The Historical Records Survey, as a part of a nation-wide undertaking, was initiated in West Virginia April 17, 1936. Operating as a part of the Works Progress Administration and under the national direction of Dr. Luther H. Evans, the West Virginia project came into existence under the immediate supervision of the Federal Writer's Project, of which the late Mr. L. W. Burns was then state director. In November 1936, the Survey became an independent part of Federal Project No. 1, and Mrs. Eva Margaret Carnes, formerly assistant state director of the Federal Writer's Project became the state director of the Survey.

Although the principal objective of the Survey is the compilation of inventories of county, state, and other local records, the research necessary for these publications has produced much interesting material. The West Virginia County Formations and Boundary Changes here presented grew out of the research for county changes so essential in the preparation and understanding of county records.

Because West Virginia existed for many years as a part of the State of Virginia it has been necessary to include in this volume the acts forming many counties which did not become a part of the new state when West Virginia was created in 1863. These counties have been included in the alphabetical arrangement of counties and are followed by the word "Virginia." Counties are arranged alphabetically, each county showing the act creating it and all acts which added to its territory. The opening paragraph of cross referencing will lead the reader directly to the counties which contributed territory toward the formation of this county.

Research for this volume was done by Lawrence Gresham, Survey worker, under the direct supervision of Herbert W. Richardson, Survey attorney, and the compilation and cross referencing is largely the work of the state director.

We gratefully acknowledge the assistance given us by Dr. Clifford L. Lord of Columbia University in checking the material included in this volume and his kind cooperation throughout the work.

INTRODUCTION

County formation in Virginia seems to have grown from custom rather than from laws and the method of creating new counties from the demands of the residents of the sections rather than from governmental agencies. As early as 1634 Virginia found it necessary to divide her territory into eight counties, or shires, as they were sometimes called.1

In 1655 the general assembly gave an order to three commissioners of Nansemond and Isle of Wight counties to meet and attempt to agree on the boundaries of the two counties.2 This would indicate that at an early date the government was leaving many of the matters of county formation and boundaries to the people and the courts of the county.

While no acts are available which point to a definite system of county organization a number do give an insight into the growth of the custom which became a law.

Hening, in a footnote to an act passed Feb. 1645, says: "This is the first time that the county of Northumberland has been mentioned in any of the acts. It would seem from this circumstance that the power of forming new counties was at that time vested in the governor and council".3 In 1660 the assembly again gave their attention to the counties and passed an act which read in part: "That for the prevention of the frequent suits and differences between county and county and parish and parish (sic) all counties and parishes within this country shall within two years after from the date hereof be limited within certaine naturall bounds and precincts (if they may be had) either by consent of the inhabitants or the judgments of the quarter courts, and where naturall bounds are wanting to supply that defect by marked trees which are to be viewed and renewed every three yeares by the neerest bordering inhabitants of each county and parish in Easter weeke".4 Five years later we find an act "Whereas there is a law that binds us to the bounding of our lands, Be it enacted by this grand assembly and the authority thereof that the same law be in force to the bounding of parishes and counties".5

As the frontier moved westward and the demand for more localized seats of government grew the assembly turned its attention to the border counties. In 1705 we find the assembly passing an act for the encouragement of the land frontiers. This act in its entirety is as follows:1

I. "Whereas the counties on the land frontiers in this colony, are exposed to many dangers, from the incursions of Indian enemies, whereby the trouble and charge of the inhabitants of those counties are far greater than others of the inland parts of the country; and whereas the augmenting and enlarging the said frontier counties will very much add to their strength and safety, by increasing their militia, and thereby render the duty they are often obliged unto, less burthensome to the inhabitants in general: Therefore, as an encouragement to the aforesaid frontier plantations.

II. "Be it enacted, by the governor, council, and burgesses, of this present general assembly, and it is hereby enacted, by the authority of the same, That no county on the land frontiers, shall hereafter be divided, unless there shall be left in the upper county, at least eight hundred titheable persons; and unless the whole county, as it stood before the division, be obliged equally to contribute to the building a decent church, court-house, and prison, in such frontier county, after the form and manner now generally used within this colony.

III. "Provided always, That if the upper inhabitants of any county, shall seek the division of themselves, they shall not then be intituled to any privilege, by virtue of this act."

It became the custom for petitions to be presented, either to the governor and his council or to the assembly, by residents of the section desiring the formation of a new county. The petition, when accepted, gave rise to a bill which was passed by the assembly, the act creating the county setting up definite boundary lines, naming the county, and usually naming the location for the county seat. Most frequent demands came from the fact that original counties were so large that some inhabitants found it impossible to reach the county seat. As the frontier people seem to have used the courts to settle the smallest personal disputes, court attendance was an important part of their life.

Although Virginia wrote a constitution in 1776 that document ignores the formation of counties and the customary petitions continued to establish counties. That the mother county did not always approve of the separation was evidenced in the petitions and counter petitions which were presented by the residents of Greenbrier county both before and after the county of Monroe was formed from that territory.1

Introduction

It was not until 1838 that a definite method of petitioning for and creating new counties was written into the Virginia laws. In that year the assembly enacted a general law on the subject under which it became necessary to do more than file a petition with the legislature. Thereafter it was necessary to follow a prescribed mode of applying. That law stated as follows:

"When, hereafter, it shall be the intention of any person or persons to petition the legislature for the formation of a new county out of a part of any county or counties in this commonwealth, it shall be the duty of such person or persons to publish their intention by advertisement stuck up at the front door or doors of the courthouses of the county or counties from which the new county is intended to be formed, for at least two months next preceding annual election of delegates to the general assembly, distinctly describing in said advertisement, the lines by which it is intended the new county shall be bounded, and the site for the seat of justice for said county".

At the ensuing annual election the sense of "the people residing within the limits of the described boundary" was ascertained as to the formation of the new county. Such vote was then certified to the clerk of the house of delegates at least ten days before the commencement of the next general assembly. This result of the vote must not have been obligatory upon the assembly for it was expressly provided "that this act shall not affect the right to petition to the next legislature for any new county in the same manner and under the same regulations as if this act had never passed".2

The Code of Virginia, 1849, incorporated this act in the codification of the Virginia laws. The primary change made, however, was in the method of voting upon the formation of the new county. Whereas the Act of 1838 gave the right to vote upon the question to those people "residing within the limits of the described boundary", the Code now gave the right to those people "residing within any of the counties from which the new county is proposed to be formed", stipulating, however, that "the names of such of the voters as reside within the metes and bounds of the proposed new county, shall be distinguished from the rest".

The first constitutional provision came in 1863 when the West Virginia Constitution said:

"No new county shall be formed having an area of less than four hundred square miles; or if another county be thereby reduced below that area; or if any territory be thereby taken from a county containing less than four hundred square miles. And no new county shall be formed containing a white population of less than four thousand; or if the white population of another county be thereby reduced below that number; or if any county containing less than four thousand white inhabitants be thereby reduced in area. But the Legislature may, at any time, annex any county containing less than four thousand white inhabitants to an adjoining county or counties as part thereof."

An act of 1867 required that notice of intention to apply to the legislature for the passage of an act to create a new county be published four successive weeks in some weekly newspaper published in the county or counties from which a portion of the new county was to be taken. If no such newspaper was published in the county or counties, such notice was to be posted at the front door of the courthouse of each of the counties affected, and at one or more of the most public places in the county, at least 30 days before the application was made. Such notice was to name the counties affected, the metes and bounds proposed for the new county and the place at which it was proposed to locate the seat of justice. If only a county line was proposed to be changed, it was sufficient to post such notice at the front door of the courthouse of each county whose line was proposed to be changed, for at least thirty days before making application therefor.

Since the Constitution of 1863 required no less than four hundred square miles and no less than four thousand white population it became necessary to enact laws to give effect to such provision. Laws were enacted providing for the taking of a census and the making of a survey before permitting a petition to be filed with the legislature. A certified copy of the plat representing the survey was filed in the office of the secretary.
Introduction

of state and similar copy in the office of the recorder of such new county. The surveyors of the counties losing the territory made such survey. Within three months after the creation of the new county, the surveyors of the counties out of which the new county was formed, made out attested copies of all entries for lands and delivered such entries to the surveyor of the new county.1

The Constitution of 1872 provided as follows:

"No new county shall hereafter be formed in this State, with an area of less than four hundred square miles; nor with a population of less than six thousand; nor shall any county, from which a new county, or part thereof shall be taken, be reduced in area below four hundred square miles, nor in population below six thousand. Nor shall any new county be formed without the consent of a majority of the voters residing within the boundaries of the proposed new county, and voting on the question."

The legislature of 1882 enacted that every application to the legislature for the formation of a new county, must be accompanied by duly certified copies of the survey, census, and order of the county court, declaring the result of any election the sentiment on the question of formation.2

The law has continued unchanged since 1882. Today it is codified and reported in the Code of West Virginia, 1937, Michie, as chapter 1, article 5. Each step from the notice of intention to apply to the legislature, through the survey, census, submission to voters and the certified copies of the surveys, plat of the proposed new county, census and order of the county court declaring the result of such election, are enumerated in separate sections. All expenses attending the publication of the notices, the surveying and the taking of the census are paid by the parties applying for the proposed new county. The expenses incident to the election in each county are paid by it. However, if the proposed new county is created, such election expenses are paid by the new county to each county making the original payments. After the county has been created a certified plat of its boundaries and certificate of survey showing the courses and distances of the boundary line of such new county, and the streams and other natural objects or points referred to in the act creating the same, are filed in the office of the secretary of state and a similar copy in the office of the clerk of the county court of such new county.3

Explanatory Notes

Counties are arranged alphabetically by name, those bearing the notation "Virginia" were not included in the counties which became a part of West Virginia in 1863. Under each county heading is listed the act creating the county and all acts which added to the territory of that particular county. All territory taken from it will be found under the county to which it was added and by the use of the cross referencing paragraph the reader will be able to follow every change affecting the county.

The cross referencing paragraph which directly follows the title of the county is used to show all changes affecting the territory which has formed a part of this county. Thus under Harrison we find the following notation:

Created from Monongalia (p. 125), May 1784; Randolph (p. 157) formed from, Oct. 1786;...part of Monongalia (p. 125) added to, Jan. 1, 1800 (for act see p. 75);...part of Barbour (p. 15) formed from, Mar. 3, 1843...

By following the page numbers shown here we can readily locate the act which created the original county from which Harrison was taken in 1784. By following the references further we find the act creating part of Barbour County from part of Harrison in 1843 and so on until all territorial changes are shown.

Under each act given is shown the citation to the source material. Further explanation of these citations will be found in the bibliography on p. 218.

Citations here given are to the acts and statutes as found in the Supreme Court Library and the Department of Archives and History Library of West Virginia. Page citations may vary as re-binding of old volumes often result in rearrangement of pages or volumes. However the dates may be followed in using other copies.
List of Abbreviations and Explanatory Notes

All acts creating counties have been copied in their entirety exactly as they appear in the original volumes. No corrections have been made in phraseology or spelling of words. Acts which pertain to other subjects in connection with county changes have been partially copied so that all material in the last named group is given.

The index (p. 223) has been prepared primarily to place names and persons whose names appear in the acts. As the cross referencing paragraph shows all territorial changes it is believed that its use, together with the topical index, will provide an adequate guide to the volume. Place names are spelled as they are used today and any variation is given in parenthesis.

Act Creating Augusta County
(5 Hening, ch. 21, pp. 78-80)
(Passed Nov. 1738)

An Act, for erecting two new Counties, and Parishes; and granting certain encouragements to the Inhabitants thereof.

I. WHEREAS great numbers of people have settled themselves of late, upon the rivers of Sherrando, Cohongoruton, and Opeckon, and the branches thereof, on the north-west side of the Blue ridge of mountains, whereby the strength of this colony, and it's security upon the frontiers, and his majesty's revenue of quitrents, are like to be much increased and augmented: For giving encouragement to such as shall think fit to settle there.

And all that part of the counties and parishes of Botetourt and Montgomery between and to the westward of the said lines shall be one distinct county and parish, and be called and known by the name of Green Brier.

And be it farther enacted, That the remaining parts of the said counties and parishes of Augusta and Botetourt be divided into three counties and parishes, as follows, to wit, by a line beginning on the top of the Blue Ridge, near Steel's mill, and running thence north fifty five degrees west, passing the said mill, and crossing the North mountain to the top, and the mountain dividing the waters of the Calf Pasture from the waters of the Cow Pasture, and thence along the said mountain, crossing Panther's gap, to the line that divides the counties of Augusta and Botetourt; and that the remaining part of the county of Botetourt be divided by a line to begin at Audley Paul's and running north fifty five degrees west till the said course shall intersect a line to be run south forty five degrees west from the place where the above line dividing Augusta terminated. An Act providing for a change of the boundary lines of certain counties

(Passed July 27, 1868)

WHEREAS, by the creation of the county of Lincoln, the county of Cabell has been reduced below four hundred square miles; and whereas, the county of Lincoln has been put to great expense in the erection of public buildings, and otherwise, before the deficiency of territory in the county of Cabell was discovered; and whereas, it is believed that several of the surrounding counties have an excess of territory above four hundred square miles. Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia:

1. That Benjamin Slack, of the county of Kanawha; G. Hogg, of the county of Mason; David Harshbarger, of the county of Cabell; Jackson Spaulding, of the county of Wayne; Ulysses Hinchman, of the county of Logan; Robertson Spurlock, of the county of Boone, William C. Mahone, of the county of Lincoln, (any four of whom may act after notice to the others,) be and they are hereby appointed commissioners to so change and alter the boundary lines between the county of Cabell and the counties of Mason, Wayne, and Lincoln, as to give to the county of Cabell four hundred square miles of territory, and to so change the boundary lines between the county of Lincoln and the counties of Kanawha, Boone and Logan as to give to the county of Lincoln four hundred square miles of territory; provided that no such change shall be made in the boundary lines of the counties of Mason, Wayne, Logan, Boone and Kanawha as will reduce either of them below four hundred square miles of territory.

2. It shall be the duty of the said commissioners to meet at the earliest day practicable after the passage of this act, and to proceed with all reasonable dispatch in the discharge of their duties. They shall cause such surveying to be done by competent surveyors, as may be necessary to enable them to properly adjust the said boundary lines according to the proceeding section, and shall cause the said lines, as altered by them, to be run and marked in all cases where it may be necessary to distinguish them.
Lincoln County

3. In case it shall be ascertained by the said commissioners, as aforesaid, that said boundary lines can be so altered and adjusted as to give to the said counties of Cabell and Lincoln each four hundred square miles of territory, without reducing either of the other of the said counties below that area, it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to adjust and alter said boundary lines accordingly, and the said commissioners shall thereupon cause to be made a fair outline map or plat of each of the said counties of Cabell and Lincoln, showing the courses and distances of the boundary lines thereof, the streams and other natural objects called for in said courses and lines, and designating particularly any territory taken from another county and added thereto, together with the number of square miles in the part so added, as well as in the whole county. They shall file each of the said maps or plats in the office of the recorder of the county to which it belongs. In the preparation of the said maps or plats, the said commissioners may use any survey already made if satisfied of its correctness, without a re-survey of the said lines.

4. In case the said commissioners shall find themselves unable, under the provisions of this act, to so adjust the said boundary lines as to give to both of the counties of Cabell and Lincoln the amount of territory herein provided for, they shall proceed to so alter and adjust said lines as to give to the county of Cabell that amount of territory, and to make out and file the map or plat thereof required by the preceding section. And in either event they shall report their action to the Legislature at its next session.

5. As soon as the said boundary lines of the said counties, or any of them, shall be altered, adjusted and established by the said commissioners, as aforesaid, the same shall from that time be the true boundary lines of each of said counties, in the same manner and to the same extent as if said boundary lines had been specifically set forth as such in this act. And all the territory so transferred from one county to another shall, from the date of such transfer, form a part and parcel of the county to which it is added by the said commissioners; provided, that no territory shall be taken from the county of Kanawha without the consent of the commissioner acting on behalf of that county, but that with such consent that part of the said county of Kanawha contained within the bounds herein-after described, or any part thereof, may be added to and made part of the said county of Lincoln, to wit: Beginning on Little Coal River at the line between the counties of Kanawha and Lincoln; thence down said river to Big Coal River, and down the same to mouth of the Clay Branch; thence due west to the Putnam county line, and with the same to the Lincoln county line; thence with the Lincoln county line to the beginning.

Act Creating Monongalia, Ohio and Yohogania Counties
(9 Hening, ch. 45, pp. 262-266)

An act for ascertaining the boundary between the county of Augusta, and the district of West Augusta, and for dividing the said district into three distinct counties.

(Passed October, 1776)

WHEREAS it is expedient to ascertain the boundary between the county of Augusta and the district of West Augusta, be it therefore enacted by the General Assembly of the commonwealth of Virginia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the boundary between the said district and county shall be as follows, to wit: Beginning on the Allegheny mountain between the heads of Potowmac, Cheat and Green Brier rivers, thence along the ridge of mountains which divides the waters of Cheat river from those of Green Brier, and that branch of the Monongahela river called Tyger's valley river to the Monongahela river, thence up the said river, and the west fork thereof, to Bingerman's creek, on the north west side of the said west fork, thence up the said creek to the head thereof, thence in a direct course to the head of Middle Island creek, a branch of the Ohio, and thence to the Ohio, including all the waters of the said creek in the aforesaid district of West Augusta, all that territory lying to the northward of the aforesaid boundary, and to the westward of the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland, shall be deemed, and is hereby declared to be within the district of West Augusta.

And to render the benefits of government, and administration of justice, more easy and convenient to the people within the said district: be it therefore enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That from and after the eight day of November next ensuing all that part of the said district lying within the following lines, to wit: Beginning at the mouth of Cross creek, thence up the same to the head thereof, thence south eastwardly to the nearest part of the ridge which divides the waters of the Ohio from those of Monongahela, thence along the said ridge to the line which divides the county of Augusta from the said district, thence with the said boundary to the Ohio, thence up the same to the beginning, shall be one distinct county, and be called and known by the name of Ohio county; and all that part of the said district lying to the northward of the following lines, viz: beginning at the mouth of Cross creek, and running up its several courses to the head thereof, thence south eastwardly to the nearest part of the aforesaid dividing ridge between the waters of the Monongahela and Ohio, thence along the said ridge to the head of Ten Mile creek, thence east to the road leading from Catfish camp to Redstone old fort, thence along the said road to the Monongahela river, thence crossing the river to the said fort, thence along Dunlap's old road to Braddock's road, and with the same to the meridian of the head fountain of Potowmack, shall be one other distinct county, and be called and known by the name of Yohogania county; and all that part of the said district lying to the northward of the county of Augusta, to the westward of the meridian of the head fountain of Potowmack, to the southward of the county of Yohogania, and to the eastward of the county of Ohio, shall be one other distinct county, and shall be called and known by the name of the county of Monongalia.

And for the administration of justice in the said counties of Ohio, Yohogania, and Monongalia, after the same shall take place: Be it farther enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That after the said eighth day of November courts shall be constantly held every month by the justices of the respective counties, upon the days hereafter specified for each county respectively, that is to say: For the county of Ohio, on the first Monday, for the county of Monongalia, on the second Monday, and for the county of Yohogania, on the fourth Monday, in every month, in such manner as by the laws of this commonwealth is provided for other counties, and as shall be by their commissions directed.

Provided always, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to hinder the sheriff or collector of the said district of West Augusta, as the same now stands entire and undivided, from collecting and making distress for any publick dues or officers fees which shall remain unpaid by the inhabitants of the said district of West Augusta at the time of the aforesaid counties taking place, but such sheriff or collector shall have the same power to collect and distrain for such dues and fees, and shall be answerable for them in the same manner, as if this act had never been made, any law, usage, or custom, to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

And be it farther enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the court of the said county of Yohogania shall have jurisdiction of all actions and suits, both in law and equity, which shall be depending before the court of the district of West Augusta at the time the said divisions shall take place, and shall and may try and determine all such actions and suits, and issue process and award execution in any such action or suit, in the same manner as the court of the district of West Augusta might have done if this act had never been made.

Provided nevertheless, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to vacate the seats of the delegates for the district of West Augusta, but that they ought to retain their seats as delegates for the county henceforth to be called Yohogania.

And be it farther enacted, That every free white man, who, at the time of elections for delegates or senators in the said counties of Ohio, Yohogania, and Monongalia, shall have been for one year preceding in possession of twenty five acres of land with a house and plantation thereon, or one hundred acres of land without a house or plantation thereon, in the said counties, claiming an estate for life at least in the said land in his own right, or in the right of his wife, shall have a vote, or be capable of being chosen at such elections, and have and enjoy all other privileges of freeholders, agreeable to the laws of this commonwealth, in his respective county, although no legal title to the said land shall have been conveyed to such person; and that, in all future elections of Senators, the said counties of Ohio, Yohogania, and Monongalia shall form and be one district.

And be it farther enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the landholders of the said counties respectively, qualified as aforesaid, to vote for representatives in general assembly, and they are hereby required to meet at the times and places hereafter mentioned, that is to say: The landholders of the county of Yohogania to meet at the house of Andrew Heath, on the Monongahela, in the said county, on the eighth day of December next, the landholders of the county of Monongalia to meet at the house of Jonathan Coburn, in the said county, on the said eighth day of December next, and the landholders of the county of Ohio to meet at the house of Ezekiel Dewit, in the said county, on the said eighth day of December next, then and there to choose the most convenient place for holding courts for their respective counties in future.

And be it farther enacted, That notice of the said time and place of election in each of the aforesaid counties shall be given to the landholders thereof by the sheriff, minister, and readers, in their respective counties, in the same manner, and under the like penalties, as are directed for giving notice of an election of representatives to serve in general assembly; and that the election in each of the aforesaid counties shall be held by the sheriff thereof, in the same manner as such elections for representatives to serve in general assembly, writing down the names of the places voted for, every one in a separate column of his poll, and the names of every landholder voting under the place for which he votes, and the place for which most votes shall be given in each of the aforesaid counties, shall thenceforth be the place of holding courts for such county; and after the elections shall be made in the aforesaid counties, or either of them, the sheriff of each of the said counties shall return the original poll taken by him, as aforesaid, attested by himself, to the clerk's office of his county, by whom the same shall be recorded.

And be it farther enacted, That the same rules and proceedings shall be observed in every article relating to the said elections; and all persons failing to do their respective duties shall incur the same penalties, and be subject to the same actions, as are prescribed by law in case of an election of representatives to serve in general assembly.

Provided, That if on the aforesaid day, appointed for holding the said elections, the freeholders of either of the said counties shall be prevented from assembling by rain, snow, or accidental rise of water courses, then it shall and may be lawful for the sheriff, and he is hereby required, to put off the said election to that day week following, and so from week to week so often as the case may happen.

And whereas there are no courts to recommend persons to be sheriffs for the said county, Be it farther enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the governour, or, in his absence, for the president of the council, to appoint such person in each of the said counties to be the first sheriff thereof as to him shall appear proper; which said sheriff, or sheriffs, so appointed, shall continue in office for and during the time limited by the laws of this commonwealth for other sheriffs within the same.

And whereas, by the usual course of law, sheriffs cannot be qualified for their offices but at the courthouse of their respective counties, so that it is necessary to make provision for the qualification of the sheriffs in this particular instance; Be it therefore enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the governour, or, in his absence, for the president of the council, to issue a dedimus potestatem, directed to any person or persons, empowering him or them to administer to the sheriff of each of the aforesaid counties the oath of his office, which shall be sufficient to qualify such sheriff to hold his respective election, and also to hold an election for committee-men in his county.

An act for dividing the county of Fincastle into three distinct counties, and the parish of Botetourt into four distinct parishes.

WHEREAS, from the great extent of the county of Fincastle, many inconveniences attend the more distant inhabitants thereof, on account of their remote situation from the courthouse of the said county, and many of the said inhabitants have petitioned this present general assembly for a division of the same:

Be it therefore enacted by the General Assembly of the commonwealth of Virginia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the last day of December next ensuing the said county of Fincastle shall be divided into three counties, that is to say: All that part thereof which lies to the south and westward of a line beginning on the Ohio, at the mouth of Great Sandy creek, and running up the same and the main or north easterly branch thereof to the Great Laurel Ridge or Cumberland Mountain, thence south westerly along the said mountain to the line of North Carolina, shall be one distinct county, and called and known by the name of Kentucky; and all that part of the said county of Fincastle included in the lines beginning at the Cumberland Mountain, where the line of Kentucky county intersects the North Carolina line, thence east along the said Carolina line to the top of Iron Mountain thence along the same easterly to the source of the south fork of Holstein river, thence northwardly along the highest part of the high lands, ridges, and mountains, that divide the waters of the Tennesse from those of the Great Kanawah, to the most easterly source of Clinch river, thence westwardly along the top of the mountains that divide the waters of Clinch river from those of the Great Kanawah and Sandy creek to the line of Kentucky county, thence along the same to the beginning, shall be one other distinct county, and called and known by the name of Washington; and all the residue of the said county of Fincastle shall be one other distinct county, and shall be called and known by the name of Montgomery.

And for the administration of justice in the said counties of Montgomery, Washington, and Kentucky, after the same shall take place, Be it farther enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That after the said last day of December a court for every of the said counties of Montgomery, Washington, and Kentucky, shall be held by the justices thereof respectively, upon the following days in every month, to wit: For the county of Montgomery on the first Tuesday in every month, for the county of Washington on the last Tuesday in every month, and for the county of Kentucky on the first Tuesday in every month, in such manner as is by law provided for other counties, and as shall be by their commissions directed.

Provided always, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to hinder the sheriff of the said county of Fincastle, as the same now stands entire and undivided, from collecting and making distress for any publick dues or officers fees which shall remain unpaid by the inhabitants thereof at the time such division shall take place, but such sheriff shall have the same power to collect and restrain for such dues and fees, and shall be accountable for them in the same manner, as if this act had never been made, any law, usage, or custom, to the contrary thereof, in any wise notwithstanding.

And be it farther enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the court of the said county of Montgomery shall have jurisdiction of all actions and suits in law and equity which shall be depending before the court of Fincastle county at the time the said division shall take place, and shall and may try and determine all such actions and suits, and issue and process and award execution in any such action or suit; and the justices of the said county of Fincastle who shall reside within the bounds of Montgomery county after the division, and all other officers of the same, shall have power to execute their respective offices, in that part of the said county called Montgomery, in as full and ample a manner as if this act had never been made; and all the militia officers of the said county of Fincastle, who, after the division, shall reside in the said county of Washington, shall have full power to execute their respective offices, within that part of the said county called Washington, until commissions can be issued according to law.

And be it farther enacted, That the justices to be named in the commissions of the peace for the said counties of Montgomery, Washington, and Kentucky, respectively, shall meet for the said county of Kentucky at Harrodsburg, in the said county, on the first Tuesday in April next, for the said county of Washington at Black's fort, in the said county, on the last Tuesday in January next, and for the said county of Montgomery at Fort Chiswell, on the first Tuesday in January next; and having taken the oath required by an ordinance of convention, and administered the oath of office to, and taken bonds, according to law, of the respective sheriffs, every of the said courts may proceed to appoint and qualify a clerk, and to fix upon places for holding courts in their respective counties, at, or as near the centres thereof, as the situation and conveniences of the respective counties will admit of, and shall thenceforth proceed to erect the necessary publick buildings for such counties at such places respectively, and shall also appoint such places for holding courts, until such buildings shall be completed, as they shall think fit.

Provided always, That the appointments of the places for holding courts, and of clerks for the several counties aforesaid, shall not be made unless a majority of the justices for such counties be present, where such majority shall have been prevented from attending by bad weather or accidental rise of water courses, but in all such cases the appointments aforesaid shall be postponed until the next court days, and so on from court day to court day until such obstacles shall be removed.

And be it farther enacted, That the courts of the said counties shall have power to adjourn themselves to such places as they shall appoint, and after the publick buildings aforesaid shall be erected for the said counties, at the places to be appointed as aforesaid, the courts for the said counties shall be thenceforth held at such places.

And be it farther enacted, That every free white man who, at the time of elections of delegates or senators for the said several counties, shall have been for one year preceding in possession of twenty five acres of land with a house and plantation thereon, or one hundred acres of land without a house and plantation, in any of the said counties, and having right to an estate for life at least in the said land in his own right, or in right of his wife, shall have a vote, or be capable of being chosen a representative in the county where his said land shall lie, although no legal title in the same shall have been conveyed to such possessors; and that in all future elections of senators, the said counties of Montgomery, Washington, and Kentucky, together with the county of Botetourt, shall form and be one district.

And be it farther enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the governour, or, in his absence, for the president of the council, to appoint a person in every of the said counties of Montgomery, Washington, and Kentucky, to be the first sheriff thereof respectively; which said sheriff, so appointed, shall continue in office during the term, and upon the same conditions, as is by law directed for other sheriffs.

And be it farther enacted, That the field officers and captains of the militia of Washington county be, and they are hereby empowered and required to appoint the captain and the ensign, and the field officers and captains of the county of Montgomery to appoint the first and second lieutenants, of the company of regulars directed to be raised in the county of Fincastle, as the same stood entire and undivided, if the same shall not have been previously appointed by the field officers and captains of the county of Fincastle, agreeable to an act of this present general assembly for raising six additional battalions of infantry on the continental establishment.

And whereas, from the great extent of the parish of Botetourt, the same is become very inconvenient to the inhabitants thereof, Be it therefore enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That from and after the last day of December next the said parish shall be divided into four distinct parishes, that is to say: All that part of the said parish which lies in the county of Montgomery shall be one distinct parish, and be called and known by the name of Montgomery, all that other part of the parish which lies in the said county of Washington shall be one other distinct parish, and be called and known by the name of Washington; all that other part of the said parish which lies in the said county of Kentucky shall be one other distinct parish, and be called and known by the name of Kentucky; and all that other part of the said parish which lies in the county of Botetourt shall be one other distinct parish, and shall retain the name of Botetourt parish.

Provided always, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to hinder the collector of the said parish of Botetourt, as the same now stands entire and undivided, from collecting and making distress for any dues which shall remain unpaid by the inhabitants of the said parish at the time of the division's taking place, but such collector shall have the same power to collect or distrain for the said dues, and shall be answerable for them in the same manner, as if this act had never been made.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That so much of the county of Randolph as lies next to, and adjoining the county of Preston, and contained within the following boundaries, to wit: Beginning at a point in the line which divides the county of Preston from the county of Randolph, on the western summit of the Alleghany mountain, as run and marked under the authority of the act passed February the twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and twenty-eight, as aforesaid, and running thence a straight line to the north of Muddy run on the east side of Cheat river, where the line dividing Preston and Randolph counties crosses said river, shall be annexed to and be henceforth a part of the county of Preston.

The county court of Preston county shall allow the surveyors aforesaid a reasonable compensation for such service, to be paid out of the county levy.

The whole number of justices commissioned and qualified as aforesaid shall be summoned by the sheriff of Logan county, or by such person or persons as he shall appoint for that purpose, to attend on that day, under the penalty of being fined a sum not less than fifty dollars for the benefit of the Literary fund, recoverable as other fines imposed by law on sheriffs and their deputies. The said court being so assembled and a majority of all the justices commissioned and qualified as aforesaid being present, (otherwise those who do attend may adjourn from day to day, and from time to time, until a majority shall be present,) shall proceed to appoint a clerk of the county court, a commissioner of the revenue, whose compensation shall not exceed one hundred dollars per annum, a surveyor for said county, and an attorney for the commonwealth; and also, at the same time, or at some early day thereafter, the necessary number of school commissioners for said county. CLAY COUNTY (p. 37)

An Act concerning the county of Clay
(Acts of the Legislature of West Virginia, 1863, ch. 64, p. 61)
(Passed October 10, 1863)

Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia:

1. The boundary lines of the county of Clay as established by an act of the general assembly of Virginia, entitled "an act to form the county of Clay out of part of the counties of Braxton and Nicholas," passed March twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, shall be the boundary lines of said county of Clay; and so much of the territory, late of the county of Kanawha, as is included within the said lines, is and shall continue to be part of the county of Clay.

2. The name of the county seat of the county of Clay is hereby changed to Henry, by which name it shall hereafter be known and denominated.

HAMPShIRE COUNTY (p. 62)

HARDY COUNTY (p. 70)

An act directing the mode of establishing the boundary lines between certain counties therein-mentioned
(Virginia Acts, 1823, ch. 77, pp. 82, 83)
(Passed February 28th, 1824)

Whereas it has been represented to the General Assembly, that the dividing line between the counties of Loudoun and Fauquier is not sufficiently ascertained; for remedy whereof.

1. Be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county courts of Loudoun and Fauquier, at or before their ensuing June term, severally to appoint a commissioner, for the purpose of causing the dividing line between the said counties to be accurately run; and the said commissioners when appointed, shall select their surveyors, and chain carriers, and with the best evidence, which they can procure in relation to the said boundary line, direct their surveyor to run the same, and particularly to note on the survey, such places of notoriety as in their opinion will best designate the said line. And when the said survey shall have been made, the surveyor shall make out eight fair plats, and deliver them to the said commissioners, who shall return two of them to each of the said county courts of Loudoun and Fauquier, one of which said plats shall be recorded by the clerks of the superior and inferior courts of each county, and shall be evidence of the dividing line between the said counties, from and after the recording of the same.

2. Be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the courts of Loudoun and Fauquier, to make such allowance to the said commissioners, their surveyor and chain carriers, for the performance of the services prescribed by this act, as by such courts may be judged reasonable, and direct the same to be paid out of their several county levies.

And whereas a part of the line dividing the county of Hardy from Hampshire, and the line dividing the county of Washington from Russell, has never been ascertained;

3. Be it therefore enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county courts of Hardy and Hampshire to appoint one commissioner each, to run and mark that part of the line dividing said counties, which commences at the top of the mountain near Benjamin Marshall's, running to the Shenandoah county line, as the same has been heretofore established by law. The said commissioners shall select or cause to be selected a competent surveyor and chain-carriers to run the said line; which having done, it shall be the further duty of the said surveyor to make two correct plats of the course or courses and distances of the said line; noting every remarkable place by or through which it passes; and deliver the same to the commissioners; when it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to return one copy of said plats to that county court for which he was appointed commissioner, there to be recorded. And the county courts aforesaid, shall make such allowance to the said commissioners, surveyor, and chain-carriers, as to them may seem just and reasonable, to be paid out of the county levy made for that purpose.

4. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the county courts of Washington and Russell, to appoint one commissioner each, to run and mark the line dividing the said counties; and the said commissioner shall proceed in the same manner as is by this act required of the commissioners to be appointed to run and mark the line dividing the counties of Hardy and Hampshire, and shall be paid for their services in like manner.

5. Be it further enacted, That all acts or parts of acts, coming within the meaning and purview of this act, shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

6. This act shall be in force from and after the passage thereof.
