Summer is upon us and vacation time for many of us. If you plan a visit to Washington and the National Archives it is well to allow plenty of time, and even better to write and let them know when you plan to visit and exactly what you would like to see. In the days before the Revolutionary Pension Applications were microfilmed it would take several hours for them to get a single file out for you, so you can appreciate the advantage there would be timewise to have things waiting for you when you arrive. I hope that some of you will visit the Archives and check on some of the War of 1812 Pension Applications as well as applications for Bounty Land.

You will probably want to visit the Library of Congress while in Washington as well, and there again there is a long wait for books from the stacks. The Jefferson Reading Room, where the Genealogical Collection is housed, is located in the Library Annex, which faces 2nd Street, N.E. This is near the Supreme Court, Capitol, and House and Senate Office Buildings, so you might want to go by the Library first, give them your book lists, and go on to other things for several hours and then return.

The DAR Library is a wonderful place to do research because of the open stacks, and may be used by non members for a very small fee. I am a member of the National Genealogical Society and have made use of their lending library, but have never visited the library. It is not open every day so you should call before going there. I believe it is available only to members.

If you are vacationing elsewhere in the country and have time on your hands, by all means go to the county court house and copy a few marriages, wills, deeds, etc., and share them with us. The earliest records are what most of us need. I can't stress enough the importance of deeds when all else fails they sometimes provide the information we are seeking.

I hope that you have kept the 1973 issues of this magazine. I am sorry to say that the stencils got torn and were discarded, so no more copies may be printed. I have had a number of requests for back issues which I was unable to fill. If any of you don't care about keeping the 1973 issues, just let me know and I'll pass your name on to someone who wants them.

Remember to send in material to this magazine. It is welcome and will be used. We do appreciate your sharing.

SOUTH CAROLINA REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS

The South Carolina Archives Department has published three volumes of "Accounts Audited of Revolutionary Claims Against South Carolina". These contain papers filed by persons claiming compensation from the South Carolina government for military services rendered and supplies furnished during the Revolutionary War. The Archives Department has also published Books B, I, I-N, O-Q, R-T, U-W, X Pt. 1, X Pt. 2, Y-Z, C-F, G-., and K of "Stub Entries to Indents Issued in Payment of Claims Against South Carolina Growing Out of the Revolution". If the claims were approved, they were paid in certificates (indents), and on stubs detached from these certificates the names of the recipients and descriptions of the services performed were entered. These brief entries and the Accounts Audited are often the only surviving evidence of support given to the cause of American independence. These volumes, with the exception of Vol. I, Audited Accounts, have been searched for WOOD-WOODS. It is my understanding, that the South Carolina Archives has a card file of these records and many more exist than have been published, so if you think your ancestor served there, you should check the card file.

AmAm Vol. III, p. 28 -- The memorial of LYDALL BACON, ELIZABETH DARBY and JOSEPH WOOD, heirs at law of NATHANIEL BACON, deceased. Said BACON was Revolutionary Soldier and in 1779 Lieut. in CAPT. JOHN HAMMOND's Co., COL LEROY HAMMOND's Regt., which was at this time cantoned on the heights of the Savannah River opposite Augusta, Ga. That from his intimate knowledge of this section of the country, its roads and by paths, he was frequently sent out on detachments. . . . BROADWING IN THE CONFEDERATE CEMETERY, CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE

ALLEN G. WOOD Co. E, 34th Alabama Infantry
JOHN W. WOOD Co. I, 34th Alabama Infantry
THOMAS G. WOOD Co. H, 8th Arkansas Infantry

TENNESSEE'S CONFEDERATE PENSIONERS

Apr. 11, 1847. Living in Eagleville, Rutherford Co., Tenn. in 1911 with wife, aged fifty, and daughter aged 20.

HENRY M. WOOD, # 3091 -- Middle name MILTON. Co. G, 12th Tenn. Inf. Born in Gibson Co., Tenn. 1840. Enlisted 19 June 1861. Living in Gibson Co. in 1901 with wife aged 60. Had had 5 children, 3 boys, 2 girls, one of which is dead. Ages range from 22 to 34 years of age.

JAMES F. WOODS, SR. # 10113 -- Born Monroe Co., Tenn. in 1835. Enlisted in March, 1862, in Co. F, 52nd Ga. Inf. Resided in Tenn. all of my life except while in the War. Living in Knox Co., Tenn. in 1908. Family consists of wife, age 52, two girls ages 16 and 26, and a boy 22.

JAMES J. WOOD, # 3471; WIDOW, GEORGIA ANN WOOD, # 4267 -- Co. A, 12th Miss. Cav. Enlisted in 1862, wounded in skirmish. Born in Morgan Co., Ala. Feb. 10, 1835. In 1901 was living at Pickwick, Hardin Co., Tenn., stated he had lived in Tenn. for 23 years, was married and had 6 girls and 4 boys, aged 35, 23, 22, 19, 17, 15, 13, 11, 9. His widow, GEORGIA ANN (POOLE) WOOD, in 1911, of Hardin Co., stated that she was born in Georgia in 1842, and that her husband was born in Georgia. They were married 20 July, 1864, in Coweta Co., Ga. She stated that she had been a resident of Tennessee for 40 years. One place stated that her husband died in 1879 in Alabama, another place gave death date as 1873. Stated that he was in Co. H, 3rd Ga. Inf., and enlisted at Griffin, Ga. (Is this possibly the wrong man that I am assuming GEORGIA ANN was the widow of? Perhaps there were two J.J. WOODS in Hardin County. J.J. on his pension in 1901 said that his wife was 50. She stated that they had 4 girls and 1 boy. Neither of these statements corresponds with that of what I was assuming was the husband.)

(Mrs. Matlock made a note that she has the Bible records of AMOS BRITTAIN WOOD, showing 11 children. He married MELISSA TEXANA JANE PIKE, daughter of JAMES PIKE. She was born 18 May 1853. JAMES WOOD, father of HIRAM WOOD, had D.L.C. #4826 in Benton County, Oregon.)
Frederick County, Maryland, was created in 1748 out of the western part of preexisting Prince George's County. Settlers had made their way into its interior certainly as early as 1720. Scotch Irish and German came by way of Pennsylvania, Dutch from New York and Delaware, and English from southern Maryland soon followed. Among the latter were people named Wood.

The Wood families, lead by Charles, Sr., and Joseph, came into the region they settled on the headwaters of Linganore Creek by way of the Old Annapolis Road, known as the "Wagon Road to Annapolis", at the time the Woods sought out their vacant land. It lead in a northwesterly direction from Annapolis, crossing Parr's Ridge through present-day Mount Airy to strike the headwaters of Ben's Branch about where the community of Prospect, or what remains of it, is located. Then it went down-stream to New London where it became the present-day Gas House Pike, wandering on to Mount Pleasant to join the Liberty Road, Route 26.

The first Survey near the land taken up by the Woods was on August 22, 1739, for fifty acres, called, "Kendrick's Hap", on the north slope of Ben's Branch Valley, and a few miles south of Unionville. Robert Kendrick was in Monocacy Manor as early as 1733, and Darby Ryan had joined him before 1734, when he had two tracts of land surveyed for himself, one of them, Darby's Delight. John James, whose son Daniel married Lucy, (1733-1827), daughter of our Joseph and Mary Wood, joined Kendrick and Ryan in 1742, taking up "Dispute", close to "Kendrick's Hap". John James was named "Road Supervisor" of his section of the Wagon Road to Annapolis, and had its course diverted to its now more northerly direction, allegedly so that it would pass closer to the stone house his son Daniel built in 1763, and which still stands in 1970. So it was no problem for Charles and Joseph Wood to move north of these people to excellent land, guided no doubt by John Howard of Gideon, who had already spotted out and bought Warrants for good tracts for resale.

John Howard of Gideon who came from Baltimore County, and Phillip Howard were living on "Howard's Range", southeast of Libertytown in 1748. They were land speculators, eventually sold out, and removed to North Carolina.

Prior to and during the Revolution (1777), however, Ephraim Howard was living on this land. His stone house stands on Dollyhyde Road now, (1970), enlarged by the Maynard family after the Revolution, about two miles south of Route 26. Ephraim Howard was commissioned a Lt. Colonel, and served under Daniel Jenifer in the Revolution. (Tracey mentions an Ephraim Howard living in Bruceville, 1769, p. 221, Notes from Old Monocacy. Whether these Ephraims are one and the same I do not know.)

My mother's name was Alice Eleanor Griffith (Wood) Hopkins. Born at Oak Spring, near Monrovia, in New Market District, Frederick County, Maryland, she was named by her mother, Annie Mary (Griffith) Wood, for her great aunt, Mary Eleanor (Griffith) Plummer, the granddaughter of Col. Philemon Griffith, a Revolutionary officer. She was very proud of her Griffith ancestry, and of the silverware and jewelry which she had inherited from Col. Griffith through her great aunt, "Mollie", Mary Eleanor (Griffith) Plummer.

The history of her Griffith and Hammond ancestors, from southern Maryland, (her mother was Margaret Burgess, Hammond), and their part in the development of Maryland is a matter of record. On the other hand, her Wood lineage has not so far been established, and the two records, which exist are not without errors.
Col. Philemon Griffith, Revolutionary patriot, and his sister, Eleanor, who married John Burgess, also an officer in the Militia forces, were born in the Griffith settlement near Unity, a village in northern Montgomery County, which in their time had not yet been created out of eastern Frederick County. They were both children of Henry Griffith and his second wife, Ruth Hammond. The progenitors of the Griffith, Burgess, and Hammond families in Frederick County, were neighbors in Anne Arundel County, where they first settled in Maryland. Some of them were important personages in the earliest time of settlement of the Co'ny of Maryland, such as Col. William Burgess of Londontown on South River, and General John Hammond, one-time Commander-in-chief of all the Militia forces of the Western Shore.

Imposing Griffith-built colonial homes still stand near Unity namely "Elton" and "Retirement", both of stone, "Edgehill", log and clapboard, and "Tusculum" the oldest, but much modified and enlarged by additions.

The Frederick County census of 1790 lists thirteen men by the name of Wood. One of these men was Col. Joseph Wood, who founded Woodborough. (The community of Woodville exists in the eastern edge of the County about three miles northeast of Mount Airy, having sprung up around Clary's mill on Ben's Branch. Once thriving, now in 1970, no signs of the mill remain and those houses which still stand are rotting away. Justice Samuel Chase enjoyed a summer cabin in the hills near this place when he was serving in Washington on the Supreme Court. It was not named for the Wood family.

There is a second Woodville in Maryland, this one a small community in Prince George's County, not far from Upper Marlboro. This one was named for people named Wood who settled there.)

About Joseph Wood and his family there has been much written. With him, however, this paper has no direct concern, because so far as I have been able to learn, he does not connect in any way with my mother's Wood family. The Census lists also the names of Basil, Henry and John Wood. These were the fifth, seventh and eighth children of Charles Wood, Sr., whom I shall show to be the earliest known Wood ancestors of my mother.

The name of Charles Wood, Sr., appears first on the records of the Land Office of Maryland, when he purchased a Warrant for 350 acres of land from John Howard of Gideon. He called this land "Charles' Choice" and on March 10, 1748 a Patent was issued to him. Charles prospered on his Linganore Valley land, took up adjacent acres of vacant land and on May 24, 1755, we find him with a new Patent called, "Resurvey on Charles' Choice", for 930 acres. This land is located on the north and south sides of the present Liberty Road, Route 26, just east of the present village of Unionville, and extends east to cross the valley of the north branch of the Linganore creek, on which at this point in Charles' time, Andrew Worman operated a mill. Within the ensuing twenty years Charles reduced and rearranged his holdings, by sales and purchases, had a resurvey made April 20, 1772, and on March 23, 1775 a third Patent was issued to him for 801 acres, which he called, "The Grove", although it contained essentially the same land as the previous patents.

Two other land grants were held by Woods in this neighborhood. June 21, 1750, John Howard of Gideon, purchased for $20 part of "Wood's Enclosure", on the Linganore, from Joseph and Mary Wood. This tract, or part of it, subsequently was bought by Col. Charles Hammond. In his Will, dated September 11, 1777, he bequeathed to his children "Wood's Enclosure" of 2286 acres. (Wood's Enclosure was a local name for "Wood's Lott", belonging to Joseph and Mary Wood.) Joseph and Mary Wood settled on Wood's Lott, west of Unionville, but adjoining Charles' Choice. Then adjacent to and binding on "Charles' Choice", "Policy", of 55 acres, was patented to Joseph Wood, August 10, 1753. (See Wood Family of Woodlawn, Ky. E.G. Adams, Ky. Hist. Soc. Register No. 47, p. 160, July, 1949.)
FREDERICK COUNTY SAGA -- Cont'd:

At the June term of court 1749, Charles Wood sat on the Grand Jury. In 1774 he contributed 7s 6d to a fund collected in Linganore for the poor of Boston. He may have been a Quaker, because he did not swear to the Oath of Fidelity and Support, but affirmed. He took no other part in the War of the Revolution, but his son, Henry, appears on an undated muster roll as a bombardier of the Frederick German Artillery as a member of the Mattross Company in the Continental Service lately commanded by Captain Gale, and Basil Wood, another son, was a recruiting officer of Frederick County.

Whence Charles Wood came into Prince George's County is not known. The Warrant for "Charles' Choice" he purchased from John Howard of Gideon of Baltimore County, speaks of him as Charles Wood of Prince George's County. It would be interesting to know if he was related to his neighbors, Joseph and Mary Wood, (who came from St. Mary's Co), of Wood's Enclosure, or Wood's Lott, and Pollicy. Although Charles and Joseph took up land about the same time, lived on neighboring plantations, and both were slave owners no evidence of relationship has been found. The family burial lots on both plantations have been destroyed. They might have been helpful in proving relationship.

The double log house of Joseph and Mary Wood still stands on Wood's Lott, west of Unionville, (1970). The slave quarters are gone, and the gravestones were dumped into a "sink hole". Their lands were all on the Linganore, and the present village of Unionville lies between them.

Charles' wife was named Sarah and according to his Will, proved in Frederick, August 22, 1787, she bore him eight children. His eldest daughter Mary, married a Clary, probably a neighbor, since the Clarys settled south of Unionville and near Woodville. Charles Wood, Jr., his eldest son, a Revolutionary veteran, emigrated to Rowan County North Carolina after the Revolutionary War; Benjamin Wood, and Sarah Wood who married William Lamb, removed to Maysville, Mason County, Ky., at the same time; Basil Wood, (already mentioned), Peter Wood, Henry Wood and John Wood, were other sons who remained in Maryland.

Charles, Sr., devised all of his plantation with its "Plantation house" and "old dwellings" and most of his slaves and livestock to Sarah, his wife, and to three sons, Basil, Henry and John Wood. The latter sold and otherwise disposed of almost half of "The Grove", for on April 24, 1790, they had the remaining land resurveyed, and had a Patent issued to Basil, Henry and John Wood, for 470 acres, which they called "Three Brothers Lott", June 9, 1791. John Wood shortly thereafter died intestate, without issue, 1800.

Basil Wood then bought out the rights to "Three Brothers Lott" of his brother, Henry, and of the heirs to his deceased brother John's portion. All but one of these purchases were made after the death of his mother, Sarah, whose Will proved February 23, 1808, gave to Basil and Henry the residue of the estate equally. Basil Wood and his wife, Lydia, thus acquired most of Three Brothers Lott.

Basil and Lydia Wood did not continue to live on Three Brothers Lott, however, because Basil's Will, proved April 9, 1816, refers to a "house and lot whereon I now live in or near Libertytown".

The graves of Charles and Sarah, or John, and of Basil and Lydia, have not been found. There was an ancient family burial plot on Three Brothers Lott, the last traces of which were ploughed under about 1925, according to the present owner, Milton E. Forney. Within sight of the old graveyard, Mr. Forney now occupies what may have been the original "plantation house". The house is not large, but has good lines and is built of stone and mortar, in recent years covered with stucco. It faces north close to the Liberty Road. The outbuildings have disappeared and only the mill dam with remnants of its race remain to indicate the site of Norman's mill not far distant.

The land patents surrounding "Three Brothers Lott" during Basil Wood's lifetime bore interesting names. There were "Bite the Biter", "Bite me Softly", and "The Biter Bitten". To the south lay "Resurvey on Cold Friday", patented to Edward Dorsey, another speculator in land, June 15, 1753, parts of which subsequently came into the hands of the Lawrence family, and Shriner family. (My late great uncle Frank Downey, son of Willia, Jr., of New Market, married Fannie Lawrence of Shrineria, the stone house on the Shriner-Lawrence lands south of Unionville, still standing in 1970).

Upton Lawrence was prominent in the early history of Hagerstown. To the west lay "Good Neighbor", patented to Jacob Danner (ancestor of Mrs. Mary Danner Dudderar of Unionville, 1970), in 1776; and "Pollicy", patented to Joseph Wood August 10, 1753. To the north lay "Coomes, his Inheritance", patented to Dennis Ensey May 25, 1749, and to the east "Sapling Ridge", patented to Henry Storey, September 10, 1753. Lugeneichls, Brightwells, Bakers and Worman's also lived nearby. Pearres came in later. Lugeneichl gravestones of the Eighteenth century may still be seen standing in a field southwest of "Three Brothers Lott", on land purchased from Charles Wood, Sr.

Basil Wood's Will was proved April 9, 1816. This will set free all his slaves and gave "Three Brothers Lott" to Basil the younger, son of his brother Henry, at the decease of the testator's widow, Lydia. He mentioned no children. Lydia died intestate at an unknown date. "Three Brothers Lott" was owned and possibly occupied by Basil the younger until 1838 when he died, also intestate, apparently without issue.

Henry Wood, the veteran, the father of Basil the younger, and also of John, about whom we shall hear more later, had married Sarah MacElfresh, of a then prominent Frederick family June 23, 1788. Henry bought land and sold many parcels of land. At the time of his death, intestate, in 1836 he owned three farms. Two of these lay south of Monrovia, New Market District, and just north of the "Finger Board Crossroads", on the east side of the highway, Rt. 75. These farms were made up of parts of "The Land of Promise", a Plummer grant, "Hickory Plains", and "Berkely", Woodward and Waters grants. The third was the "Brick House Farm", also called by the family "Rosedale". This farm was made up of parts of "Resurvey and Addition to Darby's Delight", and "Newfoundland". Henry Wood is said to have built the red brick house still standing on his farm of bricks burned on the farm. [Mr. Vansant, who now lives in the house, relates an interesting anecdote. (1943). When a little boy, he remembers Dr. Jesse W. Downey (of New Market) and a "Mr. Wood" stopping in one frosty day to warm up while on a fox hunt. During the conversation over cider glasses, Mr. Wood told how the house had been built by his grandfather. This was Charles Wood, "Forty-niner" as well as fox hunter, one of the sons of Reverend John Wood, and grandson of Henry.] Henry bought the land from John Pancoast in 1815 so the house was built subsequent to that date. The farm is bounded on the north by the Old Annapolis Road and on the west by the connecting road, now called Detrick Road, between the Old Annapolis Road and the National Turnpike, entering the latter about two miles east of New Market. It has been owned by the Vansant family for two generations. (1945).

While Basil the younger lived in obscurity, dying in 1838, his brother, John was becoming well known. Born 1793, he married Ruth Hammond Burgess, daughter of John and Eleanor (Griffith) Burgess June 6, 1814. It seems likely that Henry Wood may have bought Newfoundland and built Rosedale for his son John. At least it is said that John died there, (in 1840), four years after the death of his brother, and it is fairly certain that Ruth bore John sixteen children there. Not only was John a successful farmer, but achieved local renown as a Methodist circuit rider, and was entitled Reverend John Wood. He was also fortunate in his legacies. By his father's death, 1836, his brother Basil the younger's death, in 1838, both intestate and with no other heirs there came to him "Three Brothers Lott", near Unionville, "Rosedale" on the Annapolis Road, and Henry's two farms south of Monrovia, one of which was also called "Rosedale"

Reverend John died intestate in 1840. This posed quite a problem for his widow, Ruth and her surviving 14 children. In case some readers might be interested they were:

8. Mary Ellen Wood who married Nicholas Hammond.
12. Moses Wood who married Mary Etchison.
15. William Wood who died very young.

Considerable contention arose between Ruth and her children concerning the disposition of Rev. John's property. The court thereupon appointed a trustee to settle her affairs in the person of Thomas Hammond referred to as Major in the records, (Thomas Hammond of "Black Castle", the Vachel Hammond estate northeast of Libertytown)

Thomas Hammond, after many hearings and deliberations, (in the National Hotel of New Market, Hamilton Stier, Proprietor), with the heirs, sold "Three Brothers Lott" to John Cochran in 1841. Thus this land passed out of the Wood ownership after they had held it nearly one hundred years.

Ruth H. Wood was awarded as her share part of the "resurvey on the Land of Promise" and a part of "Hickory Plains", the "Rosedale" farm south of Monrovia. Isaac Bond's map of Frederick County, published 1858, shows her to be living there at that date with J.H. Wood, her son, on the adjoining farm. On her farm, which is now owned by Mrs. B. Swartz, there are still to be seen in 1943 the original house built of logs covered with clapboard, and part of the slaves' kitchen with a great fireplace. South of the land leading to the house is the family burial plot grown up into a thicket. From it a number of gravestones were removed to the cemetery in New Market. [These stones were also removed to the New Market Cemetery: Col. Philemon Griffith, died April 29, 1838, aged 81. Eleanor (Jacob) Griffith, his wife, died April 15, 1838, aged 76. Lebbeus Griffith, born Feb. 11, 1804, died Feb. 5, 1889. Ruth H., wife of Charles D. Warfield, died Sept. 31, 1854, aged 60. Philemon Griffith of U.S. Navy, son of Lemuel...
FREDERICK COUNTY SAGA -- Cont'd:

Ruth H. Wood died intestate, and her land eventually came into the hands of her son, Joseph Wood, who had married Eva R. Burgess, daughter of Washington Burgess and Mary Anne (Stier) Burgess. (Washington Burgess was son of Capt. John Burgess and Eleanor (Griffith) Burgess, sister of Col. Philemon Griffith.) Joseph Wood, 1822-1896, operated the New Market Hotel for a period of time. He was the guardian of my grandmother, Annie Mary Griffith, whose parents were Mordecai Jacob Griffith and mother, Margaret Burgess (Hammond) Griffith. (She was the daughter of Nathan Hammond of Vachel (of Black Castle). Nathan Hammond married Charlotte, sister of Washington Burgess, Nov. 11, 1812.) In due course of time Annie Mary Griffith married Ira Newton Wood, one of Joseph Wood's sons, and when Ira died, another son, Melvin Pinkney Wood. She had by the first union five children, Mordecai who married his cousin Lena Griffith, Margaret Evelyn who married her cousin Bayard C. Burgess, Alice Eleanor Griffith (my mother) 1877-1921 who married my father Howard H. Hopkins, 3rd, M.D. and Anna Louise who married C.A. McBride.

Only one of the descendants of Charles Wood, Sr. bearing the name of Wood, remains in Frederick County - Charles, grandson of Charles, the Forty-niner, and son of Rev. John Wood. (L970). (Charles now has issue; Margaret died without issue.)

ADDENDA

The record of the Charles Wood lineage is now fairly clear, as is the record of the family of Col. Joseph Wood, founder of Woodsborough, and revolutionary patriot, and also Joseph and Mary Wood of Unionville.

The Frederick County registry of Wills reveals other Woods, three of whom connect with these families. They descend from Joseph and Mary Wood of Wood's Enclosure, Wood's Lott, and Pollycy.

2. JOSEPH WOOD, JR.: Will proved Apr 21, 1817. Mentions sons Jonathan and Aaron and relatives Basil, James, Joel and John, sons of Diana Sewell. (Quite likely that Diana Sewell was a slave, and the father of her sons was Jos., Sr. or Jr. No Sewells 1790 or 1810 census of Frederick Co.)

JONATHAN WOOD: Will proved 1844. One son, Thomas.

AARON WOOD: Will proved 1829. Named sister Mary Poole, widow of Frederick Poole.

JONATHAN, removed to Kentucky, third son of Joseph and Mary.
