned bord. . . . This was as they remember about 5 or 6 yeares since. Taken upon oath of the above four mentioned ptie this 27, 4, '59, before me, Simon Bradstreet.

"Owned in Court 7 March, 1665 by Job Tyler & Moses Tyler, E. R. Sec.

"Owned in Court 13 March '65 by Mary Tyler on her former oath. E. R. Sec."

Drake, in his Annals says: "It is very reasonable to suppose that the evidence against Godfrey was of too ridiculous a character to be seriously considered and that he was discharged."

Other legal trouble arose in connection with Thomas Chandler of Andover, to whom Job had apprenticed his son, Hopestill, and which bargain, for some reason, Job desired to dissolve. He went to the house of Nathan Parker, where the signed instrument was kept, and took it from the house in the absence of Mr. Parker, thus giving rise to much hard criticism. The matter was a cause of long controversy for over ten years and was carried from court to court. Finally Job lost the suit and the decision or "award" was that as Job was poor he should not be fined above six pounds, but the following penalty was imposed:

"We do order that Job Tyler shall nayle up or fasten upon the posts of Andover & Roxbury meeting-houses in a plain legible hand, the acknowledgement to remain so fastened for the space of 14 days, it to be fastened within the 14 days at Andover and to-morrow being the 27th of January, 1665 at Roxbury . . . ."

This confession and acknowledgment was as follows:

"Whereas it doth appear by sufficient testimony that I, Job Tiler, have shamefully reproached Thomas Chandler of Andover by saying he is a base, lying cozening, cheating knave, that he hath got his estate by cozening in a base reviling manner & that he was recorded for a liar & that he was a cheating, lying whorcing knave fit for all manner of bawdery, wishing that the devill had him, Therefore I Job Tiler doe acknowledge that I have in these expressions most wickedly slandered the said Thomas Chandler & that without any just ground, being noe way able to make good these or any of these my slanderous accusations of him & therefore can doe noe lesse but expresse my selfe to be sorry for them & for my cursing of him desiring God & the said Thomas to forgive me, & that noe person would think the worse of the said Thomas Chandler for any of these my sinfull expressions, and engaging myself for the future to be more carefull of my expressions both concerning him & otherwise and desiring the Lord to help me soe to doe."

Job has a parting blow from Godfrey in 1661-62, in a suit regarding wheat for which Job owed him, and the £5 demanded included going to Salisbury to fetch the writings out of the court.

In 1662, three years before the above penalty was given by the court, Job had paid his last minister's rate, 10'shillings, and had shaken the soil of Andover from off his feet. Not only had he not been popular with some of his neighbors, but something had occurred to cause him to give up his holdings in Andover, and in one case, that of Godfrey, no consideration is named in the instrument.

Daniell Denison.

Doubtless Job never intended to return to Andover, when he set his face toward Roxbury once more and probably the horse, for which he had bargained his 12 Andover acres, accompanied him.

The year 1665 was to prove an eventful and unpleasant year for Job. In January the court decided against him in his suit against Godfrey and, as shown in the foregoing deposition he had to take back, in a public manner, his accusations against Chandler's character. To get even with his Andover foe, Godfrey, he and his family again take oath in court to the old deposition of 1659 in March 1665.

In Roxbury, or rather in or near the present town of Natick, Job again gets into trouble, as the following document will show:

"Sept. 11, 1665. Owannamang Indian Chief, neere Marlborough complained of Job Tyler of Roxbury for cutting and carrying off hay from his meadows. Fined 2 shillings and six pence, and cost 10 shillings. Attested by me, Daniel Gookin," September 22, 1665, John Eliot (the Apostle to the Indians) certified that Job Tyler had paid.

At some period after his migration from Andover to Roxbury in 1662, Job went to Mendon, and he is among those who drew lots in June, 1671, "for dubling of their house lots." But previous to this he had some controversy, in 1669, with both town and church authorities in Mendon. Therefore we find that:

"July 14, 1669 the Selectmen mett and ordered to send to the Constable to Summon before us Job Tyler the next fryday at one of the clock, at Gregory Cook's house, to answer his contempt of our orders, and alsoe why he refuses to worke aboute the Selor [cellar] at the Minister's house, at yt tyme ye Constable Retourne his answer to us. . . . July 16. The Selectmen met accordingly and the said Constable made his Retourne that he had warned in Job Tyler before us. his answer was he could not nor would come, but if the Selectmen had more to say to him than he to them they might come to him. Upon this answer of Job Tyler's the Townesmen Resolved to make their complaint to the Magistrates of his contempt of several of the Selectmen's orders and of his Miscarriages of the Lord's Day & at Publique assemblies if he doe not Submytt, wch he did not." (Job was a true descendant of that primal irrepressible family rebel, Wat Tyler, "Kentish man," of England.)

Job must, however, have possessed some of the graces of human nature, for his shortcomings were readily condoned. On the following "December 1st," he is "on the list," helping to confirm (in his humble way) Rev. Joseph Emerson, the first settled minister of Mendon. Later comes entry (in as formally dignified tones as the accusation):—"Whereas there has been complaint against Job Tiler heretofore recorded, he has given satisfaction for that offence."

After this date we hear no more of Job's controversies.

In 1676 the birth of one of his grandchildren was recorded in Roxbury, and he may have returned there on account of King Philip's war, as Mendon was burned and the inhabitants fled.

"When the outbreak of King Philip's war came, everybody buried the pewter plates and the brass kettles in the swamps, loaded the . . . horses with the precious feather beds and children and . . . simply 'skedaddled' to safety . . . Neither red nor white brother let Job rest . . . In 1680 he is living in Rowley Village with all the other good kickers against Rowley taxes, and Moses and old Goodman Tyler are duly inspected to see if they go to church." (Miss Charlotte Abbott's Annals of Andover.)

In 1680 Job was in Rowley Village and he may have been in Andover in 1681, but in 1688, 1689, 1691 and 1695 he was paying minister's rates in Mendon. The last item credited to Job is of a deed to his son Moses of land in Mendon. This is dated 1700 and is recorded in the Boston Registry of Deeds, Book XX, p. 127.

Reed to be recorded Janry 10th 1700-01 & accordingly entered & examined per Ad'ton Davenport Reg.

The land was granted by Moses Tyler to John Farnum of Andover (Hopestill's son-in-law who was afterwards of Mendon), for £61, 8 July, 1701, signed by Moses Tyler. Witnesses Thomas Barnard and Benjamin Barker. Acknowledged before Dudley Bradstreet, 2 May, 1706, Addington Davenport, Registrar.

In these old records we thus have a word-picture of this ancestor of a long line of Tylers, such as hardly has been found of any other American immigrant. Professor Henry M. Tyler has said of him: "He was a rude, self-asserting, striking personality. Not to be left out of account in the forces which were to possess the land." There are but few high-lights in the picture; the shadows are all there. He did not, as Professor Tyler said, "learn prudence very fast, but he was himself... He had a good deal of individuality and he gave utterance to it at times with more vigor than grace. He did not shape his words to suit sensitive ears. He resented dictation and found it hard to restrain himself from what he wanted to do through any prudential policy." Yet, when you shall read hereafter what manner of men his sons and grandsons were and what they stood for in all the places where they lived; as you come down through the years, generation by generation, and see what thousands of his descendants have stood for in their homes and before the public, in peace and in war, as pioneers and as dwellers in the cities, you will realize that there must have been good stock in the old man; and he trained a family to be useful and honored in the communities where they dwelt. Superstitious, wilful, hot-tempered, independent and self-reliant Job Tyler lives and breathes in this record nearly three centuries after his time. He did not have saints to live with; were all the truth known, it would be seen that he was on a par with a large proportion of his neighbors. The Puritan iron rule, which made no allowances for any man, met a sturdy opposition in this possible descendant of Wat Tyler of England, and it is now too late to determine whether or not he was always justified. From this old canvas there gazes steadily out, not an ideal but a very real personage, an out and out Yankee type.

It had been suggested that the progenitor of so many thousand men and women, covering the greater part of three centuries which have passed since the early voyager set his foot (the first permanent one) upon Andover soil, should be honored by some fitting monument, since none was in existence. Ac-accordingly, in response to written appeal, numbers of the clan joined their “mites,” to thus honor their forebear, and the memorial was dedicated at the sixth Tyler Reunion, September 4, 1901. The spot selected was beside the grave of the immigrant’s eldest son, Moses, whose ancient slate slab, with its legend of “1727,” has survived with wonderful completeness. Here, under a giant evergreen, upon a cubic yard of cement and cobble stones which was brought just to the surface of the ground, was placed a large hard-grained boulder, brought from the old Tyler farm (now known as the Woods place), four miles distant in West Boxford; a homestead which has known Tyler blood and heirship uninterruptedly from the first generation, when it was acquired from the Indians, to the present day.

Upon the boulder was securely riveted a bronze tablet, cast in Boston, which bears the following legend:—

IN MEMORIAM

JOB TYLER

IMMIGRANT FIRST SETTLED
ANDOVER ABOUT MDCXXXIX
BORN MDCXIX  DIED MDCC.

Dedicated by his whole clan, Sept. 4, 1901.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Prof. Henry M. Tyler, of Smith College.

The eldest child was born in Roxbury or Andover as was probably the third; the fifth and sixth in Roxbury; the others are uncertain. They were:

2+ Moses Tyler, born in 1641 or 1642.
3+ Mary Tyler, born about 1644.
4+ Hopestill Tyler, born about 1645 or 1646.
5  Child, who died in infancy, “1646, month 1, day 28.”
6+ Hannah Tyler.
7  John Tyler, born about 1650; died in Andover, Sept. 28, 1652.
8+ John Tyler, born April 16, 1653.
9+ Samuel Tyler, born May 24, 1655.
SECOND GENERATION

2 QUARTERMASTER MOSES\(^2\) TYLER (JOB\(^1\)), born in Andover or Roxbury, Mass., 1641 or 1642; died in Andover, October 2, 1727; married (1), July 6, 1666, Prudence Blake, born April 15, 1647; died March 9, 1689; daughter of George and Dorothy Blake, of Gloucester, Mass. (who early moved to Boxford); married (2), about 169+, Sarah (Hasey) Sprague, born about 1647; died 1718; widow of Phineas Sprague, of Malden, he having died in 1690; she had several daughters by her first marriage; married (3), July or August, 1718, Mrs. Martha Fisk, born about 1649; died February 13, 1735.

From the "deposicion," before Gov. Bradstreet, of Job Tyler, wherein the son joined, "27, 4, 1659," we know, that Moses Tyler was then "between seventeen & eighteen yeares."

In "Rowley Village," on the old homestead, which has long been called (from one of Moses' sons), "The Captain John Tyler place," Moses began to clear a farm, rear a family, and became a locally conspicuous citizen. As Job, the immigrant, was undoubtedly here for a time with his son (in 1680), and the place still remains in a direct Tyler descent, it is, historically speaking, the most interesting of any of our various Tyler homesteads, in that it has been in the family two and a third centuries, and sheltered members of every generation from the first (something which cannot be said of any other spot). (See No. 11.)

The Tyler homestead came within that part of ancient Rowley, known as "Rowley Village," Moses Tyler being on the committee to fix the bounds between the parent and offspring towns. The main settlement of Rowley Village was in the present village of old Boxford; while Moses' homestead was within the portion incorporated, June 28, 1735, into the new, West Boxford. (There were continuously male Tylers here, from Moses' arrival, 1666, to the time of death of the late Phineas Tyler, 1885; while the blood, through intermarriage, is yet abundant.) Moses Tyler was prominent from the outset in Boxford town matters; but, while most of his townfolk went over to Topsfield "to meeting," Moses found it nearer and more convenient, to continue his church affiliation at Andover.

He repeatedly served his town as selectman, committee-man, surveyor, constable, etc., so often that we can plainly read, he was a very prominent town citizen. In 1685 he was on a committee to lay out several highways; in October, 1690, he became a "freeman"; in 1691, '94, '95, '98 and 1712, he was a selectman; May 11, 1699, was on committee to settle bounds between Boxford and Salem, Topsfield, Andover and Bradford, or any townships formerly granted out of the confines of old Rowley.

January 8, 1689, the town selectmen made a rate of £8, to lay in its first stock of ammunition; Moses Tyler (with three others) being ordered to gather it and expend for "Poudr & bullets and flents." Additions thereto were made from time to time, especially during Indian hostilities; and August 14, 1696, Moses became the custodian of "ten pound of powder, sixty pound of bullets and fifty flints," and "hee is to keep this part of the Town Stock teall the Select men See Caues to lodg it in Sum other place. For such services, he acquired the title of "Quartermaster," which was usually applied to him; though on his gravestone we see, he, or somebody, preferred the plain "Mr.," which was a title of dignity in those days.

For many years after incorporation, Boxford had no church; most of its citizens attended at Topsfield, where Boxford, till 1702, paid "minister's rates." In 1691 Boxford appointed a committee of five, to fix upon a central site for a local church edifice; Moses being one of the five. The construction of this church (probably for lack of means) dragged along for a period of ten years, during which, January 29, 1695, Moses is appointed on the committee to carry on the building. In 1701 it was done, and, January 9, presented to the town; being in the present "East Parish."*

* As this church is so historic of our early generations, a list of Tyler communicants is set out. As Job paid "ministers' rates" here, it is reasonable to think both he and his wife, Mary, were early attendants, though at a period of which records were lost. His sons Hopestill, John and wife were communicants, until their removal to Mendon; also Moses, eldest son of Job and wife Prudence, died while members. Jacob (Moses' only son to live at Andover) took up his pew with his wife, in 1721, and his 2nd wife was admitted in 1729; Jacob, Jr., and his wife, in 1750, and his 2nd wife in 1752; also, in 1758; his brother Moses and wife, and sister Abigail, became members. These brothers removing (the one to Haver-
Moses, while actively interested over Boxford church building, affiliated with Andover congregation, whose records are missing up to 1708. However, from a "List of communicants in 1686," we see that Moses, as well as his wife, was a member at that date. From the preserved records we learn how prominent a member Moses really was. When the subject, dividing Andover into two parishes, came up, it caused much feeling. October 2, 1710, he is placed on the committee of five, "To warn Precinct meetings, and are empowered to warn a meeting when they shall see cause." On the 23d of the same month, Moses is one of a committee of four "To proportion the work on the precinct, in providing timber for the new meeting house according to previous vote." March 19, 1711, he is on the committee of three, "Chosen to discourse the South precinct in any matter in controversy, referring to petition lately offered to General Court." December 24, same year, he is on committee of seven, "To take account of the work ye men have done about the new meeting house, & set valuation on it," etc. June 30, 1712, he is on committee, "To tak an account of cost that the committee was at that may manage the precinct's affairs at the General Court, or otherwise, in order to the recovering of the 300 families back again to us." October 31, 1715, "Quartemaster M. Tyler was chosen Treasurer, till another is chosen in his room in ye office for said precinct." And he was re-elected for the consecutive terms, 1717, '18, '19, '20. Before this, while a resident of Rowley Village in 1681 (with some other distant members) it had been allowed "to set a house for their convenience for families and horse, on Sabbath days."

We find Moses' rate of 1692 on record, but are unable to give a fairly complete account, until his later years, as follows: 1712, Moses Tyler's rate and proportion for minister's salary, 18s., 6d.; 1715, 17s., 3d.; 1716, 19s., 10d.; 1718, £1, 9s., 11d.; 1719, £1, 11s., 7d.; 1720, £1, 12s., 7d.; 1724, £1, 6s., 9d.; 1726, £1, 2s., 6d.

The foregoing exhibits a high-rate payer; therefore, a man of means.

From Salem deeds, we know he was a large landed proprietor; frequently acquiring, seldom parting with, real estate. The hill, the other to Woburn), the family ceased to be represented in the community, for the time being. Since those times, later branches have been affiliated with this organization, from which the blood, by intermarriage, has never at any point of its history been entirely lacking.
old homestead, as later taxed, shows how much had hung together, though much had meantime been granted to others of the kin, or alienated to strangers. From Boxford town rate, 1687 (under Gov. Andros), we see: “Moses Tyler, 3 heads; 1 house; 20 acres; 4 oxen, 3 horses; 5 cows, 5 young cattle; 20 sheep; 3 swine; tax, 11/6d.” (Only two stood higher.) In 1699, Nov. 25, he bought of Nathan Stevens of Andover, 5 acres, meadow and upland, and thus became owner of a sawmill; in 1698, Moses (wife “Sara” joining) for £15, sells Philip Atwood of Bradford, ¾ of some “salt marsh at Plum Island in Rowley.” In 1700, Nov. 27, he, for £60, has of his father, Job, a house lot in Mendon, 15 acres, with 5 acres added from 2nd division; which he sold the following year at £1 profit, to John Farnum of Andover, son-in-law of Moses’ brother Hope­ still. 1708, May 20, Moses (with consent of Sara), gives to John Tyler (his 2nd son), of Boxford, 107 acres in Boxford.
(Probably part of the old homestead.) “1 line running to a tree in Andover line, about 50 rods from the Great Hill end, then to run Easterly upon said line till it meets with Ephraim Foster’s line, which is part of the 400 acres laid out by Rowley town to John Commins, Thomas Dorman & Robt. Stiles.” In 1712 (with consent of “Sara”), Moses, for “love of his son Jonathan, carpenter, of Boxford,” gives Boxford land, 80 acres north of Ipswich road, near brother Ebenezer’s land, also near brother James’ land, “some sponges of meadow,” with “Shaven Crown to Clay Pit Swamp,” a boundary line (which localities are still so known). In 1718, Moses (then a widower) deeds to his son Jacob, youngest born, ¼ of his arable land, meadow, orchard, west end of dwelling house, cellar, stock and husbandry tools in Andover. Again, in 1718, he deeds to son-in-law, Ebenezer Stevens (husband of his step-daughter, Sara Sprague), “shoe meadow,” a valuable tract of old Tyler Boxford homestead. Moses’ second wife, by her Sprague marriage, had had several daughters, who thus came to live with their stepfather; which was the occasion of general authority, Savage, and the local authority, Perley (Hist. of Boxford), making the mistake of recording them as Moses’ own daughters. In extenuation of which error, however, we find the girls named in Moses’ will in such terms as to admit of the supposition, and further, at least, one of them was later called by the name “Tyler,” as evidenced by witchcraft proceedings, wherein one is designated as "Martha Tyler, alias Sprague." Indeed, the custom became so established that, according to Andover records, when "Martha" married (June 5, 1701, Richard Friend, seaman, of Salem), she married as a "Tyler." (See Charlestown Genealogies by Wyman, also Witchcraft Papers, p. 61, in Mass. State House.)

Moses Tyler's wife Sarah died in 1718; whereupon, without long widowerhood, he married the widow, Martha Fisk. The town records say the ceremony took place July 25, 1718; but the church annals put the solemnization August 13, 1718. They appear to have lived congenially together for almost a decade, when Moses, from Andover, whither he removed from Boxford about 1697, passed off the scene.

WILL OF MOSES TYLER

Probated at Salem, Mass., October 13, 1727, case 28452. No Inventory.

"I, Moses Tyler of Andover, in the County of Essex and Province of Massachusetts Bay in New England, husbandman, being at present of sound mind and memory, but considering my mortality, have thought meet to make this my last will and testament.

"And first of all, I commit my soul into the hands of God, who gave it, and my body I commit to the earth in hope of a blessed resurrection at the last day, through the merits of my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ;—and, as for my worldly estate, which God has given me, I give and dispose of the same in manner following.

"As for my sons, Moses, John, Ebenezer, Job, Jonathan, James and Joshua, I have formally given them their full portions out of my estate according to my ability. Also, I give to my six sons, first mentioned, ten pounds apiece, and to my son Joshua the last mentioned, twenty pounds, all which sums are to be paid by my executor in the space of eight years after my decease, and he shall be obliged to pay but ten pounds a year, and shall pay the younger before the elder.

"I give to my son Jacob all my homestead in Andover and my dwelling house, with all my other buildings, that are upon said homestead, and all my meadows, in Andover, and all my stock of cattle and sheep and swine and household goods, and other moveables. Excepting so much of my household goods, which my second wife brought to me, as shall be left at my decease, which shall be equally divided between my son Jacob and his three sisters, Martha, Katherine and Sarah, and the children of his sisters, Joanna and Abagail, deceased; the children of each sister to have one share, and my son Jacob shall have the choice of the beds and furniture thereof that was his mothers; and if my son Jacob shall die without issue lawfully begotten, then the lands, which I have given him in this my will; shall be equally divided among my other sons. And I do hereby constitute, make and ordain my son Jacob the sole executor of this my last will and testament, and if there is any part of my real or personal estate, that I have not disposed [of] in this my last will and testament, I give it to my said executor, and I do hereby revoke and disannul all and every other will and testament by me made.

"Rectifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this ninth day of April, Anno Domini, 1725, and in the eleventh year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord, George of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, King, &c.

A bill of lading appears, from John Higginson, of Salem, dated Oct. 8, 1699,—"Shiped on bord the Ship Lyon," &c., "for my proper Accott & Risque & does Consigned to Mr. Joseph Tyler, for Sales & Returns,— Lastly, is thrown a side-light upon collateral relations. The deceased, had had from "Phineas Sprague, Jr., of Malden" (brother of Joseph Tyler's half-sisters, and who also went to Barbadoes), Oct. 7, 1698, "one Brown horse on bord the Ship Lion," &c., "Bound for Barbadoes," there to be sold, "should he live, and "I to lay out the neett produse in Barbadoes goods—that goods I shall think Best." It may have been, that Joseph died in the West Indies. In 1692, he had been among the "confessed" witches; led into it (with two cousins, Martha and Joanna Tyler) "by Abigail Faulkner."

3 MARY Tyler (Job1), born about 1644; married (1), November 18, 1662, Richard Post, of Woburn, Mass., born about 1627; killed in Mendon, Mass., July 14, 1675, by the Indians (he married (1), February 27, 1649-1650, Susanna Sutton, who probably died s. p.); married (2), March 1, 1677-1678, John Bridges, a widower of Andover, a blacksmith and constable there in 1678; son of Edmund Bridges, the immigrant. He had a son and daughter by first wife. Mary was accused of witchcraft. Children, by first marriage:

21 Mary Post, born Sept. 29, 1664.

She was accused of witchcraft, and tried at Salem, in January, 1692-3, as vouches by the following papers in the case:

"Mary Post, of Rowley, in the County of Essex, single woman, being indicted by the jurors for our Sovereign Lord & Lady, the King & Queen, upon their oaths, by two several indictments, that is to say: 1st., For that she, the said Mary Post, of Rowley in the Co. of Essex, single woman, about three years ago, in the town of Rowley aforesaid, wickedly, maliciously and feloniously, a covenant with the Devil did make and signed the Devil's book, and was baptized by the Devil, & renounced her former Christian baptism, by which diabolical covenant, with the Devil made, she, the said Mary Post, is become a detestable witch, contrary to the peace of our Sovereign Lord & Lady, the King & Queen, their crown and dignity, & the laws in that case made and provided. 2d. For that she, the said Mary Post of Rowley, single woman, sometime in the month of July last, in the year 1692 aforesaid, & divers other days and times, as well before as after, certain detestable arts, called witchcrafts and sorceries, wickedly, maliciously and feloniously hath used practiced and exercised at and in the town of Andover, in the Co. of Essex aforesaid, upon and against one Timothy Swan, of Andover aforesaid, by which said wicked arts, the said Timothy Swan the day and year aforesaid and divers other days and times as well before as after was and is tortured, afflicted, tormented, consumed, pined & wasted, against the peace of our Sovereign Lord & Lady, the King & Queen, their crown and dignity & against the laws in that case made and provided." "Upon the aforesaid indictment and each of them, the said Mary Post was then & there before the Jurors of our Lord & Lady, the King & Queen aforesaid, arraigned and upon her arraignment did then and there, the day and year aforesaid, plead to them & each of them not guilty, & put herself upon trial by God and her country."
"A Jury being called, Benayah Titcomb, Foreman, John Witt, Joseph Little, John Pickard, Edmund Gale, John Emerson, John Ordway, John Abby, Seth Story, John Hall, Nathaniel Emerson & Eleazer Gyles, and accordingly sworn, no exception being made by the prisoner, the said indictments and each of them being read, together with evidences and examinations and the prisoner's defence being heard, the Jury went out to agree on their verdict, which returning did then and there in open court deliver their verdict, that the said Mary Post was guilty of covenanting with the Devil, for which she stood indicted in the second indictment. The Court ordered the keeper of the Gaole to take care of the prisoner according to law." Soon after, she was sentenced to death; but was finally reprieved."

N. B.—The Clerk of Court's records of Salem, of this period, verifies that many of the accused and their friends claimed, and received, "damages," for false accusations; their receipts being on file. We illustrate as follows:—"By His Excellency, the Governor. Whereas ye General Assembly in their last session accepted ye report of their comittee appointed to consider of ye Damages Sustained by Sundry persons prosecuted for Witchcraft in ye year 1692 Vizt. . . . Mary Post, £8. 14."

22 Joanna Post, born Sept. 13, 1666; she was an accuser in a witchcraft trial, and herself, at another time, was accused, but acquitted.

23 John Post, born April 14, 1669.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:

24 Mary Bridges, born Jan. 27, 1679-1680; accused of witchcraft at the age of 12.

25 Samuel Bridges, born July 19, 1681.

26 Elizabeth Bridges, born June 5, 1683.

27 Mehitable Bridges, born April 29, 1688.

4 HOPESTILL² TYLER (JOB¹), born about 1646, probably in Roxbury or Andover, Mass.; died in Preston, Conn., January 20, 1734, "in ye 89th year of his age" according to the rather rude stone which marks his grave in the old burying ground in Preston; married in Mendon, January 20, 1668, Mary Lovett, born in Mendon, March 7, 1652-53; said to have died in 1732; daughter of Daniel Lovett, of Braintree and Mendon. Hopestill went to Andover with his father, who apprenticed him in 1658 to a blacksmith of Andover, Thomas Chandler; the boy was to be taught the blacksmith trade "so far as he was capable to learn" for a period of 9½ years; was to be taught to read the Bible and write so as to keep a book for his trade, and to be allowed "convenient meat and drinke, washing, lodging and clothes." Something occurred to sicken the father of this bargain and he took arbitrary steps to get possession of his son, which lead to a long legal battle, rather disastrous and humiliating to Job. When the family moved to Roxbury, Hopestill went also, and later went to Mendon. In 1671 he shared in the land division of Mendon; the next year he drew "Lot 30" in a swamp land division; in 1673 he was "surveyor of highways." In 1675 when the inhabitants fled from the Indian raid he went to his old home in Roxbury, for his child Martha ("Mathew" in records and will) was baptized there, and the next year his son John was born there. By 1681 he is at Andover, as children are recorded there. His name is on the church list there of 1686. He was the first Tyler citizen in the newly settled part of Andover, in the south part of the town, and in 1687, by permission, he "set up a shop in ye streete near his house." This was on the Boston road near the inn of Joseph Parker, who buys of Hopestill in 1710. He also owned the "Devil's Den," as well as the great frogponds. He was again made freeman in 1691; also chosen tythingman. In 1692 the terrible scourge of witchcraft touched his home; his wife was accused and imprisoned, but was finally released.

STORY OF MARY TYLER'S CONFESSION

The following is a digest of the "recantation" obtained from Hopestill Tyler's wife by the Rev. Increase Mather, the same being followed by Bailey's Sketches of Andover, pp. 222 and 223.

"Goodwife Tyler did say, that when she was first apprehended, she had no fears upon her, & did think, that nothing could have made her confess against herself. But, since, she has found to her great grief, that she had wronged the truth & falsely accused herself." When she was being taken from her home in Andover to prison in Salem, her brother-in-law Bridges rode beside her; and, during the memorable ride, told her that she must be a “witch,” because the afflicted were raised out of their fits “by her touch.” She stoutly denied the accusation, and begged him not to urge her to confess. But, arrived at Salem (shall we not rather say, temporary “Pandemonium”?), she had to combat, not only a stubbornly misguided brother on one side, but also on her other side, “John Emerson”; which latter stoutly took up the cudgel of accusation, on calling her a witch, declaring he could see the Devil before her eyes, whereupon, with his hands, he proceeded to beat him off. In short, her persecutors so harassed her for confession, that she would have “preferred a dungeon,” to their presence. Finally, they threatened to leave her; declaring that, in such event, she would be undone body and soul forever. To their reiterated, that she “could not lie by confessing,” she retorted, “I shall lie, if I confess; and then, who shall answer unto God for my lie?” Their final resort always was, “You will be hanged, if you do not confess!” In short, they so protracted their unmerciful treatment, that the poor woman began to doubt her very life and reason: whereupon they proceed to have her “agree to say” what they should “suggest.” But, in her real “confession” to Rev. Mather, she insisted, “she wronged her conscience in so doing, was guilty of a great sin in belying herself & desired to mourn for it so long as she lived.” And the said Mather adds, “Her affliction, sorrow, relenting, grief and mourning, exceeds any pen to describe and express the same.”
SECOND GENERATION 27

VERDICT ON MARY TYLER

MARY TYLER wife of Hopestill Tyler of Andover, Blacksmith, being Indicted by the Jurors for o’ Soveraigne Lord and Lady the King and Queen upon these Oaths, try these Several Indictments. That is to say; 1st—For that shee the said Mary Tyler wife of Hopestill Tyler of Andover in the County of Essex, Blacksmith, about seaven Years since in the Town of Andover aforesaid wickedly Malitiously and feloniously a covenant with the Devill did make and signed the Devills Book, and promised to serve the Devill as long as she lived &c. &c. The Jury went out to agree on their verdict, who returning did then and there in open Court deliver their Verdict. That the said Mary Tyler was Not Guilty of the felony by witchcraft for which she stood Indicted in & by the said Indictments, and each of them. The Court ordered Mary Tyler aforesaid to be discharged paying her fees.

His daughters Hannah, Martha and Joanna were likewise accused, and their father and their uncle, John Bridges, gave a bond for surety in the sum of £100 for the appearance of Martha and Joanna. In Nevin's "Witchcraft in 1692," in Appendix A appears the name of "Hope Tyler" in the list of the accused, but the author found no details of any proceedings in such cause. In all there were eleven of the Tyler name and blood who were accused and taken out of their homes. They were all acquitted. Whether the witchcraft episodes had anything to do with it or not, there is nothing to show, but after a few years Hopestill moved to Preston, Conn. In 1697 he sold his land and house at Andover, and in Connecticut, for generations, his descendants grew rapidly in numbers and prestige. He is one of twelve men who organized the first church in Preston, November 16, 1698. It is believed that he went to Preston the preceding summer. He built his house in the forest, about a mile from the hamlet, and the primitive stone-fireplace was standing a few years ago, strong and massive, where an 8-foot log could be rolled in. The old well exists, and the same old rocks, doubtless, for it is a rocky region, and Hopestill must have gained his competence more by blacksmith work than by farming. The old andirons, which were probably his handiwork, more than two hundred years ago, are heavy, with a ring in the top, fashioned wholly of iron, burned and rusty; this hearth, preserved so long, is the earliest one that can be indubitably proved to be connected with the descendants of Job Tyler of Andover. The fireplace is boarded up and never used. The house, for the most part, is said to have been burned a great many years ago. The chimney bears a date, 1768, and it is said to be nearly a reproduction of its prototype. The deed of this farm of one hundred and ten acres was given by Robert Gear to Hopestill under date of June 28, 1715. He was something of a landlord; became a purchaser of "Common lands" and he continued to own lands in Massachusetts for some years. While yet in Andover, he had granted to his brother Samuel (then of "Rowley Village"), for £30, a 15-acre house lot in Mendon, five of which had come from his "father Tyler." And it also seems, that he had early made purchase in Preston; for we find deed to "Hope" from Samuel Mason, January 10, 1689. In 1703, he deeded land in Groton, Conn., to his son Daniel, whereupon is situated a place long known as "Tyler Hill." In 1706, he deeds a piece to his son James; and in 1713, another to son Hopestill, Jr. He seems to have retained interests in Massachusetts, after his departure; for we find, at Salem, two deeds from him in the years 1710 and 1713. June 20, 1704, he had a deed in Connecticut from Thomas Averill; June 28, 1715, another from his son-in-law, Robert Geer. The inventory of his estate amounted to over £842. He possessed a "Close-bodied coat," which with "beaver hat" and "muff" must have made him both comfortable and stylish for his day. He also had an "orange cloak." His life, in an unusual degree, seems to have been removed from the realm of the commonplace, he having, for various reasons, lived in four towns, and having passed through the horrors of Indian raids and the terrors of the witchcraft delusion, which attacked those nearest and dearest to him. His will, dated May 15, 1728, was recorded in New London, Conn., August 9, 1734 (See Wills, Book VI, Folios 155-156). Of the children whose birthplaces are known, the second and those after the fifth were born in Andover.

8 DEACON JOHN² TYLER (JOB¹), born in Andover, Mass., April 16, 1653; baptized in Roxbury, Mass., June 4, 1665, in John Eliot's church; died May 4, 1742, in Mendon, Mass.; buried there with stone still standing; married, September 14, 1682, Hannah Parker, born in Andover May 14, 1659; daughter of Nathan Parker and his second wife, Mary; her father was early in Newbury, and in Andover by 1645. He doubtless spent some years of his youth in Mendon with his father, with whom he must have fled at the outbreak of King Philip's War to Rowley Village, and later went to Andover. He and his wife became members of the first church of Andover, where they appear upon the list of 1686, though the exact year of their first communion is not recorded. With his elder brother Hopestill, and his brother-in-law, John Bridges, he became a "freeman," April 18, 1691. Between the births of his two children, Bethia and Mary, he moved to Mendon, and in 1698 he and his wife joining, made a conveyance to John Marston.

In 1695, he first appears at Mendon upon the minister's rate, "£00.10.7, county pay, and £00.02.10, money." March 7, 1698, the town voted "to grant a Streaume for the Incoradgment of a Corn Mill within the bounds of the town," and John Tiler was on the committee "to view the streams and pick upon a place for that purpose, and make Return of ye same." In 1699, he shares in a division of proprietor's land, and pays on minister's rate, "£01.00.06 and 6 ft. of wood." March 3, 1701, he was on the committee to give the selectmen instructions. March 17, 1701, a schedule of claims presented, and John Tyler on committee, "to goe about the town and Take a valuation and bring it to the selectmen In order to ther making of the towne Rate." In 1702, he was elected selectman. In 1704, his rate on payment of town debts was "£00.04.10," and he received for his charge against town, £00.05.08." In 1708, he was one of three trustees, to take town valuation. In 1709, he was again a selectman; and "Jan. 8" of that year, when the town voted to put up their first school-house, he was upon the building committee. In 1712, he put in a bill to the town, "for 4 days about ye Ministry and Scool lots, . . . £00.10.00." In 1711, there had been a committee of nine chosen, to see about seating the meetings; but as their labors did not seem to give satisfaction, in 1713, we see that Deacon (John) Tyler (with two other deacons) are made a committee, to see if better arrangements cannot be made for seating the meeting house. In the same year, "November 23," he is authorized to take from the town treasury money to pay the preacher for the past two weeks, "and, If sd. money comes In by Contrybution, within one month, then to Return the same to the Treasurer, otherwise to be made up by the towne." March 28, 1715, Deacon Tyler was on a committee, "to take care to provide a Minister [to succeed Rev. Rawson], for the Town, from time to time, until they shall provide a man, so far to the Town's acceptance, as to give a call to settlement." February 24, 1716, he is on the committee, to agree with Rev. Joseph Dorr to be the minister in Mendon. In the "Seventh division" of land, in 1719, his lot drawn is No. 110.
From this time, as he was getting to be an old man, we do not hear so much of him through the records; his sons John, Jr. and Nathan, come in; especially the latter, who was probably the most ubiquitous of any Tyler who ever lived in the town. In March, 1729, old Deacon Tyler (and the town clerk), with characteristic independence (though nearly four score), "protests against irregularities in the choice of town officers"; and the same year, in December, enters protest against the committee "for stating the place for the Meeting House." The very last we hear of him, is the following season, from which time he appears to have retired to private life, not, however, without a word of warning to such as shall follow after: for we see "February 15, 1730," when it was decided to build a new meeting-house, at the request of John Tyler and others, it was put to vote, "whether the town should repair the old Meeting-House, or the town be divided," it being decided in the negative. Whereupon, Deacon John, and his sons, John, Jr., Nathan, Robert and Joseph Tyler, entered a protest.

It is recorded at Mendon that Deacon John Tyler "died of Jandows, 4 May, 1742, aged 90 years," and the place of his interment is yet to be seen, marked by a fine slate slab. We find no probate of his estate; probably, like his father, he settled his earthly possessions while living. For we find (Boston Deeds, Bk. 45, p. 148), December 15, 1712, his deed to his son Nathan Tyler (acknowledged, September 18, 1713, and recorded March 4, 1730), conveying the "contents of a two acre right," with a two acre right in all future divisions and town commonage. Also, "13 Jan. 1723/24" (Boston Deeds, Bk. 38, p. 103), John Tyler, So., of Mendon, grants "the one full & equal second part (the whole into two parts to be divided) of my Homestead whereupon I now dwell, with the one half of the edifices & buildings thereon erected . . . bounded as Mendon records will fully demonstrate," &c., to his "well beloved" son, Joseph Tyler.

The four elder children were born in Andover; the others in Mendon.

Children:

48 John Tyler, born Aug. 16, 1684; died apparently unmarried, 1753. He lived in Mendon, where he shared in the "7th Division Lots," being No. 23 in 1719; was constable in 1728; was chosen in 1744 with one other to care for the “Preservation of ye Deer”; the inventory of his estate was dated May 28, 1753, showing real estate, £144.13.4, and the property was divided among his brothers and sisters and heir of Bethia. Nathan was administrator.

49+ Nathan Tyler, born Feb. 17, 1687.
50+ Robert Tyler, born July 19, 1689.
51+ Bethia Tyler, born Feb. 17, 1692.
52+ Mary Tyler, born May 24, 1694.
53+ David Tyler, born June 15, 1696.
54+ Joseph Tyler, born Oct. 21, 1701.
55 Mercy Tyler, born March 26, 1704; was dead in 1753 when her interest in her brother John’s estate was awarded her “only heir”; married, Oct. 13, 1732, Daniel Hazeltine, of Mendon.

9 SAMUEL2 TYLER (Job1), (“husbandman”), born in Andover, Mass., May 24, 1655; baptized in John Eliot’s church in Roxbury, Mass., June 4, 1665; died December 17, 1695, in Mendon, Mass.; buried there; married Hannah ——.

“Samuel Tiler’s” name is found on the list of those “impressed” at Rowley, November 29, 1675 (at the age of 20.) He appears to have been assigned to Major Appleton’s command, which, under the commander-in-chief, Governor Winslow, of Plymouth, the following month set out from Dedham, on the Narragansett Expedition. A detailed account of the ensuing conflict may be found in many histories. Two of the reported slain, bore the name of “Samuel Taylor,” one being credited to Ipswich, the other to Rowley. It is an undoubted fact (as suggested by Mr. Bodge in his excellent Soldiers in King Philip’s War), that this “Samuel Taylor of Rowley,” reported “slayn,” was in reality Samuel Tiler of Rowley. And it is also quite clear, that Samuel Tiler must have been wounded in that bitter fight, and left behind; and so, later, reported dead. This is further made probable from his subsequent early death at forty years, while his three brothers all lived to be over eighty years old, as did his father. His descendants had a marked military tendency:—one son of two was a captain; of his grandsons, one was a lieutenant, one a captain and one a major-general; among the greatgrandsons, were one captain, one major and one colonel; besides several, meanwhile, in the humbler "private" ranks. Few families, in proportion to numbers, make as honorable showing.

Bodge (p. 155), further enlightens us, that "Samuel Tiler" was "credited, March 24, 1675/6 . . . £03.07.08." In accordance with the Governor's proclamation, made prior to the fight, that, "if they took the fort and drove out the Indians from Narragansett," the soldiers should have "a gratuity of land," as well as wages; we find, in 1728, under "Narraganset Township No. 3, Soukhegan West, now Amherst, New Hampshire," that "Samuel Tyler," of Andover, through his "son, Ebenezer," plants a successful "claim": though the land is "drawn" by James Parker (presumably, the legally qualified grantee.)*

Samuel, in all probability, had been with his father at Mendon, when its settlers were driven away, at the very outbreak of Philip's War; and the fact, that so soon after he is "impressed from Rowley," lends strong coloring to the supposition, that Job Tyler repaired thither, rather than to Roxbury: especially, is this tentative supposition, when we notice the very next recorded item of Job, comes in 1680 at Rowley. The fact that Samuel, in his land drawing, is credited with service from "Andover," may lend some basis for assuming that he was living there some time after returning from Philip's War; but in 1682, he was still of "Rowley Village," when, for £30 and a swine, his brother Hope deeded him his fifteen-acre house lot at Mendon, his future home; where, February 9, 1691, for £10, he has from Angel Torry of Mendon, twenty more local acres, upon "Muddie Brooke." In 1685 he paid his first minister's rate there, 16s. Old.; and not far from this date, undoubtedly took up his homestead, located about a mile south of the present Mendon Center Village. From that time down to about 1830 (the approximate departure of Deacon Nathan Tyler, last of the line in the place), the family "Were all prominent in church and town affairs." Samuel Tyler was chosen surveyor of highways, "3 Jan. 1686," constable, "2 Jan. 1687," and again, "24 Jan. 1689." On Rev. Mr. Rawson's salary

*Massachusetts (from first to last) found it necessary to make no less than seven Narragansett "Township Grants," whose names are here given, in order:—Buxton, Me., Westminster, Mass., Amherst, N. H., Greenwich, Mass., Bedford, N. H., Templeton, Mass., and Gorham, Me. Connecticut likewise granted her heroes a single township, which took the name (I suppose, for obvious reason) "Voluntown." rate, October, 1688/89, we find "No. 33 Job & Sam Tiler . . . £01.s.14.d.04." On a similar rate for 1691, we see "No. 24 Job Tiler & Samuel . . . £01.s.18.d.00." In 1693, Samuel was "tything-man" (the first year the town seems to have elected one.) In 1695, the town, as usual, made two semi-annual rates for the minister; Samuel Tiler's proportion was "county pay" (i.e., in produce), "£00.13.03 . . . Money, £00.03.08." That year, "17 Dec. 1695," came his untimely end. His sincerely sorrowing fellow-citizens bore their young fellow-townsmen, shrouded in his plain board coffin, upon their brawny shoulders to the old "Center burying-ground."

A mortgage, in which he was interested, is recorded at East Cambridge, Mass., in Vol. 11, p. 148, bearing date, September 29, 1692, in the sum of £60, payable twelve years afterwards, with interest at £3.10 annually, given by Joseph Wilson and wife, Dorcas, of Malden, being secured upon eight acres of land, house and orchard. It was "discharged" by Samuel's widow, Hannah, September 27, 1704. Two other deeds at Taunton.

Perhaps, like many other Tylers, he died suddenly, for he left no will; "Letters" in his estate being granted the widow, April 9, 1696, upon which date was filed inventory of his property, "£243.10," Boston, Mass., Probate Book II, pp. 149, 150.

His widow, Hannah, then of "Rehoboth," October 9, 1704, had a mortgage, in the sum of £12.6.8, from Joseph Tree, of Attleboro; which her son Ebenezer, June 19, 1710, "discharged." (Taunton Deeds, Bk. 5, p. 149.)

Boston Prob., Bk. 11, pp. 149, 150. Est. Saml. Tyler of Mendon:
Letters of Administration granted unto Hannah, Tyler, widow of late husb. Saml T. "Husbandman," decsd. 9 Apr. 1696.

The children were born in Mendon.

CHILDREN:

56+ Ebenezer Tyler, born April 28, 1685.
57+ Mary Tyler, born Feb. 21, 1689.
58 Elizabeth Tyler, born March 17, 1691; married Samuel Field(?).
59+ Hannah Tyler, born Feb. 12, 1692.
60+ Samuel Tyler, Jr., born Feb. 26, 1695.
THIRD GENERATION

10. MOSES\(^3\) TYLER (Moses\(^2\)), born Rowley Village (now West Boxford), February 16, 1667; died October 11, 1732; married, January 3, 1694, Ruth Perley, of Ipswich; born 1676; died in Andover, May 10, 1738, but was buried with her husband in Rowley. It is stated in the History of Boxford that he moved just within the bounds of Andover about 1698, but in 1703 he is constable in Rowley. His name is on the 1711 Rowley tax list; in 1714 his “Province tax” was “£1.9.3”; he is on the preacher’s rate of 1720; in 1722 his “Province tax” is “£0.18.8” and “Minister’s rate, £0.15.7.”, while in 1726, it is, respectively, “£3.8.11” and “£1.4.5.”. In 1728 he is selectman there. In 1723, with his brother Jacob, he deeds (recorded 1725, Salem, Bk. 45, p. 98), from “Andover,” John Johnson, Jr., for £15, 1/4 of a saw-mill, on a river, “alias brook, called Cachechorrick”—1/4 part of the iron-work—1/4 part wooden work—1/4 part utensils—1/4 part stream—1/4 part woodyard—1/4 part upper dam—1/4 part ditch from dam to mill for course of water. In 1736, upon the first incorporation of the second church in (West) Boxford, his widow and eldest daughter, Sarah (Porter), were among the “admitted,” having requested “dismission” from the First church.

CHILDREN:

61+ Sarah Tyler, born in 1696.
62+ Lydia Tyler, baptized Jan. 7, 1702.
63+ Mary Tyler, baptized Oct. 30, 1709.
64+ Mehitable Tyler, baptized in 1712.

11. CAPTAIN JOHN\(^3\) TYLER (Moses\(^2\)), born in Rowley Village, Mass., September 14, 1669; died June 17, 1756; married, November 14, 1695, Annie Messenger, of Boston; born about 1676; died February 11, 1745. He enlisted and served for five months in King William’s War, in 1688, and he was the second of Job’s descendants to bear arms, but he is believed to have acquired his title of Captain as Master Mariner on a merchant ship, and is said to have spent twenty years on the ocean. He lived for a time after his marriage in Charlestown, where the birth of his eldest child is recorded. Not long after, however, he returned to his native place; for we find a deed, of date March 1, 1702/3, from Ephraim Foster, of Andover, blacksmith, in consideration of £70 in silver, paid by “Mr. John Tiler, living in Boxford, Mariner,” conveying a house and land in Boxford, upland and swamp ground, and further “one third part of the great swamp * * pond meadow * * little meadow & * * great meadow,” being 1/3 of the right therein of Robert Eams, Sr., purchased of Jacob Eams, who had it from his father’s estate.

We also find deed to John Tyler, from his father, Moses, dated May 20, 1708 (acknowledged, June 7, 1712; rec. March 1, 1726), conveying 107 acres of Boxford land, “one line running to a Tree in Andover line, about 50 rods from the great Hill End, then to Run Easterly upon sd. line till it meets with Ephraim Fosters Land or line, which is part of the 400 acres of land which was laid out by the Town of Rowley to John Commins, Thomas Dorman & Robert Stiles.” His home, now known as the “Captain John Tyler place,” in Boxford, is the most ancient family seat of the Tylers thus far identified in Essex County, (Mass.), the old home of immigrant Job, 1640. Job’s house must have been among the first built in North Andover (he mortgaged his “house and barn” in “1650,” and land “fenced and unfenced,”) but has not been located, and may never be.

The eldest son of Job, “Quartermaster” Moses, settled upon the “Captain John” place (where father Job probably passed some later years of his life), and was thus one of the first settlers of West Boxford (contiguous to northerly North Andover.) The house at present standing (that is, the rear part) was built by Moses’ son, Captain John Tyler, probably about the time of Moses’ death, 1727. Some “bricks” have recently been found buried in the present driveway, which would appear to locate the old fireplace of Moses at a few rods to the east of the present dwelling; and it is not at all unlikely, that when the first house was abandoned for purposes of living, it continued to be used as a storehouse, until it finally passed off the scene in decay. It must have been a very simple structure, judging from reports of the typical first settler's cabin.

Of the many Tylers who have lived in this dear old home, none has left a memory more quaintly attractive than "Aunt Prue," who was herein born, where she passed away at the remarkable age of 100. She was to have been wed in younger days, and the visitor is shown a Bible, the gift of her betrothed; though she did not marry him, nor did she pine away, one may easily see how dear he was in memory—very unusual memory of a love affair that could survive through more than the divinely allotted "three score and ten." Captain John's will provided a room for her "on the lower floor" of his house; she had kept house for him, after his wife died in 1745, until he himself left eleven years later. Gideon, who succeeded Captain John, also died four years before "Aunt Prue." She is buried near by, in the old West Boxford cemetery. Let all Tylers who pass this mound think kindly benediction towards a faithful kinswoman, who longer than any other was familiar to these beloved accustomed paths and haunts.

The present imposing country house is due to the kindly efforts of Gideon Tyler, son of Captain John, who succeeded to the premises upon his father's death. The presence of three chimneys (very unusual in so old a dwelling) is accounted for by this interesting bit of history: Gideon had two daughters, Mehitable and Anna (commonly called "Hitty" and "Nanny"), who died aged spinsters, both in September, 1833, at eighty-four and eighty, respectively. Gideon (with a paternal kindness worthy of later day imitation), built for these the west ell, with a single room upstairs and down, where for long years, in well-ordered privacy, they lived comfortably and happily. Upon their deaths, the rooms were closed, and have ever since remained unoccupied.

Captain John's "rear rooms" are very well preserved and quaint, being quite low-posted, with heavy beams exposed to view, and the poem of a cozy fire-place, identical line for line with "The days of auld lang syne." In the front room, too, is a time-honored hearthstone, wherefrom rises the flames of domestic joys upon inclement days.

When in 1800 Gideon died, his eldest son, John, fell heir to the old place; upon whose demise, in 1823, his daughters, Mehitable and Mercy, succeeded to possession. Mercy lived to so recently as 1880, "singly" to her eighty-seventh year. Mehitable survived until 1891, aged ninety-three. Her husband was Captain Enoch Wood (descendant of an ancient Essex County family), who left (among others) a daughter, Rebecca Tyler Wood, and a son, John Tyler Wood, born in 1830 and 1831 respectively, who carry on the premises in the old God-fearing way. Having no living descendants, who shall inherit the old landmark when they shall have gone to their long rest? (Written in 1896).

Captain John appears on the Boxford tax list of 1711; and in 1714 was Selectman, as well as "Constable to gather the Province Tax," wherein his portion was £1.4.6. By 1722 his "Province Tax" had risen to £9.15.10, and his minister's rate the same year was £1.4.6. Evidently he was prospering! In 1726 his town tax was £2.2.11, and minister's rate, £1.3.4. In 1735, upon the formation of the Second parish, he was elected its first treasurer; and May 1, 1737, on dismissal from the First church, became, with his wife, a member of the Second church. In September, 1745, with others, he was suspended from "ye special privileges of Sacred fellowship & Communion," for "receiving into their houses Itinerant Preachers & holding meetings in opposition to ye repeated entreaties of their Brethren," &c.; but, April 9, 1747, he made "Confession & acknowledgment," and was reinstated. He appears, like his father, to have been a member of the North Andover church, from records of his "rates" there in 1745, 1747 and 1749.

His will was probated in Salem, Mass., July 12, 1756, Case 28438.

The second (as well as the eldest child) was probably born in Charlestown; the others in Boxford, on the old home-place.

CHILDREN:

65+ John Tyler, born Nov. 6, 1696.
66+ Moses Tyler, born July 14, 1700.
67+ Anna Tyler, born Jan. 1, 1702.
68+ Martha Tyler, born Feb. 5, 1704.
69+ Prudence Tyler, born Jan. 15, 1706; died July 23, 1804, unmarried; her headstone says "aet. 100."
70+ Abner Tyler, born Feb. 1, 1708.
71 Joshua, born March 2, 1711; died Feb. 8, 1715.
72+ Gideon, born Dec. 8, 1712.
73 Sarah, born April 1, 1713(?); died in infancy.
Hannah, born June 13, 1714; probably died in infancy; not mentioned in father's will.

Abigail, born Aug. 2, 1715.

Ruth.

13 EBENEZER² TYLER (Moses²), born in Rowley Village, Mass., September 18, 1673; died December 1, 1743; married Elizabeth Walker, born about 1668; died April 9, 1745; daughter of Richard Walker. He resided in Boxford, Mass. His name is on the tax list of 1711 in Boxford; also in 1714; in 1721 he deeds thirty-seven acres to his son Samuel.

May 23, 1744, appears a Q. C. deed (Rec. Salem, VI. 94, p. 104), to which all his surviving children seem to be parties; wherein Samuel, Nathaniel and David Tyler, husbandmen, of Boxford, with Elizabeth and husband, Philip Chaplin, of Boston, Susanna Larrabee, of Boston, widow and spinster, “all children of Ebenezer Tyler, deceased, late of Boxford,” quit claim right in father’s land, then possessed by brother Richard, the former deed thereto not having been properly acknowledged. There is no probate of his estate.

CHILDREN:

Samuel Tyler, born May 9, 1694.

Joseph Tyler, born Sept. 6, 1695; probably died young.

Prudence Tyler, born Nov. 4, 1697; probably died young, unmarried.

Nathaniel Tyler, born April 4, 1702.

Ebenezer Tyler, born Feb. 17, 1703; probably died young, unmarried.

Elizabeth Tyler, born Dec. 4, 1708; married, May 29, 1738, Philip Chaplin, of Boston, probably son of William and Martha Chaplin; they had no children in Boston.

David Tyler, born June 5, 1710.

Sarah Tyler, born June 5, 1712; probably died young, unmarried.

Susanna Tyler, born in 1713; died s. p. in Boxford, June, 1750; married, June 16, 1737, Jonathan Larrabee, of Boston; born in Boston, Oct. 7, 1713; son of William and Lydia Larrabee; in 1744 she is recorded as “widow and spinster of Boston.”
THIRD GENERATION

14 JOB3 TYLER (Moses2), born in Rowley Village, Mass., December 16, 1675; died in Rowley, Mass., in 1754; married (1), Margaret Bradstreet, born in Andover, Mass., February 19, 1674; died before 1736; daughter of Colonel Dudley Bradstreet and his wife Ann (Wood) Price Bradstreet, (the widow of Theodore Price); grand-daughter of Governor Simon Bradstreet of Massachusetts Bay colony and his wife, Anne (Dudley) Bradstreet; married (2), June 1, 1736, Priscilla Peabody, of Boxford, Mass.; she then eighteen years of age and he sixty-one; she died s. p.; married (3), September 11, 1747, Mrs. Mary Brockelbank, who died in 1755. All his children were by the first marriage, and it is fitting to speak of the grandmother of Mrs. Margaret Bradstreet Tyler, the gifted Anne Dudley Bradstreet. Reared amid the refinement and elegance of an English castle (her father, Governor Thomas Dudley had been steward to the Earl of Lincoln), at the age of eighteen, she came with her husband, Simon Bradstreet, to seek a home in the wilderness of North America. She is reputed to be the first American poetess. In Andover, in the Bradstreet House, built about 1667 by Governor Bradstreet, were born her last three of eight children. This house has a massive frame of heavy timbers, its walls lined with brick; its enormous chimney, running up through the center, shows in the garret like a fortification, and might, with care, last another half century. Among her descendants may be named William Ellery Channing, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Wendell Phillips and Richard Henry Dana. Here was born about the year 1648, her son Colonel Dudley Bradstreet, who lived to the great age of ninety-four. He was the first person to breast and mark a turning point to the dreadful delusion of witchcraft. His only living descendants are those tracing through the children of his daughter Margaret and her husband Job Tyler. This history will show how pertinaciously the names Bradstreet and Dudley have clung as "given" names to the descendants of "Margaret and Job." Among the descendants of their son, William Tyler, is the author of this volume. Job Tyler was administrator of the goods not previously acted upon by former administrators of his father-in-law, Colonel Dudley Bradstreet. (See Salem Probate Records, Case No. 8068.) He gave bonds in the sum of £400. In 1708 Job Tyler had given a receipt to the previous administrator for £800, being “in part of what is due to me the Sub­scriber from said said.” In 1709 he gave a receipt for £26, “pr order from Madom bradstreet Relick widdow of the said Collonil Dudley bradstreet in part of what was allowed to her by the Judge of probate in the settlement of Said Es­tate.” In 1706 he was constable of the recently erected munici­pality of Boxford; selectman in 1716 and in 1744, and served on town and church committees. April 25, 1732, he became one of a committee “to renew the bounds between Boxford & Andover”; and, in 1735, was on the committee of three to oversee and manage the building of the Second (i. e. original West Boxford) church. His will was dated April 26, 1754 and probated December 16, 1754. He lived in Rowley, now Georget­town, and he made numerous land grants.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:

87+ Dudley Tyler, born in 1700.
88+ William Tyler, born July 4, 1701.
89+ Margaret Tyler, born March 24, 1703.
90+ Job Tyler, born Feb. 28, 1705.
91+ Asa Tyler, bom April 25, 1708.
92+ Hannah Tyler, bom June 5, 1710.

17 JONATHAN3 TYLER (Moses2), born in Rowley Village, Mass., March 8, 1683; married, June 14, 1708, Phoebe Chandler, of Andover. He is on the Boxford tax-list of 1711; in 1714, his “Province tax” was £0.16.10; 1720, on minister’s rate; 1722 was Constable to collect Province tax, his share being £0.18.12, with minister’s rate, £00.11.11; 1726, his town tax was £1.15.11, minister’s rate, £0.12.4. In 1725, he rose to the dignity of selectman. 1712 shows a deed from his father, “for love of my son Jonathan, carpenter, of Boxford,” of eighty acres on north of Ipswich road, near Ebenezer Tyler’s land, and that of his brother James, “Shaven Crown to Clay Pit Swamp,” being one of its boundaries. The last record found (Mass. Archives, Vol. CV, p. 124), exhibits him as one of two petitioners for the town of Boxford, February, 1727. It had been a custom to cut lumber in New Hampshire on the Merrimac, and float it down the river to coast, where it was used for ship-timber; as it was often swept to sea, it involved great losses; wherefore this petition to General Court, to erect a boom across, just above Haverhill, between Gage's and Griffin's ferries. This being done, we are inclined to think, Jonathan moved to Haverhill, and was a ship-"carpenter." No record of death or will, of self or wife, are found. Like his brother James, he might have gone into Maine, where the record loss by Portland fire,* leaves many a genealogical gap unspanned. His son Jonathan, as will be seen, went to Maine to settle.

CHILDREN:

93+ Jonathan Tyler, baptized in 1715.
94 Phebe Tyler, married, June 3, 1736, Joseph Milliken; lived in Boxford, s. p.
95+ Joseph Tyler, baptized in 1720.

18 JAMES 3 TYLER (Moses 2), born in Rowley Village, Mass., May 7, 1685; died in June, 1749; married (1), January 19, 1708, Mary (Green) Kimball, who died before 1724; widow of Abraham Kimball and probably daughter of Isaac Green of Salisbury; married (2), before 1724, Phoebe Royall, daughter of John Royall, of North Yarmouth, Me., who was a son of William and Phoebe (Green) Royall, of Salem, Boston, and Dorchester, Mass.

James Tyler was living in "Bradford," January 11, 1716, when he sells land in Cape Porpoise, (Me.), to Jabez Dorman; also, December 14, 1716, when he has land of Nicholas Mooney; also, February 14, 1717, when he has land of Ezra Rolfe. As no wife joins in 1716, she may have died; as she certainly had before 1724, when we find his second wife, "Phebe," joining in conveyances.

By his Rolfe deed of 1716, he acquired land, meadow and marsh, between the Black Poynt River and Saco River, and about this time went to Maine.† Bradbury's History of Ken-

*The great fire of Portland, Me., burned all the Probates from 1760 to 1866. As it was early the county seat of a vast tract, much knowledge thus irreclaimably perished.
†The immigrant Royall had early grants in Maine; "Royall's Side," or "Royall's Neck," were named after him; also, "Royall's River," North Yarmouth. The above John Royall had a brother Joseph, whose daughter, Sarah, in 1710, married William, son of Thomas Tyler of Boston. Thus we find "Royall" used as a Christian name in both the Boston and Andover Tyler lines. Ridlon's "Saco Valley" makes the mistake, of placing our James Tyler in the Boston Tyler line of descent. Bradbury's Hist. Kennebunkport, because of James' son Abraham, infers, that he came of the (extinct) line of Abraham Tyler of Haverhill.
nebunkport dates his arrival there at about 1715, where he lived at "The Cape," just over the modern short causeway, on the right hand side, on ground in the present hands of the Grant family. The cellar of his removed house has been filled up in recent years; it stood upon a little knoll, which ran down in the rear to water at high tide. Thereafter, for the sake of a mill-site, he removed to a rough wooded piece, near tidewater, some two miles distant, where he built a mill upon "Tyler's Brook" site. Not many rods distant, he built his log house; nothing of which now remains, but some portions of a garden wall: the high rock to the rear of his home, which it sheltered from north winds, is still called "Tyler's Back."

The Collections of the Maine Historical Soc., Vol. III, p. 225, says, "James Tyler came from Cape Porpoise (Arundel) and settled on Blue Point in 1718." The Hist. of Kennebunkport says (p. 281), he "changed his place of residence several times after 1720; but finally settled at Scarboro." (He certainly was an active man, and not unlikely was at times forced to be so by the Indians; these broils made the entry and keeping of complete records impossible.) At the first legal meeting (after resettlement), held "Att Arondell, Ela Cape Porpus, on the 31 day of March 1719, being warned by order of a warrant from John Wheelwright, Esq., one of his Maj. Justus of the peace to meet and make choyce of town officers," ... "James Tyler and Allison Brown" (the latter soon to become a Tyler-intermarriage family), were chosen "haywards or field-drivers." At this meeting, was located "a highway of four rods wide from the western end of the persell of land" lately bought of "James Tyler" et al., "for to build a fort upon, which highway runneth down upon the back of the creek," &c., "near where the pound now standeth, and so," &c., "passes near to montagues neck so called." The third warrant for town meeting (being the first on record) is, "Arondell November, the 5th, 1719. The inhabitants of this town are to take notice that there is to be a town meeting on Wensday the eighteenth day Instant at ten of the clock in the morning at the house of Mr. James Tyler, to Rectifye and Reform some things that have been acted in said town," &c. At the "Nov. 18, 1719" meeting, is made a "grant unto James Tyler 50 acres of Land anywhere that may be convenient on the Town Common (to be laid no way infringing on any former Grant)."
On town records, in 1719, 1720, are numerous entries of land laid out by “James Tyler, lot Layer for Arundell”; March 12, 1720, he had a further forty acre grant; May 17, 1720, he appears as Land-surveyor; and, on 30th, same month, his name is one of the thirteen made “free Commoners.” In 1728, he alienated to Samuel Preble, “for and in consideration of one Negro man” certain lands in Kennebunkport.* (This gives one much such a shock, as felt on viewing the “shelf” whereupon the old slave used to sleep in Wayside Inn, Sudbury, Mass.) His name appears on a muster roll in Mass. Archives, under Captain Johnson Harmon, from February 28—November 20, thirty-eight weeks, as “Centinel,” (no residence given; being, probably, in 1721-22.)

The date of his burial, June 8, 1749, is recorded at the Second (Dunston) church of Scarboro, where he undoubtedly buried; but patient search fails to find his (or any other Tyler) stone in the contiguous ground. His will, dated January 17, 1748, was probated July 3, 1749. (See “York Wills,” p. 599.) Inventory, September 15, following, £1920-0-3. It has long ceased to be a Tyler center, and the records are both meager and conflicting. The two elder children were born in Bradford, Mass., the others probably in Scarboro.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:

96+ Dorothy Tyler, born Dec. 19, 1709.
97+ Abraham Tyler, born March 17, 1712.
98+ Abigail Tyler.

CHILD, by second marriage:

99+ Royall Tyler.

19 JOSHUA³ TYLER (Moses², Job¹), born July 4, 1688; died before May 14, 1735; married, November 13, 1712, Margaret Lombard, or Lambert, died before July 4, 1775, at which date her will was probated (Salem, Wills, Case 28,448.) He was a mariner. From Salem Deeds office, we learn, through Deposition of George Jackson, November 2, 1719, that “one Joshua Tyler came to my house in Marblehead,” and upon en-query what boat it was that "road dangerously out in the harbor," Tyler replied that the Master was sick, and had gone to Salem, and that he (Tyler) had brought her in and taken care of her. Upon being advised to go aboard, Tyler said, "she is safe enough." Upon proceedings in the case in 1724, "Sam Walton, of full age," testifies that "2 Nov., 1719, he was on board the schooner called the Restoration, William Dove, Master, he being a passenger bound for Boston, but the boat being pushed into Marblehead by contrary winds, he heard the Captain order 'mate' Joshua Tyler, as he was getting over the side, to go ashore, being very sick, to take care of the vessel, and, when the wind freshened, to 'veer out more cable' and carry the other anchor. Mate replied, he would take all the care he could. It seems they were bound from North Carolina to Boston." From The American Weekly Mercury, May 5, 1720. From New Jersey Archives, First Ser. Vol. XI, newspaper extracts, page 49, we get another glimpse of the wanderer: "Custom House, Salem [N. J.] Apr. 23. Entered Inwards [by this time, he seems to have become a Captain], Joshua Tyler, sloop Dragon from Virginia."

No record appears of the time and manner of death, which seems to have come at the age of forty-six; his estate being administered at Salem, May 14, 1735, Case No. 28,446. The children were born in Salem.

CHILDREN:

100 Joshua Tyler, born Jan. 1, 1713.
101 Benjamin Tyler, born March 3, 1715; married, Oct. 19, 1740, Martha Liscomb, of Salem, where he seems to have died for Martha Tyler married Thomas Downing in 1744.
102 Joseph Tyler, born June 23, 1719.
103 Margaret Tyler, born June 18, 1723; married, April 24, 1764, Aaron Crumb, of Salem.
104 Mary Tyler, baptized Jan. 21, 1727; married (1), July 2, 1745, Jacob Manning, of Salem; married (2), June 7, 1750, Stephen Webb, born Feb. 13, 1722; died Mar. 24, 1796. By her second marriage, according to her mother's will, Mary had ten children.

20 JACOB³ TYLER (Moses²), born in Boxford, Mass., January 9, 1694;² died in Woburn, Mass., March 24, 1778;
married (1), February 12, 1719, Abigail Kimball; born April 12, 1699; died of small-pox March 25, 1722, daughter of Thomas and Deborah Kimball of Bradford; a little slate slab in the old cemetery marks her grave and that of her infant, and is the earliest stone extant in Job's line; he married (2), July 13, 1727, Abigail Foster, born November 22, 1697; died in Woburn, Mass., December 20, 1758; daughter of Jonathan and Abigail Foster; she was in the fourth generation from Reginald Foster of Ipswich. In 1718 his father deeded him one-half of his arable land, meadow, orchard, west end of dwelling, one-half of cellar, one-half of stock and husbandry tools. The death of his wife and child may have upset his plans, for the following year, 1723, he, with his brother Moses disposed of his interest (one-fourth), in a mill and appurtenances upon "Cachechorrick" brook. In 1725, from June 24 to July 7 we find him a "trooper" on Captain Richard Kimball's muster roll (Mass. Archives.) In 1727, shortly after his second marriage, his father died, of whose estate he became executor. He inherited in 1727 from his father the remainder of the Andover homestead, where he continued to live until he removed to Woburn. In 1729 he deeded land to one Skales and in 1731 made a grant to Samuel Faroun. Sometime after 1738, he removed to Woburn. His will, dated June 25, 1759, was probated June 2, 1778 (East Cambridge Records, case 16,502.) Jacob, having had his portion, gets but £10. Abigail and Mary have each £36 in three annual installments, all the household goods and the privilege of the "east chamber" while they remain single, but if their brother Moses wishes to sell they are to relinquish it on receipt of £2 each. Moses has all the buildings and lands in Woburn, lands in Andover, with rights and interest in common and undivided lands there; also the stock, utensils, monies, etc.; to act as executor and to pay the debts. The inventory was £1,851,4. Jacob and his son, Jacob, Jr., were members of the Andover church, where their children were baptized and in whose old burial ground rest their wives and some of their children.

CHILD, by first marriage:
105 Elizabeth Tyler, born 1719; died April 26, 1722; she and her mother died of the small-pox.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:
106+ Jacob Tyler, born April 16, 1728.
Moses Tyler, born March 5, 1731.
Jeremiah Tyler, born 1733; died Oct. 2, 1755, in camp at Lake George; was in Colonel Titcomb's regiment in the expedition against Crown Point.
Abigail Tyler, born in 1735; a member of the Andover church in 1756.
Mary Tyler, born in 1738.

MARY Tyler (Hopestill, Job), born in Mendon, Mass., January 31, 1669; died before 1733; married, June 30, 1693, John Farnum, of Andover, Mass., born April 13, 1672; died September 9, 1749, son of John Farnum (Ralph); he married (2), November, 1733, Abigail Marsh, of Bellingham, Mass. He moved to Mendon in 1700/1701. The Farnums lived upon the original Tyler homestead in Mendon. This, as we have already seen, Job deeded, for £60, to his son Moses, in 1700; which, the following year, Moses to Farnum, for £1 increase, then of Andover, but soon of Mendon; where in 1709, Ebenezer Tyler (son of Samuel, Job), for £40, deeds Farnum most of the "20 acre Smith's lot," quit-claiming at the same time his interest in "The Fifteen Acre Right, which he, the said John Farnum is now settled upon, formerly belonging to his Grand Father Job Tyler, late of said Mendon deceased, with the housing Barns and Fences thereon Erected Orchards thereon planted Enclosures Arrable or Pasture or Meadow Lands therein contained with all the Divisions," etc. The children were born in Andover, except the youngest.

CHILDREN:
Mary Farnum, born in 1694; married, Dec. 5, 1716,
Deacon Nathan Penniman, of Mendon, Mass.; born in Braintree, Mass., 1689; had seven children.

112 Ann Farnum, born in 1696; died April 20, 1696.
113 John Farnum, born Dec. 26, 1697; married, Nov. 8, 1722, Mary Wood, of Mendon, Mass.
114 Ann Farnum, born in 1701; married Joseph Penniman, born in Braintree, May 29, 1692; had 7 children.

29 MARTHA3 TYLER (Hopestill2), baptized at Roxbury, April 9, 1676; died in Groton, Conn., September 18, 1741; married, April 3, 1700, Robert Geer; born January 2, 1676, died November 20, 1742. She was both an accuser and accused during the witchcraft delusion. They lived in North Groton (Ledyard). They first attended Preston church, where their three eldest children were recorded; the wife was admitted to privileges of baptism there, July 2, 1701, and joined, March 5, 1704. The parents are buried in Ledyard, in the ground surrounding the first church; to whose memory, a modern monument has been erected by their descendants.

CHILDREN:

116 Mary Geer, born in Groton, Conn., May 14, 1701; married, Oct. 22, 1720, John Spicer, of Groton, born Jan. 1, 1698; died Aug. 28, 1759; son of Edward and Katherine (Stone) Spicer, descended from Peter Spicer, who probably came from Virginia to Groton, and married Mary Busecott, of Warwick, R. I. John's son Edward,—born April 14, 1721, and died Dec., 1797,—married for his first wife, Hannah Bill, by whom he had seven children. Their daughter, Mary, married Roswell Button, and became the ancestor of Gilbert Button, who married Lydia Witter, daughter of Lydia Tyler, No. 525.

117 Martha Geer, born March 18, 1704.

118 Robert Geer, born April 5, 1707; his son Amos was graduated from Yale College in 1760.

119 Ebenezer Geer, born April 1, 1709; his son Robert was graduated from Yale College in 1763.

120 James Geer, born Dec. 7, 1711; died 1755; married Sarah ——.

30 JOHN³ TYLER (Hopestill², Job¹), born in Roxbury, Mass., February 19, 1677; died in Boston, May 19, 1705; married by Cotton Mather, November 2, 1699, Deborah Leatherland, born October 2, 1678; died, his widow, January 1, 1721; daughter of Zebulon² Leatherland (William¹, in Winthrop's fleet, 1630; at Anne Hutchinson's controversy; moved from Boston to Newport, R. I., where was town clerk). John was probably buried in King's Chapel burying-ground, with two infant sons. His wife's stone in that place still exists. She was administratrix, September 11, 1706. The children were born in Boston. Children:

121 John Tyler, born Aug. 15, 1700; died Oct. 2, 1702.
122+ Moses Tyler, born July 23, 1702.
123  John Tyler, born Oct. 4, 1704; probably the “ch. Mr. Tiler's bur. 8 Mch., 1705” mentioned in “Old Sexton's Bill.” This child is not mentioned in Hopestill’s will.

31 DANIEL3 TYLER (Hopestill2, Job1), born in Roxbury or Andover, Mass., between 1676 and 1681; died, in Groton, Conn., ——; married, May 28, 1700, Anna Geer, born January 6, 1679, daughter of George* and Sarah (Allen) Geer, of New London, Conn. Daniel had land in Groton (where he removed), from his father, including “Tyler Hill.”† The children were born in Groton. Children:

124+ Daniel Tyler, born Feb. 22, 1700-01.
125  Sarah Tyler, born Aug. 16, 1702; baptized, Sept. 17, 1704.

CAPTAIN JAMES\(^3\) TYLER (Hopestill\(^2\)), born in Andover, Mass., December 28, 1683; died in Griswold, Conn., November 2, 1754; married (1), October 8, 1705, Hannah Safford, who died November 24, 1728, in her forty-seventh year; daughter of Joseph and Mary (Baker) Safford, of Ipswich, who owned land in Norwich, Conn.; married (2), September 2, 17— ("Sary Juet"). Sarah Jewett. Nothing is known of the origin of his title, but he is called "Captain" on his tombstone, and in the town records. He lived in the northern part of Preston, Conn., now known as Griswold, where the children were born. His will was dated October 3, 1753, and probated February 25, 1755, in Norwich.\(^*\)

HOPESTILL\(^3\) TYLER (Hopestill\(^2\)), born in Andover, Mass., October 16, 1685; died October 7, 1762; married, January 25, 1709-10, Anna Gates, born about 1685; died March 27, 1766. He lived in Preston, Conn., where his children were born and with his wife was buried there. "All my land in the township of Preston, with all my housing and shop tols" went to him by his father's will, of which he was a co-executor. Though he had the tools, he did not seem to take to the "smithing" trade of his senior; contented in working his farm, at least a portion of its surface being sufficiently rocky and stony to need more than ordinary attention.

144 Ruth Tyler, baptized July 30, 1721; not mentioned in father's will of 1754.

145 Timothy Tyler, born Oct. 12, 1723; probably died young.

146+ Abigail Tyler, twin to Timothy.

147+ Caleb Tyler, born May 13, 1726.

49 CAPTAIN NATHAN$^3$ TYLER (John$^2$), born in Andover, Mass., February 17, 1687; died December 28, 1782; married (1), March 2, 1715, Mary Read, born August 11, 1694; died August 6, 1742; daughter of Samuel Read,* of Mendon; married (2), December, 1743, Abigail Maynard, born 1700; died March 15, 1778; daughter of John Maynard of Marlboro. Her will, probated in Worcester, Mass., April 1, 1778, bequeaths legacies to Thankful Corbett, brother James Maynard of Westboro, children of brother Daniel of Marlboro, deceased, and of brother Reuben of Westboro, deceased; brother Hezekiah, executor. In 1710, March 6, the local records give his entrance into a long and prominent public service, by making him one of a committee of thirteen, appointed to see that swine were "yoked and wringed as the law directs." February 16, 1716, he is mentioned as "Deacon," in connection with a committee to raise funds for ordination of Rev. Mr. Dorr. February 16, 1719, he shared in the "Seventh Division" lots, as No. 143. May 17, 1721, he protested against the receiving of "Bills of Credit," which were, when redeemed, "to be burnt to ashes"; but in 1728, he appeared on Mendon Board of Trustees, to manage its share (£270) of said Bills. In 1727, he presented a bill of 4s. against the town. In 1729, '33, '34, '38, '48, '50, he served as Selectman. In 1730, he was on committee, to treat with Uxbridge concerning the ministry and school laws; and the same year, together with his father and brother Joseph, protested against building the meeting-house

*By her father's (Samuel Read of Mendon), will, she had, in addition to former gifts, "all that my Land on both Sides of the great River up Stream of Woodland Thompson, lying in two parcels, with a five acre right in the Commons of Mendon from and after the Seventh Division, she paying the Sum of one hundred and fifty pounds to my Executors, in one year after my decease."
nearer the burying-ground than within twenty rods of the old meeting-house. In 1731, he, and others, were allowed 3/ each, for treating with Uxbridge committee about school lands. In 1732, on committee “to finish that affair with Uxbridge about the school money, according to the former vote”; and later on, made charge of 4/ for the same. The same year, on committee to see the new meeting-house finished. In 1734, under the title of “Ensign” Nathan Tyler, was on a committee, one of whom was to assist the representative in the General Court, in the matter of the Hazelton petition for a new town: which, the following year, was formed, and called Upton, within whose bounds fell the farm of Nathan (which, nevertheless, remained a part of Mendon.)

In 1738, Mendon voted £40, to let fish up Pawtucket Falls, and Captain Tyler was to look after the matter: the same year, he was a grand-juryman. In 1740, on committee for preservation of deer, pursuant to Chap. III, Sec. 4, Acts of 1739. In 1741, his name is on petition to make Mill River a “precinct” of Mendon. In 1749 and 1751 he was on important committees. In 1752, ’53, ’54, ’55, he was representative to the General Court. In 1755, August 8 to November 5, was “Ensign” on Crown Point expedition, though at advanced age.

From the foregoing, it is evident that we are treating of a very prominent citizen of early Mendon: his line, in truth, is the most prominent there of all the clan, and for a century and a half furnished descendants conspicuous in that municipality in civil, religious and military annals. He also was largely interested in lands. His will was dated August 25, 1780, and probated May 27, 1783. (See Boston Deeds, Book xxxlx, p. 315.)

153+ Nathan Tyler, born Oct. 31, 1729.
154+ John Tyler, born Sept. 27, 1731.

50 ROBERT\textsuperscript{3} TYLER (John\textsuperscript{2}), born in Andover, Mass., July 19, 1689; married, December 13, 1721, Hannah Sampson, of Duxbury, Mass., daughter of Stephen Sampson, and grand-daughter of Henry Sampson, who came over in the \textit{Mayflower}. He lived at Mendon, Mass., until the incorporation of Upton in 1735, when he appears to have become a citizen of that town. Doubtless his farm was in that portion of Mendon set off to Upton, as was Nathan Tyler's, but whose farm was allowed to "remain forever in the town of Mendon as heretofore." Robert was a selectman of Upton in 1740. The children were all born in the town of Mendon.

CHILDREN:

155+ Dorcas Tyler, born Sept. 29, 1722.
156+ Zilpha Tyler, born March 22, 1724.
157+ Elijah Tyler, born Nov. 8, 1727.
158+ Hannah Tyler, born Nov. 8, 1729.
159 Robert Tyler, Jr., born June 4, 1735; died Feb. 27, 1736.

51 BETHIA\textsuperscript{3} TYLER (John\textsuperscript{2}), born in Mendon, Mass., February 17, 1692; married, May 18, 1716, George Woodward, of Mendon. The children were born there. Children:

161 George Woodward, born Oct. 5, 1720; died before 1754, s. p.
162 Bethia Woodward, born June 21, 1722; living in 1753, unmarried, when inheriting land from her uncle John's estate.

52 MARY\textsuperscript{3} TYLER (John\textsuperscript{2}), born in Mendon, Mass., May 24, 1694; married, June 9, 1720, Samuel Torry; born in Mendon, June 7, 1692; died in Milford, 1753; son of Angel Torry of Braintree. The children were born in Mendon. They had more than are here recorded. Children:

163 Hannah Torry, born April 4, 1721.
THIRD GENERATION

164 Samuel Torry, died Oct. 19, 1769; married Sarah Thwing.

165 Joseph Torry, married Deborah Holbrook.

53 DAVID\(^3\) TYLER (John\(^2\)), born in Mendon, Mass., June 15, 1696; married (1), December 7, 1722, Elizabeth Averill, of Preston, Conn.; married (2), May 26, 1746, Rachel Brabrook, of Concord, Mass. Records of him are fragmentary. July 6, 1717 (then 21 years old), he exchanged land with brother Nathan, 21 acres, etc. (which he likely had of his father's estate), for 33 acres and 53 rods of land. February 16, 1719, he is No. 33 as sharer in the "Seventh Devison" of land in Mendon; and the same year, October 9 (Boston Deeds, Bk. XXXIV, p. 121) for £25, has from his kinsman Samuel Bridges, of Mendon, 30 acres in Mendon. June 3, 1720, for £15, he conveys to brother Nathan 18 acres and 128 rods of land in Mendon, between North Hill and West River. It is possible that he removed from Mendon to Connecticut, as his first wife was of that colony, and in 1721 he had a deed to one hundred acres in Ashford, Conn. At the time of his second marriage he was probably living in Upton, Mass. He may have been the sergeant David Tyler, recorded in the Mass. Archives, as having served under Captain Jeremiah Moulton, January 18 to May 11, 1725.

CHILDREN:

166 Hannah Tyler, born March 4, 1724; married, Jan. 10, 1744, William Green, of Upton, Mass.

167 Elizabeth Tyler, born May 15, 1725.

168 Mary Tyler, born April 10, 1728.

169 Bethia Tyler, born April 13, 1730; married, March 22, 1758, Elias Parmenter, of Upton, Mass.

54 JOSEPH\(^3\) TYLER (John\(^2\)), born in Mendon, Mass., October 21, 1701; died in Uxbridge, Mass., December 18, 1779; married (1), Mehitable Hazeltine, of Mendon; died in Uxbridge about 1754; married (2), September 23, 1756, Mary Draper, of Roxbury. Not long after attaining majority, January 13, 1723/4 (Boston Deeds, Bk. XXXVIII, p. 105), had grant from his father of one-half of the homestead. In 1730, together with father and brothers, protested against building of meeting-house upon site selected, and without money on hand. From about 1733 to 1742 he seems to have been a resident of Sutton, Mass., where several of his children were born. About 1743 he removed to Uxbridge. His estate at Uxbridge consisted, in part, of a five-acre tan-yard and buildings at the Center village, bought of William Adams in 1733, eighteen acres, then called "Egremony Swamp," now Capron's Pond, bought of John Farnum, Sr., 1745—and a farm of about 150 acres, known in recent years as the Benjamin Tucker place. March 25, 1757, he is recorded in the Mass. Archives as a member of the train band and alarm list of Captain John Taft's "Second Foot Company." His will was dated December 3, 1778, probated March 2, 1780. The eldest child was born in Mendon, the next three in Sutton and the others in Uxbridge.

Children, by first marriage:

170 Abner Tyler, born Feb. 15, 1731; was killed in the French War and probably died unmarried.

171 Timothy Tyler, born June 2, 1735; died young.

172+ Joseph Tyler, born May 21, 1738.

173+ Timothy Tyler, born May 21, 1742.

174+ Mehitable Tyler, born Dec., 1744.

175 Ruth Tyler, born Feb. 7, 1751; an invalid and cripple, died unmarried, in 1797; resided in Uxbridge with her brother Solomon.

Children, by second marriage:

176+ Solomon Tyler, born Sept. 23, 1757.

177 Benjamin Tyler, born July 28, 1759; died young.

56 EBENEZER³ TYLER (Samuel²), born in Mendon, Mass., April 28, 1685; died in Attleboro, Mass., June 28, 1736; married about 1712, Catherine Bragg, born about 1690; died in Attleboro, November 9, 1763. He lost his father at ten, and went with his mother to live in Rehoboth, Mass., where he acts as her agent, in the discharge of a mortgage, in 1710. He deeds, January 13, 1709, to his cousin John Farnum, of Mendon, for £40 (Boston Deeds, Book 26, pages 2, 3), about 20 acres in Mendon, they quit-claiming also the "Fifteen Acre Right, which he, the said John Farnum, is now settled upon, formerly belonging to his grandfather, Job Tyler, late of said Mendon, deceased,” claimed by the heirs of Samuel, deceased, son of said Job. The same year, he had a grant of many hundreds of acres in Rehoboth, for £100, from Boston parties. (Boston Deeds, Book 6, p. 108, 109, 110). In 1713, he is No. 66 on a division of Cedar Swamp land in Mendon, and in 1735 acquired 349 acres in Ashford, Conn. His gravestone is standing in the rear of the present First church edifice in Attleboro (showing much wear from the elements), which some kind descendant, in recent years, has put upon a substantial base together with those of his wife, his son John and wife and John’s daughter Phoebe. The Tylers of this line were prominent in this church, now known as the Oldtown Congregational church of Attleboro, for over a century, and Ebenezer and his wife were undoubtedly members though its records prior to 1740 have disappeared. The old Tyler homestead stood on present Locust street, about one and one-half miles south of Attleboro village; it was burned. The date of his removal to Attleboro is unknown, but it was after 1711. His will was dated May 29, and probated August 9, 1736. He owned considerable land in Attleboro and at least, 650 acres in Ashford.

ATTLEBORO CEMETERY

Right in the center of the modern-built village lies the old burying-ground of ancient Attleboro, which, after the English custom, immediately environs the place of worship. Originally the meeting-house stood on what is called the common, between which and the graveyard runs the railway. A miniature facsimile of the original Lord’s house, a few feet in dimensions, stands by the side of the present edifice. The present burying plot is nearly triangular in shape, wherein lie the remains of many scions of the earliest settlers. Most of the stones are of comparatively recent date. Deacon Peter Thacher, one of the early church magnates, and his son Peter, Jr., with their wives and some of their descendants are here entombed.

Ebenezer Tyler, son of Samuel, son of Job, the immigrant, with his wife, Katherine, their son Captain John, his wife, and maiden daughter Phebe, are side by side, with old stones raised onto a common base and their inset in modern renaissance. The older stone showing considerable wear.

197 Hannah Wilmarth, born Jan. 13, 1728; died May 31, 1755.
THIRD GENERATION

198 Sarah Wilmarth, born Jan. 11, 1730.
199 Priscilla Wilmarth, born May 26, 1733.

60 CAPTAIN SAMUEL, TYLER (Samuel2), born in Mendon, Mass., February 26, 1695; died May 17, 1759; married, December 19, 1719, Mary Capron, born 1696; died January 26, 1780; daughter of Banfield Capron. April 9, 1757, he was Captain of the First company ("South Town") of the Attleboro train band (Mass. Archives). He was selectman of Attleboro, 1724, 1728, 1732, 1737, 1738, 1739, 1747, 1748, 1749, 1750, 1751, 1752, and representative to the General Court, 1797, 1745, 1747, 1748, 1749. His will was dated May 16, 1759, and probated June 11, 1759. He was far the most important early Tyler of the locality. In 1707 (aged but 12), he is on record as sharing, No. 9, in fifth division of Mendon lands; probably, however, it is the estate of his father (also named "Samuel"). June 13, 1715, for £100, he acquired land of Matthew Short. His line is distinguished for its military vigor: all his three sons becoming Revolutionary veterans, one being a lieutenant, and another major-general of militia; five of his grandsons also served in the Revolution, thus making eight all told, from this immediate family, of the ten Tylers furnished by the town to that cause.

CHILDREN:

201 Mary Tyler, born Jan. 29, 1719; died June 28, 1724.
202 Samuel Tyler, born May 20, 1720; died April 27, 1724.

He resided on the old Tyler farm in West Boxford. He was in the second Boxford company of militia, probably belonged to the train band. In 1776 he was ensign of a company and was in the Continental Army, and in that year he was also one of a committee to hire soldiers for “future public Service.” His will, dated September 13, 1792, gives land to his two daughters, Mehitable and Anna, also, “convenient room in my dwelling house and in the cellar under the same so long as they live a single life, they not admitting any family to live with them." They were also to have all household goods and furniture save "1 bed and my silver tankard." They and their sister Sarah received £40 each. His son John had land in Boxford, and his son Jonathan also had land. John had the buildings, stock, utensils, crops, 1 bed and the silver tankard, and was to act as executor. John, Jonathan and Stephen had 6 acres of salt marsh in Rowley. Stephen had previously received £400. Dean, the third son, received £5. The estate was valued at $12,076.58, and included 280 acres of land in Boxford and Andover.

CHILDREN:

FOURTH GENERATION

name occurs on a list of men belonging to the second company of militia in Boxford, dated April 19, 1757. He probably belonged to the train band. He was a charcoal burner. Children:

290+ Abigail Tyler, baptized April 21, 1728.
291 Elizabeth Tyler, baptized March, 1729; published to Thomas Bodkin, of Marblehead, Mass.
292 Joseph Tyler, baptized Sept. 24, 1732, in East Boxford.

81 NATHANIEL 4 TYLER (Ebenezer 3), born in Boxford, Mass., April 14, 1702; married, May 14, 1741, Sarah Wood, of Rowley, Mass. His name appears on a muster roll, dated Boston, 1755. He was a "Centinel" and the service was from February 9, 1755, to March 31, 1755. In March, 1765, he was dismissed to the church at Dracut, Mass. He was a chairmaker. Children:

293 Jesse Tyler, born April 4, 1742; died Oct. 7, 1748.
294 Eunice Tyler, born Feb., 1743; married, Feb. 9, 1769, Nathaniel Pettingill, 3d.

300+ Daniel Tyler, born in Dracut, Sept., 1756.
301+ Polly Tyler, born in Methuen, in 1770.

84 DAVID 4 TYLER (Ebenezer 3), born in Boxford, Mass., June 5, 1710; died in Piermont, N. H., aged about 95; married in 1735 Martha Howard, of Lynn, Mass., who also died in Piermont, aged about 95. He was dismissed from the Boxford church, April 14, 1751, to Hebron, Conn., but settled in Lebanon, Conn., in 1751. In the spring of 1768, Daniel Tyler, his son, went to Piermont, N. H., and in the autumn David Tyler, his wife and son Jonathan, came from Lebanon, Conn. In 1781, Jonathan related that the "Northern Army," as he called the famous pest of worms which extended from Northfield, Mass., to Lancaster, N. H., left Piermont so destitute of provisions that, had it not been for an extraordinary crop of pumpkins and a great quantity of pigeons, they would have had to desert the town. David drew hay on a hand sled on the ice from Newbury to keep the cow, the next winter. The three Tylers, David, Daniel and Jonathan began taking pigeons on the meadow west of Haverhill Corner; in ten days they had taken more than four hundred dozen. At Piermont they had a "bee" for picking them. Those invited had the meat of all they picked, and the Tylers the feathers. In this way they had four beds of those feathers.

The six elder children were born in Boxford, and the three younger in Lebanon, Conn.

87 LIEUTENANT DUDLEY4 TYLER (Job3), born in Rowley, Mass., about 1700; died in Haverhill, Mass. (will probated June 28, 1790); married (1), November 23, 1738, Phebe Coleman, of Newbury, Mass.; married (2), March 8, 1769, Mary Willson, of Haverhill, whose will was probated April 7, 1794, Job Tyler, her son-in-law, being named as executor. She divided her estate among the children of Job Tyler, her stepson, Joseph Tyler being residuary legatee. Also, her will provided: "In case Caesar, the negro man who lives with me, should live to be past his labour; then if what my former husband left for him is not enough to support him, that he have his support out of what I give to the said Joseph Tyler." In 1757, Dudley had the rank of clerk in the company commanded by Captain Richard Thurston, was in the train band and on the alarm list. In 1765, he was lieutenant in the 2d Rowley company in the 3d regiment of militia in Essex County. He was executor of his father's will. He kept the Tyler Tavern in Georgetown, Mass., and moved to Haverhill in 1769, where he was a slave-owner as late as 1776, which is the last date in which negroes are entered in the town valuation lists. In 1780, he donated six shirts to assist in clothing the army. He was hogreeve in 1773 and 1774; he was surveyor of highways from 1775-1782. In 1776 he was paid for timber, plank and work on the Mill bridge, £4 10s, and in 1782 he was paid for plank and timber on the same bridge, £1 5s 4d. All his children were by his first marriage. His will was dated March 5, 1788, and probated June 28, 1790.

CHILDREN:

348 Zebediah Tyler, born March, 1761; died March 17, 1763.

91 ASA4 TYLER (Job3), born in Boxford, Mass., April 25, 1708; "tradition says killed at Lexington and Concord, 1775" (Gage's History of Rowley); married, in 1734, Hannah Peabody, born in Boxford April 22, 1714, daughter of Deacon Nathan and Hannah (Putnam) Peabody. He is on a list of men of the company commanded by Captain Richard Thurston, dated June 15, 1757; he is reported as belonging to the alarm list, and also that he had a tumor in his throat. Gage's History of Rowley says, "Asa Tyler was soldier in the Revolutionary War." He lived in Rowley. Children:
349+ Margaret Tyler, born June 1, 1735.
350 Nathan Tyler, born Feb. 3, 1738.
351+ Lucy Tyler, born Oct. 1, 1739.

354+ Asa Tyler, born Dec. 21, 1748.
355 Priscilla Tyler, born in 1752; died in 1754.

92 HANNAH4 TYLER (Job3), born in Boxford, Mass., June 5, 1710; married, October, 1728, Captain John Spofford, of Rowley, born March 19, 1704; son of Captain John and Dorcas (Hopkinton) Spofford (John², John¹); he was the fourth John in direct descent. In 1727, he built a house on "The Hill" in Georgetown, Mass.; thence, in 1737, to No. 4 (Charlestown), N. H., where he erected the first saw and grist mill in the town in 1744. The town was burned by the Indians in 1746, and he was taken prisoner and carried to Canada. He returned in 1747, and by petitioning to the State (Massachusetts) he rebuilt the mill in 1757, to which settlers resorted as far as Lancaster, 124 miles. He was twice elected selectman. He was one of ten to form the church under Rev. Mr. Olcott.

CHILDREN:

356 Eunice Spofford, born Sept. 15, 1729, in "Boxford, in the Bay Province."

358 Phebe Spofford, born in Rowley, July 1, 1733; married, in 1750, John Grout, of Lunenburg.

359 Peggy Spofford, born in Rowley, June 30, 1735; married Benjamin Allen.

360 Asa Spofford, born in Rowley, Jan. 30, 1737; was captured by the Indians and taken to Canada in 1757; exchanged and while in Quebec, on the way home, died with the small-pox.

361 Mary Spofford, born in Rowley, Sept. 20, 1739.

362 Abigail Spofford, born March 26, 1741.

363 Relief Spofford, born June 30, 1744; died in 1758.

365 Job Tyler Spofford, born March 14, 1749; died June 15, 1750.

366 Tyler Spofford, born April 28, 1752; died in Lennoxville, Canada, in 1844, aged 90; married Experience Crosby. Went through the War of the Revolution, and settled at Windsor and Fairfax, Vt., and thence in 1799 to Lennoxville, Canada.

93 JONATHAN4 TYLER (Jonathan3), baptized in Boxford, Mass., October, 1715; died ——; married Rebecca, whose surname was probably Morse. He was at Haverhill, Mass., May 25, 1743. Was at the first proprietors' meeting in New Gloucester, Maine, November 22, 1763; signed a petition there, January 14, 1762; was elected one of a committee of three to manage the prudential affairs of the town; also January 16, 1765, was on a committee of three to provide for the ordination of the first minister; January 10, 1764, at "Block House" proprietors' meeting, was elected moderator; also on committee to make sale of saw and grist mill on Royal River; in 1767, he and his wife Rebecca, granted land in New Gloucester to son Jonathan. In the Portland, Maine, Real Estate Records is the following: "Jonathan Millwright and Samuel Tyler, Yeoman, of New Gloucester, April 16, 1778, interested in grant of lands in North Yarmouth, Maine." Descendants of Jonathan say that in 1777 he went from New Gloucester to Buckfield, Maine, with his son-in-law, Abijah Buck. Rev. Paul Coffin, of Buxton, Maine, a missionary to the earliest settlements, records in his journal that Jonathan Tyler built 200 mills; that he lost part of one of his hands and that he was a man of note. Mrs. Tyler was living at Buckfield as late as 1800; she was born at Haverhill, Mass., and had known Hannah Dustin. Children probably born in Haverhill.

Children:

367+ Phebe Tyler, born about 1740.
368+ Jonathan Tyler, Jr., born July 6, 1742.
369+ Nathaniel Tyler.

95 JOSEPH IV TYLER (Jonathan III), baptized in October, 1720, and probably born in Andover; died in 1778; married, in 1748, Phebe Wood, of Boxford, Mass. He was one of the petitioners, under date of May 25, 1748, to have the eastern part of Haverhill set off into a separate parish. This was the second petition and was successful. Jonathan III Tyler and Jonathan IV Tyler were also signers to this petition. Another petition dated March 28, 1748, concerning the alleged illegal actions of the town meeting of March 1, 1748, was also signed by Joseph. He lived in Haverhill for a time and later moved to Chelmsford, Mass., where he had a house near the head of Pawtucket Falls, but as late as 1749-1750, he was hogreeve in Haverhill. He marched on the Lexington Alarm from Chelmsford, as a private in Captain Oliver Barrow's company, and served ten days. He was in Captain John Ford's volunteer company of Colonel Jonathan Reed's regiment of Massachusetts Militia, in 1777, and served 23 days, and in 1781, he enlisted as a private for three years in Captain Noah Allen's company of Colonel Joseph Vose's First Massachusetts Bay regiment. The five elder children were born in Haverhill, the youngest in Chelmsford.

Children:

370+ Joseph Tyler, born April 8, 1749.
371+ Phebe Tyler, born March 23, 1750.
372+ Mary Tyler, born Nov. 17, 1754.
373 Jonathan Tyler, born in 1756; killed in a sawmill, in 1772, aged 16, at Pawtucket Falls.
374+ Nathan Tyler, born in 1757.
375+ Moses Tyler, born in Rowley, Mass., in 1758.
376 Sarah Tyler, born 176— (place unknown); died aged 5 of scarlet fever.
377 Jonas Tyler, born 176— (place unknown); died young, unmarried.
378 Silas Tyler, born 176— (place unknown); died at sea, unmarried, aged about 25.
379+ Sarah Tyler, born in Chelmsford, Oct., 1768.

96 DOROTHY⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Bradford, Mass., December 19, 1709; died before date of father's will, January 17, 1748, wherein his sons and daughters are mentioned; married — Lovet. "Abraham Leavitt," of Scarborough, was doubtless her husband. James Tyler has it "Lovet" in his will; therefore it may be the Andover and Mendon line, with previous Tyler intermarriages. It has changed (permanently) in Maine to "Leavitt," where the records are sadly lacking. Child:

380 Sarah Leavitt, born —, in Scarborough, Black Point, Sept. 25, 1763; she acknowledged the covenant of the Second Congregational church.

97 CAPTAIN ABRAHAM⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Bradford, Mass., March 17, 1712; died in Frankfort, Maine, February 2, 1807; at the home of his son Dominicus; he was published July 5, 1735, to Esther Sayward, of York, Maine, but no marriage is recorded; married (1), August 11, 1748, Elizabeth Brown, daughter of Allison Brown, of the old Biddeford family of Browns; she was received into the Second Congregational church in Scarborough, June 9, 1745; married (2),
Martha ——, probably of Gorham, Maine; married (3), widow Sarah Jordan; her maiden name was Grundy (she married [1] —— Libby; married [2], Captain Jordan); married (4), January 13, 1788, Mary Cumstock, who died in Saco, Maine, November 7, 1839, aged 80. Captain Abraham and his wife Martha acknowledged the covenant at the Second church in Scarboro, September 25, 1763. On the 20th of January, 1802, he made the following deposition: “I, Abraham Tyler, ninety-three or ninety-four years, testify and do say that I came to live in Scarboro about seventy years ago.” This statement would make his birth 1708 or 1709 instead of 1712, and the date of his first going to Scarboro, 1732. Southgate states that he went there in 1743; it has, however, usually been considered that he lived in Andover, Mass., at the time of his father’s death, in 1749, who speaks of him in his will as a “very undutiful son.” At 19 he went with General Wolfe and fought on the Plains of Abraham. He received a bullet in the thigh which was cut out many years after. He was in the militia in Scarboro. When the news of the Battle of Lexington reached Falmouth Neck, Maine, before daylight, April 21, 1775, Abraham Tyler’s company marched toward Boston, but at Welles, Maine, they were advised to remain and protect the towns on the seacoast, around Falmouth. He entered the service April 24, 1775, in Colonel Phinney’s regiment; the council recommended that he be commissioned by General Washington in 1775. He was at the Battle of Bunker Hill and at the siege of Boston. He was in the army for three years with rank as captain. His journal gives an account of his movements in the war after the three years of his enlistment was out. He spent a long and useful life at Scarboro; was deputy-sheriff of York County; part owner of the old mill at Saco, and the last person in charge of the ferry at Blue Point. On the Portland, Maine, records from 1760 to 1870 (110 years), are 22 pages of index to Tyler grants, amounting to 877 entries. Of these, about 80 are under the head of Abraham senior, and Abraham junior. His name is on the Limington petition to build a road, March 21, 1795. His children were born in Scarboro; they were baptized in the First and Second churches in that place, except the eldest. His journal contains an account of his war experiences as follows:
"A JOURNAL OF A. TYLER IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

"I joined the army at Boston, and was in the whole siege. When the eighth month was out, I enlisted for one year. Then marched for Canida. My time was out the last day of December, 1776. Then I enlisted for three years under Capt. Silas Burbank in the Twelfth Massachusetts Regiment, Commanded by Col. Samuel Bauer (Brue).

"Left the Army—Colo. Sprouts took command, all my officers are dead—both General and Field, Captains and Sebolton Officers—except Captain Mains, he was a Lieutenant—the year 1779. Promoted to a Capt in Sprouts Regiment and continued during the war. I received an honorable discharge some time in March 1780. Then in order to make up my losses, I thought I would try the sea. I shipped on Board of a 20 gun ship Capt Jeremiah O'Brien commander. This ship was named the Horrable—Built in Newburyport—out about thirty days, and was captured by two of the enemies' Frigates and then carried in to New York and put on board of the old ship Jersey and remained there three months—suffered everything but Death. I made my escape by swimming the second day of December, got on the Island betwixt the two channels at Hellgate, there we lie in Bushes all the next day. When it came night we began to walk around the Island to see what we could find. We found a field of corn where this had been planted, and we hunted for the gleanings of the field and found some short nubins—and this we ate raw, and a sweet morsel it was to us—2 of us only. Then we were at a stand how to make our escape. The enemy all around us—we hunted around the Island—found a rail fence and took them and made a small raft—got each of us a small paddle, which I made with my knife—then we shipped on board our raft and went through the whole British fleet that lay oposite the City of N. York, and got ashore after great effort on the Jersey side. I was in the siege of Boston. Then went to Canida in '76. Was in the defeat at Ticonderoga. In the Battle of Hubbardston—in both Battles taken Burgoine and at the storming of Stoney Points under Gen. Wayne. Then in the Battle of Monmouth. All this service I did naked and without pay."

405+ Samuel Tyler, born in 1781.

98 ABIGAIL Tyler (James3), born in Scarboro, Maine, probably about 1714; died ——; married, in Scarboro, March 22, 1738, Samuel Walker, of Scarboro. One or both of them were living in 1748. Child:

99 ROYALL Tyler (James3), born probably in Scarboro, Maine; he lived and died at Blue Point, Scarboro; married Phebe Berthia ——. He “owned the covenant” of the Second Congregational Church in Scarboro, November 29, 1747, where the baptisms of his children are recorded. In 1763 he came into the possession of “one half of a certain saw mill in partnership with Abraham Leavitt, his brother-in-law, situated on Little River, Scarboro.” In a deed to Benjamin Parker, merchant, Portsmouth, N. H., dated January 24, 1770, he is spoken of as “husbandman and mariner,” and for £300 grants his interest in lands at Scarboro bought of Sir William Pepperell, and also grants rights under the will of his father. Also, July 20, 1770, one Richard King, of Scarboro, secures judgment against Royal in the amount of £37, 19s, 6d, and “levied upon and sold land, house and barn at Blue Point, left him by his father.” He belonged to a company of militia, in Scarboro, in 1757, and was reported on the training band. His children were all born in Scarboro. (The records are taken from the Portland, Maine, Registry of Deeds.)

CHILDREN:

407 Phebe Tyler, baptized Nov. 29, 1747; buried May 15, 1749.

408 Berthia Tyler, baptized Dec. 17, 1749.

409+ Joseph Tyler, baptized March 29, 1752.

410 Betty Tyler, baptized Nov. 4, 1758.
FOURTH GENERATION

411  Phebe Tyler, baptized Aug. 24, 1760.
412  Samuel Tyler, baptized June 13, 1762.
413  Elizabeth Tyler, baptized April 22, 1764; married, Oct. 25, 1781, John Sawyer (or Sayre).
414  James Tyler, baptized Oct. 13, 1782.
415  Eleanor Tyler, twin to James; married Aug. 20, 1801, Captain Isaac Thomas, of Saco, Maine, and had a large family.

106  CAPTAIN JACOB* TYLER (Jacob, Moses, Job), born in Boxford, Mass., April 16, 1728; died in Chelmsford, Mass., October 4, 1795; married (1), November 23, 1749, Abigail Bridges, of Andover, Mass., who died June 7, 1752, aged 26; married (2), August, 1754, Lydia Varnum, of Dracut, Mass. He lived in Haverhill and in Chelmsford. His will was dated September 11, 1795; probated March 8, 1796. He was captain of an Andover company in Colonel Bridge's 27th Regiment of Massachusetts militia, which was, in part, represented at the Battle of Bunker Hill. It is probable that he was one who marched on the Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:
416  Abigail Tyler, born November, 1750; not mentioned in her father's will in 1795; probably died before, s. p.; married, Aug. 3, 1769, John Pearson, Junior.
417  Jacob Tyler, born May 27, 1752.

CHILDREN, by second wife:
418  John Tyler, born in 1755; died Aug. 16, 1784; probably single; buried in the old North Andover cemetery. He may have been in the Revolution, though no certain record is found.
419  Lydia Tyler, born in 1756.
420  Sarah Tyler, born Sept., 1758.
421  Phebe Tyler, born April, 1760; died Nov. 13, 1762.
422  Jeremiah Tyler, born in 1762; died in Chelmsford, Mass., in 1796; no child or wife mentioned in the probate records. He was a blacksmith. He deeded 150 acres of land in East Andover, Maine, to Stephen Webster, of Methuen, Mass., in 1795. He was executor of his father's will, and was to pay the debts, and receive what was left of the estate, also father's blacksmith tools.

423 Phebe Tyler, born Oct., 1765; she and her sister Sarah were to have what was left of mother's share of the estate, at her death.

424 James Tyler, born Sept., 1768; living in 1795; he received his portion of his father's estate before 1795; he was left one-third of his father's wearing apparel.

107 MOSES⁴ TYLER (Jacob³), born in Boxford, Mass., March 5, 1731; probably died in Woburn, to which place he removed; married (1), April 17, 1755, Elinor Bridges, of Andover, Mass.; who died January 31, 1766; married (2), June 28, 1770, Anna Munroe, of Woburn, who died March 18, 1781; she was probably a widow, and the daughter of Nathaniel Kendall. (East Cambridge Probate Records, Case 9261), who left her 18 acres of land in Woburn, and a share in the residue of his estate. Moses was lieutenant of the first Andover company in 1757, and belonged to the train band. He was in the Revolutionary army three years. The children were born in Woburn.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:

425+ Jeremiah Tyler, born Nov. 20, 1755.
426+ Moses Tyler, born Sept. 12, 1757.
427+ Jonathan Tyler, born June 14, 1760.
428 Sarah Tyler, born Aug. 3, 1762; married — Pierce; mentioned in brother Moses' will.
429+ Eleanor Tyler, born Aug. 7, 1764.
430 Hannah Tyler, born Jan. 18, 1766; married, Nov. 26, 1797, Caleb Wright, of Boston; family now extinct; mentioned in brother Moses' will.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:

431 Benjamin Tyler, born May 1, 1771; died Sept. 24, 1782.
432+ Jonas Tyler, born May 31, 1773.
433 John Tyler, born April 4, 1775; probably died in infancy in Woburn.
434 John Tyler, born April 4, 1777; died April 29, 1782, in Woburn.
110 MARY\textsuperscript{4} TYLER (Jacob\textsuperscript{3}), born in Andover, Mass., in 1738; died, probably in Woburn, Mass., June 24, 1814; married, October 9, 1760, Samuel Converse, of Woburn, Mass.; born November 23, 1735; died December 2, 1775; son of Josiah and Sarah Converse, (Josiah and Hannah [Sawyer], James, James), an old Woburn family. The children were born in Woburn. Children:

435 Mary Converse, born April 2, 1761.
436 Samuel Converse, born Sept. 2, 1763.
437 Jeremiah Converse, born Aug. 12, 1765.
438 Abijah Converse, born Aug. 23, 1767.
439 Joseph Converse, born Aug. 1, 1769.
440 Lydia Converse, born March 8, 1773.
441 Jacob Converse, born Aug. 30, 1775.

122 MOSES\textsuperscript{4} TYLER (John\textsuperscript{3}), born in Boston, Mass., July 23, 1702; the inventory of his estate was made, in Boston, May 28, 1782; married (1), by Rev. Cotton Mather, July 31, 1723, Margaret Hutchins, who died November 24, 1724, aged 21 years and 8 months; buried in Copp's Hill burying-ground; married (2), February 18, 1730, Hannah Luther. He was probably brought up by his mother's people, the Leatherlands; he was co-administrator of William Leatherland's estate, March 17, 1746. In 1743 he bought an estate of Moses Williams in the north end of Boston on "Fleet and Moon streets." Was admitted to the New North Church in Boston, December 1, 1771. He was a shipwright. In Hopestall's will (of Preston, Conn.), he mentions "My grandson Moses of Boston." The inventory of Moses' estate amounted to £709, 15s, 4d., and includes a dwelling house and land on Ship street in the north end, Boston, £550. The children were born in Boston.

Children, by second marriage:

442 John Tyler, born Nov. 29, 1731; must have died young.

443 John Tyler, born Nov. 12, 1732; died in Boston, June 9, 1768; married, Sept. 18, 1764, Sarah Compton. His will was dated Jan. 6, 1767, and he was buried in King's Chapel burying-ground. He appears to have left no children.

444+ Moses Tyler, born Nov. 26, 1734.
Edward Tyler, born about 1736; his will was probated Jan. 27, 1812, mentions no children; married Abigail. He was probably a naval captain in the Revolution. He administered upon his father's estate by letter of attorney, March 12, 1782. He appears to be the spokesman for the family. In his will he leaves his wife $15,000.00, the plate and a pew in Rev. Mr. Buckminster's "Meeting."

Sarah Tyler, born April 12, 1738.

Deborah Tyler, born July 23, 1739; must have died young.

Hannah Tyler, born June 24, 1742.

Elisha Tyler, born April 16, 1744.

Ellis Tyler, born Sept. 16, 1745.

Deborah Tyler, born Nov. 15, 1747; not living Aug. 20, 1795; probably died s. p., as no children are mentioned in her brother Edward Tyler's will; married, Sept. 26, 1765, Benjamin White.

124 DANIEL Tyler (Daniel3), born in Groton, Conn., February 22, 1700-1701; died in Brooklyn, Conn., February 20, 1802, aged 100 years, 11 months, 15 days; married (1), in Canterbury, Conn., December 31, 1722, Jane Cady, born in Groton, Conn., April 1, 1706; died in Brooklyn (then Canterbury), Conn., May 1, 1741; daughter of Daniel Cady; her family came from Groton, Conn., to Canterbury, Conn.; she is interred with Daniel and his other wives in the Brooklyn cemetery; married (2), in Canterbury, September 16, 1742, Mehitable Shurtleff, born in Plympton, Mass., August 30, 1716; died in Brooklyn (then Canterbury), May 17, 1769; daughter of Thomas and Phebe (Shaw) Shurtleff, of Plympton; married (3), Mary Herrick, of Prescott, Conn. Daniel, throughout his long life was an active and useful member of society, closely identified with the growth of the church and the town of Brooklyn, where he lived. The church edifice of 1733 as well as that of 1770-1771, was constructed under his oversight. The second church, built at his expense and that of several others, was pronounced "a very genteel meeting-house," and he was soon after on a committee "to pew the church." In 1750, on condition that they should mend the glass in the first meeting-house, he and Israel Putnam ("Old Put") were permitted “to replace the hindmost slats below with pews for their private use, if they spile not above two seats on a side.” His will was dated October 14, 1797, and his son Daniel was executor; his son Asa was to have his wearing apparel. By his three wives he had 21 children, and at the time of his death 6 children were living and he had upwards of 50 grandchildren and 120 great-grandchildren. These facts are mentioned on his gravestone, and the following lines given:

“Altho one hundred years I’ve seen,
My life was short, t’was all a dream.”

CHILDREN, by first marriage:
452+ Mabel Tyler, born June 30, 1724.
453 Elijah Tyler, born April 19, 1729; not mentioned in father’s will with the other heirs and had probably died young.
454+ Asa Tyler, born March 5, 1731.
455+ Amy Tyler, born Dec. 10, 1733.
456+ Lucy Tyler, born Nov. 13, 1735.
457 Job Tyler, baptized July 8, 1739.
458 Elisha Tyler, baptized Sept. 21, 1740.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:
459+ James Tyler, born July 25, 1743.
460+ Elizabeth Tyler, born Dec. 15, 1744.
461 William Tyler, born Aug. 6, 1748; died Sept. 13, 1754.
462+ Daniel Tyler, born May 21, 1750.
463 Leah Tyler, born June 30, 1752.
464+ Zilpha Tyler, born June 28, 1758.

Of the 21 children born to Daniel Tyler the names and dates of birth of eight are unrecorded, nor is it known to which of his wives these unrecorded children belong. They doubtless died in infancy.

126 JOHN Tyler (Daniel3), born in Groton, Conn., March 24, 1705; baptized April 28, 1706; died ——; will dated April 15, 1791; presented for probate July 5, 1791; married Elizabeth ——. He settled in Canterbury, Conn., where his children were all probably born. Oliver was executor of the will, and Zebulon appears to have appealed. He was an Ensign in the Colonial Wars, and lieutenant of the train band of Groton. The inventory of estate amounted to £395, 9s, 4d. Children:

465 Zebulon Tyler, born March 11, 1736; living in 1791, when he appealed from his father's will; married, April 17, 1766, Betty Adams. In 1770 he was one of three Tylers "adjacent to Brooklyn" who recommended the building of a church.

466+ Phineas Tyler, born May 17, 1738.

467 Oliver Tyler, born March 2, 1740; died June 4, 1750.

468 Prudence Tyler, born Feb. 16, 1742.

469 Betty Tyler, born April 11, 1745; married Simon Newton.

470 John Tyler, born April 30, 1748; died Jan. 20, 1770.

471+ Oliver Tyler, born Jan. 2, 1754.

127 JOB4 TYLER (Daniel3), born in Groton, Conn., February 14, 1710; died ———; married, August 25, 1732, Bial Williams. He lived in Groton. He was commissioned as Ensign of the fourth company or train band, October, 1744. In October, 1777, he was Lieutenant of the 10th company of the 5th regiment and on the alarm list. Children:

472 Solomon Tyler, born Jan. 25, 1754.

473 Anna Tyler, born Oct. 6, 1739.

474 Amy Tyler, born March 5, 1742.

475 Molly Tyler, born March 29, 1744.

476 Job Tyler, born April 18, 1746.

477 Bial Tyler, born July 28, 1748.

132 CAPTAIN MOSES4 TYLER (James3), born in Preston, Conn. (now known as Griswold), February 19, 1707; died in Preston, January 22, 1787; married (1), November 20, 1729, Mary Belcher, who died April 19, 1742, in her 81st year; married (2), November 11, 1742, Joanna Denison, daughter of Samuel Denison, of Stonington, Conn. (George2, George1), born December 13, 1715; died February 6, 1786. He resided in Preston. He was a man of force of character and considerable worldly success, and owned several farms, on one of which he built a "mansion house," in 1755, which remained in the family until 1835, and is still standing. He was deputy from Preston in 1760, 1761 and 1769. His son-in-law, Benjamin Coit, writing to Nathaniel Cove, in 1786, says of the kinsfolk in Preston: “Our friends are generally well, except Father Tyler, and he is much better than he has been. The poor old man appears to be as anxious about the world and the things thereof as ever he was, and as careful about giving and squandering his estate.” The inventory of his estate was made March 30, 1787, and amounted to £2916, 10s, 9d. The first part of his will was made in 1779. A codicil was dated July 18, 1785, and further reference to it was made on June 16, 1786. (See Norwich Probate, Book 8, page 12.)

CHILDREN, by first marriage:
478+ Mary Tyler, born Sept. 12, 1730.
479 Moses Tyler, born July 10, 1732; died Sept. 28, 1751.
480+ Elisha Tyler, born Aug. 5, 1734.
481 Hannah Tyler, born March 25, 1736; married John Smith, of Stonington, Conn.
482+ Sarah Tyler, born Sept. 30, 1738.
483+ Esther Tyler, born Dec. 9, 1740.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:
484 Elijah Tyler, born Dec. 2, 1743; died Sept. 17, 1746.
485 Thankful Tyler, born Sept. 27, 1745; died Oct. 6, 1746.
486 Elijah Tyler, born Sept. 19, 1746; died young.
487 Daniel Tyler, born Sept. 24, 1747; died April 16, 1752.
488 Lucretia Tyler, born Sept. 19, 1749; died April 19, 1752.
489 James Tyler, born Sept. 28, 1751; died Nov. 4, 1754.

133 CAPTAIN JAMES⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Preston, Conn. (present town of Griswold), December 22, 1708; died in Preston, March 10, 1736; married, October 7, 1731, Hester Bishop, of Lisbon, Conn. Children:
490 Hester Tyler, born Sept. 9, 1732; probably died young; not mentioned in her grandfather James³ will, in 1753.
491+ Samuel Tyler, born Aug. 21, 1734.

134 HANNAH⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Preston, Conn., October 11, 1711; died in 1797; married, January 30, 1738, William Denison, born in 1705; died in North Stonington, Conn., where he lived, January 29, 1760; son of William Denison (John², George¹). The inventory of his estate was £2368, 17s, 8d. (He married (1), Hannah Burrows, who died January 5, 1737.) Children, by second marriage:

492 Nathan Denison, born Feb. 24, 1739; died May 28, 1742.
493 Daniel Denison, born July 20, 1740; married Martha Geer.
494 Amy Denison, born March 27, 1742; married Thomas Swan.
495 Ann Denison, born Sept. 12, 1744; married George Palmer.
496 Esther Denison, born April 23, 1746; married John James.
497 Sarah Denison, born Feb. 7, 1748; married John W. Geer.
498 John Denison, born Nov. 5, 1749; married Abigail Minot.
499 Elijah Denison, born Nov. 6, 1751; married Mary Geer.

136 MEHITABLE⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Preston, Conn. (now Griswold), September 13, 1714; died before the date of her father's will, October 3, 1753; married, November 22, 1732, Joseph Freeman. Her children are all mentioned in their grandfather's will. Children:

500 Daniel Freeman.
501 Mary Freeman, born Aug. 10, 1735; married Samuel Leonard, and had children.
502 Mehitable Freeman.
503 Anna Freeman.
504 Hannah Freeman.
505 Elizabeth Freeman.

137 DEACON JOSEPH⁴ TYLER (James³), born in Preston, Conn. (now Griswold), November 8, 1717; died in Preston, October 13, 1807; married, September 24, 1741, Anna Stephens, of Plainfield, Conn.; born in 1719; died January 22, 1805. He lived in Preston. He may have been the "Ensign" of the Preston company "to be sent against his Majesty’s enemies at Cape Breton,” in February, 1745; in which case, he was probably Ensign in 1752, also. Children:

506 Anna Tyler, born 1742.
507 Anna Tyler, born in 1743; died Aug. 31, 1746.
508 Joanna Tyler, born in 1745; died April 24, 1752.
509+ Joseph Tyler, born April 11, 1748.
510 Amy Tyler, born June 27, 1750.
511 Anna Tyler, born Oct. 27, 1752; married, Feb. 14, 1711, Ebenezer Freeman.
512 Joanna Tyler, born Oct. 1, 1754; married, Oct. 15, 1775, Thomas Cheeseborough, of Stonington, Conn.
513+ James Tyler, born May 18, 1757.
514+ Zuriah Tyler, born Aug. 25, 1759.
515 Stevens Tyler, born in 1762; died Feb. 8, 1781.

139 GENERAL JOHN 4 TYLER (James 3), born in Preston, Conn. (now Griswold), December 29, 1721; died there July 29, 1804; married, December 14, 1742, Mary (Spalding or Spaulding) Coit, born in Plainfield, Conn., July 7, 1716; died November 11, 1801; daughter of Thomas and Mercy (or Mary) (Welch) Spalding (or Spaulding), and great-granddaughter of Edward Spalding (or Spaulding), of Chelmsford, Mass., the first settler of the name in New England; widow of Joseph Coit, who died July 21, 1741; son of Rev. Joseph and Experience (Wheeler) Coit, of Plainfield; by this marriage she had two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary. General Tyler’s services in the Colonial and Revolutionary wars were varied. He was appointed lieutenant of the 3rd company or train band of the town of Preston, his commission being signed October 30, 1752, by Governor Roger Wolcott. In the campaigns of 1756, 1759, 1760 and 1764 he was successively appointed lieutenant, captain-lieutenant, and captain in various companies and regiments which were raised to defend the country against the French and Indians. His commissions were signed by Governor Jonathan Trumbull. In the last campaign he was under Lieutenant-Colonel Israel Putnam. When the Revolutionary War broke out he was commissioned, May 1, 1775, as lieutenant-colonel of the 6th regiment, his commission being signed by Governor Jonathan Trumbull; he was also captain of the 2nd company, recruited from New London, Hartford and Middlesex counties. He remained on duty in New London until June 17, 1775, when the troops were ordered to the Boston camp. In 1776, he was appointed colonel of the 10th regiment of the Continental army. After the siege of Boston, at which he was present in General Spencer's brigade, he went to New York with his regiment. He succeeded Gurdon Saltonstall as brigadier-general of the 3rd brigade of militia, June 5, 1777, and served in that capacity in Rhode Island on state alarms under General Sullivan and engaged in the attempt to dislodge the British from Newport, in 1778, and was at the battle of Long Island, August 29, 1778. During the New Haven alarm in 1779, he commanded the militia along the east coast of New Haven, and during a part of that year was at New London and Groton. When the Revolutionary army was disbanded the soldiers could not get their pay, nor had they for a long time received any; there is a tradition that General Tyler used his own money and paid off his soldiers. At the close of the war he returned to his old home in Preston (now Griswold), where his old house is still standing, in 1907. He lived for 21 years after the war. He began a career in the General Assembly of Connecticut at the age of 35, and served as follows: 1756, 1758, 1759, 1763, 1767, 1770, 1773, 1774, 1775, 1783, 1787. He was also justice for five consecutive years following 1773, in and for the county of New London. General Tyler's tomb is in the old cemetery at Griswold, he having bought a right in the Wheeler and Colt tomb. The inventory of his estate was $20,220.81. His children were born in North Preston. His will was dated April 25, 1798, and the codicil (after his wife's death), November 20, 1801. (See Norwich Probate Records, Book 10, p. 358.)

Colonel Nathan Tyler (Nathan), born in Mendon, Mass., October 31, 1729; died in Uxbridge, Mass., February 25, 1784; married, June 2, 1757, Mrs. Mary Salisbury, of Bristol, R. I., who was joint executor of his will, in 1784. She received one-third of his personal estate and a life interest in one-third of his lands. In 1756 he was a lieutenant at Fort William Henry, and also on the expedition to Crown Point, in that year. In 1758 and 1759 he was a captain of a company; he is recorded as of the train band and was on the alarm list of Mendon in the same years. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel of the 3d Worcester County regiment, June 12, 1776, and commissioned as colonel of the same regiment, June 17, 1779. He engaged in service in Rhode Island at different times. He lived in Mendon until some time between the years 1763 and 1766, as the three elder children were born there; the next three children were born in Upton, Mass., and the two younger in Uxbridge. Here he seems to have bought the tanyard property of Joseph Tyler, in 1775, and settled in the town as its first lawyer. He was probably the first lawyer in the south part of the county. He appears to have been a man of good standing in the community, but very little is known of his private life.

He was in the French and Indian Wars from Uxbridge, and in the Revolutionary War he was in Captain Fletcher's company at " Ti " and Bennington, and in the last-named battle he was disabled and returned home, and was granted a life pension. He settled in Townshend, Vt., and began his " clearing " in 1763, and built a log hut in the dense woods; he was the first settler. For the first three years he returned to Uxbridge winters. All the fifteen families in the place turned out with hand sleds to help his family in from Brattleboro, when they came in 1767, and drew them over the ice of the river to their home, as there was no path. He was one of fifteen to form the first Congregational church. In 1775 he was nominated by Cumberland County representatives as first major of a regiment of Minute Men, confirmed by New York Committee of Safety, in 1776; he was a delegate from Townshend on the committee of safety June, 1776-1777. In 1781 he was a member of the Vermont board of war. He favored and worked for the sovereignty of Vermont and was on committee of eleven to secure signers in opposition to Great Britain. He was a very conscientious, stern man and made many enemies. Great Britain set a price on his head. He was appointed justice of the peace by the state, twenty years from 1786. He was the first town clerk of Townshend, at its first meeting, May 30, 1771, and afterwards town treasurer, selectman and representative to the Vermont General Assembly. His home was in the east part of the town. The three elder children were born in Uxbridge, the others in Townshend.

309 JONATHAN 5 TYLER (David 4), born in Lebanon, Conn., January 1, 1752; died in Piermont, N. H., June 28, 1848; married, 1774, Sarah McConnell, who was aged twelve years and six months; born in Pembroke, N. H., in 1762; died November 29, 1815. This was the first marriage in Piermont, and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Peter Powers. Her family came to Piermont six months before her marriage, and she came into the town with them astride a horse. He came to Piermont with his father in 1768, from Lebanon, Conn., and was an original character, of whom many stories were told. In 1769 wild game was exceedingly abundant in Piermont; moose "yarded" on the meadows that winter; bears, wolves and deer were ever present. Jonathan gave the name of "The Northern Army" to a pest of worms which nearly destroyed all their crops in 1781 (see the story of the pigeons under No. 84). He served in the Revolution and when the army retired from Ticonderoga on the approach of Burgoyne, he was taken prisoner. He was held for a time on the west side of Lake George. Soon after they were allowed to go to the east side to help build a block-house, and with two companions he made his escape; they nearly perished from hunger, for four days while in the woods west of the Hudson River, having only leaves, twigs, buds and roots to live on; and after they crossed the river they had the same privations. He was in Captain House's company, Colonel Warner's regiment, in July 1777. He had a pension of $96 a year. (See History of Coos County, N. H.) He and his wife are buried in the old cemetery in Piermont, and the children were born in Piermont.

He was in active service in the French and Indian Wars in 1757, 1759, and later campaigns. He was seven years in the Revolution and was in the Battle of Bunker Hill; during the time from 1775-1782 his name occurs with frequency on the Revolutionary rolls. He was promoted from ensign to first lieutenant; was lieutenant in a company of Colonel Thomas Nixon's 6th Massachusetts regiment; was wounded at the Battle of Princeton, January 3, 1777. He left the camp at White Plains without a formal discharge and thus lost his pension. In 1757-1760 he owned the Francis Brocklebank place in Rowley. He died, however, in the almshouse. The children were born in Rowley.

322 WILLIAM° TYLER (William⁴), born in Willington, Conn., June 22, 1730; died in Hamilton, Chenango County, N. Y., in 1809; married Zerviah (probably) Root. He was in Partridgefield (which, until 1804, consisted of the present towns of Peru and Hinsdale), before January 4, 1782, at which date he buys land there. He sold land there October 17, 1793, and "Zereah" also signs; again, August 27, 1795, he sells lands, "Zerviah" signing. His last deed on record in Pittsfield, Mass., is dated Sept. 22, 1803, wherein he is described as "lately of Partridgefield and now of Hamilton, Chenango County, N. Y." His estate was probated in Morrisville, N. Y.
The two elder children were born in Willington and the third and fourth in Partridgefield (Peru).

Children:

1015 (Lieutenant) Rufus Tyler, born in 1752 or 1762; was early at Partridgefield, where he bought land April 2, 1785; he died in Lebanon, N. Y.; estate probated in Morrisville, N. Y., in 1835; he married Welthea or Wealthy ——, who probably died s. p. before him, as the records indicate his only heirs to be his brothers and sisters. He was a party to 22 land grants in Partridgefield between the first one and May 12, 1800, which is the date of his last grant recorded in Pittsfield. In the grant of June 28, 1798, he is described as “Lieutenant”; in that of 1799 as “taverner”; he was licensed as “inn-holder” in 1796. He enlisted in the Revolutionary Army from Willington in 1777 (see Pension Book, page 50). He was the first hotelkeeper in the present village of Hinsdale. He moved to Lebanon, N. Y.

354 CAPTAIN ASA\textsuperscript{5} TYLER (Asa\textsuperscript{4}), born in Rowley Village (now West Boxford), Mass., December 21, 1748; died in Blenheim, N. Y., April 9, 1808; married, 1780, Martha Dodge, born September 6, 1756; died December 1, 1803. He appears first in Revolutionary records in the year 1775 as corporal on the Lexington Alarm roll of Captain Meghill, and then as sergeant in Captain Gridley's company in the same year; in January, 1778, he was commissioned as second lieutenant in Captain Jeremiah Putnam's company, Colonel Nathaniel Wade's regiment. In 1779 he sold "Scraggy Pond" in Rowley, accepting quite a large sum in Continental currency, to show his loyalty and confidence in the government, of which his close friend, Robert Morris, was treasurer. Finding himself impoverished by the repudiation of this currency, in 1783 he moved to Suffield, Conn., where his four younger children were born. In 1801 he moved to Blenheim and purchased a "lease farm." He was appointed postmaster, which position he retained until his death. He gave the ground for a church where he and his wife are interred. Through his wife he was great uncle to George Peabody, the philanthropist, and uncle to General Henry Leavenworth of the War of 1812. The family Bible, with a chest full of Continental money, were burned in Barrytown, N. Y., in 1872. The two elder children were born in Rowley Village.

CHILDREN:

1132 Clarissa Tyler, born 1780; married Henry Kent; one child (Clarissa, who married ______ Howell.)

1133 Henry Putnam Tyler, born Aug. 4, 1782; died in Philadelphia, 1860; he married in 1855, at the age of 70 a girl of 23. He was for many years a bookkeeper in Philadelphia; two daughters (Emma, born 1856; married [1], a Japanese and had one daughter; married [2], ______ Brink and had a son, Victor; Laura, born 1859; died 1868.)

1134+ Nathan Peabody Tyler, born Feb. 16, 1784.
1135+ Asa Tyler, born Feb. 25, 1789.
1136 Laura Tyler, born 1791; died 1792.
1137 Patty Tyler, born 1792; died 1794.

367 PHEBE5 TYLER (Jonathan4), born probably in Haverhill, Mass., about 1740; married Abijah Buck, born in Newbury, Mass., in 1777, the second year of the settlement; he moved from New Gloucester, Maine, to Buckfield, Maine (Oxford County), a town named for him and his two brothers, who also were early settlers there. His father-in-law, Jonathan Tyler, accompanied him to the new town, where he was a man of note. The children were born in New Gloucester except the youngest. Children:

1138 Elizabeth Buck, born July 1, 1763.
1139 Ellen Buck, born Jan. 8, 1765.
1140 Phebe Buck, born Dec. 17, 1766.
1141 John Buck, born Dec. 27, 1768; married Molly ——; had two sons and two daughters.

1144 Jonathan Buck, born in Buckfield, Feb. 5, 1782.

368 JONATHAN5 TYLER, JR. (Jonathan4), born, probably in Haverhill, Mass., July 6, 1742; married Mercy Hackett, daughter of Henry Hackett, of New Gloucester; born December 10, 1743. They grant their interest in her father's estate, £6, June 13, 1775, to Moses Hackett of New Gloucester. Moses Hackett, as administrator of the estate of Jonathan Tyler, late of New Gloucester, July 11, 1783, deeds to James Rider, of North Yarmouth, for £99, 15s, 50 acres in New Gloucester. It is probable that the estate here administered upon was that of Jonathan5. He had a grant of land from his father on the 20th of June, 1767, of 60 acres in New Gloucester, for which he paid £10, 13s, 4d. He enlisted in Captain Merrill's company, Colonel Phinney's regiment of Foot, May 15, 1775. (Coat Rolls 8 Months Service, Vol. 56.) In a letter to his wife, dated Boston, June 25, 1777, signed by himself, he states that he has been sick with the small pox, entered the hospital April 29 and left it June 18, 1777, and went to Boston. (Resolve, 1820, chap. 101.) (See also Books, Enlisted Men and Officers, Vol. 27.) The children were born in New Gloucester.

CHILDREN:

1145 Mary Tyler, born July 30, 1767; died unmarried, in her native place, March 6, 1846.
1146+ Mercy Tyler, born April 16, 1773.
1147 Jonathan Tyler, born March 17, 1776.

369 NATHANIEL5 TYLER (Jonathan4), born probably in Haverhill, Mass., about 1744; died in 1809; married Rebecca Sherloc (probably Sherlock).

The placing of this line is conjectural; no record of birth.
found; names of children indicate descent from Moses\(^2\) (Job\(^1\)), in fact is the only possible line of descent my records will allow. From only two of Moses\(^2\) sons does it appear he could come, that is Joshua\(^3\) and Jonathan\(^3\). In Joshua’s line we have nothing to show he had Tyler grandsons, or that any of his line went to Maine. It is probable that this line comes from Jonathan\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Job\(^4\). We know that Jonathan\(^3\), like his brother James, went to Maine, and Jonathan\(^4\) was at New Gloucester, Maine, by 1763, before the first proprietor’s meeting down to 1773. Jonathan\(^5\) was at Haverhill, Mass., in 1743, where probably was born his son Jonathan\(^5\), 1742, and where Nathaniel\(^5\) may have been born. It is but a short distance from New Gloucester, Maine, to the Augusta, Maine, region where the children of Nathaniel largely settled. Two of Nathaniel’s children went to Bethel, Maine, which is about as far northwest from New Gloucester as Augusta is to the northeast. Jonathan\(^5\) had brothers: Nathaniel, Jonathan, Ebenezer and Joseph, and Nathaniel\(^5\) gives four of his sons these same four names. The names of Nathaniel, Jonathan and Joseph recur in the names of the grandchildren of Nathaniel\(^5\). Jonathan\(^5\) had a brother Joshua, and this name appears among Nathaniel’s grandchildren, while David and Asa, names also occurring in the seventh generation of Nathaniel’s line, are names found among the grandchildren of Moses\(^2\) (Job\(^1\)), the father of Jonathan\(^3\).

In 1775 we find the name of Nathaniel Tyler among five new names added to Augusta taxpayers, when General Arnold ascended the Kennebec to go to Quebec. In a return of men enlisted into the Continental Army, from Colonel Joseph North’s 2d Lincoln County regiment, dated Gardnerstown, February 2, 1778, occurs the name of Nathaniel Tyler, from Hallowell, Maine, who enlisted for three years. In 1780 Nathaniel Tyler was a soldier at Fort Halifax. “Nathaniel and wife Rebecker” join in a deed of land, February 4, 1793, as shown in the Wiscasset Register of Deeds, Vol. 24, p. 18. In 1797 Nathaniel owned land, horses and cattle in Augusta. The eldest child was born in Sidney, Maine; the fifth, sixth and seventh children were born in Augusta, Maine.

374 NATHAN⁵ TYLER (Joseph⁴), born in Haverhill,
The Merrimack River, by J. W. Meader (1869) says: "In the navigation of the river and auxiliary canals, the family of Tylers bore an important and conspicuous part, and are historically connected with the river and with Lowell. Mr. Nathan Tyler owned nearly all the land from the head of the Pawtucket (or Navigation) Canal to the Merrimack, and as far down as the mouth of the Concord, the manufacturing companies making their first land purchase of him. ..." He resided near the foot of Pawtucket Falls, and carried on a saw and grist mill; which was swept away by the "Great Freshet" (1810). "For three generations the Tylers of Lowell have been intimately connected with the Merrimack and its canals; in their younger days in the lively times of East Chelmsford, as fishermen, lumbermen and boatmen; and in maturer years in many high positions of responsibility and trust. ..."

Mr. Nathan Tyler owned a large tract of land in Lowell, a part now covered by the Boot corporation, and the whole of that covered by the Massachusetts, Prescott and Middlesex as far south as Massic Falls on the Concord, with also a considerable territory on the west of Central Street, between Merrimac and Market Streets, a large and valuable part of which, covered by Tyler block, is still in the family. Nathan's house, subsequently the residence of Jonathan", was on the north side of Merrimac Street between the canal and Bridge Street, and was built of lumber sawed at Tyler's mill below Pawtucket Falls. The family became widely separated and is now represented in Lowell by female members. "Tyler Park" contains about 80,000 feet of land, with ample streets surrounding it.

Ignatius Tyler was appointed administrator of his estate, and the inventory was $14,610.55, and was made December 8, 1829. The children were born in Middlesex Village, Mass.

CHILDREN:

383 JAMES⁵ TYLER (Abraham⁴), born in Scarboro, Maine, June 21, 1747; died in Saco, Maine, April 7, 1813; married Lydia Stone, of Limington, Maine. He lived in the north part of “Pepperellboro,” now Saco, near “Heath Meeting House.” He enlisted May 9, 1775, in Captain Abraham Tyler’s company, Colonel Edmund Phinney’s regiment, and served until September 29, 1775. He was a corporal. (Mass. Archives, Vol. 215.) His father grants him, June 26, 1775, in the consideration of £200, 170 acres at Blue Point, being a part of the Sir William Pepperell purchase. His father is supposed to have deeded him land which included the homestead. James sold the old homestead March 11, 1813, to Abia Chamberlain for $2000. But it was really an exchange for lands situated in Gray, Maine. The children were born in Pepperellboro, now Saco.

CHILDREN:

1201+ Mehitable Tyler, born April 20, 1779.
1202 Eliza (or Elsa) Tyler, born Nov. 9, 1780.

1208+ Abraham Tyler, born March 7, 1793.
1209 Abigail Tyler, born June 7, 1795; married Samuel Rice.

388 COLONEL ANDREW⁵ TYLER (Abraham⁴), born in Scarboro, Maine; baptized there June 18, 1758; died in Frankfort, Maine, November 24, 1844; buried on the farm and grave marked with a double stone, inscribed “A Patriot of '76”; married, August 4, 1782, in Scarboro, Hannah Seavey, born July 11, 1762; died in Frankfort, December 30, 1838. He was a farmer and built the first frame house in the Frankfort region. In the rear is old “Tyler Mountain,” where is his large quarry of granite; the landscape is very bold. A part of the old farm, 300 acres, is still owned in the family and called “Hillside Farm.” He was in the Revolution, a private in his father’s company in 1775, and served during the intervening years in other companies until 1780, reaching the rank of sergeant; was in camp at Valley Forge in January, 1778, and at the surrender of Burgoyne. Appointed a lieutenant in the militia by Governor John Hancock, in 1789; Lieutenant-Governor Samuel Adams appointed him captain of the militia in 1794; Governor Caleb Strong, of Massachusetts, appointed him major in 1803, and Governor James Sullivan, of Massachusetts appointed him lieutenant-colonel in 1807. He was highway surveyor of Frankfort in 1818; selectman and assessor in 1807; also land surveyor. The children were born in Frankfort.

CHILDREN:

1210 Mary Tyler, married Elisha Thayer, of Winterport, Maine. They had a son (Tyler) who became a physician, married and had a family.

1211+ Andrew Tyler, born Sept. 30, 1793.

1214+ Sally Tyler, born April 15, 1798.

1215 Clarissa Tyler, born 1805; died March 28, 1839, unmarried.

396 DOMINICUS³ TYLER (Abraham⁴), born in Scarboro, Maine; baptized there February 15, 1767; married in Scarboro, January 26, 1797, Rebecca Carl. He moved to Frankfort, Maine. Benjamin Nason, of Biddeford, grants Dominicus, July 31, 1789, 10 acres at “Blew Point.” He had from his father, March 26, 1795, for £12 18s, 2½ acres on Dunston Landing Road. Also, September 23, 1803, a tract in Scarboro, from his father “in consideration of 4 years labor heretofore received." He granted to Benjamin Millikin, his wife "Rebeker" joining, December 5, 1804, a marsh on Dunstpon River, about 40 rods north of "Tyler's Bridge," called Goosebury Island. He had 20 acres from his father, October 5, 1805, for $250, lying at "Tyler's Bridge," the right being reserved for Abraham's daughter Hannah, probably unmarried, to take wood for one fireplace, during her life. (Portland, Maine, Registry of Deeds, Books 22, 47 and 48.) His peculiar name doubtless comes from the fact that his father, in one of his numerous marriages, took one of the Jordan family as a wife, and his father had a business transaction with "Dominicus Jordan" at one time, from whence the name probably comes. The male line in this family threatens to become extinct.

CHILDREN:

417 JACOB5 TYLER (Jacob4), born May 27, 1752;
died, in Methuen, Mass., March 6, 1810; married, September 26, 1782, Ruth Marsh, of Haverhill, Mass., born November 9, 1760; died February 15, 1812. He lived in Methuen, Mass. He was a private in Lieutenant Peter Poor's company of Andover, that marched, Wednesday, April 19, 1775, on the Alarm, from Andover to Cambridge, 55 miles. On Saturday, May 27, 1775, Jacob Tyler, Jr., and 15 other men were engaged with the enemy at Chelsea, Mass., and also on Sunday, May 28th, in which they drove the British from a schooner and set fire to it and destroyed it. Four men were wounded. They were a detachment from Captain Poor's company. He joined Captain Benjamin Farnum's company as a private. They were in the Battle of Bunker Hill. He died intestate and his widow administered upon the estate. His real estate was inventoried at $4,364, and his personal property at over a thousand dollars. Each of the children received about $660 in the distribution.

CHILDREN:

1808+ Ruth Tyler, born Aug. 9, 1785.
1809+ Lydia Tyler, born June 25, 1787.
1810+ John Tyler, born Sept. 12, 1790.
1811 Benjamin Marsh Tyler, born June 29, 1792; died s. p. in Franklin, N. H., in 1847; married, Nov. 26, 1835, Mary Ware, of Andover, N. H. He was educated in the military school in Norwich, Conn.; afterwards a teacher there, at Taunton Hill, in Andover, N. H., and later master of "Noyes' School" during its brief existence. His work had so impressed the people of Franklin and surrounding towns that when the school was broken up on account of the contesting of Mr. Noyes' will, "The Instructor's School" was built for him, organized in 1830, on a Normal basis with a regular course of training. He had large classes of teachers and attracted scholars from afar. When the records of New England school work are adequately made up, Mr. Tyler will have an honored place. "No citizen of Franklin has ever had a larger or better influence."

1812 Jacob Tyler, born April 9, 1794; died in Methuen, Mass., Dec. 22, 1856; married Sally Currier, who died Aug. 7, 1850; no children. He was a farmer.

1322+ Benjamin Tyler.

1323 Jonas Tyler, resided in Franconia, N. H., where he was a hotel-keeper, and where he died about 1850. There is a strong probability that he had sons.
1324+ Fanny Tyler, born April 3, 1785.

426 MOSES\textsuperscript{5} TYLER (Moses\textsuperscript{4}), born in Andover, Mass., September 12, 1757; died, while living with his son Moses in Harvard, Mass., later than 1840; his will was dated March 29, 1839; married, in Boston, Mary Cotton, who died in Harvard, October 24, 1838, aged 80. He was in the Revolution, enlisting from Woburn, in Captain Abishar Brown’s company of Colonel Josiah Whitney’s regiment, in 1776; also in Captain Samuel Fay’s company, Lieutenant-Colonel Webb’s regiment in 1781, in the three months’ series; also on the roll of same company as late as January, 1784. He was a pensioner, as late as 1840. He kept a retail store in Boston, and is in the directory for the year 1812. He removed to Harvard, Mass. Children:
1325+ Mary Tyler, born in Boston, Feb. 2, 1797.
1326 Moses Tyler; his father resided with him in Harvard in 1840.

427 JONATHAN\textsuperscript{5} TYLER (Moses\textsuperscript{4}), born in Woburn, Mass., June 14, 1760; died there February 14, 1833; married, May 1, 1781, Rhoda Bruce, born January 22, 1761; died December 5, 1828; daughter of John and Mehitable Bruce. In 1776 he was in Captain Abishar Brown’s company and in camp in Hull, Mass. He is thought to have been a pensioner at the time of his death. His son Joseph declined to administer his estate, but later became surety for Benjamin Wyman, of Woburn, who was appointed administrator. Jonathan was a cordwainer. He was also, probably, a storekeeper in Boston in the retail business, and his name appears in the directory of 1796. The children were born in Woburn. Children:
1327+ Jonathan Tyler, Jr., born Sept. 17, 1782.
1328 Polly Tyler, born July 19, 1793; died young.
1329 Sally Tyler, born March 25, 1785; married, Sept. 17, 1818, Abijah Stearns.

JONAS TYLER (Moses), born in Woburn, Mass., May 31, 1733; died in Charlestown, Mass., June 26, 1853; married (1) (published November 11, 1804), Rebecca Adams, born in Winchendon, Mass., March 30, 1781; died s. p. May 28, 1806; married (2), February 6, 1810, in Lexington, Mass., Ruhamah Bridge, who died January 10, 1864, aged 82. He was a dealer in West India goods, and resided in Charlestown, where the children were born.

Children, by second marriage:

George Washington Tyler, born Feb. 5, 1813; died s. p. in Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 22, 1870; married, Nov., 1855, Mrs. Louisa (Elms) Drake, the divorced wife of the historian Drake. Was graduated from Harvard Law School in 1857, and was admitted to practice the same year. Early in life he was a commission merchant in Boston, where in his store, his brother John fell and died. George Tyler was well educated and brilliant; had a large library which was open for the use of young men. He was an early editor on the Boston Herald. Removed to Leavenworth, Kan.

John Francis Tyler, born Sept. 10, 1815; died unmarried March 3, 1837, the result of a fall in the store of his brother George in Boston.

Benjamin Franklin Tyler, born April 4, 1821.

Anne (or Annie) Tyler, born April 28, 1823; died unmarried in Charlestown, Aug. 16, 1898.

(Captain) Jonas Kendall Tyler, born March 25, 1825; died there May 2, 1898; married, Dec. 24, 1874, Mrs. Lydia Maria (Preston) Walsh, who died s. p. Sept. 7, 1888. He received a good education. He enlisted in the Mexican War, in Boston, June 5, 1846, at the age of 21 attaining the rank of lieutenant. He was admitted to practice law at the Suffolk County, Massachusetts Bar, July 5, 1853. In June, 1861, he recruited a company for the Civil War, going out for three years as its captain, which became a part of the 29th Regiment of Mass. Volunteers. He wrote for the "Boston Herald" in its early days and was always a great reader. His temperament led him to take life easily and probably prevented him attaining the place his abilities entitled him to reach. His will was proved May 26, 1898. He left to his nephew, John Tyler, the "swords, pistols and accoutrements to the same, belonging, worn and used by me in the Mexican and Civil Wars." His residence was at 252 Bunker Hill Street, Charlestown. His nephew John was executor.

MOSES'TYLER (Moses4), born in Boston, Mass., November 26, 1734; died September 16, 1811; interred in "Tyler's Point" cemetery, Barrington, R. I.; married, July 17, 1760, Elizabeth Adams (perhaps he had a first wife, who died soon); born in 1738; died November 7, 1811. He was called "Esquire." In 1761 he bought his house in Boston on "King's Lane" of Peter Barbour. Moved to Warren and Barrington, R. I., soon after, where are recorded the births of his children. He appears on a list of officers commissioned for the 3d regiment of militia in the County of Bristol, July, 1771. His rank was lieutenant in Captain Jacob Ide's company, Colonel George Leonard's regiment. He was on the committee of correspondence, March 21, 1774, restricting the tea importation from Great Britain. In 1776 and 1777 he was a deputy from Barrington the General Assembly; he was a justice of the peace. He built ships on "New Meadow Neck" near Kelley's Bridge and also called "Tyler's Point," a narrow and short tongue of land bounded by tidewater, and reached by bridge from Barrington Center and by a second bridge from Warren. The old cemetery there, now neglected, contains three generations of Tylers, side by side. There stood the first Baptist church (erected in 1663), until 1700. In 1778, when the British and Hessians invaded Warren and burned many buildings, Mr. Tyler was conspicuous in his efforts to prevent their invading Barrington. He prevented the landing of two Hessians, who came over in a boat, killing one, whose musket, 110 years old, was shown at the Centennial anniversary of the town. Mr. Tyler bequeathed the gun to his grandson, Sylvanus Haile Bowen. On the lock plate is stamped the English crown and the initials G. R. (Georgius Rex) and date, 1760. The Tyler homestead on "Tyler's Point" passed to John and John Tyler, and originally included all the land between the two rivers. The children were born in Warren, except the youngest.

1691 Adaline E. Tyler, born in 1803; died, unmarried, in Townshend, Nov. 9, 1826, aged 23.
1692+ Moses W. Tyler.
1693 Columbus Tyler, died, s. p. 1881, aged 76 years; married, 1855, Mary E. Sawyer, of Sterling, Mass., who died in 1889, aged about 83. He was steward of the McLean Asylum of Somerville, Mass., about forty years. He built a residence in Somerville when he retired, and they were among the most highly esteemed citizens of the place. Their estate was bequeathed to the Unitarian church for a parsonage. Mrs. Tyler was the heroine of the verses, “Mary Had a Little Lamb.” When she was a child in Sterling a little new-born lamb was found nearly dead, one day, and she nursed it back to life, sitting up all night to keep it alive. At her brother’s suggestion they took the lamb to school, one day, having considerable trouble to get it over a high stone wall. They had high seats, boarded up, in the schoolroom, and Mary placed the lamb inside this enclosure, at her feet, on a shawl. When she went out to the place for recitation the clatter of little hoofs was heard on the floor, and the lamb appeared.
The teacher laughed outright and the children giggled, but Mary was very much ashamed and led the lamb to a shed outside in the schoolyard, where it stayed until she went home. A young man named John Roulstone, visiting the school that day, was greatly pleased with the incident. The next day he brought three stanzas which he had written. Two stanzas have been added since then, by another hand. From the lamb's fleece, Mary's mother knit two pairs of stockings, which were kept until Mrs. Tyler was about 80 years of age. The ladies of Boston were then raising money for the preservation of the Old South Meeting-house, and Mrs. Tyler contributed these stockings, which were unraveled and small pieces of the yarn sold, thus realizing a considerable sum from the pair of hose.

629 DEACON JOHN\(^3\) TYLER (John\(^4\)), born in Attleboro, Mass., April 25, 1746; died in Ararat, Pa., May 27, 1822; married, June, 1768, Mercy Thacher, born December 27, 1752; died January 14, 1835; daughter of Rev. Peter and Bethiah (Carpenter) Thacher, of Attleboro; descended from a long line of Rev. Peter Thachers, all eldest sons, interrupted only by Rev. Thomas Thacher, the famous first pastor of the Old South Church, Boston; also a descendant of Thomas Hinckley, Governor of Plymouth Colony.

Prof. W. S. Tyler says of her: "My grandmother Tyler was a very remarkable woman. For many years she was the chief physician of all the settlers in Susquehanna County. Mounting her horse astride with the doctor's saddlebags, she would ride fast as the fastest to meet an emergency—a confinement or any extreme sickness—in any part of the country. And so often did she ride from Harford to Ararat carrying on horseback all sorts of heavy luggage—a dye-tub, a big brass kettle, etc., etc.—that it became a common saying that 'she brought her loom on horseback, in her lap, with her granddaughter in it weaving.' (See History Susquehanna County, passim). And she could minister to the souls as well as the bodies of her patients, for her Christian faith and activity was fully equal to her personal energy and efficiency." The Lexington Alarm Rolls state that John Tyler, Jr., of Attleboro, was a private on the Lexington Alarm Roll of Captain Moses Wilmarth's first company, Colonel John Daggett's 4th Bristol County regiment, which marched from Attleboro April 19, 1775, and served eleven days. In Daggett's History of Attleboro, there is service attributed to John Tyler and John Tyler, Jr., in April, 1775, in Caleb Richardson's company, Colonel Timothy Walker's regiment. In 1776 the same history noted that John Tyler, Jr., is on a committee to give notice of persons using "India Tea" after March. John Tyler, a sergeant, served in Captain Richardson's company, which marched into the State of Rhode Island, between April 21 and May 25, 1777, "to hold the line until men could be raised for two months for that purpose." His name appears again on the muster roll of the Attleboro troops as a member of Captain Ebenezer May's company, August 22 to September 24, 1778. Harford, Susquehanna County, was settled in 1790 by the "Nine Partners," by which name the place was generally known until 1807. Deacon John Tyler went there in the autumn of 1794. He was nearly fifty years old when he moved to this almost unbroken wilderness. "Five of his children were grown up and had already migrated to Pennsylvania. . . . The four younger children, among whom was Joab . . . "moved" in the family caravan. A huge canvas-covered wagon, drawn by oxen, was their vehicle by day, and much of the way, their tent by night. A cow, led or driven alongside, furnished no inconsiderable part of their daily food and drink. They were weeks in performing a journey that now can be accomplished in 24 hours. Deacon John's was the first frame house built in the town. A "reading meeting" was established by vote of the people in 1794, and John Tyler was chosen to conduct it. But for ten years there were no taxes, military duties, civil rulers, or church organization. In 1800 a Congregational church was organized consisting of seven members, all of whom were Tylers, Thachers and Carpenters. In 1803 John Tyler was chosen one of the first deacons, and public worship was now held in his house, sometimes also in his barn. In this house also was the first school. In 1807, on petition of the inhabitants, the settlement was constituted a town and election district under the name of Harford, so called after Hartford, Conn., but varied in the spelling to agree with the pronunciation. In 1810, John Tyler removed still further into the wilderness and pitched his tent on a lofty tableland, which, from its commanding elevation, was called by him, and has ever since born the name of Ararat. There also a Congregational church was soon established, of which he became one of the first deacons. The children were all born in Attleboro.

boro, Mass., July 12, 1758; died in Smithfield, R. I., June 2, 1833; married Philip Briggs. Children:

1784 (Dr.) Tyler Briggs.
1785 John Briggs.

634 MAJOR EBENEZER5 TYLER (John4), born in Attleboro, Mass., September 8, 1760; died in Pawtucket, R. I., October 15, 1827; married (1), Mary French, who died in Attleboro October 3, 1804, aged 44; daughter of Joseph French; married (2), Mrs. Rachel (Deane) Forbes, born in Norton, Mass., November 24, 1773; died March 5, 1834, aged 60, s. p. He resided in Attleboro and Pawtucket. He was at the head of the Attleboro Manufacturing Company, which became, in 1809, The Tyler Manufacturing Company. The Major was a very capable man and it was a prosperous business concern for many years. At the time of the Revolution there were two Ebenezer Tylers in Attleboro, possibly three. One served as a private and one as a lieutenant, in the war. He who became "Major" was one of these. When Captain Richardson marched into the State of Rhode Island "to hold the line till men could be raised for two months for that purpose," Ebenezer Tyler and Ebenezer Tyler, Jr., responded, and remained in the company which was raised to replace this company. The private marched on the Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775, and served at intervals for about a month at a time, in 1777, 1778 and 1780; the lieutenant served a short time in 1777, from May to October, 1778, and in the summer of 1780. Major Ebenezer Tyler probably served as a captain in the "South Company" of the town militia. An Ebenezer Tyler, of Attleboro, was in Captain Moses Wilmarth's company in Rhode Island from March to August, 1781. Major Tyler's will was dated October 10, 1823; probated November 6, 1827. His wife Rachel had life interest in the land, house, barns and buildings situated in Pawtucket, furniture, etc., and pew No. 40 in Catholic Baptist meeting-house in Pawtucket. His daughter Nancy, wife of Daniel Greene, had lands in Pawtucket. The children of his daughter, Lucinda Richardson, deceased, received $1,000 each. A legacy was made to Rachel Tyler Dean, "Niece of my beloved wife Rachel." His son William Tyler, was residuary legatee and executor. His wife, Rachel, left her property by will to the Deane family.
204 THE DESCENDANTS OF JOB TYLER

CHILDREN, by first marriage:
1786+ Lucinda Tyler, born Nov. 6, 1785.
1787+ William Tyler, born Jan. 7, 1789.
1788 Joseph Tyler, born Jan. 21 (or 22), 1791; died Aug. 25, 1813.

636 OTHNIEL5 (John4), born in Attleboro, Mass., April 4, 1763; died August 9, 1846; married (published in Uxbridge, Mass., December 24, 1788), Olive Taft, of Uxbridge. He was graduated from Brown University in 1783. He became a lawyer, being admitted to the Suffolk bar before 1807. Resided in Sudbury, Mass. He joined the Second Congregational church in Attleboro by a letter from Wayland, Mass., January 5, 1840. On the pay-roll and muster roll of Captain Alexander Foster's company, Colonel Thomas Carpenter's first regiment of Bristol County, Mass., militia, he appears a private. The service was 17 days in Rhode Island, July 27 to August 12, 1778 (Rhode Island Service, Vol. 2).

CHILDREN:
1791 Royal Tyler, died unmarried before 1846.
1792+ George Tyler.
1793 Mary Ann Tyler, died unmarried.

637 SAMUEL5 TYLER (Job4), born in Ashford, Conn., April 12, 1759; died in September, 1825, in Marcellus, Onondaga County, N. Y., a week after his return from visiting his sick brother, Comfort, from disease contracted in Monte­zuma; married Deliverance Whiting, who died in 1862, aged 94. He was in the Revolution, probably, but his record is not known. In 1792 or 1794 he removed to Onondaga County, and settled in “Tyler Hollow,” which was named for him. The town of Marcellus and Onondaga County were organized in 1794, and he was among the very earliest settlers in the town. In 1797 he was appointed supervisor, and was the first justice of the peace in 1798. Some of the first courts of common pleas and general sessions held in the county, from 1794 to 1803, were held in his house. He was one of the incorporators of the Skaneateles turnpike in 1806. He built saw, grist and fulling mills in "Tyler Hollow." The eldest child was born in Ashford, the others probably all in "Tyler Hollow," which was included in the town of Marcellus, N. Y. This family were all large men, averaging six feet. Samuel gave to each of his sons a farm in "Tyler Hollow."

1800+ James Tyler.

639 COLONEL COMFORT 5 TYLER (Job4), born in Ashford, Conn., February 22, 1764; died in Montezuma, N. Y., August 5, 1827; married (1), 1786, Deborah Wemple, a half-sister of General Herkimer; she died soon after marriage; married (2), Betsey Brown. He claimed to be a descendant of Wat Tyler, the Revolutionist in the time of Richard II. He received a good education and entered the American army in 1778 and served at West Point. In 1783 he removed to Canghuawaga, N. Y., on the Mohawk River, where he went on General James Clinton's expedition to establish a boundary line between New York and Pennsylvania. At the age of 24, he became a member of the famous "Lessee Company." It was travel through the wilderness, of New York State, in connection with this company, which awakened Mr. Tyler's thoughts to the beauty and fertility of the new country, and he resolved to settle there. In the spring of 1788, in company with Major Danforth, he pushed ahead 50 miles into the wilds and began the first permanent settlement of Onondaga County. He felled the first tree and constructed the first piece of turnpike road west of Fort Stanwix (Rome). The early settlers ground their corn in wood mortars. The oak stump which (hollowed out) answered for Colonel Tyler's grist-mill was standing (sound) in 1845. He was a favorite with the Indians, who called him
"To-whan-la-gua," meaning "one that is double," capable of two states in life; i. e., could act the rôle of laborer or play the gentleman. He was the first salt manufacturer (in a commercial sense) in this region. The year of his arrival, he was shown a salt spring by Indians, who had, for their own uses, been taught by the Jesuits a primitive mode of procuring salt. Before that time the spring had been held in superstitious awe, as accursed by a demon, who made its waters bitter. Mr. Tyler took an iron kettle of 15 gallons capacity and in 9 hours had made 13 bushels of salt. This was the natal day of our American salt trade. Colonel Tyler was surveyor of the Cayuga reservation, leading promoter of the original Seneca Turnpike Road and Cayuga Lake Bridge, an active worker in establishing schools and churches; justice for the town of Manlius in 1794; same year he was the first supervisor, until 1798. Was sheriff of Onondaga County; the first postmaster, and afterwards, from 1799 to 1802, was appointed county clerk. In the years 1796-1797, was in the legislature; he obtained the charter for the Cayuga Bridge Company, in which the famous Aaron Burr was a leading stockholder. This Burr acquaintance was the beginning of the only shadow chapter in Colonel Tyler's remarkable biography. On December 6, 1805, Colonel Tyler landed at the island of poor, beguiled Blennerhasset, with 4 boats and 30 men, some of whom were armed. (The going armed would not seem in itself unusual in a pioneer region.) This affair, greatly impaired Colonel Tyler's fortunes and blighted his political prospects. Colonel Tyler, whenever charged with treasonable intent, always indignantly denied it; but the episode embittered and saddened the remainder of his life. He said to his little grandchild—"whenever persons refer to this matter, you are to tell them, whatever might have been contemplated, you know that no harm to our country was intended by Mr. Tyler." In 1811 he moved to Montezuma, N. Y., where he became deeply interested in the Cayuga (Salt) Manufacturing Company. To make the town more accessible, he superintended the building of two long bridges over the Seneca and Clyde Rivers, with a 3-mile turnpike over Cayuga marshes. Later he lived a few years at Hoboken, N. J., to superintend the draining of salt meadows. In the War of 1812 he served as assistant commissary general (with the rank of colonel) to the Northern Army. After the war the Erie Canal policy engaged his most earnest attention. He labored equally with the most zealous until success was assured. Colonel Tyler's affability, sympathy, animation, originality, knowledge of human life and nature, united to an ever-present benevolence, caused his society to be sought and delightfully esteemed; his home was the constant scene of cordial hospitalities. He had great capacity for achievement, both in range and degree. Comfort's remains were removed to Syracuse by a grandson, many years after his death, and rest in a tomb in the chief cemetery of the city.

Child, by first marriage:
1801+ Deborah Wemple Tyler, born March, 1787.

Child, by second marriage:
1802+ Mary Tyler, born in 1788.

640 Job5 Tyler (Job4), born in Ashford, Conn., March 12, 1770; died March, 1836; married Charlotte Utley. He is supposed to have gone to Onondaga County, N. Y., and some of the family think he died in Montezuma, N. Y. It is believed that his children were all born in Onondaga County, N. Y. Children:
1803+ Lora Tyler, born Jan. 4, 1792.
1804+ Oren Tyler, born Aug. 21, 1795.
1805+ Asher Tyler, born May 10, 1798.

641 John5 Tyler (Job4), born in Ashford, Conn., March 12, 1770; died February 19, 1845; married Clarissa Chapman, born May 26, 1777; died April 7, 1841, aged 64. He lived on his father's place one mile from Westford Village (Ashford), Conn. He went to New York state with his brothers, but returned to Ashford, where he is buried. Tradition says that he was one of the projectors of the Erie Canal with DeWitt Clinton, but this honor was shared, at least, with his brother Comfort. The children were born in Ashford, Conn. Children:
1807 Catherine Tyler, born Aug. 11, 1800; married Marlin More. They had five children (Emeline, Clarissa, Harriet, Asher, Dexter).
1808 Betsey Tyler, born June 6, 1802; married Palmer Converse. They had eight children (Palmer, Tyler, Fielder, Elnathan, Jared, Sterry, Lorraine, Mary Jane).

1811 Harriet Tyler, born Aug. 19, 1811; died March 2, 1812.

643 WILLIAM⁵ TYLER (Job⁴), born in Ashford, Conn., October 4, 1775; died in Marcellus, N. Y., September, 1825; married Prudence Brown, of Scotch parentage, who died about 1845. He removed to New York state with his brothers, and resided in Marcellus. William and his brother Samuel received word one day that their brother Comfort was at the point of death and they went to see him in his home in Montezuma, N. Y., and stayed about a week. There was much sickness in Montezuma, and the two brothers, after their return to Marcellus, were taken with a fatal illness and each lived only about a week. Comfort, however, on whose account they had made their last journey, lived for two years after their death. The records of William's children are rather meager, in some instances, and the order of their seniority, as well as many matters of family interest, is determined by a letter from Mrs. Genevieve (Tyler) Dresser, a granddaughter. The children were probably born in Marcellus.

1812 William Tyler, probably died in infancy.

1813 Elsie Tyler, married — Holcomb, and has two daughters, who were living, very aged, in Pavilion Center, N. Y., in 1904.

1814+ Augustus Tyler.

1815 Betsey Tyler, married William Smith, and resided near Horner, N. Y.; she had three sons, one who lived in Rochester, N. Y., and another in Schoolcraft, Mich.; the latter had a son and a daughter.

1816 Erastus Tyler went west and later south, and died, unmarried, of the cholera.

1817 Lavinia Tyler, married (1), Erastus Buck; married (2), — Hawkins. She lived in Mount Vernon, Ohio, and had a daughter by her first marriage, also a son, who lived in Fort Wayne, Ind.
1818  John Tyler, married and had a child, but they all died early in Syracuse.
1819  Charles Tyler, was with Pike on his expedition, ascending the top of the mountain afterward called Pike’s Peak. He was an old-time Californian, making and losing several fortunes. He died unmarried, about 1874. He lived in Burr Oak, Mich., at one time.
1820  Ann Tyler, married Henry Williams, and had a daughter (Mary), who lived in Cedar Rapids, married to —— White.
1821+ George Tyler, born July 11, 1817.
1822  Hiram Tyler, was a partner of his brother George in business in Syracuse for many years. He moved to Burr Oak, Mich., and resided in the family of his brother George. He was a brilliant society man in Syracuse, and Burr Oak, and died, in 1880, unmarried.
1823  Mary Tyler, died, s. p. in 1847; married John Sutphen.
1824  Laurens Tyler, was a musician, and educated by his brother George with West Point in view, and Laurens passed a brilliant and successful examination. But that year another candidate from the same district also stood the same test, and lots were drawn, but Laurens did not draw the prize. He also was in business with his brother George. He died in Almo, Kansas, leaving one daughter.

671 "SQUIRE" MOSES5 TYLER (Moses4), born in Attleboro, Mass., May 20, 1751; died suddenly in Richmond, N. H., of apoplexy, while sitting on a rock in a field, November 9, 1818; married, September 9, 1777, Mary Scott, born December 25, 1757; died May 14, 1827; daughter of John Scott, of Richmond. He removed to Richmond in 1775 and bought lots five and six in range 12, where he built buildings that were standing in 1880. His home overlooked Mount Monadnock to the east. Four generations of Tylers have lived here. In the inside finish of his house there was not a knot in the boards. An uncut horse-block of hewn stone stands beside the path. The History of Richmond speaks of him as a man of more than ordinary attainments, who had superior qualifications for business, and calls attention to the town records which he kept for many years, as proof of his ability. He was a wonderfully good land surveyor; was a justice of the peace, conveyancer, and representative for several years to the General Court; he held numerous town offices. He carried on farming in the same way that he conducted all his other business, in which he was exceedingly orderly and methodical. His disposition was rather peculiar, but he seems to have been a man of strength of character. He was large, physically, weighing over 300 pounds. It is said that the only plan extant of the town of Richmond was made by him. His children were born in Richmond.

Ginn, a shipbuilder of Ellsworth, Maine; married (2), Mrs. Daggett. Mr. Tyler went to Penobscot County in 1796, which was then known as Hancock County. He taught school in Bangor several terms and also in Hampden, Maine. He followed the business of architect and builder and had charge of building the old City Hall in Bangor, which was replaced in 1893. He was appointed agent for Dr. Dix and took charge of his property interest in the township of Dix, now Dixmont. He was in the War of 1812, and kept up his military interest afterward, being many years a major in the militia. He was a very rigid temperance man, a deacon of the church, and long a justice of the peace. An old pupil said about 1890, "If there ever was a true, noble gentleman, Rowland Tyler was one." He was a faithful member of the Methodist church. After his first marriage he bought a farm in Dixmont and lived there until about 1840, when he removed to Bangor. After marrying Mr. Daggett's widow, a tavern, built by Mr. Daggett about 1820, came into his possession. There he kept the "Tyler Stand" tavern, and gave it to his son Lyman at his death. He always took a leading part in the affairs of the section where he lived and matters of dispute were referred to him for settlement. The children were born in Dixmont.

1429 SARAH (SALLY) PIERPOINT® TYLER*

* The Porter Family Genealogy, on page 380 has this erroneous lineage: "William Tyler, Milford, Conn., had John Tyler, of Wallingford, Conn., who had William Tyler, who married Jerusha Sedgwick, who had Daniel Tyler, who married Sarah Edwards, who had Sarah Pierpoint Tyler." Readers of this work will learn that the "Milford" line (except for certain intermarriages), is entirely distinct from this, the "Andover" line, from which Sarah Pierpoint Tyler sprung. "John Tyler" had no such son, "William Tyler"; Jerusha Sedgwick married Samuel Tyler, son of William Tyler, son of William Tyler, son of William Tyler of Milford.

don, Eng., Feb. 9, 1887, s. p.

3383 Robert Ogden Tyler, born Dec. 22, 1831; died in Boston, Mass., Dec. 1, 1874, unmarried. He was appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point from the State of Connecticut, from which he was graduated in 1853; assigned to the Third artillery and served on the frontier, being in the Spokane expedition of 1858. In April, 1861, he went to relieve Fort Sumter and witnessed its bombardment; was made assistant quartermaster with rank of captain and served on the defences of Washington. At the special request of the Connecticut authorities he was allowed! by the war department to undertake the reorganization of the Fourth Connecticut regiment and he became its colonel. The regiment became one of the very best in the service under him, and in January, 1862, it was made the Second Connecticut Heavy Artillery.
With it he took part in the Peninsular campaign and on November 29, 1862, he was made brigadier­ general of volunteers. At Fredericksburg he had charge of the artillery of the center grand division and was brevetted for gallantry; May, 1863, was given command of the artillery reserve of the Army of the Potomac. After this he was in the battle of Chancellorsville, and of Gettysburg, where he had two horses shot under him; was in the Rapidan campaign, and subsequently became a division commander in the 22d Corps; assigned a division of heavy artillery that acted as infantry; after Spottsylvania was publicly thanked with his men by General Meade. Wounded at Cold Harbor, he thus became permanently lamed. He saw no more active service. He received several brevets for gallantry at Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor and Gettysburg, and for general services throughout the war; he was retired in 1865 with the brevet rank of brigadier-general. He was thanked by the Connecticut Legislature in a resolution and the citizens of Hartford presented him with a sword. After the war General Tyler served as chief in the quartermaster-general's department, being stationed successively in Charleston, Louisville, San Francisco, New York City and Boston, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Edwin S. Tyler, born Oct. 10, 1834.

1832 GENERAL DANIEL\textsuperscript{e} TYLER (Daniel\textsuperscript{b}), born in Brooklyn, Conn., January 7, 1799; died in New York City, November 28, 1882; married in Norwich, Conn., May 28, 1832, Emily Lee, born March 17, 1813, in Cambridge, Mass.; died in New York City, March 9, 1864. He was a cadet in the United States Military Academy at West Point, appointed from Connecticut in 1816; graduating as second lieutenant of light artillery in 1819. He served in garrisons in New England and Fort Monroe, Va., from 1819 to 1824, and gained the rank of first lieutenant; on duty until the close of 1827, when he was commander of Pikesville arsenal, near Baltimore, Md. While there he translated from the French \textit{Manoeuvres of Artillery}, which led to his being sent abroad on professional duty. From January, 1828, to the spring of 1834, he was on duty in Europe and America, and resigned May 21, 1834. He became a civil engineer. Was president of the Norwich, Conn. and Worcester, Mass. Railway Company, 1840-1844; of the Morris Canal \& Banking Company, N. J., 1844-1846; of the Macon \& Western Railway Company, Ga., 1846-1848. In 1849 was a member of the Board of Visitors of the Military Academy at West Point. From 1849-1851 was superintendent of engineers of the Cumberland Valley Railway, Pa., from Harrisburg to Chambersburg; general superintendent of the Dauphin & Susquehanna Railway and Coal Company, Pa., 1852-1860; also superintendent of engineers of the Auburn & Allerton Railway Company, Pa., 1855-1857, and its president, 1859-1861. He was also president of the Schuylkill & Susquehanna Railway Company, 1858-1861. He served in the Civil War from 1861-1864. Was on duty in the defence of Washington, beginning with March, 1861, and appointed colonel of the First Connecticut Volunteers, April 23, 1861; brigadier-general of Connecticut State Volunteers, May 10, 1861; re-appointed as brigadier-general of United States Volunteers, March 13, 1862. He was in the battle of Bull Run, and at the advance upon and siege of Corinth until early in June, 1862; he was on sick leave for about six weeks in that summer. Returning to duty in August, he organized the Connecticut Volunteer regiments. Appointed commander of Camp Douglass, Ill, he served from the middle of September until the end of November and then was on a military commission investigating General Buell's camp in Kentucky and Tennessee, until early in May, 1863. He guarded the Upper Potomac during a part of June, 1863, being commander in Harper's Ferry and Maryland Heights, at the time the Confederates invaded Pennsylvania. Later, was commander of the troops in Baltimore. Then commander of the District of Delaware until April, 1864. He had charge of the artillery which, at "Bloody Angle," is said to have saved the battle of Gettysburg. In a mass-meeting of his fellow citizens in Connecticut it was said of him: "No man rendered such service in organizing Connecticut's forces as the Colonel of the First regiment of Connecticut, Daniel Tyler, of Norwich, a worthy representative of the father and grandfather bearing the same name, so long honored in Brooklyn and Windham County. Educated at West Point and experienced in military discipline, to him was assigned the most arduous task of making an army out of entirely raw material . . ." When through with the Civil War he built the town of Anniston, Ala., and was president of the Mobile & Montgomery Railway, 1873-1879. He invested in Texas lands, and "Capote Farm," of 20,000 acres, was his winter residence. The eldest child and the two younger children were born in Norwich; the others in Farrandsville, Pa.

1462 COLONEL MOSES 6 TYLER (Elisha 5), born in Preston, Conn., August 16, 1761; died April 15, 1829; married, May 29, 1793, Olive Coit, No. 1506, born February 22, 1772; died in Sutherland, in 1840, at which time she was the wife of Rev. John Dorrance of that place; daughter of John and Mehitable (Tyler) Coit, No. 516. Colonel Tyler was a private in the "3d Militia Company in the Town of Preston" in the war of the Revolution. Afterward he became a student in the famous academy in Plainfield, Conn. He received the following certificate:

April 16, 1785.

"We hereby recommend Mr. Moses Tyler, the Bearer, as a Young Gentleman of amiable and unblemished morals and well accomplished to teach and give instruction in reading, writing, English Grammar and Mathematiks, we doubt not to good exceptance."

By the year 1793 he was settled in the "mansion house" on the Tyler "homestead farm" in Preston (afterward Griswold). His letters still extant, show him to have been a man of cultivated mind, devout and affectionate; he was dignified, with a rather stately bearing; his title of Colonel testifies to his high position in the militia. Long after his death his townspeople used to speak of his lofty courtesy, his military bearing, and especially of the nobility of his look as he rode horseback over his farm, directing his men. The children were born in Griswold.

1764 JOHN 6 TYLER, JR. (John 5), born in Attleboro, Mass., February 22, 1777; died May 26, 1857; married, February 28, 1806, Mary Wadsworth, born May 31, 1781; died October 9, 1819. Mrs. Tyler was descended from Captain Joseph Wadsworth, who hid the Connecticut charter in the Charter Oak in 1687, and also from Captain Eli Catlin, of the Colonial army, and from Rev. Peter Thacher, of Salisbury, Eng., and his son, Rev. Thomas Thacher, first pastor of the Old South church in Boston. Mr. Tyler was one of the early pioneers of "Nine Partners," later of Harford, Pa., and by reference to his father's biography it will be seen that he participated in the stern struggles and duties of that new region in which he and so many Attleboro Tylers acquitted themselves with faithfulness and distinction. The male line is extinct.

CHILDREN:

3897 (Professor) John Wadsworth Tyler, born Nov. 28, 1806; died unmarried June 11, 1833. He was a graduate of Union College and a distinguished professor in Cazenovia Seminary, and several years its principal. His early death was a great loss to the cause of education, which has been so largely advanced by the descendants of the Harford pioneers.

3898+ Clara Catlin Tyler, born April 9, 1810.

3899+ Harriet Ann Tyler, born April 27, 1817.

1765 JOB 6 TYLER (John 5), born in Attleboro, Mass., August 22, 1779; died in Harford, Pa., July 7, 1857; married, May 5, 1803, Sally Thacher, born June 23, 1781; died May 29, 1860. He went to Harford, Pa., with his father, when he was not far from 18 years of age, where his father was a leading man, and where he and his brothers and sisters took active part in the development of the new country and the advancement of the best things of civilization. The children were born in Harford. Children:

3900+ Nancy Tyler, born April 12, 1804.
3901+ Jared Tyler, born April 21, 1806.
3902 Polly Wadsworth Tyler, born Nov. 20, 1820; married, May 15, 1850 (As second wife), Silas Brewster Guile, a tanner of Harford, Pa., born Jan. 1, 1809; died March 16, 1887; no children.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:

3904 Achsah Milissa Griswold, born Sept. 19, 1812; married Jeremiah C. Gunn, born July 21, 1804; died April 19, 1889.

CHILDREN, by second marriage:

3905 James Torry, born in Bethany, Pa., Sept. 9, 1817; died July 30, 1833.

1767 DEACON JOAB6 TYLER (John5), born in Attleboro, Mass., July 23, 1784; died in Amherst, Mass., January 11, 1869; married (1), November 16, 1809, Nabby Seymour, born in Berlin, Conn., January 31, 1788; died in Amherst,
Mass., at the home of her son, Prof. W. S. Tyler, August 28, 1844; daughter of Deacon Jonathan and Abigail (Hart) Seymour, of Oswego, New York, and descended from Thomas Wells, Governor of Connecticut, Anthony Hawkins and Richard Treat, all original patentees of the royal charter of that colony; married (2), Sophronia D. Johnson, who died in 1890.

Prof. W. S. Tyler says: "My mother was practical and sensible. But she was also intellectual, reflective, imaginative, emotional, spiritual, fond of reading and intent on the intellectual and spiritual improvement of her children far beyond the average of women and much above the level of those by whom she was surrounded. She was a beautiful woman, with a broad high forehead, large liquid dark blue, almost black, eyes, and a figure at once winning and commanding. . . . Her voice was musical, and fitted her to be the leading female singer in the choir. . . . A cultivated mind and a loving heart were the sceptre of her power. My father, naturally stern and firm almost to obstinacy, was softened and swayed by her influence. . . . And though she overworked body and mind and heart, and died when she was only fifty-six, she lived to see all her sons, not only converted and educated, but actively and successfully engaged in the work of educating others."

A biography of Deacon Joab Tyler would include much of the early history of the town of Harford, to which he came when ten years of age and began to undergo the hardships of the pioneer. He was twenty-six when his father turned over to him his Harford home and left him to take a leading part, throughout his long life, in the history of the town. He was his father's favorite son and partner. He was soon made deacon in his father's place and he and his partners ran the village store. He was justice of the peace. Prof. W. S. Tyler says in an obituary notice: "In all the several lines of material, educational and religious progress, Deacon Joab Tyler was truly pioneer, building miles of turnpike and plank road with his own limited means; contributing to the extent of his ability, and even beyond his ability to the erection of improved schoolhouses and attractive churches; taking the lead in support of capable and faithful teachers and preachers; struggling against nature and untoward circumstances with efforts and expenditures that might have created a city under more favorable auspices, to build up a flourishing town in the backwoods and among the Alleghany Mountains, but in all his toils, laboring and praying chiefly that it might be a city of the living God.

"In those days when distilling and rum selling were universally deemed lawful and proper occupations, he was a distilling and rum selling deacon; and inasmuch as his house (being near to the church) was always the hotel for ministers from out of town, it often occurred, on the arrival of some clergyman, especially at some 'Ministers' meeting,' that the writer, in his boyhood, was sent off to the store with his hands full of 'decanters,' for a fresh supply of whiskey, rum and brandy, for their refreshment. But no sooner had Doctor Beecher with his coadjutors blown their blasts, and announced the temperance reformation, than Deacon Tyler bought out his partners, and at a great pecuniary sacrifice, closed the distillery and stopped the sale of rum in the store." The children were born in Harford.

Children:
3907+ William Seymour Tyler, born Sept. 2, 1810.
3908+ Wellington Hart Tyler, born Oct. 14, 1812.

1787 REV. WILLIAM6 TYLER (Ebenezer5), born in Attleboro, Mass., January 7, 1789; died in Auburndale, Mass., Sept. 27, 1875; married (1), July 1, 1813, Betsey Balcom, who died in Weymouth, Mass., June 9, 1822; aged 32; married (2), Nancy N. Newell, who died in Auburndale February 14, 1876, aged 75. He was graduated from Brown University in 1809. He went into the manufacture of cotton goods with his father in Pawtucket, and after a time determined upon the ministry as a profession. His style was epigrammatic and he was fearless in uttering his thought. He was settled as the colleague of Rev. Simeon Williams over the Congregational church of South Weymouth and remained as sole pastor thirteen years. In 1832 he was installed pastor of the church in South Hadley, Mass., and remained seven years. In 1839 he removed to Amherst, Mass., where he remained for some time under a commission from the Mass. Home Missionary Society. In 1847 he became proprietor and editor of the Northampton Courier, and remained two years. In 1852 he removed to Pawtucket, Mass., which he represented in the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention in 1853. In 1866 he went to live in Auburndale. He was much interested in Mt. Holyoke Seminary, one of its first trustees, and a valued friend and advisor of its founder, Miss Mary Lyon. For many years Mr. Tyler was an untiring pioneer in the cause of the Tyler family biography. November 13, 1866, in addressing a kinsman, he said: "I have spent time and money for years; and now, lacking less than 2 months of 78 years, I wish to finish the business and leave it in good shape for my survivors." Alas, his dream, to "finish" and publish a Tyler family history, was never realized! Among many generous thoughts, one very dear to him and long entertained, was some day to bring together members of the whole clan Tyler into a genuine family reunion; the materialization of this happy vision was never in his lifetime seen! After long, long years of waiting, the Tyler reunion occurred in 1896, in North Andover, Mass., but Mr. Tyler had passed beyond.

Marsh, born May 9, 1800; died Aug. 4, 1823; married (2), January 1, 1826, Elizabeth Longstreet, No. 3970, born March 9, 1808; died June 8, 1827; married (3), January 11, 1829, Nancy Bliss, born December 25, 1798; died March 25, 1862. The children were born in Onondaga.

CHILDREN, by first marriage:

Captain Edwin Job Tyler, born April 21, 1821; died Oct. 18, 1870; married Mary Elizabeth Cole, who died, s. p., Jan. 24, 1889. For 18 years he was in the mercantile business, and in 1849 he sailed for California, returning in 1851. In April, 1861, he assisted in raising troops for the Civil War and was made first lieutenant, his company becoming Company A, 33d N. Y. Volunteers, and was in Smith's Division of the Army of the Potomac. He was promoted to captain, and acting adjutant during the Peninsular campaign. He was present at the battles of Williamsburg, Garrett's Farm, Golding's Farm, Savage Station, White Oak, Malvern Hill, Second Bull Run, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Salem Heights and Chancellorsville, besides minor fights. In storming Maryland Heights his clothing was pierced with bullets. After the battle of Golding's Farm, he was officially commended by his colonel. He was mustered out of service June, 1863. (See History of the 33d N. Y. Vols., by David W. Judd.)

Ellen Tyler, born July 21, 1823.

Child, by second marriage:

Celia Deborah Tyler, born Oct. 12, 1826.

Children, by third marriage:

Darwin Tyler, born Sept. 15, 1831.

Caroline Bliss Tyler, born Nov. 25, 1833; died Feb. 21, 1881, s. p.; married James Bryant, who died Dec., 1883.

Charlotte Tyler, born April 19, 1834; resided in Hartford, Conn., unmarried in 1897.

Mary Elizabeth Tyler, born Dec. 2, 1835.

Seneca Tyler, born July 31, 1837; married Hannah Griffin; resided s. p. in Council Grove, Kan.

Welthea Butler Tyler, born Dec. 6, 1837; married, Aug. 4, 1886, Robert E. Day, of Hartford, Conn.; she was a teacher; has no children.

1805 HON. ASHER⁶ TYLER (Job⁵), born in Oneida, N. Y., May 10, 1798; died in Elmira, N. Y., August 1, 1875; married, October 18, 1828, Matilda Youle, born May 27, 1802; she survived her husband; daughter of John Youle, of New York. He was educated at Hamilton College, and was graduated in the class of 1817; he was admitted to the bar, and became the agent of the Devereaux Land Company, attending to their legal work, but not otherwise engaging in the profession of law. He resided for a number of years in Ellicottville, Cattaraugus County, N. Y., and represented the county in the Twenty-eighth Congress. He became land agent of the Erie Railroad Company, and served the company with ability and distinction. In 1848 he moved to Elmira, and was a charter member of the Elmira Rolling Mill Company. He spent the later years of his life retired from business cares in the company of his books. Probably there was no one living in his day who was more learned in Indian character, habits and origin than Mr. Tyler. He was generous and charitable; as a conversationalist, he was most extraordinary.

Children:

3993 John Alexis Tyler, born Nov. 14, 1829; died in Minneapolis June 22, 1865, unmarried.
3994 Amelia Charlotte Tyler, born June 6, 1831; unmarried.

vember 11, 1875; married in Middlebury (now a part of Akron), Ohio, December 31, 1833, Elizabeth Hanchett, born in Salisbury, N. Y., March 9, 1816; daughter of Dr. Elijah and Elizabeth (Durkee) Hanchett; her father was a surgeon in the War of 1812; her grandfather Durkee was a Revolutionary soldier. Mr. Tyler kept a hotel in Galena, Ill., in the days before the war, when General U. S. Grant was “teaming,” and he used to stay at the hotel. Between 1836 and 1847 he lived in Notawa Prairie, Mich., where the children from the second to the sixth were born; the three youngest were born in Hazel Green, Wis.

1821 GEORGE6 TYLER (William5), born in Marcel­lus, N. Y., July 11, 1817; died in Ossawattamie, Kan., August 20, 1882; married, May 15, 1855, Eliza Chapman, born in New Bridge, Onondaga County, N. Y., April 20, 1837. She lives (1907) in Heyburn, Idaho, with her sons. When Mr. Tyler was about nine years old his father died, and he became the ward of his uncle, John Tyler, who was one of the projectors of the Erie Canal with De Witt Clinton and others, and lived in Syracuse. George Tyler started the clothing business in Syracuse and increased gradually until he was one of the leading merchants of the city. He bought the first sewing machine in that part of the state, and at one time con­trolled a large part of the salt industry in northern New York. His widowed mother and the younger children lived with him in Syracuse and he educated his brothers, and Hiram and Laurens became associated with him in business. About 1853 he opened a large business house in Burr Oak, Mich., his brothers looking after the Syracuse house, and later going also to Burr Oak. There he built up a store not unlike the great department stores of the present day, and kept everything that the people in the surrounding country would need; great corn cribs were built and all kinds of grain were taken from the farmers in exchange for other goods. His business averaged over a hundred thousand dollars a year for a number of years. There was no larger business of the kind between Buffalo and St. Louis than his, at one time. In one brief hour, however, a fire swept it all away; but from the ashes Mr. Tyler started anew, paying off all his indebtedness. Mr. Tyler had vast energy and great business capacity and was very social and genial. In 1879 he retired on account of failing eyesight. He had made the town of Burr Oak and his death was mourned by many, far and near. His generosity and helpfulness, together with his social gifts and power of repartee gave him an honored place in the life of the people. The children were born in Burr Oak.
